Crisfield, John Woodland, a Representative from Maryland; born in Kent county, Md., November 6, 1808; educated at Washington college, Chestertown; studied law; in 1830 admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Somerset county, Md.; member of the state legislature in 1836; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1850; delegate to the peace conference in 1861; elected as a Union Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); defeated for reelection to the Thirty-eighth Congress; delegate to the national Union convention in Philadelphia in 1866; died in Princess Anne, Somerset county, Md., January 12, 1897.

Crisp, Charles Frederick, a Representative from Georgia; born in Sheffield, England, January 29, 1845; came with his parents to the United States the year of his birth; attended the common schools of Savannah and Macon, Ga.; entered the Confederate army in May, 1861; lieutenant in company K; tenth Virginia infantry, and served with that regiment until the 12th of May, 1864, when he became a prisoner of war; upon his release from Fort Delaware in June, 1865, joined his parents at Ellaville, Schley county, Ga.; read law at Americus, and admitted to the bar there in 1866; began the practice of law at Ellaville; appointed solicitor general of the southwestern judicial circuit in 1872, and reappointed in 1873 for a term of four years; appointed judge of the superior court of the same circuit in June, 1877; elected by the general assembly to the same office in 1878; reelected judge for a term of four years in 1880; resigned that office in September, 1882, to accept Democratic nomination for Congress; permanent president of the Democratic convention which assembled at Atlanta in April, 1883, to nominate a candidate for governor; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and the six succeeding Congresses and served from March 4, 1883, until his death; was Speaker of the House of Representatives in the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses; nominated for United States Senator in state primary of 1896; died in Atlanta, Ga., October 23, 1896; interment in Americus, Ga.

Crisp, Charles Robert, a Representative from Georgia; born in Ellaville, Schley county, Ga., October 19, 1870; attended the public schools of Americus, Ga.; clerk in the Interior Department, Washington, D. C., and at the Speaker's table in the National House of Representatives 1888–1895; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1895, and practiced; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father, Charles F. Crisp; after expiration of his term he resumed the practice of law in Americus, Ga., and later became judge of the court of Sumter county; again clerk at the Speaker's table in the House of Representatives in the Sixty-second Congress.

Crist, Henry, a representative from Kentucky; born in Virginia in 1764; moved with his father to Pennsylvania, where he attended the public schools; moved to Bullitt county, Ky., in 1788, and engaged in the manufacture of salt; member of the state house of representatives in 1795, and of the state senate, 1800–1804; elected to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811); died in Bullitt county, Ky., in 1844.

Critcher, John, a Representative from Virginia; born in Westmoreland county, Va., March 11, 1820; was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1839; studied at the University of France for three years; studied law and practiced; elected to the state senate and to the state convention of 1861; lieutenant colonel of cavalry in the Confederate army; appointed judge of the eighth judicial circuit of Virginia, but removed by the 30-day resolution of Congress; elected as a Conservative to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died in Alexandria, Va., September 27, 1901.

Crittenden, John Jordan, a Senator and a Representative from Kentucky; born near Versailles, Woodford county, Ky., September 10, 1787; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1806; attorney general of Illinois Territory 1809–1810; served in the War of 1812 as aid to Gov. Shelby; practiced law in Russellville, Ky.; member of the state house of representatives in 1811–1817, and was speaker the last term; United States Senator from Kentucky, and served from March 4, 1817, to March 3, 1819, when he resigned; removed to Frankfort, Ky., in 1819; served several years in the state house of representatives; appointed United States district attorney in 1827, but was removed by President Jackson in 1829; again United States Senator and served from March 4, 1835, to March 3, 1841; appointed Attorney General of the United States by President Harrison, and served from March 5, 1841, to September 13, 1841; again appointed United States Senator, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Henry Clay; subsequently elected to fill the vacancy and served from March 31, 1842, to June 12, 1848, when he resigned; elected governor of Kentucky in 1848 and served until July 22, 1850, when he resigned; again appointed Attorney General, and this time by President Fillmore and served from July 22, 1850, to March 7, 1853; again elected United States Senator and served from March 4, 1855, to March 3, 1861; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); died in Frankfort, Ky., July 26, 1863.

Digitized by Google

Crittenden, Thomas Theodore, a Representative from Missouri; born in Shelby county, Ky., January 2, 1834; was graduated from Centre college, Danville, Ky., in April, 1855; studied law in Frankfort; afterwards practiced in Lexington, Ky., and Warrensburg, Mo.; served in the Mexican and Civil wars; second lieutenant of Willcock's battalion Missouri volunteers August 3, 1846, to September 28, 1847; captain sixth Indiana infantry April 19, 1861; colonel April 27, 1861; colonel of sixth Indiana infantry September 20, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers April 28, 1862; resigned May 5, 1863; appointed attorney general of Missouri in 1864 to fill out the unexpired term of Ackmen Welsh, deceased; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875), and again elected to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); governor of Missouri 1881–1885; appointed United States consul general to Mexico April 5, 1893, and served until 1897; died in Kansas City, Mo., May 29, 1909.

Crocheron, Henry, a Representative from New York; born in Richmond Hill, Queens county, N. Y., December 26, 1772; attended common schools and engaged in business as a general merchant in the town of Northfield; held local and county offices; elected as a Democrat to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); died in New Springville, N. Y., October 15, 1819.

Crocheron, Jacob, a Representative from New York; sheriff of Richmond county; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); presidential elector on the Van Buren and Johnson ticket in 1837.

Crocker, Alvah, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Leominster, Mass., October 14, 1801; attended public schools and Groton academy; proprietor of paper manufactories at Fitchburg; president of the Boston & Fitchburg Railroad; commissioner of the Hoosac tunnel; member of the state house of representatives in 1836, 1842, and 1843; member of the state senate for two terms; elected to the Forty-second Congress as a Republican to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William B. Washburn; reelected to the Forty-third Congress, and served from February 14, 1872, until his death in Fitchburg, Mass., December 26, 1874.

Crocker, Samuel Leonard, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Taunton, Mass., March 31, 1804; was graduated from Brown university in 1822; engaged in manufacturing; member of the executive council of Massachusetts in 1849; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); defeated for election to the Thirty-fourth Congress; died in Boston, Mass., February 10, 1883.

Crockett, David, a Representative from Tennessee; born at the mouth of Limestone river in Greene county, Tenn., August 17, 1786; commanded a battalion of mounted riflemen under Gen. Jackson in the Creek campaign 1813–14; member of the state legislature 1821–1823; elected as a Whig to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); defeated for reelection; again elected to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); defeated as a candidate for the Twenty-fourth Congress; went to Texas to aid the Texans in their struggle for independence in 1834; joined the 140 men in the defense of tha Alamo, and was one of the six who survived the merciless slaughter; surrendered to Santa Anna, and was shot by his orders at Fort Alamo, San Antoine de Bexar, March 6, 1836.

Crockett, John Wesley, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Trenton, Tenn., July 10, 1807; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Paris, Tenn., held various local and state offices; was elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); elected by the state legislature attorney general for the ninth district of Tennessee November 1, 1841; moved to New Orleans and became editor of the National May 22, 1848; moved to Memphis, Tenn., where he died November 24, 1852.

Croft, George William, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Newberry county, S. C., December 20, 1846; attended the common schools in Greenville, S. C.; in 1863 he entered the South Carolina military academy at Columbia; in 1864 the cadets of that institution were placed in the Confederate army and continued to serve until the close of the Civil War; in 1866 and 1867 attended the University of Virginia; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1869, and in 1870 located in Aiken, S. C., where he practiced; was a member of the state senate, and served two terms in the state house of representatives; elected to the Fifty-eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1903, until his death in Washington, D. C., March 9, 1904.

Croft, Theodore George, a Representative from South Carolina; a resident of Aiken, S. C.; elected to the Forty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of George W. Croft, and served from December 5, 1904, to March 3, 1905.

Cromer, George Washington, a Representative from Indiana; born in Madison county, Ind., May 13, 1856; moved with his parents into Salem township, Delaware county, Ind.; attended the common schools, and Wittenberg college, of Springfield, Ohio, and the State University at Bloomington, Ind.; was graduated from the last-named in 1882; editor of the Muncie Times; read and began the practice of law in 1886; elected prosecuting attorney of the forty-sixth judicial circuit of Indiana in 1886; reelected in 1888; member of the state Republican committee from the Sixth congressional district in 1892 and 1894; elected mayor of Muncie in 1894; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1907); resumed the practice of law in Muncie, Ind.

Crooke, Philip Schuyler, a Representative from New York; born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 10, 1810; was graduated from the Dutchess academy at Pughkeepsie; studied law, and in 1831 admitted to the bar; located in Flatbush in 1838; presidential elector in 1852 on the Democratic ticket; elected a member of the general assembly as a Republican in 1863; member of the board of supervisors of Kings county 1844-1852, 1858-1870, and chairman of the board 1861, 1862, 1864, and 1865; served forty years in the National Guard of the state of New York, from private to brigadier general; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873-March 3, 1875); died in Flatbush, New York City, March 17, 1881.

Digitized by Google

Crosby, John Crawford, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Sheffield, Berkshire county, Mass., June 15, 1859; attended the public schools of Pittsfield; studied law and was graduated from the Boston University law school; admitted to the bar and engaged in practice; elected a member of the school committee of Pittsfield in 1885, and served six years; elected a member of the State house of representatives in 1885 and reelected in 1886; elected a member of the state senate in 1887; reelected in 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891-March 3, 1893); after leaving Congress was twice elected mayor of Pittsfield, Mass., and for seven years city solicitor; justice of the superior court of Berkshire county, Mass.; appointed justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts January 25, 1905.

Cross, Edward, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Rogersville, Tenn., November 11, 1796; attended the public schools; studied law and practiced; appointed United States judge for the district of Arkansas in 1832; surveyor of public lands of Arkansas in 1836; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1839-March 3, 1845); appointed judge of the state supreme court in July, 1845; president of the Cairo & Fulton (now the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern) railway 1855-1862; died in his country residence, "Millbrook," near Washington, Ark., April 6, 1887.

Crossland, Edward, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Hickman county, Ky., June 30, 1827; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1852, and practiced; member of the state legislature 1857-58; elected judge of the court of common pleas of the first judicial district of Kentucky in August, 1867, for six years; resigned November 1, 1870; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871-March 3, 1875); resumed the practice of law in Mayfield, Ky.; elected judge of the circuit court for the first judicial district of Kentucky in August, 1880, and served until his death in Mayfield, Ky., September 11, 1881.

Crouch, Edward, a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Gloninger, and served from December 6, 1813, to March 3, 1815.

Crounse, Lorenzo, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Sharon, Schoharie county, N. Y., January 27, 1834; completed a preparatory course; moved to Fort Plain, Montgomery county, N. Y., in 1855 and practiced law; raised a battery of light artillery in 1861; entered the Army as captain in the first regiment, New York light artillery; wounded, and resigned after a year's service; moved to Nebraska Territory in 1864; member of the Territorial legislature in 1866, and assisted in framing and securing the adoption of the state constitution; elected associate judge of the supreme court and entered upon its duties in March, 1867, when Nebraska was admitted into the Union; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873-March 3, 1877); appointed collector of internal revenue, district of Nebraska, in 1879; appointed assistant secretary of the United States Treasury in 1891; governor of Nebraska 1892-1893; died in Omaha, Nebr., May 13, 1909; interment in Fort Calhoun, Nebr.

Crouse, George Washington, a Representative from Ohio; born in Tallmadge, Summit county, Ohio, November 23, 1832; attended the common schools; elected and reelected auditor of Summit county, 1858-1862; held the office of county treasurer; county commissioner and trustee for the children's home; member and president of the city council for four years; member and president of the board of education of the city of Akron four years; sergeant in company F, one hundred and sixty-fourth regiment, Ohio volunteer infantry, and served in fortifications around Washington in 1864; elected to the state senate in 1885, and served during the regular and adjourned sessions of the sixty-seventh general assembly until March 4, 1887, when he resigned; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887-March 3, 1889); died in Akron, Ohio, January 5, 1912.

Crow, Charles Augustus, a Representative from Missouri; born in Sikeston, Mo., March 31, 1873; lived twenty-three years near Sikeston, where he attended common schools; moved to a farm near Bernie, Mo., August, 1896; moved to Caruthersville in 1901; postmaster of Caruthersville for seven years; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909-March 3, 1911); a resident of Caruthersville, Mo.

Crowell, John, a Delegate and a Representative from Alabama; born in Halifax county, N. C., September 18, 1780; attended the public schools; elected as a Delegate to the Fifteenth Congress and served from March 9, 1818, to March 3, 1819, when the state constitution went into operation; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819-March 3, 1821); appointed agent for the Creek Indians, then inhabiting western Georgia and eastern Alabama, and occupied the position until they were moved to the Indian Territory in 1836; died in Fort Mitchell, Ala., June 25, 1846.

Crowell, John, a Representative from Ohio; born in East Haddam, Middlesex county, Conn., September 15, 1801; moved to Warren, Ohio in 1822; attended Warren academy, studied law and was admitted to the bar in Trumbull county; editor of the Western Reserve Chronicle in Warren; elected to the state senate in 1840; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847-March 3, 1851); resumed the practice of law in Cleveland, Ohio; president of the Ohio State and Union Law college 1862-1874; died in Cleveland, Ohio, March 8, 1883.

Crowley, Joseph Burns, a Representative from Illinois; born in Coshocton, Ohio, July 19, 1858; moved with his parents to Robinson, Ill., in 1872; attended the common schools; engaged in business 1876-1880; studied law and admitted to the bar in May, 1883; elected judge of Crawford county in November, 1886, and reelected in 1890; appointed United States special Treasury agent in charge of the seal fisheries of Alaska in April, 1893; resigning in April, 1898; served two terms as president of the Robinson City school board and two terms as master in chancery; elected as a Democrat to the

Digitized by Google

Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1905); resumed the practice of law in Robinson, Ill.

Crowley, Miles, a Representative from Texas; born near Boston, Mass., February 22, 1859; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Galveston, Tex., and practiced law; member of the state house of representatives; served in the state senate; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Galveston, Tex.; elected as county attorney three times; district attorney in Texas.

Crowley, Richard, a Representative from New York; born in Lockport, N. Y., December 14, 1836; attended the public schools; studied law and admitted to the bar in 1860; city attorney in 1865; elected in that year to the state senate and reelected in 1867 and served from January 1, 1866, to January 1, 1870; appointed United States district attorney for the northern district of New York in 1871, and reappointed in 1875, resigning March 3, 1879, to take his seat in Congress; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); resumed the practice of law in Lockport, N. Y.; special attorney for the state in the collection of state war claims 1896, until his death in Lockport, N. Y., July 22, 1908.

Crowinshield, Benjamin Williams, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Salem, Mass., December 27, 1772; was prepared for college; engaged in mercantile pursuits in Salem, Mass.; member of the state house of representatives in 1807–1811; state senator in 1812; appointed Secretary of the Navy by President Madison, December 19, 1814; reappointed by President Monroe; resigned October 1, 1818; again a member of the state house of representatives in 1821, 1826–1829, and 1833; elected as a Democrat to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1831); defeated for reelection to the Twenty-second Congress; died in Boston, Mass., February 3, 1851.

Crowinshield, Jacob, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Salem, Mass., May 31, 1770; engaged in mercantile pursuits; defeated as the Democratic candidate to the Sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Dwight Foster; a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives; tendered the position of Secretary of the Navy by President Jefferson, but did not accept; elected as a Democrat to the Eighth, Ninth, and Tenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1803, until his death in Washington, D. C., April 14, 1808.

Crowther, George Calhoun, a Representative from Missouri; born in Lancashire, England; January 26, 1849; came with parents to the United States and located in St. Joseph, Mo.; attended the public schools until his tenth year, when he became a printer's apprentice; entered the Union Army in 1862, and was mustered out of service July 14, 1865; moved to Kansas in 1866 and engaged in newspaper work until 1873; elected secretary of the Kansas state senate in January, 1869, and reelected in 1871 and 1873; again engaged in the printing and publishing of a newspaper, 1875–1886; appointed deputy sheriff of Buchanan county, Mo., in 1887; elected city treasurer of St. Joseph in 1888, and reelected in 1890; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); engaged in the manufacture of iron and steel in St. Joseph, Mo.

Croxton, Thomas, a Representative from Virginia; born in Tappahannock, Essex county, Va., March 15, 1822; attended the primary schools, the Tappahannock and Fleetwood academies, and the University of Virginia; graduated in law in June, 1842, and practiced; attorney for the Commonwealth from July, 1852, to July, 1865, when he resigned; served on the staff of Gen. George E. Picket in the Civil War; elector from the first district of Virginia on the Hancock and English ticket in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); elected judge of Essex county, Va.; died in Tappahannock, Va., July 3, 1903.

Crozier, John Hervey, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Knoxville, Tenn., February 10, 1812; attended the public schools; was graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1829; studied law and was admitted to the Knoxville bar; member of state house of representatives 1837–1839; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); died in Knox county, Tenn., October 25, 1889.

Crozier, Robert, a Representative from Kansas; elected to the Forty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Alexander Caldwell, and served from December 1, 1873, to March 3, 1875.

Crudup, Josiah, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Wake county, N. C., January 13, 1791; attended a private school in Louisburg, N. C., and Columbian college, Washington, D. C.; studied theology and was ordained a Baptist minister, and, excepting the service in Congress, continued in the ministry until his death; elected to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); died near Kittrell, Vance county, N. C., May 20, 1872.

Cruger, Daniel, a Representative from New York; born in Sunbury, Pa., December 22, 1780; attended the public schools; member of the state house of representatives 1814–1815, 1816, and 1826, and served as speaker in 1816; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); district attorney of Steuben county 1815–1821; died in Bath, N. Y., in June, 1843.

Crump, George William, a Representative from Virginia; born in Powhatan county, Va.; was graduated from Princeton college; studied medicine and practiced; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Nineteenth Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Randolph, and served from February 6, 1826, to March 3, 1827; defeated for reelection to the Twentieth Congress; appointed by President Jackson chief clerk of the pension bureau in 1832, which position he held until his death in Washington, D. C., in 1850.

Crump, Rousseau Owen, a Representative from Michigan; born in Pittsford, Monroe county, N. Y., May 20, 1843; attended the Pittsford and Rochester schools; followed the lumber business; established his first home in Plainwell, Mich., in 1869; moved to West Bay City, Mich., and engaged in manufacturing; served as alderman for four years, and in the spring of 1892 nominated and elected mayor, and reelected in 1894; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses, and served from March 4, 1895, until his death in West Bay City, Mich., May 1, 1901.

Digitized by Google

Crumpacker, Edgar Dean, a Representative from Indiana; born in Laporte county, Ind., May 27, 1851; attended the common schools and Valparaiso academy; admitted to the bar in 1876, and practiced in Valparaiso, Ind.; prosecuting attorney for the thirty-first judicial district of Indiana 1884–1888; served as appellate judge, by appointment under Gov. Hovey, from March, 1891, to January 1, 1893; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth, and to the six succeeding Congresses March 4, 1897–March 3, 1911); Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Crutchfield, William, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Greenville, Tenn., November 16, 1826; attended the common schools; moved to McMinn county, Tenn., in early youth and remained there four years; settled in Alabama in 1844 and engaged in farming; became a permanent resident of Chattanooga in 1850; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); died in Chattanooga, Tenn., January 24, 1890.

Culberson, Charles A., a Senator from Texas; born in Dadeville, Tallapoosa county, Ala., June 10, 1855; eldest son of David B. Culberson, for twenty-two years a member of the House of Representatives from Texas; resided in Gilmer and Jefferson, Tex., until 1887, when he moved to Dallas; attended the common schools and was graduated from the Virginia military institute, Lexington, in 1874; studied law at the University of Virginia in 1876–1877; was admitted to the bar, and practiced; elected attorney general of Texas in 1890 and 1892; elected governor of Texas in 1894 and 1896; delegate at large to the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1896; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate January 25, 1899, and took his seat March 4, 1899; reelected in 1905, again in 1911 for the term expiring March 4, 1917.

Culberson, David Browning, a Representative from Texas; born in Troup county, Ga., September 29, 1830; pursued preparatory studies in Brownwood, Lagrange, Ga.; studied law under Chief Justice Chilton, of Alabama; moved to Texas in 1856, and elected a member of the legislature of that state in 1859; entered the Confederate army as a private, and promoted to the rank of colonel of the eighteenth Texas infantry; assigned to duty in 1864 as adjutant general, with the rank of colonel, of the state of Texas; elected to the state legislature in 1864; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and the ten succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1897); appointed by President McKinley as one of the commissioners to codify the laws of the United States, June 21, 1897, and held this position until he died in his home, Jefferson, Marion county, Tex., May 7, 1900.

Culbertson, William Constantine, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Erie county, Pa., November 27, 1825; attended the common schools; engaged in lumbering and farming; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); returned to Girard, Pa., where he devoted his time to business interests.

Culbertson, William Wirt, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Lewistown, Pa.; went with his parents to Kentucky; attended the common schools; engaged in the manufacture of iron; served in the civil war; enlisted as a private in company F, twenty-seventh Ohio infantry July 16, 1861; captain August 2, 1861; resigned March 3, 1864; elected to the state legislature in 1870 and to the state senate in 1873; delegate in the Republican national conventions in Cincinnati and Chicago in 1876 and 1880 and in 1884, and was one of the steadfast 306 who stood for General Grant in 1880; mayor of the city of Ashland; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Oxford, Ohio, October 31, 1911.

Culbreth, Thomas, a Representative from Maryland; born in Kent county, Del., April 13, 1786; moved to Caroline county, Md.; member of the state house of representatives in 1813; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1821); declined nominations to the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Congresses; chief judge of the Caroline county orphans' court in 1822; clerk of the executive council of Maryland 1825–1838; died near Greensboro, Caroline county, Md., April 16, 1843.

Cullen, Elisha Dickerson, a Representative from Delaware; born in Millsboro, Sussex county, Del., April 23, 1799; attended Princeton college; studied law and was admitted to the Delaware bar in 1821, and commenced practice in Georgetown, Del.; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); defeated for reelection to the Thirty-fifth Congress; died in Georgetown, Del., February 8, 1862; interment in Lewes, Del., cemetery.

Cullen, William, a Representative from Illinois; born in the north of Ireland March 4, 1826; when a child his parents came to the United States and located in Pittsburgh, Pa., where he attended the public schools; moved to Illinois in 1846 and located on a farm; sheriff of Lasalle county; held other local offices; moved to Ottawa, Ill.; political editor of the Ottawa Republican; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1885); a resident of Ottawa, Ill.; retired from business.

Cullom, Alvan, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Monticello, Ky., September 4, 1797; received a liberal schooling; studied law and commenced practice in Livingston, Tenn.; member of the state house of representatives for several years; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847; a circuit judge; delegate to eth peace conference of 1861; died in Livingston, Overton county, Tenn., July 20, 1877.

Cullom, Shelby Moore, a Representative and a Senator from Illinois; born in Wayne county, Ky., November 22, 1829; moved with his father to Tazewell county, Ill., the following year; received an academic and university training; went to Springfield in 1853; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1855 and commenced practice in Springfield; elected city attorney; presidential elector in 1856; elected to the state house of representatives in 1856, and 1860–1861, and served as speaker of the house the second year; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1871); again a member of the state house of representatives 1873–1874 and speaker in 1873; delegate to the Republican national convention at Philadelphia in 1872, and placed Gen. Grant in nomination; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1884 and 1892; elected governor of Illinois in 1876 and 1880 and served from January 8, 1877, until February 5, 1883, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate and took his seat December 4, 1883; reelected in 1888, 1894, 1900, 1906, and 1911 for the term expiring March 3, 1915; a regent of the Smithsonian institution; member of the commission appointed to prepare a system of laws for the Hawaiian Islands.

Digitized by Google

Cullom, William, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Monticello, Ky., June 4, 1810; attended the public schools; studied law in Lexington, Ky., and practiced in the courts of Kentucky and Tennessee; located in Carthage, Tenn.; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); defeated for reelection to the Thirty-fourth Congress; clerk of the House for the Thirty-fourth Congress, and served from February 4, 1856, to December 6, 1857; died in Clinton, Tenn., December 21, 1896.

Cullop, William Allen, a Representative from Indiana; born in Knox county, Ind., March 28, 1853; attended the common schools and was graduated from Hanover college in June, 1878; taught for two years in the Vincennes university; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Vincennes, Ind., in June, 1880; prosecuting attorney of the twelfth judicial circuit 1883–1886; member of the Indiana legislature 1891–1893; delegate to the Democratic national conventions of 1892 and 1896; in 1900 was a candidate for elector on the Democratic ticket; in 1904 was chairman of the committee on resolutions at the Indiana Democratic state convention, and reported the platform to the convention; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Culpepper, John, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Anson county, N. C., in 1761; attended the public schools; licensed to preach in the Baptist denomination; elected as a Federalist to the Tenth Congress; seat was contested and declared vacant January 2, 1808, on account of irregularities; was subsequently reelected and took his seat February 23, 1808; elected to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); defeated for the Fifteenth Congress; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); defeated for the Seventeenth Congress; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825); defeated for the Nineteenth Congress; elected to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); died in the residence of his son in South Carolina, in 1837.

Culver, Charles Vernon, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Logan, Ohio, September 6, 1830; received a liberal preparatory schooling, and attended the Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, Ohio; engaged in business; interested in the development of oil in Venango county, Pa., and the establishment of national banks; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); while a member of Congress became bankrupt and was imprisoned in 1866, but after a prolonged trial was acquitted; resumed operations in the oil business, with headquarters in Franklin, Pa.; died in Philadelphia, Pa., January 10, 1909.

Culver, Erastus Dean, a Representative from New York; born in Champlain, Washington county, N. Y., March 15, 1903; was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1826; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Fort Ann, N. Y., in 1831; moved to Greenwich, N. Y., in 1836; elected to the state assembly 1838 and 1841; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); moved to Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1850; became the second judge of the city court of Brooklyn in 1855 and served until 1861; United States minister to Venezuela 1862–1870; died in Greenwich, N. Y., October 13, 1889.

Cumback, William, a Representative from Indiana; was born in Franklin county, Ind., March 24, 1829; was graduated from the Miami university, Ohio; taught school two years; studied law at the Cincinnati law school, and afterward practiced in Greensburg, Ind.; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); defeated for the Thirty-fifth Congress; presidential elector in 1860 on the Lincoln and Hamlin ticket; appointed by President Lincoln a paymaster in the Army; lieutenant governor in 1868; died in Greensburg, Ind., August 1, 1905.

Cumming, Thomas W., a Representative from New York; born in Maryland; moved to Brooklyn, N. Y.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855).

Cumming, William, a Delegate from North Carolina; born in Edenton, N. C.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; Delegate to the Continental Congress in 1784; elected to the house of commons of North Carolina in 1788.

Cummings, Amos Jay, a Representative from New York; born in Conkling, Broome county, N. Y., May 15, 1841; attended the common schools; entered a printing office when twelve years of age; with Walker in the last invasion of Nicaragua in October, 1858; sergeant major of the twenty-sixth New Jersey regiment, second brigade, sixth corps, Army of the Potomac; filled editorial positions on the New York Tribune under Horace Greeley, New York Sun, New York Express, and editor of the Evening Sun on entering upon his congressional duties; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1903); died in Baltimore, Md., May 2, 1902.

Cummings, Henry Johnson Brodhead, a Representative from Iowa; born in Newton, N. J., May 21, 1831; attended the public schools; edited a newspaper in Schuylkill county, Pa., in 1850; studied law and commenced practice in Winterset, Iowa, in January, 1856; elected county prosecuting attorney in August, 1856, and held the office two years and three months; entered the Union Army in July, 1861, and elected captain of company F of the fourth Iowa infantry; commissioned colonel of the thirty-ninth Iowa infantry, which he commanded until 1865; became editor and proprietor of the Winterset Madisonian in 1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); died in Winterset, Iowa, April 16, 1909.

Digitized by Google

Cummins, Albert Baird, a Senator from Iowa; born near Carmichaels, Pa., February 15, 1850; attended the public schools, a preparatory academy, and was three years in Waynesburg (Pa.) college; member of the house of representatives of the twenty-second general assembly of Iowa; member of the Republican national committee from 1896 to 1900, and governor from January, 1902, until November 24, 1908, when he was elected to fill the vacancy in the United States Senate caused by the death of William B. Allison; reelected for the term ending March 3, 1915.

Cummins, John D., a Representative from Ohio; born in Pennsylvania; attended the public schools and was graduated from Jefferson college, Canonsburg, Pa., in 1834; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New Philadelphia, Ohio; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); died in Milwaukee, Wis., September 11, 1849.

Cunningham, Francis Alanson, a Representative from Ohio; born in Abbeville district, N. C., November 9, 1804; moved to Eaton, Ohio; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); appointed additional paymaster of volunteers by President Polk, December 30, 1847; commissioned paymaster in the regular army March 2, 1849; was retired from active service August 27, 1863; died in Eaton, Ohio, August 16, 1864.

Currier, Frank Dunklee, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Canaan, N. H., October 30, 1853; received a common school and academic training; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1874; member of the state house of representatives in 1879; secretary of the Republican state committee 1882–1890; clerk of the state senate 1883–1887; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1884; president of the state senate in 1887; naval officer of customs at the port of Boston, Mass., 1890–1894; speaker of the state house of representatives in 1899; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Curry, Jabez Lamar Monroe, a Representative from Alabama; born in Lincoln county, Ga., June 5, 1825; moved with his father to Talladega county, Ala., in 1838; was graduated from the University of Georgia in 1843; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Talladega county in 1845; served in the War with Mexico as a private in the Texas rangers in 1846, but resigned on account of ill health; member of the state house of representatives 1847, 1853, and 1855; presidential elector on the Buchanan ticket in 1856; elected as a States' Rights Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, to January 21, 1861, when he retired from the House; deputy from Alabama to the Provisional Confederate congress, and a representative to the first Confederate congress; served as a lieutenant colonel of cavalry in the Confederate army; after the war became a Baptist preacher; chosen president of Howard college, Alabama, in 1865; professor in Richmond college, Virginia, 1868–1881; appointed minister to Spain in 1885; died in Washington, D. C., February 12, 1903.

Curtin, Andrew Gregg, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Bellefonte, Pa., April 22, 1817; pursued preparatory studies in Milton academy and was graduated from Dickinson college in 1837; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1839; supported Gen. Harrison for the presidency in 1840; a Whig elector in 1848 and 1852; secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and superintendent of public instruction; governor of Pennsylvania from January 15, 1861, to January 15, 1867, and was most active in support of the Union Army throughout the period of the Civil War, and in raising and equipping 270 regiments, besides a number of detached companies, that Pennsylvania furnished for the northern armies; minister to Russia 1869–1872; member of the constitutional convention of Pennsylvania; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1887); died in Bellefonte, Pa., October 7, 1894.

Curtis, Carlton B., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Madison county, N. Y., December 17, 1811; studied law and commenced practice in Warren, Pa.; elected to the legislature in 1836, 1837, and 1838; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); served in the Union Army as a colonel of a regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers; moved to Erie, Pa.; again elected and as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); defeated for reelection to the Forty-fourth Congress; died in Erie, Pa., March 17, 1883.

Curtis, Charles, a Representative and a Senator from Kansas; born in Topeka, Kans., January 25, 1860; attended common schools of the city of Topeka; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1881; elected county attorney of Shawnee county in 1884 and reelected in 1886; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and the seven succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1893, until January, 1907, when he was elected to the United States Senate to fill out the unexpired term of Joseph R. Burton, resigned, and was reelected for the full term beginning March 4, 1907; took his seat January 29, 1907.

Curtis, Edward, a Representative from New York; born in Windsor, Vt., October 25, 1801; was graduated from Union college in 1821; studied law and commenced practice in New York City in 1824; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); appointed by President Harrison collector of the port of New York, March 18, 1841, and held the position until July 7, 1844; resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C.; died in New York City August 2, 1856.

Curtis, George Mortimer, a Representative from Iowa; born near Oxford, Chenango county, N. Y., April 1, 1844; moved with his parents to Ogle county, Ill., in 1856; attended the common schools and Rock River seminary, Mount Morris, Ill.; engaged as clerk in Rochelle, Ill., 1863–1865, and subsequently for two years in Cortland, Ill.; moved to Clinton, Iowa, in 1867; engaged in the manufacture of lumber, etc.; member of the twenty-second general assembly; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1892; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899); resumed the manufacture of house trimmings in Clinton, Iowa.

Digitized by Google

Curtis, Newton Martin, a Representative from New York; born in Depeyster, St. Lawrence county, N. Y., May 21, 1835; attended the common schools and Gouverneur Wesleyan seminary; entered the Union Army; commissioned captain sixteenth New York infantry May 15, 1861; lieutenant colonel one hundred and forty-second New York infantry October 22, 1862; colonel January 21, 1863; brigadier general of volunteers January 15, 1865; brevet brigadier general October 28, 1864, "for distinguished service in the movement on the enemy's works near New Market, Va."; major general March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious service at the capture of Fort Fisher, N. C."; awarded a medal of honor "for being the first man at Fort Fisher, N. C., January 15, 1865, to pass through the stockade, and for leading the assault on the traverses, sustaining four severe wounds;" mustered out of service January 15, 1866; appointed collector of customs, district of Oswegatchie, N. Y., in 1866; appointed special agent United States Treasury department in 1867, which position he resigned in 1880; employed 1880–1882 by the Department of Justice; member of the assembly 1884–1890; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Leslie W. Russell; reelected to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); assistant inspector general of the National homes for disabled volunteer soldiers; died in New York City, June 8, 1910; interment in Ogdensburg, N. Y.

Curtis, Samuel Ryan, a Representative from Iowa; born in Clinton county, N. Y., February 3, 1807; reared in Ohio, where he attended the public schools; appointed a cadet at West Point in 1827 and was graduated in July, 1831, as brevet second lieutenant in the seventh infantry, and resigned in June, 1832; studied law and commenced practice in Ohio; chief engineer of the Muskingum River improvements April, 1837, to May, 1839; served in the War with Mexico as colonel of the third Ohio infantry June 23, 1846; honorably discharged June 24, 1847; resumed the practice of law; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth, and Thirty-seventh Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, to August 4, 1861, when he resigned; served in the Union Army as colonel of the second Iowa infantry June 1, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers May 17, 1861; major general of volunteers March 21, 1862; mustered out April 30, 1866; appointed United States peace commissioner to treat with the Indians in 1865; appointed commissioner to examine and report on the Union Pacific railroad, and served from November, 1865, to April, 1866; died in Council Bluffs, Iowa, December 25, 1866.

Cusack, Thomas, a Representative from Illinois; born in Ireland, October 5, 1858; moved to New York with his parents when three years of age; after the death of his parents moved to Chicago; attended private and public schools in both cities; engaged in the advertising-sign painting business December, 1875; member of the board of education 1891–1898, and vice president of the board during the years 1896–1898; member of the state central committee 1896–1898; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); resumed business in Chicago, Ill.

Cushing, Caleb, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Salisbury, Mass., January 17, 1800; was graduated from Harvard college in 1817; studied law, admitted to the bar at Newburyport in 1823; member of the state house of representatives in 1825, and of the state senate in 1827; again a member of the state house of representatives in 1833 and 1834; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1843); appointed by President Tyler commissioner to China, and served from May 8, 1843, to March 13, 1845; again a member of the state house of representatives 1845–1846; colonel of a Massachusetts regiment which served in the War with Mexico; appointed brigadier general by President Polk April 14, 1847; defeated as the Democratic candidate for governor in 1847, and again in 1848; again elected to the state house of representatives in 1850; offered the position as attorney general of Massachusetts in 1851, but declined; mayor of Newburyport, Mass., 1851–1852; appointed judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts in 1852; appointed by President Pierce Attorney General of the United States March 7, 1853; president of the Democratic national convention at Baltimore and Charleston in 1860; appointed by President Johnson a commissioner to codify the laws of the United States, 1866–1870; appointed by President Grant counsel for the United States before the Geneva tribunal of arbitration on the Alabama claims; nominated by President Grant in 1874 to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, but was not confirmed by the Senate; minister to Spain 1874–1877; died in Newburyport, Mass., January 2, 1879.

Cushing, Thomas, a Delegate from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., March 24, 1725; was graduated from Harvard college in 1744; studied law and admitted to the bar in Boston; for many years member of the provincial assembly; member of the Provincial Congress in 1774; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1774–1776; commissary general of Massachusetts in 1775; declined a reelection to the Continental Congress in 1779; lieutenant governor, 1779–1788, and acting governor in 1788; died in Boston, Mass., February 28, 1788.

Cushman, Francis Wellington, a Representative from Washington; born in Brighton, Washington county, Iowa, May 8, 1867; attended the high school in Brighton, and Pleasant Plain academy of Jefferson county, Iowa; at the age of sixteen moved to the then Territory of Wyoming, where he remained five years, then to Nebraska and began the practice of law; removed to the state of Washington in 1891, and engaged in the practive of law; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1899, until his death in New York City, July 6, 1909.

Cushman, John Paine, a Representative from New York; born in Pomfret, Conn., March 8, 1784; was graduated from Yale college in 1807; admitted to the bar at Troy, N. Y., and began practice; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); appointed a regent of the state university from April 2, 1830, until he resigned in April, 1834; circuit judge, 1838–1844; died in Troy, N. Y., September 16, 1848.

Cushman, Joshua, a Representative from Massachusetts and from Maine; born in Plymouth, Mass., in 1759; entered the Revolutionary Army

Digitized by Google

April 1, 1777, and served until March, 1780; was graduated from Harvard college in 1787; studied theology, and licensed to preach; located in Winslow, Me., and preached there for nearly twenty years, first as pastor of a Congregational and then of a Unitarian church; member of the state house of representatives in 1811-1812; state senator in 1809, 1810, 1819, and 1820; elected a Representative from Massachusetts to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819-March 3, 1821); elected a Representative from Maine to the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821-March 3, 1825); again a member of the state legislature in 1834; died in Winslow, Me., January 27, 1834; interment in Augusta, Me.

Cushman, Samuel, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Portsmouth, N. H., June 8, 1783; received preparatory training in the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Portsmouth; served as judge of the Portsmouth police court; county treasurer, 1823-1828, and a member of the state council, 1833-1835; nominated by President Jackson to be United States attorney for the district of New Hampshire, but was not confirmed by the Senate; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835-March 3, 1839); United States Navy officer at Portsmouth, 1845-1849; died in Portsmouth, N. H., May 20, 1851.

Cutcheon, Byron M., a Representative from Michigan; born in Pembroke, Merrimack county, N. H., May 11, 1836; pursued preparatory studies at Pembroke and completed them in Ypsilanti, Mich., where he moved in 1855; was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1861; became principal of the high school at Ypsilanti in 1861; served in the Union Army; second lieutenant twentieth Michigan infantry July 15, 1862; captain August 16, 1862; major October 14, 1862; lieutenant colonel November 19, 1863; colonel January 8, 1864; colonel twenty-seventh Michigan infantry December 19, 1864; brevet colonel of volunteers August 18, 1864, "for gallant services at the battles of the Wilderness and Spottsylvania Court House, Va."; awarded medal of honor June 29, 1891, "for distinguished gallantry in leading his regiment in a charge on a house occupied by the enemy at Horseshoe Bend, Ky., May 10, 1863;" resigned March 6, 1865; studied law in Ypsilanti, Mich., 1865-1866; was graduated from Michigan University law school 1866, admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Manistee, Mich., in 1867; member of the board of control of railroads of Michigan 1866-1883; presidential elector in 1868; city attorney 1870-1871; county attorney, 1873-1874; regent of the Michigan University 1875-1883; postmaster of Manistee City, Mich., 1877-1883; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1883-March 3, 1891); appointed the civilian member of the Board of Ordnance and Fortification by President Harrison in July, 1891, and served until March 25, 1895; editorial writer on the Detroit Daily Tribune and Detroit Journal, 1895-1897; resumed the practice of law in Grand Rapids, Mich.; died in Ypsilanti, Mich., April 12, 1908.

Cuthbert, Alfred, a Representative and a Senator from Georgia; born in Savannah, Ga., in 1780; was graduated from Princeton college in 1803; studied law, and afterwards practiced in Monticello, Jasper county, Ga.; member of the state legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William W. Bibb; reelected to the Fourteenth Congress, and served from February 7, 1814, to 1816, when he resigned; elected to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821-March 3, 1827); elected a United States Senator from Georgia to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Forsyth, and was reelected for a full term; served from January 12, 1835, to March 3, 1843; died near Monticello, Ga., July 9, 1856.

Cuthbert, John Alfred, a Representative from Georgia; born in Savannah, Ga., June 3, 1788; was graduated from Princeton college in 1805; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1809; and commenced practice in Eatonton; elected to the state legislature and served many years, either in the senate or in the house; commander of a volunteer company during the War of 1812; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819-March 3, 1821); appointed by President Monroe a commissioner to treat with the Creek and Cherokee Indians in 1822; became editor and subsequently proprietor of the Federal Union, an influential paper published at Milledgeville, Ga., 1831-1837; moved to Mobile in 1837, and practiced his profession; elected judge of the county court of Mobile in 1840, and appointed by the governor judge of the circuit court of the same county in 1852; died near Mobile, Ala., September 22, 1881.

Cutler, Augustus William, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Morristown, N. J., October 22, 1827; spent the early part of his life on a farm; studied law; admitted as an attorney in 1850 and as a counselor in 1853; prosecutor of the pleas, 1856-1861; became president of the board of education in 1870; member of the constitutional convention of New Jersey in 1873; state senator 1871-1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875-March 3, 1879); declined a reelection to the Forty-sixth Congress, and an unsuccessful candidate for the Forty-seventh and Fifty-fifth Congresses; died in Morristown, N. J., January 1, 1897.

Cutler, Manasseh, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Killingly, Conn., May 13, 1742; was graduated from the medical department of Yale college in 1765; engaged in the whaling business at Edgartown, Marthas Vineyard; moved to Dedham in 1769; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1767, but did not practice; studied theology, and in 1770 licensed to preach; ordained to the ministry by the Congressional society at Hamlet, Ipswich, Mass., September 11, 1771; appointed chaplain of Col. Francis's regiment September 5, 1776; one of the projectors of the Ohio Company in 1787; appointed judge of the United States court for Ohio in 1795 by President Washington, but declined; member of the state house of representatives in 1800; elected as a Federalist to the Seventh and Eighth Congresses (March 4, 1801-March 3, 1805); died in Hamilton, Mass., July 28, 1823.

Cutler, William Parker, a Representative from Ohio; born in Marietta, Ohio, July 12, 1812; attended public schools and Ohio university; member of the state house of representatives, 1844-1847; served as speaker during the last term; member of the state constitutional convention in 1850; president of the Marietta & Cincinnati railroad, 1850-1860; elected as a Republican to the

Digitized by Google

Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); defeated for reelection; died in Marietta, Ohio, April 11, 1889.

Cutting, Francis Brockholst, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, August 6, 1804; studied law in the Litchfield (Conn.) law school, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in New York City; an alderman in 1843, and afterwards city recorder; served as a member of the state house of representatives in 1836 and 1837; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); died in New York City, June 26, 1870.

Cutting, John Tyler, a Representative from California; born in Westport, Essex county, N. Y., September 7, 1844; resided in Wisconsin and Illinois 1855–1860, and attended school in the latter state; enlisted in Taylor's Chicago battery at the breaking out of the Civil War and served until July 20, 1862; discharged for disability, the result of service in the field; reenlisted January 4, 1864, in the Chicago mercantile battery, in which he served until the close of the war; moved to California in 1877 and established a wholesale fruit and commission business; identified himself with state and national politics; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); took up his residence in New York City in 1894; died in Toronto, Ontario, November 24, 1911; interment in Westport, N. Y.

Cutts, Charles, a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Massachusetts January 30, 1769; was graduated from Harvard college in 1789; studied law and admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives in 1804 and served as speaker; elected United States Senator from New Hampshire, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Nahum Parker and served from June 21, 1810, to March 3, 1813; subsequently appointed Senator to fill a vacancy during a recess of the legislature, and served from April 2, 1813 to June 10, 1813, when his successor took his seat; chosen Secretary of the United States Senate; served from October 11, 1814, to December 12, 1825; died in Fairfax county, Va., January 25, 1846.

Cutts, Marsena Edgar, a Representative from Iowa; born in Orwell, Addison county, Vt., May 22, 1833; received an academic training; moved to Iowa in June, 1855; prosecuting attorney of Poweshiek county from August 25 to January, 1859; member of the state house of representatives at the extra session in May, 1861; state senator from January, 1864, until he resigned in August, 1866; member of the state house of representatives from January, 1870, until January, 1872; attorney-general of the state from February, 1872, until January, 1877; elected to the Forty-seventh Congress as a Republican; his seat was contested by John C. Cook, and on March 3, 1883 (the closing day of the Congress), Mr. Cook was declared elected; elected to the Forty-eighth Congress, but died in Oskaloosa, Iowa, September 1, 1883, before the assembling of the Congress.

Cutts, Richard, a Representative from Massachusetts; born on Cutts Island, Saco, Mass. (now Maine), June 28, 1771; was graduated from Harvard college in 1790; studied law; engaged in commercial pursuits; member of the state house of representatives 1799 and 1800; elected as a Democrat to the Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, and Twelfth Congresses (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1813); defeated for the Thirteenth Congress; appointed superintendent general of military supplies March 4, 1813, which office he held until March 3, 1817, when he was appointed Second Comptroller of the Treasury, which position he held until 1829; died in Washington, D. C., April 7, 1845.

Daggett, David, a Senator from Connecticut; born in Attleboro, Mass., December 31, 1764; was graduated from Yale college in 1783; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1788, and commenced practice in New Haven; mayor of the city in 1828, and held other municipal offices; member of the state legislature, 1791 to 1814; presidential elector in 1805, voting for Charles C. Pinckney, in 1809 voting again for Charles C. Pinckney, and in 1813 voting for De Witt Clinton; elected as a Federalist to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Chauncey Goodrich and served from May 13, 1813, to March 3, 1819; judge of the state supreme court 1826–1832; chief judge 1832–1834, when he reached the age limit and retired; died in New Haven, Conn., April 12, 1851.

Daggett, Rollin M., a Representative from Nevada; born in Richville, N. Y., in 1831; his father moved to northwestern Ohio in 1837; attended school in Defiance, where he learned the printing business; crossed the plains to the Pacific in 1849; followed mining until 1852, and in that year started the "Golden Era" at San Francisco; with others established the San Francisco "Mirror" in 1860; united it with the San Francisco "Herald"; moved to Nevada in 1862 and settled in Virginia City; elected a member of the territorial council in 1863; became connected, editorially, in 1864, with the "Territorial Enterprise"; Republican presidential elector in 1876, and messenger to Washington; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881).

Dahle, Herman Bjorn, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Perry, Dane county, Wis., March 30, 1855; attended the public schools and the Wisconsin state university; moved to Mount Vernon, Wis., and engaged in business; moved to Mount Horeb in 1887; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1903); engaged in the mercantile and banking business in Mount Horeb, Wis.

Daily, Samuel G., a Delegate from Nebraska Territory; born in Indiana in 1819; attended the public schools; moved to Nebraska Territory and settled in Peru; member of the territorial legislature; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1865); received the appointment of deputy collector of customs at New Orleans at the special request of President Lincoln in March, 1865, which position he held until his death in New Orleans, La., September 15, 1865.

Dale, Thomas Henry, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Daleville, Lackawanna county, Pa., June 12, 1846; attended the public schools and Wyoming seminary, Kingston, Pa.; enlisted in the Union army in 1863; after discharge from service became a coal operator; prothonotary of Lackawanna county nine years; delegate to the Republican national convention of 1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1907); after leaving congress settled in Scranton, Pa.

Digitized by Google

Dallas, George Mifflin, a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., July 10, 1792; was graduated from Princeton college in 1810; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1813; private secretary to Albert Gallatin, minister to Russia; returned in 1814 and engaged in the practice of law in New York City, and was solicitor of the United States Bank; returned to Philadelphia and was appointed deputy attorney general in 1817; mayor of Philadelphia in 1829; United States district attorney for the eastern district of Pennsylvania 1829-1831; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Isaac D. Barnard, and served from December 13, 1831, to March 3, 1833; declined a reelection and resumed the practice of law; attorney general of the state 1833-1835; appointed by President Van Buren minister to Russia, served from March 7, 1837, to July 29, 1839, when he was recalled at his own request; elected Vice President of the United States on the Polk ticket in 1844; appointed minister to Great Britain by President Pierce, served from February 4, 1856, to May 16, 1861; returned to Philadelphia, where he died December 31, 1864.

Dalton, Tristram, a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Newbury, Mass., May 28, 1738; attended Drummer academy, Byfield, Mass., and was graduated from Harvard college in 1755; studied law; admitted to practice but engaged in mercantile pursuits; delegate from Massachusetts in the convention of committees of New England provinces which first met in Providence, R. I., December 25, 1776; member of the state house of representatives, and served as speaker; one of the first United States Senators from Massachusetts; served from March 4, 1789, to March 3, 1791; surveyor of the port of Boston from November 10, 1814, until his death in Boston, Mass., May 30, 1817.

Daly, William Davis, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Jersey City, N. J., June 4, 1851; assistant United States district attorney for New Jersey 1885-1888; alternate delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1888; elected to the house of assembly in 1889; judge of the district court of Hoboken; resigned in 1892; elected state senator in 1892 and 1895; delegate to the Democratic national conventions of 1892 and 1896; chairman of the state Democratic convention in 1896, and member of the state committee 1896-1898; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899 March 3, 1901); died in Hoboken, N. J., July 31, 1900.

Dalzell, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in New York City April 19, 1845; moved to Pittsburgh in 1847; attended the common schools, the Western university of Pennsylvania, and was graduated from Yale college in 1865; studied law; admitted to the bar in February, 1867, and practiced; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and to the eleven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1887-March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Damrell, William Shapleigh, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Portsmouth, N. H., November 29, 1809; attended the public schools; learned the art of printing and became the proprietor of a large printing establishment in Boston; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth and as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1855-March 3, 1859); partially paralyzed before the expiration of his term; died in Dedham, Mass., May 17, 1860.

Dana, Amasa, a Representative from New York; born in Ithaca, N. Y., October 19, 1792; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Ithaca; appointed district attorney of Tompkins county in 1823; member of the state house of representatives 1828-1829; appointed county judge in 1837; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839-March 3, 1841); reelected to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843-March 3, 1845); died in Ithaca, N. Y., December 24, 1867.

Dana, Francis, a Delegate from Massachusetts; born in Charlestown, Mass., June 13, 1743; was graduated from Harvard college in 1762; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1767, and commenced practice in Boston; Delegate to the Provincial Congress in 1774; went to England the same year, and remained there two years endeavoring to adjust differences between the mother country and the American colony; state councillor 1776-1780; sat in the Continental Congress 1776-1778 and 1784; secretary of legation in Paris from September 28, 1779, until December 19, 1780, when he was appointed minister to Russia; recommissioned secretary of legation in Paris June 15, 1781; again a Delegate in Congress in 1784; judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts 1785-1792; member of the state convention which adopted the Federal Constitution in 1788; appointed chief justice of Massachusetts in November, 1791; presidential elector in 1789, 1793, 1801, and 1809; a founder of the American academy of arts and sciences; died in Cambridge, Mass., April 25, 1811.

Dana, Judah, a Senator from Maine; born in Pomfret, Conn., April 25, 1772; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1795; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1798, and practiced in Fryeburg, Mass. (afterwards Maine); county attorney of Oxford county 1805-1811, and judge of probate 1811-1822; judge of the court of common pleas 1811-1823; was also a circuit judge; delegate to the convention which framed the constitution of Maine in 1819; member of the executive council in 1834; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Ether Shepley and served from December 7, 1836, to February 22, 1837; died in Fryeburg, Me., December 27, 1845.

Dana, Samuel, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Groton, Mass., June 26, 1767; studied law and practiced in Charlestown, Mass.; held several local offices; elected to the Thirteenth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William M. Richardson and served from September 22, 1814, to March 3, 1815; member of the state senate 1802-1813 and 1825-1827, and its president for eight years; appointed chief justice of the court of common pleas; delegate to the state convention in 1820; died in Charlestown, Mass., November 20, 1825.

Dana, Samuel Whittlesey, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Wallingford, Conn., February 13, 1760; was graduated from Yale college in 1775; admitted to the bar in 1778, and practiced in Middletown; elected as a Federalist to the Fourth Congress to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Uriah Tracy; reelected to the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, and Tenth Congresses and served from January 3, 1797, to March 3, 1809; reelected to the Eleventh Congress, but before taking his seat was elected as a Federalist to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Hillhouse; reelected in 1815, and served from May 10, 1810, to March 3, 1821; afterwards mayor of Middletown, Conn., where he died July 21, 1830.

Digitized by Google

Dane, Joseph, a Representative from Maine; born in Beverly, Essex county, Mass., October 25, 1778; attended Phillips Andover academy, and was graduated from Harvard college in 1799; studied law and admitted to the bar in July, 1802; began practice in Kennebunk, Me.; delegate to the state constitutional conventions of 1816 and 1819; elected as a Federalist to the Sixteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Holmes; reelected to the Seventeenth Congress, and served from December 11, 1820, to March 3, 1823; member of the state house of representatives 1824, 1825, 1832, 1833, 1839, and 1840, and of the state senate in 1829; declined to serve as executive councillor of Maine in 1841; died in Kennebunk, Me., May 1, 1858.

Dane, Nathan, a Delegate from Massachusetts; born in Ipswich, Mass., December 27, 1752; was graduated from Harvard college in 1778; taught school; studied law and admitted to the bar; began practicing in Beverly, Mass., in 1782; member of the state house of representatives 1782–1785; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1785–1788; member of the state senate 1790–1791 and 1794–1797; judge of the court of common pleas for Essex county in 1794, for a short period of time; commissioner to codify the laws of Massachusetts in 1795; a presidential elector in 1812; was selected the same year to make a new publication of the statutes; member of the Hartford convention of 1814; elected delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1820, but did not serve on account of deafness; died in Beverly, Mass., February 15, 1835.

Danford, Lorenzo, a Representative from Ohio; born in Belmont county, Ohio, October 18, 1829; attended common schools and a college at Waynesburg, Pa., two years; admitted to the bar at St. Clairsville, Ohio, in September, 1854; prosecuting attorney of Belmont county from 1857 to 1861, when he resigned and went into the Union army, in the fifteenth Ohio volunteer infantry; served as private, lieutenant, and captain until August, 1864; Republican member of the electoral college of Ohio in 1864 and in 1892; elected to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth Congresses; was returned to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1873, to March 3, 1879, and from March 4, 1895, until his death, in St. Clairsville, Ohio, June 19, 1899.

Daniel, Henry, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Louisa county, Va., March 15, 1786; attended the public schools; moved to Kentucky, where he studied law and afterwards practiced in Mount Sterling; member of the state house of representatives in 1812; served in the war against Great Britain as captain of the eighth United States infantry 1813–1815; again a member of the state house of representatives in 1819 and 1826; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1833); died in Mount Sterling, Ky., October 5, 1873.

Daniel, John Reeves Jones, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Halifax county, N. C.; in 1802 was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1821; studied law and afterwards practiced; member of the house of commons of North Carolina 1832–1834; elected attorney general in 1834; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, Thirty-first, and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1853); after his retirement from Congress moved to Louisiana, where he died in 1865.

Daniel, John Warwick, a Representative and a Senator from Virginia; born in Lynchburg, Va., September 5, 1842; attended the private schools, Lynchburg college, and Dr. Gessner Harrison's university school; entered Confederate army in May, 1861, as second lieutenant in the provisional army of Virginia and drillmaster in twenty-seventh Virginia infantry, "Stonewall brigade"; became second lieutenant company A, eleventh Virginia infantry, also first lieutenant and adjutant of same regiment; wounded in first battle of Manassas and at Boonsboro, Md.; raised a company of cavalry and elected captain in 1862, but conscription act of Confederate congress remanded officers and men to their old regiments; major and chief of staff of Gen. Jubal A. Early until crippled in the Wilderness, May 6, 1864; studied law at the University of Virginia 1865–66, and practiced; published his legal work on "Attachments" in 1869 and "Negotiable Instruments" in 1876; member of the state house of delegates 1869 to 1872; member of state senate from 1875 to 1881; Democratic elector in 1876, and delegate at large to national Democratic conventions of 1880, 1888, 1892, 1896, and 1900; elected to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and took his seat March 4, 1887; reelected in 1891, 1897, 1903, and 1909, and served until his death in Lynchburg, Va., June 29, 1910.

Daniell, Warren Fisher, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Newton Lower Falls, Mass., June 26, 1826; moved to Franklin, N. H., with his parents in 1834; attended the common schools; member of the state house of representatives six years, and of the state senate two years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); after leaving Congress settled in Franklin, N. H.

Daniels, Charles, a Representative from New York; born in New York City March 12, 1826; at an early age he was taken to Toledo, Ohio, and learned his father's trade of shoemaker; moved to Buffalo, N. Y., in 1842, where he read law and was admitted to the bar in 1847; practiced in Buffalo; elected to the supreme court in 1863; appointed by Gov. Seymour to hold the office of justice of that court until January 1, 1864, when the term to which he had been elected commenced; twice reelected and held the office until December, 1891, when he reached the age limit and was retired; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); died in Buffalo, N. Y., December 20, 1897.

Daniels, Milton J., a Representative from California; born in Cobleskill, Schoharie county, N. Y., April 18, 1838; when a boy moved to Bradford county, Pa., and engaged with his father in the lumber business; in 1856 moved to Rochester, Minn.; appointed deputy postmaster of Rochester in 1859; entered Middlebury academy, Wyoming county, N. Y., in 1860; left the academy and volunteered April 23, 1861; returned to Minnesota and raised a company in August, 1862, and was commissioned second lieutenant of company F, ninth regiment Minnesota volunteers; took command of third Minnesota mounted infantry in the Indian war of 1862; joined his company at St. Louis in 1863, and commissioned captain; in March, 1865, commissioned captain and commissary of subsistence by President Lincoln and assigned to duty by Gen. Canby at Baton Rouge, La.; commissioned major by brevet by President Johnson in 1865; mustered out and returned home in January, 1866; elected to the Minnesota legislature in 1882 and served eight years, four in the house and four in the senate; president of Minnesota state board of asylums for the insane six years; removed to California in 1889 and located in Riverside; elected to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); after leaving Congress resumed his occupation as horticulturist in Riverside, Cal.

Digitized by Google

Danner, Joel B., a Representative from Pennsylvania; was elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Henry Nes, and served from December 2, 1850, to March 3, 1851.

Darby, Ezra, a Representative from New Jersey; born in that state in 1769; elected to the Ninth and Tenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1805, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 28, 1808.

Darby, John Fletcher, a Representative from Missouri; born in Person county, N. C., December 10, 1803; attended the public schools; moved with his father to Missouri in 1818, where he worked on a farm; went to Frankfort, Ky., in 1825, where he studied law, and afterwards practiced in St. Louis, Mo.; member of the state senate; mayor of St. Louis four terms; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853).

Dargan, Edmund Spann, a Representative from Alabama; born in Montgomery county, N. C., April 15, 1805; pursued preparatory studies at home; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Wadesboro in 1829; moved to Washington, Ala., where he practiced law and was for several years a justice of the peace; moved to Montgomery in 1833, and to Mobile in 1841; judge of the circuit court, Mobile district; resigned in 1842; state senator in 1844; also elected mayor in 1844; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); judge of the supreme court in 1847, and in 1849 became chief justice; resigned in December, 1852, and resumed the practice of law; delegate to the state convention in 1861 and voted for the ordinance of secession; member of the first Confederate house of representatives; resumed practice in Mobile, Ala., where he died November 22, 1879.

Dargan, George Washington, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Darlington district, S. C., May 11, 1841; attended academies of his native county and the state military academy; served in the Confederate army throughout the war; admitted to the bar in 1872, and practiced in Darlington, S. C.; elected to the state legislature in 1877; solicitor of the fourth judicial circuit of South Carolina in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1891); died June 29, 1898, in Darlington, S. C.

Darling, Mason C., a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Bellingham, Mass., May 18, 1801; attended the public schools; taught school in the state of New York; studied medicine, was graduated from the Berkshire medical college in 1824, and afterwards practiced for thirteen years; moved to Wisconsin in 1837 and was one of the original settlers at Fond du Lac; was the first mayor; member of the territorial legislature for several years; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth Congress and served from June 9, 1848, to March 3, 1849.

Darling, William Augustus, a Representative from New York; born in Newark, N. J., December 27, 1817; attended the public schools; moved to New York, where he was first a clerk and afterwards a merchant; deputy receiver of taxes for the city of New York 1847–1854; presidential elector on the Lincoln ticket in 1860; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); defeated for the Fortieth Congress; was collector of internal revenue for the ninth district, and appointed appraiser of the port; died in New York City, May 28, 1895.

Darlington, Edward, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Chester county, Pa., September 17, 1795; was graduated from West Chester academy and taught school, 1817–1820; studied law, admitted to the bar, and practiced in Chester, Pa.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses, and as an anti-Mason to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1839); moved to Media, Pa., in 1850, and died there November 21, 1884.

Darlington, Isaac, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Westtown, Chester county, Pa., December 13, 1781; pursued elementary studies at home; studied law and afterwards practiced in Westtown; member of the state house of representatives in 1807; lieutenant of Pennsylvania volunteers in the war of 1812; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); appointed deputy attorney general for Chester county in 1820; president-judge of the Chester county court in 1821, which position he held until his death, in Westtown, April 27, 1839.

Darlington, Smedley, a Representative from Pennsylvania; was born in Pocopson township, Chester county, Pa., December 24, 1827; attended the common schools and the Friends central school, Philadelphia; teacher in the latter school for several years; while preaching he made stenographic reports of sermons, lectures, and speeches for the morning dailies of Philadelphia; established a school for boys in Ercildoun in 1851, which he conducted for three years; changed the school for girls and presided over it for nine years; removed to West Chester in 1864; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); died in West Chester, Pa., June 24, 1899.

Darlington, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Birmingham, Chester county, Pa., April 28, 1782; spent his early life on a farm; became a botanist at an early age; studied medicine, and in 1824 was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania; went to the East Indies as ship's surgeon in 1806; returned to West Chester in 1807 and was a practicing physician there for a number of years; raised a company of volunteers at the beginning of the war of 1812, and was major of a volunteer regiment raised after the burning of the Capitol in Washington; elected to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); reelected to the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Congresses (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1823); appointed canal commissioner in 1825; established a natural history society in West Chester in 1826; became noted as a botanist and was made a corresponding member of some forty literary and scientific societies in Europe and America; published several works on botany and natural history; died in West Chester, Pa., April 23, 1863.

Digitized by Google

Darragh, Archibald Bard, a Representative from Michigan; born in Monroe county, Mich., December 23, 1840; received a common school and collegiate training, and was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1868; served in the Union army during the Civil War as a private and officer until discharged in 1865; engaged in the business of banking in St. Louis, Mich.; elected treasurer of Gratiot county in 1872; member of the state legislature in 1882; member of board of control of the state asylum; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1909); reengaged in banking in St. Louis, Mich.

Darragh, Cornelius, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1809; attended the Western University of Pennsylvania, studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1830, and practiced in Pittsburgh; state senator in 1832, and reelected several times; United States district attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Wilkins; reelected to the Twenty-ninth Congress, and served from March 26, 1844, to March 3, 1847; attorney general of Pennsylvania from January 4, 1849, to April 28, 1851; died in Pittsburgh, Pa., January 20, 1855.

Darrall, Chester Bidwell, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Somerset county, Pa., June 24, 1842; attended the common schools; studied medicine and was graduated from the Albany medical college; entered the Union army as assistant surgeon of the eighty-sixth New York volunteers; promoted to be surgeon; resigned from the army while on duty in Louisiana in 1867 and engaged in business and planting in Brashear, La., delegate to the national Republican convention at Philadelphia, in 1872, and to the Cincinnati convention in 1876; elected to the state senate of Louisiana in 1868; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first, Forty-second, Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1879); moved to Morgan City, La., and was elected to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); after leaving Congress served as register of United States land office, New Orleans, La., and engaged in sugar planting; died in Washington, D. C., January 1, 1908.

Davee, Thomas, a Representative from Maine; born in Plymouth, Mass., December 9, 1797; attended the public schools; moved to Maine, where he engaged in business; member of the state house of representatives in 1826–27; the state senate 1830–1832; speaker of the house of representatives in 1835; high sheriff of Somerset county in 1835; postmaster of Blanchard; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); member of Maine senate in 1841–1842; died in Blanchard, Me., December 9, 1841.

Davenport, Franklin, a Senator and a Representative from New Jersey; born in Philadelphia, Pa., in September, 1755; completed preparatory studies; studied law, admitted to the bar, and practiced in Woodbury, N. J.; served in the war of the Revolution as captain of artillery in Col. Newcomb's New Jersey brigade, and also under Col. Samuel Smith in Fort Mifflin; was a colonel in the New Jersey line during the whisky insurrection of 1794, and marched with the troops to Pittsburgh, Pa.; appointed first surrogate of Gloucester county; appointed to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by resignation of John Rutherfurd, and served from December 5, 1798, to February 14, 1799; elected a Representative to the Sixth Congress (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1801); died in Woodbury, N. J., July 27, 1832.

Davenport, Ira, a Representative from New York; born in Hornellsville, N. Y., June 28, 1841; attended school in Bath, N. Y., and Russell's school, New Haven, Conn.; elected to the state senate 1878–1879 and 1880–1881; elected comptroller of the state of New York in 1881, serving two years; defeated as the Republican candidate for governor of New York in 1885; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in Bath, N. Y., October 6, 1904.

Davenport, James, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Stamford, Conn., October 12, 1758; was graduated from Yale college in 1777; served in the commissary department in the war of the Revolution; judge of the court of common pleas; elected to the Fourth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Hillhouse; elected Senator; reelected to the Fifth Congress and served from December 5, 1796, to August 3, 1797, when he died in Stamford, Conn.

Davenport, James Sandford, a Representative from Oklahoma; born near Gaylesville, Cherokee county, Ala., September 21, 1864; moved with his father's family to Conway, Faulkner county, Ark., where he attended the public schools and the academy at Greenbrier, Ark.; read law and was admitted to the bar of Faulkner county, February 14, 1890; in October of that year moved to Muskogee, Ind. T., and in 1893 removed to Vinita, and practiced law; served two terms in the lower house of the Cherokee legislature, from 1897 to 1901; was speaker the latter term; in November, 1899, was selected one of the attorneys for the Cherokee nation and held that position until March 4, 1907; was twice elected mayor of Vinita—1903–1904; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Davenport, John, jr., a Representative from Connecticut; born in Stamford, Conn., January 16, 1752; was graduated from Yale college in 1770; tutor there in 1773–74; studied law, admitted to the bar, and afterwards practiced in Stamford, Conn.; served in the commissary department in the war of the Revolution, and attained the rank of major; elected as a Federalist to the Sixth and to the eight succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1817); died in Stamford, Conn., November 28, 1830.

Davenport, John, a Representative from Ohio; born in Jefferson county, Va., January 9, 1788; was engaged in mercantile pursuits; member of the state house of representatives and of the state senate for several years; elected to the general assembly of Ohio in 1820 and 1829, elected as an Adams man to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); defeated for the Twenty-first Congress; twice elected by the legislature judge of the Monroe judicial circuit; died in Woodsfield, Ohio, July 18, 1855.

Digitized by Google

Davenport, Samuel Arza, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born January 15, 1834, near Watkins, Schuyler county, N. Y.; moved to Erie, Erie county, Pa., in 1839; attended the Erie academy; read law and was graduated from the Harvard law school in 1855; elected district attorney for the county of Erie in 1860; delegate to the Republican national convention at Chicago in 1888, and at Minneapolis in 1892; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1901); died in Erie, Pa., August 1, 1911.

Davenport, Stanley Woodward, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Plymouth, Luzerne county, Pa., July 21, 1861; attended the public schools and Wyoming seminary; was graduated from the Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., in 1884; read law, and admitted to the bar in June, 1890; appointed a director of the poor of the central district of Luzerne county in 1893; secretary and treasurer of the poor district; register of wills of Luzerne county in 1898; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1901); after his retirement from Congress resumed the practice of law in Plymouth, Pa.

Davenport, Thomas, a Representative from Virginia; born in Cumberland county, Va.; completed preparatory studies; studied law, admitted to the bar, and practiced in Meadsville, Va.; elected as a Federalist to the Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1835); defeated for the Twenty-fourth Congress; died near Meadsville, Va., November 18, 1838.

Davey, Robert Charles, a Representative from Louisiana; born in New Orleans, La., October 22, 1853; attended the public schools and was graduated from St. Vincent's college, Cape Girardeau, Mo., in 1871; elected a member of the state senate in 1879–1888, 1892; president pro tempore of the senate during the sessions of 1884–1886; elected judge of the first recorder's court November, 1880–1882, and April, 1884, and served until May, 1888; defeated for mayor of New Orleans in April, 1888; elected to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); declined renomination for the Fifty-fourth Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, and to the six succeeding Congresses; served from March 4, 1897, to the date of his death, in New Orleans, La., December 26, 1908.

Davidson, Alexander Caldwell, a Representative from Alabama; born in Mecklenburg county, N. C., December 26, 1826; attended the public schools of Marengo county, Ala., and was graduated from the University of Alabama July 11, 1848; studied law, but never practiced; cotton planter; member of the state house of representatives 1880–1881, and of the state senate 1882, 1883, 1884, and 1885; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in Westwood, Uniontown, Ala., November 6, 1897.

Davidson, James Henry, a Representative from Wisconsin; born June 18, 1858, in Colchester, Delaware county, N. Y.; attended the public schools and Walton (N. Y.) academy; taught school in Delaware and Sullivan counties, N. Y., and Princeton, Green Lake county, Wis.; was graduated from the Albany law school in 1884; moved to Green Lake county, Wis., and commenced practice in Princeton in 1887; elected district attorney of Green Lake county in 1888; chairman of the Republican Congressional committee for the Sixth district of Wisconsin in 1890; moved to Oshkosh, Wis., January 1, 1892, and became member of a law firm and later practiced alone; appointed city attorney in May, 1895, for two years; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Davidson, Robert H. M., a Representative from Florida; born in Gadsden county, Fla., September 23, 1832; attended the academy in Quincy; studied law at the University of Virginia; was admitted to the bar and practiced in Quincy, Fla.; member of the state house of representatives in 1856–1859; elected to the state senate in 1860; retired from the state senate in 1862, and entered the Confederate army as captain of infantry, and attained the rank of lieutenant colonel; member of the state constitutional convention in 1865; elector on the Greeley and Brown ticket in 1872; elected as a Conservative Democrat to the Forty-fifth and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1891).

Davidson, Thomas G., a Representative from Louisiana; born in Jefferson county, Miss., August 6, 1805; completed the preparatory course of study; studied law, and commenced practice in Greensburg, La.; register of the United States land office; member of the state house of representatives 1833–1846; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1861); after the Civil War he served again in the state legislature; died in Livingston Parish, La., September 11, 1883.

Davidson, William, a Representative from North Carolina; was born in Mecklenburg county, N. C., September 12, 1778; completed preparatory studies; an extensive planter; member of the state senate 1813, 1815–1819, 1825, and 1827–1830; elected as a Federalist to the Fifteenth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Daniel M. Forney; reelected to the Sixteenth Congress, and served from December 2, 1818, to March 3, 1821; defeated for the Seventeenth Congress; died in Charlotte, N. C., September 16, 1857.

Davies, Edward, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in that state; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841).

Davis, Alexander M., a Representative from Virginia; a resident of Independence, Va.; presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Forty-third Congress, and served from March 4, 1873, to March 5, 1874, when he was unseated in a contest with Christopher Y. Thomas.

Davis, Amos, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Mount Sterling Ky., August 15, 1794; completed preparatory studies; studied law, admitted to the bar, and practiced in Mount

Digitized by Google

Sterling; member of the state house of representatives 1819, 1825, 1827, and 1828; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); candidate for reelection, and while speaking in Owingsville, Ky., was taken ill and died in a few hours, June 11, 1835.

Davis, Charles Russell, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Pittsfield, Ill.; moved with parents to Le Sueur county, Minn., in early youth; attended public schools, was instructed by private tutor, and was graduated from a business college in St. Paul, Minn.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in St. Peter, Minn., for many years; prosecuting attorney of Nicollet county for ten years; city attorney and city clerk of St. Peter for eighteen years; member of the state house of representatives two years and of the state senate for four years; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Davis, Cushman Kellogg, a Senator from Minnesota; born in Henderson, Jefferson county, N. Y., June 16, 1838; removed with his parents when a child to Waukesha, Wis.; attended Carroll college in Waukesha, and was graduated from the University of Michigan in June, 1857; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1859, and began practice in Waukesha; first lieutenant in the twenty-eighth Wisconsin infantry 1861–1862; assistant adjutant-general on the staff of Gen. Willis A. Gorman 1862–1864; settled in St. Paul, Minn., in 1865; member of the Minnesota legislature in 1867; United States district attorney 1868–1873; governor 1874–1875; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate and took his seat March 4, 1887; twice reelected and served until his death; member of the commission which met in Paris, France, September, 1898, to arrange terms of peace between the United States and Spain; died in St. Paul, Minn., November 27, 1900.

Davis, David, a Senator from Illinois; born in Cecil county, Md., March 9, 1815; was graduated from Kenyon college, Ohio, in 1832; studied law in Lenox, Mass., and the law school at New Haven; admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Pekin, Ill., in the fall of 1835; located in Bloomington, Ill., in 1836; member of the state house of representatives in 1844; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1847; elected in 1848 judge of the eighth judicial circuit of Illinois, and held the office by repeated elections until he resigned it in October, 1862; delegate to the national Republican convention at Chicago in 1860; appointed by President Lincoln a judge of the supreme court of the United States in October, 1862, and served until March 4, 1877, when he resigned to take his seat in the United States Senate, having been elected the previous January, by the votes of Independents and Democrats; elected President of the Senate pro tempore October 13, 1881, and served until March 3, 1883; died in Bloomington, Ill., June 26, 1886

Davis, Garrett, a Representative and a Senator from Kentucky; born in Mount Sterling, Ky., September 10, 1801; completed preparatory studies; employed in the office of the county clerk of Montgomery county and afterwards of Bourbon county; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1823, and practiced in Paris, Ky.; member of the state house of representatives 1833–1835; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1839; elected as a Henry Clay Whig to the Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1847); declined reelection and resumed his professional and agricultural pursuits; declined the nomination for lieutenant governor on the ticket headed by John J. Crittenden in 1848; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1849; elected as an old-line Whig to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the Senate expelling John C. Breckinridge; was reelected and served from December 10, 1861, until his death, in Paris, Ky., September 22, 1872.

Davis, George Royal, a Representative from Illinois; born in Three Rivers, Hampden county, Mass., January 3, 1840; completed classical studies at Williston seminary, Easthampton, Mass., graduating in 1860; studied law; entered the army in July, 1862, and was an officer during the war; held the position of captain in the eighth Massachusetts volunteer infantry and that of major in the third Rhode Island cavalry; engaged in business in Chicago as a manufacturer and as an insurance and financial agent; he became a member of the state militia and senior colonel of the first Illinois national guard; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1885); treasurer of Cook county, Ill., 1886–1890; director general of World's Columbian Exposition 1893; died in Chicago, Ill., November 25, 1899.

Davis, George Thomas, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Sandwich, Mass., January 12, 1810; was graduated from Harvard college in 1829; studied law at Cambridge and at Greenfield, and commenced practice in 1832 in Greenfield; established the "Franklin Mercury" in 1833; member of the state house of representatives one year and of the state senate for two years, 1839–1840; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); moved to Portland, Me., where he died June 17, 1877.

Davis, Henry Gassoway, a Senator from West Virginia; born in Howard county, Md., November 16, 1823; attended the country schools; lived and worked upon a farm until 1843; in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company for fourteen years; commenced banking and mining coal at Piedmont in 1858; engaged in mining and shipping coal, manufacturing lumber, etc.; elected to the house of delegates of West Virginia in 1865; member of the national Democratic conventions in New York in 1868 and in Baltimore in 1872; elected to the state senate 1868 and 1870; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1871, to March 3, 1883; located in Elkins, W. Va., where he resumed banking and became president of a railroad company. Democratic nominee for Vice President in 1904.

Davis, Henry Winter, a Representative from Maryland; born in Annapolis, Md., August 16, 1817; was graduated from Kenyon college in 1837; studied law at the University of Virginia, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Alexandria; moved to Baltimore in 1850, where he continued practice and also engaged in literary pursuits; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1861); was defeated for the Thirty-seventh, but was reelected to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); died in Baltimore, Md., December 30, 1865.

Digitized by Google

Davis, Horace, a Representative from California; born in Worcester, Mass., March 16, 1831; attended the public schools of Worcester and was graduated from Harvard university in 1849; studied law in the Dane law school, but abandoned professional pursuits by reason of failing health; moved to California in 1852; engaged in milling; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); president of chamber of commerce of San Francisco 1883–1884, and president of University of California 1888–1890.

Davis, Jacob C., a Representative from Illinois; resident of Warsaw, Ill.; elected to the Thirty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William A. Richardson, and served from December 4, 1856, to March 3, 1857.

Davis, Jeff, a Senator from Arkansas; born in Little River County, Ark., May 6, 1862; studied law and was admitted to the bar in Pope county, Ark., at the age of 19 years; was elected prosecuting attorney of the fifth judicial district in 1892, and reelected in 1894; was elected attorney general of the state in 1898; governor of Arkansas in 1901, 1903, and 1905; delegate at large to the Democratic national convention in 1904; elected to the United States Senate for the term beginning March 4, 1907, and reelected in 1912; died in Little Rock, Ark., January 3, 1913.

Davis, Jefferson, a Representative and a Senator from Mississippi; born in Christian county, Ky., June 3, 1808; attended St. Thomas college, Washington county, Ky., for two years; Jefferson college, Mississippi, and Transylvania university for two years; was appointed a cadet and was graduated from West Point in 1828; commissioned second lieutenant of the first infantry July 1, 1828, and promoted first lieutenant of the first dragoons March 4, 1833, and served until June 30, 1835, when he resigned; engaged in cotton planting in Warren county, Miss.; presidential elector on the Polk and Dallas ticket in 1844; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress, and served until June, 1846, when he resigned to command the first regiment of Mississippi riflemen in the war with Mexico; sailed with the regiment from New Orleans July 21, 1846; was with Gen. Taylor in the three days' siege of Monterey, where he greatly distinguished himself, as he afterwards did at Buena Vista; appointed brigadier general May 27, 1847, but declined; appointed to the United States Senate from Mississippi, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Jesse Speight; subsequently elected, and served from August 10, 1847, to November, 1851, when he resigned; defeated as a secession candidate for governor in 1851; again elected to the United States Senate but resigned; appointed Secretary of War by President Pierce, and served from March 7, 1853, to March 3, 1857; again elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1857, until January 21, 1861, when he withdrew with other Senators, after explaining his purpose to the Senate; chosen president of the Confederacy by the provisional congress, and inaugurated in Montgomery, Ala., February 18, 1861; elected president of the Confederacy for six years, and inaugurated in Richmond, Va., February 22, 1862; captured by the Union troops in Irwinsville, Ga., May 10, 1865; imprisoned two years in Fortress Monroe, and indicted for treason May 8, 1866; released on bail May 14, 1867; a nolle prosequi was ordered by the Government in December, 1868; died in New Orleans, La., December 6, 1889.

Davis, John, a Representative and a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Northboro, Mass., January 13, 1787, was graduated from Yale in 1812; studied law and in 1815 commenced practice in Worcester, Mass.; elected as a Whig to the Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses, and served from March 4, 1825, to November, 14, 1834, when he resigned, having been elected governor by the legislature, the popular election having failed; served as governor one year; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1835, to January 5, 1841, when he resigned; again governor of Massachusetts 1841–1843; nominated for vice president by a Whig mass meeting held in Dayton, Ohio, in 1842, but the action was not ratified by the Whig national convention of 1844; again elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Isaac C. Bates, and served from March 24, 1845, to March 3, 1853; died in Worcester, Mass., April 19, 1854.

Davis, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in that state in 1788; moved to Maryland and attended the public schools; returned to Pennsylvania in 1812 and located in what is now Davisville; engaged in agriculture and mercantile pursuits; served as captain in the war of 1812; rose to the rank of major general of militia; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); appointed collector of the port of Philadelphia by President Polk; delegate to several state and national Democratic conventions; died in Davisville, Pa., April 1, 1878.

Davis, John, a Representative from Kansas; born in Sangamon county, Ill., August 9, 1826; attended Springfield academy, and Illinois college, Jacksonville; removed to Macon county in 1850, and followed agricultural pursuits for twenty-two years; went to Kansas in 1872 and located upon a farm near Junction City; elected as a candidate of the People's Party to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); devoted his time to literary work; died in Topeka, Kans., August 2, 1901.

Davis, John Givan, a Representative from Indiana; born in Fleming county, Ky., October 10, 1810; attended the public schools; farmer and stock raiser; moved to Rockville, Ind.; sheriff of Parke county 1830–1831; clerk of the superior and inferior courts of the county 1833–1851; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855), and as an anti-Lecompton Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); died in Terre Haute, Ind., January 18, 1866.

Davis, John James, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Clarksburg, W. Va., May 5, 1835; attended the Northwestern Virginia academy; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced; member of the state legislature of Virginia in 1861 and of West Virginia in 1870; presidential elector on the McClellan ticket in 1864; one of the delegates from the state at large to the national Democratic convention in New York in 1868; delegate to the National Democratic conventions in St. Louis in 1876 and in Chicago in 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); since retiring from Congress has practiced law in Clarksburg, W. Va.

Davis, John Wesley, a Representative from Indiana; born in New Holland, Lancaster county,

Digitized by Google

Pa., April 16, 1799; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine, was graduated from the Baltimore medical college in 1821; moved to Carlisle, Ind., in 1823; surrogate of Sullivan county in 1829; member of the state house of representatives for several years; served as speaker in 1832; commissioner to negotiate an Indian treaty in 1834; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841), and again to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); elected Speaker of the House of Representatives December 1, 1845; reelected to the state legislature and speaker of the lower house in 1847; commissioner to China January 3, 1848, to May 25, 1850; presided over the national Democratic convention in Baltimore in 1852; governor of Oregon 1853–1854; died in Carlisle, Ind., August 22, 1859.

Davis, Joseph John, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Franklin county, N. C., April 13, 1828; attended Wake Forest college, William and Mary college, and was graduated from the law department of the University of North Carolina in 1850, admitted to the bar and engaged in practice in Oxford, N. C., and later in Louisburg, N. C.; served in the Confederate army as captain; member of the state legislature in 1866–1867; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1881); appointed a justice of the supreme court of the state in 1887, and in 1888 was elected; died August 7, 1892, in Louisburg, N. C.

Davis, Lowndes Henry, a Representative from Missouri; born in Jackson, Cape Girardeau county, Mo., December 14, 1836; was graduated from Yale in 1860, and from the Louisville university law school in 1863; admitted to the bar, and practiced in Jackson, Mo., until 1875; elected state attorney for the tenth judicial district of Missouri in 1868, which office he held for four years; an elector in 1872 on the Greeley and Brown ticket; member of the state constitutional convention in 1875; member of the state general assembly in 1876; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1885).

Davis, Noah, a Representative from New York; born in Haverhill, N. H., September 10, 1818; moved with his parents to Albion, N. Y., in 1825; attended the common schools and Lima seminary; studied law in Lewiston, admitted to the bar, and practiced in Gainesville and Buffalo; moved to Albion February, 1844, where he continued practice until May, 1858; appointed, and subsequently twice elected judge of the supreme court for the eighth judicial district, served 1857–1868; moved to New York, and practiced law; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress, and served from March 4, 1869, until July 15, 1870, when he resigned; appointed by President Grant United States attorney for the southern district of New York, and served from July 20, 1870, until December 31, 1872, when he resigned, having been reelected a judge of the supreme court of the state; served until 1887; member of council of the University of New York City; died in New York City March 20, 1902.

Davis, Reuben, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Tennessee, January 18, 1813; attended the public schools; studied medicine but practiced only a few years, when he abandoned the profession and studied law, was admitted to the bar, moved to Aberdeen, Miss., where he practiced; prosecuting attorney for the sixth judicial district 1835–1839; judge of the high court of appeals in 1842, but after four months' service resigned; served as colonel of the second regiment Mississippi volunteers in the war with Mexico; member of the state house of representatives 1855–1857; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses, and served from December 7, 1857, to January 12, 1861, when he retired from the House; served in the Confederate army as brigadier general; resumed the practice of law; died in Huntsville, Tenn., October 14, 1890.

Davis, Richard D., a Representative from New York; born in that state; was graduated from Yale college in 1818; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1845).

Davis, Robert Thompson, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in county Down, Ireland, August 28, 1823; his parents emigrated to this country and settled in Amesbury, Essex county, Mass., in 1826; attended the Amesbury academy and the Friends' school in Providence, R. I.; was graduated from the medical department of Harvard university in 1847; dispensary physician in Boston; practiced medicine three years in Waterville, Me.; moved to Fall River, Mass., in 1850; member of the state constitutional convention of 1853; state senate 1859–1861; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1860 and 1876; mayor of Fall River in 1873; member of the state board of charities when organized in 1863; appointed a member of the state board of health upon its organization in 1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1889); resumed the practice of medicine in Fall River, and died there October 29, 1906.

Davis, Robert Wyche, a Representative from Florida; born in Lee county, Ga., March 15, 1849; attended the common schools; entered the Confederate army in 1863, and served until the close of the war; read law, was admitted to the bar in 1868; moved to Florida in 1879; elected to the legislature from Clay county in 1884; elected speaker of the house of representatives session of 1886; unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1905).

Davis, Roger, a Representative from Pennsylvania; was elected as a Democrat to the Twelfth and Thirteenth Congresses (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1815).

Davis, Samuel, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Bath, Me., in 1774; engaged in mercantile pursuits; member of the state house of representatives in 1803 and 1808–1812; elected as a Federalist to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); again a member of the state house of representatives 1815–16; died in Bath, Me., April 17, 1831.

Davis, Thomas, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Dublin, Ireland, December 18, 1806; emigrated to the United States and located in Providence, R. I., in 1817; manufacturing jeweler; member of the state senate 1845–1853; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); unsuccessful candidate for the Thirty-fourth, Thirty-sixth, Forty-second, Forty-third, and Forty-sixth Congresses; state senator 1877–78; became financially involved and a bankrupt in 1883, and was deprived of the right of citizenship; regained his fortune when rights were restored; member of general assembly 1887–1890; died in Providence, R. I., July 26, 1895.

Digitized by Google

Davis, Thomas Beall, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Baltimore, Md., April 25, 1828; moved to Howard county, Md., where he attended the common schools; in the early fifties moved to Piedmont, W. Va., and entered the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company; a few years later he engaged in the mercantile business, lumbering, banking, mining, and finally the building of railroads; in later years devoted much attention to farming and raising fine stock; elected to the legislature of West Virginia from Mineral county as a Democrat in 1898; member of the state Democratic executive committee for thirty years; elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Alston G. Dayton and served from December 4, 1905, to March 3, 1907; died in Keyser, W. Va., November 26, 1911.

Davis, Thomas T., a Representative from Kentucky; elected to the Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1803).

Davis, Thomas Treadwell, a Representative from New York; born in Middlebury, Addison county, Vt., August 22, 1810; was graduated from Hamilton college in 1831; studied law in Syracuse, N. Y.; admitted to the bar in 1833, but practiced only a short time, when he turned his attention to railroading and coal mining; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); resumed the practice of law in Syracuse, and died there May 22, 1872.

Davis, Timothy, a Representative from Iowa; born in Newark, N. J., March, 1794; attended the public schools; moved to Kentucky in 1816; removed to Dubuque, Iowa, in 1837; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859).

Davis, Timothy, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Gloucester, Mass., April 12, 1821; attended the public schools; served two years in a printing office; clerk and subsequently a merchant in Boston; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress and as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); appointed clerk in the Boston customhouse; became an attorney for the prosecution of claims against the Government; died in Boston, Mass., October 23, 1888.

Davis, Warren Ransom, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Columbia, S. C., May 8, 1793; was graduated from the college of South Carolina in 1810; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1814 and practiced in Pendleton, S. C.; state solicitor of the western circuit 1818–1824; elected as a State's Rights Democrat to the Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses and served from March 4, 1827, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 29, 1835.

Davis, William Morris, a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863).

Davison, George Mosby, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Stanford, Lincoln county, Ky., March 23, 1856; attended the common schools, Stanford academy, and the private school of Prof. J. B. Meyers; studied law, and admitted to the bar in 1879; appointed to the internal-revenue service in 1881, and served until 1885; appointed master of chancery, or commissioner, of the Lincoln circuit court in 1886 and resigned in 1893; elected to the legislature from Lincoln county as a Republican in 1887; Republican candidate for elector in 1888 and 1892; elected judge of the Lincoln county court in 1894; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); claimed to have been elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress, but was denied the seat; resumed the practice of law in Stanford, Ky., until his death there, December 19, 1912.

Davy, John Madison, a Representative from New York; born in Ottawa, Ontario, June 29, 1835; while quite young moved with his parents to Monroe county, N. Y.; attended the common schools; studied law in Rochester, was admitted to the bar, and afterwards practiced; elected district attorney of Monroe county in 1868 for three years; appointed by President Grant collector of customs for the port of Genesee in April, 1872, which office he held until elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); was justice of the supreme court of New York sixteen years; died in Atlantic City, N. J., April 21, 1909.

Dawes, Beman Gates, a Representative from Ohio; born in Marietta, Ohio, January 14, 1870; attended Marietta academy and college; engaged in business; elected to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1909); after his retirement from Congress became interested in oil and electric railways.

Dawes, Henry Laurens, a Representative and a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Cummington, Mass., October 30, 1816; was graduated from Yale in 1839; became a teacher and edited the Greenfield Gazette and North Adams Transcript; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1842, and began practice in North Adams, Mass.; member of the house of representatives of Massachusetts in 1848, 1849, and 1852; member of the state senate in 1850; member of the state constitutional convention in 1853; district attorney for the western district of Massachusetts, 1853–1857; elected to the Thirty-fifth and to the eight succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1875); declined to be a candidate for the Forty-fourth Congress; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate in 1875; was reelected in 1881 and 1887, and served from March 4, 1875, to March 3, 1893; located in Pittsfield, Mass.; chairman of a commission to the Five Civilized Tribes of the Indian Territory, 1893–1903; died in Pittsfield, Mass., February 5, 1903.

Dawes, Rufus R., a Representative from Ohio; born in Malta, Morgan county, Ohio, July 4, 1838; was graduated from Marietta college, Ohio, in 1860; entered the volunteer service in 1861 as a captain in the sixth Wisconsin volunteers, and during the war was promoted to major in 1862, lieutenant colonel and colonel in 1863, and brigadier general by brevet, March 13, 1865; engaged in business in Marietta; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); died in Marietta, Ohio, August 2, 1899.

Digitized by Google

Dawson, Albert Foster, a Representative from Iowa; born in Spragueville, Iowa, January 26, 1872; attended the common schools of Iowa and the University of Wisconsin; studied law and was admitted to the bar; engaged in newspaper work in Preston and Clinton, Iowa; served several years on the official staff of Congress; elected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911); engaged in the practice of law in Washington, D. C.

Dawson, John, a Representative from Virginia; born in that state in 1762; was graduated from Harvard college in 1782; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; presidential elector on the Washington ticket in 1793; delegate in the state constitutional convention; was the bearer of dispatches from President Adams to the government of France in 1801; served as aid to Gen. Jacob Brown, commander-in-chief of the United States army in 1813; member of the state house of burgesses; elected as a Democrat to the Fifth and to the eight succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1797, until his death, in Washington, D. C., March 30, 1814.

Dawson, John B., a Representative from Louisiana; born in Nashville, Tenn., in 1800; attended Center college, Ky.; moved to Louisiana and became a planter; member of the state house of representatives for several years; judge of the parish court; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1845); died in St. Francisville, La., June 26, 1845.

Dawson, John Littleton, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Uniontown, Pa., February 7, 1813; was graduated from Washington college in 1833; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1835, and commenced practice in Brownsville, Pa.; deputy attorney general of the state in 1838; United States district attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania, 1845–1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); appointed governor of Kansas territory by President Pierce, but declined; reelected to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); delegate to the national Democratic conventions in 1844, 1848, 1860, and 1868; died in Friendship Hill, Springfield township, Fayette county, Pa., September 18, 1870.

Dawson, William, a Representative from Missouri; born in New Madrid, New Madrid county, Mo., March 17, 1848; was graduated from the college of the Christian Brothers in St. Louis, Mo., in 1869; elected sheriff and collector of New Madrid county in 1870 and 1872; elected in 1878 to the lower house of the general assembly of Missouri; and reelected in 1880 and 1882; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887). After leaving Congress he engaged in the land business in New Madrid, Mo.

Dawson, William Crosby, a Representative and a Senator from Georgia; born in Greene county, Ga., January 4, 1798; was graduated from Franklin college in 1816; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1816, and commenced practice in Greensboro, Ga.; member of the state senate and house of representatives for several years; elected as a State's Rights Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the death of John Coffee; reelected to the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses, and served from December 26, 1836, to September 13, 1841, when he resigned; judge of the Ocmulgee circuit court from February 1 to November 11, 1845; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1849, to March 3, 1855; presided over the Memphis convention of 1853; died in Greensboro, Ga., May 5, 1856.

Dawson, William Johnston, a Representative from North Carolina; born in that state; elected to the Third Congress (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1795).

Day, Rowland, a Representative from New York; born in Chester, Mass., March 6, 1779; moved with his parents to Skaneateles, N. Y., in 1805, and from thence to Moravia, N. Y., in 1810; member of the state house of representatives 1816–1817; a member of the convention to revise the constitution of the state of New York in 1821; held several local offices in Sempronius, where he resided; elected as a Democrat to the Eighteenth and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825) and (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835). Died in Moravia, N. Y., December 23, 1853.

Day, Timothy Crane, a Representative from Ohio; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, January 8, 1819; attended the public schools; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); died in Cincinnati, Ohio, April 15, 1869.

Dayan, Charles, a Representative from New York; born in Amsterdam, N. Y., July 16, 1792; spent the early part of his life on a farm; attended the public schools; taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1819 and practiced in Lowville; member of the state senate in 1827 and 1828; presidential elector in 1828; acting lieutenant governor from October 17 to December 31, 1828; presidential elector on the Jackson ticket in 1828; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); member of the state house of representatives in 1835–1836; district attorney for Lewis county, 1840–1845; died in Lowville, N. Y., December 25, 1877.

Dayton, Alston Gordon, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Philippi, Va. (now West Virginia, October 18, 1857; was graduated from the University of West Virginia in June, 1878; studied law, and was admitted to the bar October 18, 1878; appointed to fill out an unexpired term as prosecuting attorney of Upshur county, W. Va., in 1879; prosecuting attorney for Barbour county, 1884–1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and to the five succeeding Congresses; served from March 4, 1895, until his resignation March 16, 1905, and was appointed United States district judge for the northern district of West Virginia March 5, 1905, which position he now holds.

Dayton, Elias, a Delegate from New Jersey; born in Elizabethtown, N. J., February 4, 1737; completed preparatory studies; joined the British forces and fought in the "Jersey Blues" under Wolfe at Quebec; subsequently commanded a company of militia in an expedition against the Indians at Detroit; member of the Committee of Safety at the breaking out of the war of the Revolution; appointed colonel of the third New Jersey regiment and promoted to the rank of brigadier general January 7, 1783; elected major general of militia; served several terms in the state legislature; elected a delegate in the Continental Congress 1787–88; died in Elizabethtown, N. J., October 22, 1807.

Digitized by Google

Dayton, Jonathan, a Representative and a Senator from New Jersey; born in Elizabethtown, N. J., October 16, 1760; was graduated from Princeton college in 1776; studied law and admitted to the bar, but entered the Continental army as paymaster in the regiment commanded by his father; served throughout the war of the Revolution; member of the state council for several terms and its speaker in 1790; delegate to the federal constitutional convention, 1787; elected to the Second, Third, Fourth, and Fifth Congresses (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1799); served as Speaker during the Fourth and Fifth Congresses; elected a United States Senator, and served from March 4, 1799, to March 3, 1805; was arrested in 1807 on the charge of conspiring with Aaron Burr in treasonable projects; gave bail, was subsequently released, and was never brought to trial; died in Elizabethtown, N. J., October 9, 1824.

Dayton, William Lewis, a Senator from New Jersey; born in Basking Ridge, N. J., February 17, 1807; was graduated from Princeton college in 1825; studied law at Gould's law school in Litchfield, Conn., and commenced practice in Somerville, N. J., in 1830; state senator, 1836–37; associate judge of the supreme court from February 28, 1838, to November 1, 1841, when he resigned; appointed a United States Senator to fill vacancy caused by the death of Samuel L. Southard; subsequently elected and served from July 2, 1842, to March 3, 1851; resumed the practice of law; nominated in 1856 by the newly formed Republican party as its candidate for Vice President on the Fremont ticket; attorney general of New Jersey, 1857–1861; appointed by President Lincoln minister to France March 18, 1861, and served until his death in Paris, December 1, 1864.

Dean, Benjamin, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Clitheroe, England, August 14, 1824; emigrated to Lowell, Mass., at an early age; received classical training in the Lowell schools and Dartmouth college; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1845 and practiced in Lowell; removed to Boston in 1852; member of the state senate in 1862, 1863, and 1869; successfully contested, as a Democrat the election of Walbridge A. Field to the Forty-fifth Congress, and served from March 28, 1878, until March 3, 1879; died in South Boston, Mass., April 9, 1897.

Dean, Ezra, a Representative from Ohio; born in Hillsdale, Columbia county, N. Y., April 9, 1795; moved to Ohio, where he held several local offices; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1845). Died in Ironton, Ohio, January 25, 1872.

Dean, Gilbert, a Representative from New York; born in Pleasant Valley, Dutchess county, N. Y., August 14, 1819; was graduated from Yale college in 1841; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in 1844; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses, and served from March 4, 1851, until July 3, 1854, when he resigned; appointed justice of the supreme court of New York and served until December 31, 1855; removed to New York City in 1856 and continued the practice of law; died in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., October 12, 1870.

Dean, Josiah, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Raynham, Mass., March 6, 1748; attended the common schools; presidential elector on the Jefferson ticket in 1805; member of the state senate 1804–1807; elected to the Tenth Congress (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1809); again a member of the state house of representatives 1810–11; died in Raynham, Mass., October 14, 1818.

Dean, Sidney, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Glastonbury, Conn., November 16, 1818; attended the common schools and Wilbraham academy; engaged in manufacturing and became a Methodist clergyman in 1843; member of the state house of representatives; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth, and reelected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); moved to Rhode Island in 1860, where he became pastor of a church, and afterwards editor of the Providence Press until 1880; during this period he served as state senator one term in 1870 from Warren, R. I.; died in Brookline, Mass., October 29, 1901.

Deane, Silas, a Delegate from Connecticut; born in Groton, Conn., December 24, 1737; received a classical training and was graduated from Yale college in 1758; engaged in mercantile pursuits in Wethersfield, Conn.; delegate from Connecticut to the Continental Congress 1774–1776; ordered to France in March, 1776, as a secret political and financial agent, and in September was commissioned as ambassador with Franklin and Lee; negotiated and signed the treaty between France and the United States, in Paris, February 6, 1778; personally secured the services of Lafayette, Dekalb, and other foreign officers, for which he was accused of extravagance and was recalled in 1777, and investigated by Congress; returned to France to procure transcripts of his transactions there and found that the publication of some of his confidential dispatches had embittered that government against him, and he was compelled to go to Holland, and thence to Great Britain, greatly impoverished and feeling that he had been unjustly injured; died in Deal, England, August 23, 1789; in 1842 Congress vindicated his memory by deciding that a considerable sum of money was due him, which was paid to his heirs.

Dearborn, Henry, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in North Hampton, N. H., February 23, 1751; received a public school training; studied medicine, and began practice in 1772 in Nottingham Square; captain in Stark's regiment during the Revolutionary war and participated in the battle of Bunker Hill, where he covered the retreat of the American forces; accompanied Arnold's expedition to Canada and took part in the storming of Quebec; was taken prisoner, but was released on parole in May, 1776; fought in the battles of Stillwater, Saratoga, Monmouth, and Newton; joined Washington's staff in 1781 as deputy quartermaster general with rank of colonel, and served at the siege of Yorktown; moved to Monmouth, Me., in June, 1784; elected brigadier general of militia in 1787, and made major general in 1789; appointed United States marshal for the district of Maine in 1789; elected as a Democrat from a Maine district of Massachusetts to the Third and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1797); appointed Secretary of War by President Jefferson, and served from March 4, 1801, until March 7, 1809; appointed collector of the port of Boston by President Madison in 1809, which position he held until January 27, 1812, when he was appointed senior major general in the United States army; in command at the capture of York (now Toronto) April 27, 1813, and Fort George, May 27, 1813; recalled from the frontier July 6, 1813, and placed in command of the city of New York; appointed minister plenipotentiary to Portugal by President Monroe, and served from May 7, 1822, until June 30, 1824, when, by his own request, he was recalled; returned to Roxbury, Mass., where he died June 6, 1829.

Digitized by Google

Dearborn, Henry Alexander Scammell, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Exeter, N. H., March 3, 1783; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1803; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Salem, Mass.; collector of customs in Boston, 1812–1829; served in the war of 1812 as brigadier general commanding the volunteers in the defenses of Boston harbor; member of the state constitutional convention in 1820; of the state house of representatives in 1829, and of the state senate in 1830; elected to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); adjutant general of Massachusetts 1834–1843; mayor of Roxbury 1847–1851; died in Portland, Me., July 29, 1851.

De Armond, David Albaugh, a Representative from Missouri; born in Blair county, Pa., March 18, 1844; attended the common schools and Williamsport Dickinson seminary; moved to Missouri, located in Butler; presidential elector in 1884; state senator, circuit judge, and Missouri supreme court commissioner; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second, and to the nine succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1891, until his death in Butler, Mo., November 23, 1910.

Deberry, Edmund, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Mount Gilead, Montgomery county, N. C., August 14, 1787; received a public-school training; member of the state senate 1808–1812, 1813, 1814, 1820, 1821, 1826–1829; elected as an Adams supporter to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); defeated for reelection; reelected to the Twenty-third, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1845); again elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); died in Mount Gilead, N. C., December 12, 1859.

Deboe, William Joseph, a Senator from Kentucky; born in Crittenden county, Ky., June 30, 1849; attended the public and academic schools of the state and Ewing college, Illinois; studied law and afterwards studied medicine, and was graduated from the Medical University of Louisville; practiced a few years, when his health failed; renewed the study of law, was admitted to the bar; served as superintendent of schools of Crittenden county; delegate to the national Republican convention in Chicago in 1888; member of the Republican state central committee twelve years; defeated for Congress in 1892; state senator 1893–1898; delegate at large to the Republican national convention in St. Louis in 1896, and chairman of the delegation; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1897, to March 3, 1903.

De Bolt, Rezin A., a Representative from Missouri; born in Fairfield county, Ohio, January 20, 1828; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar in February, 1856; moved to Trenton, Grundy county, Mo., in 1858, and began practice; appointed in 1859 and elected in 1860 commissioner of common schools for Grundy county and served until the commencement of the Civil war; entered the Union army as captain in the twenty-third Missouri volunteer infantry; captured at the battle of Shiloh, April 6, 1862, and held as prisoner until the following October; resigned his commission in 1863 on account of impaired health; in 1864 again entered the United States service as major in the forty-fourth Missouri volunteer infantry; mustered out in August, 1865; elected judge of the circuit court for the eleventh judicial circuit of Missouri in November, 1863, which position he held by reelection until January 1, 1875; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); died in Trenton, Mo., October 30, 1891.

Deemer, Elias, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Bucks county, Pa., January 3, 1838; attended the common schools; engaged in business in Lycoming county and in Philadelphia; enlisted as a private in company E, one hundred and fourth Pennsylvania volunteers, in July, 1861, and served in the Pennsylvania campaign until the middle of May following, when he was discharged because of disabilities; moved to Williamsport, Pa., in the spring of 1868; president of the common council, 1888–1890; engaged in the manufacture of lumber; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1907); after his retirement from Congress engaged in the lumber business

Deering, Nathaniel Cobb, a Representative from Iowa; born in Denmark, Oxford county, Me., September 2, 1827; attended the common schools and North Bridgeton academy; member of the state legislature in 1855–1856; moved to Osage, Iowa, in 1857; for several years a clerk in the United States Senate, but resigned in 1865; later in 1865 appointed special agent of the Post Office Department for the district of Minnesota, Iowa, and Nebraska, and served until 1869, when he resigned; appointed national-bank examiner for the state of Iowa in 1872, which position he held until February, 1877; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); died in Osage, Iowa, December 11, 1887.

De Forest, Robert Elliott, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Guilford, Conn., February 20, 1845; attended Guilford academy and was graduated from Yale college in 1867; admitted to the bar in 1868; located in Bridgeport, where he practiced; appointed prosecuting attorney for Bridgeport in 1872; judge of the court of common pleas for Fairfield county in 1874; mayor of Bridgeport in 1878; elected to the legislature in 1880, and to the state senate in 1882; corporation counsel for Bridgeport; again elected mayor in 1889 and 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); after retirement from Congress practiced law in Bridgeport, Conn.

Defrees, Joseph H., a Representative from Indiana; born in Carthage, Tenn., May 13, 1812; attended the common schools; learned the art of printing; moved to Indiana and engaged in mercantile pursuits; sheriff of Elkhart county 1836–1840; member of the state house of representatives in 1849 and of the state senate in 1850; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867).

Digitized by Google

Degener, Edward, a Representative from Texas; born in Brunswick, Germany, October 20, 1809; pursued an academic course in Germany and in England; twice a member of the legislative body in Anhalt-Dessau and a member of the first German parliament in Frankfort; emigrated to the United States and located in Sisterdale, Tex.; engaged in farming in 1850; court-martialed and imprisoned by the Confederates on account of his loyalty to the Union; moved to San Antonio, Tex., after the war; engaged in business; member of the Texas constitutional conventions in 1866 and 1868; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); died in San Antonio, Tex., September 11, 1890.

Degetau, Federico, a Resident Commissioner from Porto Rico; born in Ponce, P. R.; attended the schools of that island; was graduated as bachelor of sciences and arts in Barcelona, Spain, and from the law department of the Central University of Madrid; one of the four commissioners sent by Porto Rico to ask Spain for autonomy; district of Ponce elected him a deputy to the Cortes of 1898; Gen. Henry appointed him secretary of the interior of the first American cabinet that was formed in Porto Rico; appointed a member of the insular board of charities by Gen. Davis; elected first vice president of the municipal council of San Juan in 1899, and later president of the board of education of that city; elected Resident Commissioner to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1905).

De Graff, John Isaac, a Representative from New York; born in Schenectady, N. Y., in 1783; attended the common schools; was a merchant and capitalist; served in the war of 1812; elected to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); reelected to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); was appointed Secretary of the Treasury by President Van Buren, but declined; served as mayor of Schenectady several terms; died in Schenectady, N. Y., June 26, 1847.

De Graffenreid, Reese Calhoun, a Representative from Texas; born in Franklin, Tenn., May 7, 1859; pursued an academic course there until 13 years old; went to the University of Tennessee; was graduated from the Lebanon law school; having the right to practice before majority, he commenced the law practice immediately in Franklin; moved to Chattanooga, where he practiced for one year; moved to Texas; helped to build the Texas and Pacific railroad; resumed the practice of his profession at Longview, Tex., in 1883; elected county attorney and resigned two months afterwards; elector on the Democratic ticket in 1888; unsuccessful candidate for Congress in 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses and served from March 4, 1897, until his death in Washington, D. C., August 29, 1902.

De Haven, John Jefferson, a Representative from California; born in St. Joseph, Mo., March 12, 1849; resided in Humboldt county; attended the common schools; printer by trade, and pursued that vocation for four years; studied law and admitted to the bar of the district court in Humboldt in 1866; district attorney in 1867; member of the assembly in 1869; state senator in 1871; served until April, 1874; defeated as a candidate for delegate to the constitutional convention in 1878; appointed in the latter year city attorney of Eureka, and served two years; Republican candidate for Congress in 1882, and defeated; elected judge of the superior court of Humboldt county in 1884; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress and served from March 4, 1889, until October 1, 1890, when he resigned; elected associate justice of the supreme court of California to fill an unexpired term of four years; commissioned United States district judge for the northern district of California, June 8, 1897; died near Napa, Cal., January 26, 1913.

Dietz, William, a Representative from New York; born in Schoharie county, N. Y., June 28, 1778; attended the common schools; served in the state house of representatives 1814–1815 and in 1823; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); member of the state senate 1830–1833; presidential elector 1832; colonel of the militia; died in Schoharie, N. Y., August 24, 1848.

De Jarnette, Daniel Coleman, a Representative from Virginia; born near Bowling Green, Va., September 27, 1822; pursued classical studies; served several years in the state house of representatives; elected as an antiadministration Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); reelected to the Thirty-seventh Congress, but did not serve; Representative from Virginia to the first and second Confederate Congresses, 1862–1865; died in White Sulphur Springs, Va., August 18, 1881.

De La Matyr, Gilbert, a Representative from Indiana; born in Pharsalia, N. Y., July 8, 1825; pursued an academic course; studied theology and was graduated in the theological course of the Methodist Episcopal church in 1854; itinerant elder in that church; member of the general conference in 1868, and for one term filled the office of presiding elder; helped enlist the eighth regiment of New York heavy artillery in 1862, and was its chaplain for three years; elected as a National and Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881).

De la Montanya, James, a Representative from New York; born in New York City March 20, 1798; resided in Haverstraw, N. Y.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); died in New York City, April 29, 1849.

Delano, Charles, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in New Braintree, Mass., June 24, 1820; attended the public schools, and was graduated from Amherst college in 1840; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1840, and began practice in Northampton, Mass.; appointed treasurer of Hampden county in 1850; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); died in Northampton, Mass., January 23, 1883.

Delano, Columbus, a Representative from Ohio; born in Shoreham, Vt., June 4, 1809; moved to Mount Vernon, Ohio, in 1817; pursued an academic course; studied law, and in 1831 was admitted to the bar; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); defeated by two votes at the Whig state convention in 1847 as a candidate for the nomination for governor; delegate to the Republican national convention in Chicago that nominated Lincoln and Hamlin; served as state commissary general of Ohio in 1861; defeated by two votes for the United States Senate in 1862; member of the state house of representatives in 1863; delegate to the Republican national convention in Baltimore that nominated Lincoln and Johnson; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); George W. Morgan, Democrat, obtained the certificate of election, but was unseated, June 3, 1868, and Mr. Delano was given the seat; appointed by President Grant Secretary of the Interior, November 1, 1870, which position he held until October 19, 1875, when he resigned; died in Mount Vernon, Ohio, October 25, 1896.

Digitized by Google

De Lano, Milton, a Representative from New York; born in Wampsville, Madison county, N. Y., August 11, 1844; attended the common schools; brought up a merchant's clerk; merchant for eight years; three times elected town clerk of Lenox, 1867–1869; twice elected sheriff of Madison county, N. Y., 1873–1875 and 1879–1881; engaged in the banking and real estate business and the manufacture of window glass; aided in the organization of the Canastota Northern railroad company, delegate to the national Republican convention in Chicago in 1884; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); declined a renomination and retired from politics; became president of the state bank of Canastota, N. Y.

Delaplaine, Isaac Clason, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, October 27, 1817; pursued an academic course; was graduated from Columbia college in 1834; studied law and admitted to the bar; elected as a Fusionist to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); died in New York City, July 17, 1866.

De Large, Robert C.; a Representative from South Carolina; born in Aiken, S. C., March 15, 1842; received a limited schooling; farmer; elected a member of the state constitutional convention in 1868; member of the state house of representatives 1868–1870; elected state land commissioner in 1870; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); trial justice in Charleston, S. C., February 15, 1874.

De Leon, Pablo Ocampo, Resident Commissioner from the Philippine Islands; born in Manila in 1853; studied in St. Thomas university, from which he was graduated in February, 1882, studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced. Under the Spanish régime he was secretary of the royal court of Manila, prosecuting attorney of the district of Tondo, and secretary of the Bar Association of Manila; in the Filipino government in Malolos he was a representative of the provinces of Principe, Infanta, Lepanto, and Bontoc, and was elected secretary of the Filipino parliament; also appointed professor of law of the University of Malolos; during the revolution, and when the Malolos cause became hopeless, a meeting was called in Manila by those who were willing to submit to the American government, and at this meeting he was the only one who stood firmly against giving up the struggle; offered a place on the supreme court in the early days, but would not accept, and the position of Resident Commissioner in the United States is the first he has ever held under the American government; at one time he was editor of La Patria, in Manila, publication of which was suspended by order of Gen. Otis; counsel to the Economic Association of the Philippines; shortly after the outbreak of hostilities between the Americans and Filipinos he was appointed by the government of the Filipino republic its representative in Manila, with unlimited powers, and was known to the Americans as an "irreconcilable" and deported to Guam, where he remained two years; he was pardoned and returned to Manila, after taking the oath of allegiance to the American government; elected Resident Commissioner to the United States in November, 1907, to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909).

Dellet, James, a Representative from Alabama; born in Camden, N. J., February 18, 1788; when quite young located in South Carolina; was graduated from the University of South Carolina in 1810; studied law and in 1813 was admitted to the bar; moved to Alabama in 1818 and located in Claiborne; elected to the first state house of representatives under the state government in 1819 and served as its speaker; reelected in 1821 and 1825; defeated as the Whig candidate for Congress in 1833; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841), reelected to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); died in Claiborne, Ala., December 21, 1848.

Deming, Benjamin F., a Representative from Vermont; born in Danville, Vt.; pursued an academic course; engaged in mercantile pursuits; served sixteen years as clerk of the county courts; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress and served from March 4, 1833 until his death in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 11, 1834.

Deming, Henry Champion, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Colchester, Conn., May 23, 1815; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale college in 1836, and from Harvard law school in 1838 was admitted to the bar, and began practice at New York City; moved to Hartford, Conn., in 1845; member of the state house of representatives 1849, 1850, 1859, 1860, and 1861, and served the last year as speaker; member of the state senate in 1851; entered the Union army in 1861 as colonel of the twelfth Connecticut volunteers; appointed mayor of New Orleans under martial law; several years mayor of Hartford, Conn.; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); defeated for reelection to the Fortieth Congress; appointed collector of internal revenue in 1869, and served until his death, in Hartford, Conn., October 9, 1872.

De Mott, John, a Representative from New York; born in Readington, N. J., October 7, 1790; moved at an early age to New York; attended the common schools; pursued an academic course; member of the state legislature in 1833; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); was major general of the thirty-eighth brigade of the state militia; supervisor in the towns of Covert and Lodi for several terms; for more than forty years engaged in business in Lodi, N. Y., and was a prominent merchant and grain buyer; died in Lodi, Seneca county, N. Y., July 31, 1870.

Digitized by Google

De Motte, Mark Lindsey, a Representative from Indiana; born in Rockville, Ind., December 28, 1832; was graduated in the literary department of the Asbury University, in Greencastle, Ind., in 1853, and in the law department of the same university in 1855; began the practice of law in Valparaiso during the latter year; elected prosecuting attorney of his judicial circuit in 1856; served in the army of the Union during the rebellion with the rank of captain; at the close of the war moved to Lexington, Mo., and entered the practice of the law; editor and proprietor of the Lexington Register; nominee of the Republicans of the Eleventh Missouri district for Congress in 1872 and 1876; returned to Valparaiso, Ind., in 1877, and resumed the practice of his profession; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); member of the state senate 1886–1890; in 1890 became dean of the Northern Indiana law school; died in Valparaiso, Ind., September 23, 1908.

Denby, Edwin, a Representative from Michigan; born in Evansville, Ind., February 18, 1870; attended the public schools and was graduated from the University of Michigan; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Detroit; ten years in the customs service of China under Sir Robert Hart, while his father, Charles Denby, was United States minister to China; representative in the Michigan legislature of 1903; served as gunner's mate, third class, United States navy, on the Yosemite, in the war with Spain; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Detroit.

Denison, Charles, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Wyoming Valley, Pa., January 23, 1816; was graduated from Dickinson college in 1829; studied law, admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Wilkes-Barre; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses, and served from December 7, 1863, until his death in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 27, 1827.

Denison, Dudley Chase, a Representative from Vermont; born in Royalton, Vt., September 13, 1819; was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1840; studied law, and in 1844 was admitted to the bar; member of the state senate of Vermont 1853–1854, served in the state house of representatives 1861–1863; state attorney 1858–1860; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); died in Royalton, Vt., February 10, 1905.

Dennis, George Robertson, a Senator from Maryland; born in White Haven, Somerset county, Md., April 8, 1822; was graduated from the polytechnic institute of Troy, N. Y., and then entered the University of Virginia; studied medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, and was graduated from that institution in 1842; delegate from the state at large to the Whig national convention in Philadelphia in 1856, and also to the Democratic national convention in New York in 1868; elected to the Maryland state senate in 1854 and to the house of delegates in 1867 and again to the senate in 1871, elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1873, until March 3, 1879; died in Kingston, Md., August 13, 1882.

Dennis, John, a Representative from Maryland; born in "Beverly," Worcester county, Md., December 17, 1771; completed preparatory studies in Washington academy; entered Yale, but was not graduated; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1793 and practiced in Somerset county; served two terms in the state house of representatives; elected to the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, and Eighth Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1805); died in Philadelphia, Pa., August 17, 1807.

Dennis, John, a Representative from Maryland; born in Beckford, Somerset county, Md., in 1807; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served in the state house of representatives; elected to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1850; died in his rural home near Princess Anne, Md., November 1, 1859.

Dennis, Littleton Purnell, a Representative from Maryland; born in "Beverly," Worcester county, Md., July 21, 1786; was graduated from Yale college in 1803; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served several terms in the Maryland state legislature; presidential elector in 1800, 1812, 1816, 1824, and 1828; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress and served from March 4, 1833, until his death in Washington, D. C., April 14, 1834.

Dennison, George, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Luzerne county, Pa., July 22, 1790; pursued an academic course; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served several years as a member of the state legislature; recorder of Luzerne county; elected as a Democrat to the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Congresses (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1823); died in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., August 21, 1831.

Denny, Arthur Armstrong, a Delegate from Washington territory; born in Salem, Ind., June 20, 1822; moved with his parents to Illinois in 1834; attended the public schools; surveyor of Knox county 1843–1851; moved to Puget Sound in 1851; member of the Washington territorial legislature 1853–1861; register of the land office in Olympia 1861–1865; elected to the Thirty-ninth Congress and served from December 4, 1865, to March 3, 1867; died in Seattle, Wash., January 9, 1899.

Denny, Harmar, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Pittsburgh, Pa., May 13, 1794; was graduated from Dickinson college in 1813; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served one term in the state legislature; elected as an Anti-Mason to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); reelected as a Whig to the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1837); died in Pittsburgh, Pa., January 29, 1852.

Denny, James W., a Representative from Maryland; born in the valley of Virginia November 20, 1840; attended the academy of Rev. William Johnson, in Berryville; three years at the University of Virginia; principal of Osage seminary, Osceola, St. Clair county, Mo.; returned to his native state, where he enlisted in company A, thirty-ninth Virginia battalion of cavalry, in which he served until, in 1863, he was detailed for service at Gen. R. E. Lee's headquarters, where he continued until the surrender at Appomattox Court-House; returned to his home in

Digitized by Google

Clarke county and began the study of law in Winchester; after graduation and admission to the bar, in 1868, moved to Baltimore and began practice; elected to the first branch of the city council in 1881 and reelected in 1882 and became its president; member of the house of delegates of Maryland in 1888; colonel on the staff of Gov. E. E. Jackson; member of the Baltimore school board for several years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1901); reelected to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); was defeated for the Fifty-seventh Congress; resumed the practice of law in Baltimore, Md.

Denny, Walter McKennon, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Moss Point, Jackson county, Miss., October 28, 1853; attended the common schools and Roanoke (Va.) college, and in 1874 was graduated from the law department of the University of Mississippi; in November, 1883, elected clerk of the circuit and chancery courts of Jackson county, Miss.; reelected in 1887 and 1891; resigned January 1, 1895; delegate from Jackson county to the state constitutional convention in 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897).

Denoyelles, Peter, a Representative from New York; born in Haverstraw, Rockland county, N. Y., in 1766; completed a preparatory course; member of the state house of representatives in 1802 and 1803; held several local offices; elected to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); died in Haverstraw, N. Y., May 6, 1829.

Denson, William Henry, a Representative from Alabama; born in Uchee, Russell county, Ala., March 4, 1846; left the University of Alabama in 1863 to join the Confederate army; worked on his father's farm and read law; admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Union Springs in 1868; moved to Lafayette, Chambers county, Ala., in October, 1870; elected a member of the lower house of the general assembly in 1876; moved to Gadsden, Etowah county, in 1877; Cleveland elector in 1884, and appointed United States district attorney for the northern and middle districts of Alabama by President Cleveland; chairman of the Democratic state convention in 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); moved to Birmingham, Ala., where he practiced law; died in Birmingham, Ala., September 26, 1906.

Dent, George, a Representative from Maryland; born in Charles county, Md., about 1760; pursued classical studies; held several local offices; was first lieutenant in Captain Thomas Hanson's company in Charles county in 1776, and served as private in the first regiment Maryland line from May 25, 1778, until his discharge on April 3, 1779; elected as a Democrat to the Third, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Congresses (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1801); elected Speaker pro tempore April 20, 1798 (during the illness of Speaker Dayton), and served two days; appointed United States marshal for the Potomac district by President Jefferson in 1801; died in St. Marys county, Md., October 15, 1842.

Dent, Stanley Hurbert, jr., a Representative from Alabama; born in Eufaula, Ala., August 16, 1869; was graduated from the Southern university, of Greensboro, Ala., in 1886, and in 1889 was graduated in law from the University of Virginia; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Montgomery, Ala., 1889–1909; appointed prosecuting attorney for Montgomery county; was elected to the office, and served 1902–1909; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Dent, William B. W., a Representative from Georgia; born in Maryland; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Newnan, Ga.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); died in Newnan, Ga., September 9, 1855.

Denver, James Wilson, a Representative from California; born in Winchester, Va., May 28, 1817; attended the public schools; moved to Missouri in 1841 and taught school; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served as a captain in the war with Mexico; moved to California in 1850; appointed secretary of state; elected as an anti-Broderick Democrat to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); appointed commissioner of Indian affairs April 17, 1857; resigned to become governor of Kansas June 17, 1858, and reappointed November 8, 1858; served until March 13, 1859; entered the Union army in 1861; commissioned brigadier general August 14, 1861; resigned position in the army March 5, 1863; practiced his profession in Washington, D. C., and Wilmington, Ohio; died in Washington, D. C., August 9, 1892.

Denver, Matthew Rombach, a Representative from Ohio; born in Wilmington, Ohio, December 21, 1870; attended the public schools and Georgetown (D. C.) university; farmer, banker, and manufacturer; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Depew, Chauncey Mitchell, a Senator from New York; born in Peekskill, N. Y., April 23, 1834; was graduated from Yale college in 1856; read law and was admitted to the bar in 1858; began practice the following year; elected to the assembly in 1861, and reelected in 1862; secretary of state in 1863; refused a renomination; appointed minister to Japan and confirmed by the Senate, but declined; appointed attorney for the New York and Harlem railroad company in 1866; identified with the Vanderbilt system of railroads as general counsel; became president of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad in 1885; resigned in 1899 to become chairman of the board of directors of the Vanderbilt system; appointed county clerk of Westchester county by Gov. Fenton in 1867 and resigned; elected immigration commissioner in 1870, but declined; boundary commissioner in 1875; candidate for lieutenant governor on the Liberal Republican or Greeley ticket in 1872; elected regent of the state university and appointed one of the commissioners to build the state capitol in 1874; unsuccessful candidate for United States Senator in 1881, to succeed Thomas C. Platt; candidate for the presidential nomination in the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1888, and received 99 votes; delegate at large to the Republican national convention of 1892, 1896, and 1900; orator on the unveiling of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor, and on several other notable occasions; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate; was reelected, and served from March 4, 1899, to March 3, 1911; resumed legal and corporate business in New York City.

Digitized by Google

De Saussure, William Ford, a Senator from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., in 1792; was graduated from Harvard college in 1810; studied law and was admitted to the bar and practiced in Charleston; was a member of the state legislature for several terms; appointed and subsequently elected to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of R. Barnwell Rhett, and served from May 10, 1852, to March 3, 1853; died in Charleston, S. C., in 1870.

Desha, Joseph, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Pennsylvania, December 9, 1768; moved to Kentucky in 1781; served in the Indian wars; member of the state legislature; elected to the Tenth and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1815); governor of Kentucky 1824–1828; died in Georgetown, Ky., October 11, 1842.

Desha, Robert, a Representative from Tennessee; native of Pennsylvania; while quite young immigrated to Tennessee; attended public schools; served as captain and brigade major in the war of 1812; elected to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); died in Mobile, Ala., February 8, 1849.

Deuster, Peter Victor, a Representative from Wisconsin; born near Aix la Chapelle, in Rhenish Prussia, Germany, February 13, 1831; pursued an academic course; emigrated with his parents to the United States in May, 1847, and located in Milwaukee, Wis.; entered a printing office; published and edited the first literary paper in Milwaukee, and in 1856 became editor of the Milwaukee See-Bote, a daily Democratic paper; elected to the lower house of the state legislature in 1862, and member of the state senate in 1870 and 1871; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1885); died in Milwaukee, Wis., December 31, 1904.

De Vries, Marion, a Representative from California; born near Woodbridge, San Joaquin county, Cal., August 15, 1865; attended the public schools; was graduated from San Joaquin Valley college in Woodbridge in 1886, and from the law department of the University of Michigan in 1888; was admitted to the bar and practiced in Michigan in 1887 and in California the same year; commenced practice in Stockton, Cal., January 1, 1889; assistant district attorney for San Joaquin county from January, 1893, to February, 1897; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1897, to August 19, 1900, when he resigned to accept a place on the Board of General Appraisers in New York City; resigned from the Board of General Appraisers, April, 1910, and was appointed associate judge United States court of customs appeals, which position he now holds.

Dwart, Lewis, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Sunbury, Pa., November 14, 1780; attended the common schools; postmaster at Sunbury, 1805–1816; elected to the state house of representatives, 1812–1818; member of the state senate in 1832; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); reelected to the state house of representatives in 1837 and 1839 and served as speaker in 1837; chief burgess of Sunbury, 1837; died in Sunbury, Pa., May 12, 1852.

Dewart, William Lewis, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Sunbury, Pa., June 21, 1821; attended the common schools; was graduated from Dickinson college; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1850; chief burgess of Sunbury in 1847; president of school board; delegate to the Democratic national conventions of 1852, 1856, 1860, and 1884; defeated as a Democratic candidate for the Thirty-fourth Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); defeated for reelection; died in Sunbury, Pa., April 19, 1888.

Deweese, John T., a Representative from North Carolina; born in Crawford county, Ark., June 4, 1835; studied law and was admitted to the bar; entered the Union army in 1861; resigned his position as lieutenant in the army and appointed register in bankruptcy for North Carolina; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses, and served from July 6, 1868, to February 28, 1870, when he resigned.

Dewey, Daniel, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Sheffield, Mass., January 29, 1766; attended Yale college; studied law and was admitted to the bar; treasurer of Williams college 1798–1814; member of the governor's council 1809–1812; elected to the Thirteenth Congress, and served from May 24, 1813, to February 24, 1814, when he resigned; appointed by Gov. Strong a judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts in 1814, and served until his death in Williamstown, Pa., May 26, 1815.

De Witt, Alexander, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in New Braintree, Mass., April 2, 1798; pursued an academic course; became a manufacturer and erected a spinning mill in Oxford; member of the state house of representatives 1830–1836; state senator 1842, 1844, 1850, and 1851; member of the constitutional convention of 1853; elected as a Native American to the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1857); defeated for reelection; died in Oxford, Mass., January 13, 1879.

De Witt, Charles, a Delegate from New York; born in Kingston, N. Y., in 1728; pursued classical studies; member of the colonial assembly 1768–1776; delegate to the provisional convention of 1775; member of the provisional congress 1776–1777; of the constitutional committee 1776; of the committee of safety 1777; elected to the Continential Congress from February to October, 1784; member of the state assembly from July, 1781 to July, 1785, and again in 1788; died in Kingston, N. Y., September 12, 1788.

De Witt, Charles G., a Representative from New York; born in Newburgh, N. Y., in 1802; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); appointed chargé d'affaires to Central America January 29, 1833; returned home in February, 1839, and died in his home in Newburgh, N. Y., April 13, 1839.

De Witt, David Miller, a Representative from New York; born in Paterson, N. J., November 25, 1837; completed preparatory studies; was graduated from Rutgers college, New Brunswick, June, 1858; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1858; elected district attorney of Ulster county in 1862 and in 1865; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); member of state assembly in 1883; surrogate of Ulster county from November 20, 1885 to December 31, 1886;

Digitized by Google

De Witt, Francis B., a Representative from Ohio; born in Jackson county, Ind., March 11, 1849; moved with his parents in 1854 to a farm in Delaware county, Ohio; enlisted in the Forty-sixth Ohio regiment at the age of twelve and served at the battle of Shiloh and during the Corinth campaign; mustered out for temporary disability, and reenlisted in 1862, in the one hundred and twenty-first Ohio regiment, served until the close of the war; prisoner of war at Salisbury, Danville, and Libby; attended the common school, the high school in Galena, Ohio, the National normal school in Lebanon, Ohio, and the Ohio Wesleyan university in Delaware; taught school for five terms; admitted to practice law in 1875, and followed his profession in Paulding until 1891; moved to his farm; elected on the Republican ticket in 1891 to represent Paulding county in the state legislature; reelected in 1893, from which position he resigned on March 4, 1895; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897).

De Witt, Jacob H., a Representative from New York; born in Ulster county, N. Y., in 1784; elected as a Democrat to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); member of the state house of representatives in 1839 and again in 1847; died in Kingston, N. Y., January 30, 1857.

De Wolf, James, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Bristol, R. I., March 18, 1764; was engaged in extensive commercial ventures principally with Cuba and other West India islands; member of the Rhode Island assembly for twenty-one years; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1821, to October 25, 1825, when he resigned; died in New York City, December 21, 1837.

Dexter, jr., Samuel, a Representative and a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Massachusetts May 14, 1761; was graduated from Harvard college in 1781; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives 1788–1790; elected as a Federalist to the Third Congress (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1795); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1799, until he resigned in May 30, 1800; appointed Secretary of War by President Adams May 13, 1800; and Secretary of the Treasury December 31, 1800; declined the mission to Spain offered him by President Madison; died in Athens, N. Y., May 3, 1816; interment in Boston, Mass.

Dezendorf, John Frederick, a Representative from Virginia; born in Lansingburg, N. Y., August 10, 1834; pursued an academic course; learned the carpenter's trade; studied architecture, surveying, and civil engineering; engaged on railroad and other buildings at Toledo and Cleveland, Ohio, 1850–1860; mercantile pursuits 1860–1862; moved to Norfolk, Va., in 1863, and engaged in the shipping business until 1866; city and county surveyor of Norfolk city and county 1866–1869; assistant assessor of the United States internal revenue 1869–1871; appraiser of merchandise at the Norfolk customhouse 1872–1877; delegate to the national Republican convention in Cincinnati in 1876; defeated as the Republican candidate for Congress in 1878; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); died in Norfolk, Va., June 22, 1894.

Dibble, Samuel, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., September 16, 1837; pursued an academic course in Bethel, Conn., and Charleston; entered the College of Charleston in 1853, and was graduated from Wofford college, Spartanburg, S. C., in 1856; engaged in teaching; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1859, and commenced practice in Orangeburg, S. C.; volunteered at the beginning of the Civil war as a private in the Confederate army, and served until its close in the first and twenty-first regiments of South Carolina volunteers and attained the rank of first lieutenant; resumed the practice of law in Orangeburg, S. C.; elected a member of the state house of representatives in 1877; trustee of the University of South Carolina in 1878; chairman of executive committee of South Carolina agricultural college and mechanics' institute for colored students (a branch of the state university); presented credentials as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Michael P. O'Connor, but Mr. O'Connor's claim to an election having been successfully contested by Edmund W. M. Mackey, the seat was given the latter on May 31, 1882; elected to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1891).

Dibrell, George Gibbs, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Sparta, White county, Tenn., April 12, 1822; attended the common schools and East Tennessee university; engaged in farming; was county court clerk of White county, Tenn., for sixteen years; member of the legislature of Tennessee; member of the state convention that framed a constitution; held several local offices; volunteered in the Confederate army as a private, and promoted to brigadier general; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1885); died in Sparta, White county, Tenn., May 9, 1888.

Dick, Charles William Frederick, a Representative and a Senator from Ohio; born in Akron, Ohio, November 3, 1858; studied law and was admitted to the bar; practiced in Akron; served in the eighth Ohio volunteer infantry in Cuba in the war with Spain; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1897; served until his resignation March 23, 1904); elected March 1, 1904, to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of Marcus A. Hanna; reelected in 1905, and served from March 23, 1904 to March 3, 1911.

Dick, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Pittsburgh, Pa., June 17, 1794; attended the common schools; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress, and as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1859); died in Meadville, Pa., May 29, 1872.

Dick, Samuel, a Delegate from New Jersey; native of New Jersey; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine; Delegate in the Continental Congress in 1783–1784; died in New Jersey in November, 1812.

Dick, Samuel Bernard, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Meadville, Pa., October 26, 1836; attended Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa.; engaged in banking; enlisted and commanded company F, ninth regiment Pennsylvania reserve corps; severely wounded in Dranesville, Va., December 20, 1861; subsequently served as colonel of the regiment to February, 1863, when he resigned; in July, 1873, commanded brigade of Pennsylvania state militia in West Virginia; Presidential elector in 1864; mayor of Meadville in 1870; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); president of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad company until April, 1900; died in Meadville, Pa., May 10, 1907.

Digitized by Google

Dickens, Samuel, a Representative from North Carolina; born in North Carolina; pursued an academic course; elected to the Fourteenth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the death of Richard Stanford, and served from December 2, 1816, to March 3, 1817.

Dickerman, Charles Heber, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Harford, Susquehanna county, Pa., February 3, 1843; attended the public schools of his native village and Harford university; taught school several years; three years Democratic chairman of Northumberland county, and a delegate to the national Democratic convention of 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905).

Dickerson, Mahlon, a Senator from New Jersey; born in Hanover, N. J., April 17, 1770; was graduated from Princeton college in 1789; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1793; located in Philadelphia, Pa., and admitted to practice in the Pennsylvania courts in 1797; held several municipal offices; state commissioner of bankruptcy in 1802; adjutant general 1805–1808; recorder of the city 1808–1810; removed to Morris county, N. J., in 1810; representative in state legislature 1812–1813; a justice of the state supreme court 1813–1814; governor 1815–1817; elected to the United States Senate, reelected in 1823; served from March 4, 1817, to January 30, 1829, when he resigned; immediately reelected, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Ephraim Bateman, and served under this election from January 30, 1829, to March 3, 1833; declined the mission to Russia in 1834; Secretary of the Navy under President Jackson and reappointed by President Van Buren; served from June 30, 1834, to June 25, 1838; United States district judge, district of New Jersey; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1844; died in Succasunna, Morris county, N. J., October 5, 1853.

Dickerson, Philemon, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Succasunna, Morris county, N. J., in 1788; pursued classical studies; attended the University of Pennsylvania; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1813, and began practice in Paterson, N. J., in 1813; member of the assembly from Essex county in 1821 and 1822; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1833, until November 3, 1836, when he resigned, having been elected governor of New Jersey; elected to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); appointed judge of the United States district court for the district of New Jersey; died in Paterson, N. J., December 10, 1862

Dickerson, William Worth, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Grant county, Ky., November 29, 1851; attended the public schools and the private school of N. M. Lloyd, in Crittenden, Ky.; read law and was admitted to the bar in 1872; elected county attorney in August, 1874, for a term of four years; member of the state house of representatives in December, 1885; member of the state senate, 1887–1891; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first Congress June 21, 1890, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John G. Carlisle, reelected to the Fifty-second Congress and served from June 30, 1890 until March 3, 1893; resumed the practiced of law in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dickey, Henry L., a Representative from Ohio; born in South Salem, Ross county, Ohio, October 29, 1832; attended Greenfield academy; pursued the vocation of a civil engineer, and in that capacity had charge of the construction of the Marietta and Cincinnati railroad in Vinton county, Ohio; resigned in 1855; studied law and was admitted to the bar; attended the Cincinnati law school and was graduated in 1859; elected in 1860 to the general assembly of Ohio, and in 1867 to the state senate; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); resumed the practice of law in Greenfield, Ohio.

Dickey, Jesse C., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Chester county, Pa.; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831).

Dickey, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Greensburg, Westmoreland county, Pa., June 23, 1794; completed preparatory studies; appointed postmaster of Old Brighton April 11, 1818; served as sheriff 1824–1827; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); reelected to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); was senator in the state legislature 1835 and 1837; appointed United States marshal for the western district of Pennsylvania in 1852; died in Beaver, Pa., March 14, 1853.

Dickey, Oliver James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Old Brighton, Pa., April 6, 1823; completed preparatory studies; attended Pennsylvania college; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1844; district attorney for Lancaster county, 1856–1859; elected to the Fortieth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the death of Thaddeus Stevens; reelected as a Republican to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses, and served from December 7, 1868 to March 3, 1873; died in Lancaster, Pa., April 21, 1876.

Dickinson, Clement Cabell, a Representative from Missouri; born December 6, 1849, in Prince Edward county, Va.; was graduated from Hampden Sidney college, Virginia, in June, 1869; taught school in Virginia, Kentucky, and Missouri; located in Clinton, Mo., in September, 1872; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1875; elected prosecuting attorney of Henry county, Mo., in 1876, and served three terms of two years each; was Democratic presidential elector in 1896; elected to the state house of representatives in 1900, and served one term of two years; was elected to the state senate in 1902, and served one term of four years; appointed a member of the board of regents of the state normal school at Warrensburg, Mo., in 1907, for a term of six years; was elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of David A. De Armond, and served from February 7, 1910, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Dickinson, Daniel Stevens, a Senator from New York; born in Goshen, Conn., September 11, 1800; moved with his parents to Chenango county,

Digitized by Google

N. Y., in 1806; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1826; began practice in Binghamton, N. Y., in 1831; state senator, 1837–1840; lieutenant governor, president of the senate, and president of the court of errors, 1842–1844; delegate to the national Democratic convention and a presidential elector on the Polk ticket in 1844; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Nathaniel P. Tallmadge, and afterwards elected and served from November 30, 1844, to March 3, 1851; delegate to the national Democratic convention of 1852; elected attorney general of the state in 1861; delegate to the Republican national convention of 1864; United States district attorney for the southern district of New York; died in New York City April 12, 1866.

Dickinson, David W., a Representative from Tennessee; born in Franklin, Tenn., in 1807; completed preparatory studies; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth Congress; prevented on account of his failing health from attending the last session; died near Murfreesboro, Tenn., April 27, 1845.

Dickinson, Edward, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Amherst, Mass., January 1, 1803; was graduated from Yale college in 1823; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1826; began practice in Amherst; treasurer of Amherst college several years; member of the state house of representatives in 1839, and of the state senate 1842–1843, and of the governor's council 1846–1847; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); again a member of the state house of representatives in 1873; died in Boston, Mass., June 16, 1874.

Dickinson, Edward Fenwick, a Representative from Ohio; born in Fremont, Ohio, January 21, 1829; completed preparatory studies; was graduated from the St. Xavier college, Cincinnati, Ohio; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practicing in Fremont, Ohio; served in the Union army for over three years as lieutenant quartermaster of the eighth Ohio infantry; prosecuting attorney for Sandusky county, Ohio, 1852 and 1854; elected judge of the Sandusky county probate court in 1866; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); died in Fremont, Sandusky county, Ohio, August 25, 1891.

Dickinson, John, a Delegate from Delaware and Pennsylvania; born in Talbot county, Md., November 8, 1732; completed preparatory studies; studied law in Philadelphia and at the Temple in London; admitted to the bar and began practice in Philadelphia; member of the Pennsylvania assembly in 1764; Delegate to the Colonial Congress in 1765, elected from Pennsylvania to the Continental Congress in 1774–1776 and from Delaware in 1779–1780; brigadier general of Pennsylvania militia; president of the state of Delaware 1781; returned to Philadelphia and in 1782–1785 president of Pennsylvania; died in Wilmington, Del., February 14, 1808.

Dickinson, John D., a Representative from New York; born in Middlesex county, Conn., in 1767; was graduated from Yale college in 1785; studied law, and after being admitted to the bar began practice in Troy, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1817; elected as a Federalist to the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Congresses (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1823); reelected as a Whig to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses; (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); died in Troy, N. Y., January 28, 1841.

Dickinson, Philemon, a Delegate from Deleware and a Senator from New Jersey; born in "Crosiadore," near Reeds Creek, Talbot county, Md., April 5, 1739; completed preparatory studies; attended the University of Pennsylvania; studied law and was admitted to the bar; studied medicine and began practice in Trenton; served in the army of the Revolution, commanding the New Jersey militia, and was commissioned brigadier general; delegate to the New Jersey provincial congress in 1776; elected a Delegate to the Continental Congress, 1781; major general and commander in chief New Jersey troops in 1777; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Patterson and served from November 23, 1790, to March 3, 1793; died in the "Hermitage," near Trenton, N. J., February 9, 1809.

Dickinson, Rudolphus, a Representative from Ohio; born in Hatfield, Mass., December 28, 1797; attended the public schools; was graduated from Williams college; studied law and was admitted to the bar; appointed first prosecuting attorney of Seneca county; moved to Lower Sandusky, Ohio; member of the board of public works of Ohio 1836–1845; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1847, until his death in Washington, D. C., March 12, 1849.

Dickson, David, a Representative from Mississippi; a resident of Jackson, Miss.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress, and served from March 4, 1835, until his death in 1836.

Dickson, Frank Stoddard, a Representative from Illinois; born in Hillsboro, Ill., October 6, 1876; lawyer; was graduated from the grammar school and entered the high school in Decatur, Ill., graduating from that institution in the classics in 1896; served in the fourth Illinois volunteer infantry in the war with Spain; elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1907); appointed assistant adjutant general of Illinois in 1908; adjutant general of Illinois January 1, 1910, serving in that capacity at present.

Dickson, John, a Representative from New York; born in Keene, N. H., June 1, 1783; was graduated from Middlebury college in 1808; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1812; began practice in West Bloomfield, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1829–1830; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1835); died in West Bloomfield, N. Y., February 22, 1852.

Dickson, Joseph, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Chester county, Pa., in April, 1745; was elected a member of the North Carolina house of commons in 1775; and the following year was commissioned captain in the colonial army. He served under Col. McDowell in 1780, and at the battle of King's Mountain as major of the "Lincoln County Men" rendered heroic service; in 1781 he opposed Lord Cornwallis's invasion of the state, and for brave and efficient conduct was promoted colonel and retired at the end of the war with the rank of general; state senator 1788–1795, and during this time was appointed one of a commission to establish the University of North Carolina; elected to the Sixth Congress (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1801); and when the election of President of the United States devolved upon the House of Representatives his vote helped elect Thomas Jefferson over Aaron Burr by one majority; he died in Fayetteville, Tenn., in 1825.

Digitized by Google

Dickson, Samuel, a Representative from New York; born in Onondaga county, N. Y., March 3, 1807; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine and practiced in New Scotland, N. Y.; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); died in New Scotland, N. Y., May 3, 1858.

Dickson, William, a Representative from Tennessee; born in North Carolina; moved with his parents to Tennessee in 1795; attended the common schools; devoted himself to agricultural pursuits; studied medicine and practiced in Nashville for many years; member of the state house of representatives from 1799–1803; and served as speaker; elected to the Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth Congresses (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1807); died in Nashville, Tenn., in February, 1816.

Dickson, William Alexander, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Centerville, Wilkinson county, Mo., July 20, 1861; attended private and public schools, Pleasant Grove school, Centenary college, Jackson, La., and Vanderbilt university; engaged in farming; read law under Chief Justice H. F. Simrall, but did not practice; supervisor 1886–1888; representative in the state legislature 1887–1893; school commissioner of Wilkinson county; presidential elector on the Parker and Davis ticket in 1904; trustee of the Agricultural and Mechanical college, Starkville, Miss., and of the Edward Magehee college, Woodville, Miss., for five years; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Diekema, Gerritt John, a Representative from Michigan; born in Holland, Mich., March 27, 1859; was graduated from Hope college in 1881 and from the law department of the University of Michigan in 1883; mayor, city attorney, and member of the legislature four consecutive terms, beginning in 1885; at the session of 1889 chosen speaker of the house of representatives; was chairman of the Michigan Republican state central committee in five campaigns; delegate to the national convention in 1896; member of the Spanish Treaty Claims Commission, which position he resigned to make the race for Congress; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth Congress April 27, 1907, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Alden Smith; reelected to the Sixty-first Congress and served from December 2, 1907, to March 3, 1911; resumed the practice of law in Holland, Mich.

Dies, Martin, a Representative from Texas; born in Jackson parish, La., March 13, 1870; moved with his parents to Texas in 1876; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar in ....; county judge of Tyler county in 1894; district attorney of the first judicial district of Texas in 1898; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Dietrich, Charles Henry, a Senator from Nebraska; born in Aurora, Ill., November 26, 1853; moved to Deadwood, S. Dak., in the winter of 1875–1876; located in Hastings, Nebr., in 1878; engaged in mercantile business; organized the German National bank in 1887, and became its president; elected governor in 1900; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of Monroe L. Hayward and served from March 28, 1901, to March 3, 1905; reengaged in business in Hastings, Nebr.

Dillingham, Paul, jr., a Representative from Vermont; born in Shutesbury, Mass., August 6, 1800; moved with his father to Waterbury, Vt., 1805; pursued an academic course; studied law and in 1824 was admitted to the bar; began practice in Waterbury, Vt.; justice of the peace 1826–1844; town clerk of Waterbury 1829–1844; prosecuting attorney for Washington county 1835–1838; delegate to the state constitutional convention 1836–1837; member of the state house of representatives 1836–1840, and of the state senate 1841 and 1842; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); during the Civil War he became lieutenant governor, and in 1866 governor of Vermont; resumed the practice of law until 80 years of age and died in his home in Waterbury, Vt., July 26, 1891.

Dillingham, William Paul, a Senator from Vermont; born in Waterbury, Vt., December 12, 1843; pursued an academic course; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1867; state attorney for Washington county two terms; commissioner of state taxes for several years; member of the Vermont house of representatives in 1876 and again in 1884; state senator from Washington county in 1878 and again in 1880; governor of Vermont from 1888 to 1890; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of Justin S. Morrill and took his seat December 3, 1900; reelected for the term expiring March 4, 1915.

Dimmick, Milo Melankthon, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Milford, Pike county, Pa., October 12, 1812; pursued classical studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Stroudsburg, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); resumed the practice of law; defeated for president judge of the twenty-second judicial circuit of Pennsylvania in 1853; died in Mauch Chunk, Pa., November 22, 1872.

Dimmick, William Harrison, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Milford, Pa., December 20, 1815; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Honesdale, Pa.; prosecuting attorney for Wayne county 1836–37; member of the state senate 1845, 1846, and 1847; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); died in Honesdale, Pa., August 2, 1861.

Dimock, Davis, jr., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Susquehanna county, Pa.; elected to the Twenty-seventh Congress and served from May 31, 1841, until his death, in Montrose, Pa., January 13, 1842.

Digitized by Google

Dingley, Nelson, jr., a Representative from Maine; born in Durham, Androscoggin county, Me., February 15, 1832, was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1855; studied law and was admitted to the bar, but left the profession to become proprietor and editor of the Lewiston (Me.) Journal in 1856; member of the state house of representatives in 1862–1865, 1868, and 1873; speaker of the house in 1863 and 1864; governor of Maine in 1874 and 1875; delegate to the national Republican convention in 1876; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress at a special election September 12, 1881, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William P. Frye; reelected to the Forty-eighth, and to the eight succeeding Congresses, and served from December 5, 1881, until his death; chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means during the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses; died in Washington, D. C., January 13, 1899.

Dinsmoor, Samuel, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Windham, N. H., July 1, 1766; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Harvard college in 1789; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Keene, N. H.; elected as a War Democrat to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813); defeated for reelection to the Thirteenth Congress; state councilor in 1821; presidential elector on the Monroe ticket in 1821; defeated as a candidate for governor; judge of probate of Cheshire county 1823–1831; member of the boundary commission which established the line between New Hampshire and Massachusetts in 1825; governor of New Hampshire 1831–1833; died in Keene, N. H., March 15, 1834.

Dinsmore, Hugh Anderson, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Benton county, Ark., December 24, 1850; attended private schools of Benton and Washington counties; studied law in Bentonville; appointed clerk of the circuit court for Benton county in April, 1873; was admitted to the bar; moved to Fayetteville in April, 1875, and engaged in practice; in September, 1878, elected prosecuting attorney of the fourth judicial district; reelected in 1880 and 1882; presidential elector in 1884 on the Democratic ticket; in January, 1887, appointed by President Cleveland minister resident and consul general to the Kingdom of Korea and served until May 25, 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1905). After retirement from Congress resumed the practice of law in Washington county, Ark.

Disney, David Tiernan, a Representative from Ohio; born in Baltimore, Md., August 25, 1803; attended the common schools; moved with his parents to Ohio in 1807; studied law, admitted to the bar, and began practice in Cincinnati; member of the state house of representatives for several years, and served as speaker three years; took an active part in the Mexican war; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first, Thirty-second, and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1855); tendered a mission to Spain by President Buchanan but declined; died in Washington, D. C., March 14, 1857.

Diven, Alexander Samuel, a Representative from New York; born in Catharine, N. Y., February 10, 1809; attended the common schools and the academies in Penn Yan and Ovid, N. Y.; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1833; began practice in Elmira; member of the state senate in 1858; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); served in the Civil war and was commissioned brigadier general by brevet; prominently identified with the Erie railroad; died in Elmira, N. Y., June 11, 1896.

Dix, John Adams, a Senator from New York; born in Boscawen, N. H., July 24, 1798; completed preparatory studies; served through the War of 1812; studied law, and after having made a European tour, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Cooperstown, N. Y.; adjutant general of New York 1831–1833; secretary of the Democratic national convention in Baltimore in 1828; secretary of state of New York 1833–1839; regent of the university, member of the council, and canal commissioner; member of the state house of representatives in 1842; Free-soil candidate for governor in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Silas Wright, jr., and served from January 18, 1845, to March 3, 1849; appointed postmaster of the city of New York in 1860; Secretary of the Treasury January 11, 1861, to March 3, 1861; served in the Union army as major general 1861–1865; United States minister to France from September 24, 1866, to May 23, 1869; governor of New York 1873–1875; defeated as the Republican candidate for governor in 1874 and as the Republican candidate for mayor of New York City in 1876; president of the Erie railroad and also of the Union Pacific railroad; died in New York City April 21, 1879.

Dixon, Archibald, a Senator from Kentucky; born in Caswell county, N. C., April 2, 1802; moved with his father to Henderson county, Ky., in 1805; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Henderson, Ky.; member of the state house of representatives in 1830 and 1841 and of the state senate in 1836; lieutenant governor in 1843; member of the state constitutional convention in 1849; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of Henry Clay, and served from September 1, 1852, until March 3, 1855; delegate to the Frankfort peace convention in 1863; died in Henderson, Ky., April 23, 1876.

Dixon, James, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Enfield, Conn., August 5, 1814; was graduated from Williams college in 1834; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives 1837–1838 and 1844; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); again elected to the state house of representatives in 1854; defeated as a candidate for the United States Senate; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate in 1856; reelected and served from March 4, 1857, to March 3, 1869; defeated as a Democratic candidate for the United States Senate in 1868; defeated as a Democratic candidate for Representative to the Forty-first Congress; died in Hartford, Conn., March 27, 1873.

Dixon, Joseph, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Green county, April 28, 1828; elected to the Forty-first Congress to fill vacancy caused by the death of David Heaton; took his seat December 5, 1870, and served until March 3, 1871.

Dixon, Joseph Moore, a Representative and a Senator from Montana; born in Snow Camp, N. C.,

Digitized by Google

July 31, 1867; attended Earlham college, Richmond, Ind., and was graduated from Guilford college, North Carolina, May, 1889; was admitted to the bar December, 1892; moved to Missoula, Mont.; assistant prosecuting attorney, Missoula county 1893–1895; prosecuting attorney 1894–1897; member of the Montana legislature in 1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907); elected to the United States Senate for the term beginning March 4, 1907.

Dixon, Lincoln, a Representative from Indiana; born in Vernon, Jennings county, Ind., February 9, 1860; attended the Vernon academy and was graduated from the Indiana state university in 1880; began the practice of law in North Vernon in 1882; was elected prosecuting attorney for the sixth judicial circuit in 1884; reelected in 1886, 1888, and 1890; member of the Democratic state committee from 1897 until nominated for Congress in 1904; was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Dixon, Nathan Fellows, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Plainfield, Conn., December 13, 1774; was graduated from Brown university in 1799; studied law, and in 1802 was admitted to the bar; began practice in Westerly, R. I.; member of the general assembly 1813–1830; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1839, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 29, 1842.

Dixon, Nathan Fellows, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Westerly, R. I., May 1, 1812; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Brown university; studied law in the Cambridge and New Haven law schools and was admitted to the bar in 1837; member of the general assembly of Rhode Island 1840–1849, 1851, 1852, 1855–1863; appointed member of the governor's council in 1842; presidential elector in 1844; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1871); declined to be a candidate for reelection; resumed the practice of law; again elected to the general assembly from 1872 to 1877; died in Westerly, R. I., April 11, 1881.

Dixon, Nathan Fellows, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Westerly, R. I., August 28, 1847; fitted for college in Westerly and at Phillips academy, Andover; was graduated from Brown university in 1869; studied law with his father, Nathan F. Dixon, and at the Albany law school; was admitted to the bar in 1871, and practiced in New York, Rhode Island, and Connecticut; appointed United States district attorney for the district of Rhode Island by President Grant in 1877 and reappointed in 1881; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Jonathan Chace and served from February 12, 1885 to March 3, 1885; elected to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Jonathan Chace, and served from April 10, 1889, to March 3, 1895; died in Westerly, R. I., November 8, 1897.

Dixon, William Wirt, a Representative from Montana; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 3, 1838; moved to Illinois in 1843 and went to Keokuk, Iowa, in 1849; read law in Keokuk, and was admitted to the bar in 1858; lived in Tennessee and Arkansas in 1860; went to California in 1862, and then to Humboldt county, Nev.; removed to Montana in 1866; and resided in Helena and Deer Lodge until 1879; spent two years in the Black Hills; returned to Montana in 1881 and settled in Butte; engaged in the practice of law; member of the legislative assembly of Montana Territory 1871–1872; member of the constitutional conventions of Montana in 1871–1872; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); defeated for reelection in 1893; candidate for the United States Senate, but the legislature failed to elect; died in Los Angeles, Cal., November 13, 1910.

Doan, Robert Eachus, a Representative from Ohio; born in Clinton county, Ohio, July 23, 1834; attended the common schools and completed an academic course; taught school three years in southern Ohio, and studied law; was graduated from the Cincinnati law school April 15, 1857; was admitted to the bar; continued in practice in Wilmington; editor of the Wilmington Watchman in 1859–1860; prosecuting attorney for Clinton county in 1862; held an important secret position under Abraham Lincoln connected with the Post Office Department during the war; elected a Garfield presidential elector in 1880; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893). After retirement from Congress resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C.

Doan, William, a Representative from Ohio; native of Maine; attended the common schools; moved to Ohio, where he held several local offices; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843).

Dobbin, James Cochrane, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Fayetteville, N. C., in 1814; was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1832; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1835; began practice in Fayetteville; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); declined to be a candidate for reelection; member of the house of commons in 1848, 1850, and 1852, and in 1850 was speaker; delegate to the national Democratic convention in Baltimore in 1852; Secretary of the Navy under President Pierce from March 7, 1853, to March 6, 1857; died in Fayetteville, N. C., August 4, 1857.

Dobbins, Samuel Atkinson, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Mount Holly, Burlington county, N. J., April 14, 1814; completed preparatory studies and engaged in farming; high sheriff of Burlington county 1854–1857; member of the state legislature 1859–1862; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1877); died in Mount Holly, N. J., May 21, 1886.

Dockery, Alexander Monroe, a Representative from Missouri; born in Livingston county, Mo., February 11, 1845; attended the common schools and Macon academy, Macon, Mo.; studied medicine, and was graduated from the St. Louis medical college in March, 1865; also attended lectures at Bellevue college, New York City, and Jefferson medical college, Philadelphia, during the winter of 1865–1866; practiced medicine in Chillicothe, Mo.; served as county physician of Livingston county; abandoned medicine in March, 1874, and moved to Gallatin, Mo., and assisted in organizing the Farmers' exchange bank, of which he was cashier; one of the curators of the University of Missouri from 1872 to 1882; 1870–1872 president of the board of education of Chillicothe, Mo.; chairman of the congressional committee of his district; member of the city council of Gallatin for the five years previous to April, 1883; served the last two years as mayor; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1899); elected governor of Missouri in November, 1900, for the term of 1901–1905.

Digitized by Google

Dockery, Alfred, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Richmond county, N. C., December 11, 1797; planter; member of the North Carolina house of commons in 1822 and of the state senate 1836–1844; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); declined to be a candidate for reelection; elected to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); defeated as the Whig candidate for governor in 1854; died in his residence in Richmond county, N. C., December 7, 1875.

Dockery, Oliver Hart, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Richmond county, N. C., August 12, 1830; completed preparatory studies, and in 1848 was graduated from the University of North Carolina; farmer; member of the state legislature 1858-1859; served a short time in the Confederate service, but withdrew and took a bold stand for the reestablishment of the Federal government; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); was United States consul general in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, South America, 1899–1903; died in Baltimore, Md., February 22, 1906.

Dodd, Edward, a Representative from New York; was born in Salem, Washington county, N. Y., 1805; attended the public schools; became engaged in mercantile pursuits; clerk of Washington county 1835–1844; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1846; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); United States marshal for the northern district of New York from April, 1863, to April, 1869; died in Argyle, N. Y., March 1, 1891.

Doddridge, Philip, a Representative from Virginia; was born in Wellsbury, W. Va., May 17, 1773; reared on a farm; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1797; member of the house of delegates of Virginia 1815–1816, and again from 1822–1823; delegate to the Virginia constitutional convention in 1829; elected to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1833) without opposition, serving until his death, which occurred in Washington, D. C., November 19, 1832.

Dodds, Francis Henry, a Representative from Michigan; born in Louisville, St. Lawrence county N. Y., June 9, 1858; moved with his parents to Isabella county, Mich., in 1866; was graduated from Olivet college, Mich.; studied law in the University of Michigan, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Bay City, Mich., 1884–1886, and in Mount Pleasant, Mich. continuously since; served as city attorney of Mount Pleasant; member of the board of education; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911.) Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Dodds, Ozro T., a Representative from Ohio; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, March 22, 1840; attended city schools and Cincinnati college; in 1861 enlisted in the twentieth Ohio volunteers and was transferred to the eighth Ohio; became lieutenant colonel of the first Alabama cavalry; at the close of the war studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Cincinnati; representative in the state legislature 1870–1872; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Aaron F. Perry, and served from December 2, 1872, until March 3, 1873; died in Columbus, Ohio, April 8, 1882.

Dodge, Augustus Caesar, a Representative from Iowa; born in Sainte Genevieve, Mo., January 2, 1812; completed preparatory studies; moved to Burlington, Iowa, where he became register of the land office, 1838–1840; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1847); on the admission of Iowa as a state was elected to the United States Senate and served from December 7, 1848, until his resignation, February 8, 1855; minister to Spain from February 9, 1855, to March 12, 1859; delegate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1864; elected mayor of Burlington on an independent ticket February 2, 1874; died in Burlington, Iowa, November 20, 1883.

Dodge, Grenville Mellen, a Representative from Iowa; born in Danvers, Mass., April 12, 1831; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated at the military university, Norwich, Vt.; studied civil engineering; chief engineer of the Union Pacific railroad; entered the Union army as a captain and left the service as a major general; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); located in New York City, but still retains residence in Council Bluffs, Iowa; president of Society of Army of Tennessee; president of New York Commandery of Loyal Legion; president of commission to inquire into the management of the war with Spain; extensively interested in western railroad building and management; vice president of the Grant Monument Association.

Dodge, Henry, a Delegate and a Senator from Wisconsin; born in Vincennes, Ind., October 12, 1782; received a limited schooling; emigrated to Missouri; served in the Black Hawk and other Indian wars; left the army as colonel of the first United States dragoons, July, 1836; governor of Wisconsin from July 4, 1836, to 1841; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1845); again appointed governor of Wisconsin, February 6, 1846; elected to the United States Senate in 1848; reelected and served from June 8, 1848, to March 3, 1857; died in Burlington, Iowa, June 19, 1867.

Dodge, William Earle, a Representative from New York; born in Hartford, Conn., September 4, 1805; completed preparatory studies; moved to New York in 1818; became a clerk in a store, and in 1826 commenced business on his own account; established the house of Phelps, Dodge & Co., of which he was the head for forty years; delegate to the peace convention of 1861; successfully contested the election of James Brooks to the Thirty-ninth Congress and served from April 6, 1866, until March 3, 1867; presidential elector in 1872; died in New York City, February 9, 1883.

Digitized by Google

Doe, Nicholas B., a Representative from New York; native of New York; was elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the death of Anson Brown, and served from December 7, 1840, to March 3, 1841.

Doig, Andrew W., a Representative from New York; born in Washington county, N. Y.; pursued an academic course; county surveyor and clerk of Lewis county; member of the state house of representatives in 1832; surrogate of Lewis county, 1835-1840; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839-March 3, 1843).

Dolliver, Jonathan Prentiss, a Representative and a Senator from Iowa; born near Kingwood, Preston county, Va. (now West Virginia), February 6, 1858; was graduated in 1875 from the West Virginia university; admitted to the bar in 1878; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1889-March 3, 1901); appointed on August 23, 1900, to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of John H. Gear, and took his seat December 3, 1900; elected January 21, 1902, and reelected in 1907, and served until his death in Fort Dodge, Iowa, October 15, 1910.

Dolph, Joseph Norton, a Senator from Oregon; born in Dolphsburg, Tompkins (now Schuyler) county, N. Y., October 19, 1835; attended the common schools and the Genesee Wesleyan seminary in Lima, N. Y.; taught school and studied law; was admitted to the bar in Binghamton, N. Y., in November, 1861; practiced in Schuyler county, N. Y., during the winter of 1861-1862; enlisted in Captain M. Crawford's company in 1862, known as the Oregon Escort, raised under an act of Congress for the purpose of protecting the emigration of that year to the Pacific coast against hostile Indians crossing the plains; filled the position of orderly sergeant; settled in Portland, Oreg., in October, 1862; elected city attorney in 1864; member of the state senate in 1866, 1868, 1872, and 1874; engaged in various enterprises; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate; reelected and served from March 4, 1883, to March 3, 1895; resumed the practice of law in Portland, Oreg., where he died March 10, 1897.

Donley, Joseph Benton, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Mount Morris, Pa., October 10, 1838; completed preparatory studies; was graduated from Waynesburg college in 1859; entered the Union army as a captain of the eighty-third Illinois infantry in 1862; was graduated from the Law university of Albany, N. Y., in May, 1866, and admitted to the bar; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869-March 3, 1871); after retirement from Congress practiced law in Waynesburg, Pa.

Donnan, William G., a Representative from Iowa; born in West Charlton, N. Y., June 30, 1834; was graduated from Union college, New York, in 1856; in the same year moved to Independence, Iowa, where he studied law, and a year later was admitted to the bar; in September, 1857, elected treasurer and recorder of Buchanan county, and held the office by election until 1862; entered the Union army as a private, promoted to the grade of first lieutenant, and brevetted captain and major for efficient service in the field; member of the state senate of Iowa 1868 and 1870; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871-March 3, 1875); declined to be a candidate for reelection; died in Independence, Iowa, December 4, 1908.

Donnell, Richard S., a Representative from North Carolina; born in Newbern, N. C., September 20, 1820; attended Yale college; member of the house of commons in 1862 and 1864, and served as speaker; delegate to the conventions of 1861 and 1865; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847-March 3, 1849); died June 3, 1867.

Donnelly, Ignatius, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Philadelphia, Pa., November 3, 1831; was graduated from the high school of that city; in 1869 studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1852, and practiced; moved to Minnesota in 1857; author and politician; elected lieutenant governor of Minnesota in 1859 and reelected in 1861; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1863-March 3, 1869); died in Minneapolis, Minn., January 1, 1901.

Donovan, Dennis D., a Representative from Ohio; born near Texas, Henry county, Ohio, January 31, 1859; attended the common schools and the Northern Indiana normal school in Valparaiso, Ind.; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; taught school; engaged in mercantile and timber business; appointed postmaster of Deshler by President Cleveland; elected to the legislature in 1887 and 1889; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891-March 3, 1895); after retirement from Congress practiced in Napolien, Ohio.

Doolittle, James Rood, a Senator from Wisconsin; born in Hampton, N. Y., January 3, 1815; completed preparatory studies; was graduated from Geneva college, New York; studied law and was admitted to the bar; district attorney for Wyoming county, N. Y.; moved to Wisconsin in 1851; elected judge of the first judicial circuit of Wisconsin in 1853, and held the office until 1856, when he resigned; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate; reelected and served from March 4, 1857, to March 3, 1869; died in Edgewood, Providence, R. I., July 23, 1897.

Doolittle, William Hall, a Representative from Washington; born in Erie county, Pa.; moved with his parents to Portage county, Wis., in 1859; worked in the pineries of that state; attended district school; early in 1865 enlisted as a private in the ninth Wisconsin battery; discharged the following summer and returned to Wisconsin; then returned to Pennsylvania in 1867, and pursued an academic course; read law in Chautauqua county, N. Y.; moved to Nebraska in 1872, and practiced law in Johnson county; served one term in the Nebraska legislature; assistant United States district attorney; moved to Washington territory in 1880, locating in Colfax, Whitman county, and practiced his profession; moved to Tacoma; one of the Republican members of the territorial code commission; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893-March 3, 1897); after retirement from Congress practiced law in Tacoma, Wash.

Dorr, Charles Philips, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Monroe county, Ohio, August 12, 1852; attended the common schools, and after admission to the courts of Ohio began the practice of law in West Virginia in 1874; elected a member of the West Virginia house of delegates in 1884 and in 1888; sergeant at arms of that body in 1887; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899), after retirement from Congress practiced law in Webster Springs, W. Va.

Digitized by Google

Dorsey, Clement, a Representative from Maryland; born in Anne Arundel county, Md.; elected to the Nineteenth, Twentieth, and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1831); died August 6, 1846.

Dorsey, George Washington Emery, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Loudoun county, Va., January 25, 1842; moved with his parents to Preston county (now West Virginia) in 1856; attended the private schools and Oak Hill academy; recruited a company and entered the Union army in August, 1861, as first lieutenant, sixth West Virginia infantry; promoted to captain and major, and was mustered out with the army of the Shenandoah in August, 1865; moved to Nebraska in 1866; studied law, and admitted to practice in 1869; engaged in banking; member of the board of trustees of the insane hospital; vice president of the state board of agriculture, and chairman of the Republican state central committee; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1891); after retirement from Congress engaged in mining enterprises in Nevada and Utah; died in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 12, 1911.

Dorsey, Stephen Wallace, a Senator from Arkansas; born in Benson, Vt., February 28, 1844; moved to Ohio and located in Oberlin; attended public schools; served in the Union army under Gen. Grant at Shiloh, Gen. Buell at Perryville, Gen. Rosecrans at Stone River and Chattanooga, and Gen. Thomas at Mission Ridge; was transferred to the army of the Potomac in 1864, and took part in the battles of the Wilderness and Cold Harbor, and served until the close of the war; returned to Ohio and was employed by the Sandusky tool company, and became its president; soon elected president of the Arkansas railway company; moved to Arkansas and was chosen chairman of the Republican state committee; declined to be a candidate for Congress; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1873, to March 3, 1879; chairman of the Republican executive committee in 1876 and secretary of the committee in 1880; devoted himself to mining interests in New Mexico and Colorado; moved to California; a resident of Los Angeles.

Dorsheimer, William, a Representative from New York; born in Lyons, Wayne county, N. Y., February 5, 1832; attended the Phillips academy, Andover, Mass., and Harvard college; studied law and was admitted to the bar, and practiced in New York; appointed major in the United States army in August, 1861; appointed United States attorney for the northern district of New York in April, 1867; lieutenant governor in 1874 and reelected in 1876; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Savannah, Ga., March 26, 1888.

Doty, James Duane, a Representative and Delegate from Wisconsin; born in Salem, Washington county, N. Y., November 5, 1799; attended the common schools; moved to Menasha, Wis.; elected a Delegate to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); governor of Wisconsin 1841–1844; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress and as a Free-soil Democrat to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); appointed treasurer of Utah and governor of that territory in 1864 by President Lincoln; died in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 13, 1865.

Doubleday, Ulysses Freeman, a Representative from New York; born in Otsego county, N. Y., December 15, 1792; received a limited schooling; learned the art of printing; engaged in newspaper work in Ballston and established a newspaper in Auburn; served at Sacketts Harbor in the war of 1812; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); elected to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); moved to New York City and became engaged in the book trade; died in Belvidere, Ill., March 11, 1866.

Dougherty, Charles, a Representative from Florida; born in Athens, Ga., October 15, 1850; attended the public schools of Athens and the University of Virginia; followed the sea and then engaged in planting; elected to the legislature of Florida in 1876, 1878, 1880, and 1882; served as speaker in 1878; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); member of the state legislature 1911 and 1912.

Dougherty, John, a Representative from Missouri; born in Itau, Platte county, Mo., February 25, 1857; moved subsequently, with his parents, to Liberty, Mo.; attended the public schools and William Jewell college; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1880; city attorney of Liberty, Mo.; editor and proprietor of the Liberty Tribune from 1885 to 1888; elected prosecuting attorney of Clay county, Mo., in 1888 and twice reelected; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1905); died in Liberty, Mo., August 1, 1905.

Douglas, Albert, a Representative from Ohio; born in Chillicothe, Ohio, April 25, 1852; attended the public schools of Chillicothe, a preparatory school, and was graduated from Kenyon college in 1872; attended the Harvard law school, and was admitted to the bar in 1874; returning to Chillicothe, began the practice of law; elected prosecuting attorney of the county in 1876 on the Republican ticket and reelected in 1878; elector at large in 1896 and chairman of the electoral college; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Chillicothe, Ohio.

Douglas, Beverly Browne, a Representative from Virginia; born in Providence Forge, New Kent county, Va., December 21, 1822; attended William and Mary college, Yale university, and the University of Edinburgh, Scotland; studied law and was graduated from the law school of Judge Beverly Tucker, and from William and Mary college in 1843; admitted to the bar in 1844; member of the state constitutional convention in 1850–1851; twelve years in the state senate; presidential elector on the Breckinridge and Lane ticket in 1860; served in the Confederate army and attained the rank of major of the fifth Virginia cavalry; elected as a Conservative to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1875, until his death in Washington, D. C., December 22, 1878.

Digitized by Google

Douglas, Stephen Arnold, a Representative and a Senator from Illinois; born in Brandon, Vt., April 23, 1813; completed preparatory studies in Brandon academy; learned the cabinetmaker's trade; moved to a farm near Clifton Springs, N. Y.; entered Canandaigua academy and studied law; visited several western cities, moved to Ohio, where he resumed the study of law, but on account of failing health moved to Illinois; taught school; admitted to the bar in 1834; elected state attorney for the Morgan circuit in 1835; member of the state house of representatives 1836–1837; register of the land office in Springfield in 1837; defeated in 1838 as the Democratic candidate for Congress; appointed secretary of state of Illinois during the session of the legislature 1840–1841, and at the same session was elected one of the judges of the state supreme court; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); reelected to the Thirtieth Congress, but before taking his seat was elected to the United States Senate; reelected in 1853 as a Popular Sovereignty Democrat, and again in 1859, defeating Abraham Lincoln, and served from March 4, 1847, until his death; in 1860 received twelve electoral votes for President; died in Chicago, Ill., June 3, 1861.

Douglas, William Harris, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, December 5, 1853; attended private schools and the College of the City of New York one year; entered the exporting and importing trade; senior member of a firm having branches in London, Sydney and Melbourne, Australia, and Cape Town and Port Elizabeth, South Africa; member of the chamber of commerce, the New York produce exchange, maritime exchange, merchants' exchange, and various other institutions; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1905).

Dovener, Blackburn Barrett, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Cabell county, Va. (now West Virginia), April 20, 1842; raised a company of loyal Virginians and served in the United States volunteer infantry during the war; studied law; admitted to the bar in 1873, and practiced law in Wheeling; elected a representative of Ohio county to the legislature of 1883; Republican candidate for Congress in 1892, but defeated; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1907).

Dowd, Clement, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Moore county, N. C., August 27, 1832; was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1856; taught school, studied law, and was admitted to the bar; moved to Charlotte and engaged in the practice of law; officer in the Confederate army; elected mayor of Charlotte in January, 1869, and reelected; president of the Merchants and Farmers' National bank; president of the Commercial National bank of Charlotte, N. C.; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1885); died in Charlotte, N. C., April 15, 1898.

Dowdell, James Ferguson, a Representative from Alabama; born in Jasper county, Ga., November 26, 1818; completed preparatory studies and in 1840 was graduated from Randolph Macon college; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1841; began practice in Greenville, Ga.; moved to Chambers county, Ala., in 1846 and engaged in farming; defeated for election to the state legislature in 1849 and 1851; elector on the Pierce and King ticket in 1852; elected as a State Rights Democrat to the Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1859); died in September, 1871.

Dowdney, Abraham, a Representative from New York; born in Younghall, Ireland, October 31, 1840; came to New York City with his parents; attended the private schools; builder and contractor; served in the Civil war as captain of the one hundred and thirty-second New York volunteers 1862–1863; chairman of the public school trustees 1882–1885; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); died in New York City December 10, 1886.

Downey, Stephen Wheeler, a Representative from Wyoming; born in Western Port, Md., July 25, 1839; pursued an academic course; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1863; served in the Civil war; moved to the territory of Wyoming in 1869, and practiced law; elected a member of the council of Wyoming territory in 1871, and reelected in 1875 and in 1877; treasurer of the territory for three years, and auditor of the territory; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); died in Denver, Colo., August 3, 1902.

Downing, Charles, a Delegate from Florida; native of Virginia; elected to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841).

Downing, Finis Ewing, a Representative from Illinois; born in Virginia, Cass county, Ill., August 24, 1846; attended the public and private schools of Virginia; engaged in mercantile pursuits 1865–1880; clerk of the circuit court of Cass county in 1880, and served for three terms; read law and was admitted to the bar in December, 1887; engaged in the newspaper business in August, 1891; secretary of the state senate in 1893; presented credentials as a Democratic member-elect to the Fifty-fourth Congress, and served from March 4, 1895, to January 5, 1896, when he was succeeded by John I. Rinaker, who contested his election; after retirement from Congress engaged in the real estate business and the practice of law in Virginia, Ill.

Downs, Solomon W., a Senator from Louisiana; born in Tennessee in 1801; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the Transylvania university; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1826 and began practice in New Orleans in the same year; United States district attorney 1845–1847; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1847, to March 3, 1853; died in Orchard Springs, Ky., August 14, 1854.

Dowse, Edward, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Charlestown, Mass., in October, 1756; elected to the Sixteenth Congress, and served from December 6, 1819, to May 26, 1820, when he resigned; died in Dedham, Mass., September 3, 1828.

Dox, Peter Myndert, a Representative from Alabama; born in Geneva, Ontario county, N. Y., September 11, 1813; attended the Geneva academy and was graduated from Hobart college, Geneva, in 1833; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the state legislature in 1842; judge of the Ontario county courts until he resigned March 18, 1856; moved to Alabama in 1856 and located in Madison county; member of the state constitutional convention in 1865; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1864–March 3, 1873); died in Huntsville, Ala., April 2, 1891.

Digitized by Google

Doxey, Charles T., a Representative from Indiana; was elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Godlove S. Orth, and served from January 17, 1883, to March 3, 1883; died in Anderson, Ind., April 30, 1898.

Drake, Charles Daniel, a Senator from Missouri; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, April 11, 1811; attended St. Josephs college, Bardstown, Ky., 1823–1824, and Partridge's military academy, Middletown, Conn., 1824–1825; appointed midshipman in the United States navy in 1825, and served four years, when he resigned; studied law and was admitted to the bar in Cincinnati in 1833; moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1834; member of the state house of representatives of Missouri in 1859–1860; presidential elector in 1864; member of the state constitutional convention in 1865; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1867, to December 19, 1870, when he resigned to become chief justice of the court of claims; served until January, 1885, when he retired; died in Washington, D. C., March 31, 1892.

Drake, John R., a Representative from New York; born in 1783; completed preparatory studies; held several local offices in Tioga county, N. Y.; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); judge of the court of common pleas for Tioga county 1833–1838; member of the state house of representatives in 1834; died in Oswego, N. Y., March 21, 1857.

Draper, Joseph, a Representative from Virginia; born in Virginia; elected to the Twenty-first Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Alexander Smyth; reelected to the Twenty-second Congress, and served from December 6, 1830, to March 2, 1833.

Draper, William Franklin, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Lowell, Mass., April 9, 1842; attended public, private, and high schools; studied mechanical engineering and cotton manufacture; served in the Civil war; enlisted as a private in the twenty-fifth Massachusetts infantry September 9, 1861; second lieutenant October 7, 1861; first lieutenant April 15, 1862; captain of the thirty-sixth Massachusetts infantry August 27, 1862; major September 1, 1863; lieutenant colonel August 9, 1864; brevet colonel and brigadier general of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious service in the field during the war;" mustered out October 12, 1864; was shot through the body at the battle of the Wilderness, May 6, 1864, and again slightly wounded at Pegram Farm, September 30, 1864; manufacturer of cotton machinery, and made and patented many improvements; president of the Home Market club in 1891 and 1892; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1876; colonel on staff of Gov. Long from 1880–1883; chosen presidential elector at large in 1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); ambassador and minister plenipotentiary to Italy 1897–1899; died in Washington, D. C., January 10, 1910.

Draper, William H., a Representative from New York; born in Worcester county, Mass., June 24, 1841; moved to Troy, N. Y., in 1847; attended the public schools until 1856 and then entered a mercantile career; trustee of the village of Lansingburg; commissioner of jurors for Rensselaer county 1896–1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Drayton, William, a Representative from South Carolina; born in St. Augustine, Fla., December 30, 1776; attended preparatory schools in England; studied law and was admitted to the bar December 12, 1797; entered the United States army as lieutenant colonel of the tenth infantry March 12, 1812; colonel of the eighteenth infantry July, 1812; inspector general August 1, 1814; served through the war; recorder of Charleston 1819–1824; elected as a Union Democrat to the Nineteenth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Joel R. Poinsett; reelected to the Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1833); opposed nullification in 1830, and moved to Philadelphia, Pa., in August, 1833; president of the bank of the United States 1840–1841; died in Philadelphia, Pa., May 24, 1846.

Drayton, William Henry, a Delegate from South Carolina; born in Drayton Hall, on Ashley River, S. C., in September, 1742; pursued classical studies; attended Westminster school and Balliol college, Oxford, England; returned to South Carolina in 1764; studied law and was admitted to the bar; visited England again in 1770 and was appointed by King George III privy councilor for the province of South Carolina; while on his way home was appointed assistant judge, but took such an active part in the pre-Revolutionary movement that he was deprived of both positions; president of the council of safety in 1775, and in 1776 chief justice; elected to the Continental Congress in 1778, and served until his death in Philadelphia, Pa., September 3, 1779.

Dresser, Solomon Robert, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Litchfield, Hillsdale county, Mich., February 1, 1842; attended the common schools; an inventor and manufacturer; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907); died in Bradford, Pa., January 21, 1911.

Driggs, Edmund Hope, a Representative from New York; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., May 2, 1865; attended the Adelphi college, Brooklyn; general agent for the National Surety and Casualty company of America; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Francis H. Wilson; reelected to the Fifty-sixth Congress and served from December 6, 1897 to March 3, 1901; defeated for the Fifty-seventh Congress; after retirement from Congress resumed his residence in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Driggs, John Fletcher, a Representative from Michigan; born in Kinderhook, N. Y., March 8, 1813; completed preparatory studies; contractor; superintendent of the New York penitentiary in 1844; moved to Michigan in 1856; engaged in the real estate business and salt manufacturing; member of the state legislature 1859–1860; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1869); died in East Saginaw, Mich., December 17, 1877.

Digitized by Google

Driscoll, Daniel A., a Representative from New York; born in Buffalo, N. Y., March 6, 1875; completed academic studies and a business course; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Driscoll, Michael Edward, a Representative from New York; born in Syracuse, N. Y., February 9, 1851; when about one year old his parents moved to the town of Camillus, Onondaga county; attended the district schools, Monro collegiate institute, in Elbridge, Onondaga county, and was graduated from Williams college in 1877; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Dromgoole, George Coke, a Representative from Virginia; born in Lawrenceville, Brunswick county, Va., about 1795; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served several years as a member of the state house of representatives and senate; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1841); declined being a candidate for reelection; elected to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); died April 27, 1847.

Drum, Augustus, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Indiana, Pa., in 1818; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in his native city; member of the state senate; resumed the practice of law; died in Indiana, Pa., September 15, 1858; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855).

Dryden, John Fairfield, a Senator from New Jersey; born near Farmington, Me., August 7, 1839; moved with his parents to Massachusetts; fitted for college in Worcester, Mass., and entered Yale university, and was graduated with the class of 1865; made a special study of life insurance, and in 1875, in Newark, N. J., originated and founded the Prudential insurance company of America, becoming its first secretary and in 1881 its president; one of the founders of the Fidelity trust company; identified with the management of various street railways, banks, and other financial enterprises of New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania; presidential elector in 1896 and 1900; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William J. Sewell, and served from January 29, 1902, to March 3, 1907; died in Newark, N. J., November 24, 1911.

Duane, James, a Delegate from New York; born in New York, February 6, 1733; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar August 3, 1754; sat in the Continental Congress 1774–1784; clerk of the court of chancery 1762–1776; member of the revolutionary committee of one hundred 1775; delegate to the Annapolis convention of 1786; member of the state senate 1783–1784; the first mayor of New York City 1784; delegate to the state convention to consider the Federal constitution in 1788; United States district judge for the district of New York 1789–1794; died in Duanesburg, Schnectady county, N. Y., February 1, 1797.

Dubois, Fred Thomas, a Delegate and a Senator from Idaho; born in Crawford county, Ill., May 29, 1851; attended the public school and was graduated from Yale college in 1872; secretary of the board of railway and warehouse commissioners of Illinois 1875–1876; went to Idaho territory in 1880 and engaged in business; United States marshal of Idaho from August 25, 1882, until September 1, 1886; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891), having secured the admission of the territory to the Union on July 3, 1890; chairman of the first delegation from the new state to the Republican national convention held in Minneapolis, Minn., in June, 1892; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate December 18, 1890, and served from March 4, 1891, to March 3, 1897; chairman of the Republican delegation from Idaho to the national Republican convention in St. Louis in 1896, and left the convention and the party when they declared for the single gold standard; candidate of the Silver Republicans of Idaho for reelection to the Senate in 1896, and beaten by the combined votes of the Democrats, Populists, and Republicans; nominated in state convention in 1900 by the Democrats, Populists, and Silver Republicans, being classed as a Silver Republican, and again elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1901, to March 3, 1907; after retirement from Congress took up his residence in Blackfoot, Idaho.

Du Bose, Dudley McIver, a Representative from Georgia; born in Shelby county, Tenn., October 28, 1834; attended the University of Mississippi; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served in the Confederate army as brigadier general; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died in Washington, D. C., March 4, 1883.

Dudley, Charles Edward, a Senator from New York; born in Johnston Hall, Staffordshire, England, May 23, 1780; came to America with his mother in 1794 and located in Newport, R. I.; entered a counting room as clerk; moved to Albany, N. Y., where he became a merchant; presidential elector in 1816; member of the state senate 1820–1825; mayor of Albany 1821–1824, and 1828–1829; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Martin Van Buren and served from January 15, 1829, to March 3, 1833; interested in astronomical science; died in Albany, N. Y., January 23, 1841.

Dudley, Edward Bishop, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Onslow county, N. C., December 15, 1789; attended the common schools; member of the state house of commons 1811–1817; served in the state senate in 1814; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); governor of North Carolina 1837–1841; president of the Wilmington and Raleigh railroad company; died in Wilmington, N. C., October 30, 1855.

Duell, Robert Holland, a Representative from New York; born in Warren, N. Y., December 20, 1824; completed preparatory studies; studied law; admitted to the bar and practiced; district attorney of Cortland county from 1850 to 1855; judge of Cortland county 1855–1859; assessor of internal revenue for the twenty-third district of New York from 1869 to 1871; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863), reelected to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875).

Digitized by Google

Duer, William, a Delegate from New York; born in Devonshire, England, March 18, 1747; completed preparatory studies, and attended Eaton college; served in the Anglo-Indian army; emigrated to the province of New York in 1768, and located in Washington county, where he was judge, colonel of militia, member of the committee of safety, and leader in the ante-Revolutionary movements; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1777–1778; moved to New York City in 1783; assisted Hamilton in organizing the Treasury Department 1789–1790; died in New York City May 7, 1799.

Duer, William, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, May 25, 1805; completed preparatory studies and was graduated from Columbia college in 1824; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Oswego, N. Y., in 1828; defeated for the legislature in 1832; moved to New York City and thence to New Orleans, La., in 1833; returned to Oswego, N. Y., in 1835; served in the New York state house of representatives 1840–1841; district attorney for Oswego county 1845–1847; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); United States consul in Valparaiso 1851–1854; removed to San Francisco Cal., in 1854; elected county clerk; died in San Francisco, Cal., August 25, 1879.

Dugro, Philip Henry, a Representative from New York; born in New York City October 3, 1855; attended Columbia college, New York; studied law and was graduated from the Columbia college law school; was admitted to the bar; practiced in New York; member of the state assembly in 1879; judge of the superior court of New York City 1887–1896; elected associate justice of the supreme court of New York in 1896, which position he now holds; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883).

Duke, Richard Thomas Walker, a Representative from Virginia; born in Albemarle county, Va., June 6, 1822; was graduated from the Virginia military institute in 1845; was graduated from the law school of the University of Virginia in 1850; elected commonwealth attorney for the county of Albemarle in 1858, and continued in that office until 1869; elected as a Conservative to the Forty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Robert Ridgway; reelected to the Forty-second Congress and served from December 5, 1870, to March 3, 1873; died in "Sunny Side," Albemarle county, Va., July 2, 1898.

Dumont, Ebenezer, a Representative from Indiana; born in Vevay, Ind., November 23, 1814; pursued classical studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Vevay; member of the state house of representatives in 1838; treasurer of Vevay 1839–1845; lieutenant colonel of volunteers in the Mexican war; presidential elector on the Pierce ticket in 1852; member of the state house of representatives in 1850 and 1853; colonel of the seventh Indiana volunteers in the Civil war; promoted to brigadier general of volunteers September 3, 1861; resigned February 28, 1863; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); died in Indianapolis, Ind., April 16, 1871.

Dunbar, William, a Representative from Louisiana; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855).

Duncan, Alexander, a Representative from Ohio; born in Cincinnati, Ohio; studied and practiced medicine; representative in the state legislature 1828–1830 and 1831–1832; state senator 1832–1834; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); defeated as the Whig candidate for the Twenty-seventh Congress; elected to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); died in Cincinnati, Ohio, March 2, 1852.

Duncan, Daniel, a Representative from Ohio; born in Shippensburg, Pa., July 22, 1806; completed preparatory studies; moved to Ohio; became interested in mercantile pursuits; member of the state legislature in 1843; defeated for the state senate on the Whig ticket in 1844; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849), defeated for reelection; died in Washington, D. C., June 18, 1849.

Duncan, Garnett, a Representative from Kentucky; native of Kentucky; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Louisville; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); declined to be a candidate for reelection; moved to New Orleans and resumed the practice of law.

Duncan, James Henry, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Haverhill, Mass., December 5, 1793; was graduated from Harvard college in 1812; studied law, and in 1815 was admitted to the bar; an active militia officer, and attained the rank of colonel; for three years president of the Essex agricultural society; member of the state house of representatives in 1827, 1837, 1838, and 1857; state senator, 1828–1831; appointed commissioner in bankruptcy in 1841; delegate to the national convention at Harrisburg which nominated Harrison and Tyler in 1839; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); died in Haverhill, Mass., February 8, 1869.

Duncan, Joseph, a Representative from Illinois; born in Paris, Bourbon county, Ky., February 22, 1794; pursued classical studies; studied law; lieutenant of United States infantry in the war of 1812, and distinguished himself at the defense of Fort Stephenson; moved to Illinois in 1818 and settled in Kaskaskia; held several local offices; state senator 1824–1826; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses; and served from March 4, 1827, until September 21, 1834, when he resigned; moved to Jacksonville, Ill., in 1829; governor of Illinois 1834–1838; died in Jacksonville, Ill., January 15, 1844.

Duncan, William Addison, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Franklin township, Adams county, Pa., February 2, 1836; was graduated from Franklin and Marshall college, in Lancaster, in 1857; read law, and was admitted to the bar in Gettysburg in 1859; elected district attorney in 1862 and in 1868; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1883, until his death in Gettysburg, Pa., November 14, 1884.

Digitized by Google

Dungan, Irvine, a Representative from Ohio; born in Canonsburg, Washington county, Pa., May 29, 1844; received a collegiate training; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served till the close of the Civil war in the nineteenth Iowa infantry; captured and confined ten months in a military prison; mayor of Jackson, Ohio, in 1869; state senator in 1877; led the Democratic electoral ticket in Ohio in 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); after retirement from Congress practiced law in Jackson, Ohio.

Dunham, Cyrus L., a Representative from Indiana; native of New York; self-educated; moved to Indiana and located in Salem; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives 1846–1847; engaged in agriculture; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first, Thirty-second, and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1855); defeated as a candidate for the Thirty-fourth Congress; again elected a member of the state house of representatives; died in Valley Farm, Ind., October 15, 1856.

Dunham, Ransom Williams, a Representative from Illinois; born in Savoy, Mass., March 21 1838; attended the common schools, closing at the high school in Springfield, Mass.; engaged in the office of the Massachusetts Mutual life insurance company from August, 1855, to August, 1860; moved to Chicago April 1, 1857; grain and provision commission merchant; president of the board of trade of Chicago in 1882; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1889); died in Springfield, Mass., August 19, 1896.

Dunlap, George Washington, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Fayette county, Ky., February 22, 1813; was graduated from Transylvania university in 1834; studied law and was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Lancaster, Ky.; commissioner of the circuit court 1843–1874; member of the state house of representatives in 1853; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); presidential elector on the McClellan and Pendleton ticket in 1864; died in Lancaster, Garrard county, Ky., June 6, 1880.

Dunlap, Robert Pinckney, a Representative from Maine; born in Brunswick, Me., August 17, 1794; was graduated from Bowdoin college in 1815; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1818; began practice in Brunswick, Me.; member of the state house of representatives 1821–1823, and of the state senate 1823–1832; president of the state senate four years; an executive councilor in 1833; governor of Maine 1834–1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); collector of customs in Portland, Me., 1848–1849; president of the board of overseers of Bowdoin college; died in Brunswick, Me., October 20, 1859.

Dunlap, William C., a Representative from Tennessee; a native of Tennessee; elected to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); moved to Texas in 1838; minister to Mexico in 1839.

Dunn, George G., a Representative from Indiana; born in 1813; completed preparatory studies; studied law; admitted to the bar and began practice in Bedford, Ind.; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849), reelected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); died in Bedford, Ind., September 4, 1857.

Dunn, George Hebford, a Representative from Indiana; resided in Lawrenceburg, Ind.; member of the state legislature 1828, 1832, 1833; treasurer of state 1841–1844; defeated as the Whig candidate for Congress in 1835; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); defeated for the Twenty-sixth Congress; died in Lawrenceburg, Ind., January 12, 1854.

Dunn, John Thomas, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Tipperary, Ireland, June 4, 1838, and moved with his father to New Jersey; completed elementary studies at home; studied law and was admitted to the bar; engaged in business in 1862 and acquired a competency; elected alderman of Elizabeth, N. J., in 1878; four times elected to the legislature of New Jersey; speaker of the house in 1882; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law; died in Elizabeth, N. J., February 22, 1907.

Dunn, Poindexter, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Wake county, N. C., November 3, 1834; moved with his father to Limestone county, Ala., in 1837; attended the county schools, four years in Jackson college in Columbia, Tenn., where he was graduated in 1854; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to St. Francis county, Ark., in March, 1856; engaged in cotton growing until 1861; elected to the lower house of the state legislature as a Democrat in 1858; served in the Confederate army during the war; commenced the practice of law in 1867; on the Democratic electoral ticket for Arkansas in 1872 and 1876; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1889); after retirement from Congress settled in Texarkana, Ark.

Dunn, William McKee, a Representative from Indiana; born in Indiana Territory, December 12, 1814; was graduated from the Indiana state college in 1832, and from Yale college in 1835; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the state house of representatives in 1848; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1850; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); defeated for the Thirty-eighth Congress; appointed assistant judge advocate general of the United States army, and December, 1875, promoted to judge advocate general; died in Maplewood, Fairfax county, Va., July 24, 1887.

Dunnell, Mark Hill, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Buxton, Me., July 2, 1823; was graduated from Colby university, Maine, in 1849; for five years principal of Norway and Hebron academies; member of the Maine house of representatives in 1854, and of the state senate in 1855; during the years 1855, 1857, 1858, and 1859 was state superintendent of common schools; delegate to the national Republican convention at Philadelphia in 1856; commenced the practice of law in Portland, Me., in 1860; entered the Union army as colonel of the fifth Maine infantry in 1861; United States consul in Veracruz, Mexico, in 1862; in January, 1865, became a citizen of Minnesota; member of the Minnesota house of representatives in 1867; state superintendent of public instruction from April, 1867, to August, 1870; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1883), reelected to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); located in Washington, D. C.; died in Owatonna, Minn., August 9, 1904.

Digitized by Google

Dunphy, Edward J., a Representative from New York; born in New York City May 12, 1856; attended the public schools of his native city, and in 1871 began a collegiate course at Mount St. Mary's college, in Emmitsburg, Md., studied law and was admitted to the bar; connected with the law department of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad company; elected as a Tammany Democrat to the Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in New York City.

Dunwell, Charles Tappan, a Representative from New York; born in Newark, Wayne county, N. Y., February 13, 1852; removed with his parents to Lyons, Wayne county, N. Y., in 1854; attended the Lyons Union school; entered Cornell university in the class of 1873; at the close of his junior year entered Columbia college law school in the city of New York, where he was graduated in 1874 with the degree of LL. B.; admitted to the bar of New York state in May, 1874; practiced law for many years in New York City; general agent for the New York Life Insurance company in 1889; defeated for comptroller of the city of Brooklyn in 1890; member of the New York Republican state committee, 1891–1892; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1903, until his death, in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 12, 1908.

du Pont, Henry Algernon, a Senator from Delaware; born in Eleutherean Mills, Newcastle county, Del., July 30, 1838; attended private schools; entered the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia in 1855, where he spent a year in the sophomore and junior classes; was graduated from the United States military academy May 6, 1861; commissioned second lieutenant, corps of engineers; first lieutenant, fifth regiment United States artillery, May 14, 1861; adjutant July 6, 1861, to March 24, 1864; captain March 24, 1864; brevet major September 19, 1864, "for gallant services at the battles of Opequan and Fishers Hill, Va.;" lieutenant colonel October 19, 1864, "for distinguished service at the battle of Cedar Creek, Va.;" awarded a medal of honor March 22, 1898, "for gallant conduct" at the last-named battle (October 19, 1864), "while chief of artillery, army of West Virginia, by his brave bearing, most distinguished gallantry, and voluntary exposure to the enemy's guns at a critical moment, when the Union line had been broken and defeated, he encouraged his men to stand to their guns, checked the advance of the enemy, and brought off the most of his guns;" resigned March 1, 1875; was president and general manager of the Wilmington and Northern railroad company from 1879 to 1899; retired from active business and engaged in agricultural pursuits; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate June 13, 1906, to serve the unexpired portion of the term beginning March 4, 1905; took his seat December 3, 1906; reelected for the term beginning March 4, 1911.

Dupre, Henry Garland, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Opelousas, St. Landry parish, La., July 28, 1873; attended the public schools of Opelousas, and was graduated in 1892 from Tulane University of Louisiana, New Orleans, in 1892; subsequently received the degree of bachelor of laws from the same institution; began the practice of law in New Orleans in 1895; assistant city attorney of New Orleans 1900–1910; member of the house of representatives of Louisiana in 1900; reelected in 1904 and in 1908, when he was chosen speaker; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress on November 8, 1910, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Samuel L. Gilmore, and served from December 5, 1910, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Durand, George Harman, a Representative from Michigan; born in Cobleskill, N. Y., February 21, 1838; moved to Flint, Mich., in 1858; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected mayor of Flint in 1873, and reelected in 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); temporarily appointed justice of the supreme court of Michigan in 1902; died in Flint, Mich., June 8, 1903.

Durborow, Allan Cathcart, jr., a Representative from Illinois; born in Philadelphia, Pa., November 10, 1857; moved with his parents to Williamsport, Ind., where he received his early schooling; entered Wabash college, Crawfordsville, Ind., in the fall of 1872; was graduated from the University of Indiana, Bloomington, in 1877; after residing in Indianapolis moved to Chicago; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); defeated for the Fifty-eighth Congress; engaged in the insurance business in Chicago; died in Chicago, Ill., March 8, 1908.

Durell, Daniel Meserve, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Lee, N. H., July 20, 1769; was graduated from Dartmouth in 1794; studied law with Henry Mellen in Dover, N. H., and was admitted to the bar in 1797; practiced in Dover; elected to the Tenth Congress (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1809); member of the state legislature in 1816; chief justice of the district court of common pleas 1816–1821; United States attorney, district of New Hampshire, 1830–1834; died in Dover, N. H., April 29, 1841.

Durey, Cyrus, a Representative from New York; born in Caroga, Fulton county, N. Y., May 16, 1864; attended the common schools and Johnstown academy; president and acting manager of Caroga Lumber company, engaged in lumbering; was supervisor's clerk, supervisor; postmaster of Johnstown 1898–1906; member of the Republican state committee 1904–1906; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911); collector of internal revenue in Johnstown, N. Y.

Durfee, Job, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Tiverton, R. I., September 20, 1790; was graduated from Brown university in 1813; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Tiverton; member of the state house of representatives 1813–1819 and 1827–1829; elected as the People's candidate to the Seventeenth Congress and as a Democrat to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1825); defeated for the Nineteenth and Twenty-first Congresses; resumed the practice of law; elected associate and chief justice of the Rhode Island supreme court; died in Tiverton, R. I., July 26, 1847.

Digitized by Google

Durfee, Nathaniel Briggs, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Tiverton, R. I., September 29, 1812; completed preparatory studies; engaged in agricultural pursuits; member of the Rhode Island assembly for eleven years; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress and as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1855-March 3, 1859); died in Tiverton, R. I., November 12, 1872.

Durham, Milton Jameson, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Mercer county (now Boyle county), Ky., May 16, 1824; was grdauted from Asbury university, Indiana, in 1844; studied law and was graduated in 1850 from the Louisville law school; one of the circuit judges of Kentucky in 1861 and 1862; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1873-March 3, 1879); resumed the practice of law in Danville, Ky.; died in Lexington, Ky., February 12, 1911.

Durkee, Charles, a Representative and a Senator from Wisconsin; born in Royalton, Vt., December 10, 1805; completed preparatory studies; moved to Wisconsin; member of the territorial legislature in 1836 and 1838; elected as a Free Soiler to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849-March 3, 1853); delegate to the World's peace convention in Paris; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1855, to March 3, 1861; appointed governor of Utah in 1865, and served until failing health compelled him to resign; died in Omaha, Nebr., January 14, 1870.

Duval, Gabriel, a Representative from Maryland; born in Prince George county, Md., December 6, 1752; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected as a Democrat to the Third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John F. Mercer; reelected to the Fourth Congress, and served from November 11, 1794, to March 28, 1796, when he resigned; elected judge of the supreme court of Maryland; appointed comptroller of the currency in December, 1802, and resigned November 18, 1811, having been appointed a justice of the supreme court of the United States; resigned in 1836 on account of deafness; died in Prince George county, Md., March 6, 1844.

Duval, Isaac Harding, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Wellsburg, Brooke county, Va. (now West Virginia), September 1, 1824; completed preparatory studies; entered the United States volunteer service June 1, 1861, as major of the first West Virginia infantry; promoted to the colonelcy of the ninth West Virginia infantry September 6, 1862; promoted to brigadier general October 20, 1864, and subsequently to major general by brevet; served two years in the West Virginia state senate; adjutant general of the state two years; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869-March 3, 1871); died in Wellsburg, W. Va., July 10, 1902.

Duval, William P., a Representative from Kentucky; born in 1784; completed preparatory studies; moved to Kentucky; studied law and was admitted to the bar; during the Indian hostilities of 1812 commanded a company of mounted volunteers; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813-March 3, 1815); resumed practice in Bardstown, Ky.; appointed United States judge for the district of Florida; governor of Florida under Presidents Monroe, Adams, and Jackson, serving from 1822 to 1834; moved to Texas in 1848; died in Washington, D. C., March 19, 1854.

Dwight, Henry Williams, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Stockbridge, Mass., February 26, 1788; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1809, and began practice in Stockbridge; member of the state legislature in 1818; elected to the Seventeenth and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1821-March 3, 1831); died in New York City February 21, 1845.

Dwight, Jeremiah Wilber, a Representative from New York; born in Cincinnatus, Cortland county, N. Y., April 17, 1819; reared as a farmer and mechanic; attended the district schools and a village high school; engaged in mercantile pursuits, in farming, real estate, and in the manufacture and sale of lumber; elected supervisor of the town of Dryden in 1857-1858; chairman of the board; member of the state assembly in 1860-1861; appointed by Gov. Morgan a member of the senatorial district war committee in 1861; delegate to the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1868; director, member of executive committee, and vice president of the Southern Central railroad for many years; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877-March 3, 1883); died in Dryden, N. Y., November 26, 1885.

Dwight, John Wilbur, a Representative from New York; born in Dryden, N. Y., May 24, 1859; attended the high school at his home, and the military school in New Haven, Conn.; delegate to the Republican national conventions in 1888, 1892, 1900, and 1908; engaged in the banking business in Ithaca, N. Y.; president of land company in North Dakota, 1885-1890, operating wheat farm 12,000 acres; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George W. Ray; reelected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from December 1, 1902, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Dwight, Theodore, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Northampton, Mass., December 15, 1764; completed preparatory studies; studied law; was admitted to the bar and began practice in Hartford, Conn.; served several years in the state senate; elected as a Federalist to the Ninth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Cotton Smith; served from December 1, 1806, to March 3, 1807; editor of the Hartford Mirror; secretary of the Hartford convention; moved to Albany in 1815; published the Albany Daily Advertiser; moved to New York in 1817 and established the New York Daily Advertiser, with which he was connected until the great fire of 1835; returned to Hartford; died in New York City June 12, 1846.

Dwight, Thomas, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Springfield, Mass., October 29, 1758; was graduated from Harvard college in 1778; member of the state legislature 1794-1795; served in the state senate 1796-1803 and 1813; member of the governor's council 1808-1809; elected to the Eighth Congress (March 4, 1803-March 3, 1805); died in Springfield, Mass., January 2, 1819.

Dwinell, Justin, a Representative from New York; born in Shaftsbury, Vt., October 28, 1785; was graduated from Yale college in 1805; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1811, and began practice in Cazenovia, N. Y., September, 1811; member of the state house of representatives in 1821–1822; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825); judge of common pleas of Madison county, N. Y., 1823–1833; district attorney in 1837–1845; died in Cazenovia, N. Y., September 17, 1850.

Digitized by Google

Dyer, David Patterson, a Representative from Missouri; born in Henry county, Va., February 12, 1838; in 1841 moved to Lincoln county, Mo.; completed preparatory studies; studied law in Bowling Green, Pike county, Mo., and was admitted to the bar in March, 1859; elected prosecuting attorney for the third judicial circuit in 1860; member of the legislature 1862–1865; recruited and commanded the forty-ninth regiment Missouri volunteer infantry during the Civil war; secretary of the state senate in 1866; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1868; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); was appointed United States attorney for the eastern district of Missouri in 1898.

Dyer, Eliphalet, a Delegate from Connecticut; born in Windham, Conn., September 28, 1721; was graduated from Yale college in 1740; studied law and was admitted to the bar; representative to the general court 1743–1762; appointed in 1755 colonel of a regiment of Connecticut volunteers raised for the conquest of Canada; delegate to the stamp-act congress in 1765; appointed judge of the state supreme court in 1766; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1774–1779 and 1780–1783; chief justice of the supreme court of Connecticut 1789–1793; died in Windham, Conn., May 13, 1807.

Eager, Samuel Watkins, a Representative from New York; born in Neelytown, Orange county, N. Y., April 8, 1789; was graduated from Princeton college in 1809; elected to the Twenty-first Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Hector Craig, and served from December 6, 1830, to March 3, 1831; died in Newburgh, N. Y., December 23, 1860.

Eames, Benjamin Tucker, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Dedham, Mass., June 4, 1818; was graduated from Yale college in 1843; studied law, and in 1845 was admitted to the bar and began practice in Providence, R. I.; delegate to the Republican national convention at Chicago, 1860, which nominated Abraham Lincoln; member of the house of representatives in the general assembly in 1868–1869; speaker of the house of representatives in 1869; member of the state senate in 1854, 1855, 1856, 1859, and 1863; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second, Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1879); died in East Greenwich, R. I., October 6, 1901.

Earl, Nehemiah H., a Representative from New York; born in Onondaga county, N. Y.; attended the public schools; county judge 1823–1831; superintendent of the Onondaga salt springs 1831–1836; resided in Syracuse, N. Y.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841).

Earle, Elias, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Frederick county, Va., June 19, 1762; moved to South Carolina in September, 1787; elected as a Democrat to the Ninth Congress (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1807); reelected to the Twelfth and Thirteenth Congresses (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1815); again elected to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1821); died in Centerville, S. C., May 19, 1823.

Earle, John Baylis, a Representive from South Carolina; born in South Carolina, October 23, 1766; completed preparatory studies; elected to the Eighth Congress (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1805); adjutant and inspector general of South Carolina, 1805; served through the war of 1812; died in Anderson county, S. C., February 3, 1863.

Earle, Joseph Haynsworth, a Senator from South Carolina; born in Greenville, S. C., April 30, 1847; attended the high schools at that place until he entered the service of the Confederacy; after the war was graduated from Furman university, Greenville, S. C.; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1870; elected to the legislature in 1878, and in 1882 elected to the state senate; delegate to the national Democratic conventions in 1880 and 1884; elected attorney general of South Carolina in 1886 and reelected to same office in 1888; elected circuit judge in 1894; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate on January 27, 1897, and served from March 4, 1897, until his death May 20, 1897.

Earle, Samuel, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Frederick county, Va., November 28, 1760; went to South Carolina in 1774; participated in the Revolutionary war, entering the service as an ensign in 1777 and leaving as captain of a company of rangers in 1782; representative in the state legislature 1784–1788; delegate in the state convention that ratified the Federal constitution, May 12, 1788; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1790; elected to the Fourth Congress (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1797); died in Pendleton district, S. C., November 24, 1833.

Earll, Jonas, jr., a Representative from New York; born in 1786; resided in Onondaga county, N. Y., and attended the common schools; sheriff of Onondaga county 1815–1819; member of the state house of representatives 1820–1821; served in the state senate from January, 1823, to January, 1827; elected as a Democrat to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); elected a canal commissioner, and served from January, 1832, to February, 1840, and from February 8, 1842, until his death in Syracuse, October 11, 1846.

Early, Peter, a Representative from Georgia; born in Madison county, Va., June 20, 1773; was graduated from Princeton college in 1792; studied law in Philadelphia, Pa.; was admitted to the bar and began practice in Greene county, Ga., in 1795; elected to the Seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Milledge; reelected to the Eighth and Ninth Congresses and served from January 10, 1803, to March 3, 1807; judge of the superior courts 1807–1813; governor 1813–1815; member of the state senate; died near Greensboro, Greene county, Ga., August 15, 1817.

Easterbrook, Experience, a Delegate from Nebraska territory; born in Lebanon, N. H., April 30, 1813; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Geneva, Wis., in 1840; delegate to the second state constitutional convention; member of the state house of representatives in 1851; attorney general in 1852; moved to Nebraska territory and served as district attorney 1854–1859; presented credentials as a Delegate-elect to the Thirty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1859, to May 18, 1860, when he was succeeded by Samuel G. Daily, who contested his election; moved to Chicago, Ill., in 1894; died in Omaha, Nebr., March 26, 1894.

Digitized by Google

Eastman, Ben C., a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Strong, Me., October 24, 1812; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practised in his native state and New York City; moved to Platteville, Wis., in 1840; secretary of the legislative council of Wisconsin territory 1843–1846; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); died in Platteville, Wis., February 2, 1856.

Eastman, Ira Allen, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Gilmanton, N. H., January 1, 1809; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1829; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Gilmanton; served several years as member of the state house of representatives and state senate; served as speaker of the house 1837–1839; register of probate; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); judge of the common pleas, superior, and supreme courts 1844–1859; died in Manchester, N. H., March 21, 1881.

Eastman, Nehemiah, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Gilmanton, N. H., June 16, 1782; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Farmington, N. H., in 1807; elected to the state house of representatives in 1813; member of the state senate 1820–1825; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); died in Farmington, N. H., January 11, 1856.

Easton, Rufus, a Delegate from Missouri Territory; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses, and was seated in the latter January 13, 1817, after contesting the election of John Scott, and served from November 16, 1814, to March 3, 1815, and from January 13, 1817, to March 3, 1817.

Eaton, John Henry, a Senator from Tennessee; born in Tennessee in 1800; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; practiced in Nashville; elected to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George W. Campbell; reelected, and served from September 5, 1818, to March 9, 1829, when he resigned; appointed Secretary of War by President Jackson; resigned June 18, 1831; governor of Florida 1834–1836; minister to Spain 1836–1840; died in Washington, D. C., November 17, 1856.

Eaton, Lewis, a Representative from New York; native of that state; sheriff of Schoharie county in 1821 and 1822; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825); member of the state senate January, 1829, to January, 1833.

Eaton, William Wallace, a Senator and a Representative from Connecticut; born in Tolland, Conn., October 11, 1816; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1837; served in the state senate; clerk of the superior and supreme courts of Tolland and Hartford counties; served four years as recorder of Hartford county; member of the state house of representatives in 1847, 1848, 1853, 1863, 1868, 1870, 1871, 1873, and 1874; speaker of the house 1853 and 1873; member of the state senate of Connecticut in 1850; appointed to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of William A. Buckingham; subsequently elected to fill the vacancy, and served from February 5, 1875, to March 3, 1881; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Hartford, Conn., September 21, 1898.

Eckert, George N., a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849).

Eckley, Ephraim Ralph, a Representative from Ohio; born in Jefferson county, Ohio, December 9, 1841; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Carrollton, Ohio, in 1837; member of the state senate of Ohio in 1843, 1846, 1849–1850; member of the house of representatives in 1853; served in the Union army as colonel of the twenty-sixth Ohio volunteers and of the eightieth Ohio volunteers; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1869); resumed the practice of law in Carrollton, Ohio, and died there March 27, 1908.

Eddy, Frank Marion, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Pleasant Grove, Minn., April 1, 1856; attended and taught school until 1882; in the employ of the Northern Pacific railroad as a land examiner; clerk of the district court of Pope county in 1884; first Representative from Minnesota who was a native of that state; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1903); declined a renomination; member of the Minnesota immigration bureau, and resides in Sauk Center, Minn.

Eddy, Norman, a Representative from Indiana; born in Scipio, N. Y., December 10, 1810; was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1835; went to Indiana and located in Mishawaka and practiced medicine there until 1847; studied law, moved to South Bend, Ind., in 1847 and practiced law; state senator in 1850; held several local offices; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); defeated for reelection; colonel of the forty-eighth Indiana regiment of volunteers during the Civil war; collector of internal revenue 1865–1870; elected secretary of state in 1870; died in Indianapolis, Ind., January 28, 1872.

Eddy, Samuel, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Johnston, R. I., March 31, 1769; completed preparatory studies; was graduated from Brown university in 1787; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1790; practiced a short time in Providence; clerk of the supreme court 1790–1793; secretary of state 1798–1819; elected as a Democrat to the Sixteenth, Seventeenth, and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1825); defeated for the Nineteenth and Twenty-first Congresses; associate justice of the state supreme court 1826–1827, and served as chief justice of Rhode Island 1827–1835; died in Providence, R. I., February 2, 1839.

Digitized by Google

Eden, John Rice, a Representative from Illinois; born in Bath county, Ky., February 1, 1826; moved with his parents to Indiana; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Sullivan, Ill.; state attorney for the seventeenth judicial district of Illinois 1856–1860; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); was the Democratic nominee for governor of Illinois in 1868; reelected to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1879); again elected to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); after leaving Congress resumed the practice of law in Sullivan, Ill., and died there, June 9, 1909.

Edgerton, Alfred Peck, a Representative from Ohio; born in Plattsburg, N. Y., January 11, 1813; moved with his parents to Hicksville, Ohio; pursued an academic course; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); chairman United States civil service commission 1885; died in Hicksville, Ohio, May 14, 1897.

Edgerton, Alonzo Jay, a Senator from Minnesota; born in Rome, N. Y., June 7, 1827; was graduated from Wesleyan university in 1850; settled at Mantorville, Minn., in 1855; studied law and was admitted to the bar; captain in the tenth Minnesota volunteer regiment during the Civil war and brevetted brigadier general; removed to Kasson, Minn., in 1878; state senator in 1859 and again in 1877–78; appointed to the United States Senate to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William Windom, and served from March 12, 1881, to October 26, 1881; died in Sioux Falls, S. Dak., August 9, 1896.

Edgerton, Joseph Ketchum, a Representative from Indiana; born in Vergennes, Vt., February 16, 1818; attended the public schools of Clinton county, N. Y.; studied law in Plattsburg and was admitted to the bar in New York City in 1839; moved to Fort Wayne, Ind., in 1854; became president of the Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); defeated for reelection; died in Boston, Mass., August 25, 1893.

Edgerton, Sidney, a Representative from Ohio; born in Cazenovia, N. Y., August 17, 1818; received a limited schooling; moved to Ohio in 1864; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Talmadge, Ohio; for four years prosecuting attorney for Summit county; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); appointed United States judge for the territory of Idaho in 1864, and governor of Montana 1865–1866; resumed the practice of law; died in Akron, Ohio, July 19, 1900.

Edie, John Rufus, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Gettysburg, Pa., January 14, 1814; attended the public schools; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); served as lieutenant during Civil war; died in Somerset, Pa., August 27, 1888.

Edmands, John Wiley, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., March 1, 1809; completed preparatory studies; member of the firm of Abbott & Amos Lawrence, Boston, from which he retired in 1843; interested in woolen mills in Dedham, Mass., and the Pacific Mills company in Lawrence, Mass., with residence in Newton; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); declined to be a candidate for reelection; treasurer of the Pacific mills at Lawrence in 1855; presidential elector on the Grant and Colfax ticket in 1868; died in Newton, Mass., January 31, 1877.

Edmond, William, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Southbury, Conn., September 28, 1755; was graduated from Yale college in 1777; wounded at the battle of Danbury while serving in the Revolutionary army; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1780; began practice in Newtown, Conn.; member of the state house of representatives; judge of the state supreme court; elected as a Federalist to the Fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Davenport; reelected to the Sixth Congress and served from November 13, 1797, to March 3, 1801; died in Newtown, Conn., August 1, 1838.

Edmunds, George Franklin, a Senator from Vermont; born in Richmond, Vt., February 1, 1828; attended the public schools and received instructions from a private tutor; studied law in Burlington, Vt., and was admitted to the bar in 1849 and practiced; member of the state legislature of Vermont in 1854, 1855, 1857, 1858, and 1859; served three years as speaker; a member of the state senate, and its presiding officer pro tempore in 1861–1862; appointed as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Solomon Foot; subsequently elected to fill the vacancy and four times reelected, and served from April 3, 1866, to November 1, 1891, when he resigned; president of the Senate pro tempore March 3, 1883, to March 3, 1885; member of the electoral commission of 1876; after leaving the United States Senate he located in Philadelphia, Pa., where he resumed the practice of law.

Edmunds, Paul Carrington, a Representative from Virginia; born in Halifax county, Va., November 1, 1836; trained by a private tutor; attended the University of Virginia and was graduated in law from William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va.; was admitted to the bar; practiced in Jefferson City, Mo.; returned to Virginia in 1858; engaged in agriculture on his farm in Halifax county; elected to the senate of Virginia in 1881, and served four terms; reelected in 1884; delegate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1895); died in Houston, Halifax county, Va., March 12, 1899.

Edmundston, Henry Alonzo, a Representative from Virginia; born in Blacksburg, Montgomery county, Va., June 8, 1814; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar and began practice in Salem; elected to the Thirty-first, Thirty-second, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1861); died in his home in Falling Waters, Montgomery county, Va., December 16, 1890.

Edsall, Joseph E., a Representative from New Jersey; born in Sussex county, N. J.; attended the common schools, elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849).

Digitized by Google

Edwards, Benjamin, a Representative from Maryland; born in Stafford county, Va., in 1752; attended the common schools; member of the state legislature; delegate to the state convention which ratified the Federal Constitution; elected to the Third Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Uriah Forrest, and served from January 2, 1795, to March 3, 1795; moved to Todd county, Ky., and died there November 13, 1826.

Edwards, Caldwell, a Representative from Montana; born in Sag Harbor, N. Y., January 8, 1841; attended the district schools; salesman and bookkeeper in dry goods stores; moved to Montana in the summer of 1864; located on a farm that fall; three times elected a member of the territorial legislature; elected on a fusion ticket to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1903).

Edwards, Charles Gordon, a Representative from Georgia; born in Tattnall county, Ga., July 2, 1878; attended the county schools, Gordon institute, Barnesville, Ga., and the agricultural college of Lake City, Fla.; was graduated from the University of Georgia, law department, in June, 1898; was admitted to the bar; practiced in Reidsville and Savannah; engaged also in numerous industries and in banking; member of the Georgia state militia for several years; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Edwards, Don Calvin, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Appanoose county, Iowa, July 13, 1861; attended the common schools of Iowa and Kansas, and the University of Holton, Kans.; located in Laurel county, Ky., in 1892; engaged in manufacturing and the wholesale lumber business; clerk and master commissioner of the Laurel circuit court from 1898 to 1904; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911); defeated for reelection to the Sixty-second Congress; resumed the lumber and wholesale groceries business in London, Ky.

Edwards, Francis Smith, a Representative from New York; born in Windsor, Broome county, N. Y., May 28, 1817; completed preparatory studies attended Hamilton college but did not graduate; studied law, was admitted to the bar, May 20, 1840, and began practice in Fredonia, Chautauqua county, N. Y.; appointed master and examiner in chancery for Chenango county in 1842; appointed special county surrogate of Chautauqua county in 1853, and served until November 1, 1855; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress, and served from March 4, 1855, to February 28, 1857, when he resigned; defeated for reelection to the Thirty-fifth Congress; located in Dunkirk, N. Y., in 1859; city attorney for nine years; elected police justice in 1895 and served until ten days before his death; died in Dunkirk, N. Y., May 20, 1899.

Edwards, Henry Waggaman, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in New Haven, Conn., in October, 1779; was graduated from Princeton college in 1797; studied law at the Litchfield law school; admitted to the bar and began practice in New Haven, Conn.; elected as a Democrat to the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Congresses (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1823); appointed to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of Elijah Boardman; subsequently elected and served from October 8, 1823, to March 3, 1827; member of the state house of representatives in 1830, served as speaker, and again 1835–1838; died in New Haven, Conn., July 22, 1847.

Edwards, John, a Senator from Kentucky; born in Stafford county, Va., in 1755; moved to Fayette county, Ky., in 1780; member of the state house of representatives 1781–1783 and 1785; delegate to the state convention to ratify the Federal Constitution, June 26, 1788; a delegate in the eight conventions called to define the limits of the new state of Kentucky 1785–1788, and in the convention of 1792 that framed the constitution of Kentucky; elected to the United States Senate and served from June 18, 1792, to March 3, 1795; died upon his plantation in Bourbon county, Ky., in 1837.

Edwards, John, a Representative from New York; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839).

Edwards, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Ivy Mills, Pa.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); died in Chester, Pa., June 25, 1843.

Edwards, John, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Louisville, Jefferson County, Ky., October 24, 1805; received a limited schooling; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Indiana, where he served in the state legislature 1845–1849; moved to California, and in 1849 was elected an alcalde; returned to Indiana in 1852, elected to the state senate; moved to Chariton, Iowa, in 1855, member of the state constitutional convention; served in the state legislature 1856–1860, the last two years as speaker of the house; appointed lieutenant colonel, May 21, 1861, on the staff of the governor of Iowa, colonel of the eighteenth Iowa infantry August 8, 1862; brigadier general of volunteers September 26, 1864; honorably mustered out January 15, 1866; at the close of the war settled in Fort Smith, Ark.; appointed by President Johnson United States assessor of internal revenue and served two years; elected as a Liberal Republican to the Forty-second Congress and served from March 4, 1871, to February 9, 1872, when he was succeeded by Thomas Boles, who contested his election; after leaving Congress located in Washington, D. C.; died in Washington, D. C., April 8, 1894.

Edwards, John C., a Representative from Missouri; native of Chester, Pa.; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Murfreesboro, Tenn., and later in Jefferson City, Mo.; secretary of state 1828–1837; district judge 1837–1841; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); governor of Missouri 1844–1848; removed to California and died there in 1888.

Edwards, Ninian, a Senator from Illinois; born in Montgomery county, Md., March 17, 1775; was graduated from Dickinson college in 1792; studied law; moved with his parents to Bairdstown, Ky., in 1795, and was elected to the legislature before reaching his majority; admitted to the bar in 1798; elected judge of the general court of Kentucky; elevated to the circuit court in 1803; judge of the court of appeals 1806; and chief justice of the state in 1808; governor of the territory of Illinois 1809–1818; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate and served from December 3, 1818, to March 4, 1824, when he resigned; appointed minister to Mexico March 4, 1824, and while on his way was instructed to return and answer charges filed against him by William H. Crawford, Secretary of the Treasury; again elected governor of Illinois, 1826–1831; died in Belleville, Ill., July 20, 1833.

Digitized by Google

Edwards, Pierrepont, a Delegate from Connecticut; born in Northampton, Mass., April 8, 1750; was graduated from Princeton college in 1768; studied law and admitted to the bar; began practice in New Haven, Conn., in 1771; served in the Revolutionary army; when Benedict Arnold was found guilty of treason was made administrator of his estate; served for several years in the state house of representatives; elected to the Continental Congress, 1787–1788; appointed United States district judge for the district of Connecticut; died in Bridgeport, Conn., April 5, 1826.

Edwards, Samuel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Chester, Pa., March 12, 1785; attended the common schools; elected as a Federalist to the Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1827); died in Chester, Pa., November 25, 1850.

Edwards, Thomas McKey, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Cheshire county, N. H., December 16, 1795; was graduated from Dartmouth college; studied law, admitted to the bar and practiced; served several terms in the New Hampshire legislature; presidential elector on the Fremont ticket in 1856; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); died in Keene, N. H., May 1, 1875.

Edwards, Thomas O., a Representative from Ohio; native of Maryland; completed preparatory studies; moved to Ohio; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); defeated for reelection to the Thirty-first Congress.

Edwards, Weldon Nathaniel, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Warren county, N. C., in 1788; completed preparatory studies; studied law, and in 1810 admitted to the bar; began practice in Warrenton, N. C.; member of the house of commons 1814 and 1815; elected as a Democrat to the Fourteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Nathaniel Macon; reelected to the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses, and served from February 7, 1816, to March 3, 1827; elected state senator in 1833, and successively reelected until 1844; member of the state constitutional convention in 1835; again elected to the state senate in 1850, and chosen its president; president of the state convention in 1861; died in Warren county, N. C., December 18, 1873.

Edwards, William Posey, a Representative from Georgia; born in Talbot county, Ga., November 9, 1835; was graduated from Collinsworth institute, Talbotton, Ga., in 1856; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1857; member of the state constitutional convention in 1857–1858; served during the Civil war as captain of company F, twenty-seventh Georgia volunteer infantry; subsequently promoted to colonel of the regiment; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); resumed the practice of law; died in Butler, Ga., June 28, 1900.

Effner, Valentine, a Representative from New York; born in Schoharie county, N. Y.; completed preparatory studies; member of the state house of representatives in 1829; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837).

Egbert, Albert Galltin, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Sandy Lake, Mercer county, Pa., April 13, 1828; completed preparatory studies; engaged in agricultural pursuits; began the study of medicine in 1853 and was graduated in March, 1856; practiced until 1861, when he became interested in manufacturing and farming; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); died in Franklin, Venango county, Pa., March 28, 1895.

Egbert, Joseph, a Representative from New York; born in Staten Island, N. Y., April 10, 1807; attended the common schools; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); died in Dongan Hills, N. Y., July 7, 1888.

Ege, George, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Brooks county, Pa., March 9, 1748; attended the public schools; elected to the Fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Daniel Heister; reelected to the Fifth Congress and served from December 8, 1796, to October, 1797, when he resigned; died at his residence "Charming Forge," Marion township, Berks county, Pa.

Eggleston, Benjamin, a Representative from Ohio; born in Corinth, Saratoga county, N. Y., January 3, 1816; completed preparatory studies; moved to Cincinnati, where he engaged in mercantile pursuits; presiding officer of the city council of Cincinnati; served in the Ohio state senate 1862–1865; elected to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); died in Cincinnati, Ohio, February 9, 1888.

Eggleston, Joseph, a Representative from Virginia; born in Amelia county, Va., November 24, 1754; was graduated from the college of William and Mary in 1776; captain and major of Lee's light-horse cavalry in the Revolutionary army; won special distinction in the battle of Guilford Court House, March 15, 1781, and the capture of Augusta, Ga., June 5, 1781; member of the Virginia house of representatives for several years; elected to the Fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William B. Giles; reelected to the Sixth Congress and served from December 3, 1798, to March 3, 1801; justice of the peace from 1801 until his death in Amelia county, Va., February 13, 1811.

Eickhoff, Anthony, a Representative from New York; born in Westphalia, Germany, September 11, 1827; immigrated to America in 1847; located in St. Louis, Mo., and there studied law; became an editor; edited papers in St. Louis, Dubuque, Iowa, Louisville, Ky., and finally in New York in 1852; appointed commissary general of subsistence for the state of New York in 1863; member of the assembly in 1864; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); defeated for reelection; auditor in the United States treasury department; appointed fire commissioner in New York in 1889; reappointed in 1891; at the time of his death he was auditor of the fire department; died in New York City, November 5, 1901.

Digitized by Google

Einstein, Edwin, a Representative from New York; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, November 18, 1842; moved to New York in 1846; received a collegiate training in the College of the City of New York, and entered Union college, but did not graduate; engaged in mercantile pursuits; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879-March 3, 1881); unsuccessful Republican candidate for mayor of New York City, 1892; park commissioner in New York, 1895; died in New York City January 24, 1905.

Ela, Jacob H., a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Rochester, N. H., July 18, 1820; printer; became engaged in agricultural pursuits; member of the state legislature 1857-1858; United States marshal from July, 1861, to October, 1866; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867-March 3, 1871); appointed by President Grant fifth auditor of the treasury.

Elam, Joseph Barton, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Hempstead county, Ark., June 12, 1821; moved with his father to Natchitoches, La., in 1826; studied law and was admitted to the bar in Alexandria, La., in October, 1843, and practiced there; served two terms in the legislature from the parish of Sabine previous to his removal to the parish of De Soto in 1851; elected delegate from De Soto parish to the state constitutional convention in 1861, and signed the ordinance of secession; elected and served two terms in the legislature, one term as speaker, during the Civil war; reelected in 1865, and served until the passage of the reconstruction legislation by Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877-March 3, 1881); after leaving Congress resumed the practice of law; died in Mansfield, La., July 4, 1885.

Eldredge, Charles A., a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Bridport, Vt., February 27, 1821; moved with his parents to New York City; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1846; moved to Wisconsin in 1848, and settled in Fond du Lac; member of the state senate in 1854 and 1855; elected as a Democrat to the Thirth-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, Forty-second, and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1863-March 3, 1875); died in Fond du Lac, Wis., October 26, 1896.

Eldredge, Nathaniel Buel, a Representative from Michigan; born in Aurelius, N. Y., March 28, 1813; attended the common schools; practiced medicine for fifteen years; then practiced law for twenty years; held several minor offices; clerk of the Michigan senate in 1845; member of the legislature in 1848; judge of probate 1852-1856; commissioned captain in the Union army in June, 1861, major in August, 1861, and colonel in April, 1862; elected sheriff of Lenawee county, in 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883-March 3, 1887); died in Adrian, Mich., November 27, 1893.

Eliot, Samuel Atkins, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., March 5, 1798; was graduated from Harvard college in 1817 and from the divinity school in 1820; mayor of Boston 1837-1839; member of Massachusetts house of representatives 1834-1850; served in the state senate in 1843; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Robert C. Winthrop, and served from August 22, 1850, to March 3, 1851; eleven years treasurer of Harvard college; died in Cambridge, Mass., January 29, 1862.

Eliot, Thomas Dawes, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., March 20, 1808; studied law and was graduated from Columbian (now George Washington) college, Washington, D. C., in 1825; was admitted to the bar in 1831 and began practice in New Bedford, Mass.; served in both branches of the state legislature; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Zeno Scudder, and served from April 17, 1854, to March 3, 1855; delegate in the Free-Soil convention in Worcester, Mass., in 1855; declined the nomination of the Republican party for attorney general of Massachusetts in 1857; was subsequently elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1859-March 3, 1869); died in New Bedford, Mass., June 12, 1870.

Elkins, Davis, a Senator from West Virginia; born in Washington, D. C., January 24, 1876; attended the Lawrenceville and Andover schools, and Harvard college; served in the Spanish-American war on the staff of Brig. Gen. Schwan in Cuba and Porto Rico; assumed charge of the business interests of his father in West Virginia; president of the Morgantown & Kingwood railroad company; the Elkins Coal & Coke company, the Kingwood National bank, of Kingwood, W. Va.; the Union Utility company, of Morgantown, W. Va.; vice president of the Farmers & Merchants' bank, of Morgantown; director of the American National bank, of Washington, D. C., appointed as a Republican to the United States Senate January 9, 1911, to fill vacancy caused by the death of his father, Stephen B. Elkins, and served from January 9, 1911, to January 31, 1911; resumed business activities in Morgantown, W. Va.

Elkins, Stephen Benton, a Delegate from the territory of New Mexico, and a Senator from West Virginia; born in Perry county, Ohio, September 26, 1841; attended the public schools of Missouri, and was graduated from the university of that state at Columbia, in the class of 1860; admitted to the bar in 1864, and in the same year went to the Territory of New Mexico, where he acquired a knowledge of the Spanish language, and began the practice of law; member of the territorial legislative assembly in 1864 and 1865; held the offices of territorial district attorney, attorney general, and United States district attorney; elected as a Republican a Delegate to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873-March 3, 1877); member of the Republican national committee for three presidential campaigns; moved to West Virginia, and engaged in business; appointed Secretary of War December 17, 1891, and served until the close of President Harrison's administration; in February, 1895, elected as a Republican to the United States Senate; reelected in 1901 and 1907, and served from March 4, 1895, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 5, 1911.

Ellerbe, James Edwin, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Sellers, S. C., January 12, 1867; attended Old Pine Hill academy; entered the South Carolina college in October, 1882, where he spent one year; entered Wofford college, in Spartanburg, S. C., in October, 1884, spending three years; graduated in June, 1887; elected to the state legislature in 1894, and in 1895 represented, in part, Marion county in the state constitutional convention; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Digitized by Google

Ellery, Christopher, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Newport, R. I., April 2, 1768; was graduated from Yale college in 1787; studied law and was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Newport; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Ray Greene and served from May 6, 1801, to March 3, 1805; appointed by President Jefferson United States commissioner of loans in 1806; appointed collector of customs at Newport in 1828; died in Newport, R. I., December 2, 1840.

Ellery, William, a Delegate from Rhode Island; born in Newport, R. I., December 22, 1727; was graduated from Harvard college in 1747; deputy governor of Rhode Island, 1748–1749; studied law, and in 1770 admitted to the bar; clerk of a court two years; judge of the county court; Delegate to the Continental Congress in place of Samuel Ward, taking his seat May 14, 1776; one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence; again a Delegate 1783–1785; appointed chief justice of Rhode Island in 1785; elected to the Colonial Congress from Rhode Island in 1786; collector of the port at Newport from 1790 until his death in Newport, R. I., February 15, 1820.

Ellett, Henry T., a Representative from Mississippi; was appointed postmaster general of the Confederacy in February, 1861, but declined; elected to the Twenty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Jefferson Davis; served from January 26, 1847; to March 3, 1847.

Ellett, Tazewell, a Representative from Virginia; born in Richmond, Va., January 1, 1856; attended the private school of John M. Strother until sixteen years old; cadet in the Virginia military institute, and was graduated from that institution in 1876; studied law in the University of Virginia, and was graduated with the degree of LL. B. in 1878; practiced law in Richmond; several years a member of the board of visitors of the Virginia military institute; presidential elector in 1888 on the Democratic ticket; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Richmond, Va., and New York City.

Ellicott, Benjamin, a Representative from New York; born at Elliots Mills near Baltimore, Md., 1764; one of the first three justices to hold court in Batavia, N. Y.; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); died in Williamsville, Erie county, N. Y., 1827.

Elliott, James, a Representative from Vermont; born in Gloucester, Mass., August 9, 1775; attended the public schools; moved to Guilford, Vt., in 1790; sergeant in the Indian war of 1793; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1803, and began practice in Brattleboro, Vt.; held several local offices; elected as a Federalist to the Eighth, Ninth, and Tenth Congresses (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1809); published a paper in Philadelphia, Pa., on his retirement from Congress; served in the war of 1812 for a short time; returned to Brattleboro, Vt., and practiced law; representative in the state legislature 1818–1819; removed to Newfane, was appointed register of the probate court; was state attorney of Windham county in 1877–1878; and again served in the legislature 1837–1838; died in Newfane, Vt., November 10, 1839.

Elliott, James Thomas, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Monroe county, Ga., April 22, 1823; pursued an academic course; studied law, and in 1854 admitted to the bar; began practice in Camden, Ark., 1845; elected circuit judge in 1866; in 1867 established and edited the South Arkansas Journal; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Hinds and served from January 13, 1869, to March 3, 1869; elected to the state senate in 1870; appointed judge of the ninth judicial district in 1872, and served until the adoption of the state constitution in 1874; died in Camden, Ark., July 28, 1875.

Elliott, John, a Senator from Georgia; born in Liberty county, Ga., October 24, 1773; was graduated from Yale college in 1794; studied law, and began practice in Sunbury, Liberty county, Ga., in 1797; held several local offices; elected United States Senator, and served from March 4, 1819, to March 3, 1825; died in Spnbury, Ga., August 9, 1827.

Elliott, John M., a Representative from Kentucky; born in Scott county, Va., May 16, 1820; moved to Kentucky and attended public schools; studied law and admitted to the bar; began practice in 1843; member of the state house of representatives in 1847; elected to the Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1859); representative from Kentucky to the First and Second Confederate Congresses; died March 26, 1879.

Elliott, Mortimer Francis, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Wellsboro, Tioga county, Pa., September 24, 1841; was prepared for college in Wellsboro academy, and attended Alfred university, Allegheny county, Pa., three years; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1864; member of the convention to revise the constitution of Pennsylvania in 1873; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); defeated for reelection.

Elliott, Robert Brown, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Boston, Mass., August 11, 1842; attended High Hollow academy, in London, England, in 1853; was graduated from Eton college, in England, in 1859; studied law and was admitted to the bar; returned to the United States and practiced in Columbia, S. C.; member of the South Carolina state constitutional convention in 1868; member of the state house of representatives from July 6, 1868, to October 23, 1870; assistant adjutant general 1869–1871; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second Congress, and served from March 4, 1871, to January, 1873, when he resigned; reelected to the Forty-third Congress, and served from March 4, 1873, to November, 1874, when he resigned, having been elected sheriff; speaker of the house of representatives in the legislature in 1875–1876; elected attorney general of South Carolina, 1876; moved to New Orleans, La., in 1877, and practiced law until his death in that city in August 9, 1884.

Elliott, William, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Beaufort, S. C., September 3, 1838; attended Beaufort college; entered Harvard university in 1854, but before graduating entered the University of Virginia and studied law; admitted to the bar in Charleston, S. C., in April, 1861; entered the Confederate service; served as an officer throughout the war; elected a member of the legislature and intendant of Beaufort in 1866; delegate to the national Democratic convention at St. Louis in 1876; Democratic presidential elector for the state at large in 1880; Democratic candidate for Congress in 1884, but defeated; elected to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1887, to September 23, 1890, when he was succeeded by Thomas E. Miller, who contested his election to the Fifty-first Congress; reelected to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); was given the certificate of election to the Fifty-fourth Congress, but was unseated June 4, 1896, and seat was given to George W. Murray, who contested the election; elected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1903); died in Beaufort, S. C., in November, 1908.

Digitized by Google

Ellis, Caleb, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Walpole, Mass., April 16, 1767; was graduated from Harvard college in 1793; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Newport, N. H., and then to Claremont; elected to the Ninth Congress (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1807); member of the New Hampshire house of representatives 1803; governor's council 1809–1810; elected state senator 1811; elector on the Clinton and Ingersoll ticket in 1813; appointed judge of the superior court of New Hampshire same year, which office he held until his death in Claremont, N. H., May 6, 1816.

Ellis, Chesselden, a Representative from New York; native of New York; completed preparatory studies; district attorney of Saratoga county 1837–1843; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); defeated for the Twenty-ninth Congress.

Ellis, Edgar Clarence, a Representative from Missouri; born in Vermontville, Mich., October 2, 1854; attended Olivet college, Michigan, and later received the degree of A. B. from Carleton college, Minnesota, in which latter institution he was an instructor in Latin for one year; afterwards superintendent of public schools, Fergus Falls, Minn., 1881–1884; was admitted to practice law in Beloit, Kans., in 1885; practiced in Kansas three years, and then moved to Kansas City; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Kansas City, Mo.

Ellis, Ezikiel John, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Covington, La., October 15, 1841; attended the schools of Clinton, La., and Centenary college, Jackson, La., 1855–1858; was graduated from the law department of the University of Louisiana in March, 1861; joined the Confederate army and served throughout the war; admitted to the bar of Louisiana in 1866 and practiced in Covington, La.; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1885); died April 29, 1889.

Ellis, Powhatan, a Senator from Mississippi; born in "Red Hill," Amherst county, Va., January 17, 1790; attended Washington college, Va., and was graduated from Dickinson college, Pa., in September, 1810; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Lynchburg, Va., until April 1816, when he moved to Natchez, Miss., and engaged in the practice of law; elected a judge of the state supreme court in 1823; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of David Holmes, and served from September 28, 1825, to January 28, 1826; again elected, and served from March 4, 1827, to July 16, 1832, when he resigned to become judge of the United States court and served from 1832–1836; appointed by President Jackson chargé d'affaires of the United States to Mexico January 5, 1836, and closed the legation December 28, 1836; United States minister plenipotentiary to Mexico February 15, 1839, to April 21, 1842; died in Richmond, Va., March 18, 1863.

Ellis, William Cox, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Fort Muncy, Pa., May 5, 1787; attended public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected as a Federalist to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825); elected to state legislature 1825–1826; resumed the practice of law; died in Muncy, Pa., December 13, 1871.

Ellis, William Russell, a Representative from Oregon; born near Waveland, Montgomery county, Ind., April 23, 1850; moved to Guthrie county, Iowa, in 1855; attended the Iowa state agricultural college at Ames; was graduated from the law department of the Iowa state university at Iowa City in June, 1874; began practice in Panora, Iowa; served as mayor; moved to Hamburg, Iowa, and practiced law and also engaged in newspaper work; city attorney and mayor; went west in 1883, settled in Heppner, Oreg., in 1884; county superintendent of schools of Morrow county one term; district attorney of the Seventh judicial district of Oregon three terms; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1899); circuit judge of the Sixth judicial district of Oregon for six years until July 1, 1906; elected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Pendleton, Oreg.

Ellis, William Tecumseh, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Knottsville, Ky., July 24, 1845; attended the common schools; enlisted in 1861 in the first Kentucky Confederate cavalry at the age of sixteen and served with his regiment continuously until April 21, 1865; attended Pleasant Valley seminary, Daviess county; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1868; entered the senior law class at Harvard in 1869; engaged in the practice of law in Owensboro, Ky., in 1870; elected county attorney in 1870 and 1874; presidential elector in 1876; defeated for Congress in 1886; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1895); after leaving Congress resumed the practice of law in Owensboro, Ky.

Ellison, Andrew, a Representative from Ohio; born in Ireland; emigrated to the United States and located in Georgetown, Ohio; attended the public schools; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855).

Ellsberry, William Wallace, a Representative from Ohio; born in New Hope, Brown county, Ohio, December 18, 1833; attended the public schools of Brown county and a private academy in Clermount county; taught school two years; began the study of medicine with his father; attended medical lectures and was graduated from the Cincinnati college of medicine and surgery, and later from the Ohio medical college; continued the practice of his profession until his election to Congress; appointed superintendent of the central insane asylum at Columbus in 1878, but declined to serve; chosen three times county auditor; at the outbreak of the war he was one of the county military board; delegate to the national Democratic convention which nominated Hancock in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); died in Georgetown, Ohio, September 7, 1894.

Digitized by Google

Ellsworth, Charles Clinton, a Representative from Michigan; born in West Berkshire, Vt., January 29, 1824; was elected to the Michigan legislature 1852; served in the Union army as paymaster 1862; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); died in Greenville, Mich., June 24, 1899.

Ellsworth, Oliver, Delegate and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Windsor, Conn., April 29, 1745; attended Yale college and was graduated from Princeton college in 1766; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1771; began practice in Windsor; removed to Hartford, Conn., in 1775; appointed state attorney; representative in the general assembly in 1775–1776; Delegate to the Continental Congress in 1777–1784; executive councilor 1780–1784; judge of the Connecticut supreme court 1784–1789; delegate to the convention which framed the Federal constitution in 1787; elected as a Federalist to the United States Senate, serving from March 4, 1789, to March 8, 1796, when he resigned; appointed chief justice of the supreme court of the United States in 1796; appointed envoy extraordinary to France to negotiate a treaty and served until November 3, 1799; spent two winters in England and in the spring of 1801 retired from the supreme bench; died in Windsor, Conn., November 26, 1807.

Ellsworth, Samuel Stewart, a Representative from New York; born in Pownal, Vt., October 13, 1790; attended the common schools; moved to Penn Yan, N. Y.; judge of Yates county 1828–1833; served in the New York legislature in 1840; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); died in Penn Yan, N. Y., June 4, 1863.

Ellsworth, William Wolcott, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Windsor, Conn., November 10, 1791; was graduated from Yale college in 1810; studied law in Litchfield, Conn., and was admitted to the bar in 1813; professor of law at Trinity college, Hartford; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses, and served from March 4, 1829, to July 8, 1834, when he resigned; governor of Connecticut 1834–1842; judge of the state supreme court from 1847 to 1861, when, by the constitutional provision, he was compelled to retire; declined twice an election to the United States Senate; died in Hartford, Conn., January 15, 1868.

Ellwood, Reuben, a Representative from New York; born in Montgomery county, N. Y., February 21, 1821; attended Cherry Valley academy, New York; manufacturer of agricultural implements; member of the New York state house of representatives in 1851; moved to Sycamore, Ill., about 1854; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); died in Sycamore, Ill., July 1, 1885.

Elmendorf, Lucas, a Representative from New York; born in Kingston, N. Y., in 1768; was graduated from Princeton college in 1782; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected to the Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1803); member of the state house of representatives 1804–1805, and of the state senate 1814–1817; died in Kingston, N. Y., August 17, 1843.

Elmer, Ebenezer, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Cedarville, N. J., in 1752; pursued an academic course; studied medicine and practiced in Cedarville; served in the Revolutionary army as surgeon; practiced medicine in Bridgeton, N. J.; member of the state house of representatives 1789–1795, serving as speaker in 1791 and 1795; elected to the Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth Congresses (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1807); collector of customs at Bridgeton; served in the war of 1812; vice president of the Burlington college 1808–1817 and 1822–1832; died in Bridgeton, N. J., October 18, 1843.

Elmer, Jonathan, a Delegate and a Senator from New Jersey; born in Cedarville, Cumberland county, N. J., November 29, 1745; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine and was graduated from the first medical class of the University of Pennsylvania in 1768; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1776–1778, 1781–1784, and 1787–1788; high sheriff and afterwards surrogate of Cumberland county; elected as a Federalist to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1789, to March 3, 1791; died in Bridgeton, N. J., September 3, 1807.

Elmer, Lucius Quintius Cincinnatus, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Bridgeton, N. J., February 3, 1793; was graduated from Princeton college; studied law and admitted to the bar in 1815; began practicing in Bridgeton, N. J.; served several years as prosecuting attorney; member of the state house of representatives 1820–1823, serving the last year as speaker; United States district attorney for the district of New Jersey 1824–1829; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); defeated for reelection; appointed attorney general of New Jersey in 1850; justice of the state supreme court 1850–1852 and in 1859; retired in 1870; died in Bridgeton, N. J., March 11, 1883.

Elmore, Franklin Harper, a Representative and a Senator from South Carolina; born in Laurens district, S. C., January 16, 1790; was graduated from the South Carolina college in 1819; studied law, and in 1821 admitted to the bar; began practice in Walterboro, S. C.; was solicitor for the southern circuit 1822–1836; colonel on the staff of Gov. Manning 1824–1826; elected as a States Rights Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress, to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of James H. Hammond; reelected to the Twenty-fifth Congress and served from December 19, 1836, to March 3, 1839; president of the bank of the state of South Carolina, 1839–1850; declined appointment as minister to Great Britain; appointed to the United States Senate to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of John C. Calhoun, and served from April 11, 1850, until his death in Washington, May 29, 1850.

Elvins, Politte, a Representative from Missouri; born in St. Francois county, Mo., March 16, 1878; attended the public schools, and was graduated from Carlton college; studied law, was graduated from the law department of the University of Missouri in 1899, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Elvins, Mo.; Republican presidential elector in 1904; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Elvins, Mo.; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1912.

Digitized by Google

Ely, Alfred, a Representative from New York; born in Lyme, New London county, Conn., February 15, 1815; completed preparatory studies; moved to Rochester, N. Y., in 1835; studied law, and in 1841 was admitted to the bar; began practice in Rochester; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); witnessed the battle of Bull Run, and taken a prisoner by the Confederates, and imprisoned in Richmond for nearly six months; died in Rochester, N. Y., May 18, 1892.

Ely, Frederick David, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Wrentham, Norfolk county, Mass., September 24, 1838; attended Day's academy, Wrentham, and was graduated from Brown university in 1859; studied law, and was admitted to practice in 1862; trial justice from 1867 to March 3, 1885; member of the state house of representatives of Massachusetts in 1873, and of the state senate, 1878–1879; member of the school committee of Dedham, 1882–1885; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); resumed the practice of law after leaving Congress; justice municipal court of Boston, 1888–1911.

Ely, John, a Representative from New York; native of Connecticut; completed preparatory studies; member of the state house of representatives in 1806 and 1812; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841).

Ely, Smith, jr., a Representative from New York; born in Hanover, N. J., April 17, 1825; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1846; never practiced his profession; became engaged in mercantile pursuits in New York; elected school trustee in 1856, state senator in 1857, and county supervisor in 1860, retaining the latter office until 1870, when it was abolished; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873) reelected to the Forty-fourth Congress, and served from March 4, 1875, to December 12, 1876, when he resigned, having been elected mayor of New York City.

Ely, William, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Longmeadow, Mass., January 7, 1762; was graduated from Yale college in 1787; member of house of Representatives 1801–1804; elected as a Federalist to the Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, and Thirteenth Congresses (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1815); died in Springfield, Ill., October 9, 1817.

Embree, Elisha, a Representative from Indiana; born in Lincoln county, Ky., September 28, 1801; moved with his father to Indiana in 1811; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Princeton, Ind.; circuit judge, 1835–1845; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); defeated for the Thirty-first Congress; died in Princeton, Ind., February 28, 1863.

Emerich, Martin, a Representative from Illinois; born in Baltimore, Md., April 27, 1847; attended public schools; engaged in the importing business; in 1870 appointed ward commissioner of the poor of Baltimore, and in 1879 elected a member of the state legislature; moved to Chicago, Ill., in 1887; interested in manufacturing; county commissioner in 1892; elected South Chicago assessor in 1901; elected to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905).

Emerson, Louis Woodard, a Representative from New York; born in Warrensburg, N. Y., July 25, 1857; attended Warrensburg academy; engaged in the banking and manufacturing business; state senator for two terms, commencing 1891; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1903); engaged in the banking and manufacturing business in Warrensburg, N. Y.

Emott, James, a Representative from New York; born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 9, 1771; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Poughkeepsie; moved to Albany, N. Y., in 1800; member of the state assembly from Albany county in 1804, and served as speaker; elected as a Federalist to the Eleventh and Twelfth Congresses (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1813); member of the state house of representatives from Dutchess county 1814–1817, and was speaker the first year; judge of the court of common pleas of Dutchess county from April 8, 1817, to February 3, 1823; appointed judge for the second judicial circuit February 21, 1827, and held that office until February, 1831, when he retired; died in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., April 7, 1850.

Emrie, Jonas Reece, a Representative from Ohio; born in Hillsboro, Highland county, Ohio, April 24, 1812; member of Ohio state senate 1847–1848; probate judge Hyland county 1851–1854; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); died in Mound City, Ill., June 5, 1869.

Englebright, William F., a Representative from California; born in New Bedford, Mass., November 23, 1855; moved with his parents to Vallejo, Cal.; attended public schools; entered the service of the United States at the navy yard, Mare Island, as joiner's apprentice, and completed his studies in engineering; established himself in Nevada City as a mining engineer; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of James N. Gillett; reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses and served from January 3, 1907, to March 3, 1911.

English, James Edward, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in New Haven, Conn., March 13, 1812; attended the public schools; a dealer in lumber, a banker, and manufacturer; member of the state house of representatives in 1855 and of the state senate 1856–1858; declined a reelection; defeated as a candidate for lieutenant governor in 1860; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1865); elected governor in 1867; reelected in 1868; defeated in 1869 and again in 1870; again elected to the state house of representatives; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate to fill vacancy occasioned by the death of Orris S. Ferry, and served from November 27, 1875, to May 17, 1876; died in New Haven, Conn., March 2, 1890.

Digitized by Google

English, Thomas Dunn, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Philadelphia, Pa., June 29 1819; attended the Friends academy, Burlington, N. J., and was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1839, and was also admitted to the Philadelphia bar in 1842, but mainly pursued journalism; wrote the poem "Ben Bolt" in 1843; moved to Virginia in 1852; prominent opponent of Knownothingism; moved to New York City in 1857, and to Newark, N. J., a year later; in 1863–1864 served in the New Jersey legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); died in Newark, N. J., April 1, 1902.

English, Warren B., a Representative from California; born in Charlestown, Va., May 1, 1846; attended the public schools and Charlestown academy until June, 1861; served in the Confederate army; moved to Oakland, Cal., and attended the California military academy; elected member of the board of supervisors of Contra Costa county in 1877 and served four years; elected state senator in 1882; delegate to the national Democratic convention at Chicago in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); engaged in the real estate business in Oakland, Cal.

English, William Eastin, a Representative from Indiana; born in Lexington, Scott county, Ind., November 3, 1851; moved to Indianapolis at an early age; was graduated from the law department of the Northwestern university and was admitted to the bar in 1872; member of the state house of representatives in 1878; successfully contested as a Democrat the election Stanton J. Peelle to the Forty-eighth Congress, and served from May 22, 1884, to March 4, 1885; declined a renomination, and resumed business in Indianapolis; served as captain and aid de camp upon the staff of Gen. Joseph Wheeler in Spanish war; president of the board of park commissioners; president of the board of police and fire commissioners; president of the board of safety; unsuccessful candidate for the state senate in 1908 and 1910, delegate to the Republican national convention in 1912; a resident of Indianapolis, Ind., and engaged in the practice of law.

English, William Hayden, a Representative from Indiana; born in Lexington, Scott county, Ind., August 27, 1822; pursued classical studies in the University of Hanover; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1846, and practiced; principal clerk of the state house of representatives in 1843; clerk in the Treasury Department at Washington 1844–1848; secretary of the Indiana constitutional convention in 1850; speaker of the Indiana house of representatives 1851; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1861); unsuccessful candidate for Vice President of the United States in 1880; died in his home in Indianapolis, Ind., February 7, 1896.

Enloe, Benjamin Augustine, a Representative from Tennessee; born near Clarksburg, Carroll county, Tenn., January 18, 1848; attended public schools and Bethel college, McKenzie, Tenn., and the Cumberland university at Lebanon, Tenn.; while a student at the latter institution elected a member of the state house of representatives; reelected under the new constitution in 1870; was graduated from the law department of Cumberland university in 1872; delegate to the national Democratic convention at Baltimore in 1872; appointed a commissioner by Governor Marks in 1878 to negotiate a settlement of the state debt; served on the state executive committee 1878–1880; delegate to the national Democratic convention at Cincinnati in 1880; edited the Jackson Tribune and Sun 1874–1886; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1895).

Enochs, William Henry, a Representative from Ohio; born near Middleburg, Noble county, Ohio, March 29, 1842; brought up on farm; attended the common schools; served through late war as private, corporal, sergeant, lieutenant, captain, lieutenant colonel, colonel, and brevet brigadier general; was graduated from the Cincinnati law school 1866; was admitted to the bar and engaged in the practice of law; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses, and served from March 4, 1891, until his death in Ironton, Lawrence county, Ohio, July 13, 1893.

Epes, James Fletcher, a Representative from Virginia; born in Nottoway county, Va., May 23, 1842; attended the primary and private schools and the University of Virginia; served in the Confederate army 1861–1865; was graduated from the law department of Washington and Lee university in 1867; was admitted to the bar and practiced law in Blackstone, Va.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); retired to his plantation, "The Old Place," in Nottoway county, Va.

Epes, Sydney Parham, a Representative from Virginia; born in Nottoway county, Va., August 20, 1865; moved with his parents to Kentucky, where he pursued an academic course; returned to Virginia in 1884 and edited and published a Democratic newspaper for a number of years; member of the Democratic state central committee, and chairman of the fourth Congressional district committee; elected in 1891 a member of the general assembly; register of the land office 1895–1897; presented credentials as the Member-elect in the Fifty-fifth Congress and served from March 4, 1897, until March 23, 1898, when he was succeeded by Robert T. Thorp, who contested his election; elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress and served from March 4, 1899, until his death in Washington, D. C., March 3, 1900.

Eppes, John Wayles, a Representative and a Senator from Virginia; born in Virginia in 1773; pursued an academic course; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1794, and practiced in Richmond, Va.; elected as a Democrat to the Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, and Eleventh Congresses (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1811); reelected (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); elected to the United States Senate; served from March 4, 1817, to April, 1819, when he resigned on account of failing health; retired to his farm in Chesterfield county, Va., where he died September 20, 1823.

Erdman, Constantine Jacob, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Center Valley, Lehigh county, Pa., September 4, 1846; attended the common schools of the district and a classical school in Quakertown; entered Pennsylvania college, Gettysburg, in 1861, and was graduated in 1865; read law and was admitted to the bar of Lehigh in 1867; practiced in Allentown, Pa.; elected district attorney in 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); died in Allentown, Pa., January 15, 1911.

Digitized by Google

Erdman, Jacob, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Pennsylvania; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); died in Coopersburg, Pa., July 20, 1867.

Ermentrout, Daniel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Reading, Pa., January 24, 1837; attended the public and classical schools of his native city, Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster and Elmwood institutes, Norristown, Pa., studied law and was admitted to practice in August, 1859; elected district attorney for three years in 1862; solicitor for the city of Reading 1867–1870; elected to the state senate in 1873 for a term of three years, and reelected in 1876 for four years; member of the board of school control of Reading for many years; appointed in October, 1877, by Governor Hartranft, a member of the Pennsylvania statuary commission; several times chosen chairman of the standing committee of Berks county, and delegate to various Democratic state conventions; delegate to the national Democratic convention at Cincinnati in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1889), and reelected to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses, and served until his death, September 17, 1899.

Errett, Russell, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in New York City November 10, 1817; self-instructed; moved to Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1829; by profession an editor; elected comptroller of Pittsburgh in 1860; served as clerk of the Pennsylvania senate 1860–1861 and 1872–1876; appointed additional paymaster in the United States Army in 1861, and served until mustered out in 1866; elected to the state senate of Pennsylvania in 1867; appointed assessor of internal revenue in 1869, and served until 1873; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); defeated for reelection; appointed by President Arthur United States pension agent at Pittsburgh in 1883, which position he held until May, 1887; died in Carnegie, Pa., April 7, 1891.

Ervin, James, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Williamsburg District, S. C., October 17, 1778; was graduated from Brown university in 1797; studied law, and in 1800 admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives 1800–1804; solicitor of the northern judicial circuit 1804–1816; trustee of the South Carolina college 1809–1817; elected as a protectionist to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1821); declined reelection on account of failing health; died near Darlington, S. C., July 7, 1841.

Esch, John Jacob, a Representative from Wisconsin; born near Norwalk, Monroe county, Wis., March 20, 1861; parents moved to Milwaukee in 1865 and five years later to Sparta, Wis., and graduated from the Sparta high school; was graduated from the State university at Madison in 1882 and from the law department in 1887; practiced in Sparta; city treasurer in 1885; in January, 1894, commissioned acting judge advocate general, with the rank of colonel, by Gov. W. H. Upham, and held the office two years; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Estabrook, Experience, a Delegate from the Territory of Nebraska; a resident of Omaha; presented credentials as a Delegate-elect to the Thirty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1859, to May 18, 1860, when he was unseated after a contest with Samuel G. Daily.

Estil, Benjamin, a Representative from Virginia; native of Washington county, Va.; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Arlington; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827).

Estopinal, Albert, a Representative from Louisiana; born in the parish of St. Bernard, La., January 30, 1845; attended the public schools of the parish and of New Orleans and also private schools; elected sheriff of St. Bernard Parish in 1872 and 1874; elected to the state house of representatives in 1876 and 1878; member of the constitutional convention of 1879; elected to the state senate in 1880 and served continuously in that body until 1900, when he was elected lieutenant-governor and served four years; member of the state constitutional convention of 1898; left school in January, 1862, to enlist in the Confederate army, in which he served until March, 1865; elected to the Sixtieth Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Adolph Meyer, and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress; served from December 7, 1908, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Esty, Constantine Canaris, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Framingham, Mass., December 26, 1824; was graduated from Yale college in 1845; studied law, was admitted to the bar December 2, 1847, and began practice in Framingham, Mass.; member of the state senate 1857–1858; appointed assessor of internal revenue in 1862 by President Lincoln; was removed for political reasons by President Johnson in 1866; served in the state house of representatives in 1867; reappointed by President Johnson as assessor of internal revenue in 1867; resigned in 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George M. Brooks, and served from December 2, 1872, to March 3, 1873; engaged in the practice of law in Framingham, Mass., until his death, December 27, 1912.

Etheridge, Emerson, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Currituck, N. C., September 28, 1819; moved to Tennessee in 1831; completed preparatory studies; studied law, and in 1840 was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Dresden, Tenn.; member of the state house of representatives 1845–1847; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1857); defeated for the Thirty-fifth Congress; again elected to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); clerk of the National House of Representatives 1861–1863; member of the state senate 1869–1870; defeated for governor in 1867; surveyor of customs in Memphis 1891–1894; died in 1902.

Eustis, George, jr., a Representative from Louisiana; born in New Orleans, La., September 28, 1828; was graduated from the Jefferson college of Louisiana and attended Howard University; admitted to the bar and began practice in New Orleans; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); secretary of the Confederate legation at Paris; secretary to John Slidell and was taken prisoner with him from the Trent in Havana in 1861; remained in Paris after the close of the war; commissioned by Elihu B. Washburne, the minister at Paris, to negotiate a postal treaty with the French government; died in Cannes, France, March 15, 1872.

Digitized by Google

Eustis, James Biddle, a Senator from Louisiana; born in New Orleans August 27, 1834; pursued classical studies; attended the Harvard law school 1853–1854; admitted to the bar in 1856, and practiced in New Orleans; entered the Confederate service at the commencement of hostilities as judge-advocate on the staff of General Magruder and transferred to the staff of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston; served until the close of the war; resumed practice in New Orleans; elected a member of the state legislature prior to the reconstruction acts; one of the committee sent to Washington to confer with President Johnson on Louisiana affairs; member of the state house of representatives in 1872; state senator 1874–1878; elected to the United States Senate in 1875; credentials were presented in the special session of that year, and after a contest was seated December 10, 1875, service to date from January 12, 1876; served until March 3, 1879; professor of civil law in the University of Louisiana; again elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat, and served from March 4, 1885, to March 3, 1891; practiced law in Washington, D. C., in 1891; ambassador to France 1893–1897; located in New York City; died in Newport, R. I., September 9, 1899.

Eustis, William, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Cambridge, Mass., June 10, 1753; was graduated from Harvard college in 1772; studied medicine, and served in the Revolutionary army as surgeon; resumed practice in Boston; accompanied the expedition, and as a surgeon, sent to suppress Shay's rebellion 1786–1787; representative in the state legislature 1788–1794; elected as a Democrat to the Seventh and Eighth Congresses (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1805); Secretary of War from March 7, 1809, to January 19, 1813; minister to the Netherlands December 19, 1814, to May 5, 1818; again elected to the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); elected governor of Massachusetts in 1823, and served until his death, in Boston, February 6, 1825.

Evans, Alexander, a Representative from Maryland; born in Elkton, Md.; attended the public schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Elkton in 1845; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth, Thirty-first, and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1853); died December 6, 1888.

Evans, Alvin, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ebensburg, Cambria county, Pa., October 4, 1845; attended the public schools of his native county; studied law, was admitted to the bar June 3, 1873; and practiced law in the several courts of Cambria county, the superior and supreme courts of the state, and the federal courts; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1905); died in Ebensburg, Pa., June 19, 1906.

Evans, David R., a Representative from South Carolina; born in Westminster, England, February 20, 1769; came with his father to South Carolina in 1784; attended Mount Zion college; studied law and in 1796 was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives 1800–1804; solicitor of the middle judicial circuit 1804–1811; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); declined a reelection and returned to his plantation; member of the state senate 1818–1826; died March 8, 1843.

Evans, George, a Representative and a Senator from Maine; born in Hallowell, Mass. (afterwards Maine), January 12, 1797; was graduated from Bowdoin college in 1815; studied law, and in 1818 was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives, and served as speaker in 1829; elected to the Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1841); elected as a Whig to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1841, until March 3, 1847; defeated for reelection; member of the commission to ascertain the claims against Mexico 1849–1850; elected attorney general of Maine in 1850, 1854, and 1856; died in Hallowell, Me., April 5, 1867.

Evans, Henry Clay, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Juniata county, Pa., June 18, 1843; attended the common schools and pursued an academic course; manufacturer; enlisted in the forty-first Wisconsin infantry during the civil war; located in Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1870; twice elected mayor; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); Assistant Postmaster General, 1891–1893; elected governor of Tennessee in 1894 on the face of the returns, but a legislative recount rejected certain votes and declared Turney elected; United States pension commissioner March 31, 1897, to May, 1902; appointed United States consul general to London, England, May 9, 1902, retiring in 1905; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1892, 1896, 1900, 1904, 1808, and 1912.

Evans, Isaac Newton, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in East Nantmeal township, Chester county, Pa., July 29, 1827; pursued an academic course; studied medicine; was graduated from the medical department of Bowdoin college, Maine, in 1851, and Jefferson college, of Philadelphia, in 1852; member of the Pennsylvania state medical society and the American medical association; president of the Hatboro national bank; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879), and reelected to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887).

Evans, James La Fayette, a Representative from Indiana; born in Hamson county, Ky., March 27, 1825; attended the public schools; moved to Indiana and located in Hancock county in 1837; moved to Hamilton county, Ind., and located in Noblesville in 1850; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); died in Noblesville, Ind., March 28, 1903.

Evans, John, a Delegate from Delaware; sat in the Continental Congress 1776–1777; was justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania; died December 11, 1783.

Digitized by Google

Evans, Jr., Joshua, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Paoli Hotel, Chester county, Pa., January 20, 1877; attended the public schools; brigader general of state militia; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1833); died in Paoli Hotel, Chester county, Pa., October 21, 1846.

Evans, Josiah James, a Senator from South Carolina; born in Marlboro District, S. C., November 27, 1786; was graduated in 1808 from South Carolina college; studied law, and in 1811 began practice in Marlboro District; member of the state house of representatives 1812–1813; moved to Darlington District in 1816, and again elected a member of the state house of representatives; state solicitor for the northern district 1816–1829; circuit judge 1829–1835, and of the higher court 1829–1852; elected as a State Rights Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1853, until his death in Washington, D. C., May 6, 1858.

Evans, Lemuel Dale, a Representative from Texas; born in Tennessee in 1810; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Marshall, Tex., in 1843, where he practiced law; member of the state convention that annexed the state of Texas to the Union in 1845; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); defeated for reelection; member of the reconstruction convention of 1868; appointed associate justice of the supreme court in 1870 and resigned in 1873; appointed United States marshal for the eastern judicial district of Texas in 1875; died in Washington, D. C., July 1, 1877.

Evans, Nathan, a Representative from Ohio; born in Belmont county, Ohio, June 24, 1804; completed preparatory studies; studied law, and in 1831 was admitted to the bar; began practice in Cambridge, Ohio; prosecuting attorney for Guernsey county 1842–1846; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); resumed practice in Cambridge, Ohio.

Evans, Thomas, a Representative from Virginia; native of Virginia; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected to the Fifth and Sixth Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1801).

Evans, Walter, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Barren county, Ky., September 18, 1842; attended school in Harrodsburg, Ky.; served in the Union army 1861–1863; studied law and was admitted to the bar of Christian county, Ky., in 1864; elected to the lower house of the state legislature in 1871 and to the senate in 1874; delegate to the Republican national conventions in 1868, 1872, 1880, and 1884; moved to Louisville, Ky., in 1874; Republican nominee for governor in 1879; on May 21, 1883, appointed by President Arthur Commissioner of Internal Revenue and served until April 20, 1885, when he returned to Louisville and resumed the practice of law; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899); appointed judge of the district court of the United States for the district of Kentucky, by President McKinley, March 4, 1899, which office he still holds and resides in Louisville, Ky.

Evarts, William Maxwell, a Senator from New York; born in Boston, Mass., February 6, 1818; pursued an academic course; was graduated from Yale college in 1837; was one of the four founders of the Yale Literary Magazine in 1836; studied in the Harvard law school, and was admitted to the bar in New York City in 1841, and practiced; was assistant United States district attorney 1849–1853; chairman of the New York delegation to the Republican national convention of 1860; member of the state constitutional convention of 1867–1868; Attorney General of the United States from July 15, 1868, to March 3, 1869; counsel for President Johnson on his trial upon his impeachment in 1868; counsel for the United States before the tribunal of arbitration on the Alabama claims at Geneva, Switzerland, in 1872; counsel for President Hayes, in behalf of the Republican party, before the electoral commission; Secretary of State of the United States from March 12, 1877, to March 3, 1881; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1885, to March 3, 1891; died in New York City February 28, 1901.

Eveleigh, Nicholas, a Delegate from South Carolina; sat in the Continental Congress 1781–1782.

Everett, Edward, a Representative and a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Dorchester, Mass., April 11, 1794; was graduated from Harvard college in 1811; tutor in Harvard 1812–1814; studied theology, and was ordained pastor of the Brattle street Unitarian church, Boston, February 9, 1814; elected professor of Greek literature in Harvard in 1814, and served as such 1819–1826; elected as a Whig to the Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1835); declined a reelection; governor of Massachusetts 1836–1840; declined a commission to China 1843; minister to Great Britain September 13, 1841, to August 8, 1845; elected president of Harvard college and served from 1846 to 1849; appointed Secretary of State under President Fillmore to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Daniel Webster, and served from November 6, 1852, to March 3, 1853; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1853, to May 17, 1854, when he resigned; defeated as the American compromise candidate for Vice President in 1860 on the ticket headed by John Bell; presidential elector in 1864 on the Lincoln and Johnson ticket; died in Boston, January 15, 1865.

Everett, Horace, a Representative from Vermont; born in Foxboro, Mass., July 17, 1779; was graduated from Brown university in 1797; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Windsor, Vt.; prosecuting attorney for Windsor county, 1813–1817; member of the state house of representatives 1820–1822 and again in 1834; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1828; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1843); died in Windsor, Vt., January 30, 1851.

Everett, Robert William, a Representative from Georgia; born near the village of Hayneville, Houston county, Ga., March 3, 1839; attended the village schools; was graduated from Mercer university in July, 1859; located in Polk county; engaged in teaching school; entered the Confederate army as a sergeant in Gen. N. B. Forrest's escort squadron, and served until the close of the war; commissioner of revenue; twelve years on the board of education, the last four as president of the board; member of the general assembly 1882–1885; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); again elected a member of the state legislature of Georgia; retired and resides in Rockmart, Ga.

Digitized by Google

Everett, William, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Watertown, Mass., October 10, 1839; attended the public schools of Cambridge and Boston; was graduated from Harvard college in 1859; from Trinity college, Cambridge, England, in 1863; from the law department of Harvard college in 1865; was admitted to the bar in 1866; studied for the ministry and was licensed to preach in 1872 by the Suffolk association of Unitarian ministers; tutor in Harvard college 1870–1873; assistant professor of Latin 1873–1877; master of Adams academy, Quincy, Mass., 1878–1893; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); died in Quincy, Mass., February 16, 1910.

Everhart, James Bowen, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in West Whiteland township, Chester county, Pa., July 26, 1821; attended Bolmar's academy in West Chester, Pa., and was graduated from Princeton in 1842; studied law in the Harvard law school and in Philadelphia, Pa., and was admitted to the bar in 1845; went abroad and spent two years in study in the universities of Berlin and Edinburgh; returned to West Chester, Pa., and engaged in the practice of law; served in the volunteer army raised to repel Lee's invasions in 1862 and 1863, and was major the latter year; member of the state senate from 1873 until 1883 when he resigned; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); died in West Chester, Pa., August 23, 1888.

Everhart, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Chester county, Pa., May 17, 1785; attended local schools and became a civil engineer; captain of a company of riflemen in the war of 1812; was the only passenger saved from the packet ship Albion, wrecked off the coast of Ireland in 1822; when he returned to Pennsylvania he platted a large addition to the city of West Chester; was elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); declined a reelection and resumed mercantile business; died in West Chester, Pa., October 30, 1868.

Evins, John Hamilton, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Spartanburg county, S. C., July 18, 1830; was graduated from South Carolina college in 1853; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1856; officer in the Confederate service; member of the legislature two terms; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1885); died in Spartanburg, S. C., October 20, 1884.

Ewart, Hamilton Glover, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Columbia, S. C., October 23, 1849; pursued an academic course; was graduated from the University of South Carolina, both literary and law departments; commenced practice in Hendersonville, N. C., in 1872; appointed register in bankruptcy; twice elected mayor of Hendersonville; district elector on the Hayes ticket in 1876; elected to the lower house of the legislature in 1886; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); elected judge of the criminal court in 1895; judge of the circuit court in 1897, and appointed judge of the United States district court for the western district of North Carolina in 1898.

Ewing, Andrew, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Nashville, Tenn.; completed preparatory studies; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); died June 16, 1864.

Ewing, Edwin H., a Representative from Tennessee; native of Tennessee; completed preparatory studies; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); died in 1902.

Ewing, John, a Representative from Indiana; born at sea while his parents were on their way from Cork to Baltimore in 1789; located in Indiana; attended the public schools; established the Wabash Transcript; engaged in commercial pursuits in Vincennes; served several years in both branches of the state legislature; elected to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835), and to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); died in Vincennes, Ind., April 6, 1858.

Ewing, John Hoge, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Fayette county, Pa., October 5, 1796; received a limited schooling; was graduated from Washington and Jefferson college, Pa., in 1814; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1818, and practiced; engaged in agricultural pursuits; member of the state house of representatives in 1835 and 1836; served in the state senate 1838–1842; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); died in Washington, Pa., June 9, 1887.

Ewing, Presley Underwood, a Representative from Kentucky; native of Russellville, Ky.; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served two terms in the state legislature; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); died in Mammoth Cave, Ky., September 27, 1854.

Ewing, Thomas, a Senator from Ohio; born near West Liberty, Va., December 28, 1789; moved with his parents to Ohio in 1792; completed preparatory studies in the Athens academy, which conferred on him the degree of A. B. in 1815, the first granted in Ohio; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1816; began practice in Lancaster, Ohio; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1831, to March 3, 1837; defeated for reelection; appointed Secretary of the Treasury by President Harrison, and served from March 5, 1841, to September 13, 1841; appointed Secretary of the Interior by President Taylor, and served from March 8, 1849, to July 23, 1850; appointed to the United States Senate to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas Corwin; served from July 20, 1850, to March 3, 1851; resumed the practice of law in Lancaster; delegate to the peace congress in 1861; delegate to the national Union convention in 1865; appointed Secretary of War by President Johnson February 22, 1868, but Senate refused to confirm the appointment; died in Lancaster, Ohio, October 26, 1871.

Ewing, Jr., Thomas, a Representative from Ohio; born in Lancaster, Ohio, August 7, 1829; was graduated from Brown university in 1849; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Cincinnati, Ohio; removed to Leavenworth, Kans.

Digitized by Google

in 1856; member of the peace conference from Kansas in 1861; chief justice supreme court of Kansas 1861-2; served in the Union Army as colonel eleventh Kansas infantry volunteers August, 1862; brigadier general United States volunteers September, 1863; brevet major general United States volunteers March, 1865; member of the constitutional convention of Ohio 1873-4; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877-March 3, 1881); moved to New York in 1881, where he engaged in the practice of law; died in New York City January 21, 1896.

Ewing, William Lee Davidson, a Senator from Illinois; born in Kentucky August 31, 1798; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Vandalia, Fayette county, Ill.; appointed receiver of public moneys at Vandalia in 1820; brigadier general of state militia; colonel of the "Spy Battalion" during the Black Hawk war; clerk of the state house of representatives 1826-1829; member of the state house of representatives in 1830, and served as speaker; served in the state senate, and was chosen president protempore of that body in 1832; commissioned acting lieutenant governor, March 1, 1833, caused by the resignation of Zadoc Casey; became governor of Illinois in November, 1834, as successor to John Reynolds who had resigned, and served only 15 days; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Elias Kane, and served from December 30, 1835, to March 3, 1837; defeated for reelection in 1837; again a state representative 1838 and 1840, and at each session chosen speaker over Abraham Lincoln; appointed auditor of public accounts in March, 1843; died in Vandalia, Ill., March 26, 1846; interment in Oak Ridge cemetery, Springfield, Ill.

Fair, James Graham, a Senator from Nevada; born near Belfast, county Tyrone, Ireland, December 3, 1831; came to this country with his parents in 1843 and settled in Illinois; received a thorough business training; in 1849 moved to California and engaged in mining until 1860, when he moved to Virginia City, Nev.; engaged extensively in mining; formed a partnership with John W. Mackay, J. C. Flood, and Wm. S. O'Brien in 1867; the firm purchased the control of the Bonanzas and various other well-known mines, the yield of gold and silver from which, while under the superintendency of Mr. Fair, is estimated at about $200,000,000; also engaged in real estate in San Francisco and was largely interested in the various manufactures of the Pacific coast; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1881, to March 3, 1887; died in San Francisco, Cal., December 28, 1894.

Fairbanks, Charles Warren, a Senator from Indiana; born near Unionville Center, Union county, Ohio, May 11, 1852; attended the common schools and was graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, Ohio, in 1872; agent of the Associated Press in Pittsburgh, Pa., and in Cleveland, Ohio; studied law and was admitted to the bar by the supreme court of Ohio in 1874; moved to Indianapolis, Ind., the same year and practiced; trustee of the Ohio Wesleyan university in 1885; chairman of the Indiana Republican state conventions of 1892 and 1898; candidate for United States Senator in 1893, but was defeated by David Turpie, Democrat; delegate at large to the Republican national convention in St. Louis in 1896 and in Philadelphia in 1900; appointed a member of the United States and British joint high commission which met in Quebec in 1898 for the adjustment of Canadian questions; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate January 20, 1897; reelected in 1903, and served from March 4, 1897, until his resignation March 3, 1905; delegate to Republican national convention in Chicago in 1904; vice president of the United States from March 4, 1905, to March 4, 1909; resumed the practice of law in Indianapolis, Ind.

Fairchild, Benjamin Lewis, a Representative from New York; born in Sweden, N. Y., January 5, 1863; moved with his parents to Washington, D. C., in 1865; attended the public schools of Washington, and at the age of 13 entered the draftsman division of the Interior Department, and two years later the Bureau of Engraving and Printing of the Treasury Department; studied law and was graduated from the Columbian law school in 1885; was admitted to the bar and practiced in New York City; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895-March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in New York City and a resident of Pelham, N. Y.

Fairchild, George Winthrop, a Representative from New York; born in Oneonta, Otsego county, N. Y., May 6, 1854; completed preparatory studies; apprenticed as a printer; president of the Oneonta Herald publishing company; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907-March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Fairfield, John, a Representative and a Senator from Maine; born in Saco, Me., January 30, 1797; received a limited schooling; studied law and in 1826 was admitted to the bar; appointed reporter of the state supreme court in 1832; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835-March 3, 1839); governor 1839-1843; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Reuel Williams; reelected, and served from March 4, 1843, until his death in Washington, D. C., December 24, 1847.

Faran, James J., a Representative from Ohio; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, December 29, 1808; attended the common schools and was graduated from Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, in 1831; studied law, was admitted to bar in 1833, and engaged in practice in Cincinnati; member of state house of representatives 1835-1836 and 1837-1839, and served as speaker 1838-1839; served in the state senate 1839-1843, and speaker of the senate 1841-1843; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845-March 3, 1849); mayor of Cincinnati 1855-1857; postmaster 1857-1861 under President Buchanan; associate editor and proprietor of the Enquirer 1844-1881; died in Cincinnati, Ohio, December 12, 1892.

Faris, George Washington, a Representative from Indiana; born in Jasper county, Ind., June 9, 1854; his early life was spent on a farm in Pulaski county, Ind.; was graduated from Asbury university in 1877; read law and was admitted to the bar in 1877, and practiced in Terre Haute, Ind.; Republican nominee for the circuit judgeship in 1884, but was defeated; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1895-March 3, 1901); resumed the practice of law in Terre Haute, Ind.

Digitized by Google

Farlee, Isaac Gray, a Representative from New Jersey; born in White House, Hunterdon county, N. J., May 18, 1787; attended the public schools; engaged in the mercantile business in Flemington; member of the state assembly in 1819, 1821, 1828, 1830; clerk of Hunterdon county 1830–1840; brigadier-general of state militia; elected to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); defeated for reelection; member of the state senate 1847–1849; judge of the court of common pleas 1852–1855; died in Flemington, N. J., January 12, 1855.

Farley, Ephraim Wilder, a Representative from Maine; born in Newcastle, Me., August 29, 1817; was graduated from Bowdoin college in 1836; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Newcastle; member of the state house of representatives 1843 and 1851–1853; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); defeated for the Thirty-fourth Congress; member of the state senate in 1856; died in Newcastle, Me., April 3, 1880.

Farley, James Thompson, a Senator from California; born in Albemarle county, Va., August 6, 1829; completed preparatory studies; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1854; went to California in 1850 and practiced law; member of the state assembly 1855–1856, and served as speaker in 1856; served in the state senate 1869–1876 and as president pro tempore 1871–1872; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1879, until March 3, 1885; resumed the practice of law; died in Jackson, Cal., January 22, 1886.

Farlin, Dudley, a Representative from New York; born in Norwich, Conn., September 2, 1777; engaged in the lumber and grain business; supervisor of the town of Warrensburg 1818–1820, 1827–1828; sheriff of Warren county 1821–1822 and 1828; member of the state assembly in 1824; presidential elector in 1832; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); died in Warrensburg, N. Y., September 26, 1837.

Farnsworth, John Franklin, a Representative from Illinois; born in Eaton, Canada, March 27, 1820; completed preparatory studies; located in Michigan; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Chicago, Ill.; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); served in the Union Army as a colonel of cavalry and brigadier general; elected to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1873); died in Washington, D. C., July 14, 1897.

Farquhar, John Hanson, a Representative from Indiana; born in Union Bridge, Carroll county, Md., December 20, 1818; moved with his parents to Indiana in 1833; attended the public schools and became a civil engineer; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Brookville, Md.; secretary of the state senate in 1842–1843; chief clerk of the state house of representatives in 1844; presidential elector on the Lincoln and Hamlin ticket in 1860; served as captain of the nineteenth infantry of the regular army in the civil war; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); engaged in the banking business in Indianapolis; appointed secretary of state by Governor Conrad Baker; died in Indianapolis, Ind., October 3, 1873.

Farquhar, John McCreath, a Representative from New York; born near Ayr, Scotland, April 17, 1832; attended Ayr academy; for thirty-three years a printer, editor, and publisher; enlisted in the Union Army as a private in the eighty-ninth Illinois infantry, rose to the rank of major, and served as judge advocate and as inspector on the staffs of Generals Willich, Beatty, and Wood in the fourth Army corps; was awarded a medal of honor for distinguished bravery and skill on the battlefield of Stone River, Tenn.; located in Buffalo, N. Y.; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1891); member of the industrial commission 1898–1902; resides in Buffalo, N. Y.

Farr, Evarts Worcester, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Littleton, N. H., October 10, 1840; attended Dartmouth college; entered the Union Army as a private and attained the rank of major; mustered out of service June 4, 1865; was admitted to the bar in 1867; member of the executive council of New Hampshire in 1876; assistant assessor of internal revenue 1865–1869; assessor 1869–1873; solicitor for Grafton county 1873–1879; elected as a member to the Forty-sixth Congress and served from March 4, 1879, until his death in Littleton, N. H., November 30, 1880.

Farrelly, John W., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Meadville, Pa., July 7, 1809; received a limited schooling; served in the state senate in 1828 and 1838–1841; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); appointed Sixth Auditor of the Treasury by President Taylor and served from November 5, 1849, until his death in Washington, D. C., April 7, 1853.

Farrelly, Patrick, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ireland in 1760; emigrated to the United States; received a limited schooling; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Meadville; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1827); died in Meadville, Pa., January 12, 1826.

Farrington, James, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Conway, N. H., July 26, 1789; was graduated from Fryeburg academy, Maine; studied medicine, and began practice in Rochester, N. H.; served in both branches of the legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); appointed one of the trustees of the New Hampshire insane asylum in 1845; died in Rochester, N. H., October 29, 1859.

Farrow, Samuel, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Virginia in 1759; moved with his father's family to South Carolina, and settled in Spartanburg district in 1765; served in the Revolutionary War; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1793; began practice in Spartanburg, S. C.; lieutenant governor of South Carolina in 1810–1812; elected as a War Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); reelected to the Fourteenth Congress, but declined to serve; member of the state house of representatives 1816–1821; died in Columbia, S. C., November 18, 1824.

Farwell, Charles Benjamin, a Representative and a Senator from Illinois; born in Painted Post, N. Y., July 1, 1823; attended Elmira academy; moved to Illinois in 1838; employed in government surveying and in farming until 1844, when he engaged in real estate business and banking in Chicago; elected county clerk of Cook county in 1853, and reelected in 1857; subsequently engaged in mercantile pursuits; appointed a member of the state board of equalization in 1867; chairman of the board of supervisors of Cook county in 1868; appointed national-bank examiner in 1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); reelected to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); elected to the United States Senate January, 19, 1887, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John A. Logan, and served from January 19, 1887, until March 3, 1891; died in Lake Forest, Ill., September 23, 1903.

Digitized by Google

Farwell, Nathan Allen, a Delegate and a Senator from Maine; born in Unity, Me., February 24, 1812; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Rockland, Me.; member of the state house of representatives 1860, 1863, and 1864; served in the state senate in 1853, 1854, 1861, and 1862, and the last year as presiding officer; delegate to the Republican national convention in Baltimore in 1864; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Pitt Fessenden; subsequently elected to fill the vacancy and served from October 27, 1864, to March 3, 1865; delegate in the Philadelphia Loyalist convention of 1866; died in Rockland, Me., December 9, 1893.

Farwell, Sewell Spaulding, a Representative from Iowa; born near Keene, Coshocton county, Ohio, April 26, 1834; pursued an academic course; moved to Iowa in 1852 and engaged in farming; enlisted in the Union Army in 1862 as captain of company H, thirty-first Iowa volunteer infantry, and served until the close of the war; member of the state senate 1865–1869; assessor of internal revenue 1869–1873; collector of internal revenue 1875–1881; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); after leaving Congress elected president of the Monticello state bank; died in Monticello, Iowa, September 21, 1909.

Fassett, Jacob Sloat, a Representative from New York; born in Elmira, N. Y., November 13, 1853; was graduated from the University of Rochester in June, 1875; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1878; district attorney Chemung county 1878–79; became a student in Heidelberg university, Germany; returned to Elmira in 1882; member of the New York senate 1883–1891, and served as president pro tempore in 1889; secretary of the Republican national committee for the campaign of 1888; defeated for governor in 1891; temporary chairman of the Republican national convention in Minneapolis in 1892; elected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911); engaged in the banking business in Elmira, N. Y.

Faulkner, Charles James, a Representative from Virginia and West Virginia; born in Martinsburg, W. Va., July 6, 1806; was graduated from Georgetown university, D. C., in 1822; attended Chancellor Tucker's law lectures in Winchester, Va.; was admitted to the bar in 1829 and practiced; member of the Virginia house of representatives 1832–1833; commissioner of Virginia on the disputed boundaries between that state and Maryland; member of the state senate 1841–1844, but resigned; elected a member of the revising legislature in 1848; member of the state constitutional convention in 1850; elected from Virginia to the Thirty-second, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1859); appointed United States minister to France by President Buchanan in 1859; returned to the United States in August, 1861, and detained as a prisoner of state, but exchanged in December, 1861, for Alfred Ely, member of the United States House of Representatives from New York; entered the Confederate army as a member of Stonewall Jackson's staff; engaged in railroad enterprises; member of the state constitutional convention of West Virginia in 1872; elected as a Democrat from West Virginia to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); died in Boydville, W. Va., November 1, 1884.

Faulkner, Charles James, a Senator from West Virginia; born in Boydville, Berkeley county, W. Va., September 21, 1847; accompanied his father, who was minister to France in 1859; attended school in Paris and Switzerland; returned to the United States in August, 1861, and after the arrest of his father immediately went South; in 1862, at the age of fifteen entered the Virginia military institute at Lexington; served with the cadets in the battle of New Market; served as aid to Gen. J. C. Breckinridge, and afterwards to Gen. Henry A. Wise, and surrendered with him at Appomattox; on his return to Boydville studied law; was graduated from the University of Virginia in June, 1868; was admitted to the bar in September, 1868; in October, 1880, elected judge of the thirteenth judicial circuit; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate; reelected in 1893 and served from March 4, 1887, to March 3, 1899; permanent chairman of the Democratic state convention of West Virginia in 1888, and both temporary and permanent chairman of the Democratic state convention of 1892; resumed the practice of law in Martinsburg, W. Va., and in Washington, D. C.; member of the international joint high commission.

Favrot, George Kent, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Baton Rouge, La., November 26, 1868; was graduated from the Louisiana state university in 1888 and from the law department of Tulane university, New Orleans, La., in 1890; elected district attorney of the twenty-second judicial district of Louisiana in 1892; defeated for reelection in 1896; elected a delegate from the state at large to the constitutional convention of 1898; reelected district attorney in 1900, and district judge in 1904; elected to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); member of the state legislature in 1912; resumed the practice of law in Baton Rouge, La.

Fay, Francis Ball, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Southboro, Mass., June 12, 1793; received a limited education; engaged in mercantile pursuits; postmaster of Southboro; deputy sheriff of Worcester county 1824–1830; member of the Massachusetts general court 1830–1831; moved to Chelsea, which he represented in the Massachusetts general court in 1834–1836 and 1840; state senator in 1843–1845, and 1848; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Robert Rantoul, and served from December 29, 1852, to March 3, 1853; mayor of Chelsea in 1857; founder of the state reform school in Lancaster, where he located in 1858; member of the state senate in 1868; died in South Lancaster, Mass., October 6, 1876.

Digitized by Google

Fay, John, a Representative from New York; born in Hardwick, Worcester county, Mass., in 1772; attended the public schools; moved with parents to New York and located in Montgomery county, and later in Galway, Saratoga county; moved to Northampton, Fulton county, in 1804; engaged in farming, milling, and manufacturing; held various local offices, and was postmaster of Northampton several years; member of the state house of representatives in 1812; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); a presidential elector in 1840; died in Northampton, N. Y., June 21, 1855.

Fearing, Paul, a Delegate from the Northwest Territory; born in Wareham, Mass., February 28, 1762; was graduated from Harvard college in 1785; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected a Delegate to the Seventh Congress (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1803); associate judge of the court of common pleas in 1810; died in his home, just below the mouth of the Muskingum river, August 21, 1822.

Featherston, Lewis Porter, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Oxford, Miss., July 28, 1851; attended common schools and the law department of Cumberland university, Tenn.; engaged in planting in Shelby county, Tenn., 1872–1881; moved to St. Francis county, Ark., and engaged in planting; member of the state house of representatives 1887–1888; elected president of the State Wheel (a farmers' organization) in 1887 and reelected in 1888; successfully contested the election of William H. Cate to the Fifty-first Congress, and served from March 5, 1890, until March 3, 1891; candidate on the Union-Labor ticket for reelection, but was defeated; engaged in real estate business in Galveston, Tex.

Featherston, Winfield Scott, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Rutherford county, Tenn., August 8, 1820; completed preparatory studies; moved to Mississippi and located in Houston; was admitted to the bar in 1840; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); defeated for reelection; served in the Confederate army; moved to Holly Springs in 1856; commissioned brigadier general March 4, 1862; paroled in Greensborough, N. C., May 1, 1865; member of the state legislature in 1876 and 1880; member of the state constitutional convention in 1890; died in Holly Springs, Miss., May 28, 1891.

Feely, John Joseph, a Representative from Illinois; born near Wilmington, Will county, Ill., August 1, 1875; attended the public schools and Niagara university, Niagara, N. Y., and was graduated from the Yale law school in 1897; admitted to the bar in Connecticut in 1897 and in Illinois in 1898; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1903); died in Chicago, Ill., February 15, 1905.

Felch, Alpheus, a Senator from Michigan; born in Limerick, Me., September 28, 1806; prepared for college in Phillips Exeter academy, and was graduated from Bowdoin in 1827; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Houlton, Me., 1830–1833; moved to Monroe, Mich., in 1833, and continued practice; represented Monroe county in the state legislature 1835, 1836, and 1837; state bank commissioner 1838–1839, and rendered great service in stamping out the so-called "wild-cat" banks; auditor general of the state in 1842; appointed associate justice of the Michigan supreme court in 1842; removed to Ann Arbor, Mich., in 1843; elected governor as a Democrat in 1845, and resigned from the bench; served as governor from January 5, 1846, to March 3, 1847, when he resigned to take a seat in the United States Senate, to which he had been elected in February preceding; served as United States Senator from March 4, 1847, to March 3, 1853; president of the commission to settle Spanish and Mexican war claims 1853–1856; died in Ann Arbor, Mich., June 13, 1896.

Felder, John Myers, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Orangeburg District, S. C., July 7, 1782; was graduated from Yale college in 1804; studied law in Litchfield, Conn.; was admitted to the bar in 1808 and began practice in Orangeburg, S. C.; served several years in the state legislature; major of volunteers in the War of 1812; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1835); declined a reelection, but did not resume practice; elected a state senator in 1840, and successively reelected until he died near Union Point, Ga., September 1, 1851.

Fell, John, a Delegate from New Jersey; native of that state; attended the public schools; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1778–1780.

Fellows, John R., a Representative from New York; born in Troy, N. Y., July 29, 1832; moved to Camden, Ark., 1850; read law there, and was admitted to the bar in 1855, and practiced in Camden; entered the Confederate army in the first Arkansas regiment; after the battle of Shiloh assigned to staff duties as assistant adjutant and inspector general, and ordered to report to General Van Dorn at Vicksburg; assigned to the staff of Brig. Gen. W. N. R. Bell, commanding a district in General Van Dorn's department; captured at the surrender of Port Hudson, La., July 9, 1863, and released June 10, 1865; returned to Camden, Ark., and resumed the practice of law; elected to the state senate; moved to New York City in 1868; appointed assistant district attorney in 1869; elected district attorney in 1887; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses, and served from March 4, 1891, to December 22, 1893, when he resigned; again district attorney of New York City from January 1, 1894, until his death; died in New York City, December 7, 1896.

Felton, Charles Norton, a Representative and a Senator from California; born in Clarence, Erie county, N. Y., in 1830; pursued an academic course in Syracuse, N. Y.; went to California in 1849; engaged in mercantile business and afterwards banking; was assistant treasurer and treasurer of the mint in San Francisco for six years; elected to the legislature of California in 1880 and served two terms; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of George Hearst, and served from March 19, 1891, to March 3, 1893; retired and resides in San Francisco, Cal.

Felton, William Harrell, a Representative from Georgia; born in Oglethorpe county, Ga., June 19, 1823; was graduated from the University of Georgia, in Athens, in August, 1843, and from the Medical College of Georgia, in Augusta, in March, 1844; Methodist minister; member of the state house of representatives in 1851; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1881); served in the state legislature 1884–1890; trustee from state at large for University of Georgia for ten years; died in Cartersville, Ga., September 24, 1909.

Digitized by Google

Fenn, Stephen Southmyd, a Delegate from Idaho Territory; born in Watertown, Conn., March 28, 1820; moved in 1824 with his parents to Niagara county, N. Y.; attended the public schools; moved in 1841 to Jackson county, Iowa, where he held several local offices; moved to California in 1850 and engaged in mining and ranching; again moved in 1862 to that part of Washington Territory which became a part of Idaho upon its organization in 1863; there mined and practiced law; elected a member of the legislative council 1864–1865; district attorney for the first judicial district in 1869; again a member of the legislative assembly in 1872, and served one year as speaker of the house; engaged in agricultural pursuits; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); died in Blackfoot, Idaho, in April, 1892.

Fenner, James, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Providence, R. I., January 22, 1771; was graduated from Brown university in 1789; served several years in the state house of representatives; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1805, to September, 1807, when he resigned, having been elected governor of Rhode Island, which office he filled 1807–1811, 1824–1831, and 1843–1845; presidential elector in 1817, 1821, and 1837; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1842 and its president; died in Providence, R. I., April 17, 1846.

Fenton, Lucien Jerome, a Representative from Ohio; born in Winchester, Ohio, May 7, 1844; attended the public schools, Lebanon normal school, and Ohio university, Athens; enlisted as a private in the ninety-first Ohio regiment August 11, 1862, and served until dangerously wounded at the battle of Winchester, Va., September 19, 1864; teacher and superintendent of public schools in Ohio for a number of years; organized the Winchester bank, becoming its cashier and manager in 1884; appointed a trustee of the Ohio university, at Athens, by Governor McKinley in 1892; delegate to the national Republican convention at Minneapolis in 1892; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); after leaving Congress became cashier of a bank in Winchester, Ohio.

Fenton, Reuben Eaton, a Representative and a Senator from New York; born in Carroll, Chautauqua county, N. Y., July 4, 1819; completed preparatory studies; studied law; engaged in mercantile pursuits; elected supervisor of Carroll in 1843; governor of New York 1865–1866 and 1867–1868; elected to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); reelected to the Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, and Thirty-eighth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, to December 10, 1864, when he resigned, having been elected governor; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1869, to March 3, 1875; appointed chairman of the United States commission to the International monetary conference in 1878; died in Jamestown, N. Y., August 25, 1885.

Ferdon, John William, a Representative from New York; born in Piermont, Rockland county, N. Y., in 1828; was graduated from Rutgers college, New Brunswick, N. J., in 1847; studied law and was graduated in 1851; member of the state assembly in 1855; of the senate in 1856–1857; delegate to the Republican national convention in Baltimore in 1864, which nominated Mr. Lincoln a second time; delegate to the Cincinnati national convention which nominated Hayes and Wheeler in 1876; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881): died in Piermont, N. Y., August 5, 1884.

Ferguson, Fenner, a Delegate from Nebraska Territory; born in Rensselaer county, N. Y., April 25, 1814; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; began practice in Albany, N. Y.; moved to Michigan; member of the state legislature; appointed chief justice of Nebraska in 1854; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); died in Bellevue, Nebr., October 11, 1859.

Fergusson, Harvey Butler, a Delegate and a Representative from New Mexico Territory; born in Pickens county, Ala., September 9, 1848; was graduated from the Washington and Lee university, Lexington, Va., in 1873, and from the law department of that university in 1874; taught in the Shenandoah Valley academy in Winchester, Va.; was admitted to the bar, commenced the practice of law in Wheeling, W. Va., moved to Albuquerque, N. Mex., in 1882, and engaged in the practice of law; special United States attorney 1893–1894; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); defeated for reelection in 1898 and 1902. Reelected as a Representative to the Sixty-second Congress.

Ferrell, Thomas M., a Representative from Jersey; born in Glassboro, N. J., June 20, 1844; attended the common schools and completed an academic course; elected a member of the township committee 1872–1873; member of the school board three terms of three years each; member of the general assembly 1879–1880; state senator for the county of Gloucester; elected as a Democrat to the forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885).

Ferris, Charles G., a Representative from New York; born in New York City; received a limited education; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in New York City; member of the board of aldermen 1832–1833; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Dudley Selden, and served from December 1, 1834, to March 3, 1835; reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843).

Ferris, Scott, a Representative from Oklahoma; born in Neosho, Newton county, Mo., November 3, 1877; was graduated from the Newton county high school in 1897, and from the Kansas City school of law in 1901; was admitted to the bar, practiced law in Lawton, Okla.; elected to the legislature of Oklahoma in 1904; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Ferriss, Orange, a Representative from New York; born in Glens Falls, N. Y., November 26, 1814; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1840, and practiced; surrogate from February, 1840 to March 1845; judge of Warren county 1851–1863; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); died in Glens Falls, N. Y., April 11, 1894.

Digitized by Google

Ferry, Orris Sanford, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Bethel, Conn., August 15, 1823; was graduated from Yale college in 1844; studied law, and in 1846 was admitted to the bar; appointed judge of probate in 1849; member of the state senate 1855–1856; state attorney for Fairfield county 1856–1859; defeated for the Thirty-fifth Congress; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); defeated for the Thirty-seventh Congress; entered the Union Army in 1861 as colonel of the fifth Connecticut volunteers; promoted brigadier general in 1862, and served until the close of the war; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate; reelected in 1873 by a combination of Independent Republicans and Democrats, and served from March 4, 1867, until his death in Norwalk, Conn., November 21, 1875.

Ferry, Thomas White, a Representative and a Senator from Michigan; born in the old mission house of the Astor fur company on Mackinac Island, Mich., June 10, 1827; moved with his father's family to Grand Haven, Mich.; attended the public schools; engaged in business pursuits in Grand Haven; member of the house of representatives of Michigan 1850–1852; member of the state senate 1856; delegate in the Chicago Republican convention of 1860; appointed in 1864 to represent Michigan on the board of managers of the Gettysburg national cemetery, and reappointed in 1867; delegate in the Loyalist convention in Philadelphia in 1866; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1871); reelected to the Forty-second Congress, but did not take his seat, having been elected to the United States Senate; took his seat in the Senate March 4, 1871; was reelected, and served until March 3, 1883; President of the Senate pro tempore March 9, March 19, and December 20, 1875; by the death of Vice President Wilson became acting Vice President, and served until March 4, 1877; presided over the high court of impeachment of Secretary of War Belknap, and over the sixteen joint meetings of the two houses during the Hayes-Tilden contest; designated by the President to represent him at the Centennial celebration in Philadelphia, July 4, 1876; reelected President of the Senate pro tempore March 5, 1877, February 26, 1878, April 17, 1878, and March 3, 1879; died in Grand Haven, Mich., October 13, 1896.

Fessenden, Samuel Clement, a Representative from Maine; born in New Gloucester, Me., March 7, 1815; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Bowdoin college in 1834, and from the Bangor, Me., theological seminary in 1837; was ordained and installed as pastor of the Second Congregational church, Rockland, Me., 1837–1856; studied law, was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in 1858; elected judge of the Rockland municipal court; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863), examiner in the United States patent office 1865–1879; United States consul at St. John, New Brunswick, 1879–1881; died in Stamford, Conn., April 18, 1882.

Fessenden, Thomas Amory Deblois, a Representative from Maine; born in Portland, Me., January 23, 1826; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Bowdoin college in 1845; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Auburn, Me., in 1848; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1856; member of the state house of representatives in 1860 and 1868; prosecuting attorney for Androscoggin county 1861–1862; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles W. Walton, and served from December 1, 1862, to March 3, 1863; died in Auburn, Me., September 28, 1868.

Fessenden, William Pitt, a Representative and a Senator from Maine; born in Boscawen, N. H., October 16, 1806; was graduated from Bowdoin college in 1823; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1827, and practiced in Bridgeton, Bangor, and Portland, Me.; member of the state house of representatives in 1832 and 1840; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); declined to be a candidate for reelection; again a member of the state legislature 1845–1846; defeated as a Whig candidate for the Thirty-second Congress; again a member of the state legislature 1853–1854; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate; reelected as a Republican in 1854 and served from March 4, 1853, until July 1, 1864, when he resigned; appointed by President Lincoln Secretary of the Treasury, and served from July 1, 1864, to March 3, 1865; again elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1865, until his death, in Portland, Me., September 8, 1869.

Few, William, a Delegate and a Senator from Georgia; born near Baltimore, Md., June 8, 1748; moved to North Carolina with his family in 1758; completed elementary studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Augusta, Ga.; member of the state legislature 1777, 1779, 1783, and 1793; member executive council 1777–1778; engaged in the expedition for the subjugation of East Florida; presiding judge of Richmond county court, and surveyor general in 1778; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1780–1782 and 1785–1788; delegate to the convention which revised the Federal Constitution in 1787; delegate in the Georgia convention that ratified the Federal Constitution in 1788; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1789, to March 3, 1793; judge of the circuit court of Georgia 1794–1797; moved to New York City in 1799; member of the state house of representatives 1802–1805; United States commissioner of loans in 1804; state prison inspector 1802–1810; died in Fishkill, N. Y., July 16, 1828.

Ficklin, Orlando Bell, a Representative from Illinois; born in Scott county, Ky., December 16, 1808; was graduated at Transylvania law school in 1830; was admitted to the bar in 1830 and commenced practice in Mount Carmel, Ill.; moved to Charleston, Ill., in 1837; member of the state house of representatives in 1835, 1838, and 1842; attorney for the Wabash circuit in 1835; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1849); reelected to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); presidential elector on the Buchanan and Breckinridge ticket in 1856; died in Charleston, Ill., May 5, 1886.

Digitized by Google

Fiedler, William Henry Frederick, a Representative from New Jersey; born in New York City August 25, 1847; attended public and high schools; elected an alderman of Newark in 1876; member of the state legislature in 1877; reelected alderman in 1878; reelected a member of the legislature in 1878; mayor of Newark in 1879; reelected to the legislature in 1882; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); postmaster of Newark, N. J., 1885–1889; engaged in the real estate business in Newark, N. J.

Field, David Dudley, a Representative from New York; born in Haddam, Conn., February 13, 1805; was graduated from Williams college in 1825; studied law and was admitted to the bar in New York City in 1828; member of the commission on legal practice and procedure in 1847–1850; member of a state commission to prepare a political, penal, and civil code 1857–1865; was elected to the Forty-fourth Congress as a Democrat to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Smith Ely, jr., and served from January 11, 1877, to March 3, 1877; died in New York, April 18, 1894.

Field, Moses Whelock, a Representative from Michigan; born in Watertown, Jefferson county, N. Y., February 10, 1828; attended the public schools and the academy in Victor, N. Y.; moved to Michigan in 1844 and engaged in mercantile and agricultural pursuits; elected alderman of Detroit in 1866; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); defeated for reelection; regent of the University of Michigan in 1888; died in Detroit, Mich., March 14, 1899.

Field, Richard Stockton, a Senator from New Jersey; born in Princeton, N. J., December 31, 1803; pursued an academic course and was graduated from Princeton in 1821; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1825, and commenced practice in Salem, N. J.; moved to Princeton, N. J., in 1833; member of the state assembly in 1837; attorney-general of the state 1838–1841; member of the state constitutional convention of 1844; elected professor in the Princeton Law college in 1847; appointed United States Senator, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John R. Thomson, and served from November 21, 1862, to January 14, 1863; appointed by President Lincoln judge of the United States district court for the district of New Jersey, and served from January 21, 1863, until his death in Princeton, N. J., May 25, 1870.

Field, Scott, a Representative from Texas; native of Mississippi; completed preparatory studies; served in the Confederate army as a private; after the war he resumed his studies and finished the literary course in the University of Virginia in 1868; taught school, read law, and was admitted to the bar in 1872; moved to Calvert, Tex., and practiced his profession; elected county attorney in 1875; member of the state senate in 1888; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907).

Field, Walbridge Abner, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Springfield, Vt., April 26, 1833; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1855, studied law in Boston and in the Harvard law school; was admitted to the bar in Boston in 1860; appointed assistant attorney of the United States in 1865, and held the office until April, 1869, when appointed Assistant Attorney General of the United States, and held this office until August, 1870, when he resigned; resumed the practice of law in Boston; presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Forty-fifth Congress, and served from March 4, 1877, until March 28, 1878, when he was succeeded by Benjamin Dean, who contested his election; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); appointed by Governor Long to the bench of the supreme judicial court in February, 1881; promoted to the position of chief justice in 1890, and served until his death in Boston, Mass., July 15, 1899.

Fielder, George Bragg, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Jersey City, N. J., July 24, 1842; attended the public schools and Selleck's academy, Norwalk, Conn.; enlisted in 1862 in the Union army during the civil war as a private in the twenty-first New Jersey volunteers and was promoted to sergeant-major and lieutenant; wounded and taken prisoner in May, 1863, at the battle of Maryes Heights, Va.; elected register of the county of Hudson in 1884, and reelected in 1889; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); elected register for a third time in 1895.

Fields, William Craig, a Representative from New York; born in New York City February 13, 1804; attended the public schools; went to Laurens, where he was justice of the peace for sixteen years, and subsequently supervisor; county clerk of Otsego 1853–1856; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); died in Laurens, N. Y., October 27, 1882.

Fillmore, Millard, a Representative from New York; born in Locke township, Cayuga county, N. Y., January 7, 1800; was self-instructed under the most adverse conditions; studied law in Montville, N. Y., was admitted to the bar in 1823, and commenced practice in East Aurora, N. Y.; moved to Buffalo, N. Y., in 1830; member of the state house of representatives 1829–1831; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); reelected to the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1843); declined a renomination; defeated as the Whig candidate for governor in 1844; elected state comptroller in 1847; elected Vice President on the Whig ticket headed by Zachary Taylor in 1848; became President of the United States upon the death of President Taylor, and served from July 9, 1850, to March 3, 1853; defeated as the Whig candidate for President in 1852, and as National American candidate in 1856; president of the Buffalo historical society, and commanded a corps of home guards during the Civil war; died in Buffalo, N. Y., March 8, 1874.

Finch, Isaac, a Representative from New York; born in the State of New Yrok; attended the public schools; member of the state house of representatives 1822–1824; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831).

Finck, William E., a Representative from Ohio; a resident of Somerset, Ohio; elected to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867).

Finck, William Edward, a Representative from Ohio; born in Somerset, Ohio, September 1, 1822; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in September, 1843, and practiced in Somerset, Ohio; member of the state senate in 1851; delegate to the Whig national convention which nominated Scott and Graham in 1852; state senator again in 1861; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); defeated as the Democratic candidate for judge of the supreme court of Ohio in 1868; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Hugh J. Jewett, and served from December 7, 1874, to March 3, 1875; died in Somerset, Ohio, January 25, 1901.

Digitized by Google

Findlay, James, a Representative from Ohio; born in Mercersburg, Pa., October 2, 1770; attended the public schools; moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1793; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the territorial legislative council in 1798; of the state house of representatives 1803; served in the War of 1812 as colonel of the second Ohio volunteer infantry and was commissioned brigadier-general of state militia for gallant services in 1812; appointed United States receiver of public moneys at Cincinnati in 1800; appointed United States marshal for Ohio in 1802; mayor of Cincinnati, Ohio, 1810–1811; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1833); defeated as the Jackson Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio in 1834; died in Cincinnati, Ohio, December 28, 1835.

Findlay, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Mercersburg, Pa., March 31, 1766; received a limited schooling; prothonotary 1809–1821; moved to Chambersburg, Pa.; register and recorder of deeds; clerk of the orphans court; clerk of the court of quarter sessions; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1827); appointed postmaster at Chambersburg, Pa., and held the office until his death in Chambersburg, Pa., November 5, 1838.

Findlay, John Van Lear, a Representative from Maryland; born near Williamsport, Md., December 21, 1839; was graduated from Princeton in 1858; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Baltimore, Md.; member of the state legislature; collector of internal revenue for one of the Baltimore districts; city solicitor for Baltimore; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); died in Baltimore, Md., April 19, 1907.

Findlay, William, a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Mercersburg, Pa., June 20, 1768; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Franklinton, Pa.; member of the state house of representatives in 1797 and 1803; state treasurer 1807–1817; governor of Pennsylvania 1817–1820; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from December 10, 1821, to March 3, 1827; Treasurer of the United States mint 1827–1840; died in Harrisburg, Pa., November 12, 1846.

Findley, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ireland, January 11, 1751; attended the parish schools; came to the United States and located in Philadelphia; served in the Revolutionary War; moved to Westmoreland county, Pa.; member of the state legislature; delegate to the state constitutional convention; elected as a Democrat to the Second, Third, Fourth, and Fifth Congresses (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1799), and reelected to the Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1817); died near Greensburg, Pa., April 5, 1821.

Fine, John, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, August 26, 1784; was graduated from Columbia college, New York, in 1809; studied law in the Litchfield law school; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Ogdensburg, N. Y., in 1815; first judge of the court of common pleas for St. Lawrence county, 1824–1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); again judge of the court of common pleas from February 16, 1843, until the court was abolished in 1847; member of the state senate in 1848; died in Ogdensburg, N. Y., January 4, 1867.

Finerty, John Frederick, a Representative from Illinois; born in Galway, Ireland, September 10, 1846; instructed by private tuition; came to America in 1864; enlisted in the Union Army during the Civil War and served in the ninety-ninth New York state militia in the United States service; correspondent for the Chicago Times in the Sioux war of 1876, with General Crook; in the Northern Indian (Sioux) war of 1879, with General Miles; in the Ute campaign, 1879, with General Merritt, and afterwards in the Apache campaign of 1881 with General Carr; correspondent in Washington during the sessions of the Forty-sixth Congress; established The Citizen, a weekly newspaper, in Chicago, in 1882; elected as an Independent Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Chicago, Ill., June 10, 1908.

Finkelnburg, Gustavus Adolphus, a Representative from Missouri; born near Cologne, Prussia, April 6, 1837; emigrated to Missouri with his family in 1848; pursued an academic course in St. Charles college, Missouri; was graduated from the law department of Ohio university in Cincinnati; admitted to the bar in St. Louis in 1860; served in the Union Army during the Civil War; elected to the Missouri legislature as a Radical in 1864; reelected in 1866 and chosen speaker pro tempore; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); appointed United States judge for the eastern district of Missouri by President Roosevelt; died in Denver, Colo., May 18, 1908.

Finley, David Edward, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Trenton, Ark., February 28, 1861; attended the schools of Rock Hill and Ebenezer, S. C., and the South Carolina college; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives 1890–1891; served in the state senate 1892–1896; trustee of the South Carolina university in 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Finley, Ebenezer Byron, a Representative from Ohio; born in Orrville, Wayne county, Ohio, July 31, 1833; studied law and was admitted to practice in June, 1862; served in the Union Army during the Civil War as first lieutenant in the sixty-fourth Ohio infantry; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); adjutant general of Ohio; also served as circuit judge of the third circuit of Ohio; resumed the practice of law in Bucyrus, Ohio.

Digitized by Google

Finley, Hugh Franklin, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Tye's Ferry, Whitley county, Ky., January 18, 1833; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1859; member of the state legislature 1861–1862; commonwealth's attorney 1862–1866; reelected in 1867, and 1868 for six years; defeated for Congress in 1870; elected to the state senate in 1875; appointed United States district attorney for Kentucky in 1876; elected judge of the fifteenth circuit in 1880 for six years; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); died in Williamsburg, Ky., October 16, 1909.

Finley, Jesse Johnson, a Representative from Florida; born near Lebanon, Wilson county, Tenn., November 18, 1812; pursued an academic course; captain in the Seminole war in 1836; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and located in Mississippi county, Ark., in 1840; elected to the state senate in 1841; moved to Memphis, Tenn., in 1842; resumed the practice of law; elected mayor of Memphis 1845; moved to Mariana, Fla., in November, 1846; elected to the state senate of Florida in 1850; presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1852; appointed judge of the western circuit of Florida in 1853, and elected to the same office in 1855, and again in 1859; volunteered as a private in the Confederate army in 1862; was promoted to the rank of brigadier general November 16, 1863; paroled in Quincy, Fla., May 23, 1865; located in Lake City, Fla., in 1865; moved to Jacksonvile, Fla., in 1871; successfully contested as a Democrat the election of Josiah J. Walls to the Forty-fourth Congress and served from April 19, 1876, until March 3, 1877; successfully contested the election of Horatio Bisbee, jr., to the Forty-fifth Congress and served from February 20, 1879, to March 3, 1879; presented credentials as a member-elect to the Forty-seventh Congress and served from March 4, 1881, until June 1, 1882, when he was succeeded by Horatio Bisbee, jr., who contested his election; presented credentials on December 5, 1887, as a Senator-elect to the United States Senate for the term commencing March 4, 1887, but was never sworn, for the reason that the appointment was made before the vacancy occurred; died in Lake City, Fla., November 6, 1904; interment in Gainesville, Fla.

Finney, Darwin Abel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Shrewsbury, Vt., August 11, 1814; moved with his parents to Meadville, Pa.; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the Meadville college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Meadville; twice elected to the state house of representatives; member of the state senate; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress, and served from March 4, 1867, until his death, while traveling in Europe, August 25, 1868.

Fischer, Israel F., a Representative from New York; born in New York City, August 17, 1858; moved to Brooklyn September, 1887; studied law and was admitted to the bar in December, 1879; member of the executive committee of the Republican state committee 1888–1890; chairman of the executive committee of the county for two years and chairman of the campaign committee in 1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899).

Fish, Hamilton, a Representative and a Senator from New York; born in New York City, August 3, 1808; was graduated from Columbia college in 1827; admitted to the bar in 1830 and practiced in New York City; commissioner of deeds for the city and county of New York; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); unsuccessful candidate for reelection; lieutenant governor from November, 1847, to January 1, 1849; governor of New York 1849–1850; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1851, to March 3, 1857; one of the board of commissioners for the relief of Union prisoners of war in the South; appointed by President Grant Secretary of State, and was reappointed and served from March 11, 1869, to March 12, 1877; member of the joint high commission which settled the differences between the United States and Great Britain in 1871, and negotiated the treaty of Washington in 1873; president general of the Society of the Cincinnati; died in Garrison, N. Y., September 7, 1893.

Fish, Hamilton, a Representative from New York; born in Albany, N. Y., April 17, 1849; attended private schools in this country and in Switzerland and was graduated from Columbia College in 1869; was admitted to the bar in 1873, and practiced; private secretary to his father, Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State of the United States under President Grant in 1869–1871; member of the state assembly and served as speaker in 1895 and 1896; appointed by President Roosevelt in 1903 assistant treasurer of the United States at New York city; reappointed in 1907 and served until October, 1908, when he resigned; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); after leaving Congress took up his residence in Garrison, N. Y.

Fisher, Charles, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Rowan county, N. C., October 20, 1789; educated by private tutors in Raleigh; studied law, was admitted to the bar but never practiced to any extent; member of the state senate in 1818; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of George Mumford; reelected to the Sixteenth Congress and served from February 11, 1819, to March 3, 1821; declined a renomination; member of the house of commons of North Carolina 1821–1823, 1826–1831, 1833, and 1836; member of the constitutional convention of 1835; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); declined the Democratic nomination for governor of North Carolina in 1846; died in Hillsboro, Miss., May 7, 1849.

Fisher, David, a Representative from Ohio, born in Somerset county, Pa., December 3, 1794; moved to Ohio, where he received an elementary training; was a lay preacher and newspaper contributor; editor and proprietor of a newspaper in Wilmington, Ohio; member of the state house of representatives in 1842; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); died in Cincinnati, Ohio, May 7, 1886.

Fisher, George, a Representative from New York; a resident of Oswego, N. Y.; presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Twenty-first Congress, and served from March 4, 1829, to February 5, 1830, when he was unseated after a contest with Silas Wright, jr.

Fisher, George Purnell, a Representative from Delaware; born in Milford, Del., October 13, 1817; was graduated from Dickinson college in 1838; admitted to the bar in 1841 and practiced in Dover,

Digitized by Google

Del.; member of the state house of representatives in 1843 and 1844; secretary of state in 1846; confidential clerk to Secretary Clayton in the Department of State at Washington in 1849; appointed by President Taylor a commissioner to adjudicate claims against Brazil 1850–1852; attorney general of Delaware 1857–1860; elected as a Union Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); defeated for reelection to the Thirty-eighth Congress; appointed by President Lincoln a judge of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, which position he resigned when appointed district attorney for the District of Columbia, from which he was removed in 1875; appointed by President Harrison First Auditor of the Treasury Department in 1889; died in Washington, D. C., February 10, 1899.

Fisher, Horatio Gates, a Rrepresentative from Pennsylvania; born in Huntingdon, Pa., April 21, 1838; was graduated from Lafayette college, Easton, Pa., July, 1855; engaged in mining, shipping, and wholesale coal business; member of city councils 1862–1865; county auditor 1865–1868; burgess 1874–1876; member of the state senate 1876–1879; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); died in Huntingdon, Pa., May 8, 1890.

Fisher, John, a Representative from New York; born in Londonderry, N. H., March 13, 1806; reared on a farm and afterwards engaged in mercantile pursuits; for twenty-one years had charge of an iron manufacturing establishment in Hamilton, Canada, where he was a member of the city council; mayor of Hamilton, Canada; returned to New York and settled in Batavia in 1856; acted as state commissioner in the erection of the institution for the blind in Batavia; president of a fire insurance company; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); died in Batavia, N. Y., March 28, 1882.

Fisher, Spencer Oliver, a Representative from Michigan; born in Camden, Hillsdale county, Mich., February 3, 1843; attended the public schools, Albion and Hillsdale colleges in Michigan, but was not graduated from either; engaged in lumbering and banking in West Bay City, Mich.; mayor of the city 1881–1884; delegate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); resumed the lumbering and banking business in Bay City Mich.

Fisk, James, a Senator from Vermont; born in Greenwich, Mass., October 4, 1763; served in the Revolutionary War 1779–1782; member of the general assembly in 1785; entered the Universalist ministry and preached occassionally; moved to Barre, Vt., in 1798; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Barre, Vt.; member of Vermont legislature 1800–1805, 1809–1810, and 1815; judge of the Orange county court 1802–1809; elected as a Democrat to the Ninth and Tenth Congresses (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1809); reelected to the Twelfth and Thirteenth Congresses (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1815); appointed United States judge for the Territory of Indiana in 1812, but declined; judge of the supreme court of Vermont 1815–1816; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Dudley Chase, and served from November 4, 1817, to January 8, 1818, when he resigned; collector of customs for the district of Vermont 1818–1826; moved to Swanton, Vt., in 1819, and died there November 17, 1844.

Fisk, Jonathan, a Representative from New York; born in Amherst, N. H., September 26, 1773; attended the public schools; elected as a Democrat to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811); again elected to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses and served from March 4, 1813, to June, 1815, when he resigned, before having taken his seat to the latter Congress, to accept the position of United States attorney for the southern district of New York, and served until June, 1819; died near Newburgh, N. Y., July 13, 1832.

Fitch, Asa, a Representative from New York; born in Groton, Conn., November 10, 1765; studied medicine, and practiced in Duanesburg and Salem, N. Y.; president of the Washington county medical society 1806–1826; justice of the peace 1799; county judge 1810–1821; elected as a Federalist to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813); declined a renomination; resumed the practice of medicine in Salem; died in Salem, N. Y., August 24, 1843.

Fitch, Ashbel Parmelee, a Representative from New York; born in Moores, Clinton county, N. Y., October 8, 1848; attended the public schools of New York, Williston seminary, East Hampton, Mass., and the universities of Jena and Berlin, Germany, and Columbia college law school in New York City; was admitted to the bar in November, 1869, and practiced in New York City; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth Congress and as a Democrat to the Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses, and served from March 4, 1887, until December 26, 1893, when he resigned; comptroller of New York City 1893–1897; died in New York City, May 4, 1904.

Fitch, Graham Newel, a Representative and a Senator from Indiana; born in Leroy, N. Y., December 5, 1809; pursued classical studies; studied medicine in the Fairfield, N. Y., medical college and practiced in Logansport, Ind.; professor in Rush medical college, Chicago, Ill., 1844–1849; Indiana presidential elector in 1844, 1848, and 1856; member of the state legislature in 1836 and 1839; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); elected to the United States Senate and served from February 4, 1857, to March 3, 1861; raised the forty-sixth Indiana volunteer infantry during the Civil war and served as its colonel; delegate in the national Democratic convention of 1868; died in Logansport, Ind., November 29, 1892.

Fitch, Thomas, a Representative from Nevada; born in New York City, January 27, 1838; attended the public schools; went to Milwaukee, Wis., in 1855; engaged as clerk; local editor of the Milwaukee Free Democrat in 1859 and 1860; went to California in 1860; edited the San Francisco Times and Placerville Republican; studied law; member of the California assembly in 1862–1863; went to Nevada in June, 1863; elected a member of the convention which framed the state constitution in 1864; Union nominee for Territorial Delegate to Congress in 1864; district attorney of Washoe county in 1865 and 1866; elected to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871).

Fite, Samuel McClary, a Representative from Tennessee; born near Alexandria, Smith county, Tenn., June 12, 1816; attended the common schools and was graduated from Clinton college, Tennessee; studied law in Lebanon, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Carthage, Tenn.; member of the state senate in 1850; presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1852; judge of the sixth judicial district 1858-1861; resumed the practice of law in Carthage, Tenn.; appointed on July 24, 1869, judge of the sixth judicial district to fill a vacancy; elected on January 8, 1870, and served until 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John W. Head, and served from March 4, 1875, until his death, before the assembling of Congress, in Hot Springs, Ark., October 23, 1875.

Digitized by Google

Fithian, George Washington, a Representative from Illinois; born near Willow Hill, Ill., July 1, 1854; attended the common schools; learned the printer's trade in Mount Carmel, Ill.; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1875; elected state attorney of Jasper county in 1876; reelected in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1889-March 3, 1895); railroad and warehouse commissioner of Illinois 1895-1897; resumed the practice of law in Newton, Ill.

Fitzgerald, Frank T., a Representative from New York; a resident of New York City; elected to the Fifty-first Congress, and served from March 4, 1889, until his death in New York City November 4, 1889, before the convening of the Congress.

Fitzgerald, John Francis, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., February 11, 1865; attended the Boston Latin school, Boston college, and Harvard college, but was not graduated from either; member of the Boston common council of 1892; elected a member of the Massachusetts state senate in 1893 and 1894; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1895-March 3, 1901); mayor of Boston 1906-1907; reelected in 1910.

Fitzgerald, John Joseph, a Representative from New York; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., March 10, 1872; attended the city schools, and was graduated from Manhattan college, New York City; studied law in the New York law school and was admitted to the bar in 1893; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1900; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1899-March 3, 1911); delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1912. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Fitzgerald, Thomas, a Senator from Michigan; born in Germantown, N. Y., April 10, 1796; pursued an academic course; served under General Harrison in the War of 1812; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1817, and commenced practice in Indianapolis, Ind., in 1818; served one term in the Indiana legislature; in 1832 moved to St. Joseph, Mich.; appointed to the United Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Lewis Cass, and served from June 8, 1848, to January 20, 1849; died in Niles, Mich., March 25, 1855.

Fitzgerald, William, a Representative from Tennessee; born in that state; received a thorough English training; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Dresden, Tenn.; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831-March 3, 1833).

Fitzhugh, William, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Eagles Nest, King George county, Va., August 24, 1741; pursued classical studies with private tutors; Delegate to the Continental Congress, 1779-1780; died at Ravensworth, Fairfax county, Va., July 6, 1809.

Fitzpatrick, Benjamin, a Senator from Alabama; born in Greene county, Ga., June 30, 1802; left an orphan, he was taken by his brother to Alabama in 1815; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Montgomery in 1821 and practiced until 1829; solicitor of the Montgomery circuit 1822-1823; removed to his plantation in Autauga county in 1829, and devoted himself to planting; governor of Alabama, 1841-1845; appointed as a State Rights Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Dixon H. Lewis, and served from November 20, 1848, to November 30, 1849; again appointed and subsequently elected a United States Senator, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William R. King, and served from January 14, 1853, to March 3, 1861; served as president of the Senate pro tempore; delegate to the Union national convention at Philadelphia in 1866; died on his plantation near Wetumpka, Ala., November 25, 1869.

Fitzpatrick, Morgan Cassius, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Tuscaloosa, Ala., October 29, 1868; attended the common schools of Tennessee, University of Ohio, was graduated from the law department of Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn.; admitted to the bar, practiced law; edited a newspaper; served two terms in the state legislature; elected speaker of the Tennessee house of representatives; served two terms as state superintendent of public instruction; chairman of the State Democratic executive committee; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903-March 3, 1905); died in Gallatin, Tenn., June 25, 1908.

Fitzpatrick, Thomas Young, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Floyd county, Ky., September 20, 1850; attended the common schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1877; filled the positions of county judge, county attorney, and representative in the state legislature; Democratic elector in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1897-March 3, 1901); died January 21, 1906.

Fitzsimons, Thomas, a Delegate and a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Belfast, Ireland, in 1741; came to the United States and entered a countinghouse in Philadelphia as clerk; commanded a company of volunteer home guards during the Revolutionary War; member of the state house of representatives 1786-1787; Delegate to the Continental Congress in 1782-1783, and the United States constitutional convention in 1787; elected to the First, Second, and Third Congresses (March 4, 1789-March 3, 1795); president of the Philadelphia chamber of commerce; held several local offices; died in Philadelphia, Pa., August 26, 1811.

Flack, William Henry, a Representative from New York; born in Franklin Falls, Franklin county, N. Y., March 22, 1861; attended the public schools; became interested in lumbering and tanning; supervisor of the town of Waverly seven years and chairman of the board for two years; elected county clerk of Franklin county in 1897 and re-elected in 1900; chairman of the Republican county committee from 1898 to 1902; served as trustee of the village of Malone, and elected president of said village in 1902; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1909).

Digitized by Google

Flagler, Thomas Thorn, a Representative from New York; born in Pleasant Valley, Dutchess county, N. Y., October 12, 1811; attended the common schools; learned the printer's trade and became one of the owners and publishers of the Chenango Republican, Oxford, N. Y.; removed to Lockport in 1834; member of the state house of representatives in 1842 and 1843; county treasurer 1849–1852; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1857); again a member of the state house of representatives in 1860; member of the state constitutional convention of 1867–1868; died in Lockport, N. Y., September 6, 1897.

Flanagan, De Witt Clinton, a Representative from New Jersey; born in New York City, December 28, 1870; attended Columbia college, New York City; pursued a commercial career; became interested in a number of industrial enterprises; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Joshua S. Salmon, and served from January 5, 1903, to March 3, 1903.

Flanagan, James Winright, a Representative and a Senator from Texas; born in Gordonsville, Va., September 5, 1805; attended the common schools; moved in 1816 to Cloverport, Ky., where he engaged in mercantile pursuits; justice of the peace 1823–1833; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in the Breckenridge county circuit 1833–1843; moved to Henderson, Tex., in 1843, where he practiced; member of the state house of representatives 1851–1852; served in the state senate 1855–1856; presidential elector on the Fillmore ticket in 1857; member of the state constitutional convention in 1866 and 1868; lieutenant governor of Texas in 1869; elected to the Forty-first Congress, but did not take his seat; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate on the reconstruction of Texas and served from February 22, 1870, to March 3, 1875; died September 28, 1887.

Flanders, Alvan, a Delegate from Washington Territory; born in Hopkinton, N. H., August 2, 1825; attended the public schools; learned the machinist trade in Boston; moved to California in 1851, and there engaged in the lumber business until 1858; one of the projectors and proprietors of the San Francisco Daily Times; member of the state legislature in 1861; appointed register of the Humboldt land office; moved to Washington Territory and engaged in business; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); appointed by President Grant governor of Washington Territory and served one year.

Flanders, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Bristol, N. H., January 26, 1816; attended New Hampton (New Hampshire) academy and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1842; studied law, but was never admitted to the bar; edited the New Orleans Tropic in 1845; elected alderman of New Orleans in 1847; superintendent of public schools 1850; reelected alderman in 1852; secretary and treasurer of the New Orleans, Opelousas and Great Western Railroad Co., 1852–1861; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-seventh Congress, and served from February 23, 1863, to March 3, 1863; military governor of Louisiana 1867–1868; appointed in 1863 special agent for the Treasury Department; mayor of New Orleans 1870–1872; assistant United States Treasurer of the United States in New Orleans 1873–1882; unsuccessful candidate for state treasurer on the Republican ticket in 1888; died near Youngsville, La., March 13, 1896.

Fleeger, George W., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Concord township, Butler county, Pa., March 13, 1839; attended the common schools and West Sunbury academy; enlisted in the Union army June 10, 1861, as private in company C, eleventh regiment Pennsylvania reserves, and was discharged as first lieutenant March 13, 1865; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1866 in Butler, Pa.; member of the state legislature 1871–1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); resumed the practice of law in Butler, Pa., and died there June 25, 1894.

Fleming, William, a Delegate from Virginia; born July 6, 1736; studied medicine at the university of Edinburgh, and entered the British navy as a surgeon; came to Virginia in 1755; captain in the French and Indian war under Washington; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1763; member of the house of burgesses; a delegate in the Virginia conventions of 1775 and 1776; member of the committee of independence in 1776; a judge of the general court and presiding judge of the court of appeals; sat in the Continental Congress 1779–1781; died February 15, 1824.

Fleming, William Henry, a Representative from Georgia; born in Augusta, Ga., October 18, 1856; attended Summerville academy, Richmond county academy, and the State University in Athens, Ga., from which institution he received the degrees of civil engineer and master of arts; superintendent of the public schools of Augusta and Richmond county, Ga., in January, 1877, and resigned in August, 1880; was admitted to the bar in November, 1880; elected to the state legislature in 1888, 1890, 1892, and 1894, and served as speaker of the house; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1903); resumed the practice of law in Augusta, Ga.

Fletcher, Duncan Upshaw, a Senator from Florida; born in Sumter county, Ga., January 6, 1859; moved with his parents to Monroe county in 1860; attended the common schools, Gordon institute, Barnesville, Ga., and was graduated from Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn., in 1880; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Jacksonville, Fla.; member of the state legislature in 1893; mayor of Jacksonville 1893–1895 and 1901–1903; chairman of the board of public instruction of Duval county 1900–1906; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate for term beginning March 4, 1909, and expiring March 3, 1915.

Fletcher, Isaac, a Representative from Vermont; born in Dunstable, Mass., November 22, 1784; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1808; taught in the academy at Chesterfield, N. H.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; state attorney of Caledonia county, Vt., for eight years; member of the state constitutional convention of 1822; was graduated from the university of Vermont in 1825; member of the state house of representatives, and served one term as speaker; elected as an Anti-Masonic Democrat to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); defeated for reelection; adjutant general on the governor's staff; died in Lyndon, Vt., October 19, 1842.

Digitized by Google

Fletcher, Loren, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Mount Vernon, Kennebec county, Me., April 10, 1833; attended the public schools and Maine Wesleyan seminary, Kents Hill, Me.; removed to Bangor in 1853, where he was employed by a lumber company; moved to Minneapolis, Minn., in 1856, where he engaged in manufacturing and mercantile pursuits, largely in the manufacture of lumber and flour; elected to the state legislature in 1872, was reelected seven times, and served the last three terms as speaker; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1903); reelected to the Fifty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1907); resides in Minneapolis, Minn.

Fletcher, Richard, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Cavendish, Vt., January 8, 1788; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1806; studied law under Daniel Webster was admitted to the bar in 1809 and commenced practice in Salisbury, N. H.; moved to Boston, Mass., in 1819; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts 1848–1853; died in Boston, Mass., June 21, 1869.

Fletcher, Thomas, a Representative from Kentucky; located in Montgomery county, Ky.; member of the state legislature 1803, 1805, and 1806; served in the War of 1812 as major of Kentucky volunteers under General Harrison and distinguished himself at Fort Meigs, May 15, 1813; elected to the Fourteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Clark, and served from December 2, 1816, to March 3, 1817; declined a reelection; again a member of the state house of representatives in 1817, 1820, 1821, and 1825.

Flick, James Patton, a Representative from Iowa; born in Bakerstown, Allegheny county, Pa., August 28, 1845; moved with his parents to Wapello county, Iowa, in 1852, and to Taylor county in 1857; attended the common schools; enlisted in the fourth Iowa infantry April 3, 1862, and served as a private soldier; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1870; member of the general assembly; district attorney of the third judicial district of Iowa for six years; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1893); resumed the practice of law in Bedford, Iowa.

Flint, Frank Putnam, a Senator from California; born in North Reading, Mass., July 15, 1862; moved with his parents to San Francisco, Cal., in 1869; attended the public schools; in 1888 moved to Los Angeles; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1888; served as deputy United States marshal; appointed assistant United States attorney in 1892; appointed United States district attorney for the southern district of California in 1897; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1905, to March 3, 1911; resumed the practice of law in Los Angeles, Cal.

Flood, Henry Delaware, a Representative from Virginia; born in Appomattox county, Va., September 2, 1865; attended the schools of Appomattox and Richmond, Washington and Lee university, and the University of Virginia; began the practice of the law on September 15, 1886; elected to the house of delegates of the general assembly of Virginia in 1887 and reelected in 1889; elected to the state senate in 1891, reelected in 1895 and in 1899; elected attorney for the commonwealth of Appomattox county in 1891, 1895, and 1899; presidential elector on the Cleveland and Stevenson ticket in 1892; nominated for Congress by the Democratic party in 1896 and defeated; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Flood, Thomas S., a Representative from New York; born in Lodi, Seneca county, N. Y., April 12, 1844; attended the common schools and Elmira free academy; an alderman of Elmira 1882–1883; president of the Chemung county agricultural society 1884–1885; engaged in farming and lumbering; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891).

Florence, Elias, a Representative from Ohio; born in Fauquier county, Va., February 15, 1797; attended the public schools; engaged in agricultural pursuits; moved to Ohio, locating in Circleville, Piqua county; member of the state house of representatives in 1829, 1830, 1834, and 1840; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); member of the constitutional convention of 1850; died in Muhlenberg township, Pickaway county, Ohio, November 21, 1880.

Florence, Thomas Birch, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., January 26, 1812; attended the public schools; learned the hatter's trade and engaged in that business in 1833; Democratic candidate for the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses, but was defeated; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1861); after leaving Congress edited and published various newspapers in Washington, D. C.; defeated as the Democratic candidate in his old district for the Forty-first Congress; defeated as the Democratic candidate for the Forty-fourth Congress; died in Washington, D. C., July 3, 1875.

Flournoy, Thomas Stanhope, a Representative from Virginia; born in Prince Edward county, Va., December 15, 1811; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Halifax, Va.; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); defeated for the Thirty-first Congress; entered the Confederate army and was wounded in battle in Virginia in June, 1864; died March 13, 1883.

Flower, Roswell Pettibone, a Representative from New York; born in Theresa, Jefferson county, N. Y., August 7, 1835; was graduated from the

Digitized by Google

Theresa high school in 1851; engaged in mercantile and manufacturing pursuits in 1851; assistant postmaster of Watertown, N. Y., 1854–1860; moved to New York City and entered into the banking business in 1869; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Levi P. Morton, and served from December 5, 1881, to March 3, 1883; reelected to the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses and served from March 4, 1889, to September 16, 1891, when he resigned; in November, 1891, elected governor of New York and served until 1895; died in Eastport, N. Y., May 12, 1899.

Flower, Samuel, a Representative from New Jersey; a resident of Hamburg, N. J.; elected to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835).

Floyd, Charles A., a Representative from New York; born in New York; attended the common schools; county clerk 1820–1821; district attorney in 1830; member of the state legislature in 1836 and 1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); surrogate from January, 1844, to July, 1847.

Floyd, John, a Representative from Virginia; born in Jefferson county, Va., April 24, 1783; pursued an academic course; attended Dickinson college, and was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1806; began practice in Blacksburg, Va.; justice of the peace in 1807; surgeon in the Virginia line in 1812; for several years a member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1829); governor of Virginia from 1829 to 1834; died in Sweet Springs, Va., August 16, 1837.

Floyd, John, a Representative from Georgia; born in Beaufort, S. C., October 3, 1769; moved in 1791 with his father to Camden county, Georgia, and engaged in boat building; served in the War of 1812 as brigadier general in expeditions against the Creek Indians; served as a member of the state house of representatives from 1820–1827; elected to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); died near Jefferson, Ga., June 24, 1839.

Floyd, John Charles, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Sparta, White county, Tenn., April 14, 1858; moved with his parents to Benton county, Ark., in 1869, where he attended the common and high schools; in 1876 entered the State university in Fayetteville, Ark., taking the classical course, and was graduated in 1879; in 1880 and 1881 taught school; in 1882 read law and was admitted to the bar; the same year he located in Yellville, where he practiced; in 1888 was elected representative in the state legislature; in 1890 and again in 1892 elected prosecuting attorney; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Floyd, John G., a Representative from New York; born in the state of New York; attended the common schools; member of the state house of representatives 1839–1843; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); reelected to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853).

Floyd, William, a Delegate and a Representative from New York; born in Brookhaven, Long Island, N. Y., December 17, 1734; pursued an academic course; was prominent in the ante-Revolutionary movements; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1777; signed the Declaration of Independence; member of the state senate 1777–1778; again Delegate in the Continental Congress 1778–1783; again a state senator 1784–1788; elected to the First Congress (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1791); presidential elector in 1792; moved in 1794 to Westernville, Oneida county; presidential elector in 1800, 1804, and 1820; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1801; again state senator in 1808; died in Westernville, N. Y., August 4, 1821.

Flye, Edwin, a Representative from Maine; born in New Castle, Me., March 4, 1817; completed preparatory studies; engaged in mercantile pursuits and ship building; was a member of the state house of representatives in 1858; was for many years president of the first National bank of Damariscotta, Me.; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1876; was elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of James G. Blaine, and served from December 4, 1876, to March 3, 1877.

Flynn, Dennis T., a Delegate from Oklahoma Territory; born in Phoenixville, Pa., February 13, 1862; removed with parents two years later to Buffalo, N. Y., where he resided until 1880, when he moved to Riverside, Iowa; was admitted to the bar and established the Riverside Leader; moved from Iowa in 1881 to Kiowa, Kans., where he established the Kiowa Herald and pursued the practice of law; elected city attorney; appointed postmaster of Kiowa; moved to Oklahoma Territory April 22, 1889, and was commissioned by President Harrison postmaster of the city of Guthrie; elected to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); defeated for the Fifty-fifth Congress; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1903); nominated, but declined to be a candidate for the Fifty-eighth Congress; was the Republican nominee for United States Senator in 1908, but was defeated; resides in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Focht, Benjamin K., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in New Bloomfield, Pa., March 12, 1863; attended Bucknell university, Pennsylvania state college, and Susquehanna university; editor and proprietor of the Saturday News published in Lewisburg; served as an officer of the National guard of Pennsylvania; served three terms in the state assembly and four years in the state senate; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Foelker, Otto Godfrey, a Representative from New York; born in Germany in 1875; came to America with his parents in 1888 and located in Troy, N. Y.; moved to Brooklyn in December, 1895; attended public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Brooklyn; member of the state assembly in 1904–1905; state senator 1906–1908; elected to the Sixtieth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Charles T. Dunwell; reelected to the Sixty-first Congress, and served from December 7, 1908, to March 3, 1911; resumed the practice of law in California.

Digitized by Google

Foerderer, Robert Hermann, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Frankenhausen, Germany, May 16, 1860, while his parents were sojourning in Europe; attended public and private schools; engaged as a manufacturer of leather; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1901-March 3, 1905); died in Torresdale, Pa., July 26, 1903.

Fogg, George Gilman, a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Meredith, Belknap county, N. H., May 26, 1813; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1839; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1842 and began practice in Gilmanton, N. H.; secretary of state of New Hampshire in 1846; newspaper publisher from 1847 to 1861; reporter of the state supreme court 1856-1860; appointed by President Lincoln United States minister resident to Switzerland and served from March 28, 1861, to October 16, 1865; appointed as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Daniel Clark, and served from August 31, 1866, to March 3, 1867; died in Concord, N. H., October 5, 1881.

Foley, James B., a Representative from Indiana; native of Kentucky; received a limited schooling; moved to Greensburg, Ind.; held several local offices; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857-March 3, 1859).

Folger, Walter, jr., a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Nantucket, Mass., June 12, 1765; attended the public schools; member of the state senate from 1809 to 1815, and 1822; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817-March 3, 1821); died in Nantucket, Mass., September 8, 1849.

Follett, John Fassett, a Representative from Ohio; born in Franklin county, Vt., February 18, 1831; moved with his parents to Ohio in 1837 and settled in Licking county; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Marietta college in 1855; taught school two years; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1858; elected to the state legislature in 1865 and 1867; elected in January, 1868, speaker of the house of representatives; in September, 1868, moved to Cincinnati and engaged in the practice of law; presidential elector at large on the Hancock and English ticket in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883-March 3, 1885); resumed practice of law; unsuccessful candidate for election to the Fifty-sixth Congress; died in Cincinnati, Ohio, April 15, 1902.

Folsom, Nathaniel, a Delegate from New Hampshire; born in Exeter, N. H., September 18, 1726; attended the public schools; served in the Seven Years' war as captain in Colonel Blanchard's regiment; successively major, lieutenant colonel, and colonel of the fourth regiment of New Hampshire militia, which he commanded at the beginning of the Revolutionary war; brigadier general of the New Hampshire troops sent to Massachusetts, and served during the siege of Boston; appointed major general and made the details of troops sent from New Hampshire to Ticonderoga; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1774-1775 and 1777-1780; executive councilor in 1778; a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1783, and its president; chief justice of the court of common pleas; died in Exeter, N. H., May 26, 1790.

Foot, Samuel Augustus, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Cheshire, Conn., November 8, 1780; pursued an academic course; was graduated from Yale in 1797; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Cheshire; engaged in mercantile pursuits at New Haven; for several years a member of the state house of representatives and twice its speaker; elected as a Whig to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819-March 3, 1821); reelected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823-March 3, 1825); elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1827, to March 3, 1833; defeated for reelection; again elected to the Twenty-third Congress, and served from March 4, 1833, to May 9, 1834, when he resigned to become governor of Connecticut; served as governor from 1834 to 1835; presidential elector on the Clay and Frelinghuysen ticket in 1844; died in Cheshire, Conn., September 15, 1846.

Foot, Solomon, a Representative and a Senator from Vermont; born in Cornwall, Addison county, Vt., November 19, 1802; pursued classical studies, graduating at Middlebury College in 1826; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1831 and commenced practice in Rutland, Vt.; state representative 1833 and 1836-1838 and served as speaker of the house the last two sessions; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1836; state's attorney 1836-1842; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843-March 3, 1847); defeated as a candidate for Clerk of the House of Representatives in December, 1849; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate; twice reelected and served from March 4, 1851, until his death; served several times as president pro tempore of the Senate; died in Washington, D. C., March 28, 1866.

Foote, Charles Augustus, a Representative from New York; born in Newburgh, N. Y., April 15, 1785; completed preparatory studies and was graduated from Union college, Schenectady, N. Y.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Delhi, N. Y.; colonel of county militia; trustee of St. John's academy; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823-March 3, 1825); died in Delhi, N. Y., August 1, 1828.

Foote, Henry Stuart, a Senator from Mississippi; born in Fauquier county, Va., September 20, 1800; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Washington college, Virginia, 1819; studied law, and in 1822 was admitted to the bar and began practice in Tuscumbia, Ala., in 1824; moved in 1826 to Jackson, Miss.; was presidential elector in 1844; elected as a Unionist to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1847, until the fall of 1851, when he resigned; elected governor of Mississippi and served from 1852 to 1854; moved to California; returned to Vicksburg, Miss., in 1858; member of the Southern convention in Knoxville in 1859; elected to the first and second Confederate congresses; afterwards moved to Washington, D. C., where he practiced law; died in Nashville, Tenn., May 20, 1880.

Foote, Wallace Turner, jr., a Representative from New York; born in Port Henry, Essex county, N. Y., April 7, 1864; attended the Port Henry union school; prepared for college at Williston seminary, East Hampton, Mass., and was graduated as civil engineer from Union college, Schenectady, in 1885; elected alumni trustee of that university in 1896; assistant superintendent of the Cedar Point

Digitized by Google

Furnace in Port Henry from 1885 to 1887; entered Columbia law school in 1889; was admitted to the bar and practiced law in Port Henry; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899); died in New York City, December 17, 1910.

Foraker, Joseph Benson, a Senator from Ohio; born near Rainsboro, Highland county, Ohio, July 5, 1846; enlisted July 14, 1862, as a private in company A, eighty-ninth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry, and served until the close of the war, retiring with the rank of first lieutenant and brevet captain; was graduated from Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., July 1, 1869; was admitted to the bar and entered upon the practice of the law in Cincinnati, Ohio, October 14, 1869; elected judge of the superior court of Cincinnati in April, 1879; resigned May 1, 1882; unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor of Ohio in 1883; elected governor in 1885 and 1887; again defeated in 1889; chairman of the Republican state conventions of Ohio 1886, 1890, 1896, and 1900, and a delegate at large to the Republican national conventions of 1884, 1888, 1892, 1896, and 1900; chairman of the Ohio delegation in the conventions of 1884 and 1888; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate; relected in 1903, and served from March 4, 1897 to March 4, 1909; resumed the practice of law in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Foran, Martin Ambrose, a Representative from Ohio; born in Choconut, Susquehanna county, Pa., November 11, 1844; received a public school and collegiate training; served in the fourth Pennsylvania cavalry from April, 1864, to July, 1865, as a private; member of the constitutional convention of Ohio in 1873; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1874; prosecuting attorney for city of Cleveland from April, 1875, to April, 1877; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1889); resumed the practice of law in Cleveland, Ohio; judge of the court of common pleas and resides in Cleveland, Ohio.

Forbes, James, a Delegate from Maryland; sat in the Continental Congress 1778–1780; died March 25, 1780.

Ford, George, a Representative from Indiana; born in South Bend, Ind., January 11, 1846; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in South Bend; prosecuting attorney for ten years; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); after leaving Congress returned to South Bend, Ind., where he resumed the practice of law.

Ford, James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of that state; held several local offices in Lawrenceville; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831).

Ford, Melbourne H., a Representative from Michigan; born in Saline, Mich., June 30, 1849; attended the Michigan agricultural college and the United States naval academy; served in the Navy during the latter part of the Civil War; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1878 but never engaged in practice; official stenographer of several municipal, state, and Federal courts; member of the Michigan legislature 1885–1886; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); reelected to the Fifty-second Congress, and served from March 4, 1891, until his death in Grand Rapids, Mich., April 20, 1891.

Ford, Nicholas, a Representative from Missouri; born in Wicklow, Ireland, June 21, 1833; emigrated to America in 1848; engaged in mercantile pursuits in St. Joseph, Mo.; elected as a National to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor of Missouri in 1888; died in Miltonvale, Kans., June 18, 1897.

Ford, William D., a Representative from New York; born in Providence, R. I.; received a limited schooling; moved to Jefferson county, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1816–1817; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); died in Watertown, N. Y.

Fordney, Joseph Warren, a Representative from Michigan; born in Blackford county, Ind., November 5, 1853; attended the common schools; moved to Saginaw, Mich., in June, 1869; engaged in the lumber industry; vice president of the Saginaw board of trade; elected alderman in 1895 and 1897; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Forester, John B., a Representative from Tennessee; native of that state; received a limited schooling; elected to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837).

Forker, Samuel C., a Representative from New Jersey; born in Mount Holly, N. J., March 16, 1821; completed preparatory studies; engaged in banking; director and cashier of the Bordentown banking company; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873).

Forman, William St. John, a Representative from Illinois; born in Natchez, Miss., January 20, 1847; moved with his father to Nashville, Ill., in 1851; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Nashville; member of the state senate; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1895); after leaving Congress he moved to East St. Louis, Ill., where he resumed the practice of law; collector of internal revenue 1895–1899, died in East St. Louis, Ill., June 10, 1908.

Fornance, Joseph, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Lower Merion township, Montgomery county, Pa., October 18, 1804; attended the public schools; sudied law, was admitted to the bar in 1832, and practiced in Norristown, Pa.; member of the state house of Representatives in 1834; appointed Winfield Scott Hancock a cadet to West Point military academy; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); died in Morristown, Montgomery county, Pa., November 24, 1852.

Fornes, Charles Vincent, a Representative from New York; born in Williamsville, Erie county, N. Y., January 22, 1846; was graduated from Union academy, Lockport, N. Y., and was principal of a Buffalo public school for three years; moved to New York City in 1877 and engaged in business as an importer and jobber of woolens; from January, 1902, to January, 1906, president of the board of aldermen of New York City; trustee and director in several banks and corporations; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Re-elected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Digitized by Google

Forney, Daniel Munroe, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Lincoln County, N. C., in May, 1784; served in the War of 1812 as major; held several local offices; elected to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Congresses and served from March 4, 1815, until 1818, when he resigned; appointed by President Monroe a commissioner to treat with the Creek Indians; member of the state senate 1823–1826; moved to Alabama in 1834 and located in Lowndes county, where he died October 15, 1847.

Forney, Peter, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Lincoln county, N. C., April 21, 1756; attended the public schools; served in the Revolutionary War; engaged in the manufacture of iron; member of the house of commons of North Carolina in 1794–1796, and state senator 1801–1802; elected to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); presidential elector on the Jefferson ticket in 1805, the Madison ticket in 1809 and in 1813, the Monroe ticket in 1817, the John Quincy Adams ticket in 1825, and the Jackson ticket in 1829; died in his country home, known as "Mount Welcome," Lincoln county, N. C., February 1, 1834.

Forney, William Henry, a Representative from Alabama; born in Lincolnton, N. C., November 9, 1823; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from the University of Alabama in 1844; served in the War with Mexico as a first lieutenant in the first regiment of Alabama volunteers; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1848, and practiced; trustee of the University of Alabama 1851–1860; member of the state house of representatives 1859–1860; entered the Confederate army at the commencement of hostilities in 1861 as captain, and was successively promoted major, lieutenant colonel, colonel, and brigadier general; surrendered at Appomattox Court House; member of the state senate of Alabama 1865–1866; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, and to the eight succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1891); died in Jacksonville, Ala., January 16, 1894.

Forrest, Thomas, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa.; attended the public schools; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); reelected to the Seventeenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Milnor, and served from December 2, 1822, to March 3, 1823; died in Philadelphia, Pa., March 20, 1825.

Forrest, Uriah, a Delegate and a Representative from Maryland; born in St. Marys county, Md., in 1756; received a limited schooling; served as a private in the Revolutionary War; wounded at the battle of Germantown, and lost a leg at the battle of Brandywine; a Delegate in the Continental Congress 1786–1787; elected to the Third Congress, and served from March 4, 1793, to November 8, 1794, when he resigned; commissioned major general of Maryland militia in 1795; clerk of the circuit court of the District of Columbia 1800–1805; died near Georgetown, D. C., in April, 1805.

Forsyth, John, a Representative and a Senator from Georgia; born in Fredericksburg, Va., October 22, 1780; was graduated from Princeton college in 1799; moved to Augusta, Ga., with his father; studied law, and in 1802 was admitted to the bar; began practice in Augusta; attorney general of Georgia in 1808; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1813, to November 23, 1818, elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George M. Troup, and served from November 7, 1818, to February 17, 1819, when he resigned; appointed United States minister to Spain and served until March 2, 1823; again elected to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1827); again elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of J. Macpherson Berrien, and served from November 9, 1829, to June 27, 1834, when he resigned, having been appointed Secretary of State by President Jackson; reappointed by President Van Buren, and served from July 1, 1834, to March 4, 1841; died in Washington, D. C., October 21, 1841.

Forsythe, Albert Palaska, a Representative from Illinois; born in New Richmond, Ohio, May 24, 1830; attended the common schools and Asbury university; served in the Union army as first lieutenant; elected as a Nationalist to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); after the expiration of his term moved to Kansas; died in Independence, Kans., September 2, 1906.

Fort, Greenbury Lafayette, a Representative from Illinois; born in French Grant, Scioto county, Ohio, October 11, 1825; moved with his parents to Marshall county, Ill. in April, 1834; completed preparatory studies and attended Rock River seminary; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1847 and practiced in Lacon, Ill.; elected sheriff in 1850; served as county clerk in 1852; served in the Union army; second lieutenant eleventh Illinois infantry April 30, 1861; first lieutenant with rank of quartermaster May 22, 1861; captain September 1, 1861; lieutenant colonel and quartermaster July 21, 1864, to August 1, 1865; brevet major and lieutenant colonel of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for faithful and meritorious service during the war;" mustered out March 20, 1866; member of the state senate in 1866; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1881); died in Lacon, Ill., January 13, 1883.

Fort, Tomlinson, a Representative from Georgia; born in Warren county, Ga., July 14, 1787; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine, and in 1810 began practice; served several years as a member of the state legislature; elected on a general ticket to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); resumed the practice of medicine in Milledgeville; president of the State Bank of Georgia in 1832 and served until his death in Milledgeville, Ga., May 11, 1859.

Forward, Chauncey, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Old Granby, Conn., February 4, 1793; moved with his father to Ohio in 1800; moved to Greensburg, Pa., a short time afterwards; pursued classical studies; studied law; and in 1817 was admitted to the bar in Pittsburgh, Pa.; began practice in Somerset, Pa.; served in both branches of the state legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Alexander Thomson; reelected to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses, and served from December 4, 1826, to March 3, 1831; appointed prothonotary and recorder of Somerset county in 1831; died in Somerset, Pa., October 19, 1839.

Digitized by Google

Forward, Walter, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in East Granby, Conn., January 24, 1783; attended the common schools; moved with his father to Aurora, Ohio; settled in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1803; studied law, and in 1806 was admitted to the bar; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Henry Baldwin; reelected to the Eighteenth Congress, and served from December 2, 1822, to March 3, 1823; member of the state constitutional convention of 1837; appointed by President Harrison First Comptroller of the Treasury, April 6, 1841 and served until September 13, 1841, when he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury by President Tyler, which position he held until March 1, 1843; resumed the practice of law in Pittsburgh; appointed by President Taylor chargé d'affaires to Denmark and served from November 8, 1849, to October 10, 1851; returned to serve as president judge of the district court of Allegheny county; died in Pittsburgh, Pa., November 24, 1852.

Fosdick, Nicoll, a Representative from New York; born in New London, Conn., November 9, 1785; completed preparatory studies; moved to Norway, N. Y.; presidential elector on the Monroe ticket in 1816; member of the state house of representatives in 1818–1819; elected as a Whig to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); returned to New London in 1843, and was collector of customs 1849–1853; died in New London, Conn., May 7, 1868.

Foss, Eugene Noble, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in West Berkshire, Vt., September 24, 1858; attended the common schools, Franklin county high school, St. Albans, Vt., and the University of Vermont; located in Boston, Mass., in 1882, and engaged in manufacturing; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William C. Lovering, and served from April 7, 1910, to March 3, 1911; elected governor of Massachusetts in 1911, 1912, and 1913.

Foss, George Edmund, a Representative from Illinois; born in Berkshire, Franklin county, Vt., July 2, 1863; was graduated from Harvard college in 1885; attended the Columbia law school and school of political science in New York City, and was graduated from Union college of law, Chicago, in 1889; admitted to the bar the same year and began practice in Chicago; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Foster, Abiel, a Delegate and a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Andover, Mass., August 8, 1735; was graduated from Harvard college in 1756; studied theology licensed to preach, and was ordained to the Congregational ministry and installed as pastor of a church in Canterbury, N. H., in 1761, and served until 1779; a Delegate in the Continental Congress 1783–1885; elected to the First Congress (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1791); president of the state senate 1793–1794; reelected to the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Congresses (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1803); died in Canterbury, N. H., February 6, 1806.

Foster, Addison Gardner, a Senator from Washington; born in Belchertown, Mass., January 28, 1837; moved to Oswego, Kendall county, Ill., where he attended the common schools; moved to Wabasha, Minn., and engaged in the grain and real estate business; served as county auditor and county surveyor, one term in each position; moved to St. Paul, Minn., in 1873, and engaged in lumbering; moved to Tacoma, Wash., in 1888; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1899, to March 3, 1905; retiring from the Senate he engaged in the manufacturing and selling of lumber Tacoma, Wash.

Foster, A. Lawrence, a Representative from New York; attended the public schools; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843).

Foster, Charles, a Representative from Ohio; born in Seneca county, Ohio, April 12, 1828; pursued an academic course; moved with his father to Fostoria, Ohio; engaged in banking; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second, Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1879); governor of Ohio 1880–1884; was Secretary of the Treasury in the cabinet of President Harrison from February 25, 1891, to March 3, 1893; died in Fostoria, Ohio, January 9, 1904.

Foster, David Johnson, a Representative from Vermont; born in Barnet, Caledonia county, Vt., June 27, 1857; was graduated from the St. Johnsbury academy, St. Johnsbury, Vt., in 1876, and Dartmouth college in 1880; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1883; prosecuting attorney of Chittenden county 1886–1890; state senator 1892–1894; commissioner of state taxes 1894–1898; chairman of the board of railroad commissioners 1898–1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911); Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Foster, Dwight, a Representative and a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Brookfield, Mass., December 7, 1757; completed preparatory studies, and in 1774 was graduated from Brown university; studied law and was admitted to the bar; high sheriff of Worcester county; justice of the court of common pleas and afterwards chief justice; served in both branches of the state legislature; elected as a Federalist to the Third, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Congresses and served from March 4, 1793 to June 6, 1800, when he resigned; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1799, elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel Dexter, and served from June 6, 1800, to March 2, 1803, when he resigned; died in Brookfield, Mass., April 29, 1823.

Foster, Ephraim Hubbard, a Senator from Tennessee; born near Bardstown, Nelson county, Ky., September 17, 1794; moved with parents to Davidson county, Tenn., in 1797; completed preparatory studies and was graduated from the University of Nashville in 1813; private secretary to Gen. Andrew Jackson 1813–1815; served in both branches of the state legislature, and was twice the presiding officer of the senate; appointed as a Whig to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Felix Grundy, and served from September 17, 1838, to March 3, 1839; was reelected for the term beginning March 4, 1839, but declined to serve, not wishing to obey instructions given him by the state legislature; subsequently reelected United States Senator, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Felix Grundy, and served from October 17, 1843, to March 3, 1845; defeated as the Whig candidate for governor in 1845; died in Nashville, Tenn., September 14, 1845.

Digitized by Google

Foster, George Peter, a Representative from Illinois; born in Dover, N. J., April 3, 1860; moved to Chicago; attended the public schools and the University of Chicago; was graduated from Union college of law, Chicago, in 1882; admitted to the bar the same year and began practice in Chicago; justice of the peace for the town of South Chicago; acting police magistrate of the principal police court of the city for a considerable time; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1896, but resigned in order to permit a fusion between Democratic and People's parties; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1905); resumed the practice of law; assistant corporation counsel in Chicago, Ill.

Foster, Henry Allen, a Representative and a Senator from New York; born in Hartford, Conn., May 7, 1800; moved to Cazenovia, N. Y., when a boy; attended the common schools; studied law, and in 1822 was admitted to the bar; surrogate 1827–1831 and again in 1835–1839; member of the state senate 1831–1834 and 1841–1844; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Silas Wright, jr., and served from November 30, 1844, to January 18, 1845; elected judge of the fifth district of the supreme court November 3, 1863, and served from January 1, 1864, until January 1, 1872; senior member and president of the board of trustees of Hamilton college; vice president of the American colonization society; died in Rome, N. Y., May 12, 1889.

Foster, Henry Donnel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Mercer, Pa., December 19, 1808; pursued classical studies; studied law in Greensburg, Pa., and was admitted to the bar in 1829; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); member of state house of representatives 1857–1858; defeated as the Democratic candidate for governor in 1860; successfully contested the election of John Covode to the Forty-first Congress; reelected to the Forty-second Congress and served from February 9, 1870, to March 3, 1873; resumed the practice of law in Greensburg, Pa.; died in Irwin, Pa., December 19, 1908.

Foster, John Hopkins, a Representative from Indiana; born in Evansville, Ind., January 31, 1862; attended the common schools; was graduated from Indiana university in 1882, and from the law department of Columbian (now George Washington) university, Washington, D. C., in 1884; began practice of law in 1885; elected to the house of representatives of the general assembly of Indiana in 1893; judge of the superior court of Vanderburg county in 1894, 1898, and 1903; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James A. Hemenway, reelected to the Sixtieth Congress and served from December 4, 1905, to March 3, 1909; resumed the practice of law and resides in Evansville, Ind.

Foster, Lafayette Sabin, a Senator from Connecticut; born in Franklin, Conn., November 22, 1806; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Brown university in 1828; studied law and was admitted to the bar in Centerville, Md., in 1830, and also at Norwich, Conn., where he began practice in 1831; moved to Hampton, Conn., in 1833, but returned to Norwich in 1835 and was editor of The Republican, a Whig newspaper; member of the state legislature in 1839–1840, 1846–1848, and in 1854; and served three years as speaker of the house; defeated as the Whig candidate for governor in 1850 and in 1851; mayor of Norwich in 1851–1852; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate; reelected and served from March 4, 1855 to March 3, 1867; was President of the Senate pro tempore for a short time; elected professor of law in Yale college in 1869; judge of the supreme court of Connecticut in 1870–1876; defeated as the Democratic candidate for the Forty-fourth Congress; died in Norwich, Conn., September 19, 1880.

Foster, Martin David, a Representative from Illinois; born near West Salem, Edwards county, Ill., September 3, 1861; attended the public schools and Eureka college in Eureka, Ill.; began the study of medicine in the Eclectic medical institute in Cincinnati, Ohio, and was graduated in 1882, also was graduated from the Hahnemann medical college, Chicago, Ill., in 1894, and began the practice of medicine in Olney, Ill., in 1882; member of a board of United States examining surgeons 1885–1889, and 1893–1897; elected mayor of Olney, Ill., in 1895 and in 1897; member of Colonel Knopf's regiment, raised for service in the Spanish-American war, and was elected surgeon and commissioned by Governor Tanner, but the regiment was never called into service; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Foster, Murphy James, a Senator from Louisiana; born in Franklin, La., January 12, 1849; after the civil war attended preparatory school at Whites Creek, near Nashville, Tenn., for two years; from there went to Washington and Lee college for the session of 1867–1868; was graduated from Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn., in 1870; and from the law school of Tulane university, New Orleans, in 1871; member of the John McEnery legislature in 1872, but owing to the fact that this government was never recognized and the Kellogg government was, did not take his seat; member of the state senate in 1879–1895; elected president of the senate pro tempore 1888–1890; led the antilottery fight in the legislature in 1890; in 1892 was nominated by the antilottery convention as candidate for governor; served as governor of Louisiana 1892–1900; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate in 1901; reelected in 1907 and served from March 4, 1901 to March 3, 1913.

Foster, Nathaniel G., a Representative from Georgia; born in Greene county, Ga., August 25, 1809; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Franklin college in 1829; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1831 and began practice in Madison, Ga.; served in both houses of the state legislature; for three years solicitor general of the Ocmulgee circuit; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857).

Digitized by Google

Foster, Stephen Clark, a Representative from Maine; born in Machias, Me., December 24, 1799; attended the public schools; learned the blacksmith trade and became a shipbuilder; member of the state house of representatives 1834–1837; president of the state senate in 1840; again elected to the state house of representatives in 1847; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); died in Pembroke, Me., October 5, 1872.

Foster, Theodore, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Brookfield, Mass., April 29, 1752; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the Rhode Island college (now Brown university) in 1770 and from Dartmouth college in 1786; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Providence, R. I.; member of the state house of representatives 1776–1782; town clerk of Providence for many years; appointed judge of the court of admiralty in May, 1785; elected to the United States Senate; twice reelected, and served from June 7, 1790, until March 3, 1803; again a member of the state house of representatives 1812–1816; trustee of Brown university 1794–1822; died in Providence, R. I., January 13, 1828.

Foster, Thomas Flournoy, a Representative from Georgia; born in Greensboro, Ga., November 23, 1790; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Franklin college in 1812; studied law at the Litchfield law school; was admitted to the bar in 1816 and began practice in Greensboro; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1835); defeated for the Twenty-fourth Congress; moved to Columbus, Ga., in 1835; reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); died in Columbus, Ga., September 14, 1847.

Foster, Wilder De Ayr., a Representative from Michigan; born in Orange county, N. Y., January 8, 1819; attended the common schools; moved to Michigan in 1837, and engaged in the hardware business in Grand Rapids in 1845; city treasurer and alderman; mayor in 1854; state senator 1855–1856; again mayor of Grand Rapids 1865–1866; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas White Ferry; reelected to the Forty-third Congress, and served from December 4, 1871, until his death in Grand Rapids, Mich., September 20, 1873.

Fouke, Philip Bond, a Representative from Illinois; born in Kaskaskia, Ill., January 23, 1818; attended the public schools and became a civil engineer; established and published the Belleville Advocate in 1841; studied law and was admitted to the bar; prosecuting attorney of the Kaskaskia district 1846–1850; member of the state legislature in 1851; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); colonel of Illinois volunteers during the Civil war; resumed practice of law, and died in Washington, D. C., October 3, 1876.

Foulkrod, William Walker, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Frankford, Pa., November 22, 1846; attended public and private schools of Philadelphia; connected with several business and social local organizations; president of the Philadelphia trades league; for many years interested in plans for the improvement of the Delaware river and channel; one of the trustees of the Philadelphia commercial museum; member of the Pennsylvania historical society, Art club of Philadelphia, and a number of other organizations; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses and served from March 4, 1907, until his death in Frankford, Pa., November 13, 1910.

Fowler, Charles Newell, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Lena, Ill., November 2, 1852; was graduated from Yale university in 1876 and from the Chicago law school in 1878; was admitted to the bar in 1878 and practiced in Elizabeth, N. J.; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1911).

Fowler, John, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Virginia in 1755; attended the public schools; served in the Revolutionary War as captain; moved to Lexington, Ky.; elected to the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1807); died in Lexington, Ky., August 22, 1840.

Fowler, John Edgar, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Sampson county, N. C., September 8, 1866; attended the common schools and Wake Forest college; read law in the University of North Carolina and was admitted to the bar in 1894; member of the state senate in 1894; elected as a Populist to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); resumed the practice of law and resides in Clinton, N. C.

Fowler, Joseph Smith, a Senator from Tennessee; born near Steubenville, Ohio, August 31, 1822; was graduated from Franklin college, Ohio, in 1843; professor of mathematics for four years; studied law in Kentucky, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Tennessee until 1861; went to Springfield, Ill., in 1861, but returned to Nashville, Tenn., in 1862; appointed by Governor Johnson comptroller of Tennessee, and took an active part in the reconstruction of the state government; elected as a Union Republican to the United States Senate and served from May 4, 1866, to March 3, 1871; died in Washington, D. C., April 1, 1902.

Fowler, Orin, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Lebanon, Conn., July 19, 1791; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Yale college in 1814; studied theology; after performing an extensive missionary tour in the valley of the Mississippi settled as a minister in Plainfield, Conn., in 1819; moved to Fall River, Mass., in 1829, where he was installed as pastor of the Congregational church in 1832; served several times in both branches of the legislature; elected as a Free Soil Whig to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses and served from March 4, 1849, until his death in Washington, D. C., September 3, 1852.

Fowler, Samuel, a Representative from New Jersey; born near Newburgh, N. Y., October 30, 1779; pursued an academic course; studied medicine and commenced practice in Hamburg, N. J.; moved to Franklin, N. J.; member of the state senate; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); died in Franklin, N. J., February 21, 1844.

Fowler, Samuel, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Franklin Furnace, Sussex county,

Digitized by Google

N. J., March 22, 1851; attended Newton collegiate institute, Princeton college, and Columbia college law school; was admitted to the bar of New York in 1873 and of New Jersey in 1876; practiced law in Newark and Newton, N. J.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1893); resumed the practice of law, and resides in Ogdensburg, N. J.

Fox, Andrew Fuller, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Pickens county, Ala., April 26, 1849; studied law in Grenada, Miss., in 1876 and 1877; was admitted to the bar in 1877, and engaged in practice in West Point, Miss.; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1888; member of the state senate in 1891, which position he resigned to accept the office of United States attorney for the northern district of Mississippi, to which he was appointed June 27, 1893; resigned the latter office September 1, 1896; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1903); resumed the practice of law in West Point, Miss.

Fox, John, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, June 30, 1835; attended the public schools; engaged in mechanical pursuits; served as alderman and supervisor of New York City; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); member of the state senate 1873–1874; engaged as an iron merchant and resides in New York City.

Franchot, Richard, a Representative from New York; born in Morris, N. Y., June 2, 1816; attended the public schools and Hartwick and Cherry Valley academies; studied civil engineering at Polytechnic institute, Troy, N. Y.; became interested in agricultural pursuits, and then in the construction of railroads; served for some years as president of the Albany and Susquehanna railroad company; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); raised the One hundred and twenty-first New York volunteer regiment and was commissioned colonel August 23, 1862; commissioned March 12, 1867, brevet brigadier-general United States volunteers from March 13, 1865; associated with the Central Pacific railroad company; died in Schenectady, N. Y., November 23, 1875.

Francis, John Brown, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Philadelphia, Pa., May 31, 1794; on the death of his father he was reared by Nicholas Brown, of Providence, R. I.; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Brown university in 1808; attended the Litchfield law school; was admitted to the bar, but never practiced; became interested in agricultural pursuits; representative in the state legislature in 1824, 1826–1828, and 1832; governor of Rhode Island in 1832 as a Jackson and Antimasonic candidate; served until 1838; member of the state senate in 1843; chancellor of Brown university 1841–1854; elected as a Law and Order candidate to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Sprague, and served from January 25, 1844, to March 3, 1845; again state senator in 1847, 1849, and 1852–1854; died in Warwick, R. I., August 9, 1864.

Frank, Augustus, a Representative from New York; born in Warsaw, N. Y., July 17, 1826; received a business education and entered upon a mercantile career; director and vice president of the Buffalo and New York City railroad company; delegate to Republican national convention in Philadelphia in 1856; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, and Thirty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1865); member of the state constitutional convention of 1867–1868; one of the managers of the state hospital of New York in 1870; presidential elector on the Harrison and Morton ticket in 1888; commissioner for preservation of public parks; director of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1894; died in New York City, April 29, 1895.

Frank, Nathan, a Representative from Missouri; born in Peoria, Ill., February 23, 1852; attended the public schools of Peoria and St. Louis and Washington university; was graduated from Harvard law school in 1871, and was admitted to the bar; unsuccessfully contested the election of John F. Glover to the Fiftieth Congress; elected as a Republican and Union Labor candidate to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); resumed the practice of law in St. Louis, Mo.

Franklin, Benjamin, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in Boston, Mass., January 17, 1706; attended the Boston grammar school one year; was instructed in elementary branches by a private tutor; employed in a tallow chandlery for two years; learned the art of printing, and after working at his trade in Boston, Philadelphia, and London established himself in Philadelphia as a printer and publisher; state printer; clerk of the state assembly in 1736; postmaster of Philadelphia in 1737; a member of the provincial assembly 1744–1754; a member of several Indian commissions; appointed postmaster general of the British North American colonies in 1753; agent of Pennsylvania in London 1757–1762 and 1764–1775; a Delegate in the Continental Congress 1775–1776; signed the Declaration of Independence; president of the Pennsylvania constitutional convention of 1776; sent as a diplomatic commissioner to France by the Continental Congress and later minister to France 1776–1785; governor of Pennsylvania 1785–1788; a delegate to the convention which framed the Federal Constitution in May, 1787; died in Philadelphia, Pa., April 17, 1790.

Franklin, Benjamin J., a Representative from Missouri; native of Mason county, Ky.; attended private schools and Bethany college, Virginia; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1857; began practice in Leavenworth, Kans.; moved to Missouri in 1860, and located in Kansas City; entered the Confederate army as a private, promoted to captain, and served throughout the war; elected Commonwealth attorney for the twenty-fourth judicial circuit of Missouri in March, 1871; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); died in Kansas City, Mo., in 1898.

Franklin, Jesse, a Representative and a Senator from North Carolina; born in Orange county, Va., March 24, 1760; moved with parents to North Carolina in 1774; served as major during the Revolutionary War; member of the house of commons of North Carolina in 1794, 1797, 1798, and of the state senate in 1805–1806; elected as a Democrat to the Fourth Congress (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1797); elected to the United States Senate in 1799 and served from March 4, 1799, until March 3, 1805; again elected to the United States Senate in 1807, and served from March 4, 1807, until March

Digitized by Google

3, 1813; governor of North Carolina 1820–1821; died in Surry county, N. C., August 31, 1823.

Franklin, John Rankin, a Representative from Maryland; born near Berlin, Md., May 6, 1820; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Jefferson college in 1836; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1841, and began practice in Snow Hill, Md.; member of the state house of representatives 1840–1843 and in 1859 and served as speaker one term; president of the state board of public works in 1851; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1852–March 3, 1855); judge of the first judicial circuit of Maryland from 1867 until his death in Worcester county, Md., January 11, 1878.

Franklin, Meshach, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Surry county, N. C., in 1772; member of the state house of commons in 1800 and of the state senate in 1828–1829; elected as a Democrat to the Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, and Thirteenth Congresses (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1815); died in Surry county, N. C., December 18, 1839.

Frazier, James Beriah, a Senator from Tennessee; born in Pikeville, Bledsoe county, Tenn., October 18, 1856; attended the common schools, and was graduated at the University of Tennessee in June, 1878; read law with his father, Judge Thomas N. Frazier, in Nashville, Tenn.; was admitted to the bar and removed to Chattanooga in 1881, and practiced there until 1902; elector for the state at large on the Democratic ticket in 1900; governor of Tennessee 1902 and 1904; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate March 21, 1905, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William B. Bate, and served from March 21, 1905, to March 3, 1911; defeated for reelection; resumed the practice of law in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Frederick, Benjamin Todd, a Representative from Iowa; born in Fredericktown, Columbiana county, Ohio, October 5, 1834; completed preparatory studies; engaged in manufacturing; member of the city council of Marshalltown three terms, and of the school board three terms; successfully contested the election of James Wilson to the Forty-eighth Congress, and the seat was given him on the last day of that Congress, March 3, 1885; reelected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887).

Freedley, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Norristown, Pa., May 22, 1793; attended the public schools and Norristown academy; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1820, and began practice in Norristown; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); died in Norristown, Pa., December 8, 1851.

Freeman, Chapman, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., October 8, 1832; attended the public schools; was graduated from the Philadelphia high school in 1850; commenced the study of law, but engaged in mercantile pursuits until the breaking out of the Civil War; entered the United States Navy as acting assistant paymaster in 1863; resigned in 1864; resumed the study of law and was admitted to the bar in 1867; practiced in Philadelphia; one of the commissioners on behalf of the centennial from the city of Philadelphia to Vienna, Austria, in 1873; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); died in Stratford, Pa., March 22, 1904.

Freeman, James C., a Representative from Georgia; born in Jones county, Ga., April 1, 1820; received a limited schooling; planter; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875).

Freeman, John D., a Representative from Mississippi; native of New Jersey; attended the common schools; moved to Mississippi and located in Jackson; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); died January 19, 1886.

Freeman, Jonathan, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Mansfield, Conn., March 21, 1745; attended the public schools; executive councilor 1789–1797; overseer of Dartmouth college 1793–1808; elected to the Fifth and Sixth Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1801); died in Hanover, N. H., August 20, 1808.

Freeman, Nathaniel, Jr., a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Dennis, Mass., April 8, 1741; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine, and in 1765 began practice in Sandwich, Mass.; also studied law and was admitted to the bar; a colonel in the Revolutionary war; judge of the court of common pleas for Barnstable county 1775–1811; brigadier-general of militia 1781–1793; elected to the Fourth and Fifth Congresses (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1799); died in Sandwich, Mass., September 20, 1827.

Freer, Romeo Hoyt, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Bazetta, Trumbull county, Ohio, November 9, 1846; attended the common schools of Ashtabula county, Ohio, where his parents had moved when he was three years old; served in the Union Army during the war as a private; located in Charleston, W. Va., in March, 1866; taught school; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1868; assistant prosecuting attorney of Kanawha county 1868–1871; prosecuting attorney of the same county 1871–1873; presidential elector on the Grant ticket in 1872; United States consul to Nicaragua until 1877; moved to Ritchie county in 1882; Blaine elector in 1884; member of the legislature in 1891; prosecuting attorney of Ritchie county 1892–1897; elected judge of the fourth judicial circuit in 1896; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1901); attorney-general of West Virginia 1901–1905; postmaster of Harrisville, W. Va.

Frelinghuysen, Frederick, a Delegate and a Senator from New Jersey; born in Somerset county, N. J., April 13, 1753; was graduated from Princeton college in 1770; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1774; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1778–1779 and 1782–1783; served in the Revolutionary war as captain and colonel, and in 1790 appointed by President Washington brigadier-general in the campaign against the Western Indians; elected as a Federalist to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1793, to November 12, 1796, when he resigned; died in Millstone, N. J., April 13, 1804.

Frelinghuysen, Frederick Theodore, a Senator from New Jersey; born in Millstone, N. J., August 4, 1817; was graduated from Rutgers college in 1836; studied law, and in 1839 admitted to the bar, and practiced in Newark, N. J.; city attorney in 1849; member of city council in 1850; a delegate to the peace congress in 1861; appointed attorney-general of New Jersey in 1861; reappointed in 1866; appointed as a Republican and subsequently elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William Wright, and served from November 12, 1866, to March 3, 1869; appointed minister to England by President Grant in July, 1870; confirmed after considerable opposition from Senators Sumner and Wilson, but declined the appointment; again elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1871, to March 3, 1877; resumed the practice of law in Newark, N. J.; appointed Secretary of State under President Arthur, and served from December 19, 1881, to March 6, 1885; died in Newark, N. J., May 20, 1885.

Digitized by Google

Frelinghuysen, Theodore, a Senator from New Jersey; born in Millstone, N. J., March 28, 1787; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Princeton college in 1804; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1808 and began practice in Newark, N. J.; served as captain of volunteer militia in the War of 1812; attorney-general of New Jersey 1817–1829; elected as an Adams Republican to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1829, until March 3, 1835; mayor of Newark, N. J., 1837–1838; chancellor of the New York university 1839–1850; defeated as the Whig candidate for Vice-President in 1844; president of Rutgers college from 1850 until his death in New Brunswick, N. J., April 12, 1862.

Frémont, John Charles, a Senator from California; born in Savannah, Ga., January 21, 1813; pursued classical studies and attended Charleston college 1828–1830; instructor in mathematics in United States Navy 1833–1835; civil engineer assistant of Nicollet in 1838–1839, exploring the territory between the Missouri River and the northern boundary of the United States; appointed second lieutenant of topographical engineers of the United States Army, July 7, 1838; commenced in 1842 his explorations and surveys for an overland route from the Mississippi to the Pacific Ocean; major of a battalion of California volunteers in 1846; appointed lieutenant colonel of United States mounted rifles in 1846 and ordered to act as governor of California by Commodore Stockton; General Kearny, U. S. Army, revoked this order and placed him under arrest for mutiny; tried by court-martial in Washington, found guilty, and pardoned by President Polk, but resigned; crossed the continent in 1848; located in California on the Mariposa grant; commissioner to run the boundary line between United States and Mexico in 1849; elected as a Free Soil Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from September 10, 1850, to March 3, 1851; crossed the continent in 1853 for the fifth time; defeated in 1856 as the Republican candidate for President of the United States; appointed major-general in the United States Army by President Lincoln May 14, 1861, and placed in command of the Western military district; was removed December 2, 1861; appointed to command the mountain department February 10, 1862; resigned June 4, 1864; again nominated for President by the Cleveland convention in 1864; governor of Arizona Territory 1878–1881; appointed a major-general in the United States Army on the retired list April 28, 1890; died in New York City July 13, 1890.

French, Burton Lee, a Representative from Idaho; born near Delphi, Ind., August 1, 1875; moved with his parents to Kearney, Nebr., in 1880, and removed to Idaho in 1882; was graduated from the University of Idaho in 1901, and was fellow in the University of Chicago in 1901 and 1902; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Moscow, Idaho; elected to the state house of representatives in 1898; reelected in 1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911); defeated for reelection to the Sixty-first Congress; resumed the practice of law in Moscow, Idaho. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

French, Carlos, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Humphreysville (now Seymour), Conn., August 6, 1835; attended General Russell's school, New Haven, Conn.; engaged in manufacturing; member of the state house of representatives 1860 and 1868; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); died in Seymour, Conn., April 14, 1903.

French, Ezra Bartlett, a Representative from Maine; born in Landoff, N. H., September 23, 1810; pursued an academic course; moved to Damariscotta, Me.; secretary of state of Maine; elected to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); appointed Second Auditor of the Treasury, August 3, 1861, by President Lincoln, and continued during the administrations of Presidents Johnson, Grant, and Hayes; died in Washington, D. C., April 24, 1881.

French, John R., a Representative from North Carolina; born in Gilmanton, N. H., May 28, 1819; learned the printer's trade; five years publisher and associate editor of the New Hampshire Statesman, at Concord; two years editor of the Eastern Journal, at Biddeford, Me.; moved to Lake county, Ohio, in 1854; editor of the Telegraph, the Press, and in 1856 of the Cleveland Morning Leader; member of the state legislature 1858–1859; appointed by Secretary Chase in the Treasury Department at Washington in 1861; appointed by President Lincoln in 1864 on the board of direct-tax commissioners for the state of North Carolina; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1867; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress and served from July 6, 1868, to March 3, 1869; elected Sergeant-at-Arms of the United States Senate in December, 1870, and held the office nine years; appointed secretary of the Ute Commission in July, 1880; moved to Boise City, Idaho, and was editor of the Boise City Sun; died in Boise City, Idaho, October 2, 1890.

French, Richard, a Representative from Kentucky; native of Kentucky; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Mount Sterling, Ky.; judge of the circuit court; member of the state legislature in 1820–1822; presidential elector on the Jackson and Van Buren ticket in 1829; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); defeated for the Twenty-fifth Congress; reelected to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); again elected to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849).

Frick, Henry, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Northumberland, Pa., in 1795; attended the public schools; apprenticed to a printer in Philadelphia; served in the War of 1812; located in Milton, Pa., in 1816, establishing a political journal, with which he was connected for over twenty years; member of the state house of representatives 1828–1831; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth Congress and served from March 4, 1843, until his death in Washington, D. C., March 1, 1844.

Digitized by Google

Fries, George, a Representative from Ohio; native of Pennsylvania; attended the public schools; studied medicine and practiced in Hanoverton, Ohio; elected to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); died in Hanoverton, Ohio, November 13, 1866.

Fromentin, Eligius, a Senator from Louisiana; born in France; pursued classical studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced in New Orleans; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1813, to March 3, 1819; appointed judge of the criminal court of New Orleans in 1821; appointed United States district judge for the district of Florida in January, 1822, but soon resigned and resumed the practice of law in New Orleans; died in New Orleans, La., October 6, 1822.

Frost, George, a Delegate from New Hampshire; born in Newcastle, N. H., April 26, 1720; attended the public schools; entered business in Kittery Point, near Portsmouth; followed the sea for twenty years; returned to Newcastle in 1760, and in 1770 moved to Durham; judge of the court of common pleas of Strafford county 1773–1791; served as chief justice several years; delegate in the Continental Congress 1777–1779; executive councilor 1781–1784; died in Durham, N. H., June 21, 1796.

Frost, Joel, a Representative from New York; native of Westchester county, N. Y.; attended the public schools; member of the state house of representatives in 1806–1808; surrogate of Putnam county 1812–1813, 1815–1819, and 1821–1822; member of the state constitutional convention of 1821; moved to Schenectady; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825).

Frost, Richard Graham, a Representative from Missouri; born in St. Louis, Mo., December 29, 1851; attended St. John's College, New York City, and the University of London, England, and the St. Louis, Mo., law school; was admitted to the bar and practiced in St. Louis, Mo.; unsuccessfully contested as a Democrat the election of Lyne S. Metcalfe to the Forty-fifth Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); presented credentials as Member-elect to the Forty-seventh Congress, and served from March 4, 1881, until March 2, 1883, when he was succeeded by Gustavus Sessinghaus, who contested his election; died in St. Louis, Mo., February 1, 1900.

Frost, Rufus Smith, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Marlboro, N. H., July 18, 1826; moved to Boston, Mass., in 1833, where he attended the public schools; entered upon a mercantile career; mayor of Chelsea, Mass., in 1867–1868; member of the state senate in 1871–1872, and of the governor's council 1873–1874; presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Forty-fourth Congress, and served from March 4, 1875, until July 28, 1876, when he was succeeded by Josiah G. Abbott, who contested his election; president of the national association of woolen manufacturers for seven years, of the Boston board of trade for two years, and of the New England conservatory of music for eight years; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1892; died in Chicago, Ill., March 6, 1894.

Fry, Jacob, jr., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Trappe, Pa., June 10, 1802; clerk of courts of Montgomery county 1830–1833; attended the public schools; taught school in Trappe, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); engaged in mercantile business in Trappe, Pa.; elected to the state assembly in 1853, and served two terms; auditor-general of Pennsylvania 1856–1860; died in Trappe, Pa., November 28, 1866.

Fry, Joseph, jr., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of that state; elected to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831).

Frye, William Pierce, a Representative and a Senator from Maine; born in Lewiston, Me., September 2, 1831; was graduated from Bowdoin college in 1850; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the state legislature in 1861–1862, and 1867; mayor of the city of Lewiston in 1866–1867; attorney general of the state of Maine 1867–1869; elected a trustee of Bowdoin college in June, 1880; presidential elector in 1864; delegate to the Republican national conventions in 1872, 1876, and 1880; elected chairman of the Republican state committee of Maine in November, 1881; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second, and to the five succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1871, to March 17, 1881, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James G. Blaine; reelected in 1883, 1888, 1895, 1901, and 1907, and served from March 18, 1881, until his death; elected President of the Senate pro tempore February 7, 1896; reelected March 7, 1901, and December 5, 1907, and served as such until his death; member of the commission which met in Paris September, 1898, to adjust terms of peace between the United States and Spain; died in Lewiston, Me., August 8, 1911.

Fulkerson, Abram, a Representative from Virginia; born in Washington county, Va., May 13, 1834; was graduated from the Virginia military institute; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; entered the Confederate service in March, 1861, as a captain; promoted to major, lieutenant colonel, and colonel; elected to the house of delegates of Virginia in 1871–1873, and to the senate of Virginia in 1877–1879; elected as a Readjuster to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); resumed the practice of law after leaving Congress; died in Bristol, Va., December 17, 1902.

Fulkerson, Frank Ballard, a Representative from Missouri; born near Edinburg, Grundy county, Mo., March 5, 1866, and eight months later moved with his parents to a farm near Higginsville, Lafayette county, Mo.; attended the district school, and was graduated from Westminster college, Fulton, Mo., in 1888; taught school for two years, and then entered the law department of the University of Michigan, taking the junior year's work; was graduated from the law department of the Missouri state university in June, 1892; practiced in Warrensburg, Holden, and St. Joseph, Mo.; elected and served two years as city attorney of Warrensburg, two years as prosecuting attorney of Johnson county, and two years as city attorney of Holden; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1907); defeated for reelection to the Sixtieth Congress; Republican candidate for attorney general in 1908, but was defeated; unsuccessful candidate for mayor of St. Joseph, Mo., in 1908; resumed the practice of law in St. Joseph, Mo.

Digitized by Google

Fuller, Benoni Stinson, a Representative from Indiana; born in Warwick county, Ind., November 13, 1825; attended the common schools and taught school; sheriff in 1856 and 1858; member of the state house of representatives 1866–1868; served in the state senate 1862, 1870, and 1872; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); died in Boonville, Ind., April 14, 1903.

Fuller, Charles Eugene, a Representative from Illinois; born near Belvidere, Boone county, Ill., March 31, 1849; studied law, was admitted to the bar of Illinois in 1870; city attorney of Belvidere two terms; state's attorney for Boone county one term; representative in the general assembly three terms; member of the state senate two terms; circuit judge for six years; in 1898 raised a regiment for the war with Spain and was commissioned colonel; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Fuller, George, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Norwich, Conn., November 7, 1802; attended the public schools; engaged in mercantile pursuits; served as county treasurer; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Almon H. Read, and served from December 2, 1844, to March 3, 1845; editor of Montrose, Pa., Democrat; treasurer of Susquehanna county; member of Republican party during last twenty-five years of his life; died in Scranton, Pa., November 24, 1888.

Fuller, Henry M., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Bethany, Pa., January 3, 1820; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Nassau Hall, Princeton, in 1839; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Wilkesbarre; elected to the state legislature in 1848; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); defeated for the Thirty-third Congress; reelected to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); died in Philadelphia, Pa., December 26, 1860.

Fuller, Philo C., a Representative from New York; member of the state house of representatives in 1829 and in 1830; served in the state senate in 1831 and 1832; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1833, until September 2, 1836, when he resigned; Second Assistant Postmaster General 1841–1843; comptroller of New York from December 18, 1850, to January 1, 1852; died in Geneva, N. Y., August 16, 1855.

Fuller, Thomas James Duncan, a Representative from Maine; born in Hardwick, Caledonia county, Vt., March 17, 1808; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Calais, Me.; elected to the Thirty-first, and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1857); appointed by President Buchanan Second Auditor of the Treasury, and served from April 15, 1857, to August 3, 1861; practiced law in Washington, D. C.; died in Fauquier county, Va., February 13, 1876.

Fuller, Timothy, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Chilmark, Mass., July 11, 1778; was graduated from Harvard college in 1801; taught at Leicester academy; studied law in Worcester, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Boston, residing in Cambridge; member of the state senate 1813–1817, and of the state house of representatives in 1825; elected as a Democratic Republican to the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1825); state councilor in 1828; again elected to the state house of representatives; died in Groton, Mass., October 1, 1835.

Fuller, William Elijah, a representative from Iowa; born in Howard, Center county, Pa., March 30, 1846; attended Upper Iowa university and the State university; was graduated from the law department of the State university in June, 1870; held a position in the office of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior, 1866–1867; member of the Iowa house of representatives 1876–1877; member of the Republican state and congressional committees; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); assistant attorney-general Spanish Treaty claims commission 1901–1907; engaged in the banking business and resides in West Union, Ohio.

Fuller, William Kendall, a representative from New York; born in Schenectady, N. Y., November 24, 1792; attended the common schools and was graduated from Union college in 1810; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Schenectady; adjutant general of New York in 1823; district attorney of Madison county 1821–1829; member of the state legislature in 1829–1830; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); died in Schenectady, N. Y., November 11, 1883.

Fullerton, David, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in the Cumberland Valley, Pennsylvania, October 4, 1772; attended the public schools; located in Greencastle; member of the state senate; elected to the Sixteenth Congress and served from March 4, 1819, until 1820, when he resigned; declined a renomination; president of a bank at Greencastle, Pa., where he died February 1, 1843.

Fulton, Andrew S., a Representative from Virginia; born near Wytheville, Va.; attended the public schools; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849).

Fulton, Charles William, a Senator from Oregon; born in Lima, Ohio, August 24, 1853; went with parents to Magnolia, Iowa, in 1855; attended the common schools; moved to Pawnee City, Nebr., in 1871; attended an academy; studied law and was admitted to the bar in the spring of 1875; went to Oregon and located in Astoria June, 1875; elected to the state senate in 1878; city attorney in the early eighties, and in 1888 was a presidential elector, carrying to Washington the vote of Oregon and casting it for President Harrison; elected to the state senate in 1890, 1898, and 1902, and was president in the sessions of 1893 and 1901; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1903, until March 3, 1909; offered the post of minister to China by President Taft in 1909, but declined; resumed the practice of law in Astoria, Oreg.

Digitized by Google

Fulton, Elmer Lincoln, a Representative from Oklahoma; born in Magnolia, Harrison county, Iowa, April 22, 1865; moved with his parents to Pawnee City, Nebr., in 1870; removed to Oklahoma; attended the public schools in Pawnee City and took a partial course at Tabor college, Tabor, Iowa; elected as a Democrat upon the admission of the State into the Union to the Sixtieth Congress, and served from December 2; 1907, until March 3, 1909; resumed the practice of law and resides in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Fulton, John H., a Representative from Virginia; born in Abingdon, Va.; completed preparatory studies; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); died in Abingdon, Va., January 28, 1836.

Fulton, William Savin, a Senator from Arkansas; born in Cecil county, Md., June 2, 1795; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Baltimore college in 1813; started the study of law under William Pinckney, but served in the War of 1812 in a company of volunteers at Fort McHenry; after the war moved to Tennessee and resumed the study of law with Felix Grundy; military secretary to General Jackson in his Florida campaign in 1818; moved to Alabama; appointed by President Jackson secretary of state of the Territory of Arkansas in 1829; governor of Arkansas 1835–1836; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate upon the admission of the State into the Union, and served from September 18, 1836, until his death in Little Rock, Ark., August 15, 1844.

Funk, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from Illinois; born on a farm in Funks Grove township, McLean county, Ill., October 17, 1838; attended the district school and Wesleyan university, Bloomington; left school in 1862 to enlist in the sixty-eighth Illinois infantry as a private, and served five months; returned to the university and finished a three-year course; engaged in farming; moved to Bloomington, Ill., in 1869; elected mayor in 1871, and reelected six times; trustee of the asylum for the blind at Jacksonville; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); died in Bloomington, Ill., February 14, 1909.

Funston, Edward Hogue, a Representative from Kansas; born in Clarke county, Ohio, September 16, 1836; attended the common schools, New Carlisle academy, and Marietta college; entered the army in 1861 as lieutenant, sixteenth Ohio battery; participated in the principal engagements along the Mississippi River; mustered out in 1865; located in Kansas in 1867; elected to the Kansas house of representatives 1873–1875; speaker in 1875; elected to the state senate in 1880 for four years and was president pro tempore; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Dudley C. Haskell; reelected to the four succeeding Congresses, and served from March 21, 1884, to March 3, 1893; presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Fifty-third Congress, and served from March 4, 1893, until August 2, 1894, when he was succeeded by Horace L. Moore, who contested his election; died in Iola, Kans., September 10, 1911.

Fyan, Robert W., a Representative from Missouri; born in Bedford county, Pa., March 11, 1835; studied law, was admitted to the bar; moved to Missouri in 1858; entered the Union army; captain and major of the twenty-fourth Missouri volunteer infantry and colonel of the forty-sixth Missouri volunteer infantry; circuit attorney 1865–1866; circuit judge of the fourteenth judicial circuit of Missouri from April, 1866, to January, 1883, having four years to serve when elected to Congress; member of the Missouri constitutional convention of 1875; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); reelected to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law after leaving Congress; died in Marshfield, Mo., July 28, 1896.

Gadsden, Christopher, a Delegate from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., in 1724; attended preparatory and classical schools in England; engaged in a commercial house in Philadelphia, Pa., 1742–1745; delegate in the Colonial Congress that met in New York in 1765, and to the first Continental Congress in Philadelphia, 1774–1776; an officer in the Continental Army in the defence of Charleston, 1776–1780; entered the service as colonel and received promotions to the rank of brigadier general; was a framer of the state constitution of 1778; lieutenant governor 1778–1780; elected governor of South Carolina in 1781, but declined; died in Charleston, S. C., August 28, 1805.

Gage, Joshua, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in that state in 1763; completed preparatory studies; moved to Augusta, Me. in 1795; member of the state house of representatives 1805 and 1807; served in the state senate in 1813 and 1815; treasurer of Kennebec county, Me., 21 years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); an executive councilor in 1822 and 1823; died in Augusta, Me., January 24, 1831.

Gaillard, John, a Senator from South Carolina; born in St. Stephens district, S. C., September 5, 1765; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Pierce Butler, and served from December 6, 1804, until his death; President of the Senate, pro tempore, in the Eleventh, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses; died in Washington, D. C., February 26, 1826.

Gaines, John Paul, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Augusta, W. Va., in 1795; received a thorough English training; studied law and was admitted to the bar in Walton, where he began practice; served in the Mexican war as major in Gen. Thomas Marshall's Kentucky cavalry brigade, and served as aide-de-camp on the staff of Gen. Winfield Scott; captured at Incarnacion in January, 1847, and while in captivity was elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); governor of Oregon Territory 1850–1853; died in Marion county, Oreg., January 4, 1858.

Gaines, John Wesley, a Representative from Tennessee; born near Nashville, Davidson county, Tenn., August 24, 1861; attended the country common schools, in which he also taught; studied medicine and was graduated from the University of Nashville, and Vanderbilt university in 1882; never practiced medicine, but the next day after graduation took up the study of law, and in 1884 was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Nashville; elector on the Cleveland ticket in 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1909); defeated for reelection to the Sixty-first Congress; resumed the practice of law in Nashville, Tenn.

Digitized by Google

Gaines, Joseph Holt, a Representative from West Virginia; born in the District of Columbia September 3, 1864; went with his parents to Fayette county, W. Va., in 1867; attended the University of West Virginia and was graduated from Princeton in 1886; admitted to the bar in Fayetteville, W. Va., in 1887; appointed United States district attorney for West Virginia by President McKinley in 1897; resigned in 1901; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1907); defeated for reelection to the Sixty-second Congress; resumed the practice of law in Charleston, W. Va.

Gaines, William Embre, a Representative from Virginia; born in Charlotte county, Va., August 30, 1844; attended the common schools; when the Civil War broke out in 1861; enlisted as a private in company K, eighteenth Virginia regiment (Pickett's division); reenlisted in the Army of the Cape Fear and surrendered with Johnson, near Greensboro, N. C., in April, 1865, having attained the rank of adjutant of Manly's artillery battalion; engaged in business and banking in Burkeville, Va.; elected as a Republican to the Virginia state senate in 1883, and served three years, when he resigned; delegate in the national convention which nominated Blaine for the presidency in 1884; mayor of Burkeville several years, and delegate to several state conventions; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889).

Gaither, Nathan, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Mocksville, N. C., in 1785; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine, was graduated from Jefferson medical college, and began practice in Columbia, Ky; served as assistant surgeon in the war of 1812; member of the state house of representatives 1815–1818; presidential elector on the Jackson and Calhoun ticket in 1829; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1833); delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1849; again elected to the state legislature; died in Columbia, Ky., August 12, 1862.

Galbraith, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Huntingdon county, Pa., August 2, 1794; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served in the state house of representatives several terms; elected to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); reelected to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); appointed president judge for the sixth judicial district; died in Erie, Pa., June 15, 1860.

Gale, George, a Representative from Maryland; native of that state; attended the common schools; elected to the First Congress (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1791).

Gale, Levin, a Representative from Maryland; born in Cecil county, Md., in 1824; attended the common schools; elected to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); died in Baltimore, Md., April 28, 1875.

Gallagher, Thomas, a Representative from Illinois; born in Concord, N. H., in 1850; moved to Chicago in 1866; attended the public schools; learned the trade of iron moulder; entered the hat business in Chicago in 1878; director of the Cook county state savings bank; twice a member of city council of Chicago, and was for six years a member of the board of education; president of the county Democracy, chairman of the county central committee of the Democratic party of Cook county, and a member of the executive committee; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Gallatin, Albert, a Senator and a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Geneva, Switzerland, January 29, 1761; was graduated from the University of Geneva in 1779; emigrated to America and located in Boston, Mass., in 1780; served in the Revolutionary army; instructor of French in Harvard college in 1782; moved to Virginia in 1785 and located on a tract of land in Fayette county (now in Pennsylvania), which he purchased; his estate becoming a portion of Pennsylvania, he was made a member of the Pennsylvania constitutional convention of 1789; member of the state house of representatives 1790–1792; presented credentials to the United States Senate, and on December 2, 1793, when he attempted to take his seat, it was claimed he had not been a citizen of the United States a sufficient length of time, and on February 28, 1794, his election was declared void; elected a member of the Pennsylvania state house of representatives, but declined; elected as a Democrat to the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Congresses (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1801); appointed Secretary of the Treasury by President Jefferson January 26, 1802; reappointed by President Madison and held the position until February 9, 1814, when appointed one of the commissioners to negotiate the treaty of Ghent, which was signed December 24, 1814; one of the commissioners which negotiated a commercial convention with Great Britain in 1816; appointed United States minister to France by President Madison in 1815 and served until 1823; minister plenipotentiary to Great Britain from May 10, 1826, until October 4, 1827; returned to New York City and became president of the National Bank; died in Astoria, N. Y., August 12, 1849.

Gallegos, José Manuel, a Delegate from New Mexico territory; born in Rio Arriba county, N. Mex., November 14, 1815; attended the public schools; studied theology at the College of Durango, Republic of Mexico, and was graduated in 1840; member of the legislative assembly of what was then the department of New Mexico, Republic of Mexico, 1843–1846; member of the first legislative assembly of the territory of New Mexico in 1850 and 1851; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); presented credentials as a Delegate-elect to the Thirty-fourth Congress and served from March 4, 1855 until July 23, 1856 when he was succeeded by Miguel A. Otero, who contested his election; speaker of the territorial house of representatives 1860–1862; treasurer of the Territory for five years; made a prisoner of war by the Texas Confederate troops in 1862; superintendent of Indian affairs in New Mexico in 1868; reelected as a Democrat a Delegate to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died about 1893.

Digitized by Google

Gallinger, Jacob H., a Representative and a Senator from New Hampshire; born near Cornwall, Ontario, March 28, 1837; attended the common schools, and completed an academic course; became a printer in early life; studied medicine and was graduated from the Cincinnati, Ohio, medical institute in 1858; studied abroad for two years; returned to the United States and engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery in Concord, N. H., in April, 1862; member of the state house of representatives in 1872–1873 and 1891; member of the state constitutional convention of 1876; served in the state senate in 1878, 1879, and 1880, and was president of that body the last two years; was surgeon general of New Hampshire with the rank of brigadier general in 1879–1880; chairman of the Republican state committee 1882–1890, when he resigned; again elected to the position in 1898, 1900, 1902, 1904, and 1906; resigned in 1908; chairman of the delegation from New Hampshire in the Republican national conventions of 1888, 1900, 1904, and 1908; chairman of the Merchant Marine commission of 1904–1905; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); declined renomination to the Fifty-first Congress; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate for the term beginning March 4, 1891; reelected in 1897, 1903, and in 1909 for the term expiring March 3, 1915.

Galloway, Joseph, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in West River, Anne Arundel county, Md., in 1731; moved with his father to Pennsylvania in 1740; received a liberal schooling; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Philadelphia, Pa.; member of the Pennsylvania colonial house of representatives 1757–1775 and was speaker 1766–1774; Delegate in the Continental Congress in 1775; remained loyal to the King, and in December, 1776, joined the British army of General Howe, in New York; moved to England in 1778; the same year the general assembly of Pennsylvania convicted him of high treason and confiscated his property; died in Watford, Herts, England, August 29, 1803.

Galloway, Samuel, a Representative from Ohio; born in Gettysburg, Pa., March 22, 1812; moved to Ohio and located in Highland county in 1830; was graduated in 1833 from the Miami university; attended Princeton theological seminary 1835–1836; was a teacher in Hamilton, Ohio, 1836–1837, in Miami university 1837–1838, and in Hanover college, Ind., 1839–1840; studied law; in 1843 admitted to the bar and began practice in Chillicothe, Ohio; elected secretary of state and moved to Columbus in 1844; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); defeated for reelection to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses; died in Columbus, Ohio, April 5, 1872.

Gallup, Albert, a Representative from New York; born in New Berne, N. Y.; received a limited schooling; sheriff of Albany county 1831–1834; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); defeated for reelection; appointed by President Polk collector of customs in Albany; died in Providence, R. I., in 1851.

Gamble, James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Jersey Shore, Lycoming county, Pa., January 28, 1809; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1833; member of the state legislature in 1841 and 1842; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); elected president-judge of the court of common pleas in 1869; died in Williamsport, Pa., March 22, 1883.

Gamble, John R., a Representative from South Dakota; a resident of Yankton, S. Dak.; elected to the Fifty-second Congress and served from March 4, 1891, until his death in Yankton, S. Dak., August 14, 1891, before the assembling of the Congress.

Gamble, Robert Jackson, a Representative and a Senator from South Dakota; born near Akron, Erie county, N. Y., February 7, 1851; moved with his parents to Fox Lake, Wis., in 1862; was graduated from Lawrence university, Appleton, Wis., in 1874; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1875; located in Yankton, S. Dak., in 1875, where he engaged in practice; district attorney for the second judicial district of the Territory in 1880; city attorney of Yankton for two terms; state senator in 1885 under the constitution adopted that year; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); defeated for reelection to the Fifty-fifth Congress; reelected to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1901); elected as a Republican to the United States Senate January 23, 1901, and took his seat March 4, 1901, reelected in 1906 for the term expiring March 3, 1913.

Gamble, Roger Lawson, a Representative from Georgia; born in Jefferson county, Ga., in 1787; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Louisville, Ky., elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835), reelected as a Harrison Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); judge of the superior court of Georgia; died in Louisville, Ga., December 20, 1847.

Gannett, Barzillai, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Bridgewater, Mass., June 17, 1764; was graduated from Harvard college in 1785; studied law and was admitted to the bar; a member of the state house of representatives in 1805–1806; served in the state senate in 1807 and 1808; elected to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811); died in New York in 1832.

Gansevoort, Leonard, a Delegate from New York; born in Albany, N. Y., July 14, 1751; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1771; colonel of light cavalry in the revolutionary war; member of the Provincial Congress 1775–1776; President of the colonial executive in 1777; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1787–1788; member of the council of appointment of the commercial convention in Annapolis, Md., in 1786; served in the state senate in 1891, 1792, and 1793; member of state assembly 1778–1779 and 1788; judge of the probate court in 1799; died in Albany, N. Y., August 26, 1810.

Ganson, John, a Representative from New York; born in Leroy, N. Y., January 1, 1818; was graduated from Harvard college in 1839; studied law, admitted to the bar, and began practice in Buffalo; member of the state senate in 1862 and 1863; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); delegate to the Republican national convention in Baltimore in 1864; died in Buffalo, N. Y., September 28, 1874.

Digitized by Google

Gantz, Martin Kissinger, a Representative from Ohio; born in Bethel township, Miami county, Ohio, January 28, 1862; attended the common schools; attended college in Lebanon, Ohio, and was graduated from the Cincinnati law college in 1883; elected mayor of the city of Troy; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893).

Garber, Harvey C., a Representative from Ohio; born in Hill Grove, Darke county, Ohio; attended the public schools of Greenville; telegraph operator; state manager of the Western Union telegraph company; then superintendent of the Central Union telephone company for Ohio, and for years assistant general solicitor for the same company; representative in the state general assembly in 1889 and 1891; vice chairman of the Democratic state central committee in 1900; chairman of the Ohio state Democratic committee on organization the following year, and chairman of the Democratic state executive committee in 1902; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907).

Gardenier, Barent, a Representative from New York; native of Ulster county, N. Y.; completed preparatory studies; held several local offices; elected as a Federalist to the Tenth and Eleventh Congresses (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1811); district attorney from March, 1813 to April 1815; died in Kingston, N. Y., January 10, 1822.

Gardner, Augustus Peabody, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., November 5, 1865; was graduated from Harvard college in 1886; member of state senate 1900–1901; captain and assistant adjutant general on the staff of Gen. James H. Wilson during the Spanish-American War; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William H. Moody; reelected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Gardner, Francis, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Leominster, Mass., December 27, 1771; was graduated from Harvard college; studied theology; pastor of a church in New Hampshire; elected to the Tenth Congress (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1809); died in Roxbury, Mass., June 25, 1835.

Gardner, Gideon, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Nantucket, Mass., May 30, 1759; received a limited schooling; was a successful shipmaster, and later became a ship owner and merchant; elected to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811); died in Nantucket, Mass., March 22, 1832.

Gardner, John J., a Representative from New Jersey; born in Atlantic county, N. J., October 17, 1845; enlisted for three years in the sixth New Jersey volunteers, in March, 1865, and for one year in United States veteran volunteers; elected alderman of Atlantic City in 1867; mayor in 1868, and reelected seven times; coroner of county one year; city councilman one year; member of New Jersey state senate fifteen years, from 1878 to 1893; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, and to the eight succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Gardner, Joseph, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in Honeybrook township, Chester county, Pa., in 1752; studied and practiced medicine; raised a company of volunteers in 1776 and commanded the fourth battalion militia from Chester county; member of the committee of safety 1776–1777; member of the state assembly 1776–1778; of the supreme executive council 1779; sat in the Continental Congress 1784–1785; practiced law in Philadelphia, Pa., 1785–1792, and in Elkton, Md., 1792–1794; died in Elkton, Md., in 1794.

Gardner, Mills, a Representative from Ohio; born in Russellville, Brown county, Ohio, January 30, 1830; moved to Fayette county in 1854; received a limited schooling; studied law, and in 1855 was admitted to the bar; prosecuting attorney of Fayette county for four years; member of the Ohio state senate 1862–1864; presidential elector on the Lincoln ticket in 1864; member of the state house of representatives 1866–1868; member of the state constitutional convention in 1873; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); resumed the practice of law until his death; died in Washington Court House, Ohio, February 20, 1910.

Gardner, Washington, a Representative from Michigan; born in Morrow county, Ohio, February 16, 1845; when sixteen years of age entered the Union Army, served in the ranks of the sixty-fifth Ohio volunteer infantry from October, 1861, to December, 1865; severely wounded in action in Resaca, Ga.; was graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university 1870; studied in the school of theology, Boston university, 1870–1871; was graduated from the Albany law school in 1876; was admitted to the bar and practiced law one year in Grand Rapids, Mich., and then entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church, in which he served twelve years; commander of the Department of Michigan, Grand Army of the Republic, in 1888; made professor in and public lecturer for Albion college in 1889; appointed secretary of state of Michigan in March, 1894, and subsequently twice elected; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1911); retired and a resident of Albion, Mich.

Garfield, James Abram, a Representative from Ohio; born in Orange, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, November 19, 1831; his boyhood was spent in working on a farm, aiding in the support of his widowed mother; attended district school about three months each winter; when seventeen was driver and helmsman on the Ohio canal; entered Geauga seminary in Chester, Ohio, in March, 1849, and at the close of the fall term taught a district school; attended the Eclectic institute in Hiram, Ohio, in 1851–1854; was graduated from Williams college in 1858; professor of ancient languages and literature in Hiram college; when twenty-six years of age made president of Hiram college, which position he held until 1861, when he entered the Union Army; lieutenant colonel of the forty-second Ohio infantry August 21, 1861; colonel November 27, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers January 11, 1862; major general September 19, 1863; resigned December 5, 1863; elected to the Ohio state senate in 1859; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1860; admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the United States in 1866; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth, and to the eight succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1863, until November 8, 1880, when he resigned; in January, 1880, elected by the Ohio legislature a United States Senator for the term beginning March 4, 1881, to succeed Allen G. Thurman, but resigned December 23, 1880; on the 8th of June, 1880, in the Chicago Republican national convention was nominated, and on November 4 following was elected President of the United States; on the morning of July 2, 1881, while passing through the Pennsylvania depot, Washington, D. C., was shot by an assassin; died from the effects of the wound in Elberon, N. J., September 19, 1881; interment in Lake View cemetery, Cleveland, Ohio.

Digitized by Google

Garfielde, Selucius, a Delegate from Washington Territory; born in Shoreham, Vt., December 8, 1822; moved to Kentucky; pursued an academic course; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state constitutional convention of 1849; emigrated to California in 1851; member of the California state legislature in 1852; elected by the legislature to codify the laws of the state in 1853; returned to Kentucky in 1854; member of the Cincinnati national convention in 1856; moved to Washington Territory in 1857, and receiver of public moneys, which position he held until 1860; defeated as a candidate on the Democratic ticket for Congress in 1861; surveyor general from 1866 to 1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873).

Garland, Augustus Hill, a Senator from Arkansas; born in Tipton county, Tenn., June 11, 1832; his parents moved to Hempstead county, Ark., in 1833; attended St. Mary's college and St. Joseph's college in Kentucky, and was graduated from the latter in 1849; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1853 in Washington, Ark.; moved to Little Rock in 1856; elector on the Bell and Everett ticket in 1860; Union delegate in the state convention that passed the ordinance of secession in 1861; member of the provisional congress that met in Montgomery, Ala., in May, 1861, and subsequently of the Confederate congress and served in both houses; elected to the United States Senate for the term beginning March 4, 1867, but not admitted to his seat, as Arkansas had not been readmitted to representation; argued the test-oath case as to lawyers in the Supreme Court of the United States and won it (see Garland ex parte, 4 Wallace); followed the practice of law until the fall of 1874, when elected governor; elected as a Democrat in January, 1876, to the United States Senate; reelected in 1883 and served from March 4, 1877, until March 6, 1885, when he resigned to accept the position of Attorney General in President Cleveland's Cabinet, and served from March 9, 1885, to March 5, 1889; died in Washington, D. C., January 26, 1899.

Garland, David S., a Representative from Virginia; native of that state; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice; elected as a Democrat to the Eleventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Wilson C. Nicholas, and served from January 17, 1810, to March 3, 1811; died in his home in Virginia October 7, 1811.

Garland, James, a Representative from Virginia; born in Nelson county, Va., June 6, 1791; pursued preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Lovingston, Va.; served in the state house of representatives in 1829; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1841); moved to Lynchburg, Va., and was judge of the corporation court of that city for nineteen years; again elected to the state legislature in 1876; died in Lynchburg, Va., August 8, 1885.

Garland, Rice, a Representative from Louisiana; native of Virginia; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Opelousas, La.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Henry A. Bullard; reelected to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Congresses and served from April 28, 1834, to July 21, 1840, when he resigned, to accept the appointment of judge of the supreme court of Louisiana.

Garner, Alfred Buckwalter, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ashland, Schuylkill county, Pa.; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Ashland, Pa.; member of the state legislature 1901–1910; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Ashland, Pa.

Garner, John Nance, a Representative from Texas; born in Red River county, Tex., November 22, 1868; had a limited schooling; studied law and was admitted to the bar in December, 1890, and practiced in Uvalde, Tex.; served in the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh Texas legislatures; judge of Uvalde county for four years; delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1900 and 1904; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Garnett, James Mercer, a Representative from Virginia; born in Elmwood, Essex county, Va., June 8, 1770; pursued an academic course; served several terms in the state house of representatives; elected to the Ninth and Tenth Congresses (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1809); delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1829; president of the Fredericksburg agricultural society for twenty years; member of the grand jury that indicted Aaron Burr in 1807; died in Elmwood, Va., April 23, 1843.

Garnett, Muscoe Russell Hunter, a Representative from Virginia; born in Elmwood, Essex county, Va., July 25, 1821; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the University of Virginia, literary department 1839, law department 1841; was admitted to the bar in 1841, and commenced practice in Lloyds, Va.; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1850; member of the state house of representatives, 1853–1856; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Thomas H. Bayley; reelected to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses and served from December 1, 1856, to March 3, 1861; delegate to the Democratic national convention in Baltimore in 1852 and in Cincinnati in 1856; member from Virginia to the first Confederate congress; died in Elmwood, Va., February 14, 1864.

Garnett, Robert Selden, a Representative from Virginia; born in Essex county, Va., April

Digitized by Google

26, 1789; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Lloyds, Va.; member of the state legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1827); died in Essex county, Va., August 15, 1840.

Garnsey, Daniel G., a Representative from New York; born in Saratoga county, N. Y.; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; commenced practice in Pomfret, N. Y.; district attorney of Chautauqua county, June 11, 1818, to March 4, 1825; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); moved to Rock Island, Ill.; president of the Harrison celebration in Galena, Ill., July 4, 1840.

Garrett, Abraham Ellison, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Overton, Ky., March 6, 1830; attended country schools and Poplar Springs college, Kentucky; studied law, but followed farming; served in the Union army during the Civil war; elected to the state house of representatives of Tennessee in 1865; served in the state senate in 1867; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died in Carthage, Tenn., February 14, 1907.

Garrett, Finis James, a Representative from Tennessee; born near Ore Springs, in Weakley county, Tenn., August 26, 1875; attended the common schools and was graduated from Bethel college, McKenzie, Tenn., in June, 1897; engaged in teaching in the city schools of Milan, Tenn.; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1899; appointed master in chancery September 14, 1900, and served until January 24, 1905; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Garrison, Daniel, a Representative from New Jersey; native of Salem, N. J.; pursued an academic course; elected to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1827).

Garrison, George Tankard, a Representative from Virginia; born in Accomac county, Va., January 14, 1835; was graduated from Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa., in 1853, and from the law school of the University of Virginia in 1857; was admitted to the bar and practiced law until the Civil war; entered the Confederate service as a private; soon thereafter elected to the state legislature, and served in that body, first in the house and then in the senate, until the close of the war; practiced law and engaged in agriculture; elected judge of the eighth Virginia circuit in 1870, and subsequently judge of the seventeenth circuit; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); successfully contested the election of Robert M. Mayo to the Forty-seventh Congress; died in Accomac Court House, Va., November 14, 1889.

Garrow, Nathaniel, a Representative from New York; born in Barnstable, Mass., April 25, 1780; attended the public schools; followed the sea; moved to Auburn, N. Y., in 1796; appointed justice of the peace in 1809; sheriff 1815–1819 and again in 1821–1826; elected as a Democrat to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); presidential elector in 1832; United States marshal of the northern district of New York from February, 1837, to March, 1841; died in Auburn, N. Y., March 3, 1841.

Garth, William Willis, a Representative from Alabama; born in Morgan county, Ala., October 28, 1828; pursued classical studies in Lagrange and in Emory and Henry college, Virginia; studied law in the University of Virginia, was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Huntsville, Ala.; lieutenant colonel on the staff of Gen. Longstreet in the Confederate army; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); died in Huntsville, Ala., February 25, 1912.

Gartrell, Lucius Jeremiah, a Representative from Georgia; born near Washington, Ga., January 7, 1821; pursued classical studies in Randolph-Macon college, Virginia, and Franklin college, Georgia; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Atlanta, Ga.; elected in 1843 solicitor general of the northern judicial circuit; resigned in 1847; member of the state house of representatives, 1847–1850; presidential elector on the Buchanan and Breckinridge ticket in 1856; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, to January 23, 1861, when he retired, giving his adherence to the Southern Confederacy; elected to the first Confederate congress; appointed in 1864 brigadier general in the Confederate service; died in Atlanta, Ga., April 7, 1891.

Garvin, William Swan, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Mercer, Pa., July 25, 1806; pursued an academic course; editor of the Western Press, in Mercer, for 50 years; postmaster at Mercer in 1837; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); inspector in Pittsburgh, Pa.; again appointed postmaster at Mercer in 1865; died in Mercer, Pa., February 20, 1883.

Gary, Frank Boyd, a Senator from South Carolina; born in Cokesbury, Abbeville county, S. C., March 9, 1860; attended the Cokesbury conference school and Union college, Schenectady, N. Y.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Abbeville, S. C.; member of the state legislature 1890–1900; member of the state constitutional convention of 1895; three times elected speaker of the house of representatives, 1895–1900; was for a number of years Democratic chairman of Abbeville county; again elected a member of the legislature in 1906; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Asbury C. Latimer, and served from March 6, 1908, to March 3, 1909; judge of the eighth judicial circuit court and resides in Abbeville, S. C.

Gaston, Athelston, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Castile, N. Y., April 24, 1838; moved with his parents to Crawford county, Pa., in 1854; attended the common schools; engaged in farming and was a lumber merchant; mayor of Meadville in 1891; reelected in 1892 for a term of three years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1901); killed while on a hunting trip in Canada, September 23, 1907.

Gaston, William, a Representative from North Carolina; born in New Bern, N. C., September 19, 1778; pursued classical studies and attended Georgetown college, Washington, D. C., and was graduated from Princeton in 1796; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1798; member of the state senate in 1800; member of the state house of commons in 1808 and 1809, and served as speaker in 1808; presidential elector in 1809; elected as an anti-Administration candidate to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); again elected a member of the state house of commons in 1827; judge of the supreme court of North Carolina in 1834, holding the position until his death; member of the state constitutional convention of 1835; declined the nomination to the United States Senate in 1840; died in Raleigh, N. C., January 23, 1844.

Digitized by Google

Gates, Seth Merrill, a Representative from New York; born in Winfield, N. Y., October 16, 1800; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1827, and commenced practice in Le Roy, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1832; declined a reelection; purchased the Le Roy Gazette in 1838, editing it for several years; elected as an Anti-Slavery Whig to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); defeated as the Free Soil candidate for lieutenant governor of New York in 1848; died in Le Roy, N. Y., September 1, 1877.

Gatlin, Alfred M., a Representative from North Carolina; native of Edenton, N. C.; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from the University of North Carolina; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825).

Gause, Lucien C., a Representative from Arkansas; born in Brunswick county, N. C., December 25, 1838; moved to Lauderdale county, Tenn.; attended the public schools and the University of Virginia; studied law and was graduated from Cumberland college, Tenn., was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Jacksonport, Ark., in 1859; served throughout the Civil war in the Confederate army, and retired with rank of colonel; resumed practice in 1865 in Jacksonport; member of the state legislature in 1866; commissioner to represent the state government at Washington; unsuccessful contestant in the Forty-third Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879).

Gay, Edward James, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Liberty, Bedford county, Va., February 3, 1816; went with parents in 1820 to Illinois, and then to St. Louis, Mo., in 1824; spent several years under a private instructor in Belleville, Ill., and in 1833–1834 attended Augusta college, Kentucky; engaged in commercial affairs in St. Louis 1838–1860; went to Louisiana and engaged in commercial manufacturing and agricultural pursuits; first president of the Louisiana sugar exchange in New Orleans; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1885 until his death on the St. Louis plantation, Iberville parish, La., May 30, 1889.

Gayle, John, a Representative from Alabama; born in Sumpter District, S. C., September 11, 1792; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the South Carolina university; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Mobile, Ala., in 1813; member of the territorial legislature in 1817; solicitor of the first judicial district in 1819; judge of the state supreme court in 1823; speaker of the state house of representatives in 1829; governor of Alabama 1831–1835; defeated as presidential elector in 1836 and 1840; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); appointed United States district judge of Alabama in 1849; died near Mobile, Ala., July 28, 1859.

Gayle, June Ward, a Representative from Kentucky; born in New Liberty, Owen county, Ky., February 22, 1865; attended Concord college, New Liberty, Ky., and finished his course in Georgetown college, Georgetown, Ky.; deputy sheriff for several years, and in 1892 elected high sheriff of Owen county; reelected in 1894, and in 1899 a candidate for auditor of state; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Evan E. Settle, and served from January 15, 1900, to March 3, 1901; engaged in the banking business in Owenton, Ky.

Gaylord, James Madison, a Representative from Ohio; born in Zanesville, Ohio, May 29, 1811; moved to McConnelsville, Ohio, in 1818; attended the common schools and the university in Athens, Ohio; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; appointed clerk of the court of common pleas in 1834; clerk of the supreme court until 1849; elected to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); at the expiration of his term in Congress he was elected probate judge; appointed deputy United States marshal in 1860; elected justice of the peace in 1865, and by successive reelections was continued in that office until his death in McConnelsville, Ohio, June 14, 1874.

Gazley, James William, a Representative from Ohio; born in New York City, N. Y., July 23, 1784; pursued an academic course; studied law in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1809; elected as a Jackson Free-Statesman to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825); defeated for the Nineteenth Congress; died in Cincinnati, Ohio, June 8, 1874.

Gear, John Henry, a Representative and a Senator from Iowa; born in Ithaca, N. Y., April 7, 1825; attended the common schools; moved to Galena, Ill., in 1836, to Fort Snelling, Iowa Territory, in 1838, and to Burlington in 1843, where he engaged in mercantile pursuits; elected mayor of the city of Burlington in 1863; member of the Iowa house of representatives and served as speaker two terms; governor of Iowa 1878–1879, and 1880–1881; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); reelected to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); elected to the United States Senate in 1895, and reelected for the term in 1901, and served from March 4, 1895, until his death in Washington, D. C., July 14, 1900.

Gearin, John McDermeid, a Senator from Oregon; born in Umatilla county, Oreg., August 15, 1851; attended St. Mary's college, San Francisco, from 1863 to 1867, and was graduated from Notre Dame university, Indiana, in 1871; began the study of law in 1871; was admitted to the bar in 1873 and practiced in Portland, Oreg.; member of the state legislature in 1874; city attorney of Portland in 1875; district attorney for Multnomah county in 1884, and served two years; unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Congress in 1878; when the celebrated opium frauds were unearthed, in 1893, was appointed by President Cleveland as special prosecutor for the Government in the cases; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John H. Mitchell, and served from December 13, 1905, until January 23, 1907; resumed the practice of law in Portland, Oreg.

Digitized by Google

Geary, Thomas J., a Representative from California; born in Boston, Mass., January 18, 1854; moved with his parents to California in April, 1863; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1877, and engaged in practice in Santa Rosa, Cal.; elected district attorney of Sonoma county, Cal., in 1882, and served two years; elected as a Democrat and American to the Fifty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John J. De Haven; reelected to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses, and served from December 9, 1890, to March 3, 1895; resumed the practice of law in Santa Rosa, Cal.

Gebhard, John, a Representative from New York; native of Claverack, N. Y.; attended the public schools; surrogate of Schoharie county 1811–1813, and again from 1815 to 1822; elected to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823).

Geddes, George Washington, a Representative from Ohio; born in Mount Vernon, Ohio, July 16, 1824; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar in July, 1845; judge of the court of common pleas of the sixth judicial district in 1856, and reelected in 1861; after serving ten years on the bench he returned to legal practice until 1868, when he was again elected judge of the same court for five years; again returned to the practice; Democratic candidate for supreme judge in 1871; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1887); died in Mansfield, Ohio, November 9, 1892.

Geddes, James, a Representative from New York; born near Carlisle, Pa., July 22, 1763; attended public schools; moved to Onondaga, N. Y., in 1794; justice of the peace in 1800; member of the state house of representatives in 1804 and 1822; associate justice of the county court in 1809; judge of the court of common pleas in 1809; elected as a Federalist to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); appointed chief engineer of the Ohio canal in 1822; engineer on the Chesapeake and Ohio canal in 1827; died in Geddes, N. Y., August 19, 1838.

Geissenhainer, Jacob Augustus, a Representative from New Jersey; born in New York City in 1841; was graduated from Columbia college; studied law in Yale and was graduated from the New York university; admitted to the bar and commenced practice in New York City in 1863; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1895).

Gentry, Meredith Poindexter, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Rockingham county, N. C., September 15, 1809; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Franklin, Tenn.; member of the state house of representatives 1835–1839; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); reelected to the Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, Thirty-first, and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1853); member of the first and second Confederate congresses; died in Harpeth, Tenn., November 2, 1867; interment in Mount Olivet cemetery, Nashville, Tenn.

George, James Zachariah, a Senator from Mississippi; born in Monroe county, Ga., October 20, 1826; moved to Mississippi with his mother when a lad; attended the public schools; joined the Mississippi Rifles, commanded by Col. Jefferson Davis, in 1846, and served through the Mexican war; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Jackson, Miss.; compiled five volumes of the Mississippi state reports; enlisted in the Confederate service in 1861, and commanded a regiment of cavalry; chairman of the Democratic state committee in 1875 and 1876; chosen to the supreme bench, and was elected chief justice by his associates; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate; reelected in 1886, and again in January, 1892, and served from March 4, 1881, until his death; member of the constitutional convention of the state of Mississippi in 1890; died in Jackson, Miss., August 14, 1897.

George, Melvin Clark, a Representative from Oregon; born in Noble county, Ohio, May 13, 1849; attended Santiam academy and Willamette university, Oregon; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Portland, Oreg., in 1875; member of the state senate from Multnomah district for four years; received all the votes of the Republican senators for president of the state senate in the session of 1878; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1885).

German, Obadiah, a Senator from New York; born in Dutchess county, N. Y., in 1767; completed preparatory studies; moved to Norwich, Chenango county, N. Y., in 1792; member of the state house of representatives in 1798, 1804–1805, 1807–1809; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1809, to March 3, 1815; county judge 1815–1819; again elected a member of the state house of representatives in 1819 and served as speaker; held several local offices in Chenango county, including that of first judge; became an ardent Whig; died in Norwich, N. Y., September 24, 1842.

Gerry, Elbridge, a Delegate and a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Marblehead, Mass., July 17, 1744; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Harvard college in 1762; engaged in commercial pursuits; member of the colonial house of representatives 1772–1775; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1776–1780 and 1783–1785; signer of the Declaration of Independence; delegate to the constitutional convention of the United States, held in New York in 1789; refused to sign the instrument, insisting it gave the President too much power; elected as a Federalist to the First and Second Congresses (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1793); sent to France on a secret mission in 1797; defeated as the Democratic candidate for governor in 1801; elected in 1810 and 1811, and again defeated in 1812; elected Vice-President of the United States as a Democrat on the ticket with James Madison in 1812; and served from March 4, 1813, until his death in Washington, D. C., November 23, 1814; interment in the Congressional cemetery in Washington, D. C.

Gerry, Elbridge, a Representative from Maine; born in Waterford, Me., December 6, 1813; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1839, and began practice in Waterford; clerk of the state house of representatives in 1840; state attorney for Oxford county in 1842 and 1843; member of the state house of representatives in 1846; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); moved to Portland, Me., where he continued practice; died in Portland, Me., April 10, 1886.

Digitized by Google

Gerry, James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Cecil county, Maryland, August 14, 1796; pursued an academic course; was graduated from West Nottingham academy; studied medicine and attended the university of Maryland and commenced practice in Shrewsbury, Pa., in 1824; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); resumed the practice of medicine until 1870, when he retired; died in Shrewsbury, York county, Pa., July 19, 1873.

Gervais, John L., a Delegate from South Carolina; native of that state; sat in the Continental Congress 1782–1783.

Gest, William Harrison, a Representative from Illinois; born in Jacksonville, Ill., January 7, 1838; moved to Rock Island in 1842; attended Williams college, Massachusetts, and was graduated in the class of 1860; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); elected one of the circuit judges of the fourteenth judicial district of Illinois.

Getz, James Lawrence, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Reading, Pa., September 14, 1821; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Reading; for over twenty-five years editor of the Reading Gazette and Democrat; member of the state house of representatives in 1856 and 1857, one year as speaker of the house; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth, Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1873); city comptroller of Reading; died in Reading, Pa., December 25, 1892.

Geyer, Henry Sheffie, a Senator from Missouri; born in Frederick county, Md., December 9, 1790; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1811, and practiced in Fredericktown until May 2, 1813; enlisted as first lieutenant in the thirty-sixth Maryland regiment of infantry; located in St. Louis, Mo., in 1815, and practiced law; member of the territorial assembly in 1818; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1820; member of the state house of representatives 1818–1824; and served the last year as speaker; declined the portfolio of Secretary of war tendered by President Fillmore in 1850; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1851, to March 3, 1857; one of the counsel in the Dred Scott case; died in St. Louis, Mo., March 5, 1859.

Gholson, James Herbert, a Representative from Virginia; born in Gholsonville, Va., in 1798; pursued an academic course, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1820; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Percivals, Va., elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); judge of the circuit court for the Brunswick circuit for many years; died in Brunswick county, Va., July 2, 1848.

Gholson, Samuel Jameson, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Madison county, Ky., May 19, 1808; pursued classical studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Athens, Miss.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of David Dickson; presented credentials as a member-elect to the Twenty-fifth Congress and served from March 4, 1837, to January 31, 1838, when the seat was declared vacant; subsequently elected to fill vacancy thus caused and served from May 30, 1838, to March 3, 1839; appointed United States district judge for Mississippi in 1839; appointed June 1, 1864, brigadier-general in the Confederate army; died in Aberdeen, Miss., October 16, 1883.

Gholson, Jr., Thomas, a Representative from Virginia; born in Brunswick, Va.; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Brunswick county, Va.; elected as a Democrat to the Tenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John Claiborne; reelected to the Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Congresses, and served from November 7, 1808, until his death in Brunswick county, Va., July 4, 1816.

Gibbons, William, a Delegate from Georgia; born in Bear Bluff, S. C., April 8, 1726; studied law in Charleston, S. C., was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Savannah, Ga.; in 1774 joined the Sons of Liberty and on May 11, 1775, was one of the party that broke open the magazine in Savannah and removed 600 pounds of the King's powder; Delegate in the Provincial Congress of July, 1775, and on December 11, 1775, was chosen a member of the committee of safety; member of the executive council in 1779; delegate in the Continental Congress 1784–1786; associate justice of Chatham county in 1786; speaker of the state house of representatives in 1787; president of the state constitutional convention of 1789; died in Rhode Island, September 27, 1800.

Gibson, Charles Hopper, a Representative and a Senator from Maryland; born in Queen Anne county, Md., January 19, 1842; attended Centerville academy, the Archer school in Harford county, and was graduated from Washington college, Chestertown, Md.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1864, and commenced practice in Easton, Md.; appointed by President Johnson in 1867 collector of internal revenue for the Eastern Shore district, but his nomination was rejected by a majority of one vote; appointed in 1869 auditor and commissioner in chancery, which offices he resigned in 1870 to accept the appointment of state attorney for Talbot county; elected in 1871 and 1875; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1891); appointed, and subsequently elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Ephraim K. Wilson, and served from November 19, 1891 to March 3, 1897; resumed the practice of law; died in Washington, D. C., March 31, 1900.

Gibson, Eustace, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Culpeper county, Va., October 4, 1842; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1861; enlisted in the Confederate army June, 1861, as first lieutenant; made captain in 1863, and retired on account of wounds; member of the constitutional convention of Virginia in 1867–1868; settled in Huntington, W. Va., in 1871; elected to the house of delegates of West Virginia in 1876, and served as speaker; presidential elector on the Hancock ticket in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); resumed the practice of law; died in Clifton Forge, Va., December 10, 1900; interment in Spring Hill cemetery, Huntington, W. Va.

Digitized by Google

Gibson, Henry Richard, a Representative from Tennessee; born on Kent Island, Queen Anne county, Md., December 24, 1837; attended the schools of Bladensburg, Md., and was graduated from Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y., in 1862; served in the commissary department of the Union army from March, 1863, to July, 1865; in September, 1865, entered the Albany, N. Y., law school; was admitted to the bar in December, 1865, and began practice in Knoxville, Tenn., in January, 1866; in October, 1866, moved to Jacksboro, Campbell county, Tenn.; appointed commissioner of claims by Governor William G. Brownlow in 1868; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1869; elected member of the state senate in 1870; elected a member of the state house of representatives in 1874; moved back to Knoxville in 1876; founded the Knoxville Republican in 1879 and became its editor; appointed post-office inspector in 1881; became editor of the Knoxville Daily Chronicle in 1882; appointed United States pension agent at Knoxville in 1883; elected chancellor of the second division of Tennessee in 1886; professor of medical jurisprudence in the Tennessee medical college in 1889; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1905); consulting editor of the American and English encyclopedia of law and practice and resides in Knoxville, Tenn.

Gibson, James King, a Representative from Virginia; born in Abingdon, Va., February 18, 1812; attended the common schools; went to Limestone county, Ala., in 1833, and engaged in business; returned to Virginia, and was deputy sheriff of Washington county 1834–1835; postmaster of Abingdon 1838–1849; engaged in farming; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); died in Abingdon, Va., March 30, 1879.

Gibson, Paris, a Senator from Montana; born in Brownfield, Oxford county, Me., July 1, 1830; was graduated from Bowdoin college in 1851, and soon after elected a representative to the state legislature of Maine; located in Minneapolis, Minn., in 1858, and in connection with W. W. Eastman built the first flour mill of that city; later built and operated the "North Star" woolen mill in the same place; located in Fort Benton, Mont., in 1879, where he became interested in the first flock of sheep driven into northern Montana; founded the city of Great Falls in 1882, of which he was the first mayor; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1889; elected to the state senate in 1890; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate March 7, 1901, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William A. Clark, and served from March 7, 1901, to March 3, 1905.

Gibson, Randall Lee, a Representative and a Senator from Louisiana; born in Spring Hill, near Versailles, Woodford county, Ky., September 10, 1832; attended schools of Woodford county, Lexington, Ky., and Terre Bonne parish, La.; was graduated from Yale college in 1853, and from the law department of the University of Louisiana in 1855; served in the Confederate army through the different grades to the command of a division; after the war was admitted to the bar, and practiced in New Orleans, La., and was also a planter; unsuccessfully contested the election of Lionel A. Sheldon to the Forty-third Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1883); elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate; reelected in 1889 and served from March 4, 1883, until his death, in Hot Springs, Ark., December 15, 1892; interment in Lexington, Ky.

Giddings, De Witt C., a Representative from Texas; born in Susquehanna county, Pa., July 18, 1827; pursued an academic course; studied law in Honesdale, Pa., was admitted to the bar in Texas in 1852, and began practice in Brenham, Tex.; served throughout the Civil war in the Confederate army; member of the state constitutional convention of 1866; successfully contested as a Democrat the election of William T. Clark to the Forty-second Congress, and served from May 13, 1872, to March 3, 1873; reelected to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); again elected to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879).

Giddings, Joshua Reed, a Representative from Ohio; born in Tioga Point (now Athens), Pa., October 6, 1795; moved to Ohio and located in Ashtabula county; served in the War of 1812; completed preparatory studies; taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1821, and began practice in Jefferson, Ohio; member of the state house of representatives in 1826; elected as an Anti-Slavery Whig to the Twenty-fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Elisha Whittlesey; reelected to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses and served from December 3, 1838, until March 22, 1842, when he resigned, after a vote of censure had been passed upon him by the House; subsequently elected to the Twenty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by his own resignation; reelected to the twenty-eighth, and to the seven succeeding Congresses, and served from December 5, 1842, until March 3, 1859; appointed consul general to Canada by President Lincoln; died in Montreal, Canada, May 27, 1864.

Giddings, Napoleon Bonaparte, a Delegate from Nebraska territory; born in Clark county, Ky., January 2, 1816; moved with his parents to Fayette, Howard county, Mo., in 1828; attended the common schools; chief clerk in the auditor's office of the republic of Texas; served as acting auditor until his resignation in 1838; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1841; served in the Mexican war as captain of company A, Second Missouri mounted volunteers; after the close of the war edited the Union Flag, the first paper published in Franklin county; settled in Savannah, Mo.; elected to the Thirty-third Congress, and served from January 5, 1855, to March 3, 1857; was lieutenant-colonel of the Fifty-first Missouri volunteer infantry during the Civil war; died in Savannah, Mo., August 3, 1897.

Gifford, Oscar Sherman, a Delegate and a Representative from South Dakota; born in Watertown, N. Y., October 20, 1842; attended the common schools and pursued an academic course; served in the Union army as private in the Elgin (Ill.) battery 1863–1865; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1870, and practiced; elected district attorney for Lincoln county in 1874; mayor of Canton, S. Dak., 1882–1883; member of the constitutional convention of Dakota which convened at Sioux Falls September 7, 1883; elected as a Republican a Delegate to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); elected a Representative upon the admission of the state into the Union and served from December 2, 1889, to March 3, 1891; resumed the practice of law in Canton, S. Dak.

Digitized by Google

Gilbert, Abijah, a Senator from Florida; born in Gilbertsville, Otsego county, N. Y., June 18, 1806; was graduated from Hamilton college, N. Y., in 1822; a merchant in New York City 1822–1850; moved to St. Augustine, Fla., in 1865; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1869, to March 3, 1875; died in Gilbertsville, N. Y., November 23, 1881.

Gilbert, Edward, a Representative from California; born in Cherry Valley, Otsego county, N. Y., about 1819; attended the public schools; moved to San Francisco, Cal., as an officer in Col. J. D. Stevenson's first regiment New York volunteers in 1847; deputy collector of port 1847–1848; became editor and owner of "Alta California" in 1849; member of the state constitutional convention of 1849; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress upon the admission of the state of California into the Union, and served from September 11, 1850, to March 3, 1851; killed in a duel near Sacramento, Cal., August 2, 1852; interment in San Francisco, Cal.

Gilbert, Ezekiel, a Representative from New York; born in Middletown, Conn., March 25, 1756; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale college in 1778; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Hudson, N. Y.; member of the state assembly in 1790; elected to the Third and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1797); again a member of the state assembly in 1800 and 1801; clerk of Columbia county 1813–1815; died in Hudson, N. Y., July 11, 1842.

Gilbert, George Gilmore, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Spencer county, Ky., in 1850; attended the common schools, Cecilian college in 1868–1869, and Lyndland institute, in Kentucky; taught school for several years, and studied law; attended the University of Louisville, and was graduated from the law department in 1873; was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Taylorsville, Ky., in 1874; county attorney of Spencer county 1876–1880; member of the state senate 1885–1889; delegate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1896; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1907); died in Louisville, Ky., November 8, 1909.

Gilbert, Newton Whiting, a Representative from Indiana; born in Worthington, Franklin county, Ohio, May 24, 1862; moved with his parents to Indiana in 1875; attended the common schools of Indiana and the Ohio state university, Columbus, Ohio; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1855, and practiced in Angola, Ind.; member of the state senate 1896–1900; lieutenant governor of Indiana 1900–1904; captain of company H, one hundred and fifty-seventh Indiana volunteer infantry, in the war with Spain; elected as a ——— to the Fifty-ninth Congress, and served from March 4, 1905, until November 6, 1906, when he resigned; judge of the court of first instance in the Philippine islands, to which position he was appointed by President Roosevelt; member of the Philippine commission 1908–1909; secretary of public instruction of Philippine islands 1909; appointed vice governor of the islands in February, 1910, and resides in Manila, P. I.

Gilbert, Sylvester, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Hebron, Conn., October 20, 1755; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1775; studied law; was admitted to the bar in November, 1777, and began practice in Hebron; colonial representative 1780–1812; state attorney for Tolland county 1786–1807; chief judge of the county court and judge of the probate court 1807–1818; principal of a law school 1810–1818; elected to the Fifteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Uriel Holmes, and served from November 16, 1818, to March 3, 1819; again judge of the county court 1820–1825; elected state representative in 1826; died in Hebron, Conn., January 2, 1846.

Gilbert, William Augustus, a Representative from New York; born in Gilead, Conn., January 25, 1815; moved with his parents to Champion, N. Y.; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Adams, N. Y.; member of the state assembly in 1851 and 1852; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth Congress and served from March 4, 1855, until his resignation, February 28, 1857; engaged in the banking business; died in Adams, Jefferson county, N. Y., May 25, 1875.

Giles, William Branch, a Representative and a Senator from Virginia; born in Amelia county, Va., August 12, 1762; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Princeton college in 1781; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Petersburg, Va., 1784–1789; presidential elector on the Jefferson ticket in 1801; elected as a Democrat to the First Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Theodorick Bland; reelected to the Second, Third, Fourth, and Fifth Congresses, and served from December 7, 1790, to October 2, 1798, when he resigned; elected to the Seventh Congress (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1801); appointed by the governor to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Abraham B. Venable, and served from August 11, 1804, until December 4, 1804; was then elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Wilson Cary Nicholas; reelected in 1805 and 1811, and served from November 5, 1804, until his resignation, March 3, 1815; defeated as a candidate for United States Senator in 1825; again a member of the state legislature in 1826; governor of Virginia 1826–1829; member of state constitutional convention of 1829–1830; died in Albemarle county, Va., December 4, 1830.

Giles, William Fell, a Representative from Maryland; born in Harford county, Md., April 8, 1807; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1829, and began practice in Baltimore; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); appointed United States district judge by President Pierce; died March 21, 1879.

Gilfillan, Calvin Willard, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Newcastle, Pa., February 20, 1832; attended Westminster college, Pennsylvania; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; superintendent of schools of

Digitized by Google

Mercer county for two years; clerk of the state house of representatives in 1859; appointed attorney for Venango county in 1861, and elected in 1862 for three years; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); engaged in banking business; died in Franklin, Pa., October 2, 1902.

Gilfillan, John Bachop, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Barnet, Caledonia county, Vt., February 11, 1835; was graduated from the Caledonia county academy in 1855; moved to Minneapolis, Minn.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in July, 1860, and practiced; member of the board of education 1860–1868; alderman of the city of Minneapolis 1865–1869; prosecuting attorney of Hennepin county 1863–1867 and 1869–1873; city attorney 1861–1864; member of the state senate 1875–1885; regent of the state University of Minnesota in 1880–1888; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); resumed the practice of law and resides in Minneapolis, Minn.

Gilhams, Clarence C., a Representative from Indiana; born in Brighton, Lagrange county, Ind., April 11, 1860; attended the common schools and the State normal school at Terre Haute, Ind.; twice elected auditor of Lagrange county and served eight years; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Newton W. Gilbert; reelected to the Sixtieth Congress, and served from December 3, 1906, to March 3, 1909; died in Lagrange, Ind., June 5, 1912.

Gill, John, jr., a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore, Md., June 9, 1850; pursued an academic course in Hampden-Sidney college, Va.; studied law in the Maryland university and was admitted to the Baltimore bar in 1871; served as one of the legal advisers of Baltimore City; for nine years was one of its police commissioners; member of the state house of delegates 1874–1877; member of the state senate 1882–1886 and 1904–1905; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Baltimore, Md.

Gill, Joseph John, a Representative from Ohio; born in Barnesville, Belmont county, Ohio, September 21, 1846; moved with his parents to Mount Pleasant, Jefferson county, in 1848; pursued an academic course and was graduated from the law school of the University of Michigan in 1868, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Jefferson county; subsequently engaged in banking, and later in manufacturing and iron mining; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Lorenzo Danford; reelected to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses and served from December 4, 1899, until October 31, 1903, when he resigned; retired and resides in Steubenville, Ohio.

Gill, Patrick F., a Representative from Missouri; born in Independence, Mo., August 16, 1868; moved with his widowed mother to St. Louis, Mo., in 1871; attended parochial schools, and St. Louis university; engaged in the grocery business for many years; clerk of the circuit court four years; defeated as the Democratic candidate for sheriff in 1906; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); resumed business in St. Louis, Mo.

Gillespie, Eugene Pierce, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Greenville, Mercer county, Pa., September 24, 1852; attended the common schools of Greenville, Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa., and St. Michael's college, Toronto, Canada; admitted to the bar in August, 1874, and practiced in Greenville, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); returned to Greenville, Pa., and practiced law until his death, December 16, 1899.

Gillespie, James, a Representative from North Carolina; native of Kenansville, Duplin county, N. C.; pursued classical studies; member of the convention of 1776; member of the state house of commons 1779–1783; served in the state senate 1784–1786; elected to the Third, Fourth, and Fifth Congresses (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1799); reelected to the Eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1803, until his death, January 10, 1805.

Gillespie, Oscar William, a Representative from Texas; born in Clarke county, Miss., June 20, 1858, was graduated from Mansfield college, of Tarrant county, Tex.; studied law and was admitted to the bar in November, 1886; prosecuting attorney of Tarrant county 1890–1894; assistant county attorney 1886–1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Fort Worth, Tex.

Gillet, Charles William, a Representative from New York; born in Addison, N. Y., November 26, 1840; was graduated from Union college, Schenectady, N. Y., in 1861; enlisted as a private in the eighty-sixth regiment New York volunteers, August, 1861; made adjutant of the regiment, November, 1861, and served as adjutant until discharged for physical disability in 1863; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1905); died in New York City, December 31, 1908.

Gillet, Ransom Hooker, a Representative from New York; born in New Lebanon, N. Y., January 27, 1800; pursued an academic course; studied law in Canton, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Ogdensburg, postmaster of Ogdensburg, N. Y., 1830–1833; delegate to the Democratic national convention in Baltimore in 1832; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); appointed commissioner to treat with the New York Indians 1837–1839; delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1840; appointed Register of the Treasury and served from April 1, 1845, to May 27, 1847, when he was appointed Solicitor of the Treasury and served until October 31, 1849; appointed assistant attorney general and served 1855–1858; appointed solicitor of the court of claims and served 1858–1861; died in Washington, D. C., October 24, 1876.

Gillett, Frederick Huntington, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Westfield, Mass., October 16, 1851; was graduated from Amherst college in 1874 and from Harvard law school in 1877; was admitted to the bar in Springfield, Mass., in 1877; assistant attorney general of Massachusetts 1879–1882; member of the state house of representatives 1890–1891; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and to the eight succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Digitized by Google

Gillett, James Norris, a Representative from California; born in Viroqua, Vernon county, Wis., September 20, 1860; moved with his parents to Sparta, Wis., in 1865; attended the grammar and high schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1881, and practiced in Sparta, Wis.; moved to Eureka, Humboldt county, Cal., in 1883; city attorney 1889–1895; member of the state senate 1897–1899; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907); governor of California 1907–1911; resumed the practice of law in San Francisco, Cal.

Gillette, Edward Hooker, a Representative from Iowa; born in Bloomfield, Conn., October 1, 1840; attended the public schools of Hartford, Conn., and the New York state agricultural college Ovid, N. Y.; moved to Des Moines, Iowa, in the spring of 1863 and engaged in farming, building, and manufacturing; editor of the Iowa Tribune; for several years chairman of the national committee of the Greenback party; delegate in the national convention in Indianapolis in 1876; elected as a member of the National Greenback party to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); engaged in agricultural pursuits and resides near Des Moines, Iowa.

Gillette, Francis, a Senator from Connecticut; born in Bloomfield, Hartford county, Conn., December 14, 1807; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale college in 1829; commenced the study of law; representative in the state legislature in 1832 and 1836; defeated as the candidate of the Liberal party for governor in 1841 and repeatedly as the candidate of the Liberal and Free Soil parties; elected as a Free Soil Whig to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Truman Smith, and served from May 24, 1854, to March 3, 1855; chairman of the board of education of Connecticut 1849–1865; died in Hartford, Conn., September 30, 1879.

Gillis, James Lisle, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Hebron, Washington county, N. Y., October 2, 1792; attended the public schools; became a tanner; served in the war of 1812; moved to Ridgway, Pa., in 1822; appointed associate judge of Jefferson county by Gov. Porter; member of the state house of representatives 1840 and 1851; one of the judges of Jefferson county in 1842; served in the state senate in 1845; served as a mail agent in San Francisco, Cal., under President Pierce; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); appointed agent for the Pawnee tribe of Indians; died in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, July 8, 1881.

Gillon, Alexander, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Rotterdam, Holland, in 1741; pursued an academic course; came to the United States in 1766, and engaged in business in Charleston, S. C.; elected to the Third Congress and served from March 4, 1793, until his death in Gillon's Retreat, S. C., October 6, 1794.

Gilman, Charles Jervis, a Representative from Maine; born in Exeter, N. H., February 26, 1824; pursued classical studies; member of the state legislature of New Hampshire in 1850; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Brunswick, Me.; member of the legislature of Maine in 1854; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); delegate to the Republican national convention in 1860; died in Brunswick, Me., February 5, 1901.

Gilman, John Taylor, a Delegate from New Hampshire; born in Exeter, N. H., December 19, 1753; one of the minutemen of 1775; a delegate to the convention of the states in Hartford, Conn., in October, 1780; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1782–1783; state treasurer in 1791; governor of New Hampshire 1794–1805; defeated for governor the same year by John Langdon; again defeated as a Federalist in 1812; again elected in 1813, 1814, and 1815, declining a reelection in 1816; died in Exeter, N. H., September 1, 1828.

Gilman, Nicholas, a Delegate, a Representative, and a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Exeter, N. H., May 26, 1755; pursued an academic course; served as an officer during the Revolutionary war; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1786–1788; member of the convention to frame the Federal constitution that met in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1787; elected to the First, Second, Third, and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1797); elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate; reelected in 1811, and served from March 4, 1805, until his death in Philadelphia, Pa., May 2, 1814.

Gilmer, George Rockingham, a Representative from Georgia; born in Wilkes county, Ga., April 17, 1790; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Lexington, Ga.; served in the United States army in 1813; resigned in 1818 and resumed the practice of law in Lexington; member of the state house of representatives 1818–1819, and 1824; governor of Georgia 1829–1831; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); reelected to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); again elected to the Twenth-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); again governor of Georgia 1837–1839; presidential elector on the Harrison ticket in 1840; died in Lexington, Ga., November 15, 1859.

Gilmer, John Adams, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Guilford county, N. C., November 4, 1805; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1832, and began practice in Greensboro, N. C.; member of the state senate 1846–1856; defeated as the Whig candidate for governor of North Carolina in 1856; elected as an American to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); member of the second Confederate congress; delegate to the Union national convention in Philadelphia in 1866; died in Greensboro, N. C., May 14, 1868.

Gilmer, Thomas Walker, a Representative from Virginia; born in Gilmerton, Albermarle county, Va., April 6, 1802; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Charlottesville, Va.; for several years member of the state house of representatives, and served two years as speaker; governor of Virginia 1840–1841; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); reelected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress and served from March 3, 1843, until February 15, 1844, when he resigned; appointed Secretary of the Navy February 15, 1844, and served until he was killed by the bursting of a gun on board the U. S. steamer Princeton, near Washington, D. C., February 28, 1844.

Gilmore, Alfred, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Butler, Pa., June 9, 1814; attended the public schools, and was graduated from Washington college, Washington, Pa., in 1833; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1836, and practiced in Butler, Pa.; elected as an opposition candidate to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); died in Scranton, Pa., May 20, 1890.

Digitized by Google

Gilmore, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Somerset county, Pa., February 18, 1780; attended the public schools; moved to Washington, Pa., studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1801, and commenced practice in Pittsburgh, Pa.; appointed deputy district attorney in 1803; moved to Butler county, in 1803; member of the state house of representatives 1816 1821, and served as speaker in 1821; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1833); elected state treasurer of Pennsylvania by the legislature in 1841; died in Butler, Pa., May 11, 1845.

Gilmore, Samuel Louis, a Representative from Louisiana; born in New Orleans, La., July 30, 1859; instructed by private tutors, and was graduated from the central high school of New Orleans in 1874, and from Seton Hall college in South Orange, La., in 1877; studied law, and was graduated from the law department of the University of Louisiana in 1879; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New Orleans, La.; Democratic Presidential elector in 1892; assistant city attorney 1889–1896; city attorney from 1896 to March 15, 1909, when he resigned; delegate in the Democratic national convention in Denver in 1908; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Robert C. Davey, and served from April 22, 1909, until his death in Covington, La., March 30, 1910.

Gist, Joseph, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Union District, S. C., January 12, 1775; moved to Charleston, where he pursued classical studies; studied law, and in 1799 was admitted to the bar; began practice in 1800 in Pinckneyville; state representative 1801–1819; elected to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1827); died in Pinckneyville, S. C., May 8, 1836.

Glascock, John Ragland, a Representative from California; born in Panola county, Miss., August 25, 1845; received a collegiate training in the University of California and the University of Virginia; moved with his parents to California in 1856; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1868, and practiced in Oakland, Cal.; district attorney of Alameda county, Cal., 1875–1877; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); served one term as mayor of Oakland; resumed the practice of law in Berkeley, Cal.

Glascock, Thomas, a Representative from Georgia; native of Georgia; attended the public schools in Augusta; served as lieutenant in the Revolutionary army, also in the campaign against the Creek Indians; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); died in Decatur, Ga., May 9, 1841.

Glasgow, Hugh, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Nottingham, Chester county, Pa., September 8, 1769; attended the public schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; judge of Chester county from July 1, 1800, to March 29, 1813; elected to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); died in Peach Bottom, York county, Pa., January 31, 1818.

Glass, Carter, a Representative from Virginia; born in Lynchburg, Va., January 4, 1858; attended private and public schools; served eight years in a printing office, and afterwards, in successive stages, filled the positions of reporter, city editor, and editor; owner of the Lynchburg Daily News and the Daily Advance; state senator 1899–1903; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1901; five years a member of the board of visitors of the university of Virginia; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Peter J. Otey; reelected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses and served from December 1, 1902, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Glass, Presley T., a Representative from Tennessee; born in Halifax county, Va., October 18, 1824; moved with his parents in 1828 to Weakley county, Tenn., where he attended the Dresden academy; elected colonel of militia at eighteen years of age; studied law; attended one course at the Lexington (Ky.) law school; admitted to the bar in 1847; commenced practice in Ripley, Tenn.; member of the state legislature in 1848 and 1882; major commissary in the Confederate service; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in Ripley, Tenn., October 9, 1902.

Glen, Henry, a Representative from New York; native of Albany county, N. Y.; served in the Revolutionary war; member of the first, second, and third provincial Congresses 1775–1776; member of the state house of representatives 1786–1787; elected to the Third, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Congresses (March 4, 1793–March 4, 1801); again a state representative in 1810; appointed on February 27, 1767, town clerk of Schenectady and served until his death; died in Schenectady, N. Y., August 14, 1814.

Glenn, Thomas Louis, a Representative from Idaho; born near Bardwell, Ballard county (now Carlisle county), Ky., February 2, 1847; attended the public schools and the commercial college, Evansville, Ind.; member of company F, second Kentucky cavalry, Confederate army, John H. Morgan's brigade; was wounded in battle at Mount Sterling, Ky., June 9, 1864; captured and imprisoned in Transylvania university, in Lexington, Ky., until September 9, 1864, when he was paroled; clerk of Ballard county 1874–1882; member of the state senate 1887–1891; moved to Montpelier, Idaho; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1890, and practiced; elected as a Populist to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1903); mayor of Montpelier in 1904; city attorney for three years; resumed the practice of law in Montpelier, Idaho.

Gloninger, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Lebanon township, Lancaster county, Pa., September 19, 1758; attended the common schools; served as a subaltern officer in the associaters during the Revolutionary war and later was in command of a battalion of militia; upon the organization of Dauphin county was appointed by the supreme executive council of the county, a lieutenant on May 6, 1768; representative to the general assembly in 1790; resigned and served as a state senator, which he also resigned; appointed by Gov. Mifflin an associate judge of Dauphin county; upon the erection of Lebanon county, in 1813, was commissioned one of the associate judges; elected to the Thirteenth Congress and served from March 4, 1813, until August 2, 1813, when he resigned; died in Lebanon, Pa., January 22, 1836.

Digitized by Google

Glossbrenner, Adam J., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Hagerstown, Md., August 31, 1810; learned the art of printing and became publisher of the Western Telegraph in Hamilton, Ohio, 1827–1828; went to York, Pa., in 1829, published the York Gazette 1835–1858; clerk in the Pennsylvania legislature in 1838; clerk in the National House of Representatives in the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses; and in the State department 1848–1849; for ten years Sergeant at Arms of the House of Representatives; President Buchanan's private secretary 1860–1861; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); engaged in the banking business in York, Pa.; died in Philadelphia, Pa., March 3, 1889.

Glover, John Milton, a Representative from Missouri; born in St. Louis, Mo., June 23, 1852; attended Washington university, St. Louis, Mo.; studied law and was admitted to the bar; practiced in St. Louis; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889).

Glover, John Montgomery, a Representative from Missouri; born in Mercer county, Ky., September 4, 1824; pursued a college course; studied law and was admitted to the bar; appointed colonel of cavalry by President Lincoln and commissioned colonel by the governor of Missouri September 4, 1861; resigned in 1864; collector of internal revenue 1866–1867 for the third district of Missouri; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1879); died in Newark, Mo., November 12, 1891.

Glynn, Martin H., a representative from New York; born in Kinderhook, Columbia county, N. Y., September 27, 1871; attended the public schools and was graduated from St. John's college, Fordham, in 1894; studied law and became a member of the Albany county bar and the New York state bar association; did journalistic work on several papers until he became managing editor of the Albany Times-Union; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1901); in March, 1901, appointed a United States commissioner to the St. Louis Exposition of 1904.

Goddard, Calvin, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Shrewsbury, Mass., July 17, 1768; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1786; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1790; began practice in Plainfield, Conn.; member of the state house of representatives 1791–1806; for three years speaker of the house; elected to the Seventh and Eighth Congresses (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1805); moved to Norwich, Conn., in 1807; member of the executive council 1808–1815; presidential elector on the De Witt Clinton ticket in 1812; delegate to the Hartford convention of 1814; judge of the superior court 1815 and 1818; mayor of Norwich for seventeen years; died in Norwich, Conn., May 2, 1842.

Godshalk, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in East Nottingham, Chester county, Pa., October 25, 1817; attended the common schools and Union academy, Doylestown; elected associate judge of Bucks county in October, 1871, and served five years; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); died in New Britain, Bucks county, Pa., February 6, 1891.

Godwin, Hannibal Lafayette, a Representative from North Carolina; born near Dunn, in Harnett county, N. C., November 3, 1873; attended the common schools and Trinity college, Durham, N. C.; read law in the University of North Carolina and was admitted to the bar in September, 1896; member of the state senate in 1903; Democratic presidential elector in 1904; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Goebel, Herman Philip, a Representative from Ohio; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, April 5, 1853; attended the public schools and was graduated from the Cincinnati law college in 1872; was admitted to the bar in 1874; member of the house of representatives of Ohio in 1875; elected judge of the probate court of Hamilton county in 1884 and 1887; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Goff, Nathan, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Clarksburg, W. Va., February 9, 1843; attended the Northwestern Virginia academy, Georgetown college, and the University of the City of New York; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1865; member of the state legislature in 1867; United States attorney for the district of West Virginia 1868–1884; resigned the district attorneyship in January, 1881, when he was appointed Secretary of the Navy by President Hayes; in March, 1881, President Garfield reappointed him district attorney for West Virginia, which position he again resigned in July, 1882; enlisted in the Union army in June, 1861, in the third regiment Virginia volunteer infantry; served as lieutenant of company G, also as adjutant of said regiment, and as major of the fourth Virginia volunteer cavalry; defeated Republican candidate for Congress in 1870 and 1874; defeated candidate for governor in 1876 and 1888; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1889); appointed United States circuit judge of the fourth circuit March 17, 1892, by President Harrison, and resides in Clarksburg, W. Va.

Goggin, William L., a Representative from Virginia; born in Bedford county, Va., May 31, 1807; pursued an academic course; studied law; admitted to the bar in 1828; began practice in Winchester, Va.; state representative in 1836; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); elected to the Twenty-eighth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas W. Gilmer, and served from May 10, 1844, to March 4, 1845; reelected to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); defeated as the Whig candidate for governor in 1860; died in Richmond, Va., January 5, 1870.

Digitized by Google

Gold, Thomas Ruggles, a Representative from New York; born in Cornwall, Conn., November 4, 1764; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Yale college in 1786; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Goshen, Conn.; located in Whitestown, Oneida county, N. Y., in 1792; assistant attorney general of New York 1797–1801; member of the state senate 1796–1802; defeated for Congress in 1804; served in the state house of representatives in 1808; elected as a Federalist to the Eleventh and Twelfth Congresses (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1813); defeated for reelection to the Thirteenth Congress; reelected to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); died in Whitesboro, N. Y., October 24, 1827.

Goldfogle, Henry Mayer, a Representative from New York; born in New York City May 23, 1856; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1877; justice of the fifth district court in New York in 1887 and 1893; one of the judges of the municipal court of New York City, and retired from the bench January 1, 1900, to resume the practice of law; an alternate to the national Democratic convention in 1892, and a delegate to the national Democratic convention of 1896; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Goldsborough, Charles W., a Representative from Maryland; born in Caroline county, Md., July 15, 1765; educated by private tutors, and pursued an academic course, and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1784; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1790; member of the state senate 1791–1795, 1799–1801; elected as a Federalist to the Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1817); governor of Maryland 1818–1819; died in Shoals Creek, near Cambridge, Md., December 13, 1834.

Goldsborough, Robert, a Delegate from Maryland; born in Horns Point, Dorchester county, Md., December 3, 1733; pursued an academic course, studied medicine, and was graduated from the Philadelphia college in 1760; prominent in ante-Revolutionary movements; Delegate in the first Continental Congress, 1774–1775; member of the council of safety, and of the convention of the province of Maryland, August 14, 1776, called to frame a constitution; died in Cambridge, Md., December 20, 1788.

Goldsborough, Robert Henry, a Senator from Maryland; born in "Myrtle Grove," near Easton, Md., January 4, 1779; was graduated from St. John's college, Annapolis, in 1796; commanded a troup of horse in the Maryland militia during the war of 1812; member of the house of delegates in 1804; elected to the United States Senate, and served from May 21, 1813, to March 3, 1819; again a member of the house of delegates in 1825; again elected as a Whig to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Ezekiel F. Chambers, and served from January 3, 1835, until his death in Easton, Md., October 5, 1836.

Goldthwaite, George, a Senator from Alabama; born in Boston, Mass., December 10, 1809; pursued an academic course in Boston, and attended the United States military academy 1822–1824; moved to Montgomery, Ala., in 1826; studied law and was admitted to the bar; chief justice of the state supreme court for several years; adjutant general of the state during the Civil war; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from January 15, 1872, to March 3, 1877; died in Montgomery, Ala., March 18, 1879.

Goldzier, Julius, a Representative from Illinois; born in Vienna, Austria, January 20, 1854; came to New York in 1866; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; settled in Chicago in 1872, where he practiced law; in April, 1890, became a member of the city council of Chicago, and served until the end of his term, in 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); defeated for reelection to the Fifty-fourth Congress; resumed the practice of law in Chicago, Ill.

Golladay, Edward I., a Representative from Tennessee; born in Lebanon, Tenn., September 9, 1831; completed preparatory studies; studied law, and in 1852 was admitted to the bar; member of the state legislature 1857–1858; Presidential elector on the Bell-Everett ticket in 1860; served in the Confederate army; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873).

Golladay, J. S., a Representative from Kentucky; attended the public schools; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Elijah Hise; reelected to the Forty-first Congress; served from December 5, 1867, to February 28, 1870, when he resigned.

Gooch, Daniel Linn, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Rumsey, McLean county, Ky.; attended a private school; deputy governor general of the Society of Sons of Colonial Wars; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1905).

Gooch, Daniel Wheelwright, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Wells, Me., January 8, 1820; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1843; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1846 and practiced in Boston; member of the state house of representatives in 1852; member of the state constitutional convention of 1853; elected to the Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, and Thirty-ninth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, until September 1, 1865; did not take his seat in the Thirty-ninth Congress; appointed navy agent of the port of Boston in 1865; removed by President Johnson from the agency of the port in less than a year; reelected to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); defeated for reelection to the Forty-fourth Congress; pension agent in Boston 1876–1886; died in Melrose, Mass., November 11 1891.

Good, James William, a Representative from Iowa; born near Cedar Rapids, Iowa, September 24, 1866; attended common schools and was graduated from Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in 1892, and from the law department of the University of Michigan in 1893; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Cedar Rapids, Iowa; city attorney from April, 1906, to April, 1908; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Digitized by Google

Goode, John, jr., a Representative from Virginia; born in Bedford county, Va., May 27, 1829; attended the New London academy and was graduated from Emory and Henry college in 1848; studied law, admitted to the bar in April, 1851, and began practice in Liberty, Va.; elected to the state house of delegates in 1851 and 1856; on the Democratic ticket as Presidential elector in 1852 and 1856; elected in 1860 a member of the state convention which passed the ordinance of secession; twice elected a member of the Confederate congress; member of the national Democratic executive committee 1868 and 1872–1876; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1881); resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C.; died in Norfolk, Va., July 14, 1909.

Goode, Patrick Gaines, a Representative from Ohio; born in Cornwall parish, Charlotte county, Va., May 10, 1798; moved with his parents early in life to Wayne county, Ohio; attended Xenia, Ohio, academy and schools in Philadelphia, Pa.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1821, and first practiced in Madison, Ind., and then in Shelby county, Ohio; representative in the state general assembly 1833–1835; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1843); judge of the United States circuit court 1844–1851; thereafter practiced law and was a Methodist Episcopal clergyman in the central Ohio conference; died in Sidney, Ohio, October 17, 1862.

Goode, Samuel, a Representative from Virginia; born in "Whitby," Chesterfield county, Va., March 21, 1756; completed preparatory studies; was a lieutenant in the Chesterfield troop of horse during the Revolution and later a colonel of militia; member of the Virginia house of burgesses 1779–1783; elected to the Sixth Congress (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1801); died in Mecklenburg county, Va., November 14, 1822.

Goode, William Osborne, a Representative from Virginia; born in Mecklenburg county, Va., September 16, 1798; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1819; studied law, and in 1821 was admitted to the bar and began practice in Boydton; served several years in the state legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); again served several terms in the state legislature and speaker of the house three terms; a delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1850; elected to the Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses and served from March 4, 1853, until his death in Boydton, Va., July 3, 1859.

Goodenow, John Milton, a Representative from Ohio; born in Massachusetts in 1782; received a limited schooling; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Steubenville, Ohio, in 1813; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress and served from March 4, 1829, until April 9, 1830, when he resigned, having been chosen judge of the supreme court of Ohio; resigned, and was appointed United States minister to Colombia; returned to Cincinnati, Ohio; elected judge of the court of common pleas; died in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1838.

Goodenow, Robert, a Representative from Maine; born in Farmington, N. H., June 10, 1800; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1821, and began practice in Farmington; county attorney 1828–1834 and 1841; moved to Maine and resumed practice in Paris; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); appointed state bank commissioner in 1857.

Goodenow, Rufus K., a Representative from Maine; born in Henniker, N. H., April 24, 1790; moved to Maine and located in Brownfield; received a limited schooling; engaged in farming; captain in the war of 1812; moved to Paris, Me.; clerk of the Oxford county courts 1821–1837; member of state house of representatives; presidential elector on the Harrison ticket in 1840; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); died in Paris, Me., March 24, 1863.

Goodhue, Benjamin, a Representative and a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Salem, Mass., September 20, 1748; was graduated from Harvard college in 1766; served in the state house of representatives 1780–1782; member of the state senate 1786–1788; member of the state constitutional convention 1779–1780; elected to the First, Second, and Third Congresses (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1795); elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George Cabot; reelected and served from June 11, 1796, to November 8, 1800, when he resigned; died in Salem, Mass., July 28, 1814.

Goodin, John Randolph, a Representative from Kansas; born in Tiffin, Ohio, December 14, 1836; moved with his father to Kenton, Ohio, in 1844; attended the Kenton high school and Geneva college; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1857, and commenced practice in Kenton; moved to Humboldt, Kans., in 1859 and resumed the practice of law; elected to the state legislature in 1866; judge of the seventh judicial district of Kansas 1868–1876; elected to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); editor of the Inter State in Humboldt, Kans.; moved to Kansas City, Kans., in 1883 and died there December 18, 1885.

Goodnight, Isaac Herschel, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Allen county, Ky., January 31, 1849; moved to Franklin in November, 1870; attended the common schools; and was graduated from Cumberland university, Tennessee, in 1872; attended the law department of the same university until 1873; was admitted to the bar and practiced; member of the state legislature 1877–1878; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1895); elected judge of the seventh Kentucky circuit; died in Franklin, Ky., July 24, 1901.

Goodrich, Chauncey, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Durham, Conn., October 20, 1759; was graduated from Yale college in 1776; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1781, and began practice in Hartford, Conn., member of the state house of representatives in 1793; elected to the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Congresses (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1801); member of the state executive council 1802–1807; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Uriah Tracy, and served from October 25, 1807, until 1813, when he resigned; mayor of Hartford 1812–1815; lieutenant governor of Connecticut in 1814; died in Hartford, Conn., August 18, 1815.

Goodrich, Elizur, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Durham, Conn., March 24, 1761; was graduated from Yale college in 1779; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in New Haven in 1783; a presidential elector in 1797; elected as a Federalist to the Sixth Congress (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1801); appointed collector of customs at New Haven by President John Adams in 1801 and removed by President Jefferson; for seventeen years judge of probate; held several local offices; professor of law in Yale college 1801–1810; mayor of New Haven 1803–1822; secretary of the corporation of Yale college 1816–1846; died in New Haven, Conn., November 1, 1849.

Digitized by Google

Goodrich, John Zacheus, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Sheffield, Mass., September 27, 1804; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to practice; presidential elector on the Harrison ticket in 1841; served in the state 1848–1849; elected to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); member of the peace congress in 1861; lieutenant governor of Massachusetts in 1861 and resigned March 29, 1861; collector of customs in Boston 1861–1865; died in Stockbridge, N. Y., April 19, 1885.

Goodrich, Milo, a Representative from New York; born in East Homer, Cortland county, N. Y., January 3, 1814; moved with parents to Cortlandville, N. Y., in 1816; completed preparatory studies in Cortland academy, Homer, N. Y., and attended Oberlin (Ohio) institute; taught school in New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in Worcester, Mass., in 1840, and practiced for two years in the territory of Wisconsin; returned to Dryden, N. Y., in 1844; postmaster of Dryden in 1849; member of the state constitutional convention 1867–1868; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); removed to Auburn in 1875; died in Auburn, N. Y., April 15, 1881, interment in Dryden, N. Y.

Goodwin, Henry Charles, a Representative from New York; born in Deruyter, N. Y., June 25, 1824; completed preparatory studies; studied law, admitted to practice in 1846 and began practice in Hamilton, N. Y.; district attorney 1847–1850; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Gerrit Smith, and served from December 4, 1854, to March 3, 1855; reelected to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); died in Hamilton, N. Y., November 12, 1860.

Goodwin, John Noble, a Representative from Maine and a Delegate from Arizona territory; born in South Berwick, Me., October 18, 1824; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1844; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1848, and began practice in South Berwick; member of the state senate in 1854; elected as a Republican from Maine to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); moved to Arizona territory in 1863, having been appointed chief justice of the territory, which position he held until September, 1865; appointed by President Lincoln on February 2, 1864 as governor of Arizona territory and resigned in September, 1865; elected as a Republican, a Delegate from Arizona territory to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); resumed the practice of law in New York City; died in Paraiso Springs, Cal., April 29, 1887.

Goodwin, Peterson, a Representative from Virginia; native of that state; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected to the Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Congresses and served from March 4, 1803, until his death, February 21, 1818.

Goodwyn, Albert Taylor, a Representative from Alabama; born in Robinson Springs, Ala., December 17, 1842; attended the South Carolina college and was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1867; member of the state house of representatives 1886–1887; served in the state senate 1892–1896; state inspector of convicts 1874–1880; enlistd in the Confederate army, and mustered out at the close of the war as captain of a company of sharpshooters; successfully contested the election of James E. Cobb to the Fifty-fourth Congress and served from April 22, 1896, until March 3, 1897; engaged in agricultural pursuits near Robinson Springs, Ala.

Goodyear, Charles, a Representative from New York; born in Cobleskill, N. Y., April 26, 1805; was graduated from Union college in 1824; studied law, and in 1824 was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives in 1840; appointed first judge of Schoharie county in February, 1838, and served until July, 1847; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); resumed the practice of law and continued until 1852, when he engaged in the banking business; elected to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); delegate to the Union national convention in Philadelphia in 1866, and to the Democratic national convention in New York in 1868; died in Charlottesville, Va., April 9, 1876.

Gordon, George Washington, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Giles county, Tenn., October 5, 1836; received a collegiate training and graduated from the Western military institute, Nashville, Tenn., in 1859; practiced civil engineering until the beginning of the Civil war; enlisted in the military service of the Confederacy; was drill master of the eleventh Tennessee infantry; was successively a captain, lieutenant colonel, colonel, and brigadier general, and served until the close of the war; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced until 1883; appointed one of the railroad commissioners of Tennessee; in 1855 received an appointment in the Department of the Interior and served four years as Indian agent in Arizona and Nevada; returned to Memphis, Tenn.; resumed the practice of law; superintendent of the Memphis city schools, 1889–1907; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911); reelected to the Sixty-second Congress; died in Memphis, Tenn., August 9, 1911.

Gordon, James, a Senator from Mississippi; born in Monroe county, Miss., December 6, 1833; attended St. Thomas hall in Holly Springs, Miss., several years, La Grange college, Alabama, and was graduated from the University of Mississippi in 1855; member of state legislature in 1857; located in Okolona, Miss., in 1859; served in the Confederate army with cavalry regiments he had raised and organized; special commissioner of the Confederacy to visit European countries in 1864; captured in the harbor of Wilmington, N. C., on his return in January, 1865, but escaped February 22, 1865, and fled to Canada; surrendered to Gen. Dix in New York City, and received a passport to his home; disfranchised for ten years or participating in the Mississippi legislature of 1857; member of the legislature in 1878, and 1886; of the state senate in 1904, and 1906; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Anselm J. McLaurin, and served from December 27, 1909, to February 22, 1910; engaged in agricultural pursuits; died in Okolona, Miss., November 28, 1912.

Digitized by Google

Gordon, James, a Representative from New York; born in Ireland in 1743; came to America and located in Schenectady, N. Y., where he engaged in Indian trading; served as a colonel in the Revolutionary war; located in Ballston, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives 1778–1790; elected to the Second and Third Congresses (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1797); member of the state senate 1797–1804; county judge; died in Ballston, N. Y., January 17, 1810.

Gordon, John Brown, a Senator from Georgia; born in Upson county, Ga., February 6, 1832; attended the University of Georgia; read law and was admitted to the bar and practiced in Atlanta, Ga.; at the beginning of the Civil war entered the Confederate army as captain of infantry, and occupied the positions of major, lieutenant colonel, colonel, brigadier general, and major general, respectively; commanded the second army corps and one wing of Gen. Lee's army at Appomattox; resumed the practice of law in Atlanta, Ga.; Democratic candidate for governor in 1868; member of the Democratic national convention in 1868 and in 1872; presidential elector in 1868 and in 1872; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate; reelected and served from March 4, 1873, until May, 1880, when he resigned; governor of Georgia 1886–1890; again elected United States Senator and served from March 4, 1891, to March 3, 1897; died in Miami, Fla., January 9, 1904.

Gordon, Robert Bryarly, a Representative from Ohio; born near St. Mary's, Auglaize county, Ohio, August 6, 1855; attended the public schools; postmaster of St. Mary's 1885–1889: county auditor 1890–1896; after leaving Congress engaged in the flour and grain business; appointed superintendent of the document room of the National House of Representatives in 1911, which he now holds; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1903).

Gordon, Samuel, a Representative from New York; born in Sidney, Delaware county, N. Y., April 28, 1802; attended the public schools; served in the state house of representatives in 1820, 1821, and 1834; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); reelected to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); provost marshal for the nineteenth district of New York 1863–1865; died in Delhi, Delaware county, N. Y., October 28, 1873.

Gordon, William, a Representative from New Hampshire; born April 12, 1763; was graduated from Harvard college in 1779; studied law and was admitted to practice; elected to the Fifth and Sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1797, until June 12, 1800, when he resigned; died in Boston, Mass., May 8, 1802.

Gordon, William Fitzhugh, a Representative from Virginia; born in Germanna, Orange county, Va., January 13, 1787; attended country schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Charlottesville, Va.; member of the state house of delegates 1819–1831; member of the state constitutional convention of 1829–1830; attained the rank of major general in the Virginia militia; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William C. Rives; reelected to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses, and served from January 25, 1830, to March 3, 1835; died near Lindsays Store, Albemarle county, Va., August 28, 1858.

Gore, Christopher, a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., September 21, 1758; was graduated from Harvard college in 1776; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Boston; member of the state constitutional convention of 1788; United States attorney for the district of Massachusetts 1789–1796; commissioner to England 1796–1803; chargé d'affaires at London 1803–1804; member of the state house of representatives in 1788, 1789, and 1808; served in the state senate 1806 and 1807; governor of Massachusetts in 1809; appointed and subsequently elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Lloyd, and served from May 5, 1813, until May 30, 1816, when he resigned; presidential elector in 1816; trustee of Harvard university; died in Waltham, Mass., March 1, 1827.

Gore, Thomas Pryor, a Senator from Oklahoma; born in Webster county, Miss., December 10, 1870; attended a local school in Walthall, Miss., and was graduated from the law department of Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn., in 1892; moved to Texas in 1896, and to Oklahoma in 1901; served one term in the territorial senate; nominated for the United States Senate in state primary, June 8, 1907; appointed Senator by the governor, November 16, and elected by the legislature December 11, 1907, and reelected for the term expiring March 3, 1915.

Gorham, Benjamin, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Charlestown, Mass., February 13, 1775; was graduated from Harvard in 1795; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Boston, Mass.; elected to the Sixteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Jonathan Mason; reelected to the Seventeenth Congress and served from November 27, 1800, to March 3, 1823; reelected to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); again reelected to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); a short time a member of the state legislature; died in Boston, Mass., September 27, 1855.

Gorham, Nathaniel, a Delegate from Massachusetts; born in Charlestown, Mass., May 27, 1738; attended the public schools; entered upon a mercantile career; a member of the colonial legislature 1771–1775; delegate to the provincial congress 1774–1775; member of the board of war 1778–1781; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1779; served in the state senate 1780–1781; elected to the Continental Congress 1782–1783, and again 1785–1787, serving the latter part of his term as presiding officer; delegate to the Federal constitutional convention in 1788; for several years a judge of the court of common pleas; became interested in the purchase and settlement of lands in the Genesee Valley, N. Y.; died in Charlestown, Mass., June 11, 1796.

Gorman, Arthur Pue, a Senator from Maryland; born in Woodstock, Howard county, Md.,

Digitized by Google

March 11, 1839; attended public schools; in 1852 appointed page in the National House of Representatives; transferred to the Senate floor through the influence of Stephen A. Douglas, and served the Senate as page, messenger, assistant postmaster, and postmaster; removed September 1, 1866, and immediately appointed collector of internal revenue for the fifth district of Maryland, and served until March, 1869; appointed a director in the Chesapeake and Ohio canal company in June, 1869; member of the house of delegates of the state legislature 1869–1873; speaker of the house of delegates one session; in June, 1872, he was elected president of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal company; in 1875 was elected to the state senate; reelected in November, 1879, for a term of four years; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and twice reelected, and served from March 4, 1881, to March 3, 1899; was again elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1903, until his death, in Washington, D. C., June 4, 1906; interment in Laurel, Md.

Gorman, James Sedgwick, a Representative from Michigan; born in Lindon, Washtenaw county, Mich., December 28, 1850; attended the common schools, the Union school of Chelsea, and was graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan in 1876; was admitted to the bar, and engaged in practice in Jackson, Mich.; two years assistant prosecuting attorney of Jackson county; moved to Dexter, Mich., in 1879; member of the state house of representatives in 1880; served in the state senate in 1886 and 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); after the expiration of his term in Congress returned to his farm near Chelsea, Mich.

Gorman, Willis Arnold, a Representative from Indiana; born near Flemingsburg, Ky., January 12, 1816; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1835, and began practice in Bloomington, Ind.; clerk of the Indiana senate 1837–1838; major and colonel of Indiana volunteers in the Mexican war; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); territorial governor of Minnesota 1853–1857; delegate to the constitutional convention of Minnesota in 1857; practiced law in St. Paul, Minn., 1857–1861; entered the Union army; colonel first Minnesota infantry April 29, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers September 7, 1861; mustered out May 4, 1864; elected city attorney of St. Paul in 1869; died in St. Paul, Minn., May 20, 1876.

Goss, James H., a Representative from South Carolina; born in Union, S. C., August 9, 1820; attended the public schools; engaged in mercantile pursuits; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1867; elected to the Fortieth Congress, and served from July 18, 1868, to March 3, 1869.

Gott, Daniel, a Representative from New York; born in Hebron, Conn., July 10, 1793; attended the public schools; moved to Powpey in 1817; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1819, and began practice in Powpey, N. Y.; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); moved to Syracuse, N. Y., in 1853; died in Syracuse, N. Y., July 6, 1864.

Gould, Herman Day, a Representative from New York; born in Sharon, Litchfield county, Conn., January 16, 1799; pursued an academic course; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); died in Delhi, N. Y., January 26, 1852.

Goulden, Joseph Aloysius, a Representative from New York; born in Littlestown, Adams county, Pa., August 1, 1844; attended the common schools; served in the marine corps of the navy 1864–1865; member board of managers state reformatory at Morganza, Pa.; moved to New York City; commissioner and trustee of public schools for ten years; member of the board of trustees, soldiers' home, Bath, N. Y.; secretary and member of the New York City commission that erected the soldiers and sailors' monument in Riverside Park; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–1911); engaged in the insurance business in New York City.

Gourdin, Theodore, a Representative from South Carolina; pursued an academic course; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815).

Govan, Andrew R., a Representative from South Carolina; born in Orangeburg, S. C.; pursued classical studies; elected to the Seventeenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Overstreet; reelected to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses, and served from December 4, 1822, to March 3, 1827.

Gove, Samuel Francis, a Representative from Georgia; born in Weymouth, Mass., March 9, 1822; attended the public schools; elected to the Fortieth Congress, and served from July 25, 1868, to March 3, 1869; in 1877 became a Baptist minister and was a traveling missionary from 1879 until his death; died at St. Augustine, Fla., December 3, 1900; interment in Macon, Ga.

Grady, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Duplin county, N. C., October 10, 1831; attended public schools, and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1857; professor of mathematics and natural sciences in Austin college; located in Huntsville, Tex.; enlisted in a Texas Confederate regiment; served in the Trans-Mississippi department until captured with his whole command at Arkansas Post, January 11, 1863; located in North Carolina at the close of the war and engaged in teaching and in agricultural pursuits; superintendent of public schools of Duplin county 1881–1888; justice of the peace 1879–1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); retired and resides in Clinton, N. C.

Graff, Joseph Verdi, a Representative from Illinois; born in Terre Haute, Ind., July 1, 1854; was graduated from the Terre Haute high school, and attended Wabash college, Crawfordsville, Ind., one year; studied law and was admitted to the bar while living in Delavan, Ill., in 1879; delegate to the Republican national convention in Minneapolis in 1892; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1911); moved to Peoria, Ill., in 1899 and resumed the practice of law.

Graham, James, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Lincoln county, N. C., January, 1793; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1814; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; moved to Rutherford county, which he represented in the state house of commons 1822–1823, 1828–1829; elected to the Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses, and served from December 2, 1833, to March 3, 1843, excepting from March 25, 1836, to December 5, 1836, when a Democratic House declared the seat vacant, but at a new election again elected; defeated for the Twenty-eighth Congress; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); engaged in agricultural pursuits; died in Rutherford county, N. C., September 25, 1851.

Digitized by Google

Graham, James Harper, a Representative from New York; born in Bovina, Delaware county, N. Y., September 18, 1812; attended the public schools; supervisor of the town of Delhi, N. Y.; chairman of the board of supervisors of Delaware county; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1868; member of the state house of representatives in 1871; served in the state senate in 1872 and 1873; died in Delhi, N. Y., June 23, 1881.

Graham, James McMahon, a Representative from Illinois; born in Ireland, April 14, 1852; came to the United States, and settled in Sangamon county, Ill., in 1868; attended common schools; taught school for seven years; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1885, and practiced in Springfield, Ill.; served in the Illinois legislature 1885–1886; state attorney for Sangamon county, 1892–1896; member of the Springfield school board; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Graham, John Hugh, a Representative from New York; born in Belfast, Ireland, April 1, 1835; came with his parents to this country and located in Brooklyn, N. Y.; attended the public schools of Brooklyn; in 1861 recruited company A, fifth regiment heavy artillery, New York volunteers, and served three years as its captain, and for gallant and meritorious service at Harpers Ferry and in the Shenandoah Valley, Va., was commissioned major and brevetted lieutenant colonel; engaged in the hardware business in Brooklyn, N. Y.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); died in Brooklyn, N. Y., July 11, 1895.

Graham, William, a Representative from Indiana; born at sea, March 16, 1782; settled with his parents in Kentucky; attended public schools of Harrodsburg, Ky.; moved to Vallonia, Ind. in 1811; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Vallonia, Ind.; member of the territorial legislature in 1812; member of the first general assembly; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1816; speaker of the house of representatives in 1820; member of the state senate; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); died near Vallonia, Ind., August 17, 1858.

Graham, William Alexander, a Senator from North Carolina; born in Lincoln county, N. C., September 5, 1804; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1824; studied law in Newbern, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Hillsboro, N. C.; member of the state house of commons 1833–1840; and served as speaker during sessions of 1838 and 1840; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Robert Strange, and served from November 25, 1840, to March 3, 1843; elected governor of North Carolina in 1844 as a Whig and reelected in 1846; after declining the mission to Spain, in 1849, was Secretary of the Navy from July 20, 1850, until March 7, 1853; Whig candidate for Vice President in 1852; member state house of commons 1854–1855; member of the state senate 1861–1864; senator in the second Confederate congress; delegate to the Philadelphia Union convention in 1866; died in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., August 11, 1875.

Graham, William Harrison, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Allegheny, Pa., August 3, 1844, and attended the public schools; served in the Civil war with the second Virginia infantry, which, after a service of two years, was mounted and became the fifth West Virginia cavalry; engaged in business in Allegheny, Pa.; recorder of deeds of Allegheny county for three terms; member of the state legislature for four sessions; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1903); defeated for reelection to the Fifty-eighth Congress; reelected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911); defeated in the Republican primaries for renomination; member of the county board viewers, and resides in Allegheny, Pa.

Granger, Amos Phelps, a Representative from New York; born in Suffield, Conn., June 3, 1789; attended the public schools; moved to Manlius, N. Y., in 1811, where he was president of the corporation several years; served as captain in the war of 1812 at Sacketts Harbor and upon the Canadian border; moved to Syracuse, N. Y., in 1820 and engaged in numerous business enterprises; delivered the address of welcome when Lafayette visited Syracuse in 1825; delegate in the Whig national convention of 1824; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); died in Syracuse, N. Y., August 20, 1866.

Granger, Bradley Francis, a Representative from Michigan; born in Lowville, Lewis county, N. Y., March 12, 1825; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; moved to Ann Arbor, Mich.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); died in Ann Arbor, Mich., November 4, 1882.

Granger, Daniel Larned Davis, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Providence, R. I., May 30, 1852; was graduated from Brown university in 1874 and from the law department of Boston university in 1877; was admitted to the Rhode Island bar in 1877, and entered practice in Providence; twice elected reading clerk of the state house of representatives; city treasurer of Providence 1890–1901; elected mayor of Providence in November, 1900, and reelected in 1901; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1903, until his death in Washington, D. C., February 14, 1909; interment in Providence, R. I.

Granger, Francis, a Representative from New York; born in Suffield, Conn., December 1, 1792; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Yale college in 1811; moved with his father to

Digitized by Google

Canandaigua, N. Y., in 1814; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1816, and commenced practice in Canandaigua, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives 1826–1828, and in 1830–1832; unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor of New York in 1828; unsuccessful candidate of the National Republicans for governor of New York in 1830 and 1832; delegate to the National Anti-Masonic convention in Philadelphia September 11, 1830; defeated as the Whig and Anti-Masonic candidate for Vice President in 1836; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); defeated as the Whig candidate for the Twenty-fifth Congress; elected to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); appointed by President Harrison Postmaster General of the United States, and served from March 6, 1841, to September 18, 1841; again reelected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Greig, and served from December 7, 1841, to March 3, 1843; delegate to the peace convention in 1861; died in Canandaigua, N. Y., August 31, 1868.

Granger, Miles Tobey, a Representative from Connecticut; born in New Marlboro, Berkshire county, Mass., August 12, 1817; moved with his parents to Canaan, Conn. in 1819; pursued common school, academic, and collegiate studies, and was graduated from Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., in 1842; went to Louisiana in 1843; studied law and was admitted to the bar of Wilkinson county, Miss., in April, 1845; returned to Canaan, Conn.; was admitted to the bar in Litchfield in October, 1845 and practiced law in Canaan 1847–1867; elected judge of the superior court of Connecticut, and in 1876 elected judge of the supreme court and served until March 1, 1887, when he resigned; member of the state house of representatives in 1857, served in the senate 1866–1867; judge of the superior court nineteen and one-half years; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); died in North Canaan, Conn., October 21, 1895.

Grant, Abraham P., a Representative from New York; born in Oswego, N. Y.; attended the public schools; district attorney of Oswego county; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839).

Grant, John Gaston, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Edneyville township, Henderson county, N. C., January 1, 1858; received a limited schooling; member of the state legislature in 1889; declined a renomination; sheriff of Henderson county in 1892, and reelected in 1894; refused a renomination in 1896; McKinley elector in 1896; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); reengaged in farming in Henderson county, N. C.

Grantland, Seaton, a Representative from Georgia; born in New Kent county, Va., June 8, 1812; pursued an academic course, studied law, was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Milledgeville, Ga.; elected as a Union candidate on a general ticket to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); a presidential elector on the Harrison and Tyler ticket in 1840; died in Milledgeville, Ga., October 18, 1864.

Gravely, Joseph J., a Representative from Missouri; born in Henry county, Va., in 1828; attended public schools; member of the state legislature 1853–1854; moved to Missouri in 1854; elected to the constitutional convention in 1860 and to the state senate in 1862 and 1864; served in the Union Army as colonel of the eighth Missouri cavalry; elected as a Radical to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); lieutenant-governor of Missouri 1869–1872; died April 28, 1872.

Graves, Alexander, a Representative from Missouri; born in Mount Carmel, Miss., August 18, 1848; at the outbreak of the war he left Centre college, Danville, Ky.; joined the Confederate army and served under Gen. N. B. Forrest; paroled with him in Gainesville, Ala., May, 1865; after being mustered out returned to college and was graduated from Oakland (now Alcorn) university, Mississippi, in July, 1867; studied law, and was graduated from the University of Virginia in June, 1869; was admitted to the bar, practiced law in Lexington, Mo.; elected city attorney in 1872; prosecuting attorney of Lafayette county, Mo., in 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); resumed the practice of law and resides in Lexington, Mo.

Graves, William J., a Representative from Kentucky; born in Newcastle, Ky., in 1805; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar and commenced practice; member of the state house of representatives in 1834; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1841); member of the state legislature in 1843; died in Louisville, Ky., September 27, 1848.

Gray, Edwin, a Representative from Virginia; born in Virginia in 1769; attended the public schools; served in the state house of burgesses 1769–1774; member of the house of delegates; elected to the state senate; member of the state constitutional conventions of 1774, 1775 and 1776; elected to the Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, and Twelfth Congresses (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1813); died about 1790.

Gray, George, a Senator from Delaware; born in Newcastle, Del., May 4, 1840; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Princeton college, 1862; studied law with his father and one year in the Harvard law school; was admitted to practice in 1863; appointed attorney general of Delaware in 1879 by Governor Hall, and reappointed in 1884 by Governor Stockley; delegate to the Democratic national conventions in St. Louis in 1876, in Cincinnati in 1880, and in Chicago in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas F. Bayard; reelected in 1887 and 1893 and served from March 19, 1885 until March 3, 1899; member of the commission which met in Quebec, August, 1898, to settle differences between United States and Canada; later of the commission which met in Paris in September, 1898, to arrange terms of peace between the United States and Spain; appointed judge of the United States circuit court by President McKinley in 1899; in October, 1902, appointed chairman of the commission to investigate conditions of the coal strike in Pennsylvania; appointed by President McKinley, a member of the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague in 1900; reappointed in 1906 by President Roosevelt; member of said court in the North Atlantic Coast Fisheries arbitration, under the special agreement between the United States and Great Britain, of January 27, 1909; resides in Wilmington, Del.

Digitized by Google

Gray, Hiram, a Representative from New York; born in Salem, Washington county, N. Y., July 10, 1801; was graduated from Union college in 1821; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1823 and practiced in Elmira, N. Y., 1825–1828; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); appointed by Governor Silas Wright circuit judge and vice chancellor of the sixth judicial district of New York in 1846; elected justice of the supreme court of New York in 1847; reelected in 1851, and served until 1860; commissioner of appeals 1870–1875; died in Elmira, N. Y., May 6, 1890.

Gray, John C., a Representative from Virginia; born in Southampton county, Va.; pursued an academic course; elected to the Sixteenth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Johnson, and served from November 18, 1820, to March 3, 1821.

Grayson, William, a Delegate and a Senator from Virginia; born in Prince William county, Va., in 1740; attended the University of Pennsylvania; was sent abroad and pursued classical studies in England and was graduated from the University of Oxford; studied law at the Temple in London; returned to Virginia and practiced law in Dumfries; was aid-de-camp to General Washington, August 24, 1776; entered the Revolutionary army as colonel of a Virginia regiment, January 1, 1777; distinguished himself at the battle of Monmouth in 1778; member of the board of war 1780–1781, delegate in the Continental Congress, 1784–1787; member of the Virginia convention of 1788 for the adoption of the Federal Constitution which he opposed; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1789, until his death in Dumfries, Va., March 12, 1790; final interment in the restored vault in Belle Air, the old family estate near Dumfries, Va.

Grayson, William John, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Beaufort, S. C., November 10, 1788; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from the South Carolina college in 1809; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Beaufort, S. C.; appointed a commissioner in equity; member of the state house of representatives in 1813; served in the state senate in 1831; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); collector of customs in Charleston 1841–1843; died in Newberry, S. C., October 4, 1863.

Greeley, Horace, a Representative from New York; born in Amherst, N. H., February 3, 1811; attended the public schools; apprenticed to the art of printing in East Poultney, Vt., 1826–1830; worked as a journeyman printer in Erie, Pa., and after August, 1831, in New York City; commenced the publication of the Morning Post January 1, 1833, but it was soon discontinued; published the New Yorker 1834–1841; edited the Log Cabin to 1840; founded the New York Tribune April 10, 1841, and edited it until his death; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the unseating of David S. Jackson, and served from December 4, 1848, to March 3, 1849; visited Europe in 1851, and was chairman of one of the juries at the World's Fair; presidential elector on the Lincoln and Johnson ticket in 1864; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1867; at the close of the Civil war advocated universal amnesty and universal suffrage, and in May, 1867, offered himself as bail for Jefferson Davis; in November, 1867, appointed by President Johnson United States minister to Austria, but declined; nominated by the Reform Republicans in Cincinnati in 1872 and by the Democrats in Baltimore for the Presidency, but was defeated by General Grant; died in an asylum near New York city November 29, 1872.

Green, Byram, a Representative from New York; born in East Windsor, Mass., April 15, 1786; attended the public schools, and was graduated from Williams college in 1808; professor in college, Beaufort, S. C., in 1810; judge of the circuit court of Wayne county in 1814; fought in the battle of Sodus Point in 1812; member of the state assembly in 1816–1822; served in the state senate 1823–1824; elected to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); died in Sodus, Wayne county, N. Y., October 18, 1865.

Green, Frederick William, a Representative from Ohio; born in Fredericktown, Md., February 18, 1816; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Tiffin, Ohio; after holding several local offices was elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); commissioner from Ohio to the Philadelphia Centennial exposition; state oil inspector; editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer; died in Cleveland, Ohio, June 18, 1879.

Green, Henry Dickinson, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Reading, Berks county, Pa., May 3, 1857; attended the public schools and was graduated from the Reading high school in 1872 and Yale university in 1877; admitted to practice law in the Berks county bar in November, 1879; member of the house of representatives of Pennsylvania 1883–1884 and 1885–1886; member of the state senate 1889–1896; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Daniel Ermentrout; reelected to the Fifty-seventh Congress, and served from December 4, 1899, to March 3, 1903.

Green, Innis, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Hanover township, Pa., March 25, 1776; pursued an academic course; studied law and was admitted to the bar; appointed one of the associate judges of Dauphin county by Governor Findlay, August 10, 1818, and resigned October 23, 1827; elected as a Democrat to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); reappointed associate judge of Dauphin county and served until his death; died in Dauphin, Pa., August 4, 1839.

Green, Isaiah Lewis, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Barnstable, Mass., December 28, 1761; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Harvard college in 1781; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced; elected to the Ninth and Tenth Congresses (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1809) reelected to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813); held several local offices; died in Cambridge, Mass., December 5, 1841.

Green, James S., a Representative and a Senator from Missouri; born in Fauquier county, Va., February 28, 1817; attended the public schools; moved to Alabama, and then to Missouri; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1840 and commenced practice in Canton, Mo.; presidential elector on the Polk and Dallas ticket in 1844; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1845; elected to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); chargé d'affaires to Colombia May 24, 1853, to August 13, 1854; appointed minister resident June 29, 1854, but did not present his credentials; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress, but did not take his seat, having been elected to the United States Senate for the term commencing March 4, 1855, and served from January 12, 1857, to March 3, 1861; died in St. Louis, Mo., January 19, 1870.

Digitized by Google

Green, Robert Stockton, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Princeton, N. J., March 25, 1831; was graduated from the College of New Jersey in 1850; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1853; city attorney of Elizabeth 1857–1868; surrogate of Union county 1862–1867; presiding judge of Union county court of common pleas 1868–1873; member of the commission to suggest amendments to the constitution of New Jersey in 1873; became a member of the bar of New York in 1874; delegate to the Democratic national conventions of 1860 and 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress, and served from March 4, 1885, until he resigned, January 17, 1887; governor of New Jersey 1887–1889; appointed vice-chancellor for a term of seven years in 1890; judge of the court of errors and appeals; died in Elizabeth, N. J., May 7, 1895.

Green, Wharton Jackson, a Representative from North Carolina; born near St. Marks, Fla., February 28, 1831; attended Georgetown college, Lovejoy's academy in Raleigh, the United States military academy in West Point, N. Y., and the University of Virginia; pursued legal studies in the University of Virginia and in Cumberland university; was lieutenant-colonel, commanding second North Carolina battalion in the Confederate army; afterwards on General Daniel's staff; wounded and taken prisoner at the battle of Gettysburg; delegate to the Democratic national convention in New York in 1868; delegate to the Democratic national convention in St. Louis; state alternate to the Democratic national convention in Cincinnati; candidate for presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1868; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); died in Fayetteville, N. C., August 6, 1910.

Green, Willis, a Representative from Kentucky; native of the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia; attended the public schools; located in that part of Virginia which is now the State of Kentucky; member of the state constitutional convention in 1792; surveyor for locating land warrants; member of the state legislature in 1836 and 1837; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1845).

Greene, Albert Collins, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in East Greenwich, R. I., April 15, 1791; pursued an academic course; studied law in New York, and was admitted to the bar; returned to Rhode Island, and commenced practice; member of the state house of representatives in 1816, 1822–1825, and served the last year as speaker; brigadier general and major general in the militia; attorney general of Rhode Island 1825–1843; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1845, to March 3, 1851; again a member of the state house of representatives and of the state senate; died in Providence, R. I., January 8, 1863.

Greene, George Woodward, a Representative from New York; born in Mt. Hope, Orange county, N. Y., July 4, 1831; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania; taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1860, and commenced practice in Goshen, N. Y., school commissioner for Orange county; judge of the Orange county courts 1861–1864; presented credentials as a Democratic member-elect to the Forty-first Congress, and served from March 4, 1869, to February 17, 1870, when he was succeeded by Charles H. Van Wyck, who contested his election; member of the state assembly 1885–1888; died in New York City, July 21, 1895; interment in Mount Hope, N. Y.

Greene, Ray, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Warwick, R. I., February 2, 1765; pursued classical studies, graduating from Yale college in 1784; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Providence, R. I.; attorney general of Rhode Island 1794–1797; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Bradford, and served from November 13, 1797, to March 5, 1801, when he resigned; died in Warwick, R. I., January 11, 1849.

Greene, Thomas M., a Delegate from Mississippi territory; native of Virginia; moved to Bruinsburg, Mississippi territory; engaged in planting; elected a Delegate to the Seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Narsworthy Hunter, and served from December 6, 1802, to March 3, 1803.

Greene, William Laury, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Pike county, Ind., October 13, 1849; moved with his parents to Dubois county, in the same state; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Ireland academy, Ind., studied law, and admitted to the bar in Bloomington, Ind., in 1876; moved with his family to Kearney, Nebr., in 1883, and resumed the practice of his profession; elected judge of the twelfth judicial district of Nebraska in 1895–1897; elected as a Populist to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1897, until his death on his way home from Washington, D. C., March 11, 1899.

Greene, William Stedman, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Tremont, Tazewell county, Ill., April 28, 1841; moved to Fall River, Mass., with his parents in 1844; attended the public schools of that city; member of the common council in 1876–1879, and served as president of the body 1877–1879; mayor of Fall River in 1880; alternate delegate to Republican national convention which nominated President Garfield; reelected mayor in 1881, but resigned the same year; appointed postmaster of Fall River by President Garfield; again elected mayor in 1886; general superintendent of prisons 1888–1893; mayor in 1895, 1896, and 1897; declined a reelection in 1898; appointed postmaster by President McKinley, and entered upon his duties April 1, 1898; resigned and was elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John Simpkins; reelected to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from June 15, 1898, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Digitized by Google

Greenhalge, Frederic Thomas, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Clithere, England, July 19, 1842; came with his parents to the United States in early childhood; attended the public schools of Lowell, Mass., and Harvard college 1859–1862; taught school and studied law; with the Union army in Newbern, N. C., for five months; was admitted to the bar in Lowell, Mass., in 1865; served in the common council of Lowell 1868–1869; member of the school committee 1871–1873; mayor of Lowell 1880–1881; delegate to the Republican national convention of 1884; member of the state house of representatives in 1885; city solicitor in 1888; defeated for the state senate in 1881 and for the house in 1885; practiced law in Middlesex and other counties; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); governor of Massachusetts in 1894, 1895, and 1896, and served until his death in Lowell, Mass., March 5, 1896.

Greenleaf, Halbert Stevens, a Representative from New York; born in Guilford, Windham county, Vt., April 12, 1827; attended the common schools and completed an academic course; moved to Philadelphia, Pa., in 1859, and engaged in manufacturing; returned to Shelburne Falls, Mass., in 1861; organized the Yale & Greenleaf Lock company; enlisted as a private in the Union army August, 1862; commissioned captain of company E, fifty-second regiment Massachusetts volunteers, September 12, 1862; elected colonel of the regiment October 23, 1862; located in Rochester, N. Y., in 1867; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); reelected to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); died in the town of Greece, near Charlotte, N. Y., August 25, 1906; interment in Mount Hope cemetery, Rochester, N. Y.

Greenman, Edward Whitford, a Representative from New York; born in Berlin, Rensselaer county, N. Y., January 26, 1840; attended the common schools and an academy; engaged in mercantile and manufacturing pursuits in Berlin, N. Y.; supervisor of Berlin 1866, 1867, and 1868; clerk of Rensselaer county 1868–1871; deputy county clerk for ten years; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); cashier of the Central National Bank, o Troy, N. Y.; died in Troy, N. Y., August 2, 1908.

Greenup, Christopher, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Virginia in 1750; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Frankfort, Ky.; served in the Revolution and attained the rank of colonel; elected to the Second, Third, and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1797); governor of Kentucky 1804–1808; presidential elector on the Madison and Clinton ticket; died in Frankfort, Ky., April 24, 1818.

Greenwood, Alfred Burton, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Franklin county, Ga., July 11, 1811; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the University of Georgia in Athens; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Bentonville, Ark.; member of the state house of representatives 1842–1845; state prosecuting attorney 1845–1851; circuit judge of Arkansas 1851–1853; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1859); Commissioner of Indian Affairs May 13, 1859, to April 13, 1861; representative in the Confederate congress; died in Bentonville, Ark., October 4, 1889.

Gregg, Andrew, a Representative and a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Carlisle, Pa., June 10, 1755; pursued an academic course and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1782; tutor in the University of Pennsylvania 1779–1782; engaged in business in Middletown 1783–1789; engaged in farming in Penn's Valley 1789–1835; elected to the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth Congresses (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1807); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1807, to March 3, 1813; elected President of the Senate pro tempore June 26, 1809; moved to Bellefonte, Pa., in 1814; appointed secretary of state for Pennsylvania in 1816; died in Bellefonte, Pa., May 20, 1834.

Gregg, Alexander White, a Representative from Texas; native of that state; was graduated from King college, Bristol, Tenn., studied law in the University of Virginia; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Palestine, Tex.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Gregg, James Madison, a Representative from Indiana; born in Patrick county, Va., June 26, 1806; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1830, and began practicing in Danville, Ind.; county surveyor of Hendricks county 1834–1837; clerk of the circuit court 1837–1845; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); resumed the practice of law in Danville, Ind.; elected to the state legislature in 1862; died in Danville, Ind., June 16, 1869.

Gregory, Dudley S., a Representative from New Jersey; born in Redding, Conn., February 5, 1800; moved with his father to Albany, N. Y., in 1807; employed in the office of the comptroller of state; attended the public schools; moved to New York City in 1824; removed to Jersey City; city mayor in 1838 and was reelected several times; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); held several local offices; died in Jersey City, N. J., December 8, 1874.

Greig, John, a Representative from New York; born in Dumfriesshire, Scotland, August 6, 1779; attended the Edinburgh high school; came to America in 1797; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1804, and commenced practice in Canandaigua, N. Y.; president of the Ontario bank 1820–1856; regent of the state university 1825–1858; vice chancellor of the same institution after January, 1845; one of the founders of the Ontario female seminary; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Francis Granger, and served from May 31, 1841, to September 25, 1841, when he resigned; president of the Ontario agricultural society; died in Canandaigua, N. Y., April 9, 1858.

Grennell, George, jr., a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Greenfield, Mass., December 25, 1786; attended Deerfield academy, and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1808; was admitted to the bar in 1811; prosecuting attorney for Franklin county 1820–1828; member of the state senate 1825–1827; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1839); trustee of Amherst college 1838–1859; judge of probate 1849–1853; clerk of Franklin county courts 1853–1865; first president of the Troy and Greenfield railroad; died in Greenfield, Mass., November 20, 1877.

Digitized by Google

Gresham, Walter, a Representative from Texas; born in King and Queen county, Va., July 22, 1841; was graduated from the university of Virginia in 1863; served as a private in the Confederate army; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1867, and began practice in Galveston, Tex., the same year; district attorney for the Galveston judicial district in 1872; member of the state legislature 1886–1891; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of his profession and resides in Galveston, Tex.

Grey, Benjamin E., a Representative from Kentucky; native of that state; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Hopkinsville; member of the state house of representatives 1838–1839; served in the state senate 1847–1851; speaker of the senate and acting lieutenant governor in 1850; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855).

Grider, Henry, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Garrard county, Ky., July 16, 1796; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Bowling Green, Ky.; served in the War of 1812; member of the state house of representatives in 1827 and 1831; served in the state senate 1833–1837; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); reelected to the Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, and Thirty-ninth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1861, until his death in Warren county, Ky., Septembr 14, 1866.

Griest, William Walton, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Christiana, Pa., September 22, 1859; attended common schools, and was graduated from the Millersville state normal school in 1876; taught school; director and an incorporator of the Pennsylvania public school memorial association; engaged in newspaper work; chief clerk in the county commissioner's office 1887–1899; secretary of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania 1899–1903; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1896, 1900, 1904, 1908, and 1912; editor of a newspaper in Lancaster, Pa.; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Griffin, Cyrus, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Richmond county, Va., July 16, 1748; sent to England to be educated; on his return to Virginia prominent in pre-Revolutionary movements; member of the colonial house of burgesses; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1778–1781 and 1787–1788, and its president in 1788; president of the supreme court of admiralty; commissioner to the Creek Nation in 1789; judge of the United States district court of Virginia from December, 1789, until his death in Yorktown, Va., December 14, 1810.

Griffin, Isaac, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Delaware; attended the public schools; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817).

Griffin, John K., a Representative from South Carolina; born in Milton, S. C.; pursued an academic course; elected as a State Rights Whig to the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1841); died in Milton, S. C., August 1, 1841.

Griffin, Levi Thomas, a Representative of Michigan; born in Clinton, Oneida county, N. Y., May 23, 1837; moved with his parents to Rochester, Oakland county, Mich., in 1848; was graduated from the university of Michigan in 1857; entered upon the study of law in Detroit, was admitted to the bar, and entered practice there; entered the United States Army in August, 1862, as second lieutenant, fourth Michigan cavalry, and served as first lieutenant, adjutant, captain, brigade inspector, acting assistant adjutant general, cavalry division, and acting assistant adjutant general, cavalry corps, Military Division of Mississippi, and brevetted major; at the close of the war resumed the practice of law in Detroit; appointed Fletcher professor of law in the university of Michigan in 1886; defeated candidate for judge of the supreme court in 1887; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John Logan Chipman, and served from December 4, 1893, to March 4, 1895; died in Detroit, Mich., March 17, 1906.

Griffin, Michael, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in County Clare, Ireland, September 9, 1842; emigrated with his parents to Canada in 1847, to Ohio in 1851, and to Wisconsin in 1856; attended the common schools of Ohio and Wisconsin; first resided in Sauk county, Wis., until 1868, and then moved to Kilbourn City, Wis., where he remained until 1876, removing in that year to Eau Claire; enlisted September 11, 1861, as a private in company E, twelfth regiment Wisconsin volunteer infantry, and served until the close of the war; attained the rank of first lieutenant; mustered out July 16, 1865; member of the county board of Columbia county, Wis., 1874–1875; member of assembly in 1876; city attorney of Eau Claire in 1878–1880; state senator 1880–1881; department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic 1887–1888; admitted to the bar May 19, 1868, and engaged in practice in Eau Claire; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of George B. Shaw, and at the same election to the Fifty-fourth Congress; reelected to the Fifty-fifth Congress, and served from December 3, 1894, to March 3, 1899; appointed chairman of state tax commission by Governor Schofield May 28, 1899; died in Eau Claire, Wis., December 29, 1899.

Griffin, Samuel, a Representative from Virginia; native of that state; pursued classical studies; studied and practiced law; elected to the First, Second, and Third Congresses (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1795).

Griffin, Thomas, a Representative from Virginia; native of that state; pursued classical studies; elected to the Eighth Congress (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1805).

Griffith, Francis Marion, a Representative from Indiana; born in Moorefield, Switzerland county, Ind., August 21, 1849; attended the country schools of the county, the high school in Vevay, Ind., and Franklin college; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Vevay; mem-

Digitized by Google

mer of the state senate 1886–1894; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress at the special election held August 10, 1897, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William S. Holman; reelected to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth Congresses, and served from December 6, 1897, to March 3, 1905; resumed the practice of law in Vevay, Ind.

Griffith, Samuel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Merther Tydvil, South Wales, Great Britain, February 14, 1816; instructed in elementary branches by a private teacher in the Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa.; studied law, and in 1846 was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Mercer, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died in Mercer, Pa., October 1, 1893.

Griggs, James Mathews, a Representative from Georgia; born in Lagrange, Ga., March 29, 1861; attended the common schools, and was graduated from the Peabody Normal college, Nashville, Tenn., in May, 1881; after graduation taught school and studied law; admitted to the bar in 1883, and commenced the practice of law in 1884 in Alapaha, Berrien county, Ga.; engaged in the newspaper business; moved to Dawson, Ga., in 1885; solicitor general of the Pataula judicial circuit 1888–1893; appointed judge of the same circuit and twice reelected; resigned in 1896 to make the race for Congress; delegate to the Democratic national convention of 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1897, until his death, in Dawson, Ga., January 5, 1910.

Grimes, James Wilson, a Senator from Iowa; born in Deering, N. H., October 20, 1816; was graduated from Hampton academy, and from Dartmouth college in 1836; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in the "Black Hawk Purchase," Wisconsn Territory, afterwards the site of Burlington, Iowa; served several terms in the Iowa state legislature; governor of Iowa 1854–1858; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate in 1859; reelected in 1865, and served from March 4, 1859, until December 6, 1869, when he resigned; died in Burlington, Iowa, February 7, 1872.

Grimes, Thomas Wingfield, a Representative from Georgia; born in Columbus, Ga., December 18, 1844; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Columbus; served as a private in the Confederate army during the last eighteen months of the Civil war; member of the legislature 1868–1869 and 1875–1876; state senator 1878–1879; member of the Democratic national convention of 1880; elected by the Georgia legislature in 1880 solicitor general of the Chattahoochee circuit for a term of four years; reelected in 1884; resigned upon being nominated for Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); resumed the practice of law in Columbus, Ga.; died in Columbus, Ga., October 28, 1905.

Grinnell, Joseph, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in New Bedford, Mass., November 17, 1788; completed preparatory studies; moved to New York City in 1809; engaged in business until 1829; traveled in Europe, and returned to New Bedford to reside; member of the governor's council 1839–1841; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1851); president of the New Bedford and Taunton railroad, the First National Bank, and the Wamsutta cotton mills; died in New Bedford, Mass., February 7, 1885.

Grinnell, Josiah Bushnell, a Representative from Iowa; born in New Haven, Vt., December 22, 1821; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Auburn theological seminary in 1847; ordained a Presbyterian clergyman; held pastorates in Union Village, N. Y., Washington, D. C., and in the Congregational Church of New York City; moved to Iowa in 1855; engaged in agricultural pursuits; founded Grinnell university; elected state senator in 1856, and served four years; delegate to the Republican national convention of 1860; special agent for the Post Office Department for two years; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); president of the St. Louis and St. Paul railroad, of the state horticultural society, and of the First National Bank, in Marshalltown; died in Marshalltown, Iowa, March 31, 1891.

Grinnell, Moses Hicks, a Representative from New York; born in New Bedford, Mass., March 3, 1803; pursued an academic course; entered a counting room in New York City in 1818, and until 1860 was a merchant in that city; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); defeated for reelection to the Twenty-seventh Congress; presidential elector on the Frémont ticket; president of the chamber of commerce and of the Merchants' Clerks' Savings bank; commissioner of charities and corrections; Central Park commissioner; one of the Union defense committee; collector of the port of New York March, 1869, to July, 1870; naval officer of customs July, 1870, to April, 1871; died in New York City November 24, 1877.

Griswold, Gaylord, a Representative from New York; native of Connecticut; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale college in 1787; moved to Herkimer, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives 1796–1798; elected to the Eighth Congress (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1805).

Griswold, John Augustus, a Representative from New York; born in Nassau, N. Y., November 11, 1818; received an academic training; engaged in mercantile pursuits and in steel manufacture; mayor of Troy in 1855; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); reelected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); defeated as the Republican candidate for governor of New York in 1868; died in Troy, N. Y., October 31, 1872.

Griswold, John Ashley, a Representative from New York; born in Cairo, Greene county, N. Y., November 18, 1822; attended the common schools and the academies in Prattsville and Catskill, N. Y.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1848, and commenced practice in Greene county; county district attorney 1856–1859; county judge 1864–1868; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); member of the state constitutional convention of 1894; died in Catskill, Greene county, N. Y., February 22, 1902.

Digitized by Google

Griswold, Matthew, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Lyme, New London county, Conn., June 6, 1833; attended the common schools and pursued an academic course; engaged in teaching and farming for a number of years; elected to various local offices; member of the Connecticut house of representatives in 1862 and 1865; moved to Erie, Pa., in 1866; engaged in manufacturing; elected trustee of Erie academy for four successive terms; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); reelected to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); retired and resides in Erie, Pa.

Griswold, Roger, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Lyme, Conn., May 21, 1762; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale college in 1780; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1783, and began practice in Norwich; returned to Lyme in 1794; elected as a Federalist to the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, and Eighth Congresses (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1805); declined the portfolio of Secretary of War tendered by President Adams in 1801; judge of the supreme court of Connecticut in 1807; presidential elector on the Pinckney and King ticket; lieutenant governor of Connecticut 1809–1811, and governor from 1811 until his death, in Norwich, Conn., October 25, 1812.

Griswold, Stanley, a Senator from Ohio; born in Torringford, Conn., November 14, 1763; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale college in 1786; studied theology; pastor in Milford, Conn., 1790–1802, and also in Greenfield, Mass.; editor of a Democratic paper in Walpole, N. H., in 1804; appointed secretary of Michigan Territory in 1805; moved to Ohio; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Edward Tiffin, and served from May 18, 1809, to December 11, 1809; appointed United States judge of the Northwest Territory; died in Shawneetown, Ill., August 21, 1815.

Groesbeck, William Slocum, a Representative from Ohio; born in New York City July 24, 1815; pursued an academic course, and was graduated from Miami university in 1835; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Cincinnati, Ohio; member of the state constitutional convention of 1851; commissioner to codify the laws of Ohio in 1852; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); member of the peace conference in 1861; served in the state senate 1862–1864; delegate to the Union national convention in Philadelphia in 1866; one of President Johnson's counsel in his impeachment trial in 1868; delegate to the international monetary conference in Paris, France, in 1878; died in Cincinnati, Ohio, July 7, 1897.

Gronna, Asle J., a Representative and a Senator from North Dakota; born in Elkader, Clayton county, Iowa, December 10, 1858; moved with his parents to Houston county, Minn., where he attended the public schools and the Caledonia academy; taught school for two years in Wilmington, Minn.; moved to Dakota Territory in 1879, and engaged in farming and teaching; in 1880 moved to Buxton, Traill county, and engaged in business; moved to Lakota, Nelson county, in 1887; member of the territorial legislature of 1889; served as president of the village board of trustees and president of the board of education several terms; in 1902 became chairman of the county central committee of Nelson county, and was reelected to the position in 1904; appointed a member of the board of regents of the University of North Dakota by Governor Frank White in 1902; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses and served from March 4, 1905, until February 2, 1911, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Martin N. Johnson and for the term ending March 3, 1915, and took his seat February 2, 1911.

Groome, James Black, a Senator from Maryland; born in Elkton, Md., April 4, 1838; completed preparatory studies in the Tennant school, Hartsville, Pa.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1861, and began practice in Elkton, Md.; member of the convention which framed the constitution of Maryland in 1867; member of the house of delegates in 1871; presidential elector in 1872; reelected to the house of delegates in 1873; resigned early in the session to accept the position of governor of the state; his term as governor expired in January, 1876; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1879, to March 3, 1885; collector of customs for the port of Baltimore, 1889–1893; died in Baltimore, Md., October 5, 1893.

Gross, Ezra Carter, a Representative from New York; native of Windsor county, Vt.; pursued classical studies; was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1806; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Elizabethtown, N. Y.; surrogate of Essex county 1815–1819; elected as a Democrat to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); member of the legislature in 1828–1829; died in Keeseville, N. Y., August 6, 1829.

Gross, Samuel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Montgomery county, Pa., in 1767; attended the public schools; member of the state house of representatives 1803–1806; served in the state senate 1812–1815; elected as a Democrat to the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Congresses (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1823); died in Trappe, Pa., March 19, 1839.

Grosvenor, Charles Henry, a Representative from Ohio; born in Pomfret, Windham county, Conn., September 20, 1833; went with his parents to Ohio in 1838; attended country school in Athens county; taught school and studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1857; served in the Union Army; major of the eighteenth Ohio infantry September 25, 1861; lieutenant colonel June 9, 1863; colonel April 19, 1865; brevet colonel and brigadier general of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious service during the war"; mustered out October 9, 1865; held divers township and village offices; member of the state house of representatives 1874–1878 and served as speaker two years; presidential elector in 1872 and 1880; member of the board of trustees of the Ohio soldiers and sailors' orphans' home in Xenia from April, 1880, until 1888, and president of the board for five years; delegate at large to the Republican national convention in St. Louis in 1896, and in Philadelphia in 1900; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1891); reelected to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1907); resumed the practice of law in Athens, Ohio.

Digitized by Google

Grosvenor, Thomas P., a Representative from New York; born in Pomfret, Conn., in 1780; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Yale college in 1806; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Hudson, N. Y.; member of the state legislature 1810–1812; district attorney of Essex county 1810–1811; elected as a Federalist to the Twelfth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Robert Le Roy Livingston; reelected to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses, and served from January 29, 1813, to March 3, 1817.

Grout, Jonathan, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Lunenburg, Worcester county, Mass., July 23, 1737; served in the expedition against Canada 1757–1760; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Petersham, Mass.; served in the Revolutionary war; member of the state house of representatives in 1781, 1784, and 1787; served in the state senate in 1788; member of the state constitutional convention in 1788; elected as a Democrat to the First Congress (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1791); returned to Lunenburg, Mass. (now Vermont), in 1803; died in Dover, N. H., September 8, 1807.

Grout, William Wallace, a Representative from Vermont; born in Compton, province of Quebec, May 24, 1836; pursued an academic course and was graduated from the Poughkeepsie law school in 1857; was admitted to the bar in December of the same year, and practiced in Barton, Vt.; state attorney for Orleans county 1865–1866; served as lieutenant colonel of the fifteenth Vermont volunteers in the Union army during the Civil War; member of the Vermont house of representatives in 1868–1870, and 1874; served in the senate in 1876, and was president pro tempore of that body; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); and reelected to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1901); died in Kirby, Vt., October 7, 1902.

Grove, William Barry, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Fayetteville, N. C., January 15, 1764; completed preparatory studies; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; served as register of the county; member of the state house of commons 1786, 1788 and 1789; delegate to the convention to consider the ratification of the constitution of the United States; also a delegate to the convention which ratified the constitution in 1789; elected to the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Congresses (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1803); unsuccessful candidate for reelection in 1802; trustee of the University of North Carolina; justice of the peace; president of the Fayetteville branch of the Bank of the United States; died in Fayetteville, N. C., March 30, 1818.

Grover, Asa Porter, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Ontario county, N. Y., February 18, 1819; moved to Kentucky in 1837; attended Centre college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Louisville, Ky., in 1843; member of the state senate 1858–1865; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869).

Grover, La Fayette, a Representative and a Senator from Oregon; born in Bethel, Oxford county, Me., November 29, 1823; attended Gould's academy, Bethel, and Bowdoin college 1844–1846; studied law in Philadelphia, Pa., and was admitted to the bar in 1850; moved to Oregon in August, 1851, and entered upon the practice of law in Salem; elected by the territorial legislature prosecuting attorney for the second judicial district, and as auditor of public accounts for the territory, 1851–1852; member of the legislature in 1853; appointed by the Department of the Interior as a commissioner to audit the spoliation claims growing out of the Rogue River Indian war in 1854; again a member of the legislature in 1855 and was speaker of the house; appointed by the Secretary of War a member of the board of commissioners to audit the Indian war expenses of Oregon and Washington in 1856; delegate to the convention which framed the constitution of Oregon in 1857; elected to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); governor of Oregon 1870–1877, when he resigned; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1877, to March 3, 1883; died in Portland, Oreg., May 10, 1911.

Grover, Martin, a Representative from New York; born in Hartwick, Otsego county, N. Y., October 20, 1811; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Angelica, N. Y.; elected as a Native American Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); elected justice of the supreme court in November, 1857, and reelected in 1859; elected judge of the court of appeals in 1867; elected an associate judge for fourteen years in 1870; died in Angelica, N. Y., August 23, 1875.

Grow, Galusha Aaron, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ashford (now Eastford), Windham county, Conn., August 31, 1823; moved to Susquehanna county, Pa., in May, 1834; attended the common schools, Franklin academy, Susquehanna county, and was graduated from Amherst college in July, 1844; studied law and was admitted to the bar April 19, 1847; elected as a Free Soil Democrat to the Thrty-second, Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses, and as a Repubican to the Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth, and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1863); Republican nominee for Speaker in 1857; served as Speaker of the House of Representatives in the Thirty-seventh Congress; delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1864, 1884, and 1892; president of the International and Great Northern railroad company of Texas 1871–1876; reelected to the Fifty-third Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William Lilly; reelected to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses and served from March 2, 1894, until March 3, 1903; declined a renomination; died in Glenwood, near Scranton, Pa., March 31, 1907.

Grundy, Felix, a Representative and a Senator from Tennessee; born in Berkeley county, Va., September 11, 1777; went with parents to Brownsville, Pa.; thence in 1780 to Kentucky; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced; member of the Kentucky constitutional convention of 1799; member of the state legislature 1800–1805; chosen judge of the supreme court of Kentucky in 1806, and was soon afterwards made chief justice; moved to Nashville, Tenn., in 1807 and resumed the practice of law; elected as a War Democrat to the Twelfth and Thirteenth Congresses and served from (March 4, 1811, until 1814, when he resigned; member of the Tennessee house of representatives 1815–1819; elected to the United States Senate, reelected to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John H. Eaton, and served from October 19, 1829, to July 4, 1838, when he resigned; appointed Attorney-General of the United States July 5, 1838; resigned December 1, 1840, to become United States Senator, to fill vacancy in the term beginning March 4, 1839, and to fill vacancy caused by his own resignation; having doubts as to his eligibility, returned to Tennessee to become a bona fide citizen of the state, and was again elected to the United States Senate December 14, 1839; died in Nashville, Tenn., December 19, 1840.

Digitized by Google

Gudger, Jr., James Madison, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Madison county, N. C., in 1855; attended Emory and Henry college, Virginia; studied law in Pearson's law school; state senator in 1900; state solicitor of the Sixteenth district at the time of his election to Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Guenther, Richard, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Potsdam, Prussia, November 30, 1845; received a collegiate training; studied pharmacy in the Royal pharmacy in Potsdam; emigrated to the United States in July, 1866; moved to Oshkosh, Wis., in 1867; elected state treasurer of Wisconsin in 1876 and reelected in 1878; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1889); appointed consul-general to Mexico by President Harrison and retired from that position at the end of the administration; appointed consul-general at Frankfort-on-the-Main by President McKinley; resigned December 9, 1912; consul-general at Cape Town, Africa.

Guernsey, Frank Edward, a Representative from Maine; born October 15, 1866, in Dover, Piscataquis county, Me.; attended the common schools, Foxcroft academy, Eastern Maine conference seminary in Bucksport, Maine Wesleyan seminary, Kents Hill, Me., and Eastman's business college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., studied law and was admitted to the bar in Dover in 1890; treasurer of Piscataquis county 1890–1896; member of the state house of representatives 1897–1899, served in the senate in 1903; delegate to the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1908; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by death of Llewellyn Powers; reelected to the Sixty-first Congress and served from December 7, 1908 to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Guggenheim, Simon, a Senator from Colorado; born in Philadelphia, December 30, 1867; was graduated from the public schools of Philadelphia, after which he studied languages in Europe for two years; engaged in the mining and smelting business in the United States and the Republic of Mexico; went to Pueblo, Colo., in 1888; later moved to Denver; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1907 to March 3, 1913.

Gunckel, Lewis B., a Representative from Ohio; born in Germantown, Ohio, October 15, 1826; was graduated from Farmer's college in 1848, and in 1851 from the law school of Cincinnati college; was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Dayton, Ohio, in 1851; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1856; member of the state senate 1862–1865; presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1864; appointed by Congress a manager of the national military soldiers' home for disabled volunteers in 1864; reappointed in 1870 for six years; appointed United States commissioner to investigate Indian frauds in 1871; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); died in Dayton, Ohio, October 3, 1903.

Gunn, James, a Senator from Georgia; born in Virginia in 1739; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Savannah, Ga.; served during the Revolutionary war, and as a captain of dragoons participated in the relief of Savannah, Ga., in 1782; elected to the Continental Congress, but did not serve; elected to the United States Senate in 1789; reelected in 1795 and served from March 4, 1789, to March 3, 1801; died in Louisville, Ga., July 30, 1801.

Gunn, James, a Representative from Idaho; born in County Fermanagh, Ireland, March 6, 1841; emigrated with his parents to Wisconsin; attended the common schools and attended Notre academy, Indiana; volunteered as a private in company G, twenty-seventh Wisconsin infantry, and served until the close of the Civil war; was mustered out with the rank of captain; in 1866 went to Colorado, where he resided nine years in the counties of Gilpin and Clear Creek; mayor of Georgetown, Colo., three years; went to Hailey, Idaho, in Wood River valley, in 1881; elected to the senate of the first state legislature in 1890; delegate to the Trans-Mississippi Congress in Denver, Colo.; nominated by the Populists for Congress in 1892, and again in 1894, and, though defeated each time, received a third nomination from the People's Democratic-Fusion in 1896; elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); editor of the Boise Sentinel, commandant of the Idaho Soldiers' Home 1901–1903; died in Boise, Idaho, November 5, 1911.

Gunter, Thomas Montague, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Warren county, Tenn., September 18, 1826; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Irving college in 1850; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Fayetteville, Ark., in 1853; served in the Confederate army as colonel of the thirteenth Arkansas volunteers; prosecuting attorney for the fourth judicial circuit 1866–1868; successfully contested the election of William W. Wilshire to the Forty-third Congress June 16, 1874; reelected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses, and served from June 16, 1874, to March 3, 1883; died in Fayetteville, Washington county, Ark., January 12, 1904.

Gurley, Henry H., a Representative from Louisiana; born in Lebanon, Conn., in 1787; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Williamstown college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Baton Rouge, La.; United States district judge for Louisiana; elected to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1831); died in Baton Rouge, La., in 1832.

Gurley, John Addison, a Representative from Ohio; born in East Hartford, Conn., December 9, 1813; pursued an academic course; studied theology; pastor of the Universalist Church in Methuen,

Digitized by Google

Mass., 1834–1837; moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, and became editor of the Star in the West; retired from the ministry in 1850; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); during the Civil War was upon military duty, by appointment, in Cincinnati with the rank of colonel; appointed governor of Arizona by President Lincoln, but died in Green township, near Cincinnati, Ohio, on the eve of his departure, August 19, 1863.

Gustine, Amos, a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William S. Ramsey, and served from May 31, 1841, to March 3, 1843.

Guthrie, James, a Senator from Kentucky; born in Nelson county, Ky., December 5, 1792; attended McAllister's academy, Bardstown, Ky.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Bardstown, Ky.; appointed commonwealth attorney in 1820 and moved to Louisville; member of the state legislature for several years, serving in both branches; delegate and chosen president of the Kentucky constitutional convention; president of the University of Louisville, the Louisville and Portland canal company, and the Louisville and Nashville railroad company; appointed Secretary of the Treasury March 7, 1853, and served until March 5, 1857; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1865, to February 7, 1868, when he resigned; died in Louisville, Ky., March 13, 1869.

Guyon, James, jr., a Representative from New York; born in Richmond county, N. Y., in 1777; pursued an academic course; member of the state house of representatives 1812–1814; successfully contested the election of Ebenezer Sage to the Sixteenth Congress, and served from January 14, 1820, to March 3, 1821; died in Richmond county, N. Y., March 8, 1846.

Gwin, William McKendree, a Representative from Mississippi, and a Senator from California; born in Sumner county, Tenn., October 9, 1805; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Transylvania university, Lexington, Ky.; studied and practiced medicine; moved to Mississippi, and in October, 1833, appointed United States marshal for that state; elected as a Democrat from Mississippi to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); superintendent for building the customhouse in New Orleans; moved to California June, 1849; member of the state constitutional convention in 1849; elected as a Democrat from California to the United States Senate, and served from September 9, 1850, to March 3, 1855; reelected to the United States Senate, and served from February 16, 1857, to March 3, 1861, there being a vacancy from this state from March 4, 1855, to February 16, 1857; connected with the Southern Confederacy and with the Mexican Imperial Government of Maximilian; returned to California, and engaged in agricultural pursuits; died in New York City, September 3, 1885.

Gwinnett, Button, a Delegate from Georgia; born in England in 1732; pursued an academic course; came to Charleston, S. C., in 1765; engaged in commercial pursuits; moved to St. Catherines Island, Georgia, in 1768, and engaged in planting; delegate in the Provincial Congress in Savannah in 1776; delegate in the Continental Congress 1776–1777; signer of the Declaration of Independence; member of the state constitutional convention in February, 1777; defeated for governor of Georgia; died near Savannah, Ga., May 27, 1777.

Habersham, John, a Delegate from Georgia; born in Savannah, Ga., in 1754; completed a preparatory course; became a merchant; served in the Revolutionary war as major of the first Georgia Continental regiment; member of the Continental Congress 1785–1786; appointed Indian agent by General Washington; collector of customs at Savannah 1789–1799; died near Savannah, November 19, 1799.

Habersham, Richard Wylly, a Representative from Georgia; born in Savannah, Ga., in December, 1786; was graduated from Princeton college in 1805; studied law and was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Savannah; appointed United States attorney; resigned in 1825, owing to a collision between the administration of John Quincy Adams and Governor George M. Troup; moved to Clarksville, Habersham county, in 1835; elected as a States Rights Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses and served from March 4, 1839, until his death, in Clarksville, Ga., December 2, 1842.

Hackett, Richard Nathaniel, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Wilkesboro, N. C., December 4, 1866; attended the Wilkesboro high school and the University of North Carolina; was graduated from the last-named institution in 1887; studied law and was admitted to the bar in September, 1888; chairman of the Wilkes county Democratic executive committee for several terms; member of the Democratic state executive committee fifteen years; mayor of Wilkesboro two terms; represented North Carolina at the centennial of Washington's inauguration in New York in 1889; nominee of his party for state representative in 1896; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in North Wilkesboro, N. C.

Hackett, Thomas C., a Representative from Georgia; native of that state, attended the common schools; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); died in Marietta, Ga., October 8, 1851.

Hackley, Aaron, jr., a Representative from New York; born in New Haven, Conn.; attended the public schools; was graduated from Williams college in 1805; county clerk three years; judge advocate of War of 1812; member of the state house of representatives 1814–1815, and 1818; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); moved to Herkimer, N. Y.; district attorney of Herkimer county 1828–1833; again a member of the state house of representatives in 1837; justice county court of St. Lawrence county, N. Y.; died in New York City, December 28, 1868.

Hackney, Thomas, a Representative from Missouri; born in Giles county, Tenn., December 11, 1861; attended the common schools of Jackson county, the Southern Illinois normal university, at Carbondale, and the Missouri state university, at Columbia; was admitted to the bar September 18, 1886; interested in zinc and lead mines in the Joplin district; chairman of the house judiciary committee in the state legislature, session 1901; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Carthage, Mo.

Digitized by Google

Hadley, William Flavius Lester, a Representative from Illinois; born near Collinsville, Ill., June 15, 1847; attended the common schools and McKendree college, Lebanon, from which he was graduated in June, 1867; was graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan in 1871; elected as a Republican to the state senate in 1886; one of the four delegates at large from Illinois to the Republican national convention at Chicago in 1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Frederick Remann, and served from March 4, 1895, to March 3, 1897; died in Riverside, Cal., April 25, 1901.

Hagans, John Marshall, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Brandonville, Va., August 13, 1838; attended the public schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1859; elected prosecuting attorney for Monongalia county in 1862; reelected in 1863, 1864, and 1870; law reporter for the supreme court of appeals from January, 1864, to March 4, 1873; mayor of Morgantown, 1866, 1867, and 1869; presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1868; member of the state constitutional convention in 1871; elected to the Forty-third Congress and served from January 27, 1874, to March 3, 1875; his election was unsuccessfully contested by Benjamin F. Martin; died in Morgantown, W. Va., June 17, 1900.

Hager, Alva Lysander, a Representative from Iowa; born near Jamestown, Chautauqua county, N. Y., October 29, 1850; in 1859 his family moved to Iowa and settled near Cottonville, Jackson county; removed to Jones county in 1863; attended the common schools and high schools of Monticello and Anamosa; was graduated from the law school, Iowa City, in 1875; elected to the state senate in 1891; chairman of the Iowa Republican state convention of 1892; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1899); resumed the practice of law in Greenfield, Iowa; moved to Des Moines, Iowa, and engaged in the practice of law.

Hager John, Sharpenstein, a Senator from California; born in German Valley, Morris county, N. J., March 12, 1818; completed preparatory studies and was graduated from Princeton college in 1836; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1840, and practiced in Morristown, N. J., eight years; emigrated to California in 1849; member of the state constitutional convention in 1849; served in the state legislature in 1852; elected judge for the district of San Francisco in 1855 and served six years; elected to the state senate in 1865, 1867, and 1873; regent of the state university; elected to the United States Senate as an Anti-Monopoly Democrat, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Eugene Casserly, and served from February 9, 1874, to March 3, 1875; member of the second state constitutional convention in 1879; collector of customs of the port of San Francisco, Cal., 1885–1889; died in San Francisco, Cal., March 19, 1890.

Haggott, Warren Armstrong, a Representative from Colorado; born in Franklin township, Shelby county, Ohio, May 18, 1864; attended the common schools, the Sidney grammar school, Xenia college, Xenia, Ohio, and was graduated from Valparaiso college, Valparaiso, Ind., in 1886; taught school; moved to Idaho Springs, Colo., in 1887; superintendent of the public schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1892, and commenced practice in Idaho Springs, Colo.; lieutenant governor of Colorado 1903–1905; chairman of the Republican state convention, May 6, 1904; member of the American bar association and of the American institute of mining engineers; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Denver, Colo

Hahn, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; a native of Pennsylvania; elected to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817).

Hahn, Michael, Representative from Louisiana; born in Bavaria, November 24, 1830; emigrated to the United States and located in New Orleans, La.; attended the public schools and was graduated from the law department of the University of Louisiana April 7, 1851; elected to the Thirty-seventh Congress, but was not admitted to his seat until the 7th of February, 1863, and served until March 3, 1863; appointed prize commissioner of New Orleans; elected governor of Louisiana on March 4, 1864; elected to the state legislature in 1872, 1874, and 1876; appointed state register of voters on the 15th of August, 1876; superintendent of the United States mint at New Orleans in 1878; elected district judge in November, 1879, and reelected in 1884 and served until March 3, 1885, when he resigned; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth Congress and served from March 4, 1885, until his death, in Washington, D. C., March 15, 1886.

Haight, Charles, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Colts Neck, N. J., January 4, 1838; was graduated from Princeton college in 1857; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the New Jersey state legislature in 1861 and 1862, and served the last year as speaker of the house; commissioned brigadier general of militia in 1861; throughout the Civil War was active in raising, equipping, and sending troops to the seat of war; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); elected prosecutor for Monmouth county in 1879 and served until his death in Freehold, N. J., August 1, 1891.

Haight, Edward, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, N. Y., March 26, 1817; completed preparatory studies; engaged in the wholesale dry-goods business; removed to West Chester, N. Y., in 1850; president of a banking institution; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); retired from active business pursuits; died in West Chester, N. Y., September 15, 1885.

Haile, William, a Representative from Mississippi; born in 1797; moved to Mississippi and located at Woodville; elected to the Nineteenth Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Christopher Rankin; reelected to the Twentieth Congress, and served from December 4, 1826, until 1828, when he resigned; died in Woodville, Miss., March 7, 1837.

Hailey, John, a Delegate from the Territory of Idaho; born in Smith county, Tenn., August 29, 1835; attended the common schools; moved with his parents to Dade county, Mo., in 1848; crossed the plains to Oregon in 1853; went in 1862 to what is now Idaho; engaged in farming and stock raising and mining; elected as a Democrat a Delegate to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); elected to the legislative council of Idaho in 1880 and was its president; reelected a Delegate to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); appointed warden of Idaho penitentiary.

Digitized by Google

Hainer, Eugene J., a Representative from Nebraska; born in Funfkirchen, Hungary, August 16, 1851; emigrated to the United States with his parents in 1854; spent his boyhood on a farm near Garden Grove, Iowa, until 1873; attended the Garden Grove seminary and Iowa agricultural college; was graduated from the law department of Simpson centenary college, Indianola, Iowa, in 1876; moved to Aurora, Nebr., in 1877, and engaged in the practice of law; became interested in banking and in a line of creameries in southern Nebraska; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); a resident of Lincoln, Nebr.

Haines, Charles Delemere, a Representative from New York; born in Medusa, Albany county, N. Y., June 9, 1856; moved with his parents to Coxsackie; attended the common schools; studied telegraphy and became train dispatcher, assistant superintendent, and superintendent of a railroad; at 26 he turned his attention to building street railways and associated with him his four brothers, under the firm name of Haines Brothers, who built thirty-six street railways in thirteen States; located in Kinderhook in 1888 and built the Kinderhook and Hudson Railway; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); a resident of New York City.

Haldeman, Richard Jacobs, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Harrisburg, Pa., May 19, 1831; was graduated from Yale college in 1851; attaché of the legation at Paris in 1853 and later occupied a similar position at St. Petersburg; returned to Harrisburg and purchased the Daily and Weekly Patriot and Union and was its editor until 1860; delegate to the Baltimore and Charleston conventions in 1860; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); died in Harrisburg, Pa., October 1, 1885.

Hale, Artemas, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Winchendon, Mass., October 20, 1783; received a limited education and worked on a farm; taught school in Hingham, Mass., 1804–1814; became interested in manufacturing in Bridgewater; served several terms in both branches of the legislature; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1853; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); presidential elector on the Lincoln and Johnson ticket in 1864; died in Bridgewater, Mass., August 3, 1882.

Hale, Eugene, a Representative and a Senator from Maine; born in Turner, Oxford county, Me., June 9, 1836; completed a preparatory course; studied law in Portland, Me., was admitted to the bar in 1857, and commenced practice in Ellsworth, Me.; for nine successive years county attorney for Hancock county; a member of the legislature of Maine in 1867, 1868, and 1880; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first, Forty-second, Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1879); chairman of the Republican congressional committee; declined the appointment of Postmaster General in 1874; delegate to the Cincinnati convention in 1876 and the Chicago conventions in 1868 and 1880; declined a cabinet portfolio tendered by President Hayes; elected to the United States Senate as a Republican; reelected in 1887, 1893, 1899, and 1905, and served from March 4, 1881, until March 3, 1911; member of the National Monetary Commission; retired and is a resident of Ellsworth, Me.

Hale, James T., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Bradford county, Pa., October, 1810; studied law, and in 1832 was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Bellefonte, Pa.; appointed president judge of the twentieth judicial district; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, and Thirty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1865); died in Bellefonte, Pa., April 7, 1865.

Hale, John Blackwell, a Representative from Missouri; born in Brooks (now Hancock) county, W. Va., February 27, 1831; attended the country schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Carrollton; member of the state legislature 1856–1858; presidential elector on the Douglas ticket in 1860; colonel of the sixty-fifth regiment Missouri militia and of the fourth prosional regiment of Missouri militia in the United States service during the Civil War; delegate to the Democratic national conventions in 1864 and 1868; presidential elector on the Greeley ticket 1872; member of the Missouri constitutional convention of 1875; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); died in Carrollton, Mo., February 1, 1905.

Hale, John Parker, a Representative and a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Rochester, N. H., March 31, 1806; in 1827 was graduated from Bowdoin college; studied law, and in 1830 was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Dover, N. H.; member of the state house of representatives in 1832; appointed United States attorney in 1834, but was removed by President Tyler in 1840; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); elected to the legislature in 1846, and chosen speaker; elected as an anti-slavery man to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1847, to March 3, 1853; Free Soil candidate for the Presidency in 1852; again elected to the Senate in 1855 to fill vacancy caused by the death of Jared W. Williams; reelected in 1859 and served from July 30, 1855, until March 3, 1865; appointed minister to Spain and served from March, 1865, to July, 1869; returned to Dover, N. H., and died there, November 19, 1873.

Hale, Nathan Wesley, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Scott county, Va., February 11, 1860; attended the schools of Nicholasville, Va., and Kingsley academy in Tennessee; engaged in the nursery business; was elected to the lower house of the general assembly of Tennessee in 1890, elected to the state senate in 1892; unsuccessful candidate for Congress in 1902; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1909); engaged in the oil and real estate business.

Hale, Robert Safford, a Representative from New York; born in Chelsea, Vt., September 24, 1822; was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1842; studied law and admitted to the bar; began practice in Elizabethtown, N. Y., in 1847; judge of Essex county 1856–1864; appointed a regent of the University of New York in 1859; presidential elector in 1860; special counsel of the United States 1868–1870; agent and counsel for the United States before the American and British mixed commission under the treaty of Washington 1871–1873; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Orlando Kellogg; elected to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); died in Elizabethtown, N. Y., December 14, 1881.

Digitized by Google

Hale, Salma, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Alstead, Cheshire county, N. H., March 7, 1787; became a printer, and in 1805 edited the Walpole Political Observatory; studied law; appointed clerk of the Cheshire county court of common pleas; moved to Keene in 1813; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); clerk of the supreme court of New Hampshire, May 1817, to May, 1834; was admitted to the bar in October, 1834; secretary to the boundary commission appointed under the treaty of Ghent; served several terms as a member of the state legislature; died in Somerville, Mass., November 19, 1866.

Hale, William, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Portsmouth, N. H., August 6, 1765; attended good English schools; was a merchant and ship owner, member of both branches of the state legislature, and of the governor's council; elected as a Federalist to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811); elected on the peace ticket to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); died in Dover, N. H., November 8, 1848.

Haley, Elisha, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Groton, Conn., January 21, 1776; attended the public schools; served in the Connecticut general assembly 1820,1824, 1826, 1829, 1833–1834; in the state senate in 1830; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); died in Groton, Conn., January 22, 1860.

Hall, Augustus, a Representative from Iowa; born in Batavia, N. Y., April 29, 1814; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1836, and commenced practice in Marysville, Ohio, in 1837; county attorney 1840–1842; moved to Keosauqua, Iowa, in 1844; presidential elector on the Pierce and King ticket in 1852; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); appointed by President Buchanan chief justice of Nebraska; died near Bellevue, Nebr., February 1, 1861.

Hall, Benton Jay, a Representative from Iowa; born in Mount Vernon, Knox county, Ohio, January 13, 1835, moved with his parents to Iowa in December, 1840; attended Knox college, Illinois, and was graduated from Miami university, Ohio, in 1855; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the lower house of the general assembly of Iowa 1872–1873; member of the state senate 1882–1886, elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); defeated for reelection; appointed commissioner of patents by President Cleveland; died in Burlington, Iowa, January 5, 1894.

Hall, Bolling, a Representative from Georgia; born in Georgia in 1789; pursued classical studies; held several local offices; member of the state legislature for several years; elected as a War Democrat to the Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1817); retired to private life, moved to Alabama and engaged in planting near Montgomery; died March 25, 1836.

Hall, Chapin, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ellicott, Chautauqua county, N. Y., July 12, 1816; attended the public schools; moved to Warren, Pa., and engaged in lumbering and mercantile pursuits; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861).

Hall, Darwin Scott, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Wheatland, Kenosha county, Wis., January 23, 1844; attended the common schools and the academy at Elgin, Ill., and Markham's (Milwaukee) academy; farmer; settled in Minnesota in 1866; elected auditor of Renville county in 1868 and 1870; clerk of the district court 1873–1877; elected to the state house of representatives in 1876; appointed register of the United States land office at Benson, Minn., in 1878 and 1882; elected to the state senate in 1886 for a term of four years; served in company K, forty-second Wisconsin volunteer infantry, as a private during the civil war; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); appointed chairman of the Chippewa Indian commission by President Harrison in 1891; delegate to the Republican national convention in Minneapolis in 1892; again elected to the state senate in 1906; engaged in agricultural pursuits near Olivia, Minn.

Hall, George, a Representative from New York; native of New Haven, Conn.; attended the public schools; moved to Onondaga, N. Y.; surrogate of Onongada county 1800–1810 and 1811–1822; member of the state house of representatives in 1816; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821).

Hall, Hiland, a Representative from Vermont; born in Bennington, Vt., July 20, 1795; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1819, and commenced practice in Bennington; member of the state house of representatives in 1827; clerk of Benton county 1828–1829; state attorney 1828–1831; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1843); state bank commissioner 1843–1846; judge of the state supreme court 1846–1850; Second Comptroller of the Treasury November 27, 1850, to September 10, 1851; United States land commissioner for California, 1851–1854; returned to Vermont; governor of Vermont 1858–1860; delegate to the peace congress of 1861; died in Springfield, Mass., December 18, 1885.

Hall, James Knox Polk, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Milesburg, Center county, Pa., September 30, 1844, educated in Pittsburgh, Pa.; studied law, was admitted to the bar November 8, 1866; elected district attorney of Elk county in 1867; reelected in 1870 and in 1873; retired from practice in 1883, and devoted himself to coal, lumber, railroad, and banking business; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses and served from March 4, 1899 until November 29, 1902, when he resigned; elected to the state senate, which position he now holds.

Hall, Joseph, a Representative from Maine; born in Methuen, Essex county, Mass., June 26, 1793; attended Andover academy; moved to Camden, Me., in 1809; engaged in mercantile pursuits; sheriff, and held other local offices; postmaster at

Digitized by Google

Camden four years; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833-March 3, 1837); navy agent at Boston 1849-1853; clerk in the Boston customhouse; died in Boston, Mass., December 31, 1859.

Hall, Joshua Gilman, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Wakefield, N. H., November 5, 1828; was graduated from Dartmouth college in July, 1851; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1855, and practiced in Wakefield and Dover, N. H.; solicitor of the county of Strafford from June, 1862, to June, 1874; mayor of Dover, 1866-1867; member of the state senate 1871-1872; served in the state house of representatives in 1874; attorney of the United States for the district of Hampshire from April, 1874, to February, 1879; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879-March 3, 1883); died in Dover, N. H., October 31, 1898.

Hall, Lawrence Washington, a Representative from Ohio; born in Lake county, Ohio, in 1819; was graduated from Hudson college in 1839; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1843, and commenced practice in Bucyrus, Ohio, in 1844; elected prosecuting attorney of Crawford county, and served 1845-1851; judge of the court of common pleas 1851-1856; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857-March 3, 1859); unsuccessful candidate for the Thirty-sixth Congress; imprisoned for alleged disloyalty to the Union in 1862, died in Bucyrus, Ohio, January 18, 1863.

Hall, Lyman, a delegate from Georgia; born in Wallingford, Conn., April 12, 1724; was graduated from Yale college in 1747; studied medicine, and began practice in Wallingford, and later in Dorchester and Sunbury, Ga.; member of the conventions of 1774 and 1775, held in Savannah; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1775-1780; a signer of the Declaration of Independence; returned home, and lost his property by British confiscation; resumed residence in Savannah; governor of Georgia in 1783; again practiced medicine; judge of the inferior court of Chatham county; moved to Burke county in 1790; died in Burke county, Ga., October 19, 1790; final interment in Augusta, Ga.

Hall, Nathan Kelsey, a Representative from New York; born in Marcellus, N. Y., March 10, 1810; studied law in Buffalo with Millard Fillmore; was admitted to the bar in 1832, and practiced; judge of Erie county from January, 1841, to January, 1845; member of the state house of representatives in 1846; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847-March 3, 1849); appointed Postmaster General, and served from July 23, 1850, to August 31, 1852; appointed United States district judge for the western district of New York, and held the position until his death, in Buffalo, N. Y., March 2, 1874.

Hall, Norman, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born on the Muncy Farms, Lycoming county, Pa., November 17, 1829; was graduated from Dickinson college in 1847; engaged in the iron business; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887-March 3, 1889); engaged in banking business in Sharon, Pa.; member of the commission to select site and erect institution for "The feeble-minded children of western Pennsylvania;" retired from active business and is a resident of Sharon, Pa.

Hall, Obed, a Representative from New Hampshire; was elected to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811-March 3, 1813); died in Bartlett, N. H., April 1, 1828.

Hall, Osee Matson, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Conneaut, Ohio, September 10, 1847; was graduated from Williams college in 1868; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Red Wing, Minn.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891-March 3, 1895).

Hall, Philo, a Representative from South Dakota; born in Wilton, Waseca county, Minn., December 31, 1865; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar; state's attorney for Brookings county, 1892-1898; member of the state senate 1901; attorney general of South Dakota 1902-1906; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907-March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Brookings, S. Dak.

Hall, Robert Bernard, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., January 28, 1812; entered the Boston public Latin school in 1822, and studied theology in New Haven, 1833-1834; ordained to the ministry, first as an orthodox Congregationalist, and then as an Episcopalian; was one of the twelve original members of Garrison's Anti-Slavery Society in 1832; moved to Plymouth, Mass.; member of the state senate in 1855; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress and as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1855-March 3, 1859); delegate to the Union convention at Philadelphia in 1866; died in Plymouth, Mass., April 15, 1868.

Hall, Thomas H., a Representative from North Carolina; born in Edgecombe county, N. C., in 1783; studied medicine and practiced in Tarboro; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1817-March 3, 1835); member of the state senate in 1836; died in Tarboro, N. C., June 30, 1853.

Hall, Uriel Sebree, a Representative from Missouri; born in Randolph county, Mo., April 12, 1852; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Mount Pleasant college, at Huntsville, Mo.; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893-March 3, 1897); president of Pritchett college, Glasgow, Mo.

Hall, Willard, a Representative from Delaware; born in Westford, Mass., December 24, 1780; was graduated from Harvard college in 1799; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1803 and commenced practice in Wilmington, Del.; secretary of state of Delaware 1811-1814; elected to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses and served from March 4, 1817, until January 22, 1821, when he resigned; again secretary of state in 1821; member of the state house of representatives in 1822; United States district judge for Delaware 1823-1872, when he resigned; died in Wilmington, Del., May 11, 1875.

Hall, Willard Preble, a Representative from Missouri; born in Harpers Ferry, Va., May 9, 1820; was graduated from Yale in 1839; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; moved to Sparta, Buchanan county, Mo., and practiced law, and when county seat was moved, went to St. Joseph, Mo., appointed circuit attorney; served in the Mexican war in the first Missouri cavalry; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth, Thirty-first, and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1853; resumed the practice of law in St. Joseph, Mo.; unsuccessful candidate for the United States Senate in 1856; lieutenant governor of Missouri in 1861–1862, and acting governor 1864–1865; died in St. Joseph, Mo., November 3, 1882.

Digitized by Google

Hall, William, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Virginia in 1774; moved to Green Garden, Tenn.; served in the Indian wars and the War of 1812; member of the state legislature for several years, and speaker of the senate; governor of Tennessee in 1820; major-general of militia; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); died in Green Garden, Tenn., in October, 1856.

Hall, William A., a Representative from Missouri; native of Maine; went to Virginia and then to Missouri in 1841; presidential elector in 1844; judge of the circuit court in 1847; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1861; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the expulsion of John B. Clark; reelected to the Thirty-eighth Congress and served from January 20, 1862, to March 3, 1865; delegate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1864.

Hallock, John, jr., a Representative from New York; born in Orange county, N. Y., in July, 1783; member of the state house of representatives in 1816–1821; member of the state constitutional convention in 1821; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); died in Ridgebury, N. Y., December 6, 1840.

Halloway, Ransom, a Representative from New York; native of Dutchess county, N. Y.; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); died in Mount Pleasant, Md., April 6, 1851.

Hallowell, Edwin, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Abington, Montgomery county, Pa., in 1844; attended the public schools; elected member of the state legislature in 1876; reelected in 1878; chairman of the Democratic county committee of Montgomery county in 1886; delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893).

Halsell, John Edward, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Warren county, Ky., September 11, 1826; educated at Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Bowling Green in 1856; elected county attorney for Warren county and served four years; elected circuit judge of the fourth judicial district of Kentucky in 1870; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); died in Fort Worth, Tex., December 26, 1899.

Halsey, George Armstrong, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Springfield, N. J., December 7, 1827; attended the Springfield academy; leather manufacturer in Newark in 1844 and then engaged in the wholesale clothing business, again taking up the leather business in 1866; member of the state assembly of New Jersey in 1861 and 1862; United States assessor of internal revenue 1862–1866; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); reelected to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died in Newark, N. J., April 1, 1894.

Halsey, Jehiel H., a Representative from New York; native of Lodi, N. Y.; attended the public schools; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); member of the state senate 1832–1835; surrogate 1837–1843.

Halsey, Nicoll, a Representative from New York; native of Seneca county, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1824; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835).

Halsey, Silas, a Representative from New York; native of New York; attended the public schools; member of the state house of representatives from Onandaga county in 1797 and 1798; moved to Cayuga county; again a member of the state house of representatives 1800–1801, 1803, and 1804; member of the state constitutional convention in 1801; elected to the Ninth Congress (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1807); served in the state senate in 1809.

Halstead, William, a Representative from New Jersey; native of New Jersey; was graduated from Princeton college in 1812; was admitted to the bar in 1816, and practiced; prosecutor of Hunterdon county 1833 to 1837; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); presented credentials as a member-elect to the Twenty-sixth Congress but was refused admittance; reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); United States district attorney for New Jersey; many years a court reporter; raised the first regiment of cavalry in New Jersey for the Civil War and served as colonel; died in Trenton, N. J., March 4, 1878.

Halterman, Frederick, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Vegesack on the Weser, part of the old Hanse town of Bremen, Germany, October 22, 1831; attended the high school; emigrated to Philadelphia September, 1849; engaged in the grocery business, from which he retired in 1891; elected a member of the select council in 1880 for a term of three years; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); elected president of the twelfth sectional school board of Philadelphia, Pa.; died in Philadelphia, Pa., March 22, 1907.

Halvorson, Kittel, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Telemarken, Norway, Europe, December 15, 1846; emigrated to the United States with his parents in 1848 and settled in Wisconsin; attended the public schools; entered the military service in 1863, during the Civil War, enlisting in company C, first regiment Wisconsin heavy artillery, and served until the close of the war; moved to Minnesota in November, 1865, and settled in Stearns county; engaged in farming and stock raising; member of the state house of representatives in 1887; elected by the Farmers' Alliance and Prohibitionists to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893).

Hambleton, Samuel, a Representative from Maryland; born at "Waterloo" farm in Talbot county, Md., January 8, 1812; educated by private tutors and attended Easton academy; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1833 and commenced practice in Easton; member of the state house of delegates in 1834 and 1835; appointed states attorney of Talbot county October 24, 1836, and served eight years; served in the state senate 1844–1850; presidential elector in 1844; president of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal in 1853 and 1854; again a member of the state house of delegates in 1853; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); died in Easton, Md., December 29, 1889.

Digitized by Google

Hamer, Thomas L., a Representative from Ohio; native of Pennsylvania; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1821 and commenced practice in Georgetown, Ohio; for several years member of the Ohio house of representatives and served one year as speaker; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1839; nominated Ulysses S. Grant to be a cadet at West Point; volunteered as a private in the Mexican war, and received the next day the commission of brigadier-general; died in the service at Monterey, Mexico, December 2, 1846; on March 2, 1847 Congress passed a resolution of sorrow and as an expression of their deep regret presented his nearest male relative with a sword.

Hamer, Thomas Ray, a Representative from Idaho; born in Vermont, Idaho, May 4, 1864; attended public schools, Hedding college, and the Bloomington law school; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in St. Anthony, Idaho, in 1893; volunteered in April, 1898, in the first Idaho volunteer infantry in the war with Spain; served as captain and lieutenant-colonel in that regiment; military governor of the Island of Cebu; associate justice of the supreme court of the Philippine Islands; mustered out in San Francisco, Cal., as lieutenant-colonel of the Thirty-seventh United States volunteer infantry May 27, 1901; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in St. Anthony, Idaho.

Hamill, James Alphonsus, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Jersey City, N. J., March 30, 1877; was graduated from St. Peter's college, Jersey City, in 1897, attended the New York law school, and was admitted to the bar in 1900; member of the New Jersey house of assembly 1902–1906; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911); delegate to the Democratic national convention of 1908; in Denver, Colo. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hamill, Patrick, a Representative from Maryland; born in Green Glades, Allegany county, Md., April 28, 1817; attended private schools; appointed collector of taxes in 1841 and 1842; member of the state house of representatives in 1843 and 1844; judge of the orphan's court of Allegany county and served seven years; engaged in farming and mercantile pursuits; elected chief judge of the orphan's court of Allegany in 1867; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); died in Oakland, Garrett county, Md., January 15, 1895.

Hamilton, Alexander, a Delegate from New York; born on the island of Nevis, British West Indies, January 11, 1757; came to the United States in 1772, where he received educational training in the schools of Elizabethtown, N. J., and King's college, N. Y.; entered the Continental army in New York in 1776 as captain of artillery; appointed aid-de-camp to General Washington March 1, 1777; elected to the Continental Congress 1782-1783, and 1787–1788; member of the Annapolis convention of 1786; member of the New York legislature 1787; member of the Philadelphia constitutional convention of 1787; member of the state constitutional convention in 1788; studied law, admitted to the bar and engaged in practice in New York City; Secretary of the Treasury under President Washington 1789–1795; returned to New York and resumed the practice of law; mortally wounded in a duel with Aaron Burr at Weehawken, on the Hudson, and died in New York City the following day, July 12, 1804.

Hamilton, Andrew Holman, a Representative from Indiana; born in Fort Wayne, Ind., June 7, 1834; attended the common schools and was graduated from Wabash college; studied law at the Harvard law school, was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Fort Wayne, Ind., elected to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); died in Fort Wayne, Ind., May 9, 1895.

Hamilton, Andrew Jackson, a Representative from Texas; born in Madison county, Ala., January 28, 1815; pursued preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; clerk of the county court; moved to Texas in 1846 and practiced law in Lagrange; attorney-general of the state; presidential elector on the Buchanan and Breckinridge ticket in 1856; elected as an Independent Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); brigadier-general of volunteers, November 14, 1862; appointed by President Lincoln military governor of Texas in 1862; appointed provisional governor by President Johnson in 1865; justice of the supreme court of Texas in 1866; delegate to the loyalists' convention at Philadelphia in 1866; died in Austin, Tex., April 10, 1875.

Hamilton, Charles M., a Representative from Florida; born in Clinton county, Pa., November 1, 1840; studied law; served in the Union army and was wounded at Gaines' Mills, Antietam, and Fredericksburg; detailed a judge advocate; was admitted to the bar, began the practice of law in 1868; elected as a Republican upon the readmission of the state of Florida, to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses, and served from July 1, 1868, to March 3, 1871.

Hamilton, Cornelius Springer, a Representative from Ohio; born in Muskingum county, Ohio, January 2, 1821; attended the common schools; and Granville, Ohio college; moved to Union county in 1839; studied law and was admitted to the bar; engaged in farming and banking in connection with the practice of his profession; appointed land appraiser and assessor in 1845; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1850; member of the state senate in 1856; editor and proprietor of the Marysville Tribune; appointed by President Lincoln assessor of the eighth congressional district of Ohio; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress and served from March 4, 1867 until called home to attend a son who had become insane, and was killed by him in Marysville, Ohio, December 22, 1867.

Hamilton, Daniel Webster, a Representative from Iowa; born in Ogle county, Ill., December

Digitized by Google

20, 1861; in 1868 moved to Miami county, Kans., removed to Keokuk county, Iowa, in 1874; attended the common schools and was graduated from the law department of the State University, Iowa City, in June, 1884; was admitted to the bar, and commenced the practice of law in Sigourney, Iowa; twice the Democratic candidate for district judge in his judicial district; postmaster of Sigourney 1894–1898; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Sigourney, Iowa.

Hamilton, Edward La Rue, a Representative from Michigan; born in Niles township, Berrien county, Mich., December 9, 1857; attended the common schools, and was graduated from the Niles high school in 1876; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1884, and commenced practice in Niles, Mich.; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hamilton, James, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., May 8, 1786; completed academic studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Charleston; served in the War of 1812 as major; mayor of Charleston; served several terms in the state house of representatives; elected to the Seventeenth Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William Lowndes, as a State Rights Free Trader; reelected to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1829); governor of South Carolina 1830–1832; moved to Texas; drowned while on his way from New Orleans to Galveston, November 15, 1857.

Hamilton, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Washington county, Pa., in 1763; sheriff for several years; elected to the Ninth Congress (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1807); died at his home in Washington county, Pa., August 31, 1837.

Hamilton, John Taylor, a Representative from Iowa; born October 16, 1843, on a farm near Genesco, Henry county, Ill.; moved to Iowa in 1868; engaged in business; mayor of Cedar Rapids; member of the board of supervisors; three times a member of the state legislature, and speaker of the house; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); engaged in the banking business in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Hamilton, Morgan Calvin, a Senator from Texas; born near Huntsville, Ala., February 25, 1809; moved to the Republic of Texas in 1837; clerk in the war department 1839–1845; acted as secretary of war for three years; appointed comptroller of the treasury of Texas in 1867; delegate to the constitutional convention in 1868; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate on the reconstruction of Texas; reelected and served from March 31, 1870, to March 3, 1877; died in San Diego, Cal., November 21, 1893.

Hamilton, Robert, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Hamburg, Sussex county, N. J., December 9, 1809; studied law and was admitted to the bar; for fifteen years prosecutor of pleas; member of the legislature 1863 and 1864, and served the last year as speaker; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1877); engaged in the banking business in Newton, N. J.; director of the Morris and Essex Railroad Co.; died in Newton, Sussex county, N. J., March 14, 1878.

Hamilton, William Tiffany, a Representative and a Senator from Maryland; born in Washington county, Md., September 8, 1820; attended Jefferson college, Pennsylvania; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1843, and began practice in Hagerstown; member of the state assembly in 1848; Cass presidential elector in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first, Thirty-second, and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1855); elected a United States Senator from Maryland, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William Pinkney Whyte, and served from March 4, 1869, to March 3, 1875; governor of Maryland 1879–1883; died in Hagerstown, Md., October 26, 1888.

Hamlin, Courtney Walker, a Representative from Missouri; born in Brevard, N. C., October 27, 1858; moved with his parents to Missouri in 1869; attended the common schools and Salem (Mo.) academy; studied law, and was admitted to the bar March 21, 1882; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hamlin, Edward Stowe, a Representative from Ohio; born in Hillsdale, Columbia county, N. Y., July 6, 1808; attended the schools of Elyria, Ohio, and pursued an academic course in Hudson, N. Y.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Elyria, Ohio; prosecuting attorney of Lorain county 1833–1835; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Henry R. Brinkerhoff, and served from December 2, 1844, to March 3, 1845; moved to Cleveland, Ohio, in 1844 and established the True Democrat, subsequently merged into the Cleveland Leader; member of the Free Soil convention in Buffalo; president of the board of public works 1849–1852; attorney for the state to arrange the water leases of the canals, collect and readjust water rents; declined the appointment of attorney general of Ohio tendered by Governor Chase in 1855; died in Washington, D. C., November 23, 1894.

Hamlin, Hannibal, a Representative and a Senator from Maine; born in Paris, Oxford county, Me., August 27, 1809; prepared for a collegiate education, but was obliged by the death of his father to take charge of his home farm until he was of age; in a printing office for a year as a compositor; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1833, and practiced in Hampden, Penobscot county, until 1848; member of the legislature of Maine in 1836, 1837, 1838, 1839, 1840, and 1847, and served as speaker of the house in 1837, 1839, and 1840; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); elected to the United States Senate in 1848, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John Fairfield; reelected in 1851 and served from May 26, 1848, to January 7, 1857, when he resigned, elected as a Republican governor of Maine; resigned the governorship a month later; reelected to the United States Senate in 1857, and served from March 4, 1857, until he resigned, January 17, 1861; elected Vice President of the United States on the ticket with Abraham Lincoln, and presided over the Senate from March 4, 1861, to March 3, 1865; appointed collector of the port of Boston in 1865, but resigned in 1866; again elected to the United States Senate in 1869; reelected in 1875, and served from March 4, 1869, until March 3, 1881; United States minister to Spain 1881–1882; chosen a regent of the Smithsonian Institution in 1870; died in Bangor, Me., July 4, 1891.

Digitized by Google

Hammett, William H., a Representative from Mississippi, native of Virginia; studied theology; chaplain of the University of Virginia and the House of Representatives; moved to Princeton, Miss.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845).

Hammond, Edward, a Representative from Maryland; born at "Fort Hill," near Ellicott City, Howard county, Md., March 17, 1812; attended the common schools, Rockhill academy, and was graduated from Yale college in 1830; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1833 and commenced practice in Annapolis, Md.; served in the state house of delegates; member of the state senate in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); again elected to the state legislature in 1862 and 1867; elected associate judge of the fifth judicial district in 1867; died at "Fort Hill," near Ellicott City, Md., October 19, 1882.

Hammond, Jabez Delno, a Representative from New York; born in New Bedford, Mass., August 2, 1778; attended the preparatory schools; studied medicine, and began practice in Reading, Vt., in 1799; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Cherry Valley, N. Y., in 1805; elected as a Democrat to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); served in the state senate 1817–1821; moved to Albany, where he resumed the practice of law 1822–1839; returned to Cherry Valley; elected judge of Otsego county, N. Y., in 1838, and served five years; died in Cherry Valley, N. Y., August 18, 1855.

Hammond, James Henry, a Representative and a Senator from South Carolina; born in Newbury District, S. C., November 15, 1807; was graduated from the South Carolina college in 1825; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1827; appointed a member of the governor's staff in 1833; elected to the Twenty-fourth Congress, and served from March 4, 1825, until February 16, 1836, when he resigned; governor of South Carolina 1842–1844; elected to the United States Senate and served from December 7, 1857, to November 11, 1860, when he retired; died in Beach Island, S. C., November 13, 1864.

Hammond, John, a Representative from New York; born at Crown Point, N. Y., August 27, 1827; was graduated from the Polytechnic institute in Troy, N. Y.; pioneer in California in 1849; volunteered as private in the Civil war; promoted to captain of cavalry, and advanced to brigadier general; a manufacturer of iron for twenty-five years; president of the Crown Point Iron company; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); died May 28, 1889.

Hammond, Nathaniel Job, a Representative from Georgia; born in Elbert county, Ga., December 26, 1833; was graduated from the University of Georgia at Athens in 1852; solicitor general 1861–1865; reporter of the supreme court 1867–1872; attorney general 1872–1877; member of the constitutional conventions of 1865 and 1877; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1887); died in April, 1899.

Hammond, Robert H., a Representative from Pennsylvania; a native of that state; elected as a Van Buren Democrat to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841).

Hammond, Samuel, a Representative from Georgia; born in Richmond county, Va., September 21, 1757; served in the Revolutionary army; settled in Savannah; surveyor general of Georgia; served in the Creek war and commanded a corps of Georgia volunteers; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Eighth Congress (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1805); civil and military governor of upper Louisiana territory 1805–1824; receiver of public moneys in St. Louis; moved in 1824 to South Carolina; a member of the state legislature; surveyor general in 1825; secretary of state of South Carolina 1831–1835; died near Augusta, Ga., September 11, 1842.

Hammond, Thomas, a Representative from Indiana; born February 27, 1843, in Fitchburg, Mass.; attended the common schools; a carpenter and contractor until twenty-one years of age; moved to Detroit, Mich., and engaged in the packing-house business; twelve years later moved to Hammond, Ind., and assisted in the establishment of the dressed-beef industry for which that city is noted; elected mayor of Hammond in the spring of 1888, and twice reelected; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); died in Hammond, Ind., September 21, 1909.

Hammond, Winfield Scott, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Southboro, Worcester county, Mass., November 17, 1863; attended the public schools; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1884; moved to Minnesota; taught school in Madelia, Minn.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1891, and commenced practice in St. James, Minn.; county attorney of Watonwan county; member of the state board of normal school directors eight years; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hammons, David, a Representative from Maine; born in Oxford county, Me., May 12, 1808; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1836, and began practice in Lovell, Me.; member of the state senate 1840–1841; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); resumed practice in Bethel, Me., and died there November 7, 1888.

Hammons, Joseph, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Cornish, Me., March 3, 1737; attended the public schools; studied medicine and began practice in Farmington, N. H.; elected to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1833); postmaster at Dover, N. H., 1833–1836; died in Farmington, N. H., March 29, 1836.

Hampton, James Giles, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Bridgeton, N. J., June 13, 1814; was graduated from Princeton college in 1835; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1839; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); collector of the port of Bridgeton, N. J.; died in Bridgeton, N. J., September 22, 1861.

Digitized by Google

Hampton, Moses, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Beaver, Beaver county, Pa., October 28, 1803; moved to Trumbull county, Ohio; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Washington college, Pennsylvania in 1827; studied law at Uniontown, was admitted to the bar in 1829, and began practice in Somerset; moved in 1838 to Pittsburgh and resumed the practice of law; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847-March 3, 1851); president judge of the Allegheny county district court 1853-1873; died at his home "Hampton Place," adjoining the village of Wilkinsburg, Allegheny county, Pa., June 27, 1878.

Hampton, Wade, a Representative from South Carolina; born in South Carolina in 1754; received a good schooling and devoted himself to agriculture; active in pre-Revolutionary movements; served under Marion and Sumter; elected to the Fourth Congress (March 4, 1795-March 3, 1797); reelected to the Eighth Congress (March 4, 1803-March 3, 1805); presidential elector on the Jefferson and Burr ticket in 1801; colonel in the United States army in 1808; appointed brigadier general in February, 1809, and major general March 2, 1813; served in the war of 1812 and resigned April 6, 1814; reputed the wealthiest planter in the United States and the owner of 3,000 slaves in 1830; died in Columbia, S. C., February 4, 1835.

Hampton, Wade, a Senator from South Carolina; born in Columbia, S. C., March 28, 1818; was graduated from the South Carolina college; served in both branches of the state legislature, and was a member of the senate when South Carolina seceded; resigned and served in Confederate army during the Civil war; raised and commanded "Hampton's Legion;" made brigadier general of cavalry, and a major general August 3, 1863, commander of Lee's cavalry with rank of lieutenant general; elected governor of South Carolina in 1876, and again in 1878; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate in December, 1878; reelected in 1884 and served from March 4, 1879, until March 3, 1891; United States railroad commissioner 1893-1897; died near Columbia, S. C., April 11, 1902.

Hanback, Lewis, a Representative from Kansas; born in Winchester, Scott county, Ill., March 27, 1839; attended the common schools; enlisted in the Union army, first in the tenth Illinois infantry, and then in the twenty-seventh Illinois infantry, and was promoted to first lieutenant in company K of the last-named regiment; after the war moved to Kansas; probate judge of Shawnee county 1868-1872; assistant United States attorney, district of Kansas, for two years; receiver of public moneys at Salina, Kans.; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883-March 3, 1887); died in Armourdale, Kans., September 9, 1897.

Hanbury, Harry Alfred, a Representative from New York; born in Bristol, England, January 1, 1863; came to this country with his parents at an early age; attended the public schools, and was graduated from a high school in New York City; entered mercantile life and established iron works; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901-March 3, 1903); United States shipping commissioner, port of New York, from March, 1903, to November, 1908; established a foundry and machine works in Brooklyn, N. Y., and a resident of that borough.

Hanchett, Luther, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Portage county, Ohio, October 25, 1825; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1846, and began practice in Freemont, Ohio; moved to Portage county, Wis., in 1849; engaged in lumber and mining enterprises; for four years county attorney; member of the state senate 1856-1860; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress and served from March 4, 1861, until his death in Madison, Wis., November 24, 1862.

Hancock, George, a Representative from Virginia; born in Fincastle, Botetourt county, Va., June 13, 1754; pursued classical studies; served in the Revolutionary war as colonel of infantry, Virginia line, and was taken prisoner at the siege of Savannah, Ga.; was paroled and returned to Virginia; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Fincastle; elected as a Democrat to the Third and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1793-March 3, 1797); died in Fotheringay, Va., July 18, 1820.

Hancock, John, a Delegate from Massachusetts; born in Quincy, Mass., January 12, 1737; pursued classical studies, was graduated from Harvard college in 1754; a selectman of Boston several terms; member of the provincial legislature 1766-1772; active in pre-Revolutionary movements, and, with Samuel Adams, was exempted from pardon in Gov. Gage's proclamation of June 12, 1775; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1775-1780 and 1785-1786, and served as president of the Congress May 27, 1775-October, 1777; first signer of the Declaration of Independence; served as senior major general of militia during the Revolutionary war; member of the Massachusetts constitutional convention of 1780; governor of Massachusetts 1780-1785 and 1787, until his death in Quincy, Mass., October 8, 1793, interment in Boston, Mass.

Hancock, John, a Representative from Texas; born in Jackson county, Ala., October 24, 1824; attended schools in Alabama and the University of East Tennessee, Knoxville; studied law at Winchester, Tenn.; was admitted to the bar in 1846; settled in Texas in 1847 and practiced his profession there until August, 1851; elected to the district bench of the state and served as judge until 1855, when he resigned and resumed practice and planting; member of the state legislature in 1860 and 1861, when he refused to take the oath of allegiance to the Confederate states, and was expelled; member of the state constitutional convention of 1866; engaged in the practice of his profession and planting and stock raising; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second, Forty-third, and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1871-March 3, 1877); reelected to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883-March 3, 1885); resumed the practice of law in Austin, Tex., and died there July 19, 1893.

Hand, Augustus Cincinnatus, a Representative from New York; born in Shoreham, Vt., September 4, 1803; pursued academic studies; studied law in Litchfield, Conn., was admitted to the bar and began practice in Elizabethtown, N. Y., surrogate of Essex county 1831-1839; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839-March 3, 1841); elected state senator in 1844 and served several years; justice of the state supreme court, 1847-1855; in 1868 delegate to the Democratic national convention; died in Elizabethtown, Essex county, N. Y., March 8, 1878.

Hand, Edward, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in Clyduff, Kings county, Ireland, December

Digitized by Google

31, 1744; accompanied the eighteenth Royal Irish regiment to this country as surgeon's mate in 1774, but resigned and settled in Pennsylvania in the practice of medicine; participated in the Revolution; commissioned lieutenant colonel June 25, 1775; with Gen. William Thompson's brigade; promoted colonel March 7, 1776; and brigadier general April 1, 1777; succeeded Gen. John Stark in command at Albany in 1778, and served in the expedition against the Indians of the Six Nations; took command of a brigade of the light infantry corps in August, 1780; adjutant general of the army from January, 1781 to November, 1783; brevet major general September 30, 1783; mustered out November 3, 1783; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1784–1785; a signer of the Pennsylvania constitution of 1790; major general in the United States army June 19, 1798; honorably discharged June 15, 1800; died in Rockford, Lancaster county, Pa., September 3, 1802.

Handley, William Anderson, a Representative from Alabama; born near Franklin, Ga., December 15, 1834; moved to Alabama; attended the public schools; held several local offices; moved to Roanoke, Ala.; served in the Civil war on the Confederate side; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died in Roanoke, Ala., June 23, 1909.

Handy, Levin Irving, a Representative from Delaware; born in Berlin, Md., December 24, 1861; attended public schools in Maryland and New York; superintendent of free schools in Kent county 1887–1890; chairman of the Democratic state central committee 1892–1896; editorial writer on Wilmington Every Evening 1894–1895; was admitted to the bar in 1899; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); unsuccessful candidate for attorney general in 1904; defeated for election to the Sixty-first Congress; member of the Democratic national conventions of 1900, 1904, and 1908; resumed the practice of law in Smyrna, Del.

Hanks, James Millander, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Helena, Ark., February 12, 1833; attended the public schools, the college at New Albany, Ind., and the Jackson college at Columbia, Tenn.; studied law, was graduated from the University of Louisville in 1855 and commenced practice in Helena; judge of the first judicial district of Arkansas 1864–1868; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died in Helena, Ark., May 24, 1909.

Hanly, James Franklin, a Representative from Indiana; born in Champaign county, Ill., April 4, 1863; attended the common schools; moved to Warren county, Ind., in 1879; taught in the public schools of the state from 1881 to 1889; studied law and was admitted to the bar April 6, 1889; elected to the Indiana state senate in November, 1890; moved to Lafayette, Ind., in 1896; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); elected governor of Indiana in 1904 and 1906; resumed the practice of law in Indianapolis, Ind.

Hanna, John, a Representative from Indiana; born in Marion county, Ind., September 3, 1827; pursued classical studies; was graduated from the Indiana Asbury university in 1850; studied law was admitted to the bar and began practice in Greencastle; mayor of Greencastle in 1851–1854; moved to Kansas, and was a member of its territorial legislature in 1857–1858; returned to Indiana; presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1860; appointed United States district attorney in 1861, and reappointed in 1865; removed by President Johnson; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); died in Plainfield, Ind., October 24, 1882.

Hanna, John Andre, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Flemington, N. J., in 1761; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Harrisburg, Pa.; member of the peace assembly; served in the whisky insurrection; brigadier general of militia; elected to the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, and Eighth Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1805); died in Harrisburg, Pa., July 13, 1805.

Hanna, Louis Benjamin, a Representative from North Dakota; born in New Brighton, Pa., August 9, 1861; attended schools of Ohio, Massachusetts, and New York; moved to North Dakota in 1881; member of the house in the state legislature 1895–1901; member of the state senate 1905–1909; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hanna, Marcus Alonzo, a Senator from Ohio; born in New Lisbon (now Lisbon), Columbiana county, Ohio, September 24, 1837; moved with his parents to Cleveland in 1852; attended the common schools of that city and Western Reserve college, Hudson, Ohio; engaged in the wholesale grocery business and later in the iron and coal business; was identified with the lake-carrying trade; director of the Union Pacific railway in 1885, by appointment of President Cleveland; delegate to the Republican national conventions in 1884, 1888, and 1896; chairman of the Republican national committee in 1896; appointed and subsequently elected as a Republican to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Sherman; reelected in January, 1898, and also for the succeeding full term, and served from March 5, 1897, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 15, 1904; interment in Cleveland, Ohio.

Hanna, Robert, a Senator from Indiana; born in Laurens district, S. C., April 6, 1786; settled in Brookville, Ind., in 1802; sheriff of the common pleas court 1811–1820; member of the Indiana constitutional convention of 1816; brigadier general of state militia; register of the land office; moved to Indianapolis in 1825; appointed United States Senator as a Whig to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Noble, and served from December 5, 1831, to January 3, 1832; member of the state senate; served in the state house of representatives; killed by a railroad train when walking upon the track in Indianapolis, Ind., November 16, 1858.

Hannegan, Edward A., a Representative and a Senator from Indiana; native of Ohio; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Covington, Ind.; for several years state representative; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1843, to March 3, 1849; United States minister to Prussia from March 22, 1849, to January 13, 1850; moved to St. Louis, Mo., and died there February 25, 1859.

Digitized by Google

Hansbrough, Henry Clay, a Representative and a Senator from North Dakota; born in Randolph county, Ill., January 30, 1848; attended the common schools; learned the art of printing, and engaged in newspaper publishing in California, Wisconsin, and Dakota territory; became a resident of the last named in 1881; twice elected mayor of Devils Lake; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1888; national committeeman for eight years; elected as a Republican, upon the admission of the state of North Dakota into the Union, to the Fifty-first Congress and served from December 2, 1889, until March 3, 1891; elected to the United States Senate January 23, 1891; reelected in 1897 and 1903, and served from March 4, 1891 until March 3, 1909; resident of Devils Lake, N. Dak.

Hanson, Alexander Contee, a Representative from Maryland; born in Maryland February 27, 1786; received a liberal schooling, and was graduated from St. John's college, Annapolis; presidential elector on the Federalist ticket in 1789 and 1793; edited the Federal Republican in Baltimore when, in 1812, a mob, irritated by his articles denouncing the administration, destroyed the office; he issued the paper the following day, and escaped serious injury from a mob by seeking police protection; moved the paper to Georgetown, D. C., where he published it unmolested; returned to Baltimore; elected as a Federalist to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1813, until November, 1816, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Robert G. Harper, and served from December 20, 1816, until his death in Belmont, Md., April 23, 1819.

Hanson, John, a Delegate from Maryland; born in Charles county, Md., in 1715; pursued academic studies; member of the Maryland house of delegates for a number of years; moved to Frederick county in 1773; active in pre-Revolutionary matters; treasurer of Frederick county in 1775; elected a Delegate to the Continental Congress, and served from February 22, 1781, until his death; president of the Congress one year, and in that capacity gave Gen. Washington the thanks of the Congress for the victory at Yorktown; died in Oxen Hill, Prince Georges county, Md., November 22, 1783.

Haralson, Hugh Anderson, a Representative from Georgia; born near Pennfield, Ga., November 13, 1805; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Franklin college in 1825; studied law was admitted to the bar in 1825 and commenced practice in Monroe; moved to Lagrange, Ga.; member of the state senate 1837–1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1851); served in the militia as a major general; died in Lagrange, Ga., October 6, 1854.

Haralson, Jere, a Representative from Alabama; born in Muscogee county, Ga., April 1, 1846; a slave until emancipated in 1865; moved to Alabama; elected a state representative in 1870; member of the state senate in 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877).

Hard, Gideon, a Representative from New York; county judge of Orleans county 1856–1860; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); member of the state senate 1842–1847.

Hardeman, John Thomas, a Representative from Georgia; born in Putnam county, Ga., January 12, 1825; was graduated from Emory college in 1845; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1847; served in the state legislature in 1853, 1855, and 1857; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1859, until January 23, 1861, when he withdrew; captain of the Floyd Rifles; major of the second Georgia battalion and colonel of the forty-fifth Georgia regiment; elected to the state legislature in 1863, 1864, and 1874, and served as speaker of the house during these sessions; member of the national convention that nominated Horace Greeley for President; president of the state convention and chairman of the state executive committee of the Democratic party for four years; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eight Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Macon, Ga., March 6, 1891.

Hardenbergh, Augustus Albert, a Representative from New Jersey; born in New Brunswick, N. J., May 18, 1830; attended Rutgers college in 1844; took up his residence in Jersey City in 1846; elected to the house of assembly in 1853; member of the board of education in 1855–56; alderman of Jersey City in 1857–1860, and served as president of the board of aldermen in 1860; reelected member of the board in 1862; moved to Bergen, N. J., in 1863, and elected councilman; elected state director of railroads in 1868, and moved to the county of Bergen the same year; delegate to the Democratic national convention at Baltimore in 1872; removed to Jersey City in 1873; elected president of the Northern railroad of New Jersey in 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); reelected to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); died in Jersey City, October 5, 1889.

Hardin, Benjamin, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Westmoreland county, Pa., in 1784; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1806, and began practice in Elizabethtown and Bardstown, Ky.; settled in the last-named place in 1808; state representative in 1810, 1811, 1824, and 1825; member of the state senate in 1828–1832; elected as a Whig to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); reelected to the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1823); again elected to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); secretary of state of Kentucky 1844–1847; member of the state constitutional convention in 1849; died in Bardstown, Ky., September 24, 1852.

Hardin, John J., a Representative from Illinois; born in Frankfort, Ky., January 6, 1810; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the Transylvania university; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Jacksonville, Ill.; prosecuting attorney for several years; member of the state legislature 1836–1842; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); colonel of the first Illinois volunteers in the Mexican war, and was killed at Buena Vista, February 27, 1847.

Hardin, Martin Davis, a Senator from Kentucky; born on the Monongahela river, western Pennsylvania, June 21, 1780; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Franklin county, Ky.; for a number of years a state representative; secretary of state of Kentucky 1812–1816; served as major in the war of 1812; appointed and subsequently elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William T. Barry, and served from November 13, 1816, to March 3, 1817; died in Frankfort, Ky., October 8, 1823.

Digitized by Google

Harding, Aaron, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Green county, Ky., in 1810; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1833, and commenced practice in Greensburg, Ky.; member of the state house of representatives in 1840; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1867).

Harding, Abner Clark, a Representative from Illinois; born in East Hampton, Conn., February 10, 1807; attended an academy; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Oneida county, N. Y.; moved to Monmouth, Ill.; member of the state constitutional convention in 1848; served in the state legislature 1848–1850; moved to Illinois in 1838; enlisted as a private during the Civil war, in the eighty-third Illinois infantry and became a brigadier general in the Union army; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); died in Monmouth, Ill., July 10, 1874.

Harding, Benjamin Franklin, a Senator from Oregon; born in Wyoming county, Pa., January 4, 1823; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1847 and began practice in Illinois in 1848; moved to Oregon in 1849; clerk of the territorial legislature 1850–1851; member of that body and served as its speaker in 1852; United States district attorney in 1853; secretary of the territory 1854–1859; member of the state house of representatives 1859–1862, and for two years was speaker; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of Edward D. Baker, and served from September 12, 1862, to March 3, 1865; died near Cottage Grove, Oreg., June 19, 1899.

Harding, John Eugene, a Representative from Ohio; born in Excello, Ohio, June 27, 1877; attended the Amanda public schools, the Pennsylvania military academy, Chester, Pa., and was graduated from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, in 1900; engaged in business in Middletown and in industrial enterprises; elected to the state senate in 1903; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); engaged in the paper business in Chicago, Ill., and is a resident of Middletown, Ohio.

Hardwick, Thomas William, a Representative from Georgia; born in Thomasville, Ga., December 9, 1872; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in June, 1893, and began practice in September, 1893, in Sandersville; in March, 1895, appointed prosecuting attorney for Washington county, which position he held until January, 1897, when he resigned; member of the Georgia house of representatives 1898–1899 and 1901–1902; in 1900–1901 was captain of company D, sixth regiment infantry, Georgia state troops (Washington rifles); moved to Thomasville, Ga.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hardy, Alexander Merrill, a Representative from Indiana; born in Simcoe, Norfolk county, Ontario, Canada, December 16, 1847; pursued a college course and studied law; came to the United States in 1864, taking a commercial course at Eastman college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; went to New Orleans in 1869, where he engaged in newspaper work until 1873, when he located in Natchez, Miss.; conducted a Republican newspaper until 1877; collector of the port of Natchez under appointment of President Grant; located at Washington, Daviess county, Ind., in 1884; engaged in the practice of law; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Washington, Ind.; moved to Los Angeles, Cal., in 1904 and engaged in the practice of law.

Hardy, John, a Representative from New York; born in Scotland, September 19, 1835; attended the public schools, and was graduated from the College of the City of New York in 1853; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1862, and practiced in the city of New York; member of the state assembly in 1862; member of the board of aldermen of the city of New York in 1863, 1864, 1867, 1868, and 1869; clerk of the common council in 1870 and 1871, chief clerk in the office of the mayor in 1877 and 1878; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Fernando Wood; reelected to the Forty-eighth Congress and served from December 5, 1881, until March 3, 1885; resumed the practice of law in New York City.

Hardy, Samuel, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Isle of Wight county, Va., about 1758; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1781; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the house of delegates 1777–1781; appointed member of the executive council in June, 1781; member of the Continental Congress 1783–1785; lieutenant governor of Virginia for a time; died in New York City, in October, 1785.

Hardy, Rufus, a Representative from Texas; born in Monroe county, Miss., December 16, 1855, attended the common schools, Somerville institute, Mississippi, and was graduated from the law department of the University of Georgia in 1875; was admitted to the bar in 1875, and practiced; attorney of Navarro county 1880–1884; district attorney for the thirteenth judicial district 1884–1888; district judge of this district 1888–1892; retired from the bench in December, 1896; chairman of the Texas Sound Money Democracy in 1896; resumed the practice of law in Corsicana, Tex.; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hare, Darius Dodge, a Representative from Ohio; born near Adrian, Seneca county, Ohio, January 9, 1843; attended the common schools; entered the military service as a private in the signal corps, United States army, in March, 1864, and served during the remainder of the war; after the war assigned to special duty at the headquarters of Maj. Gen. Canby and afterwards of Maj. Gen. Sheridan, at New Orleans; remained on duty with the latter until discharged, February 17, 1866; attended the law department of the University of Michigan; was admitted to the bar in September, 1867; mayor of Upper Sandusky, 1872–1882; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third

Digitized by Google

Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); died in Upper Sandusky, Ohio, February 10, 1897.

Hare, Silas, a Representative from Texas; born in Ross county, Ohio, November 13, 1827; moved to Hamilton county, Ind., in 1840; attended common and private schools; served in the war with Mexico as a private; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1850; removed to Texas; chief justice of New Mexico in 1862, under the Confederate government; served as a captain during the Civil war; settled in Sherman in 1865; criminal district judge 1873–1876; delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1884; Democratic presidential elector for the state at large in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891; after leaving Congress he engaged in the practice of his profession in Washington, D. C., and died there November 26, 1907.

Haring, John, a Delegate from New York; born in Tappan, N. Y., September 28, 1739; member of the provincial convention of April, 1775, and of the four New York provincial congresses 1775–1777, and served as president protempore of the second and third provincial Congresses; Delegate to the Continental Congress in 1774–1775 and 1785–1788; judge of Orange county 1774–1775 and 1778–1788; served in the state senate 1781–1789; member of the state convention to consider the Federal constitution and voted to reject it; died in Blauveltville, N. Y., April 1, 1809.

Harlan, Aaron, a Representative from Ohio; born in Warren county, Ohio, September 8, 1802; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Zenia, Ohio, in 1825; member of the state house of representatives in 1832 and 1833; served in the state senate in 1838–1839 and 1849; moved to Yellow Springs, Ohio, in 1841; presidential elector on the Polk and Dallas ticket in 1844; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1850; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1859; moved to San Francisco, Cal., in 1864; died in San Francisco, Cal., January 8, 1868.

Harlan, Andrew Jackson, a Representative from Indiana; born near Wilmington, Clinton county, Ohio, March 29, 1815; attended the public schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; moved to Marion, Ind.; clerk of the Indiana house of representatives in 1842 and a member 1846–1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); reelected to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); moved to Dakota territory in 1861; member of the territorial legislature in 1861, and served as speaker; driven from the territory by the Indians and settled in Savannah, Mo., and resumed the practice of law; member of the Missouri legislature and served three years as speaker; moved to Wakeeney, Kans., in 1883; postmaster of Wakeeney four years; removed to Savannah, Mo., in 1892; died in Savannah, Mo., May 19, 1907.

Harlan, James, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Mercer county, Ky., June 22, 1800; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1823, and began practice in Harrodsburg, Ky.; prosecuting attorney 1829–1844; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); secretary of state 1840–1844; presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1840; served again in the state legislature in 1845; appointed attorney general of Kentucky in 1850, and held the office until his death in Frankfort, Ky., February 18, 1863.

Harlan, James, a Senator from Iowa; born in Clark county, Ill., August 25, 1820; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from the Indiana Asbury university in 1845; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; moved to Iowa; superintendent of public instruction in 1847; president of the Iowa Wesleyan university; presented credentials as a Senator-elect as a Whig to the United States Senate and took his seat December 3, 1855; owing to irregularities in the legislative proceedings, the seat was declared vacant January 12, 1857; reelected as a Republican in 1857; again elected in 1861, and served from January 29, 1857, until May 15, 1865, when he resigned to become Secretary of the Interior; resigned the last-named position July 27, 1866; again elected a United States Senator, and served from March 4, 1867, to March 3, 1873; delegate to the peace convention in 1861; delegate to the Philadelphia Loyalist convention of 1866; presiding judge of court of commissioners of Alabama claims 1882–1885; editor of the Washington Chronicle; died in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, October 5, 1899.

Harmanson, John Henry, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Norfolk, Va., January 15, 1803; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Jefferson college in Mississippi; was admitted to the bar, and practiced law in Louisiana; member of the state senate in 1844; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1845, until his death in New Orleans, La., October 25, 1850.

Harmer, Alfred Crout, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Germantown, Pa., August 8, 1825; attended the public schools and Germantown academy; commenced business as a shoe manufacturer; became a wholesale dealer, and retired in 1860; identified with railroad enterprises, shipping, and wholesale coal business; elected a member of the city council of Philadelphia in 1856, and served four years; recorder of deeds for Philadelphia 1860–1863; delegate to the Republican national convention at Chicago in 1865; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); reelected to the Forty-fifth and to the eleven succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1877, until his death, in Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa., March 6, 1900.

Harnett, Cornelius, a Delegate from North Carolina; born in Chattan county, N. C., April 20, 1723; member of the colonial assembly 1754–1766; leader in the resistance of the stamp act; president of the sons of liberty of North Carolina in 1775 and was president of the province; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1777–1780; died a prisoner in Wilmington, N. C., April 20, 1781.

Harper, Alexander, a Representative from Ohio; born near Belfast, Ireland, February 5, 1786; emigrated to America and located in Zanesville, Ohio; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Zanesville, Ohio; judge of the court of common pleas 1822–1836; member of the state house of representatives 1820–1821; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4 1837–March 3, 1839); reelected to the

Digitized by Google

Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); again elected to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); died in Zanesville, Ohio, December 1, 1860.

Harper, Francis J., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Frankford, Pa., in 1799; state house of representatives in 1832; served in the state senate 1834–1835; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress, but died before the assembling of Congress, in Frankford, Pa., March 18, 1837.

Harper, James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ireland in 1779; emigrated to America and located in Philadelphia, Pa.; elected as a Clay Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress, and as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1833, to March 3, 1837); died in Philadelphia, Pa., March 31, 1873.

Harper, James C., a Representative from North Carolina; born in Cumberland county, Pa., December 6, 1819; moved with his father to Darke county, Ohio, in 1831; attended the common schools; in 1840 moved to Caldwell county, N. C.; land surveyor, civil engineer, and draftsman; laid out the town of Lenoir, N. C., in 1841; engaged in mercantile and manufacturing pursuits; held several local offices; elected to the house of commons of the state in 1865 and 1866; elected as a Conservative to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died near Patterson, N. C., January 8, 1890.

Harper, John Adams, a Representative from New Hampshire; was born in Deerfield, N. H., November 2, 1779; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Meredith, N. H.; served in the state militia 1809–1812; elected as a War Democrat to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813); defeated for reelection; died in Laconia, N. H., June 18, 1816.

Harper, Joseph Morrill, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Limerick, Me., June 21, 1787; attended the public schools; studied medicine and began practice in Canterbury, N. H., in 1811; served in the war of 1812 as assistant surgeon in the fourth infantry; member of the state house of representatives in 1826 and 1827; served in the state senate 1829–1830, the last year as president of the senate and ex officio governor from February until June, 1831; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1835); died in Canterbury, N. H., January 15, 1865.

Harper, Robert Goodloe, a Representative from South Carolina and a Senator from Maryland; born near Fredericksburg, Va., in 1765; was graduated from Princeton college in 1785; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1786, and began practice in Charleston, S. C.; was a member of the state legislature; elected as a Democrat from Maryland to the Third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Alexander Gillon; reelected to the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Congresses and served from February 9, 1795, to March 3, 1801; served in the war of 1812 and attained the rank of major general; moved to Baltimore, Md., and practiced his profession; elected to the United States Senate for term beginning March 4, 1815, and served from January 29, 1816, until he resigned in 1816; died in Baltimore, Md., January 15, 1825.

Harper, William, a Senator from South Carolina; born in the island of Antigua, January 17, 1790; emigrated to America and located in Charleston, S. C.; was graduated from the South Carolina college in 1808; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Missouri in 1818; state chancellor in 1819; member of the state constitutional convention in 1821; returned to South Carolina in 1823, and was made state reporter and served two years; appointed to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of John Gaillard, and served from March 28, 1826, to December 7, 1826; member of the state house of representatives, and served as speaker in 1828; appointed a judge of the court of appeals in 1831; chancellor of the state in 1834, which position he held until his death, near Charleston, S. C., October 10, 1847.

Harries, William Henry, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Montgomery county, Ohio, January 15, 1843; moved to La Crosse, Wis.; enlisted as a private in company B, second Wisconsin volunteer infantry, April 18, 1861; commissioned captain of company F, third United States veteran volunteers, Gen. Hancock's corps, December 21, 1864; honorably discharged April 17, 1866; was graduated from the law school of the University of Michigan in 1868; located in Houston county, Minn., and was admitted to the bar May 6, 1868; county attorney two terms; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); collector of internal revenue for Minnesota 1894–1898; secretary of the soldiers home board in 1907; commandant of the soldiers home in 1911.

Harrington, Henry William, a Representative from Indiana; born near Cooperstown, Otsego county, N. Y., September 12, 1825; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Temple Hill academy, Livingston county, N. Y., in 1845; studied law in Genesee, and in 1849 was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Nanda, N. Y.; moved to Indiana in 1856 and practiced law; moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1872; returned to Indianapolis, Ind., in 1874 and resumed the practice of law; delegate to the Democratic national convention at Charleston in 1860; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); collector of internal revenue in 1862; died in Indianapolis, Ind., March 20, 1882.

Harris, Benjamin Gwinn, a Representative from Maryland; born near Leonardtown, Md., December 13, 1806; attended Yale college and the Cambridge law school; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served six terms in the state legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); court-martialed in Washington, D. C., May, 1865, for harboring two paroled Confederate soldiers, and sentenced for three years, and forever disqualified from holding any office under the United States government; President Johnson remitted the sentence; died in 1895.

Harris, Benjamin Winslow, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in East Bridgewater, Mass., November 10, 1823; pursued an academic course and was graduated from the Dane law school, Cambridge, in 1849; was admitted to the bar in Boston in April, 1850, and commenced practice in East Bridgewater in July, 1850; member of the state senate in 1857 and of the state legislature in 1858; district attorney for the southeastern district of Massachusetts from July 1, 1858, until June 30, 1866; collector of internal revenue from June 30, 1866, until March 1, 1873, when he resigned; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1883); appointed judge of probate for the county of Plymouth in 1887; died in East Bridgewater, Mass., February 7, 1907.

Digitized by Google

Harris, Charles Murray, a Representative from Illinois; born in Munfordsville, Hart county, Ky., April 10, 1821; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Illinois and located in Oquawka, where he began practice; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); died in Chicago, Ill., September 20, 1896.

Harris, George Emrick, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Orange county, N. C., January 6, 1827; moved to Tennessee and then to Mississippi; attended the common schools; studied law; and was admitted to the bar in 1854; entered the Confederate army and served until the close of the war; elected district attorney in 1865; reelected in 1866; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); attorney general of the state of Mississippi; died in Washington, D. C., April 30, 1911.

Harris, Henry Richard, a Representative from Georgia; born in Sparta, Ga., February 2, 1828; moved to Greenville, Meriwether county, Ga., in 1833; attended the common schools and was graduated from Emory college in 1847; member of the state constitutional convention of 1861; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1879); reelected to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); third assistant postmaster general of the United States from April 1, 1887, to March 18, 1889; engaged in agricultural pursuits; died near Odessadale, Meriwether county, Ga., October 15, 1909.

Harris, Henry S., a Representative from New Jersey; born in Belvidere, N. J., December 27, 1850; attended the common schools and was graduated from Princeton college in 1870; studied law in Belvidere, was admitted to the bar in June, 1873, and practiced; appointed prosecutor of the pleas for Warren county in March, 1877; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883).

Harris, Ira, a Senator from New York; born in Charleston, Montgomery county, N. Y., May 31, 1802; was graduated from Union college in 1824; studied law in Albany, and in 1828 was admitted to the bar and began practice in Albany; member of the state house of representatives in 1845 and 1846; state senator in 1847; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1846; justice of the supreme court 1847–1859; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1861, to March 3, 1867; delegate at large to the state constitutional convention in 1867; died in Albany, N. Y., December 2, 1875.

Harris, Isham Green, a Representative and a Senator from Tennessee; born near Tullahoma, Tenn., February 10, 1818; attended the common schools, and the academy in Winchendon; moved with his father to Paris, Tenn.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Paris, Henry county, Tenn., in 1841; elected to the state legislature as a Democrat in 1847; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); moved to Memphis, and resumed the practice of law; presidential elector for the State at large in 1856; elected governor of Tennessee in 1857, 1859, and 1861; volunteer aid upon the staff of the commanding general of the Confederate army of Tennessee for the last three years of the Civil war; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate in 1877; reelected in 1883, 1889, and 1895, and served from March 4, 1877, until his death, in Washington, D. C., July 8, 1897.

Harris, J. Morrison, a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore, Md., in 1821; was graduated from Lafayette college, Easton, Pa.; studied law, and in 1843 was admitted to the bar; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1861).

Harris, John, a Representative from New York; native of that state; sheriff of Onondaga county 1794–1796; elected to the Tenth Congress (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1809).

Harris, John Stafford, a Senator from Louisiana; born in Truxton, Cortland county, N. Y., December 18, 1825; completed preparatory studies; moved to Milwaukee, Wis., in 1846; removed to Concordia Parish, La., in 1863, and became a planter; elected to the constitutional convention of the state in 1867 and to the state senate in 1868; elected United States Senator as a Republican, to fill vacancy in term beginning March 4, 1865, and served from July 8, 1868, to March 3, 1871; died in Butte, Mont., January 25, 1906.

Harris, John Thomas, a Representative from Virginia; born in Albemarle county, Va., May 8, 1823; completed academic studies; studied law was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Harrisonburg in 1847; United States attorney 1852–1859; presidential elector on the Buchanan ticket in 1856; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); member of the State legislature 1863–1865; judge of the twelfth judicial circuit 1866–1869; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second, Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1881); declined a unanimous renomination; chairman Virginia Democratic convention in 1884; delegate to several Democratic national conventions; presidential elector on the Cleveland ticket in 1888; commissioner to the World's Fair at Chicago; died in Harrisonburg, Va., October 14, 1899.

Harris, Mark, a Representative from Maine; born in Ipswich, Mass., January 27, 1779; moved to Portland, Me., in 1800; held several local offices; served in both branches of the legislature; elected to the Seventeenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Ezekiel Whitman, and served from December 2, 1822, to March 3, 1823; died in New York City March 2, 1843.

Harris, Robert, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Dauphin county, Pa.; elected to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1827).

Digitized by Google

Harris, Sampson Willis, a Representative from Alabama; born in Elbert county, Ga., February 23, 1809; was graduated from the University of Georgia in 1828; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives; moved to Wetumpka, Ala., in 1838; elected solicitor of the eighth circuit in 1841; member of the state senate 1844–1845; elected as a Democrat to to the Thirtieth, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1857); died in Washington, D. C., April 1, 1857; interment in Athens, Ga.

Harris, Stephen Ross, a Representative from Ohio; born near Massillon, Stark county, Ohio, May 22, 1824; attended common schools, Washington college, Pa., and Western Reserve college, Hiram, Ohio, 1845–1846; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1849, and commenced practice June 14, 1849, in Bucyrus, Ohio; deputy United States marshal; mayor of Bucyrus; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); died in Bucyrus, Ohio, January 15, 1905.

Harris, Thomas K., a Representative from Tennessee; was elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); died from wounds received in an ancounter with Col. Simpson, April 18, 1816.

Harris, Thomas Langrell, a Representative from Illinois; born in Norwich, Conn., October 29, 1816; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Trinity college, Hartford, in 1841; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1842 and commenced practice in Petersburg, Ill.; chosen school commissioner for Menard county in 1845; raised and commanded a company and joined the fourth regiment Illinois volunteer infantry; subsequently elected a major of the regiment; while absent and with the army in 1846 was elected a member of the state senate; in the war with Mexico; presented with a sword by the state of Illinois for gallantry at the battle of Cerro Gordo; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); unsuccessful candidate for the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses; reelected to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); died in Springfield, Ill., November 24, 1858.

Harris, Wiley P., a Representative from Mississippi; native of Mississippi; located in Monticello; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); deputy to the provisional congress of the Confederate states at Montgomery, Ala., February, 1861.

Harris, William Alexander, a Representative from Virginia; born near Warrenton, Fauquier county, Va., August 24, 1805; completed an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Luray; member of the state house of representatives; presidential elector on the Van Buren and Johnson ticket in 1840; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); editor of the Spectator and the Constitution in Washington, D.C.; chargé d'affaires to the Argentine Republic 1846–1851; moved to Missouri and then back to Washington; editor of the Washington Union and printer to the United States Senate 1857–1859; died in Pike county, Mo., March 28, 1864.

Harris, William Alexander, a Representative and a Senator from Kansas; born in Loudoun county, Va., October 29, 1841; attended common schools and was graduated from Columbian college, Washington, D. C., in 1859, and from the Virginia military institute in 1861; served three years in the Confederate army as assistant adjutant general of Wilcox's brigade and ordnance officer of D. H. Hill's and Rodes's divisions, army of northern Virginia; moved to Kansas in 1865 and was employed as civil engineer in the construction of the Union Pacific railroad for three years; elected as a Populist to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); elected to the state senate November, 1896, elected as a Democrat in January, 1897, to the United States Senate and served from March 4 1897, until March 3, 1903; unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor of Kansas in 1906; died in Chicago, Ill., December 20, 1909.

Harrison, Albert Galliton, a Representative from Missouri; born in Mount Sterling, Ky., June 26, 1800; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated from Transylvania university in 1820; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Mount Sterling; moved to Fulton, Mo., in 1827, and practiced; a visitor to the West Point military academy in 1828; member of commission to adjust land titles growing out of Spanish grants 1829–1835; elected as a Van Buren Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); died in Fulton, Mo., September 7, 1839.

Harrison, Benjamin, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Berkeley, Charles City county, Va., April 5, 1740; pursued classical studies, attending William and Mary college; member of the colonial house of burgesses in 1764; active in pre-Revolutionary movements; delegate to the Continental Congress 1774; on June 10, 1776, as chairman of the committee of the whole house, he introduced the resolution offered three days before by Richard Henry Lee, declaring the independence of the American colonies, and on July 4, he reported the Declaration of Independence, of which he was one of the signers; resigned in 1778; speaker of the Virginia house of burgesses; governor of Virginia 1782–1784; delegate to the state convention for the ratification of the Federal constitution; died in City Point, Va., April 24, 1791.

Harrison, Benjamin, a Senator from Indiana; born in North Bend, Hamilton county, Ohio, August 20, 1833; was graduated from Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, in 1852; studied law in Cincinnati; moved in March, 1854, to Indianapolis; engaged in the practice of law; reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of the state; commissioned second lieutenant of Indiana volunteers in July, 1862; raised company A, of the seventieth Indiana volunteer infantry, commissioned captain, and on the organization of the regiment commissioned colonel; went with the regiment to Kentucky in August, and served until mustered out, in June, 1865; brevetted brigadier general January 23, 1865; while in the field, in October, 1864, reelected reporter of the supreme court, and served four years; appointed member of the Mississippi river commission in 1879; elected to the United States Senate as a Republican to succeed Joseph E. McDonald; took his seat March 4, 1881, and served until March 3, 1887; elected President of the United States in 1888; renominated for second term and defeated by Grover Cleveland; attorney for Venezuela in the boundary dispute between Venezuela and Great Britain, arbitrated in Paris in 1900; died in Indianapolis, Ind., March 13, 1901.

Digitized by Google

Harrison, Carter B., a Representative from Virginia; native of Charles City county, Va.; pursued classical studies; elected to the Third, Fourth, and Fifth Congresses (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1799).

Harrison, Carter Henry, a Representative from Illinois; born in Fayette county, Ky., February 15, 1825; was graduated from Yale college in 1845; studied law and was graduated from Tansylvania law school, Lexington, Ky., in 1855; moved to Chicago, Ill.; commissioner of Cook county 1871–1874; elected to the Forty-fourth Congress as an Oppositionist (Democrat); reelected to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); elected mayor of Chicago in 1879, 1881, 1883, 1885, and 1893; unsuccessful candidate for governor of Illinois in 1884; assassinated in Chicago, Ill., October 28, 1893.

Harrison, Francis Burton, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, December 18, 1873; was graduated from the Cutler school, New York City; Yale university, 1895; New York law school, 1897; instructor in the New York night law school, 1897–1899; admitted to the bar, 1898; served during the war with Spain in troop A, New York volunteer cavalry, from May 19 to June 20, 1898, and captain and assistant adjutant general United States volunteers, from June 20, 1898, to January 31, 1899; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Harrison, jr., George Paul, a Representative from Alabama; born near Savannah, Ga., March 19, 1841; attended the Georgia military institute; entered the Confederate army as second lieutenant of the first Georgia regulars, and successively promoted to first lieutenant, major, colonel, and brigadier general; moved to Alabama in 1865; studied law, and licensed to practice; member of the constitutional convention of Alabama in 1875; elected state senator in 1876 and reelected in 1880; president of the state senate 1882–1884; delegate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress, November 6, 1894, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William C. Oates; reelected to Fifty-fourth Congress and served from December 3, 1894, to March 3, 1897; resumed the practice of law in Opelika, Ala.; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1901;

Harrison, Horace Harrison, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Lebanon, Wilson county, Tenn., August 7, 1829; completed preparatory studies; moved with his parents to McMinnville in 1841; clerk of the county court; master of the chancery court; register of deeds; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1857, and commenced practice in Nashville in 1857; United States district attorney, 1863–1866; chancellor in the Nashville division; judge of the state supreme court, 1867–1868; presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1868; again United States district attorney, 1872–1873; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); resumed the practice of law in Nashville, Tenn.; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1880; member of the state legislature, 1880–1881; presidential elector in 1885, died in Nashville, Tenn., December 20, 1885.

Harrison, John Scott, a Representative from Ohio; born in Vincennes, Ind., October 4, 1804; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine, but abandoned the profession; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1857); died in North Bend, Ohio, May 25, 1878.

Harrison, Richard Almgill, a Representative from Ohio; born in Thirsk, Yorkshire county, England, April 8, 1824; emigrated to America in 1836, settling in Ohio, attended public schools, and was graduated from the Cincinnati law school in 1846 and commenced practice in London, Ohio; member of the state house of representatives in 1857; served as a state senator in 1859; elected as a Union Democrat to the Thirty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas Corwin, and served from July 4, 1861, until his death in Columbus, Ohio, July 30, 1904.

Harrison, Samuel S., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Maryland; moved to Kittanning, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837).

Harrison, William, a Delegate from Maryland; native of that state; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1785–1787.

Harrison, William Henry, a Representative and a Senator from Ohio; born in Berkeley, Charles City county, Va., February 9, 1773; pursued classical studies; attended Hampden-Sydney college; studied medicine; commissioned by President Washington ensign in the first infantry, August 16, 1791, and served in Indian wars; in May, 1797, was made captain and given command of Fort Washington; resigned June 1, 1798, with the rank of captain; appointed secretary of the Northwest territory, and elected its Delegate to the Sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1799, until March, 1800, when he resigned; territorial governor of Indiana 1801–1813, and also Indian agent; defeated the British and Indians at Tippecanoe November 7, 1811; major general of volunteers in the war of 1812; resigned in 1814; head commissioner to treat with the Indians; elected as a Whig to the Fourteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John McLean; reelected to the Fifteenth Congress, and served from December 2, 1816, to March 3, 1819; member of the state senate 1819–1821; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1825, until May 20, 1828, when he resigned; minister to Colombia, May 24, 1828, to September 26, 1829; President of the United States, March 4, 1841, until his death, in Washington, D. C., April 4, 1841; his remains rest in a tomb at North Bend, Ohio.

Hart, Alphonso, a Representative from Ohio; born in Vienna, Trumbull county, Ohio, July 4, 1830; attended the common schools and Grand River institute, Austinburg, Ohio; studied law in Warren, Ohio; was admitted to the bar August 12, 1851, and began practice in Ravenna, Ohio; prosecuting attorney for Portage county, 1861 to 1864, when he resigned; elected to the Ohio senate and reelected in 1871; Grant presidential elector at large in 1872; lieutenant governor of Ohio, 1873–1875; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); served as solicitor of internal revenue, Treasury Department, 1888–1892; resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C., and died there December 23, 1910.

Digitized by Google

Hart, Elizur Kirke, a Representative from New York; born in Albion, N. Y., April 8, 1841; attended the Albion academy; engaged in banking; member of the state house of representatives in 1872; elected to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); died in Albion, N. Y., February 18, 1893.

Hart, Emanuel Bernard, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, October 27, 1809; attended the public schools and prepared for college; engaged in mercantile pursuits; active in the militia; city alderman; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); appointed by President Buchanan surveyor of the port of New York and served from 1857 to 1861; commissioner of emigration; member of the city board of assessors, and alderman; excise commissioner; was admitted to the bar in 1868, and practiced; presidential elector in 1868; commissioner of emigration, 1870–1873; died in New York City August 29, 1897.

Hart, John, a Delegate from New Jersey; born in Hopewell township, Mercer county, N. J., February 4, 1714; attended the public schools; engaged in agricultural pursuits; elected to the provincial assembly of New Jersey in 1761 and 1768; elected to the provincial congress in 1775 and served as vice president in 1776; served in the Continental Congress, 1776–1777; was elected, with four others, to fill vacancies caused by the resignations of the New Jersey delegates, who were unwilling to assume the responsibilities imposed by the resolution of Richard Henry Lee, declaring the independence of the colonies, and served 1776–1777; signed the Declaration of Independence; chairman of the New Jersey council of safety in 1777–1778; when the British troops invaded New Jersey, his estate was devastated, and he was forced to the forests to save his life; returned to his home after the capture of the Hessians by Gen. Washington; elected to the first assembly of New Jersey under the state constitution in August, 1776, and reelected in 1777 and 1778; died upon his estate in Hopewell township, N. J., May 11, 1779.

Hart, Joseph Johnson, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Nyack, Rockland county, N. Y., April 18, 1859; attended the schools of Nyack, and was graduated from the Charlier institute, New York City, in 1876; conducted and owned City and Country, a Democratic newspaper of Nyack, until 1883, when he moved to Pike county, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); clerk in hall of records, New York City.

Hart, Roswell, a Representative from New York; born in Rochester, N. Y., August 4, 1824; completed preparatory studies and was graduated from Yale college in 1843; studied law, and in 1847 was admitted to the bar; engaged in commercial pursuits; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); defeated for reelection; appointed as superintendent of the railway mail service for the states of New York and Pennsylvania; died in Rochester, N. Y., April 20, 1883.

Harter, Michael Daniel, a Representative from Ohio; born in Canton, Ohio, April 6, 1846; lived at Mansfield, Ohio; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); died in Fostoria, Ohio, February 22, 1896.

Hartley, Thomas, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Reading, Pa., September 7, 1748; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in York, Pa.; served in the Revolutionary war as lieutenant colonel of Irvine's regiment, and as colonel of the sixth Pennsylvania in 1776; commanded an expedition against the Indians in 1778; served in the state legislature; elected to the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Congresses and served from March 4, 1789, until his death, in York, Pa., December 21, 1800.

Hartman, Charles S., a Representative from Montana; born in Monticello, Ind., March 1, 1861; read law; moved to Montana in January, 1882; was admitted to the bar in 1884 and practiced; in November, 1884, elected probate judge of Gallatin county, and served two years; member of the state constitutional convention in 1889; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses; reelected as a Silver Republican to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1899).

Hartridge, Julian, a Representative from Georgia, born in Savannah, Ga., September 9, 1829; pursued classical studies in Chatham academy and the Montpelier institute, and was graduated from Brown university in 1849; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Savannah, Ga.; served in the state legislature; delegate in the Democratic national convention in Charleston in 1860; served one year in the Confederate army as a lieutenant in the Chatham artillery; member of the Confederate congress; delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1872 and 1876; presidential elector; elected to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1875, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 8, 1879.

Hartzell, William, a Representative from Illinois; born in Canton, Stark county, Ohio, February 20, 1837; moved with his parents to Illinois in 1840; removed to the republic of Mexico in 1844, where he remained until 1853, when he returned to Randolph county, Ill.; received a limited schooling; was graduated from McKendree college in 1859; settled in Chester, Randolph county, Ill.; studied law, and in 1864 was admitted to the bar; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); elected as a judge of the third judicial circuit in 1897; died August 14, 1903.

Harvey, David A., a Delegate from Oklahoma Territory; born in Stewiack, province of Nova Scotia, March 20, 1845; went with his parents to Clermont county, Ohio, in 1852; enlisted September, 1861, in company B, fourth Ohio cavalry, and served throughout the war; after the war attended Miami university, at Oxford, Ohio; studied law, was admitted to the bar in September, 1868; moved to Topeka, Kans., in 1869, where he served four years as city attorney and six years as probate judge; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1893).

Harvey, James Madison, a Senator from Kansas; born in Monroe county, Va. (now West Virginia), September 21, 1833; completed preparatory studies; moved to Kansas in 1859, and engaged in farming; served with the Union army as captain in the fourth and tenth regiments of Kansas infantry, 1861–1864; member of the state house of representatives 1865–1866, and of the state senate 1867–1868; governor of Kansas 1869–1870, 1870–1871; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Alexander Caldwell, and served from February 12, 1874, to March 3, 1877.

Digitized by Google

Harvey, Jonathan, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Sutton, Merrimack county, N. H., February 25, 1780; attended the public schools; served several years in both branches of the legislature; president of the senate, 1817–1823; member of the executive council, 1823–1825; elected to the Nineteenth, Twentieth, and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1831); died in Sutton, N. H., August 23, 1859.

Harvey, Matthew, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Sutton, N. H., June 21, 1781; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1806; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Hopkinton, N. H., in 1809; served seven terms in the lower branch of the legislature and its speaker three terms; elected to the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1825); state senator in 1825, 1826, and 1827; served as president of the senate; governor of New Hampshire in 1830–1831; appointed by President Jackson judge of the United States district court for New Hampshire in 1831; died in Concord, N. H., April 7, 1866.

Harvie, John, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Gargunnock, Scotland; emigrated to Virginia and settled in Albemarle county; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced for several years; in 1774 appointed commissioner to treat with the western Indians; member of the Virginia conventions of 1775 and 1776; a Delegate to the Continental Congress 1777–1778; purchasing agent for the state, with provisional rank of colonel; register of the land office, 1780–1791; secretary of the commonwealth, May 19, 1788; died in Richmond, Va., February 6, 1807.

Hasbrouck, Abraham, a Representative from New York; native of New York; served in the state legislature, 1781, 1782, and 1810; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); again a member of the state senate in 1822.

Hasbrouck, Abraham Bruyn, a Representative from New York; born in Kingston, N. Y., November 29, 1791; attended Kingston academy, and was graduated from Yale college in 1810; studied law in Hudson, N. Y., and Litchfield, Conn., and was admitted to the bar in 1813 and commenced practice in Kingston, N. Y., in 1814; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); moved to New Jersey; president of Rutgers college, 1840–1850; removed to Kingston in 1850; died in Kingston, N. Y., February 24, 1879.

Hasbrouck, Josiah, a Representative from New York; native of Ulster county, N. Y.; completed preparatory studies; member of the state house of representatives 1796, 1797, 1802, and 1806; elected to the Eighth and Fifteenth Congresses (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1805; March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819).

Hascall, Augustus P., a Representative from New York; born in Hillsdale, Mass., June 24, 1800; located in Le Roy, N. Y.; presidential elector in 1848; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress (March 3, 1851–March 3, 1853); died in Le Roy, N. Y., June 27, 1872.

Haskell, Dudley Chase, a Representative from Kansas; born in Springfield, Vt., March 23, 1842; pursued classical studies in Easthampton, Mass., and took a special course in Yale college; engaged in mercantile pursuits; moved to Kansas in 1855; member of the state house of representatives in 1872, 1875, and 1876; served the last term as speaker; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses and served from March 4, 1877, until his death in Washington, D. C., December 16, 1883; interment in Lawrence, Kans.

Haskell, William T., a Representative from Tennessee; born in Tennessee; pursued a preparatory course; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served as colonel in the Mexican war; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); resumed practice of law; died in Hopkinsville, Ky., March 20, 1859.

Haskin, John Bussing, a Representative from New York; born in Fordham, N. Y., August 7, 1821; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in New York City in 1845; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); died in Friends Lake, N. Y., September 8, 1895.

Haskins, Kittredge, a Representative from Vermont; born in Dover, Vt., April 8, 1836; attended the public schools and received instruction from a private tutor; read law and admitted to the bar; state attorney 1870–1872; United States attorney from October, 1880, to June, 1887; served as first lieutenant of company I, sixteenth regiment Vermont volunteers, in the Union army; appointed colonel and chief of staff to Gov. Peter T. Washburn in 1869; member of the Republican state committee 1869–1872; member of the legislature 1872–1874, and again 1896–1900; speaker of the house 1898–1900; state senator 1892–1894; chairman of the Vermont board of commissioners to establish the boundary line between that State and Massachusetts 1892–1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1909); judge of the municipal court in Brattleboro, Vt.; postmaster of Brattleboro in 1912.

Hastings, George, a Representative from New York; born in Clinton, Oneida county, N. Y., March 13, 1807; was graduated from Hamilton college in 1826; studied law, and in 1830 was admitted to the bar; moved to Mount Morris, Livingston county; district attorney 1839–1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); elected judge of the county court of Livingston county and served from November, 1855, until his death, in Mount Morris, N. Y., August 29, 1866.

Hastings, John, a Representative from Ohio; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); died in Columbus, Ohio, December 29, 1854.

Hastings, Serranus Clinton, a Representative from Iowa; born in New York November 14, 1814; completed a preparatory course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Iowa; member of the state legislature several terms, and president of the territorial council through one session; elected to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); in 1848 chief justice of the supreme court of Iowa; moved to California and resumed the practice of law; chief justice of the supreme court of California for two years; attorney-general of the state; founded and endowed the Hastings college of law in the University of California.

Digitized by Google

Hastings, Seth, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Cambridge, Mass., April 8, 1762; was graduated from Harvard college in 1782; studied law and was admitted to the bar; settled in Mendon, Mass.; elected town treasurer 1794 and 1795; elected one of the first school commissioners in 1796; elected to the Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth Congresses (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1807); member of the state senate 1810 and 1814; died in Mendon, Mass., November 10, 1831.

Hastings, William Soden, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Mendon, Mass., June 3, 1798; pursued preparatory studies; completed preparatory studies; was graduated from Harvard college in 1817; member of the state house of representatives in 1828; elected to the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses, and served from September 4, 1837, until his death, in White Sulphur Springs, Va., June 17, 1842.

Hatch, Herschel Harrison, a Representative from Michigan; born in Morrisville, Madison county, N. Y., February 17, 1837; attended the common schools; studied law at Hamilton college law school, New York, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; elected alderman of Bay City at its first organization in 1865; elected judge of probate of Bay county in 1868 for a term of four years; member of the constitutional commission of Michigan in 1873; member of the tax commission in 1881; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); resumed the practice of law in Detroit, Mich.

Hatch, Israel Thompson, a Representative from New York; born in Owasco, N. Y., in 1808; pursued preparatory studies; was graduated from Union college in 1829, admitted to the bar, and practiced in Buffalo; assistant secretary of state in 1830; surrogate of Erie county 1833–1836; member of the state house of representatives in 1852; grain merchant; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); postmaster of Buffalo, N. Y., 1859–1861; member of the state constitutional convention of 1867–1868; died in Buffalo, N. Y., September 24, 1875.

Hatch, Jethro Ayers, a Representative from Indiana; born June 18, 1837, in Chenango county, N. Y.; settled in Sugar Grove, Kane county, Ill.; attended the common schools and Batavia (Ill.) institute; was graduated from Rush medical college in February, 1860; commenced practice in Kentland, Ind., July, 1860; commissioned assistant surgeon of the thirty-sixth Illinois volunteer infantry December 11, 1862, and promoted to surgeon of the same regiment; mustered out of service February 8, 1865, and returned to Kentland; member of the Indiana house of representatives in 1872 and 1873; alternate delegate to the Republican national convention in 1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); returned to Kentland, Ind., and resumed the practice of medicine; moved to Victoria, Tex., and is engaged in the real estate business.

Hatch, William Henry, a Representative from Missouri; born in Scott county, Ky., September 11, 1833; attended the schools of Lexington, Ky.; was admitted to the bar in September, 1854, and practiced; elected circuit attorney in October, 1858, and in November, 1860; served in the Confederate army; commissioned captain and assistant adjutant general December, 1862, and in March, 1863, assigned to duty as assistant commissioner of exchange under the cartel, and continued in this position until the close of the war; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth, and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1895); died near Hannibal, Marion county, Mo., December 23, 1896.

Hatcher, Robert Anthony, a Representative from Missouri; born in Buckingham county, Va., February 24, 1819; attended the schools of Lynchburg, Va.; studied law, and admitted to the bar in Kentucky; commenced practice in New Madrid, Mo., in 1847; for several years circuit attorney; state legislator in 1850 and 1851; member of the state convention in 1862; member of the Confederate congress 1864–1865; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1879); died in Charleston, Mo., December 2, 1886.

Hathaway, Samuel Gilbert, a Representative from New York; born in Freetown, Mass., July 18, 1780; attended the public schools; went to sea; settled in Solon, N. Y., in 1808; member of the state assembly in 1814 and 1818; state senator in 1823; major general in New York militia 1823–1858; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); presidential elector in 1852; attended the Democratic national convention in Charleston, S. C.; died in Solon, N. Y., May 2, 1867.

Hathorn, Henry Harrison, a Representative from New York; born in Greenfield, N. Y., November 28, 1813; attended the common schools, and was graduated from the public schools of Greenfield; merchant in Saratoga Springs 1839–1849; supervisor for Saratoga Springs; sheriff of Saratoga county 1853–1856 and 1862–1865; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1877); died in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., February 20, 1887.

Hathorn, John, a Representative from New York; born in Wilmington, Del., January 9, 1749; completed preparatory studies; surveyor by profession and a school teacher; captain, colonel, brigadier, and major general; member of the state house of representatives in 1778, 1780, 1782–1785, 1795, and 1805, and served as speaker in 1783 and 1784; served in the state senate 1786–1790 and 1799–1803; member of the council of appointment in 1787 and 1789; elected to the Continental Congress in December, 1788, but no further sessions were held; elected as a Federalist to the First Congress (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1791); reelected to the Fourth Congress (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1797); died in in Warwick, N. Y., February 19, 1825.

Hatton, Robert Hopkins, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Steubenville, Ohio, November 2, 1826; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Harvard college and from the law department of Cumberland university, Lebanon,

Digitized by Google

Tenn., in 1850; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1849, and commenced practice in Lebanon, Tenn.; state representative in 1856; unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1858; elected as a National American to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); colonel of the seventh Tennessee volunteer infantry in May, 1862; made brigadier general in the Confederate army May 23, 1862, assigned to the command of the fifth brigade; first corps, army of Virginia; killed in action at Edwards Farm, May 31, 1862.

Haugen, Gilbert N., a Representative from Iowa; born in Rock county, Wis.; April 21, 1859, attended the public schools; engaged in various enterprises, principally real estate and banking; treasurer of Worth county, Iowa, for six years; elected to the state legislature and served in the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth general assemblies; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Haugen, Nils P., a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Norway, March 9, 1849; was graduated from the law department of the Michigan state university in class of 1874; located in Wisconsin in 1854; member of the assembly in 1879 and 1880; state railroad commissioner 1882–1887; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1895).

Haughey, Thomas, a Representative from Alabama; born in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1826; located in Alabama in 1840; pursued classical studies; studied medicine and was graduated from the New Orleans medical college in 1858; surgeon in United States army 1862–1865; delegate to the Alabama constitutional convention of 1867; elected to the Fortieth Congress; took his seat July 21, 1868, and served until March 3, 1869.

Haun, Henry P., a Senator from California; born in Scott county, Ky., January 18, 1815; completed an academic course; studied law in Lexington, Ky.; admitted to the bar in 1839; elected county attorney; moved to Iowa in 1845; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1846; removed to Yuba county, Cal., in 1849; county judge in 1851; appointed United States Senator from California as a Democrat, to fill vacancy caused by the death of David C. Broderick, and served from December 5, 1857, to March 5, 1860; died in Maysville, Cal., May 6, 1860.

Haven, Nathaniel Appleton, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Portsmouth, N. H., July 19, 1762; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Harvard college in 1779; elected as a Federalist to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811); died in Portsmouth, N. H., March 13, 1831.

Haven, Solomon George, a Representative from New York; born in Chenango county, N. Y., November 27, 1810; attended the common schools and instructed by private tutor in the classics; pursued a course in medicine; studied law; moved to Buffalo in 1835; was admitted to the bar the same year and practiced; commissioner of deeds, district attorney of Erie county 1844–1846; mayor of Buffalo, N. Y., 1846–1847; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second, Thirty-third, and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1857); died in Buffalo, N. Y., December 24, 1861.

Havens, Harrison E., a Representative from Missouri; born in Franklin county, Ohio, December 15, 1837; attended the common schools; studied and practiced law in Illinois; moved to Iowa and then to Springfield, Mo., in 1867, becoming editor of the Springfield Patriot; elected as a Regular Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875).

Havens, James Smith, a Representative from New York; born in Weedsport, Cayuga county, N. Y., May 28, 1859; attended public schools and Monroe collegiate institute in Elbridge, N. Y., and was graduated from Yale college in 1884; was admitted to the bar in 1886, and practiced in Rochester, N. Y.; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1904; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James B. Perkins, and served from April 29, 1910, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Havens, Jonathan Nicoll, a Representative from New York; born on Shelter Island, Long Island, N. Y., June 18, 1757; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale college in 1777; elected to the state convention of 1788 to consider the Federal constitution; member of the state house of representatives 1786–1795; town clerk 1783–1787; chairmen of the committee for establishing public schools in New York, in 1795; justice of the peace of Suffolk county 1795; elected to the Fourth and Fifth Congresses (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1799); died in Shelter Island, N. Y., October 25, 1799.

Hawes, Albert Gallatin, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Charlottesville, Va., April 1, 1804; elected to the Twenty-second Congress as a Jackson Democrat; moved to Daviess county; reelected to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); died near Owensboro, Ky., April 14, 1849.

Hawes, Aylett, a Representative from Virginia; native of Culpeper county, Va.; pursued the classical course; studied medicine; elected as a Democrat to the Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1817); resumed the practice of medicine; died in Culpeper county, Va., August 31, 1833.

Hawes, Richard, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Caroline county, Va., February 6, 1797; moved to Kentucky in 1810; pursued classical studies at Transylvania university; admitted to the bar; commenced practice in Winchester; state representative for several years; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); October 4, 1862, was installed provisional governor; settled in Paris, Ky.; was elected county judge in 1866, and served until his death in Bourbon county, Ky., May 25, 1877.

Hawk, Robert M. A., a Representative from Illinois; born in Hancock county, Ind., April 23, 1839; educated in the common and select schools of Carroll county, Ill., and at Eureka college, Illinois; entered the Union army as first lieutenant, September 4, 1862; promoted to captain February, 1863; brevetted major April 10, 1865; clerk of the county court of Carroll county, Ill., from December 13, 1865, to February 27, 1879; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses, and served from March 4, 1879, until his death June 29, 1882

Digitized by Google

Hawkes, James, a Representative from New York; born in Petersham, Mass., December 13, 1776; moved with his parents to Richfield, N. Y., in 1789; attended the common schools; taught school; elected sheriff of the county in 1819; member of the general assembly; elected to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); died in Rochester, N. Y., October 2, 1865.

Hawkins, Benjamin, a Delegate and a Senator from North Carolina; born in Warren county, N. C., August 15, 1754; student in the senior class at Princeton college when the Revolutionary war began; acquired a knowledge of French; left the school and was appointed on the staff of George Washington and acted as his interpreter; Delegate to the Continental Congress, 1771–1784 and 1786–1787; appointed by Congress to negotiate treaties with the Creek and Cherokee Indians in 1785; elected a United States Senator from North Carolina and served from November 27, 1789, to March 3, 1795; appointed Indian agent for all the tribes south of the Ohio River by President Washington in 1796, and held the office until he died in Hawkinsville, Ga., June 6, 1816.

Hawkins, George S., a Representative from Florida; native of New York; moved to Florida and located in Pensacola, where he held several local offices; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861).

Hawkins, Isaac Roberts, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Maury county, Tenn., May 16, 1818; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served in the Mexican war; delegate from Tennessee to the peace conference in 1861; entered the Union army as lieutenant colonel in 1862; delegate to the Chicago convention in 1868; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1871); died in Huntingdon, Tenn., August 12, 1880.

Hawkins, Joseph, a Representative from New York; native of the state of New York; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began the practice of his profession in Henderson; elected as an Adams Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); died in Henderson, N. Y., May 9, 1832.

Hawkins, Joseph H., a Representative from Kentucky; resided in Lexington, Ky.; pursued an academic course; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives 1810–1813, and served two years as speaker; elected to the Thirteenth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Henry Clay, and served from March 29, 1814, until March 3, 1815.

Hawkins, Micajah Thomas, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Warren county, N. C., in 1786; attended the University of North Carolina; served several years in both branches of the legislature; member of the council of state; served in state militia and rose to the rank of major general; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1841); died in Warren county, N. C., December 22, 1858.

Hawley, John Baldwin, a Representative from Illinois; born in Fairfield county, Conn., February 9, 1831; moved to Illinois with his parents, when quite young; studied law, and in 1854 was admitted to the bar; elected state attorney for four years; served one year in the Union army; appointed postmaster at Rock Island, Ill., in 1865, and was removed the year following by President Johnson; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first, Forty-second, and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1875); appointed Assistant Secretary of the Treasury December 6, 1877; resigned in 1880; moved to Chicago, Ill., and resumed the practice of law; moved to Omaha, Nebr., in 1886, and was general attorney for the western branches of the Northwestern railroad company; died in Omaha, Nebr., May 24, 1895.

Hawley, Joseph Roswell, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Stewartsville, Richmond county, N. C., October 31, 1826; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated from Hamilton college, New York, in 1847; was admitted to the bar in 1850 in Hartford, Conn., and practiced law; became editor of the Hartford Evening Press in February, 1857, which, in 1867, was consolidated with the Hartford Courant, of which he became editor; enlisted in the Union army and served as captain first Connecticut infantry April 22, 1861; lieutenant colonel seventh Connecticut infantry September 17, 1861; colonel June 20, 1862; brigadier general of volunteers September 13, 1864; brevet major general of volunteers September 28, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious service during the war"; mustered out January 15, 1866; elected governor of Connecticut in April, 1866; delegate to the Free Soil national convention of 1852; presidential elector in 1868; chairman of the Republican national convention of 1868, and delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1872, 1876, and 1880; president of the United States centennial commission from its organization, in March, 1873, to the completion of the work of the centennial exposition; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Julius L. Strong; reelected to the Forty-third Congress, and served from December 2, 1872, to March 3, 1875; again elected to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); elected to the United States Senate; reelected in 1887, 1893, and 1899, and served from March 4, 1881, to March 3, 1905; appointed a brigadier general in the United States army March 4, 1905; died in Hartford, Conn., March 17, 1905.

Hawley, Robert B., a Representative from Texas; born in Memphis, Tenn., in 1850; attended the city schools; moved to Texas in 1875; was a merchant, importer, and manufacturer in the city of Galveston for twenty years; three times elected president of the Galveston board of education; presided several times over state conventions, and attended as a delegate national conventions; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1901).

Hawley, Willis Chatham, a Representative from Oregon; born near Monroe, in Benton county, Oreg., May 5, 1864; attended country schools and Willamette university, Salem, Oreg.; studied law and was admitted to the bar in Oregon in 1893; principal of the Umpqua academy, in Wilbur, Oreg., 1884–1886; president of the Oregon state normal school in Drain, 1888–1891; president of Willamette university 1893–1902; engaged in numerous business and educational enterprises; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Digitized by Google

Haws, John Henry Hobart, a Representative from New York; born in New York City; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); died January 27, 1858.

Hay, Andrew Kessler, a Representative from New Jersey; native of Massachusetts; completed preparatory studies; moved to New Jersey, and located in Winslow; elected to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851).

Hay, James, a Representative from Virginia; born in Millwood, Clarke county, Va., January 9, 1856; attended private schools and the University of Pennsylvania, and was graduated from Washington and Lee university, Virginia, in law, in June, 1877; moved to Harrisonburg, Va., in 1877, where he practiced until June, 1879; moved to Madison, Va., and devoted himself exclusively to his profession; elected attorney for the commonwealth in 1883, and reelected in 1887, 1891, and 1895; elected to the house of delegates in 1885, and reelected in 1887 and 1889; to the state senate in 1893; member of the Democratic state committee for four years, and member of the Democratic national convention of 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1911); chairman of the Democratic caucus of the House of Representatives in the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hay, John Breese, a Representative from Illinois; born in Belleville, Ill., January 8, 1834; received a limited schooling; learned the art of printing; studied law and was admitted to the bar; state attorney for the twenty-fourth judicial district of Illinois for eight years; served in the Union army during the Civil war; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); judge of the county court of St. Clair county, and is a resident of Belleville, Ill.

Hayden, Edward Daniel, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Cambridge, Mass., December 27, 1833; attended the Lawrence academy, Groton, Mass., and was graduated from Harvard college in 1854; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Woburn, Mass., until 1862, when he entered the United States navy as assistant paymaster; member of the state house of representatives of Massachusetts in 1880–1882; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); became interested in banking and railroading; died in Woburn, Mass., November 15, 1908.

Hayden, Moses, a Representative from New York; born in Hampshire county, Mass., in 1786; completed preparatory studies and was graduated from Williams college in 1804; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in York, Livingston county, N. Y.; was first judge of the court of common pleas of Livingston county, 1821–1823; elected to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1827); member of the state senate, and was serving at the time of his death in Albany, N. Y., February 13, 1830; interment in York, N. Y.

Hayes, Everis Anson, a Representative from California; born in Waterloo, Jefferson county, Wis., March 10, 1855; attended public schools and was graduated from the Waterloo high school, and from the literary department of the University of Wisconsin in 1873, and from the law department in 1879; was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Madison, Wis.; moved to Ashland, Wis., in 1883; removed to Santa Clara county, Cal., in 1887, and engaged in fruit raising and mining, and with his brother, was publisher and proprietor of the San Jose Daily Morning Mercury and Evening Herald; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hayes, Philip Cornelius, a Representative from Illinois; born in Granby, Conn., February 3, 1833, and moved with his father's family to Lasalle county, Ill., during the summer of the same year; was graduated from Oberlin college, Ohio, in 1860, and from the Theological seminary in 1863; served in the Union army during the Civil war; commissioned captain one hundred and third Ohio infantry July 16, 1862; lieutenant colonel November 18, 1864; brevet colonel and brigadier general March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious service during the war;" mustered out June 12, 1865; superintendent of schools of Mount Vernon, Ohio, one year; located in Morris, Grundy county, Ill.; delegate to the Republican national convention which met in Philadelphia in 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); removed to Joliet, Ill., in 1892 and is a resident of that city.

Hayes, Rutherford Birchard, a Representative from Ohio; born in Delaware, Ohio, October 4, 1822; attended the common schools, the academy in Norwalk, Ohio, and the Webb preparatory school in Middletown, Conn.; was graduated from Kenyon college, Ohio, in August, 1842; and from the Cambridge law school in January, 1845; was admitted to the bar May 10, 1845, and began practice in Lower Sandusky (now Fremont) and then in Cincinnati in 1849; city solicitor in 1858–1859; entered the Union army; commissioned major of the twenty-third Ohio infantry June 27, 1861; lieutenant colonel October 24, 1861; colonel October 24, 1862; brigadier general of volunteers October 19, 1864; brevet major general of volunteers March 15, 1865, "for gallant and distinguished service during the campaign of 1864 in West Virginia, and particularly at the battles of Fishers Hill and Cedar Creek, Va.;" resigned June 8, 1865; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses and served from March 4, 1865, until December, 1867, when he resigned, having been elected governor of Ohio; reelected in 1869 and again in 1876; elected President of the United States in 1876 and inaugurated March 4, 1877, and and served until March 3, 1881; died January 17, 1893, in Fremont, Ohio.

Hayes, Walter Ingalls, a Representative from Iowa; born in Marshall, Mich., December 9, 1841; attended the common schools; was graduated from the law department of Michigan university in 1863; was admitted to the bar, and practiced; city attorney of Marshall, Mich.; was United States commissioner for the eastern district of Michigan, and also of Iowa; city solicitor of Clinton, Iowa; district judge of the seventh judicial district of Iowa from August, 1875, till January 1, 1887; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Clinton, Iowa; died in Marshall, Mich., March 14, 1901; interment in Clinton, Iowa.

Digitized by Google

Haymond, Thomas S., a Representative from Virginia; native of that state; elected to the Thirty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Alexander Newman, and served from December 3, 1849, to March 3, 1851.

Haymond, William S., a Representative from Indiana; born near Clarksburg, W. Va.; received a scientific training and was, for a time, a practicing civil engineer; was graduated from two medical colleges, and began the practice of medicine in 1851 in Monticello, Ind.; entered the Union army as surgeon in 1862 and served one year; defeated for the state senate in 1866; elected president of the Indianapolis, Delphi and Chicago railroad in 1872, 1873, and 1874; elected as a candidate of both the Democrats and Liberals to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); defeated for reelection as the Democratic candidate.

Hayne, Arthur Peronneau, a Senator from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., March 12, 1790; pursued classical studies; engaged in business; served in the war of 1812; was first lieutenant at Sacketts Harbor, major of cavalry on the St. Lawrence, inspector general in 1814, and brevetted lieutenant colonel for gallant conduct at New Orleans; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served in the Florida war as commander of the Tennessee volunteers, and retired in 1820; served in the state house of representatives of South Carolina; presidential elector on the Jackson and Calhoun ticket in 1828; United States naval agent in the Mediterranean for five years; declined the Belgian mission; appointed a United States Senator to fill vacancy caused by the death of Josiah J. Evans, and served from May 11, 1858, to December 2, 1858; died in Charleston, S. C., January 7, 1867.

Hayne, Robert Young, a Senator from South Carolina; born in St. Pauls parish, Colleton district, S. C., November 10, 1791; completed a preparatory course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Charleston, S. C.; served in the third South Carolina regiment during the war of 1812; member of the state legislature 1814–1818, and served one year as speaker; attorney general 1818–1822; elected a United States Senator as a States Rights Democrat, and served from March 4, 1823, to December, 1832, when he resigned to become governor; participated in 1832 in a notable debate with Daniel Webster upon the principles of the constitution, the authority of the general government, and the rights of the states; served as governor 1832–1834; mayor of Charleston 1835–1837; president of the Cincinnati and Charleston railroad 1836–1839; died in Asheville, N. C., September 24, 1839.

Haynes, Charles Eaton, a Representative from Georgia; born in Mecklenburg county, Va., April 15, 1784; moved to Sparta, Ga.; completed preparatory studies; was graduated in medicine from the University of Pennsylvania, and practiced; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth, Twentieth, and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1831); defeated for reelection to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses; elected as a Unionist to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); died August 29, 1841; interment in Sparta, Ga.

Haynes, Martin Alonzo, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Springfield, N. H., July 30, 1842; moved with parents to Manchester, N. H., in 1846; attended the common schools and learned the printer's trade; in June, 1861, enlisted for the Civil war as a private in the second New Hampshire regiment, and served three years; received wounds at the first Bull Run, Glendale, and second Bull Run battles; in 1868 moved to Lake Village, N. H., where he established the Lake Village Times; member of the state house of representatives 1872–1873; clerk of the supreme court for Belknap county 1876–1883; president of the New Hampshire veteran association 1881–1882; department commander Grand Army of the Republic 1881–1882; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); appointed internal-revenue agent of the Treasury under President Harrison; a resident of Lakeport, N. H.

Haynes, William Elisha, a Representative from Ohio; born in Hoosick Falls, N. Y., October 19, 1829; moved to Ohio in 1839; attended the common schools; engaged in mercantile pursuits from 1850 until 1856, when he was elected auditor of Sandusky county, Ohio, and served two terms; enlisted in the Union army April 16, 1861, in the eighth regiment Ohio infantry; commissioned captain, and served in Western Virginia, the Shenandoah Valley, and the army of the Potomac until November, 1862, when he was commissioned lieutenant colonel of the tenth Ohio cavalry, and served with it in the army of the Cumberland until 1864; collector of internal revenue for the ninth district of Ohio 1866–1867; engaged in farming and banking; a member of the board of trustees of the Toledo insane asylum 1884–1888; delegate in the Democratic national conventions held in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1880, and in Chicago, Ill., in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1893); engaged in the banking business and is a resident of Fremont, Ohio.

Hays, Charles, a Representative from Alabama; born in Greene county, Ala., February 2, 1834; completed preparatory studies and devoted himself to agricultural pursuits; member of the constitutional convention of Alabama in 1867; member of the state senate in 1868; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first, Forty-second, Forty-third, and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1877); died at his home, "Myrtle Hall," Green county, Ala., June 24, 1879.

Hays, Edward R., a Representative from Iowa; born in Wood county, Ohio, May 26, 1847; attended Heidelburgh college, Ohio; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1869; moved to Knoxville, Iowa, in May, 1871, where he practiced law; elected to the Fifty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Edwin H. Conger, and served from December 1, 1890, to March 3, 1891; died in Knoxville, Iowa, February 28, 1896.

Hays, Samuel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ireland in 1783; came with parents to Virginia, where he received elementary instruction; moved to Pennsylvania, and located in Franklin, Venango county; sheriff of Venango county four terms; member of the state house of representatives, and of the state senate; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); an associate judge, and United States marshal for the western district of Pennsylvania; died in Franklin, Pa., July 1, 1868.

Digitized by Google

Hayes, Samuel L., a Representative from Virginia; native of Pennsylvania; moved to Stuarts Creek, Va.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843).

Hayward, Monroe Leland, a Senator from Nebraska; born in Wellsboro, Essex county, N. Y., December 22, 1840; served in the Civil war in the twenty-second New York infantry and fifth New York cavalry; was graduated from Fort Edward collegiate institute, New York; studied law in Whitewater, Wis.; moved to Nebraska in 1867; member of the constitutional convention of 1873; judge of the district court of Nebraska; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 8, 1899, until his death, in Nebraska City, Nebr., December 5, 1899.

Haywood, jr., William Henry, a Senator from North Carolina; born in Wake county, N. C., October 23, 1801; was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1819; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Raleigh, N. C.; member of the house of commons of North Carolina in 1831 and 1834–1836, and served the last year as speaker; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1843, until July 25, 1846, when he resigned; died in Raleigh, N. C., October 6, 1852.

Hazard, Jonathan J., a Delegate from Rhode Island; born in Newport, R. I., in 1728; completed preparatory studies; member of the general assembly in 1776; paymaster in the Continental battalion from Rhode Island in 1777, and joined Gen. Washington's army in New Jersey that year; reelected to the general assembly and a member of the council of war in 1778; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1787–1789; again a member of the general assembly of Rhode Island 1790–1805; moved to New York in 1805 and located upon an estate in the Friend's settlement at City Hill, where he died in 1812.

Hazard, Nathaniel, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Newport, R. I., in 1776; was graduated from Brown university in 1792; member of the state house of representatives 1818–1819, and served as speaker; elected as a Democart to the Sixteenth Congress, and served from March 4, 1819, until his death, in Washington, D. C., December 17, 1820.

Hazeltine, Abner, a Representative from New York; born in Waynesborough (now Dover), Vt., June 10, 1796; was graduated from Williams college in 1815; located in Jamestown, N. Y.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; United States commissioner for the northern district of New York; justice of the Chautauqua county court; member of the state assembly 1829 and 1830; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); district attorney of Chautauqua county 1847–1851; county judge 1860–1864; special county judge 1873–1874; United States commissioner for the district of New York; died in Jamestown, N. Y., December 20, 1879.

Hazeltine, Ira Sherwin, a Representative from Missouri; born in Andover, Windsor county, Vt., July 13, 1821; attended the common schools and pursued an academic course; taught school three years in Wisconsin and studied law; member of the Wisconsin legislature in 1867; located upon a farm near Springfield, in Greene county, Mo., in 1870; elected to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); laid out and named the city of Richland, Mo.; died in Greene county, Mo., January 13, 1899.

Hazelton, George Cochrane, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Chester, Rockingham county, N. H., January 3, 1833; attended the public schools; fitted for college at Pinkerton academy, N. H., Dummer academy in Massachusetts, and was graduated from Union college, Schenectady, N. Y., in 1858; studied law and was admitted to the New York bar; settled in Boscobel, Wis., in 1863, where he practiced his profession; prosecuting attorney of Grant county 1864, and reelected in 1866; member of the state senate 1867–1871, and served as president pro tempore of the senate 1869–1871; reelected in 1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); located in Washington, D. C., and practiced law.

Hazelton, Gerry Whiting, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Chester, N. H., February 24, 1829; pursued an academic course; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; moved to Wisconsin in 1856; elected to the state senate in 1860, and was twice chosen president pro tempore; district attorney for Columbia county in 1864; appointed collector of internal revenue for the second district in 1866 and removed by President Johnson the same year; appointed United States attorney for the district of Wisconsin in 1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); resumed the practice of law, and is a resident of Milwaukee, Wis.

Hazelton, John W., a Representative from New Jersey; born in Mullica Hill, N. J.; attended the common schools; engaged in farming; delegate to the national Republican convention in Chicago in 1868; presidential elector in 1868 on the Grant and Colfax ticket; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1865).

Heald, William Henry, a Representative from Delaware; born in Wilmington, Del., August 27, 1864; attended the public schools, and was graduated from the high school in 1880, and from Delaware college in 1883; studied law and was graduated from the law school of Columbian university, of Washington, D. C., in 1888; national-bank examiner for the states of Montana, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon 1888–1892; commenced the practice of law in 1897 in Wilmington, Del.; appointed postmaster of Wilmington by President Roosevelt in 1901, and served one term; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Healy, Joseph, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Newton, Mass., August 21, 1776; completed preparatory studies; member of the state senate in 1824; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); member of the state executive council 1829–1832; died in Washington, N. H., October 10, 1861.

Digitized by Google

Heard, John Thaddeus, a Representative from Missouri; born in Georgetown, Pettis county, Mo.; attended common schools and was graduated from the state university in Columbia in 1860; read law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced several years in Sedalia, Mo.; representative in the state legislature in 1872; member of the state senate 1880–1884; employed in 1881 by the fund commissioners of the state to prosecute and adjust all claims of the state against the general government; elected as a Democrat to the the Forty-ninth, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1895); retired from business and is a resident of Sedalia, Mo.

Hearst, George, a Senator from California; born in Franklin county, Mo., September 3, 1820; was graduated from the Franklin county mining school in 1838; in 1850 went to California, where he worked in the mines; engaged in mining, stock raising, and farming; elected to the California state legislature in 1865; became the owner of the San Francisco Examiner; appointed to the United States Senate as a Democrat, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John F. Miller, and served from March 23, 1886, to August 4, 1886; subsequently elected for the term beginning March 4, 1887, and served until his death, in Washington, D. C., February 28, 1891; interment in San Francisco, Cal.

Hearst, William Randolph, a Representative from New York; born in San Francisco, Cal., April 29, 1863; attended public schools and Harvard college; became editor and proprietor of the San Francisco Examiner in 1886; in 1895 purchased and became editor of the New York Journal, and in 1896 established the New York American; founded the Chicago American in 1900, and the Chicago Examiner in 1902; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907); was the Municipal Ownership candidate for mayor of Greater New York in November, 1905; unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor of New York in 1906; organized the Independence League party in 1908; a resident of New York City.

Heath, James P., a Representative from Maryland; born in Delaware, December 21, 1777; completed preparatory studies; served in the regular army as lieutenant of engineers 1799–1802; register in chancery in Annapolis, Md.; served throughout the war of 1812 as aid-de-camp to Gen. Winder; elected to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); defeated as the Democratic candidate for reelection; died in Georgetown, D. C., June 12, 1854.

Heath, John, a Representative from Virginia; born in Virginia; completed preparatory studies; elected to the Third and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1797).

Heaton, David, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Hamilton, Ohio, March 10, 1823; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected to the state senate in 1855; moved to St. Anthonys Falls, Minn., in 1857; member of the state senate of Minnesota 1858–1863; appointed special agent of the Treasury Department and the United States depository in Newbern, N. C., in 1863; appointed Third Auditor of the Treasury in 1864, but declined; member of the constitutional convention of North Carolina in 1867; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses and served from March 4, 1867, until his death; renominated for the Forty-second Congress; died in Washington, D. C., June 25, 1870.

Heatwole, Joel Prescott, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Waterford, Elkhart county, Ind., August 22, 1856; a printer by trade; moved to Minnesota and settled in Northfield; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1903); declined to be a candidate for the Fifty-eighth Congress; resumed newspaper work; died in Northfield, Minn., April 4, 1910.

Hebard, William, a Representative from Vermont; born in Windham, Conn., November 29, 1800; attended the common schools, and fitted for college at the Orange county grammar school in Randolph, Vt.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in East Randolph, Vt.; state attorney of Orange county for seven years; judge of probate of the Randolph district 1838, 1840 and 1841; member of the general assembly in 1835; served in the state senate in 1836 and 1838; again a member of the general assembly 1840–1842; judge of the state supreme court 1842–1845; moved to Chelsea, Vt.; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); resumed the practice of law; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1860; died in Chelsea, Vt., October 20, 1875.

Hedge, Thomas, a Representative from Iowa; born in Burlington, Iowa, June 24, 1844; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Phillips academy, Andover, Mass., in 1861, from Yale college in 1867, and from Columbia college law school, New York, in 1869; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Burlington, Iowa; served as private during the Civil war in company E and as second lieutenant in company G, one hundred and sixth New York infantry, 1864–1865; resumed the practice of law in Burlington, Iowa; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law, and is a resident of Burlington, Iowa.

Heflin, James Thomas, a Representative from Alabama; born in Louina, Randolph county, Ala., April 9, 1869; attended the common schools of Randolph county, the Southern university, Greensboro, Ala., and the A. and M. College, Auburn, Ala.; was admitted to the bar January 12, 1893; elected mayor of Lafayette, Ala., March 16, 1893, and reelected; register in chancery two years; resigned in 1896; member of the legislature in 1896–1898; member of the Democratic state executive committee 1896–1902; delegate in the constitutional convention of Alabama in 1901; elected secretary of state in November, 1902, for a term of four years; resigned that office May 1, 1904; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Charles W. Thompson; reelected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from December 5, 1904, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Heflin, Robert Stell, a Representative from Alabama; born near Madison, Ga., April 15, 1815; pursued academic studies; served in the Creek war in 1836; clerk of the superior court of Fayette county 1836–1840; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1840, and practiced in Fayetteville and Wedowee; member of the state senate 1840–1841; went to Randolph county in 1844; member of the state house of representatives in 1849 and 1860; appointed and elected judge of probate of Savannah 1865–1866; presidential elector in 1868 on the Republican ticket; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871).

Digitized by Google

Heilman, William, a Representative from Indiana; born in Albig, Rhein, Germany, October 11, 1824; came to the United States in 1843, and located in Evansville, Vanderberg county, Ind.; elected to the city council for six years; representative in the general assembly of the state in 1870; state senator in 1876; delegate to the Republican national convention in Cincinnati in 1876; resigned his seat in the state senate March 3, 1879; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); died in Evansville, Ind., September 22, 1890.

Heiner, Daniel Broadhead, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Kittanning, Pa., December 30, 1854; was graduated from Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa., in 1879; read law and was admitted to the bar of Armstrong county, Pa., in 1882; elected district attorney in 1885, reelected in 1888; chairman of the Republican county executive committee 1884–1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897).

Heitfeld, Henry, a Senator from Idaho; born in St. Louis, Mo., January 12, 1859; attended the schools of that city; moved to Seneca, Kans., in 1870, to Washington in 1882, and to Lewiston, Idaho, in 1883; engaged in farming and stock raising; elected state senator in 1894 and reelected in 1896; elected as a Populist to the United States Senate January 28, 1897, and served from March 4, 1897, to March 3, 1903; a resident of Lewiston, Idaho.

Helm, Harvey, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Danville, Boyle county, Ky., attended the Stanford male academy and was graduated from the Central university of Kentucky; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Danville, Ky.; member of the state house of representatives in 1894; county attorney of Lincoln county 1897–1905; delegate to the Democratic national convention in Kansas City in 1900; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Helmick, William, a Representative from Ohio; born in Jefferson county, Ohio, September 6, 1817; attended the public schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1845; prosecuting attorney in 1851; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); appointed by President Lincoln chief clerk of the Pension Office in 1861; resigned in 1865 and resumed the practice of law; appointed justice of the peace by President Hayes in 1877; died in Washington, D. C., March 31, 1889.

Helms, William, a Representative from New Jersey; a native of that state; served in the Revolutionary war; elected as a Democrat to the Seventh, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1811); moved to Tennessee, where he died in 1813.

Hemenway, James Alexander, a Representative and a Senator from Indiana; born in Boonville, Ind., March 8, 1860; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Boonville in 1885; in 1886, and again in 1888, elected prosecuting attorney of the second judicial circuit of Indiana; member of the Republican state committee in 1890; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, and to the five succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1895, until March 4, 1905, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles W. Fairbanks and served from March 4, 1905, to March 3, 1909; resumed the practice of law in Boonville, Ind.

Hemphill, John, a Senator from Texas; born in Chester district, S. C., December 18, 1803; was graduated from Jefferson college in 1825; located in Sumter; edited a nullification paper, 1832–1833; moved to Texas, and for many years chief justice of the supreme court of that state; elected a United States Senator, and served from March 4, 1859, until his retirement upon the secession of Texas, February 23, 1861; deputy in the provisional congress of the Confederacy in Montgomery, Ala., in February, 1861; died in Richmond, Va., January 4, 1862.

Hemphill, John James, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Chester, S. C., August 25, 1849; attended the local schools, and was graduated from the South Carolina university in 1869; studied law, was admitted to the bar in the fall of 1870, and practiced in Chester, S. C.; defeated as a candidate for the legislature in 1874; elected in 1876, 1878, and 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1893); resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C., and died there May 11, 1912.

Hemphill, Joseph, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Thornbury township, Chester county, Pa., January 7, 1770; completed a preparatory course; was graduated from the university of Pennsylvania in 1791; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1793, and began practice in West Chester, Pa.; member of the state assembly 1797–1800; elected as a Federalist to the Seventh Congress (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1803); moved to Philadelphia in 1803; member of the state legislature in 1805; appointed the first president judge of the district court of the city and county; elected to the Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1819, until his resignation in 1826; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); member of the state house of representatives in 1831–1832; died in Philadelphia, Pa., May 29, 1842.

Hempstead, Edward, a Delegate from Missouri; born in New London, Conn., June 3, 1780; pursued academic studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1801, and commenced practice in Rhode Island; moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1805; attorney general of the territory of Upper Louisiana 1809–1811; elected to the Twelfth and Thirteenth Congresses (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1815); speaker of the territorial assembly; died in St. Louis, Mo., August 10, 1817.

Hemsley, William, a Delegate from Maryland; sat in the Continental Congress, 1782–1784.

Hendee, George Whitman, a Representative from Vermont; born in Stowe, Vt., November 30,

Digitized by Google

1832; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Morrisville, Vt.; prosecuting attorney, 1858–1859; member of the state house of representatives, 1861–1862; served in the state senate, 1867–1868; lieutenant governor of Vermont in 1869 and governor in 1870; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1879); died in Morrisville, Vt., December 6, 1906.

Henderson, Archibald, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Granville county, N. C., August 7, 1768; attended the common schools, and was graduated from the Granville county academy; moved to Salisbury, N. C., about 1790; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Salisbury; master of equity in 1879; elected as a Federalist to the Sixth and Seventh Congresses (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1803); member of the house of commons of North Carolina, 1807–1808, and 1819; died in Salisbury, N. C., October 21, 1822.

Henderson, Bennett H., a Representative from Tennessee; elected to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817).

Henderson, David Bremner, a Representative from Iowa; born in Old Deer, Scotland, March 14, 1840; came with his parents to Winnebago county, Ill., in 1846, and removed to Fayette county, Iowa, in 1849; attended the common schools and the Upper Iowa university; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in the fall of 1865; enlisted in the Union army, September 15, 1861, as private in company C, twelfth regiment Iowa infantry volunteers, and elected and commissioned first lieutenant of that company, and served with it until discharged, owing to the loss of a leg, February 26, 1863; commissioner of the board of enrollment of the third district of Iowa May, 1863–June, 1864; entered the army as colonel of the forty-sixth regiment Iowa infantry volunteers, and served until the close of the war; collector of internal revenue for the third district of Iowa from November, 1865, until June, 1869, when he resigned; assistant United States district attorney for the northern division of Iowa about two years; resigned in 1871; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, and to the nine succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1903); Speaker of the House in the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses; renominated for the Fifty-eighth Congress, but declined; died in Dubuque, Iowa, February 25, 1906.

Henderson, James Pinckney, a Senator from Texas; born in Lincoln county, N. C., March 31, 1808; pursued academic studies in Lincolnton, N. C.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1829, and began practice in Mississippi in 1835; removed to the republic of Texas in 1836; appointed by President Houston attorney general, and afterwards secretary of state; visited Europe as the diplomatic representative of Texas, and in 1844 visited the United States as special minister to negotiate annexation; member of the state constitutional convention of 1845; governor of Texas in 1846; served in the Mexican war, and received a vote of thanks and a sword from Congress for bravery in action; appointed United States Senator as a States Rights Democrat, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Thomas J. Rusk, and served from November 9, 1857, until his death, in Washington, D. C., June 4, 1858.

Henderson, John, a Senator from Mississippi; born in a northern state in 1795; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Woodville, Wilkinson county, Miss., in 1820; brigadier general of militia; served in the state legislature in 1835; elected a United States Senator as a Whig, and served from March 4, 1839, to March 3, 1845; practiced in New Orleans; in 1851 was tried in the United States court in New Orleans for violation of the neutrality laws of 1818 by complicity with the Lopez expedition against Cuba; was acquitted, and retired from public life; died in Pass Christian, Miss., in 1857.

Henderson, John Brooks, a Senator from Missouri; born near Danville, Va., November 16, 1826; moved to Missouri in 1836; pursued academic studies; admitted to the bar in 1848, and practiced law; a member of the state legislature 1848–1856; presidential elector in 1856 and 1860 on the Democratic ticket; delegate in the Charleston convention of 1860, and member of the state convention in 1861; a pronounced Union man; served in the state militia in 1861; appointed and subsequently elected a United States Senator in January, 1862, to fill vacancy caused by the expulsion of Trusten Polk, reelected, and served from January 17, 1862, to March 3, 1869; a commissioner to treat with hostile tribes of Indians in 1867; appointed special United States district attorney in 1875, and was removed from office; moved to Washington, D. C.

Henderson, John H. D., a Representative from Oregon; born near Salem, Ky., July 3, 1810; moved to Missouri Territory in 1817; attended the public schools; learned the art of printing; entered the ministry and was pastor in Washington county, Pa., 1843–1851; returned to Missouri; in 1852 moved to Oregon; superintendent of public schools in Lane county in 1859; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867).

Henderson, John Steele, a Representative from North Carolina; born near Salisbury, Rowan county, N. C., January 6, 1846; entered the University of North Carolina in January, 1862, and left in November, 1864, to enter the Confederate army as a private in company B, tenth regiment North Carolina state troops; after the war studied law, and in January, 1866, entered Judge Pearson's law school at Richmond Hill, N. C.; obtained county court license in June, 1866, and superior court license in June, 1867; appointed in June, 1866, register of deeds for Rowan county, and resigned in September, 1868; member of the state constitutional convention in 1875; member of the state house of representatives in 1876, and of the state senate in 1878; elected by the general assembly in 1881 one of the three commissioners to codify the statute laws of the state; elected presiding justice of the inferior court of Rowan county in June, 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Salisbury, N. C.; elected to the state senate in 1900 and 1902; member of the board of aldermen in 1900.

Henderson, Joseph, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Shippensburg, Cumberland county, Pa., August 2, 1791; went with his parents to Center county, Pa., in 1802; attended public schools, and was graduated from the Jefferson medical college in 1813; was commissioned first lieutenant of the twenty-second regiment Pennsylvania volunteers in the spring of 1813; was promoted captain in the fall of the same year; was brevetted major, and given command of a regiment in 1814; participated in the battles of Chippewa, Lundy's Lane, and the siege of Fort Erie; located in Browns Mills, Pa., at the close of the war and practiced medicine; was elected to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); moved to Lewiston, Pa., in 1850, and continued the practice of medicine; died in Lewiston, Pa., December 25, 1863.

Digitized by Google

Henderson, Samuel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; was elected in the Thirteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Jonathan Roberts, and served from March 29, 1814, until March 2, 1815.

Henderson, Thomas, a Delegate and a Representative from New Jersey; born in Freehold, N. J., August 15, 1743; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Princeton college in 1761; studied medicine and became a member of the New Jersey medical society; also studied law and was admitted to the bar; appointed major in Col. Stewart's battalion of minute men February 15, 1776; major of Col. Heard's battalion June 14, 1776, and later lieutenant colonel and brigade major at Monmouth; member of the provincial council of 1777; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1779–80; elected to the Fourth Congress (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1797); after retiring from Congress was surrogate, member of the legislature, judge of common pleas, and a commissioner to settle boundaries between New Jersey and Pennsylvania; died in Freehold, N. J., December 15, 1824.

Henderson, Thomas Jefferson, a Representative from Illinois; born in Brownsville, Haywood county, Tenn., November 29, 1824; moved to Illinois at the age of 11; pursued academic studies; clerk of the county commissioners' court of Stark county, Ill., 1847–1849; clerk of the county court of Stark county, 1849–1853; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1852, and practiced; member of the state house of representatives 1855–1856, and the state senate 1857–1860; entered the Union army in 1862 as colonel of the one hundred and twelfth regiment of Illinois volunteer infantry; served until the close of the war and was brevetted brigadier-general in January, 1865, for gallant services; presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1868; appointed collector of internal revenue for the Fifth district of Illinois in 1871; elected to the Forty-fourth and the nine succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1895); member of the board of managers for the National Home for disabled volunteer soldiers; died in Washington, D. C., February 6, 1911.

Hendrick, John Kerr, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Caswell county, N. C., October 10, 1849; went with his parents to Logan and Todd counties, Ky.; attended the private school and Bethel college, Russellville, Ky.; moved to Crittenden county, Ky., in 1869, and engaged in school teaching; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1874; elected county attorney of Livingston county in 1878 and 1882; elected to the state senate in 1887; in 1888 chosen a delegate from the state at large to the Democratic national convention in St. Louis; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Paducah, Ky.

Hendricks, Thomas Andrews, a Representative from Indiana; born near Zanesville, Ohio, September 7, 1819; moved with his parents to Madison, Ind., then to Shelby county in 1832; pursued classical studies and was graduated from South Hanover college in 1841; studied law in Chambersburg, Pa., was admitted to the bar in 1843, and began practice in Shelbyville, Ind.; state representative in 1848 and a state senator in 1849; member of the state constitutional convention of 1851; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); Commissioner of General Land Office 1855–1859; unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor in 1860; moved to Indianapolis in 1860; elected United States Senator, and served from March 4, 1863, to March 3, 1869; elected governor in 1872; defeated for Vice-President on the Democratic ticket in 1876; elected Vice-President on the Democratic ticket in 1884; died in Indianapolis, Ind., November 25, 1885.

Hendricks, William, a Representative and a Senator from Indiana; born in Westmoreland county, Pa., November 12, 1782; attended the common schools; moved to Madison, Ind., in 1814; secretary of the first state constitutional convention; elected as a Democrat to the Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, and Seventeenth Congresses and served from March 4, 1815, until his resignation in 1822; governor of Indiana 1822–1825; elected United States Senator from Indiana; reelected in 1831, and served from March 4, 1825, to March 3, 1837; died in Madison, Ind., May 16, 1850.

Hendrix, Joseph Clifford, a Representative from New York; born in Fayette, Howard county, Mo., May 25, 1853; attended the private schools and Central college in his native place, and Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., 1870–1873; moved to New York City in 1873, and until 1883 a reporter, night city editor, and writer on New York Sun; moved to Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1873, and in 1882 appointed a member of the board of education; in 1883 defeated Democratic candidate for mayor; appointed trustee of the New York and Brooklyn bridge in 1884; elected secretary of the board of bridge trustees in 1885; appointed postmaster of Brooklyn by President Cleveland in 1886, and served until July 1, 1890; elected president of the board of education of Brooklyn in 1887; appointed rapid transit commissioner in 1889, but declined the office; became president of the Kings county trust company in 1889, and continued as such until June 1, 1893, when he became president of the National Union Bank of New York City; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); died in New York City, November 9, 1904.

Henkle, Eli Jones, a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore county, Md., November 24, 1828; completed an academic course; studied medicine, and was graduated from the University of Maryland in 1850; trustee and also professor of anatomy, physiology, and hygiene in the Maryland agricultural college; elected to the house of delegates in 1863; member of the state constitutional convention of 1864; member of the state senate in 1867, 1868, and 1870; elected to the house of delegates in 1871 and 1873; delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1872; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1881); died in Baltimore, Md., November 1, 1893.

Digitized by Google

Henley, Barclay, a Representative from California; born in Charlestown, Clark county, Ind., March 17, 1845; moved to California in 1853; returned to Indiana; attended Hanover college; returned to California; studied law in San Francisco and was admitted to the bar in 1861; district attorney of Sonoma county; member of the state assembly; nominated presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1876; nominated for the same position in 1880 and elected; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); moved from Santa Rosa to San Francisco, Cal., and is engaged in the practice of law.

Henley, Thomas Jefferson, a Representative from Indiana; born in Indiana in 1810; attended the Indiana state university; state representative 1832–1842, and speaker of the house one term; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1843,–March 3, 1849); moved to California in 1849, and engaged in banking in Sacramento; member of the first state legislature; superintendent of Indian affairs of California for seven years; postmaster of San Francisco.

Henn, Bernhart, a Representative from Iowa; born in New York in 1817; attended the public schools; moved to Fairfield, Iowa; appointed register of the United States land office in 1845 by President Polk; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); died in Fairfield, Iowa, in 1865.

Henry, Charles L., a Representative from Indiana; born in Green township, Hancock county, Ind., July 1, 1849; moved with his parents to Pendleton, Ind.; attended the common schools and Asbury (now De Pauw) university, in Greencastle, Ind.; studied law and was graduated from the law department of the Indiana university, in Bloomington, in 1872, and commenced practice in Pendleton; moved to Anderson, Ind., in 1875; state senator in 1880, 1881, and 1883; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899); declined a renomination; president and general manager of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction Co., and is a resident of Indianapolis, Ind.

Henry, Daniel Maynadier, a Representative from Maryland; born near Cambridge, Dorchester county, Md., February 19, 1823; attended Cambridge academy and St. John's college, Annapolis; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1844, and practiced in Cambridge; member of the house of delegates in 1846 and 1849; member of the state senate in 1869; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); resumed the practice of law; died in Cambridge, Md., August 31, 1899.

Henry, Edward Stevens, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Gill, Mass., February 10, 1836; moved in 1849 to Rockville, Conn.; attended the public schools; engaged in business; filled numerous local offices, serving two years as mayor; representative to the lower house of the Connecticut general assembly of 1883; state senator in 1887–1888; delegate at large to the Chicago national Republican convention in 1888; treasurer of the state of Connecticut 1889–1893; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Henry, James, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Accomac county, Va., in 1731; pursued classical studies; studied law at the university in Edinburgh, and was admitted to the bar; member of the house of burgesses; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1780–1781; judge of the court of admiralty 1782–1788; judge of the general court from December 24, 1788, to January, 1800, when he resigned; died in Accomac county, Va., December 9, 1804.

Henry, John, a Representative from Illinois; elected to the Twenty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Edward D. Baker and served from February 5, 1847, to March 3, 1847.

Henry, John, a Delegate and a Senator from Maryland; born in Easton, Md., in November, 1750; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Princeton college in 1769; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Easton; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1778–1781 and 1784–1787; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1789, until his resignation, December 10, 1797; governor of Maryland 1797–1798; died in Easton, Md., December 16, 1798.

Henry, John Flournoy, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Scott county, Ky., January 17, 1793; attended Georgetown academy, Ky.; Jefferson medical college, Philadelphia; and was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1817; served at Fort Meigs in 1813 as surgeon's mate of Kentucky troops; devoted himself to farming and to the practice of medicine; elected to the Nineteenth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the death of Robert P. Henry, and served from December 11, 1826, to March 3, 1827; in 1831 became professor in the medical college of Ohio in Cincinnati; moved to Bloomington, Ill., in 1834, and practiced; moved to Burlington, Iowa, in 1845, and continued to practice; died in Burlington, Iowa, November 12, 1873.

Henry, Patrick, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Studley, Hanover county, Va., May 29, 1736; pursued classical studies; engaged unsuccessfully in mercantile pursuits; studied law, and admitted to the bar in 1760; moved to Louisa county in 1764; member of the colonial house of burgesses in 1765; was foremost in the movement to call a Continental Congress, and was Delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1776; colonel of the first Virginia regiment for a few months; governor of Virginia 1776–1779 and 1784–1786; member of the state convention which ratified the Federal Constitution in 1788; declined the appointment of United States Senator, tendered by Governor Lee in 1794, and the cabinet portfolio of Secretary of State offered by President Washington in 1795. He also declined the appointment of chief justice of the supreme court and that of minister to France offered by President John Adams; elected to the state senate in 1799, but did not take the seat; died in Red Hill, Charlotte county, Va., June 6, 1799.

Henry, Patrick, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Madison county, Miss., February 12, 1843; entered Mississippi college in Clinton; afterwards Madison college, in Sharon, and when the war commenced was at the Nashville (Tenn.) military college; in 1861 enlisted in the Confederate service in the sixth Mississippi infantry regiment; served through the war, and surrendered at Greensboro, N. C., April 26, 1865, as major of the fourteenth (consolidated) Mississippi regiment; engaged in farming until 1873 in Hinds and Rankin counties; was admitted to the bar, and commenced the practice of law in Brandon, Miss.; member of the legislature in 1878 and 1890, and delegate from the state at large to the constitutional convention in 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1903); resumed the practice of law, and is a resident of Brandon, Miss.

Digitized by Google

Henry, Patrick, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Arkansas February 15, 1861; attended the public schools and spent two years in college; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1884; eight years attorney of the ninth judicial district, and was beginning to serve his third term of four years when appointed judge of the same district by the governor, February, 1900, which he resigned to take his seat in Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1903).

Henry, Robert Lee, a Representative from Texas; born in Linden, Cass county, Tex., May 12, 1864; located in McLennan county in 1878; was graduated from the southwestern university of Texas in June, 1885; read law, and in January, 1886, was admitted to the bar; practiced for a short time, and then took a course at the University of Texas, and was graduated with the degree of B. L. in 1887; elected mayor of Texarkana in 1890; resigned this position to accept the office of assistant attorney general; moved temporarily to Austin, and served for nearly eighteen months; appointed assistant attorney general October 3, 1893, and held the position for nearly three years; located in Waco, Tex., and practiced law; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Henry, Robert Pryor, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Henry's Mills, Scott county, Ky., November 24, 1788; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Transylvania college; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1809; prosecuting attorney; served in the War of 1812; moved to Hopkinsville; elected as a Clay Democrat to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses and served from March 4, 1823, until his death, in Hopkinsville, Ky., August 25, 1826.

Henry, Thomas, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in county Down, Ireland, in 1779; emigrated to America and located in Beaver, Pa., in 1798; appointed justice of the peace by Governor Snyder, December 24, 1808; elected county commissioner in 1810; captain of a company that went from Beaver to help defend the northern frontier from a threatened British invasion in 1814; elected a member of the state legislature in 1815; appointed prothonotory and clerk of courts 1816–1821; elected sheriff of the county in 1821; proprietor and editor of the Western Argus 1821–1831; treasurer of the county 1828–1829; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); publisher of the Western Argus 1825–1831; died in Beaver, Pa., July 20, 1849.

Henry, William, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in Chester county, Pa., May 19, 1729; justice of the court of common pleas of Lancaster county 1770, 1773, and 1777; canal commissioner of Pennsylvania 1771; member of the state assembly 1776; assistant commissary general, with the rank of colonel, for the district of Lancaster, Pa., during the whole period of the Revolutionary war; member of the council of safety 1777; treasurer of Lancaster county 1777–1785; president judge of the court of common pleas 1780; inventor of the screw augur, and the first to suggest steam as a motive power; first gave encouragement and patronage to Benjamin West, the American painter; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1784–1786; died in Lancaster, Pa., December 15, 1786.

Henry, William, a Representative from Vermont; born in Charlestown, N. H., March 22, 1788; attended the public schools; engaged in business in Chester, Vt.; engaged in the manufacturing business in Vermont and New York, and in Jaffery, N. H.; moved to Bellows Falls, Vt., in 1831; engaged in the banking business; member of the state legislature in 1834, 1835, and 1836; served in the first senate; director of the Rutland and Burlington railroad company; delegate to the first Whig national convention at Harrisburg, Pa., in 1839; presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1840; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); presidential elector on the Lincoln and Hamlin ticket in 1860; died in Chester, Pa., April 16, 1861.

Henry, Winder Laird, a Representative from Maryland; born near Cambridge, Md., December 20, 1864; attended the public schools; after a few years in mercantile life he purchased an interest in and became editor of the Cambridge Chronicle; elected to the Fifty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Robert F. Bratton, and served from December 3, 1894, to March 3, 1895; resumed newspaper work until 1898; studied law, was admitted to the bar of Dorchester county, and engaged in practice in Cambridge; chief judge first judicial circuit in April, 1908, and served until October 1, 1909; resumed the practice of law in Cambridge, Md.

Hepburn, William Peters, a Representative from Iowa; born in Wellsville, Columbiana county, Ohio, November 4, 1833; went with his parents to Iowa in April, 1841; attended the schools of the Territory and served an apprenticeship in a printing office; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1854; located in Marshall county in February, 1856; elected prosecuting attorney of Marshall county in August, 1856; elected clerk of the house of representatives at the first session that convened in Des Moines in January, 1858; in October of that year elected district attorney of the eleventh judicial district; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1860; in August, 1861, resigned the position of district attorney and became a member of the second Iowa cavalry; served as captain, major, and lieutenant colonel; resident of Memphis, Tenn., during the two years following the war; moved to Clarinda, Iowa, in June, 1867; engaged in the practice of his profession until 1881; an elector at large on the Republican ticket in 1876 and 1888; member of the Republican national conventions of 1888 and 1896; served as Solicitor of the Treasury during the administration of President Benjamin Harrison; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1887); and reelected to the Fifty-third and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1909); defeated for reelection to the Sixty-first Congress; a resident of Washington, D. C.

Digitized by Google

Herbert, Hilary Abner, a Representative from Alabama; born in Laurensville, S. C., March 12, 1834; moved to Greenville, Butler county, Ala., in 1846; attended the University of Alabama in 1853–1854 and the University of Virginia in 1855–1856; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Greenville; entered the Confederate service as captain; promoted to the colonelcy of the eighth Alabama volunteers; disabled at the battle of the Wilderness, May 6, 1864; resumed the practice of law in Greenville, Ala., until 1872, when he moved to Montgomery, Ala.; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth, and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1893); Secretary of the Navy 1893–1897; located in Washington, D. C., and practiced law.

Herbert, John C., a Representative from Maryland; native of that state; elected to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Congresses (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1819).

Herbert, Philemon T., a Representative from California; native of Alabama; moved to Mariposa City, Cal.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857).

Hereford, Frank, a Representative and a Senator from West Virginia; born in Fauquier county, Va., July 4, 1825; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced; moved to California and was district attorney of Sacramento county from October, 1855, to October, 1857; removed to West Virginia and was presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1868; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second, Forty-third, and Forty-fourth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1871, until January 31, 1877, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Allen Taylor Caperton, and served from January 26, 1877, to March 3, 1881; after leaving Congress he resumed the practice of law; died in Union, Monroe county, W. Va., December 21, 1891.

Herkimer, John, a Representative from New York; born in Montgomery (then Tryon) county, N. Y., in 1773; attended the public schools; member of the state house of representatives in 1800, 1804 and 1806; member of the state constitutional convention of 1801; moved to Danube, Herkimer county, N. Y.; major in the War of 1812 and commanded a battalion of New York volunteers in the defense of Sacketts Harbor, May 29, 1813; judge of the circuit court for several years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); moved to Meriden, N. Y.; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825); returned to Danube, where he died June 8, 1848.

Hermann, Binger, a Representative from Oregon; born in Lonaconing, Allegany county, Md., February 19, 1843; attended rural schools and the Independent academy (afterwards Irving college), near Baltimore, Md.; moved to Oregon, where he taught country schools, studied law, and was admitted to practice in 1866; elected to the state legislature, lower house, in 1866; state senator in 1868; deputy collector of internal revenue for southern Oregon, 1868–1871; receiver of public moneys at the United States land office in Roseberg, Oreg., 1871–1873; on the 27th of March, 1897, was appointed by President McKinley and confirmed Commissioner of the General Land Office, served until February 1, 1903, when he resigned; elected to the Forty-ninth and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1897); and to the Fifty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Thomas H. Tongue; reelected to the Fifty-ninth Congress, and served from November 9, 1903, to March 3, 1907; resumed the practice of law, and is a resident of Roseburg, Oreg.

Hernandez, Joseph Marion, a Delegate from Florida Territory; native of St. Augustine, Fla. (a Spanish colony); transferred allegiance to the United States; elected a first Delegate to the Seventeenth Congress, and served from January 3, 1823, to March 3, 1825; member and presiding officer of the territorial house of representatives; appointed brigadier general of volunteers in the war against the Florida Indians; entered the United States service, and served from 1835 to 1838; commanded the expedition in 1837 that captured the Indian chief Osceola; appointed brigadier general of mounted volunteers in July, 1837; died near Matanzas, Cuba, June 8, 1857.

Herndon, Thomas H., a Representative from Alabama; born in Greene (now Hale), county, Ala., July 1, 1828; was graduated from the University of Alabama; attended the law school of Harvard, Cambridge, Mass.; was admitted to the bar and practiced; member of the legislature 1857–1858; trustee of the University of Alabama 1858–1859; member of the state secession convention in 1861; major, lieutenant colonel, and colonel in the Confederate army; wounded twice in battle, and paroled May 13, 1865; Democratic candidate for governor of Alabama in 1872; member of the constitutional convention of 1875; member of the state legislature 1876–1877; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1885); died March 28, 1883.

Herndon, William Smith, a Representative from Texas; born in Rome, Ga., November 27, 1835; moved to Wood county, Tex., in May, 1852; attended McKenzie college, Texas; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1860; served in the Confederate army 1861–1865; and attained the rank of captain; resumed practice in Tyler, Smith county; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); resumed the practice of law; died in Albuquerque, N. Mex., October 11, 1903; interment in Tyler, Tex.

Herod, William, a Representative from Indiana; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Columbus, Ind.; member of the state senate; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of George L. Kinnard; reelected to the Twenty-fifth Congress and served from January 25, 1837, to March 3, 1839; defeated for reelection to the Twenty-sixth Congress.

Herrick, Anson, a Representative from New York; born in Lewiston, Me., January 21, 1812; attended the public schools; became a printer; established The Citizen at Wiscasset, Me., in 1833; moved to New York City in 1836; established the New York Atlas in 1838, which he continued until his death; city alderman 1854–1856; naval storekeeper for the port of New York 1857–1861, elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); delegate to the national Union convention in Philadelphia in 1866; died in New York City, February 5, 1868.

Digitized by Google

Herrick, Ebenezer, a Representative from Maine; born in Lincoln county, Me., October 21, 1785; attended the public schools; secretary of the state senate in 1820; member of the state constitutional convention of the same year; elected to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1827); state senator in 1828–1829; died in Lewiston, Me., May 7, 1839.

Herrick, Joshua, a Representative from Maine; born in Beverly, Mass., March 18, 1793; attended the public schools; moved to the district of Maine in 1811 and engaged in the lumber business; served in the war o f 1812; moved to Brunswick, Me., and became connected with the first cotton factory in Maine; deputy sheriff of Cumberland county for many years; deputy collector and inspector of customs at Kennebunkport 1829–1841; county commissioner of York county 1842–1843; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); again deputy collector at Kennebunkport 1847–1849; register of probate of York county 1849–1855; died in Alfred, Me., August 30, 1874.

Herrick, Richard P., a Representative from New York; born in Rensselaer county, N. Y., in 1791; member of the state house of representatives in 1839; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress and served from March 4, 1845, until his death in Washington, D. C., June 20, 1846.

Herrick, Samuel, a Representative from Ohio; born in Amenia, Dutchess county, N. Y., April 14, 1779; pursued an academic course; studied law in Carlisle, Pa., and was admitted to the bar in 1805; moved to Zanesville, Ohio, in 1810; held several local offices; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1821); presidential elector on the Jackson and Calhoun ticket in 1828; appointed United States district attorney for Ohio in 1829; died in Zanesville, Ohio, June 4, 1852.

Hersey, Samuel Freeman, a Representative from Maine; born in Sumner, Me., April 12, 1812; was graduated from Hebron academy in 1831; engaged in banking and the lumber business in Maine, Minnesota, and Wisconsin; member of the state legislature of Maine in 1842, 1857, 1865, 1867, and 1869, and of the executive council in 1851 and 1852; delegate to the Republican convention in Chicago in 1860 and in Baltimore in 1864; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress and served from March 4, 1873, until his death in Bangor, Me., February 3, 1875.

Hewes, Joseph, a Delegate from North Carolina; born in Kingston, N. J., in 1730; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Princeton college; engaged in business in Philadelphia for a time, then located in Wilmington, N. C., and engaged in mercantile pursuits; moved to Edenton, N. C., in 1763; member of the house of commons of North Carolina, 1774–1776; delegate in the Continental Congress 1774, 1777, and 1779, and served until his death. He was a member of the committee to report upon the rights of the colonies, and was a signer of the Declaration of Independence; died in Philadlephia, Pa., November 10, 1779.

Hewitt, Abram Stevens, a Representative from New York; born in Haverstraw, N. Y., July 31, 1822; attended the public schools of New York City, and was graduated from Columbia college in 1842; studied law, and was admitted to practice in October, 1845; his eyesight failing, he engaged in the iron business with Peter Cooper; and established works in New Jersey and Pennsylvania; appointed one of the ten United States scientific commissioners to visit the French exposition universelle of 1867, and made a report on iron and steel, which was published by Congress; organized and managed the Cooper Union for the advancement of science and art; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); reelected to the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1887); resigned December 30, 1886; mayor of New York City, 1887–1888; died in New York City, January 18, 1903.

Hewitt, Goldsmith Whitehouse, a Representative from Alabama; born in Jefferson county, Ala., February, 14, 1834; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1856; entered the Confederate army in June, 1861, as a private; promoted captain in 1862, and severely wounded at Chickamauga; member of the state house of representatives 1870–1871; state senator in 1872, and resigned in 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); and to the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1885); died in Birmingham, Ala., May 27, 1895.

Heyburn, Weldon Brinton, a Senator from Idaho; born in Delaware county, Pa., May 23, 1852; received an academic training; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1876, and began practice in Pennsylvania; in the winter of 1883 moved to Shoshone county, Idaho, and practiced law in Wallace; was a member of the convention that framed the constitution of the state of Idaho in 1889; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1888, 1892, 1900, and 1904; national committeeman for Idaho 1904–1908; nominee of the Republican party of Idaho for Congress in 1898, and defeated; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate; reelected, and served from March 4, 1903, until his death, in Washington, D. C., October 17, 1912.

Heyward, Thomas, jr., a Delegate from South Carolina; born in St. Luke parish, S. C., in 1746; pursued academic studies; studied law in the Temple at London; returned to his native state and established himself in the practice of law; member of the colonial assembly of South Carolina; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1776–1778; signer of the Declaration of Independence; served in the Revolutionary war as captain; taken prisoner at the capture of Charleston, May 12, 1780, and was a prisoner at St. Augustine one year; member of the state constitutional convention in 1790; judge of the civil and criminal courts both before and after the war; died on his plantation in the parish of St. Luke, S. C., March 6, 1809.

Heyward, William, a Representative from Maryland; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Princeton college in 1808; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825).

Hibbard, Ellery Albee, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in St. Johnsbury, Vt., July 31, 1826; pursued academic studies; studied law in Haverhill and Exeter, N. H., was admitted to the bar in July, 1849, and practiced in Plymouth, N. H., until 1853, and subsequently in Laconia; clerk of the New Hampshire house of representatives 1852–1854, and a member in 1865–1866; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); judge of the supreme court of New Hampshire in March, 1873; retired in 1874, and declined a reappointment under the revised judiciary system; died in Laconia, N. H., July 24, 1903.

Digitized by Google

Hibbard, Harry, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Concord, Vt., July 1, 1816; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1835; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1839, and commenced practice in Bath, N. H.; clerk of the state house of representatives 1840–1843; member and speaker 1844–1845; state senator 1846–1849; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first, Thirty-second, and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1855); died Somersville, N. H., July 27, 1872.

Hibshman, Jacob, a Representative from Pennsylvania; a native of Lancaster, Pa.; attended the common schools; held several local offices; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821).

Hickman, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Chester county, Pa., September 11, 1810; pursued English and classical studies under private tutors; started the study of medicine, but abandoned it for the study of law; was admitted to the bar in 1832 and began practice in West Chester; delegate to the Democratic convention in Baltimore in 1844; district attorney for Chester county 1844–1845; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses, as a Douglas Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress, and as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1863); state representative in 1869; died in West Chester, Pa., March 23, 1875.

Hicks, Josiah Duane, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Chester county, Pa., August 1, 1844; moved to Blair county in 1847; attended the common schools of Blair and Huntingdon counties; moved to Altoona, Pa., in the spring of 1861, and enlisted in the Union Army as a private in 1862, and served nearly eighteen months; admitted to practice law in 1875; elected district attorney of Blair county in 1880, and in 1883 reelected; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1899); resumed the practice of law in Altoona, Pa.

Hicks, Thomas Holliday, a Senator from Maryland; born in Dorchester county, Md., September 2, 1798; attended the public schools; sheriff of Dorchester county in 1831; state representative in 1836; register of wills in 1838, and held the office a number of years; member of the Maryland constitutional convention in 1849; governor of Maryland 1858–1862; took a firm stand against secession; appointed United States Senator from Maryland as a Republican, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James A. Pearce; subsequently elected and served from December 29, 1862, until his death in Washington, D. C., February 13, 1865.

Hiestand, John Andrew, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in East Donegal township, Lancaster county, Pa., October 2, 1824; attended common schools and an academy, and Pennsylvania college, Gettysburg; studied law and was admitted to the Lancaster bar in 1849; elected to the state house of representatives in 1852, 1853, and 1856 as a Whig; he purchased in October, 1858, an interest in the Lancaster Examiner printing establishment and relinquished the practice of law; state senator 1860–1863; Lincoln and Johnson elector in 1864; appointed by President Grant in 1871 naval officer at the port of Philadelphia; reappointed by him in 1875 and served eight years; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in Lancaster, Pa., December 13, 1890; interment in Marietta, Pa.

Hiester, Daniel, a Representative from Pennsylvania and from Maryland; born in Berks county, Pa., June 25, 1747; attended the public schools; engaged in business in Montgomery county; colonel and brigadier general of militia, and served in the Revolutionary war; member of the supreme executive council of Pennsylvania 1784–1786; commissioner of the Connecticut land claims in 1787; elected to the First, Second, Third, and Fourth Congresses from Pennsylvania, and served from March 4, 1789, until his resignation, July 1, 1796; moved to Hagerstown, Md.; elected from Maryland to the Seventh and Eighth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1801, until his death, in Washington, D. C., March 7, 1804.

Hiester, Daniel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Berks county; Pa.; elected to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811).

Hiester, Isaac E., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Lancaster county, Pa., about 1820; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Yale college in 1842; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Lancaster; elected attorney general for the county in 1848; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); died in Lancaster Pa., February 6, 1871.

Hiester, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Goshenhopper, Montgomery county, Pa., April 9, 1746; engaged, with his father, in the lumbering business in Bern township, Berks county, Pa.; elected to the Tenth Congress (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1809); died in Goshenhopper, Montgomery county, Pa., October 15, 1821.

Hiester, Joseph, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Berne township, Berks county, Pa., November 18, 1752; attended the common schools; engaged in mercantile pursuits; served in the Revolutionary army as captain and colonel; taken prisoner and confined on the Jersey prison ship; member of the constitutional conventions of 1776 and 1790; five years a state representative and four years a state senator; elected to the Fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George Ege; reelected to the Sixth, Seventh, and Eighth Congresses, and served from December 1, 1797, to March 3, 1805; reelected to the Fourteenth, Fifteenth, and Sixteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1815, until his resignation in December, 1820; major general of Pennsylvania militia in 1807; governor of Pennsylvania 1820–1823; died in Reading, Pa., June 10, 1832.

Hiester, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Berne township, Berks county, Pa., in 1791; attended public schools; devoted himself to farming in Lancaster county; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1837); delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1837; died in Lancaster county, Pa., October 14, 1853.

Digitized by Google

Higby, William, a Representative from California; born in Willsboro, N. Y., August 18, 1813; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the University of Vermont; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced; went to California in 1850; district attorney 1853–1859; state senator in 1862 and 1863; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1869); editor of Calaveras Chronical for several years; died in Santa Rosa, Cal., November 26, 1887; interment in Oakland, Cal.

Higgins, Anthony, a Senator from Delaware; born in Red Lion Hundred, Newcastle county, Del., October 1, 1840; attended Newark academy and Delaware college, and was graduated from Yale in 1861; studied law one year at the Harvard law school, and was admitted to the bar in 1864; appointed deputy attorney-general in September, 1864; United States attorney for Delaware from May, 1869, until 1876; Republican candidate for Congress in 1884, and elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1889, to March 3, 1895; resumed the practice of law in Wilmington, Del.; one of the attorneys for the respondent in the impeachment trial of Judge Charles Swain, in 1904–1905; died in Wilmington, Del., June 26, 1912.

Higgins, Edwin Werter, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Clinton, Conn., July 2, 1874; attended the schools of Norwich and was graduated from the Yale law school in 1897; engaged in practice in Norwich, Conn., in 1897; member of the general assembly in 1899; corporation counsel of Norwich, deputy judge of its city court, and health officer for the county of New London; served on the Republican state central committee many years; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1904; was elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress, October 2, 1905, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Frank B. Brandegee, and reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Higginson, Stephen, a Delegate from Massachusetts; born in Salem, Mass., November 28, 1743; engaged in mercantile pursuits and from 1765 to 1775 was an active and successful shipmaster; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1782–1783; navy agent at Boston 1797–1808; prominent in putting down "Shay's Rebellion;" served as lieutenant-colonel of the Boston regiment; died in Boston, Mass., November 22, 1828.

Hilborn, Samuel Greeley, a Representative from California; born in Minot, Androscoggin (then Cumberland) county, Me., December 9, 1834; attended the common schools, Hebron academy, and Gould's academy, Bethel, Me., and was graduated from Tufts college, Mass., in 1859; read law, was admitted to the bar in 1861, and moved to California; located in Vallejo, Solano county, and engaged in the practice of law; served in the state senate 1875–1879; member of the constitutional convention of 1879; appointed United States district attorney for the district of California in 1883, and moved to San Francisco; changed his residence to Oakland in 1887; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Joseph McKenna; relected to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses, and served from December 5, 1892, to March 3, 1899; died in Washington, D. C., April 19, 1899.

Hildebrant, Charles Quinn, a Representative from Ohio; born in Wilmington, Ohio, October 17, 1864; attended the public schools and Ohio state university, Columbus; elected clerk of the courts of Clinton county in 1890, and reelected in 1893 and 1896; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1905); interested in business and in agricultural pursuits in Wilmington, Ohio.

Hill, Benjamin Harvey, a Representative and a Senator from Georgia; born in Jasper county, Ga., September 14, 1823; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the University of Georgia, at Athens, in 1844; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1845, and commenced practice in La Grange, Ga.; member of the state house of representatives in 1851, 1859, and 1860; presidential elector on the Bell and Everett ticket in 1861; delegate to the state convention in 1861, and advocated the Union until the secession ordinance had been adopted; delegate to the Confederate provisional congress of 1861; senator in the Confederate congress until the close of the war; elected as a Democrat to Forty-fourth Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Garrett McMillan; reelected to the Forty-fifth Congress, and served from December 6, 1875, until March 4, 1877, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1877, until his death, in Atlanta, Ga., August 16, 1882.

Hill, Charles Augustus, a Representative from Illinois; born in Truxton, Cortland county, N. Y., August 23, 1833; attended common schools and a select school in Griffins Mills; in the spring of 1854 located in Will county, Ill., and taught school for several years; in 1856 attended Bell's commercial college, Chicago; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; returned to Will county, Ill., in 1860, and practiced; enlisted in company F, eighth Illinois cavalry, in August, 1862; appointed first lieutenant first regiment United States colored troops; commissioned in 1865 captain of company C of that regiment; after the war served for some time on detached duty as a member of a court-martial sitting in Newbern, N. C.; commanded a separate post at Elizabeth City, N. C., and mustered out September 29, 1865; returned to Will county, Ill., in 1865, and practiced law in Joliet; elected state attorney in 1868 for the counties of Will and Grundy, and declined a renomination; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); resumed the practice of law in Joliet, Ill.; in December, 1896, appointed assistant attorney general of Illinois; died in Joliet, Ill., May 29, 1902.

Hill, Clement S., a Representative from Kentucky; a native of Kentucky; elected as an Independent Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855).

Hill, David Bennett, a Senator from New York; born in Havana, Chemung (now Schuyler) county, N. Y., August 29, 1843; was graduated from the Havana academy; studied law in Elmira, and was admitted to the bar in November, 1864; city attorney the same year; served from Chemung county in the state assembly in 1871 and 1872; president of the Democratic state conventions of 1877 and 1881; mayor of Elmira in 1882; delegate in the national Democratic convention of 1884; president of the New York state bar association in 1886 and 1887; chosen lieutenant governor of the state in November, 1882; became governor on the resignation of Grover Cleveland, in January, 1885; elected governor in November, 1885; reelected in 1888; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate; presented credentials December 17, 1891; qualified January 7, 1892, and served until March 3, 1897; resumed the practice of law; died in Albany, N. Y., October 20, 1910.

Digitized by Google

Hill, Ebenezer J., a Representative from Connecticut; born in Redding, Conn., August 4, 1845; attended the public school in Norwalk, and Yale 1865–1866; in 1863 joined the army as civilian, and remained until the close of the war; engaged in business and banking in Norwalk; served twice as burgess of Norwalk, twice as chairman of the board of school visitors; delegate in the national Republican convention of 1884; member of the Connecticut senate 1886–1887; served one term on the Republican state central committee; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1909). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hill, Hugh Lawson White, a Representative from Tennessee; a native of Tennessee; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849).

Hill, Isaac, a Senator from New Hampshire; born in West Cambridge (near Arlington), Mass., April 6, 1788; attended the common schools; in 1798 moved with his parents to Ashburnham, Mass.; apprenticed to a printer in Amherst, N. H.; moved to Concord in 1809, where he purchased and for twenty years edited the "New Hampshire Patriot;" served several terms in both branches of the legislature; second comptroller of the United States Treasury 1829–1830; elected a United States Senator as a Democrat and served from March 4, 1831, to May 30, 1836, when he resigned; governor of New Hampshire 1836–1839; 1840–1841 was United States subtreasurer at Boston; returned to newspaper-publishing 1840–1847; died in Washington, D. C., March 22, 1851.

Hill, John, a Representative from Virginia; born in New Canton, Buckingham county, Va., July 18, 1800; completed preparatory studies, and attended Washington and Lee university; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1821, and practiced; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841; member of Virginia constitutional convention of 1850; commonwealth attorney for several years, and county judge 1870–1879; died in Buckingham C. H., Va., April 19, 1880.

Hill, John, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Stokes county, N. C., April 9, 1797; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1816; member of the North Carolina house of commons 1819–1822 and of the state senate 1823–1831; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); reading clerk in the senate of North Carolina in 1850; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1861; died in Raleigh, N. C., May 25, 1861.

Hill, John, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Catskill, N. Y., June 10, 1821; attended a private school; engaged in mercantile pursuits; located in Boonton, N. J.; held several local offices; postmaster 1849–1853; member of the state assembly 1861–1862 and 1866 and served during the last year as speaker; elected to the Fortieth, Forty-first, and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1873); elected in 1874 to the state senate and served three years; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); died in Boonton, N. J., July 24, 1884.

Hill, Joshua, a Representative and a Senator from Georgia; born in Abbeville district, S. C., January 10, 1812; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Madison, Ga., where he began practice; elected as an American to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, to January 23, 1861, when he resigned; appointed collector of customs at Savannah in 1866; appointed register in bankruptcy in 1867; elected to the United States Senate and served from July 28, 1868, to March 3, 1873; member of the state constitutional convention of 1877; died in Madison, Ga., March 6, 1891.

Hill, Mark Langdon, a Representative from Massachusetts, and from Maine; born in Biddeford, Mass. (now Maine), June 30, 1772; attended the public schools; served in both branches of the Massachusetts legislature; judge of the court of common pleas in 1810; elected from Massachusetts to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); elected from Maine to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); postmaster of Phippsburg; collector of customs at Bath; overseer of Bowdoin college several years; died in Phippsburg, Me., November 26, 1842.

Hill, Nathaniel Peter, a Senator from Colorado; born in Montgomery, N. Y., February 18, 1832; entered Brown university in Providence, R. I., in 1853; professor of chemistry in Brown university 1860–1864; visited Colorado in the spring of 1865, to investigate mineral resources of the "Gilpin grant;" spent a portion of 1865 and 1866 in Swansea, Wales, and Freiberg, Saxony, studying metallurgy; took up a permanent residence in Colorado in 1867 as manager of the Boston and Colorado Smelting company; member of the Territorial council in 1872 and 1873; elected to the United States Senate as a Republican, and served from March 4, 1879, to March 3, 1885; devoted himself to mining; owner and publisher of the Denver Republican; officer and director in many industrial corporations; member of commission appointed by President Benjmin Harrison in 1891 to consider the question of an international metal currency; died May 22, 1900, in Denver, Colo.

Hill, Ralph, a Representative from Indiana; born in Johnson county, Ohio, October 12, 1827; pursued an academic course; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Columbus, Ind., where he began practice; elected to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); died in Indianapolis, Ind., August 20, 1899.

Hill, Whitmill, a Delegate from North Carolina; born in Bertie county, N. C., February 12, 1743; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1760; prominently connected with the early Revolutionary movements; delegate in the assembly of freemen in Hillsboro in 1775 and the state congress in Halifax in 1776; delegate in the state constitutional convention in 1776; member of the state house of commons in 1777 and of the state senate in 1778–1780, 1784–1785; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1778–1781; died in Hills Ferry, Martin county, N. C., September 26, 1797.

Digitized by Google

Hill, William David, a Representative from Ohio; born in Nelson county, Va., October 1, 1833; attended the country schools and Antioch college; studied law in Springfield, Ohio; admitted to the bar in 1860, and practiced; mayor of Springfield; member of the state house of representatives 1866–1869; appointed superintendent of insurance by Governor Allen in 1875 and served three years; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); reelected to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); resumed the practice of law in Defiance, Ohio; city solicitor of Defiance; died near Litchfield, Ill., December 26, 1906.

Hill, William H., a Representative from North Carolina; native of that state; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected to the Sixth and Seventh Congresses (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1803); died in 1809.

Hill, Wilson Shedric, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Choctaw county, Miss., January 19, 1863; attended the common schools and the University of Mississippi; studied law in the Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn., and began practice in Winona, Miss., in 1884; member of the legislature in 1887; in 1891 elected district attorney for the fifth judicial district of Mississippi; reelected in 1895 and 1899; elected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Greenwood, Miss.

Hillen, Solomon, jr., a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore county, Md., in 1813; was graduated from Georgetown college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Baltimore; member of the state house of representatives 1834–1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); mayor of Baltimore 1842–1845.

Hillhouse, James, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Montville, Conn., October 21, 1754; was graduated from Yale college in 1773; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New Haven, Conn.; served in the Revolutionary war, and in 1779 was captain of the Governor's foot-guards when New Haven was invaded by the British under Tryon; was a representative in the state legislature 1780–1789; in the council 1789–1791; elected as a Federalist to the Second and Third Congresses (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1795); elected to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Oliver Ellsworth; reelected in 1797, 1803, and 1809, and served from May 12, 1796, to June 10, 1810, when he resigned to become commissioner of the school fund, which position he held until 1825; was elected President of the Senate pro tempore February 28, 1801; member of the Hartford convention; treasurer of Yale college 1782–1832; died in New Haven, Conn., December 29, 1832.

Hillhouse, William, a Delegate from Connecticut; born in Montville, Conn., August 25, 1728; received a liberal schooling; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served fifty years in the colonial and state house of representatives; judge of the court of common pleas for forty years; major in the second regiment of Connecticut cavalry in the Revolution; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1783–1786; died January 12, 1816, in Montville, Conn.

Hilliard, Henry Washington, a Representative from Alabama; born in Fayetteville, N. C., August 4, 1808; was graduated from the South Carolina college in 1826; studied law and moved to Athens, Ga., where he was admitted to the bar in 1829; professor in the University of Alabama 1831–1834, when he resigned to practice law in Montgomery; elected to the state legislature 1836–1838; member of the Whig national convention in 1839, and in 1840 a Whig presidential elector; chargé d'affaires to Belgium May 12, 1842, to August 15, 1844; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1851); served in the Confederate army; moved to Georgia; defeated as the Republican candidate for the Forty-fifth Congress; appointed by Jefferson Davis Confederate commissioner to Tennessee; served as a brigadier-general in the Confederate army; resumed practice in Augusta, Ga.; then moved to Atlanta; United States minister to Brazil 1877–1881; died in Atlanta, Ga., December 17, 1892

Hillyer, Junius, a Representative from Georgia; born in Wilkes county, Ga., April 23, 1807; was graduated from the State University at Athens in 1828; studied law and admitted to the bar; began practicing in Athens; elected solicitor-general for the western district of Georgia in 1834; circuit judge 1841–1845; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); solicitor of the United States Treasury December 1, 1857, to February 13, 1861, when he resigned; died in Decatur, Ga., June 21, 1886.

Hindman, Thomas Carmichael, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Knoxville, Tenn., January 28, 1829; removed with parents to Ripley, Miss.; attended the public schools; was a student in Princeton university at the beginning of the war with Mexico; served as a lieutenant in the Mexican war with the Mississippi volunteers; returned to Ripley, Miss., studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Mississippi; moved to Helena, Ark., in 1856; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); appointed brigadier-general in the Confederate army September 28, 1861, and major general in 1862; served throughout the war; resided in the City of Mexico until 1868, when he returned to Helena, Ark., where he was assassinated September 28, 1868.

Hindman, William, a Representative and a Senator from Maryland; born in Dorchester county, Md., April 1, 1743; pursued classical studies; was graduated from the Inns of Court, London, England; returned to the United States and was admitted to the bar in 1765; was secretary of the Talbot (Md.) county "committee of observation" in 1775, and was designated to carry out the declarations of the "council of safety"; sat in the state convention of 1775; treasurer of the Eastern Shore 1775–1777; member of the state senate 1777–1784; member of the Continental Congress 1784–1788; member of the executive council 1789–1792; elected to the Second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Joshua Seney; reelected to the Third, Fourth, and Fifth Congresses, and served from January 30, 1793, to March 3, 1799; member of the state legislature 1799–1800; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Lloyd, and at expiration of the term was appointed to fill vacancy caused by the failure to elect a successor; served from December 12, 1800, to November 19, 1801; died in Baltimore, Md., January 19, 1822,

Digitized by Google

Hinds, James, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Hebron, N. Y., December 5, 1833; completed a preparatory course; studied law; was graduated from the Cincinnati law college in 1856; admitted to the bar, and began practice in Minnesota; served in the Union army as a private; settled in Little Rock, Ark.; delegate to the state constitutional convention; appointed as a commissioner to to codify the state laws; elected to the Fortieth Congress, and served from June 24, 1868, until his death in Monroe, Ark., October 22, 1868.

Hinds, Thomas, a Representative from Mississippi; born in 1775; located in Greenville, Miss.; served in the War of 1812; elected as a Democrat to the Twentieth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Haile; reelected to the Twenty-first Congress, and served from December 8, 1828, to March 3, 1831; died in Greenville, Miss., August 23, 1840.

Hines, Richard, a Representative from North Carolina; native of Edgecombe county, N. C.; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); moved to Raleigh, N. C., where he died November, 1851.

Hines, William Henry, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., March 15, 1856; attended the public schools and Wyoming seminary; admitted to the bar in Luzerne county in 1881; member of the state house of representatives 1879–1880 and 1883–1884; state senator 1888–1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Hinrichsen, William H., a Representative from Illinois; born in Franklin, Ill., May 27, 1850; attended the public schools and the State University in Champaign, Ill.; elected justice of the peace in 1871 and reelected in 1873; appointed deputy sheriff of his county in 1874, and served three terms in that position; elected sheriff in 1880; clerk of the house of representatives of Illinois in 1891; secretary of state in 1892; delegate at large to the Democratic national convention of 1896; served as a member of the Democratic state committee many years, and was chairman in 1895; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); died December 18, 1907.

Hinshaw, Edmund Howard, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Greensboro, Ind., December 8, 1860; was graduated from Butler college, Indianapolis in 1885; moved to Fairbury, Nebr., and was superintendent of the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1887, and commenced practice in Fairbury, Nebr.; held various municipal and county offices, and in 1898 was nominated for Congress by the Republicans, but was defeated; candidate for the United States Senate in 1901, but, after a contest lasting three months, withdrew; was elected to the Fifty-eighth Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Fairbury, Nebr.

Hires, George, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Salem county, N. J., January 26 1835; attended the common schools and received a commercial training; engaged in mercantile and manufacturing pursuits; elected sheriff of Salem county in 1867, 1868, and 1869; state senator 1881–1884; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in Salem, N. J., February 16, 1911.

Hiscock, Frank, a Representative and a Senator from New York; born in Pompey, N. Y., September 6, 1834; pursued academic studies; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1855, and commenced practice in Tully, Onondaga county; elected district attorney of Onondaga county; serving from 1860 to 1863; member of the state constitutional convention in 1867; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1889); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1887, to March 3, 1893; a practicing lawyer in Syracuse, N. Y.

Hise, Elijah, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Allegheny county, Pa., July 4, 1802; went with parents to Russellville, Logan county, Ky., when young; completed preparatory studies; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; member of the state legislature in 1829; defeated as Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor in 1836; chargé d'affaires to Guatemala, March 31, 1848, to June 21, 1849; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1856; was chief justice of the court of appeals of Kentucky; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Henry Grider; reelected to the Fortieth Congress, and served from December 3, 1866, until his death in Russellville, Ky., May 8, 1867.

Hitchcock, Gilbert Monell, a Representative and a Senator from Nebraska; born in Omaha, Nebr., September 18, 1859; attended public schools of Omaha, and the more advanced schools of Baden Baden, Germany; was graduated from the law department of Michigan university in 1881; was admitted to the bar, and practiced until August, 1885, when he established and edited the Omaha Evening World; purchased the Morning Herald in 1889, and consolidated the two into the present Morning and Evening World-Herald; elected to the Fifty-eighth Congress, March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); defeated for the Fifty-ninth and reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911); elected to the United States Senate January 18, 1911, for the term ending March 3, 1917.

Hitchcock, Peter, a Representative from Ohio; born in Cheshire, Conn., October 19, 1781; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Yale college in 1801; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1804, and began practice in Cheshire; moved to Geauga county, Ohio, in 1806; state representative in 1810 and state senator 1812–1816, and served as its president one term; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); judge of the supreme court of Ohio 1824–1852; a portion of that time was chief justice; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1850; died in Painesville, Ohio, March 4, 1854; interment in Burton, Ohio.

Digitized by Google

Hitchcock, Phineas Warren, a Delegate and a Senator from Nebraska; born in New Lebanon, N. Y., November 30, 1831; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Williams college, Massachusetts, in 1855; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Omaha, Nebr., in 1857; delegate to the Republican convention in Chicago in 1860; appointed United States marshal in 1861; resigned in 1864; was elected as a Republican delegate to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); two years surveyor-general of Nebraska; elected United States Senator, and served from March 4, 1871, to March 3, 1877; died in Omaha, Nebr., July 10, 1881.

Hitt, Robert Roberts, a Representative from Illinois; born in Urbana, Ohio, January 16, 1834; moved to Ogle county, Ill., in 1837; attended the Rock River seminary (now Mount Morris college) and De Pauw university; reported Lincoln-Douglas debates in 1858; first secretary of legation and chargé d'affaires ad interim in Paris from December 1874, until March, 1881; Assistant Secretary of State in 1881; regent of the Smithsonian institution; commissioner to the Hawaiian Islands in 1898; elected to the Forty-seventh Congress November 7, 1882, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Robert M. A. Hawk; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, and to the eleven succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1883, until his death in Narragansett Pier, Rhode Island, September 19, 1906; interment in Mt. Morris, Ill.

Hoag, Truman H., a Representative from Ohio; born in Manlius, N. Y., April 9, 1816; attended the public schools; a clerk in a store in Syracuse 1832–1839; in the steamboat business on Lake Ontario in 1842, moving to Toledo, Ohio, in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first Congress, and served from March 4, 1869, until his death in Washington, D. C., February 5, 1870.

Hoagland, Moses, a Representative from Ohio; native of Ohio; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Millersburg, Ohio; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); appointed United States judge for Washington Territory.

Hoar, Ebenezer Rockwood, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Concord, Mass., February 21, 1816; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Harvard College in 1835; was admitted to the bar in 1840, and began practice in Concord and Boston, Mass.; elected state senator in 1846 as an antislavery Whig; judge of the court of common pleas 1849–1855; judge of the state supreme court 1859–1869; Attorney General of the United States March, 1869, until his resignation, June, 1870; member of the joint high commission which framed the treaty of Washington in 1871; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); member of the board of overseers of Harvard college 1868–1882; died in Concord, Mass., January 31, 1895.

Hoar, George Frisbie, a Representative and a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Concord, Mass., August 29, 1826; attended Concord academy; was graduated from Harvard college in 1846; studied law and was graduated from the Dane law school, Harvard university; settled in Worcester, Mass., where he practiced; city solicitor in 1860; member of the state house of representatives in 1852 and of the state senate in 1857; elected to the Forty-first, Forty-second, Forty-third, and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1877); overseer of Harvard college 1874–1880, 1896–1906; president of the association of the Alumni of Harvard; presided over the Massachusetts state Republican conventions of 1871, 1877, 1882, and 1885; delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1876, 1880, 1884, and 1888; presiding over the convention of 1880; chairman of the Massachusetts delegation in 1880, 1884, and 1888; one of the managers on the part of the House of Representatives in the Belknap impeachment trial of 1876; member of the electoral commission in 1876; regent of the Smithsonian Institution in 1880; elected to the United States Senate as a Republican; took his seat March 5, 1877, and reelected in 1883, 1889, 1895, and 1901; died in Worcester, Mass., September 30, 1904; interment in Sleepy Hollow cemetery, Concord, Mass.

Hoar, Rockwood, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Worcester, Mass., August 24, 1855; fitted for college in the Worcester public schools and was graduated from Harvard in 1876; admitted to the bar in 1879 and practiced law in Worcester; assistant district attorney for the middle district of Massachusetts 1884–1887; member of the common council of Worcester 1887–1891; aid-de-camp on the staff of Governor Oliver Ames 1887–1890; judge-advocate-general on the staff of Governor Roger Wolcott 1887–1890; district attorney from January, 1899, to January, 1905; trustee of Clark university of Worcester, Mass., and trustee for twenty years of the Worcester insane hospital; elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress and served from March 1, 1905, until his death in Worcester, Mass., November 1, 1906.

Hoar, Samuel, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Lincoln, Mass., May 18, 1778; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Harvard in 1802; for two years a private tutor in Virginia; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1805, and began practice in Concord, Mass.; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1820; state senator in 1825 and 1833; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837;) in 1844 was sent by the state legislature to South Carolina to test the constitutionality of certain acts, and on the day of his arrival, December 5, 1844, the legislature of South Carolina passed resolutions expelling him from the city of Charleston; died at Concord, Mass., November 2, 1856.

Hoar, Sherman, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Concord, Mass., July 30, 1860; attended the public schools and Phillips Exeter academy, Harvard university, and Harvard law school; was admitted to the bar and practiced in Concord; trustee of the Phillips Exeter academy and director of the American Unitarian association; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); United States district attorney for the district of Massachusetts 1893–1897; president of the Young Men's Democratic club of Massachusetts in 1884; director of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association in the war with Spain, and served in army hospitals in the South; died in Concord, Mass, October 7, 1898.

Hoard, Charles Brooks, a Representative from New York; born in Springfield, Vt., June 5, 1805; attended the public schools; moved to Antwerp, N. Y., where he was postmaster during the administrations of Jackson and Van Buren; state representative in 1837; moved to Watertown, N. Y., in January, 1844; clerk of Jefferson county 1844–1846; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); convetred factory into an armory for the manufacture of arms for the Government in 1861; moved to West Virginia in 1870; died in Ceredo, W. Va., November 20, 1886.

Digitized by Google

Hobart, Aaron, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Abington, Mass, June 26, 1787; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Brown university in 1805; studied law in East Bridgewater, Mass.; was admitted to the bar in 1819, and began practice in Abington; resumed practice in Hanover in 1811; in 1824 moved to East Bridgewater; state representative in 1814, and state senator in 1819; elected as a Democrat to the Sixteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Cabdiel Sampson; reelected to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses, and served from December 18, 1820, to March 3, 1827; executive councilor 1827–1831; judge of probate 1843–1858; died in East Bridgewater, Mass., September 19, 1858.

Hobart, John Sloss, a Delegate and a Senator from New York; born in Fairfield, Conn.; May 6, 1738, was graduated from Yale college in 1757; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in the state of New York; deputy to the provincial convention of 1775; delegate to the provincial congress 1775–1777; member of the council of safety in 1777; a puisne justice of the supreme court 1777–1798; member of the state convention of 1788 to consider the Federal constitution; member of the Hartford convention of 1780; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Philip Schuyler, and served from January 11, 1789, to April 16, 1798, when he resigned to accept the appointment as judge of the United States district court of New York; died February 4, 1805.

Hobbie, Selah Reeve, a Representative from New York; born in Newburgh, N. Y., March 10, 1797; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Delhi, N. Y.; district attorney of Delaware county, 1823–1827; served in the militia; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); second assistant Postmaster General 1829–1836;, and first assistant 1836–1851; resigned on account of ill health; again first assistant Postmaster General March 22, 1853, until his death in Washington, D. C., March 23, 1854.

Hoblitzell, Fetter S., a Representative from Maryland; born in Cumberland, Md., October 7, 1838; attended the Allegany academy; studied law; was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Baltimore in 1859; served as a private in the first Maryland regiment of infantry, Confederate army; at the close of the war resumed the practice of law; elected a member of the legislature in 1870 and 1876, and reelected in 1878, and was speaker of the house of delegates; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1885).

Hobson, Richard Pearson, a Representative from Alabama; born in Greensboro, Ala., August 17, 1870; attended the Southern university, the United States naval academy, the French national school of naval design; served in the United States navy from 1885 to 1903; Democratic elector at large, Alabama, in 1904; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hodges, Asa, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Lawrence county, Ala., January 22, 1822; moved to Marion, Ark.; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1849 and practiced until 1860; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1867; state representative in 1868, and state senator 1870–1873; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); died near Marion, Ark., June 6, 1900.

Hodges, Charles D., a Representative from Illinois; elected to the Thirty-fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Thomas L. Harris, and served from January, 1859, to March 3, 1859.

Hodges, George Tisdale, a Representative from Vermont; born in Clarendon, Vt., July 4, 1789; attended the common schools; engaged in business in Rutland, Vt.; member of the state house of representatives 1827–1829, and 1839–1840; state senator 1845–1847, and president pro tempore of the senate 1846–1847; presidential elector in 1848; president of the Bank of Rutland for over twenty-five years; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Meacham, and served from December 1, 1856, to March 3, 1857; died in Rutland, Vt., August 9, 1860.

Hodges, James Leonard, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Taunton, Bristol county, Mass., April 24, 1790; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar; a bank cashier, and postmaster of Taunton; member of the state constitutional convention of 1820; state senate 1823–1824; elected to the Twentieth, Twenty first, and Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1833); died in Taunton, Bristol county, Mass., March 8, 1846.

Hoffecker, John Henry, a Representative from Delaware; born at Mansion House, near Smyrna, Del., September 12, 1827; attended public and private schools and was graduated in civil engineering; began practice in Smyrna in 1853; elected delegate to the Republican national convention in Cincinnati in 1876, and in Chicago in 1884; elected a member of the general assembly in 1888, and on January 1, 1889, chosen speaker of the house of representatives; elected president of town council in 1878, and served continuously by reelection to 1898; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1899, until his death in Smyrna, Del., June 16, 1900.

Hoffecker, Walter Oakley, a Representative from Delaware; born near Smyrna, Del., September 20, 1854; attended public schools; was graduated from Smyrna seminary in 1872; in September, 1873, entered Lehigh university; studied civil engineering and followed that profession; president of Philadelphia and Smyrna transportation company; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father and served from December 3, 1900, until March 3, 1091; resumed business activities in Smyrna, Del.

Hoffman, Henry William, a Representative from Maryland; born in Cumberland, Md., November 10, 1825; attended the public schools, the Allegheny county academy, and was graduated from Jefferson county, Pa., in 1846; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1848; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); defeated for reelection to the Thirty-fifth Congress; elected Sergeant at Arms of the House in the Thirty-sixth Congress; collector of customs in Baltimore 1861–1866; associate judge of the sixth Maryland circuit; died in Cumberland, Md., July 28, 1895.

Digitized by Google

Hoffman, Michael, a Representative from New York; born in Half Moon, Saratoga county, N. Y., October 11, 1787; completed academic studies; studied medicine and law; was admitted to the bar and began practice in Herkimer, N. Y.; district attorney 1823–1825; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1833); county judge 1830–1833; canal commissioner of New York 1833–1835; register of the land office at Saginaw, Mich., in 1836; returned to Herkimer, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1841, 1842, and 1844; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1846; naval officer of New York City from May 3, 1845, until his death, in Brooklyn, N. Y., September 27, 1848.

Hoffman, Ogden, a Representative from New York; born in New York City October 13, 1794; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Columbia college in 1812; served for three years in the navy, and was warranted a midshipman in 1814; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Goshen, Orange county; district attorney of that county 1823; member of the legislature in 1825; returned to New York City; member of the state house of representatives in 1826 and 1828; district attorney of the city and county of New York 1829–1835; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); United States district attorney at New York 1841–1845; attorney general of the state November 8, 1853, to November 7, 1855; died in New York City May 1, 1856.

Hogan, John, a Representative from Missouri; born in Mallow, county Cork, Ireland, January 2, 1805; emigrated to the United States in 1817; located in Baltimore, Md.; apprenticed to learn the shoemaker's trade; received a limited schooling; went West in 1826, and in 1831 entered business in Madison, Ill.; president of the Illinois board of public works 1834–1837; member of the state legislature in 1836; register of the land office at Dixon, Ill., 1841–1845; moved to St. Louis, Mo., and engaged in business; postmaster of St. Louis 1857–1861; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867).

Hogan, William, a Representative from New York; born in New York City in 1792; when young went to Cape Colony, where he learned the Dutch language; returned to New York; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Columbia college; studied law and was admitted to the bar; founded the town of Hogansburg, Franklin county; member of the state house of representatives in 1823; county judge of the county; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); county judge 1829–1837; died in Washington, D. C., November 25, 1874.

Hoge, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Carlisle, Pa., September 10, 1760; pursued English studies; served in the Revolutionary war as ensign of the ninth Pennsylvania regiment; moved to western Pennsylvania in 1782, where his father, David Hoge, had founded the town of Washington the previous year; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1790; member of the state senate 1790–1794; elected to the Eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of his brother, William Hoge, and served from November 27, 1804, to March 3, 1805; died near Washington, Pa., August 4, 1824.

Hoge, John Blair, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Richmond, Va., February 2, 1825; studied law, was admitted to the bar in April, 1845; chosen president of the Bank of Berkeley, in Virginia, in 1853; served in the Virginia house of delegates 1855 to 1859; delegate from Virginia to the Democratic convention of 1860 in Charleston and Baltimore; entered the Confederate service, and served in line and staff until paroled in 1865; subsequently engaged in journalism; resumed the practice of law in West Virginia in 1870; elected to the constitutional convention of that state in 1871; member of the national Democratic committee 1872–1876; judge of the third judicial circuit in 1872, which office he resigned in August, 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); appointed United States district attorney for the District of Columbia; died in Martinsburg, W. Va., March 1, 1896.

Hoge, Joseph Pendleton, a Representative from Illinois; born in Steubenville, Ohio, December 15, 1810; attended the common schools and was graduated from Jefferson college; moved to Illinois and located in Galena in 1836; studied law and was admitted to the bar; held several local offices; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); moved to California in 1853 and was president of the state constitutional convention of 1878, and of the board of freeholders in 1880; judge of the superior court from January 1, 1889, until his death, in San Francisco, Cal., August 14, 1891.

Hoge, Solomon La Fayette, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Logan county, Ohio, July 11, 1836; received a classical education; studied law, was graduated from the Cincinnati law school in 1859, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Bellefontaine, Ohio; entered the Union Army in 1861 as first lieutenant in the Ohio volunteer infantry and promoted to captain; elected associate justice of the state supreme court; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); comptroller general of South Carolina 1874–1875; reelected to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); moved to Kenton, Ohio, in September, 1877, and practiced law until 1882; president of the first national bank of Kenton; died in Battle Creek, Mich., February 23, 1909.

Hoge, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Carlisle, Pa., in 1762; received a limited schooling; moved to western Pennsylvania in 1782, and with his brother, John, founded the town of Washington, Pa.; elected to the Seventh and Eighth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1801, until his resignation in 1804; elected to the Tenth Congress (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1809); died in Washington, Pa., September 25, 1814.

Hogeboom, James L., a Representative from New York; a member of the state house of representatives in 1804–1805 and 1808; judge of Rensselaer county 1805–1808; member of the state constitutional convention of 1821; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825).

Digitized by Google

Hogg, Charles Edgar, a Representative from West Virginia; born near Point Pleasant, W. Va., December 21, 1852; attended the common schools, and Carlton college; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in May, 1875; served four years as county superintendent of free schools of Mason county, 1875–1879; Democratic presidential elector in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); resumed the practice of law in Point Pleasant, W. Va.

Hogg, Herschel Millard, a Representative from Colorado; born in Youngstown, Ohio, November 21, 1853; was graduated from Monmouth college, Illinois, June, 1876; admitted to practice law by the supreme court of Illinois, June 17, 1878; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907); resumed the practice of law in Cortez, Colo.

Hogg, Samuel, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Caswell county, N. C., April 18, 1783; studied medicine and located in Smith county, Tenn., and practiced; moved to Lebanon county, Tenn.; commissioned a surgeon in a Tennessee regiment of volunteers in 1812, and was at the battle of New Orleans, January 8, 1815; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); president of the state medical society of Tennessee in 1840; died in Davidson county, Tenn., May 28, 1842.

Holbrook, E. D., a Delegate from Idaho; born in Elyria, Ohio, in 1836; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to practice; removed to Idaho City, Idaho; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); died in Idaho City, Idaho, June 18, 1870.

Holcombe, George, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Lambertsville, N. J., in 1786; completed preparatory studies and in 1805 was graduated from Princeton college; studied medicine and began practice in Allentown, N. J.; held several local offices; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1821, until his death, in Allentown, N. J., January 14, 1828.

Holladay, Alexander Richmond, a Representative from Virginia; born in Prospect Hill, Spotsylvania county, Va., September 18, 1811; attended the public schools, received special training under John Lewis of Spottsylvania county, and attended the University of Virginia; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Spottsylvania, Orange, and Louisa counties; member of the state legislature, and held several local offices; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); declined a renomination; moved to Richmond, Va., in 1853, and practiced law; president of the Virginia board of public works 1857–1861; died in Richmond, Va., January 29, 1877.

Holland, Cornelius, a Representative from Maine; born in Maine, July 9, 1783; studied medicine and practiced in Canton, Me.; a delegate to the constitutional convention in 1819 that established the state of Maine; member of the state house of representatives 1820 and 1821, and of the state senate 1822, 1825, and 1826; elected to the Twenty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James W. Ripley; reelected to the Twenty-second Congress, and served from December 6, 1830, to March 3, 1833; died in Canton, Me., June 2, 1870.

Holland, James, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Tryon county, N. C., in 1754; received a limited schooling; studied law and was admitted to the bar; held several local offices; elected to the Fourth Congress (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1797); reelected to the Seventh and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1811).

Holleman, Joel, a Representative from Virginia; born in Isle of Wight county, Va., October 1, 1799; completed preparatory studies; studied law; was admitted to the bar and began practice in Burwell Bay; elected as a Van Buren Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1839, until 1840, when he resigned; again elected a member of the state house of representatives and served as speaker; died in Smithfield, Va., August 5, 1844.

Holley, John M., a Representative from New York; born in Salisbury, Conn., November, 1802; was graduated from Yale college in 1822; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1825, and began practice in Lyons, N. Y.; served in the state house of representatives 1838–1841; district attorney of Wayne county 1842–1845; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress, and served from December 6, 1847, until his death in Jacksonville, Fla., March 8, 1848.

Holliday, Elias Selah, a Representative from Indiana; born in Aurora, Ind., March 5, 1842; spent the early part of life on farms in Indiana, Missouri, and Iowa; attended the common schools, and was a teacher in the public schools of Iowa; enlisted in the Civil war in the fifth Kansas regiment, and served until August 12, 1864, when he was mustered out with the rank of first sergeant; attended Hartsville college and studied law; moved to Carbon, Clay county, in 1873; was admitted to the bar and practiced; located in Brazil, Ind., in 1874; elected mayor three times; presidential elector on the Blaine ticket; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Brazil, Ind.

Hollingsworth, David A., a Representative from Ohio; born in Belmont, Belmont county, Ohio, November 21, 1844; moved with parents to Flushing, Ohio; attended public schools and Mount Union college; served in the Union army in company B, twenty-fifth Ohio volunteer infantry; studied law, and was admitted to the bar September 17, 1867, in St. Clairsville, Ohio; mayor of Flushing the same year; located in Cadiz, Ohio, and began the practice of law in September, 1869; elected prosecuting attorney of Harrison county in 1873, and reelected in 1875; in 1879 was elected state senator, and reelected in 1881; chairman of the Ohio Republican state convention in 1882; appointed attorney general of Ohio in 1883; declined to be a candidate for election, and at the close of his term, January 14, 1884, resumed the practice of law in Cadiz; one of the organizers of the Ohio state bar association, and in 1908 acted as its chairman; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–

Digitized by Google

March 3, 1911); defeated for reelection; resumed the practice of law in Cadiz, Ohio.

Holloway, David P., a Representative from Indiana; born in Waynesville, Ohio, December 6, 1809; moved with his parents to Cincinnati in 1813; attended the common schools; apprentice to a printer, and for four years worked on the Cincinnati Gazette; established the Richmond Palladium in 1832; served in both branches of the Indiana state legislature 1843–1853; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); Commissioner of Patents from March 28, 1861, to August 17, 1865; died in Washington, D. C., September 10, 1883.

Holman, William Steele, a Representative from Indiana; born in Dearborn county, Ind., September 6, 1822; attended the common schools, and Franklin college, Indiana, for two years; studied and practiced law; judge of probate 1843–1846; prosecuting attorney 1847–1849; member of the constitutional convention of Indiana in 1850; member of the legislature in 1851–1852; judge of the court of common pleas 1852–1856; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, and Thirty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1865); reelected to the Fortieth, Forty-first, Forty-second, Forty-third, and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1877); reelected to the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1895); again elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress and served from March 4, 1897, until his death in Washington, D. C., April 22, 1897.

Holmes, Adoniram Judson, a Representative from Iowa; born in Wayne county, Ohio, March 2, 1842; moved with his parents to Palmyra, Wis., in 1853; pursued an academic course; entered Milton college, Wisconsin, but left in 1862 to enter the Union Army, where he served until the close of the war; studied law in Janesville and was admitted to the bar; afterwards was graduated from the law department of the university of Michigan in 1867; commenced practice in Boone, Iowa, in 1868; member of the state house of representatives 1882–1883; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1889); was Sergeant at arms of the National House of Representatives in the Fifty-first Congress; resumed the practice of law in Boone, Iowa.

Holmes, David, a Representative from Virginia; born in Mary Ann Furnace, York county, Pa., March 10, 1770; pursued classical studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; held several local offices; elected to the Fifth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1809); appointed by President Jefferson governor of the Territory of Mississippi March 7, 1809, and served from July 1, 1809 to 1817, and governor of the state of Mississippi October 7, 1817–January 5, 1820; appointed from Mississippi to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Walter Leake, subsequently elected, and served from August 30, 1820, to September 25, 1825, when he resigned; returned to Winchester, Va., in 1827; died in Jordon's Sulphur Springs, Va., August 20, 1832; interment in Winchester, Va.

Holmes, Elias Bellows, a Representative from New York; born in Fletcher, Vt., May 27, 1807; attended the public schools; attended a law school in Pittsfield, N. Y., and in 1830 was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Brockport, N. Y. in 1831; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); died in Brockport, N. Y., July 31, 1866.

Holmes, Gabriel, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Sampson county, N. C., in 1769; attended Harvard college; studied law in Raleigh, N. C., was admitted to the bar and began practice in Clinton, N. C.; served in the state legislature 1793–1813; governor of North Carolina 1821–1824; elected to the Nineteenth, Twentieth, and Twenty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1825, until his death, near Clinton, N. C., September 26, 1829

Holmes, Isaac Edward, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., April 6, 1796; was graduated from Yale college in 1815; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Charleston; served in the state legislature in 1826–1833; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1851); moved to California in 1851 and practiced law until 1857, when he returned to South Carolina; was appointed a commissioner of the state to confer with the Federal Government; died in Charleston, S. C., February 24, 1867.

Holmes, John, a Representative from Massachusetts and a Senator from Maine; born in Kingston, Mass., March 14, 1773; was graduated from Brown university in 1796; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1799, and began practice in Alfred, Mass. (now Maine); served in both branches of the Massachusetts legislature; elected as a Democrat from Massachusetts to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1817, to March 15, 1820, when he resigned; delegate to the Maine constitutional convention; elected to the United States Senate from Maine, and served from June 13, 1820, to March 3, 1827; again elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Albion K. Parris, and served from January 15, 1829, to March 3, 1833; member of the state house of representatives 1835–1838; appointed United States attorney in 1841, and served until his death in Portland, Me., July 7, 1843.

Holmes, Sidney T., a Representative from New York; born in Schaghticoke, N. Y., August 7, 1815; completed preparatory studies; studied law, in 1841 was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Morrisville; loan commissioner for Madison county 1848–1851; surrogate for Madison county 1851–1864; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); died in Bay City, Mich., February 17, 1890; interment in Morrisville, N. Y.

Holmes, Uriel, a Representative from Connecticut; born in East Haddam, Conn., August 26, 1764; moved with parents to Hartland, Conn.; attended common schools, and was graduated from Yale college, in 1784; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Litchfield, Conn.; member of state legislature 1803–1814; judge of the Litchfield county court 1814–1817; elected to the Fifteenth Congress, and served from March 4, 1817, until 1818, when he resigned; died in Canton, Conn., May 18, 1827; interment in Litchfield, Conn.

Holsey, Hopkins, a Representative from Georgia; born in Virginia in 1799; received a good English training; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Georgia, and located in Hamilton, where he began practice; held several local offices; elected to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); moved to Athens, Ga., and engaged in the newspaper business; died in Columbus, Ga., March 31, 1859.

Digitized by Google

Holt, Hines, a Representative from Georgia; a native of that state; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Columbus, Ga.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Walter T. Colquitt, and served from February 1, 1841, to March 3, 1841; member of the state senate in 1859; member of the first Confederate congress 1862–1864; member of the constitutional convention of 1865; died in Columbus, Ga.

Holt, Orrin, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Willington, Conn., March 13, 1792; received a limited schooling; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives 1830–1832; state senator in 1835, and resigned; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); interested in military organizations of the state and held official ranks up to inspector general; died in Willington, Conn., June 20, 1855.

Holton, Samuel, a Delegate and a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Danvers, Mass., June 9, 1738; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine and practiced; member of the state house of representatives for nine years; state senator for five years; member of the governor's council twelve years; a member of the Continental Congress 1778–1787; elected president pro tempore August 17, 1785; member of state constitutional convention of 1788; elected to the Third Congress March 4, 1793–March 3, 1795); judge of the probate court for Essex county for a number of years; died in Danvers, Mass., January 2, 1816.

Holton, Hart Benton, a Representative from Maryland; born in Cecil county, Md., October 13 1835; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Woodlawn, Md., January 4, 1907.

Hook, Enos, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Waynesburg, Greene county, Pa., December 3, 1804; received a limited schooling; member of the state legislature one term; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses, and served from March 4, 1839, until April 18, 1841, when he resigned; died in Waynesburg, Pa., July 15, 1841.

Hooker Charles Edward, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Union district, S. C., in 1825; was graduated from the Cambridge law school; moved to Jackson, Miss., and entered upon practice; elected district attorney of the River district in 1850; elected to the state legislature in 1859, and resigned his seat to enter the Confederate army; promoted to the rank of colonel of cavalry, and assigned to duty on the military court attached to General Polk's command; elected attorney general of the state in 1865, and reelected in 1868; in common with the other civil officers of the state was removed by the military authorities; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1883); reelected to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1895), and again elected to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901–March, 3, 1903).

Hooker, Warren Brewster, a Representative from New York; born in Perrysburg, Cattaraugus county, N. Y., November 24, 1856; completed an academic course; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; special surrogate of Chautauqua county; supervisor of his town two terms; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second, and to the three succeeding Congresses and served from March 4, 1891, to November 10, 1898, when he resigned, having been appointed a justice of the supreme court of New York, and in 1899 was elected for a full term.

Hooks, Charles, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Bertie county, N. C., February 20, 1768; member of state house of commons 1801–1805; state senator 1810–1811; elected as a Democrat to the Fourteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William R. King, and served from December 2, 1816, to March 3, 1817; reelected to the Sixteenth, Seventeenth, and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1825); moved to Alabama in 1826; died in Montgomery county, Ala., October 18, 1843.

Hooper, Benjamin Stephen, a Representative from Virginia; born in Buckingham county, Va., March 6, 1835; attended the common schools; engaged in mercantile business and the manufacture of tobacco; elected as a Readjuster to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Farmville, Va., January 17, 1898.

Hooper, Samuel, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Marblehead, Mass., February 3, 1808; attended the common schools; became a merchant; served several terms in both branches of the legislature; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Appleton; reelected to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, Forty-second, and Forty-third Congresses, and served from December 2, 1861, until his death, in Washington, D. C., February 13, 1875.

Hooper, William, a Delegate from North Carolina; born in Boston, Mass., June 17, 1742; was graduated from Harvard college in 1760; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; moved to Wilmington, N. C., in 1767, where he began practice; member of the state house of representatives in 1773; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1774–1777; a signer of the Declaration of Independence; mover for the first provincial congress in 1774; prominent in Revolutionary movements; member of state assembly 1777–1778; in 1786 a member of the commission to settle a boundary dispute between Massachusetts and New York; died in Hillsboro, N. C., October, 1790.

Hooper, William Henry, a Delegate from Utah territory; born in Cambridge, Dorchester county, Md., December 25, 1813; attended the common schools; became a merchant; moved to Illinois in 1835 and engaged in trade upon the Mississippi; removed to Utah in 1850; served in the territorial legislature and as secretary of the territory; elected a Delegate from Utah to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); reelected to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1873); engaged in business in Salt Lake City.

Digitized by Google

Hopkins, Albert Cole, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Villanovia, Chautauqua county, N. Y., September 15, 1837; attended various schools; engaged in mercantile business in Troy, Pa., where he remained until 1867; moved to Lock Haven, Clinton county, Pa., that year and engaged in the lumber business; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); resumed business; state forestry commissioner 1899–1904; died in Lock Haven, Pa., June 9, 1911.

Hopkins, Albert Jeremiah, a Representative and Senator from Illinois; born in Dekalb county, Ill., August 15, 1846; was graduated from Hillsdale (Mich.) college in June, 1870; studied law and commenced practice in Aurora, Ill.; state's attorney of Kane county from 1872 to 1876; member of the Republican state central committee 1878–1880; presidential elector on the Blaine and Logan ticket, 1884; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and to the eight succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1903); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1903, to March 3, 1909; defeated for reelection and resumed the practice of law in Aurora, Ill.

Hopkins, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Hebron, N. Y., April 22, 1829; attended the public schools and became a telegraph operator; moved to Madison, Wis., in 1849; private secretary to Governor Bashfourd, 1856–1857; member of the state senate in 1861 and of the state house of representatives in 1865; elected to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses and served from March 4, 1867, until his death, in Madison, Wis., January 1, 1870.

Hopkins, Frank A., a Representative from Kentucky; born in Jeffersonville, Tazewell county, Va., May 27, 1853; attended the Tazewell high school; studied law and was admitted to the bar in November, 1873; in January, 1874 moved to Prestonsburg, Ky., where he was admitted to the bar; commissioner of common schools 1882–1884; in August, 1890, member of the state constitutional convention; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907).

Hopkins, George Washington, a Representative from Virginia; born in Goochland county, Va., February 22, 1804; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Lebanon, Va.; member of the state house of representatives 1833–1834; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1847); chargé d'affaires to Portugal March 3, 1847, to October 18, 1849; again a member of the state house of representatives in 1849; judge of the circuit court; elected to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); again elected to the state house of representatives; died March 2, 1861.

Hopkins, James H., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Washington county, Pa., November 3, 1832; was graduated from Washington college in 1850; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1852, and practiced in Pittsburgh, Pa., for twenty years; interested in banking, manufacturing, and mining; for several years vice president of the chamber of commerce of Pittsburgh; defeated candidate for the Forty-third Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); reelected to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in North Halley, Canada, June 17, 1904.

Hopkins, N. T., a Representative from Kentucky; successfully contested the election of Joseph M. Kendall to the Fifty-fourth Congress and served from February 18, 1897, until March 3, 1897.

Hopkins, Samuel, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Albemarle county, Va., April 9, 1753; served in the Revolutionary war; lieutenant colonel and colonel of the tenth Virginia regiment; moved to Kentucky in 1797 and practiced law; served several terms in the state legislature; in October, 1812, led 2,000 mounted volunteers in the campaign against the Kickapoo villages on the Illinois river, and later up the Wabash river; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); died in Henderson county, Ky., September 16, 1819.

Hopkins, Samuel Isaac, a Representative from Virginia; born in Prince Georges county, Md., December 12, 1843; moved in infancy to Anne Arundel county, where he attended the common schools; while a minor enlisted in company A, second Maryland Confederate infantry, and served during the war; wounded several times; after the war he located in Lynchburg; elected as a Knight of Labor to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); a resident of Lynchburg, Va.

Hopkins, Samuel Miles, a Representative from New York; born in Salem, Conn., May 9, 1772; was graduated from Yale in 1791; studied law and was admitted to the bar and began practice in LeRoy, Genesee county, N. Y., in 1793; moved to New York City in 1794 and practiced law; elected to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); member of the state house of representatives 1820–1821; moved to Albany in 1821; member of the state senate in 1822; reporter of the New York court of chancery 1823–1826; one of the commissioners to build Sing Sing prison 1825–1830; judge of the circuit state court 1832–1836; died in Geneva, N. Y., March 9, 1837.

Hopkins, Stephen, a Delegate from Rhode Island; born in Providence, R. I., March 7, 1707; attended the public schools; moved to Providence, R. I., in 1731; member of the colonial assembly, 1732–1741, and speaker in 1741; chief justice of the court of common pleas in 1739 and of the superior court 1751–1754; Delegate to the Colonial Congress which met in Albany in 1754; colonial governor of Rhode Island 1755, 1756, 1758–1761, 1763–1764, and 1767; again elected to the general assembly in 1772 and served until 1775; he held three important offices at the same time—member of the assembly, member of the Continental Congress, and chief justice of Rhode Island; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1778; a signer of the Declaration of Independence; died in Providence, R. I., July 13, 1785.

Hopkins, Stephen T., a Representative from New York; born in New York City March 25, 1849; attended the Anthon grammar school in New York City; was an iron merchant; member of the state assembly in 1885–1886; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); died in New York City March 2, 1892.

Hopkinson, Francis, a Delegate from New Jersey; was born in Philadelphia, Pa., September 21,

Digitized by Google

1737; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1757; studied law, and in 1765 was admitted to the bar; removed as royal tax receiver when he espoused the popular cause; secretary in a conference held on the Lehigh in 1761 between the state government and certain Indian tribes; settled in Bordentown, N. J.; member of the provincial council 1774-1776; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1776-1777; a signer of the Declaration of Independence; chief of the navy department under the confederation, and treasurer of the Continental loan office; judge of the admiralty of Pennsylvania for ten years, 1779-1789; judge of the United States district court for the eastern district of Pennsylvania 1790-1791; died in Philadelphia, Pa., May 9, 1791.

Hopkinson, Joseph, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., November 12, 1770; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1786; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1791, and began practice in Easton, Pa.; returned to Philadelphia; wrote the national anthem "Hail, Columbia" in 1795; elected to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Congresses (March 4, 1815-March 3, 1819); moved to Bordentown, N. J., member of New Jersey assembly; returned to Philadelphia, Pa.; judge of the United States district court eastern district of Pennsylvania 1828-1842; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1837; secretary of the board of trustees of the University of Pennsylvania 1790-1791; trustee 1806-1819, and 1822-1842; died in Philadelphia, Pa., January 15, 1842.

Horn, Henry, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa.; completed preparatory studies; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831-March 3, 1833); defeated for reelection to the Twenty-third Congress.

Hornbeck, John Westbrook, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Montague, Sussex county, N. J., January 24, 1804; completed preparatory studies and was graduated from Union college, New York, in 1827; studied law and was admitted to the bar of Lehigh county, Pa., May 3, 1830; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress, and served from March 4, 1847, until his death in Allentown, Pa., January 16, 1848.

Hornblower, Josiah, a Delegate from New Jersey; born in Staffordshire, England, February 23, 1729; completed a preparatory course, and fitted himself as a civil engineer; emigrated to the United States in 1753, and located in Belleville, N. J.; captain of a company during the French and Indian war, engaged in the defense of New Jersey; served several years as a member of the colonial house of representatives, and served as speaker in 1780; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1785-1786; judge of the Essex county court 1798-1809; died in Newark, N. J., January 21, 1809.

Horr, Roswell Gilbert, a Representative from Michigan; born in Waitsfield, Vt., November 26, 1830; moved with his parents to Lorain county, Ohio, in 1834; attended public schools and was graduated from Antioch college in 1857; the fall after his graduation elected clerk of the court of common pleas of Lorain county, and reelected in 1860; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Elyria, Lorain county, Ohio; in the spring of 1866 moved to southeastern Missouri, where he engaged in mining for six years; moved in the spring of 1872 to East Saginaw, Mich.; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1879-March 3, 1885); moved to New York City; associate editor upon the staff of the New York Tribune until his death in Plainfield, N. J., December 19, 1896.

Horsey, Outerbridge, a Senator from Delaware; born in Somerset county, Del., in 1777; received a liberal schooling; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Wilmington, Del.; for many years attorney general of Delaware; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Samuel White; reelected, and served from January 12, 1810, to March 3, 1821; died in Needwood, Md., June 9, 1842.

Horsford, Jedediah, a Representative from New York; native of Vermont; moved to Moscow, N. Y., where he held several local offices; member of the state house of representatives in 1831; elected to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851-March 3, 1853).

Horton, Thomas R., a Representative from New York; native of that state; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855-March 3, 1857).

Horton, Valentine Baxter, a Representative from Ohio; born in Windsor, Vt., January 29, 1802; attended the Partridge military school and afterwards became one of its tutors; studied law in Middletown, Conn., and in 1830 was admitted to the bar; moved to Pittsburgh, Pa., where he began practice; moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1833, and in 1835 moved to Pomeroy, Ohio, where he engaged in manufacturing; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1850; elected to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855-March 3, 1859); reelected to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861-March 3, 1863); died in Pomeroy, Ohio, January 14, 1888.

Hoskins, George Gilbert, a Representative from New York; born in Bennington, N. Y., December 24, 1824; completed preparatory studies; became a merchant; for a number of years town clerk and justice of the peace; postmaster of Bennington, N. Y., through the administrations of Presidents Taylor and Fillmore, and again under Lincoln; member of the state house or representatives in 1860, 1865, and 1866, and served as speaker in 1865; commissioner of public accounts 1868-1870; collector of internal revenue under President Grant for the twenty-ninth district of New York May 1, 1871, until March 4, 1873, when he resigned; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873-March 3, 1877); lieutenant governor of New York 1880-1883; delegate to the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1880.

Hosmer, Hezekiah L., a Representative from New York; was elected to the Fifth Congress (March 4, 1797-March 3, 1799).

Hosmer, Titus, a Delegate from Connecticut; born in Watertown, Conn., in 1736; was graduated from Yale college in 1757; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives 1773-1778 and speaker 1777; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1777-1779; judge of the maritime court of appeals 1780; died in Watertown, Conn., August 4, 1780.

Digitized by Google

Hostetler, Abraham J., a Representative from Indiana; born in Washington county, Ind., November 22, 1818; attended the common schools; apprenticed to learn the blacksmith's trade; member of the state senate 1854–1858; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); engaged in mercantile pursuits; died near Bedford, Ind., November 24, 1899.

Hostetler, Abraham J., a Representative from Indiana; born in Washington county, Ind., November 22, 1818; attended the common schools; raised on a farm; apprenticed to learn the blacksmith's trade; member of the state senate 1854–1858; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); after his term in Congress, engaged in the mercantile business; delegate in the Democratic national convention in 1880; died near Bedford, Ind., November 24, 1899.

Hostetter, Jacob, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Hanover, Pa., May 9, 1754; attended the common schools; pioneer in the manufacture of the tall eight-day clock; member of the general assembly of Pennsylvania, 1797–1802; elected as a Jefferson Democrat to the Fifteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Jacob Spangler; reelected to the Sixteenth Congress, and served from November 16, 1818, until March 3, 1821; located in Columbiana, Ohio; elected to the state senate; died in Columbiana, Ohio, June 29, 1831.

Hotchkiss, Giles Waldo, a Representative from New York; born in Windsor, Broome county, N. Y., October 25, 1815, completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Binghamton, N. Y.; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); reelected to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); died in Saratoga, N. Y., July 5, 1878.

Hotchkiss, Julius, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Waterbury, Conn., July 11, 1810; attended the common schools; engaged in manufacturing pursuits; mayor of Waterbury in 1852; member of the state legislature in 1851 and 1858; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); lieutenant governor of Connecticut in 1870; died in Middletown, Conn., December 23, 1878.

Houck, Jacob, jr., a Representative from New York; born in Schoharie, N. Y., January 14, 1801; attended the common schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; district attorney of Schoharie county 1831–1836; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); died in Schoharie, N. Y., October 22, 1857.

Hough, David, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Norwich, Conn., March 13, 1753; attended the common schools; ship carpenter and employed in building ships; moved to Lebanon, N. H., in 1778; member of the state legislature; justice of the peace; colonel of militia; delegate in the constitutional convention of 1783; commissioner of valuation in 1798; elected to the Eighth and Ninth Congresses (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1807); died in Lebanon, N. H., April 18, 1831.

Hough, William J., a Representative from New York; born in Cazenovia, N. Y.; completed preparatory studies; member of the state house of representatives in 1835 and 1836; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847).

Houghton, Sherman Otis, a Representative from California; born in New York, N. Y., April 10, 1828; completed preparatory studies; served in the Mexican war; moved to California; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; mayor of San Jose, Cal., 1855–1856; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); appointed commissioner to investigate the affairs of the United States mint in San Francisco in 1881; moved to Los Angeles in 1886 and continued to practice law; retired from active practice in 1903; a resident of Los Angeles.

Houk, George Washington, a Representative from Ohio; born in Cumberland county, Pa., September 25, 1825; moved with his parents to Dayton, Ohio, in 1827; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1847; member of the state legislature in 1852–1853; delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1876; Democratic presidential elector in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses, and served from March 4, 1891, until his death in Washington, D. C., February 9, 1894; interment in Dayton, Ohio.

Houk, John Chiles, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Clinton, Anderson county, Tenn., February 26, 1860; moved with his parents to Knoxville in 1870; was graduated from the university of Tennessee; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1884; secretary of the state Republican committee for four years; assistant doorkeeper of the national House of Representatives in the Fifty-first Congress; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of his father, Leonidas C. Houk; reelected to the Fifty-third Congress, and served from December 7, 1891, to March 3, 1895; elected to the state senate in 1896, 1898, 1900, and again in 1910; resumed the practice of law in Knoxville, Tenn.

Houk, Leonidas Campbell, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Sevier county, Tenn., June 8, 1836; attended the common schools less than three months; learned the trade of cabinetmaking; studied law, was admitted to the bar October 13, 1859, and practiced; enlisted in the Union army as a private August 9, 1861; promoted to lieutenant in the first Tennessee infantry; mustered in as colonel of the third Tennessee infantry, February 2, 1862, and served until his resignation on account of ill health, April 23, 1863; presidential elector on the Lincoln and Johnson ticket in 1864; member of the state constitutional convention in 1865; judge of the circuit court of Tennessee; moved to Knoxville and resumed the practice of law; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1868, 1880, 1884, and 1888; presidential elector on the Grant and Wilson ticket in 1872; elected to the state house of representatives in 1873–1875; presidential elector on the Hayes and Wheeler ticket in 1876; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth, and to the six succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1879, until his death in Knoxville, Tenn., May 25, 1891.

House, John Ford, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Williamson county, Tenn., January 9, 1827; attended the common schools; attended Transylvania university, Lexington, Ky., and was graduated from the Lebannon law school in 1850; was admitted to the bar; member of the state legislature 1853–1854; presidential elector on the Bell and Everett ticket in 1860; member of the provincial congress of the Confederacy from Tennessee; enlisted in the Confederate army, and served until paroled in Columbus, Miss., in June, 1865; delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1868; member of the state constitutional convention in 1870; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1885); died in Clarksville, Tenn., June 28, 1904.

Digitized by Google

Houseman, Julius, a Representative from Michigan; born in Leckendorf, in Bavaria, Germany, December 8, 1832; attended the common schools; came to the United States in 1852, and located in Grand Rapids, Mich.; engaged in the mercantile and lumber business for thirty years; alderman of Grand Rapids 1861–1870; member of the state legislature 1871–1872; mayor of Grand Rapids 1873–1875; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Grand Rapids, Mich., February 8, 1891.

Houston, George Smith, a Representative and a Senator from Alabama; born near Franklin, Williamson county, Tenn., January 17, 1808; moved with his parents to Limestone county, Ala.; attended the common schools of Athens, Ala.; studied law in Florence and in Harrodsburg, Ala., and was admitted to the bar in 1831; member of the state house of representatives in 1832; located in Athens, Ala., in 1835; state's attorney for the Florence judicial district in 1836; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1848); declined reelection to the Thirty-first Congress; reelected to the Thirty-second, and to the four succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1851, until his resignation January 21, 1861, his state having seceded; presented credentials as a Senator-elect to the United States Senate, but was not permitted to take his seat; delegate in the Union national convention in Philadelphia, in 1866; governor of Alabama, 1874–1878; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1879, until his death in Athens, Ala., December 31, 1879.

Houston, Henry Aydelotte, a Representative from Delaware; born near Millsboro, Sussex county, Del., July 10, 1847; attended the public schools; worked on a farm and went to Missouri in 1872; returned to Delaware in 1875 and taught school; engaged in the mercantile business; member of the Sussex county school commission; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); after leaving Congress engaged in lumber manufacturing in Millsboro, Del.

Houstoun, John, a Delegate from Georgia; born in Waynesboro, Ga., August 31, 1744; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Savannah; prominent in early Revolutionary movements; one of the four originators of the "Sons of Liberty"; delegate in the provincial congress of Georgia July 4, 1775; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1775–1777; was absent in Georgia when the Declaration of Independence was signed; member of the executive council in 1777; governor in 1778, and 1784; member of the commission to establish the boundary line between Georgia and South Carolina; chief justice of Georgia 1786; defeated for governor in 1787; justice for Chatham county in 1787; mayor of Savannah in 1789, 1790; judge of the state superior court in 1792; died in Savannah, Ga., July 20, 1796.

Houston, John Wallace, a Representative from Delaware; born in Concord, Sussex county, Del., May 4, 1814; attended country schools, Newark academy, and was graduated from Yale college in 1834; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1837, and began practice in Georgetown, Del., in 1839; secretary of state of Delaware 1841–1844; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1851); appointed associate judge of the superior court of Delaware May 4, 1855; delegate in the peace conference in Washington, D. C., in 1861; retired from the bench in 1893; died in Georgetown, Del., April 26, 1896.

Houston, Sam, a Representative from Tennessee, and a Senator from Texas; born near Lexington, Va., March 2, 1793; moved with widowed mother to Blount county, Tenn., where he was adopted into the Cherokee tribe of Indians; served under Gen. Jackson in the Creek war as a sergeant in the seventh United States infantry; ensign in the Thirty-ninth infantry July 29, 1813, and lieutenant in May, 1814; studied law in Nashville, Tenn., and was admitted to the bar in 1818; district attorney in 1819; adjutant general of the state in 1820; major general in 1821; elected as a Democrat to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1827); governor of Tennessee 1827–1829; resigned before the expiration of his term; on account of family troubles moved to Arkansas and subsequently to Texas in 1833; member of the constitutional convention in 1835; commander in chief of the Texas army; led the Texans against Santa-Anna and his Mexicans in the famous charge on the banks of the San Jacinto, and completely routed them, April 21, 1836; elected the first President of the republic of Texas 1836–1838; member of Texas congress 1838–1840; again President 1841–1844; elected to the United States Senate, and served from February 21, 1846, to March 3, 1859; governor of Texas 1859–1861, and deposed March 18, 1861, because he refused to take the oath of allegiance to the Confederate states; died in Huntsville, Tex., July 25, 1863.

Houston, William Cannon, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Bedford county, Tenn., March 17, 1852; attended the schools of Woodbury, Tenn.; elected to the legislature in 1876; admitted to the bar in 1878; again elected to the legislature in 1880 and 1882; member of the Democratic state executive committee for four years; chairman of the Democratic state convention in 1888; Democratic elector in 1888; elected circuit judge in 1894 and reelected in 1898; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Houston, William Churchill, a Delegate from New Jersey; born in Bull Creek, Sumpter district of North Carolina in 1745 or 1746; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1768; member of the general assembly in 1777; member of the council of safety in 1778; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1779–1782; admitted to the bar and began practice in Trenton, N. J.; again a Delegate in the Continental Congress 1784–1785; delegate in the Philadelphia constitutional convention of 1787; died in Frankford, Pa., August 12, 1788.

Digitized by Google

Houstoun, William, a Delegate from Georgia; born in Savannah, Ga., in 1755; completed preparatory studies, and attended higher schools in England; studied law, and was admitted to the Inner Temple, London, in 1776; returned to Savannah at the beginning of the Revolution, and took an active part in the cause of liberty for the colonies; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1784-1787; delegate in the constitutional convention which framed the Federal constitution in 1787, but declined to sign the instrument; one of the founders of the University of Georgia; died in Savannah, Ga., about 1833.

Hovey, Alvin Peterson, a Representative from Indiana; born in Posey county, Ind., September 6, 1821; attended the common schools of Mount Vernon; studied law, and was admitted to the bar September 25, 1842; commissioned first lieutenant June 1846, for service in the war with Mexico; elected a delegate to the constitutional convention of the state of Indiana 1850; circuit judge 1851-1854; judge of the supreme court in 1854; district attorney of the United States in 1856; removed by President Buchanan in 1858; served in the Union army; commissioned colonel of the twenty-fourth regiment Indiana volunteers July 31, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers April 28, 1862; brevet major general of volunteers July 4, 1864, "for meritorious and distinguished service during the war;" resigned October 7, 1865; commissioned United States minister to the republic of Peru in 1865; resigned in 1870; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth Congress, and served from March 4, 1887, until January 17, 1889, when he resigned; elected governor in 1888; inaugurated in January, 1889, and served until his death in Indianapolis, Ind., November 23, 1891.

Howard, Benjamin, a Representative from Virginia; born in Virginia about 1760; completed preparatory studies; moved to Kentucky; elected to the Tenth and Eleventh Congresses, and served from March 4, 1807, to April 10, 1810, when he resigned; governor of upper Louisiana 1810-1812; appointed a brigadier general of the United States army March 12, 1813, and given command of the eighth military department, embracing the territory west of the Mississippi river; died in St. Louis, Mo., September 18, 1814.

Howard, Benjamin Chew, a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore county, Md., November 5, 1791; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Princeton college in 1809; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Baltimore; served in the war of 1812; member of the state house of representatives in 1824; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829-March 3, 1823); reelected to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835-March 3, 1839); reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of the United States 1843-1862; delegate to the peace congress in 1861; died in Baltimore, Md., March 6, 1872.

Howard, Jacob Merritt, a Representative and a Senator from Michigan; born in Shaftsbury, Vt., July 10, 1805; completed preparatory studies; was graduated from Williams college in 1830; moved to Michigan; served in the state legislature in 1838; in 1854 drew up the platform of the first convention ever held by the Republican party, and christened that party; served six years as attorney general of Michigan; elected as a Republican to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841-March 3, 1843); elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Kingsley S. Bingham; reelected in 1865, and served from January 17, 1862, to March 3, 1871; died in Detroit, Mich., April 2, 1871.

Howard, John Eager, a Delegate and a Senator from Maryland; born in Baltimore county, Md., June 4, 1752; was instructed by private tutors; served in the Revolutionary war; commanded a company at the battle of White Plains, October 28, 1776; was commissioned major and was a colonel when peace was declared; was voted a medal and the thanks of Congress for gallantry at the Cowpens, January 17, 1781; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1784-1788; governor of Maryland 1789-1791, member of the state senate 1791-1795; elected to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Richard Potts, and served from November 30, 1796, to March 3, 1803; died in Baltimore, Md., October 12, 1827.

Howard, Jonas George, a Representative from Indiana; born in Floyd county, Ind., May 22, 1825; attended Asbury college, Greencastle, Ind.; was graduated in law from the state university in Bloomington, Ind., in 1851; practiced in Clark county; elected to the state legislature in 1862 and 1864; presidential elector on the Seymour and Blair ticket in 1868; again elector in the Tilden and Hendricks campaign in 1876; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885-March 3, 1889); returned to Jeffersonville, Ind., where he resumed the practice of law; died in Jeffersonville, Ind., October 5, 1911.

Howard, Milford W., a Representative from Georgia; born in Floyd county, Ga., December 18, 1862; read law in Cedartown, Ga.; moved in 1880 to Fort Payne, Ala., and was admitted to the bar; elected as a Populist to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895-March 3, 1899).

Howard, Tilghman Ashurst, a Representative from Indiana; born near Pickinsville, S. C., November 14, 1797; attended the common schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; moved to Tennessee and began practice; member of the state house of representatives in 1824; presidential elector on the Jackson and Calhoun ticket in 1825; moved in 1830 to Rockville, Ind., where he resumed practice; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1839, to August 1, 1840, when he resigned to become the Democratic candidate for governor, and was defeated; chargé d'affaires to the republic of Texas, June 11, 1844; died in Washington, Tex., August 16, 1844.

Howard, Volney E., a Representative from Texas; born in Norridgewock, Me., about 1808; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar; moved to Mississippi, and began practice in Vicksburg; was for several years editor of the "Mississippian;" fought duels with Sergeant S. Prentiss and Alexander G. McNutt; moved to San Antonio, Tex., in 1847; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849-March 3, 1853); sent on a mission to California by the President; took up his residence in that state; died in Santa Monica, Cal., May 14, 1889.

Howard, William, a Representative from Ohio; born in Jefferson county, Va., December 31, 1817; attended the common schools; moved to Batavia, Ohio; served in the war with Mexico; second lieutenant of company C second Ohio infantry August 10, 1847; mustrered out July 25, 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); served in the Civil war; major in the fifty-ninth Ohio infantry August 11, 1861; honorably discharged February 24, 1863; died in Batavia, Ohio, June 1, 1891.

Digitized by Google

Howard, William Alanson, a Representative from Michigan; was born in Hinesburg, Vt., April 8, 1813; was graduated from Wyoming academy in 1835, and from Middlebury college in 1839; moved to Michigan; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1842, and began practice in Detroit; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); successfully contested the election of George B. Cooper to the Thirty-sixth Congress, and served from May 15, 1860, until March 3, 1861; appointed postmaster of Detroit in 1861; tendered the Chinese mission in 1869, but declined it; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1868, 1872, and 1876; land commissioner of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railway in 1869–1871, and of the Northern Pacific railway in 1872–1878; settled in Yankton, Dak.; territorial governor in 1878; died in Washington, D. C., April 10, 1880.

Howard, William Marcellus, a Representative from Georgia; born in Berwick City, La., December 6, 1857; was graduated from the university of Georgia; began practice of law February, 1880; elected solicitor general of the northern circuit of Georgia in 1884; reelected in 1888 and 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1911); member board of regents of Smithsonian institution 1905–1912; appointed by President Taft a member of the tariff board March 4, 1911; one of the original trustees of the Carnegie endowment for international peace.

Howe, Albert Richards, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Brookfield, Mass., January 1, 1840; pursued classical studies; enlisted as a private in the Union army in 1861, and mustered out as major in 1865; settled in Como, Panola county, Miss., on a cotton plantation, in December, 1865; member of the Mississippi constitutional convention of 1868; delegate to the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1868; appointed treasurer of Panola county in 1869; member of the legislature of Mississippi in 1870, 1871, and 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); died in Chicago, Ill., June 1, 1884.

Howe, James Robinson, a Representative from New York; born in New York City January 27, 1839; attended the common schools, and engaged in the dry goods business; trustee in a number of public institutions in the city; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899).

Howe, John W., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of New Hampshire; moved to Franklin, Pa.; elected as a Free-Soil Whig to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853).

Howe, Thomas M., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Vermont; attended the public schools; moved to Pittsburgh, Pa., and engaged in the banking business; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855).

Howe, Thomas Y., a Representative from New York; born in Auburn, N. Y.; completed preparatory studies; inspector of Auburn prison 1834–1838; surrogate of Cayuga county 1836–1840; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); mayor of Auburn, N. Y., from March, 1853, to March, 1854.

Howe, Timothy Otis, a Senator from Wisconsin; born in Livermore, Me., February 24, 1816; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; served one term in the state legislature; moved to Wisconsin in 1845; elected judge of the circuit and supreme courts of Wisconsin in 1850, and resigned in 1855; elected as a Union Republican to the United States Senate; twice reelected, and served from March 4, 1861, to March 3, 1879; appointed one of the delegates to the International monetary conference in Paris in 1881; appointed Postmaster General December 20, 1881; entered upon duties of the office January 5, 1882, and served until his death, in Kenosha, Wis., February 25, 1883.

Howell, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Cumberland county, N. J., January 27, 1844; enlisted in the twelfth New Jersey volunteers in 1862, and served until the close of the war; elected surrogate of Middlesex county in 1882 and 1887; president of the Peoples national bank of New Brunswick, N. J.; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Howell, David, a Delegate from Rhode Island; born in New Jersey January 1, 1747; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Princeton college in 1776; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Providence, R. I.; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1782–1785; attorney general of the state in 1789; professor of law in Brown university 1790–1824; acting president of the university 1791–1792; secretary, 1780–1806; judge of the United States district court for Rhode Island 1812–1824; died in Providence, R. I., July 21, 1826.

Howell, Edward, a Representative from New York; born in Newburg, Orange county, N. Y., October 16, 1792; attended the public schools; moved to Bath in 1811; postmaster of Bath in 1818; county clerk of Steuben county 1818–1821; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1823; district attorney 1829–1834; member of the state house of representatives in 1832; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); again district attorney 1836–1840; died in Bath, N. Y., January 30, 1871.

Howell, Elias, a Representative from Ohio; native of New Jersey; attended the public schools; moved to Newark, Ohio; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); died near Newark, Ohio, May, 1844.

Howell, George, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in the city of Scranton, Pa., June 28, 1859; attended the public schools, Pennington seminary, Newton collegiate institute, Lafayette college, and was graduated from the Illinois state normal university; taught school fourteen years in Illinois, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, and served seven years as superintendent of the public schools of the city of Scranton, Pa.; presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Fifty-eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1903, to February 10, 1904, when he was succeeded by William Connell, who contested his election; superintendent of public schools of Scranton, Pa.

Digitized by Google

Howell, James Bruin, a Senator from Iowa; born near Morristown, N. J., July 4, 1816; moved to Newark, Ohio, in 1819; was graduated from Miami university in 1839; studied law at Lancaster; admitted to the bar in 1839; moved to Keosauqua, Iowa, in 1841, where he practiced for several years; engaged in newspaper work, and in 1849 moved to Keokuk; published and edited the "Daily Gate City;" delegate to the Republican national convention in 1856; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James W. Grimes, and served from January 18, 1870, to March 3, 1871; one of three commissioners appointed by President Grant to adjust claims for stores and supplies under the act of March 3, 1871, and served until March 10, 1880; died in Keokuk, Iowa, June 17, 1880.

Howell, Jeremiah Brown, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Providence, R. I., August 28, 1771; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Brown university in 1789; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Providence; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1811, to March 3, 1817; died in Providence, R. I., February 5, 1822.

Howell, Joseph, a Representative from Utah; born in Brigham city, Boxelder county, Utah, February 17, 1857; attended the common schools and Utah university; engaged in mercantile pursuits; mayor of Wellsville, and a member of the board of regents of Utah university; served three terms in the territorial legislature and one in the state senate; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Howell, Nathaniel Woodhull, a Representative from New York; born in Blooming Grove, Orange county, N. Y., January 1, 1770; was graduated from Princeton college in 1788; taught school in Montgomery, N. Y., 1789–1792; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in New York City and in Tioga county, 1794–1796, and in Canandaigua, N. Y., 1796–1851; attorney general for western New York 1799–1802; elected to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); first judge of Ontario county 1819–1832; member of the state assembly many terms; died in Canandaigua, N. Y., October 15, 1851.

Howey, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Pleasant Meadows, near Swedesboro, Gloucester county, N. J., March 17, 1828; instructed by private tutor at Pleasant Meadows and the academies in Swedesboro and Bridgeton, N. J.; engaged in quarrying and manufacturing slate; captain of company G, thirty-first regiment New Jersey volunteers, from September 3, 1862, to June 26, 1863; sheriff of Warren county, N. J., from November 13, 1878, to November 15, 1881; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Columbia, N. J., February 6, 1893.

Howland, Benjamin, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Tiverton, R. I., July 27, 1755; attended the public schools; held several local offices; member of the general assembly; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of Samuel J. Potter, and served from October 29, 1804, until March 3, 1809; died in Tiverton, R. I., May 9, 1821.

Howland, Paul, a Representative from Ohio; born in Jefferson, Ashtabula county, Ohio, December 5, 1865; completed preparatory studies, was graduated from Oberlin college, and from the law department of Harvard university; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Cleveland, Ohio; was second lieutenant first Ohio volunteer cavalry during the Spanish-American war; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Howley, Richard, a Delegate from Georgia; born in Liberty county, Ga., about 1740; received an academic training; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives; governor of Georgia in 1780; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1780–1781; returned to Liberty county, Ga., in 1783; died in Savannah, Ga., in December, 1784.

Hubard, Edmund W., a Representative from Virginia; native of that state; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1847).

Hubbard, Asahel W., a Representative from Iowa; born in Haddam, Conn., January 19, 1818; attended the public schools; moved to Indiana in 1820, where he taught school and studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1841 and practiced; member of the state legislature 1847–1849; moved to Sioux City, Iowa, in 1857; elected judge of the fourth judicial district; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1869); died in Sioux City, Iowa, September 22, 1879.

Hubbard, Chester Dorman, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Hamden, Conn., November 25, 1814; moved with his parents in 1819 to Wheeling, W. Va.; was graduated from the Wesleyan university in 1840; became a banker, and a dealer in and manufacturer of iron and lumber; member of the state legislature of Virginia in 1852 and 1853; delegate to the Virginia convention in Richmond in 1861 and opposed secession; delegate to the West Virginia convention in Wheeling the same year; state senator of West Virginia 1863–1864; delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1864 and 1880; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); died in Wheeling, W. Va., August 23, 1891.

Hubbard, David, a Representative from Alabama; born in Virginia in 1806; pursued an academic course; in his youth moved to Alabama; studied and practiced law; solicitor of his judicial district; state senator in 1830, and a state representative in 1831, 1842, 1843, 1845, and 1853; elected as a State Rights Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1845; reelected to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); presidential elector on the Breckinridge and Lane ticket in 1860; was a member of the Confederate states congress; was appointed commissioner of Indian affairs by it; after the war moved to Nashville, Tenn.; died in Louisiana in 1874.

Digitized by Google

Hubbard, jr., Demas, a Representative from New York; born in Winfield, N. Y., January 17, 1806; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice in Smyrna, N. Y.; held several local offices; state representative 1838–1840; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); died in Smyrna, N. Y., September 2, 1873.

Hubbard, Elbert Hamilton, a Representative from Iowa; born in Rushville, Ind., August 19, 1849; was graduated from Yale college in 1872; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Sioux City, Iowa; served as a member of the state house of representatives and of the senate; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911.) Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hubbard, Henry, a Representative and a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Charlestown, N. H., May 3, 1784; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1803; studied law and was admitted to the bar; state representative 1812–1815, 1819–1820, 1823–1827, and served three years as speaker; state solicitor for Cheshire county 1823–1828; probate judge 1827–1829; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1835); served as Speaker pro tempore in the Twenty-third Congress; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1835, to March 3, 1841; governor of New Hampshire 1841–1843; United States subtreasurer at Boston, Mass., 1846–1849; died in Charlestown, N. H., June 5, 1857.

Hubbard, Joel Douglas, a Representative from Missouri; born near Marshall, Saline county, Mo., November 6, 1860; attended the public school, Central college, Fayette, Mo., and was graduated from the Missouri medical college, St. Louis, in 1883; practiced medicine in Syracuse, Morgan county, Mo., until 1886; elected county clerk in that year, and reelected in 1890; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); returned to Versailles, Mo., and engaged in the banking business.

Hubbard, John Henry, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Salisbury, Conn., March 24, 1804; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1826, and commenced practice in Litchfield; county attorney for five years; twice elected state senator; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); died in Litchfield, Conn., July 30, 1872.

Hubbard, Jonathan Hatch, a Representative from Vermont; born in Tolland, Conn., May 7, 1768; completed preparatory studies; studied law was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Windsor, Vt.; elected to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811); judge of the state supreme court 1813–1845; died in Windsor, Vt., September 20, 1849.

Hubbard, Levi, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Worcester, Mass., December 19, 1762; attended common schools; engaged in farming, and prominent in state military organizations; state representative 1804–1805, and 1812, and a state senator 1806–1811; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); again state senator in 1816; an executive councilor in 1829; died in Paris, Me., February 18, 1836.

Hubbard, Richard Dudley, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Berlin, Conn., September 7, 1818; was graduated from Yale college in 1839; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1842; member of the legislature in 1842, 1855, and 1858; state attorney for Hartford county 1846–1868; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); elected governor in 1876; died in Hartford, Conn., February 28, 1884.

Hubbard, Samuel Dickinson, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Middletown, Conn., August 10, 1779; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Yale college in 1819; studied law, but devoted himself to manufacturing; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); Postmaster General August 31, 1852, to March 7, 1853; died in Middletown, Conn., October 8, 1855.

Hubbard, Thomas Hill, a Representative from New York; born in New Haven, Conn., December 8, 1781; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Yale college in 1798; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Hamilton, N. Y.; surrogate of Madison county 1806–1816; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1812; district attorney 1816–1821; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); reelected to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); moved to Utica, N. Y.; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1844 and 1852; died in Utica, N. Y., May 22, 1857.

Hubbard, William Pallister, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Wheeling, W. Va., December 24, 1843; attended public schools and Linsly institute, of Wheeling, and was graduated from Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., in 1863; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1864, and practiced in Wheeling; served in the Union army in 1865; clerk of the West Virginia house of delegates, 1866 to 1870; member of the house of delegates 1881–1882; delegate to the Republican national convention of 1888; Republican candidate for attorney general of West Virginia in 1888, and defeated; Republican candidate for Congress in 1890, and defeated; chairman of the commission to revise the tax laws of West Virginia, 1901–1903; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Wheeling, W. Va.

Hubbell, Edwin N., a Representative from New York; born in Coxsackie, N. Y., August 13, 1815; pursued an academic course; several years supervisor of Greene county; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867).

Hubbell, James Randolph, a Representative from Ohio; born in Delware county, Ohio, July 13, 1820; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; state representative four years, two of which he was speaker; presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1856; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); died in Belleville, Ohio, November 26, 1890.

Digitized by Google

Hubbell, Jay Abel, a Representative from Michigan; born in Avon, Mich., September 15, 1829; was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1853; admitted to the practice of law in 1855; moved to Ontonagon, Mich., in November, 1855; elected district attorney of the upper peninsula in 1857 and 1859; moved to Houghton, Mich., in February, 1860; elected prosecuting attorney of Houghton county in 1861, 1863, and 1865; engaged in the practice of law until 1870; identified with the development of the mineral interests of the upper peninsula; appointed by the governor of Michigan in 1876 state commissioner to the Centennial exhibition and collected and prepared the state exhibit of minerals; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1883); member of the state senate 1885–1887; circuit judge of the twelfth judicial circuit for a number of years, when he resigned; died in Houghton, Mich., October 12, 1900.

Hubbell, William S., a Representative from New York; was a native of that state; attended the public schools; state representative in 1841; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845).

Hubbs, Orlando, a Representative from North Carolina; born in New York, February 18, 1840; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883).

Hubley, Edward B., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of that state; attended the public schools; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); died in Philadelphia, Pa., February 23, 1856.

Hudd, Thomas Richard, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Buffalo, N. Y., October 2, 1835; moved to Wisconsin in 1853, and settled in Appleton; in 1868 moved to Green Bay; attended the common schools and Lawrence university; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; district attorney of Outagamie county 1856–1857; city attorney of Green Bay 1873–1874; state senator 1862–1863; member of the state assembly 1868 and 1875; state senator again 1876–1879; delegate in the Democratic national convention in Cincinnati in 1880; state senator 1882 and 1883, and reelected for the term ending December 31, 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Joseph Rankin; reelected to the Fiftieth Congress, and served from March 8, 1886 to March 3, 1889; died in Green Bay, Wis., June 22, 1896.

Hudson, Charles, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Marlboro, Mass., November 14, 1795; attended the common schools; studied theology and was ordained as a Universalist minister in 1819; state representative 1828–1833; state senator 1833–1839; executive councilor 1839–1841; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eight, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1849); naval officer port of Boston 1849–1853; edited the Boston "Daily Atlas;" assessor of internal revenue 1864–1868; died in Lexington, Mass., May 4, 1881.

Hudson, Thomas Jefferson, a Representative from Kansas; born in Jamestown, Ind., October 30, 1844; moved to Kansas in the spring of 1866 and engaged in farming for four years; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1870; member of the Kansas legislature; county attorney of his county three times; mayor of Fredonia, Kans., several times; elected as a Populist to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Fredonia, Kans.

Huff, George Franklin, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Norristown, Pa., July 16, 1842; attended the public schools in Middletown and later in Altoona; in 1867 he removed to Westmoreland county and engaged in the banking business in Greensburg, Pa.; member of the Republican national convention of 1880; president of the Keystone Coal and Coke company; member of the state senate 1884–1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); reelected as Representative-at-large to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899); again reelected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911); a resident of Washington, D. C.

Hufty, Jacob, a Representative from New Jersey; native of that state; was a judge in Salem county, N. J., 1797–1804; sheriff in 1800; director of the board of freeholders 1801; county collector 1805; member of the legislative council of New Jersey 1807; surrogate 1808; elected as a Democrat to the Eleventh, Twelfth, and Thirteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1809, until his death in Salem, N. J., May 20, 1814.

Huger, Benjamin, a Representative from South Carolina; born on Limerick plantation, near Charleston, S. C.; pursued an academic course; elected to the Sixth, Seventh, and Eighth Congresses (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1805); reelected to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); died in Waccamaw, S. C., July 7, 1823.

Huger, Daniel, a Delegate and a Representative from South Carolina; born on Limerick plantation, S. C., February 20, 1741; studied abroad; prominent in the Revolutionary war; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1786–1788; elected to the First and Second Congresses (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1793); died in Charleston, S. C., July 1, 1799.

Huger, Daniel Elliott, a Senator from South Carolina; born on Limerick plantation, S. C., June 28, 1779; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1798; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Charleston, S. C., in 1811; served in both branches of the legislature; served as judge of local courts many years; elected to the United States Senate, as a State Rights Democrat, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John C. Calhoun, and served from December 7, 1843, to March 3, 1845, when he resigned; judge of the superior court; died on Sullivans Island, S. C., August 21, 1854.

Hughes, Charles, a Representative from New York; native of Georgia; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; moved to Sandy Hill, N. Y.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); clerk of the court of appeals 1860–1862; judge advocate general of state militia 1875–1879; member of the state senate 1878–1879; provost marshal for the Sixteenth district of New York in 1862.

Digitized by Google

Hughes, Charles James, jr., a Senator from Colorado; born in Kingston, Caldwell county, Mo., February 16, 1853; was graduated from Richmond, Mo., college in 1871; was graduated from the law department of the University of Missouri in 1873, admitted to the bar, and began the practice of law in August, 1877; located in Denver in 1879 was a Democratic presidential elector in 1900; delegate to the Democratic national conventions of 1904 and 1908; was for many years professor of mining law in the law school of the University of Denver; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1909, until his death in Denver, Colo., January 11, 1911.

Hughes, Dudley Mays, a Representative from Georgia; born in Twiggs county, Ga., October 10, 1848; attended country schools and the University of Georgia, in Athens; began business life in 1870, and was also interested in agricultural pursuits; elected state senator and served one term; elected president of the Georgia state agricultural society and served four years; was commissioner general of Georgia to the World's fair at St. Louis; for twenty years connected with educational interests of Georgia; trustee of the Danville school, of the State normal institute, and of the University of Georgia; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hughes, George Wurtz, a Representative from Maryland; born in Elmira, N. Y., September 30, 1806; received a liberal schooling, and in 1827 was graduated from West Point military academy; became a civil engineer in New York City; reappointed to the army July 7, 1838, as captain of topographical engineers; served in the Mexican war; lieutenant colonel of Maryland and District of Columbia volunteers August 4, 1847; colonel October 1, 1847; honorably mustered out of volunteer service July 24, 1848; brevet major April 18, 1847, "for gallant and meritorious conduct" in the battle of Cerro Gordo, Mexico; lieutenant colonel May 30, 1848, "for meritorius conduct" while serving in the enemy's country; resigned August 4, 1851; president of the Northern Central railroad; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); died in West River, Md., September 3, 1870.

Hughes, James, a Representative from Indiana; born in Hampstead, Md., November 24, 1823; was graduated from the state university of Indiana; studied law, and in 1842 was admitted to the bar; served in the Mexican war; circuit judge for five years; professor of law in the University of Indiana 1853–1856; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); judge of the Court of Claims 1861–1865; appointed cotton agent to the Treasury Department 1866–1868.

Hughes, James Anthony, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Corunna, Ontario, February 27, 1861; moved with his parents to Ashland, Ky., in July, 1873; completed preparatory studies and engaged in business; member of the state legislature 1887 and 1888; moved to West Virginia; state senator 1894–1898; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hughes, James Madison, a Representative from Missouri; born in Bourbon county, Ky., April 7, 1809; received a liberal schooling; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Liberty, Clay county, Mo.; also engaged in mercantile pursuits in Liberty; member of the state legislature in 1839; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1855, and engaged in banking; died in St. Louis, Mo., in 1861.

Hughes, Thomas H., a Representative from New Jersey; born in Cape May, N. J., January 10, 1769; attended the public schools; elected to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1833); died in Cold Spring, N. J., November 10, 1839.

Hughes, William, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Drogheda, Ireland, April 3, 1872; attended the common schools of Paterson, N. J., and a business college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Paterson, N. J.; served in the second New Jersey volunteers in the Spanish-American war; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hughston, Jonas A., a Representative from New York; born in Sidney, Delaware county, N. Y.; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Delhi, N. Y.; district attorney of Delaware county 1842–1845; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); appointed marshal of the consular court at Shanghai, China, and died in Shanghai, China, November 10, 1862.

Huguenin, Daniel, jr., a Representative from New York; was born in Montgomery county, N. Y., February 6, 1790; pursued classical studies; served in the War of 1812; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); appointed United States marshal of the territory of Wisconsin; died in Kenosha, Wis., June 21, 1850.

Hulbert, John Whitefield, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Alford, Mass., June 1, 1770; completed preparatory studies; elected as a Federalist to the Thirteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Daniel Dewey; reelected to the Fourteenth Congress, and served from September 26, 1814, to March 3, 1817; moved to Auburn, Cayuga county, N. Y., in 1817; member of the state house of representatives in 1825; died October 19, 1831.

Hulburd, Calvin Tilden, a Representative from New York; born in Stockholm, N. Y., June 5, 1809; completed preparatory studies; was graduated from Middlebury college, Vt.; attended Yale college law school; member of the state legislature of New York 1842, 1843, 1844, and 1862; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1869); died in November, 1897.

Hulick, George Washington, a Representative from Ohio; born in Batavia, Ohio, June 29, 1833; attended public schools; took charge of Pleasant Hill academy and taught two years, during which time he studied law, was admitted to the bar by the district court March, 1857, and at once commenced practice in Batavia; enlisted as a private in company E, twenty-second regiment Ohio volunteer infantry April 14, 1861; appointed orderly sergeant and afterwards elected captain of the company; discharged August 16, 1861; elected probate judge of Clermont county in 1863 and served from February, 1864, to February, 1867; served nine years on the board of education of Batavia; delegate from Ohio to the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1868; elector in 1876 for the third district of Ohio on the Hayes and Wheeler presidential ticket; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); died in Batavia, Ohio, August 13, 1907.

Digitized by Google

Huling, James Henry, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Williamsport, Pa., March 24, 1844; attended the public schools and Dickinson seminary, in Williamsport, Pa.; served in the Pennsylvania cavalry in 1863; was engaged in the lumber business to 1869; moved to West Virginia, where he was engaged in the same business to 1874; elected mayor of Charleston, W. Va., in 1884; declined a renomination; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); reengaged in business in Charleston, W. Va.

Hull, Cordell, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Overton (now Pickett) county, Tenn., October 2, 1871; was graduated from the law department of Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn.; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Carthage, Tenn.; member of the lower house of the state legislature two terms; served in the fourth regiment, Tennessee volunteer infantry, during the Spanish-American war, with the rank of captain; judge of the fifth judicial circuit of Tennessee; resigned in 1906; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Hull, John Albert Tiffin, a Representative from Iowa; born in Sabina, Clinton county, Ohio, May 1, 1841; moved with his parents to Iowa in 1849; attended public schools, Asbury (Indiana) university, and Iowa Wesleyan college, in Mount Pleasant; was graduated from the Cincinnati (Ohio) law school in the spring of 1862; enlisted in the twenty-third Iowa infantry July, 1862; first lieutenant and captain; wounded in the charge on intrenchments at Black River May 17, 1863; resigned on account of wounds October, 1863; elected secretary of the Iowa state senate in 1872, and reelected in 1874, 1876, and 1878; secretary of state in 1878 and reelected in 1880 and 1882; elected lieutenant governor in 1885 and reelected in 1887; engaged in farming and banking; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second and to the nine succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C.

Hull, Noble Andrew, a Representative from Florida; born in Little York, Camden county, Ga., March 11, 1827; attended the schools of Camden and Savannah, Ga.; became a merchant; member of the house of representatives of Florida in 1860 and 1861; captain of cavalry in the Confederate army; elected lieutenant governor of Florida in 1876; presented credentials as a Democratic Member-elect to the Forty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1879, to January 22, 1881, when he was succeeded by Horatio Bishop, jr., who contested his election; died in Jacksonville, Fla., January 28, 1907.

Humphrey, Charles, a Representative from New York; born in Orange county, N. Y., in 1791; attended public schools; moved to Ithaca, Tompkins county; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); surrogate 1831–1834; member of the state house of representatives 1834–1836 and 1842, and served as speaker January 6, 1835, to May 26, 1836; died in Albany, N. Y., July 18, 1850.

Humphrey, Herman Leon, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Candor, Tioga county, N. Y., March 14, 1830; received a public school training, with the addition of one year in Cortland academy; became a clerk in Ithaca, N. Y.; after several years in business he studied law, was admitted to the bar in July, 1854, and moved to Hudson, Wis., where he commenced practice in January, 1855; appointed district attorney of St. Croix county; was appointed county judge to fill a vacancy, in the fall of 1860, and in the spring of 1861 was elected for the full term of four years; elected to the state senate for two years, and in February, 1862, resigned the office of county judge; mayor of Hudson one year; elected in the spring of 1866 judge of the eighth judicial circuit, and reelected in 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); resumed the practice of law; reelected to the legislature in 1886; died in Hudson, Wis., June 10, 1902.

Humphrey, James, a Representative from New York; born in Fairfield, Conn., October 9, 1811; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Amherst college in 1831; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; moved to Louisville, Ky., in 1837, and one year later to New York; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); reelected to the Thirty-ninth Congress, and served from March 4, 1865, until his death in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 16, 1866.

Humphrey, James Morgan, a Representative from New York; born in Holland, N. Y., September 21, 1819; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; district attorney for Erie county 1857–1859; member of the state senate 1863–1865; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); appointed to the superior court of Buffalo, N. Y., in 1871, and served until January 1, 1873; died in Buffalo, N. Y., February 9, 1899.

Humphrey, Reuben, a Representative from New York; was a native of that state; completed preparatory studies; judge of Onandaga county 1804–1806; member of the state senate 1811–1814; elected to the Tenth Congress (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1809).

Humphrey, William E., a Representative from Washington; born near Alamo, Montgomery county, Ind., March 31, 1862; attended common schools and was graduated from Wabash college, Crawfordsville, Ind., in 1887; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1887, and practiced in Crawfordsville until 1893; in 1893 removed to Seattle, Wash., where he practiced his profession; in 1898 was elected corporation counsel of the city of Seattle; reelected in 1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Humphreys, Andrew, a Representative from Indiana; elected to the Forty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James D. Williams, and served from December 5, 1876, to March 3, 1877.

Digitized by Google

Humphreys, Benjamin Grubb, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Claiborne county, Miss., August 17, 1865; attended the University of Mississippi until the close of his junior year; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in November, 1891; superintendent of education for Leflore county 1892–1896; district attorney for the fourth district of Mississippi 1895–1899; reelected in 1899; raised a company in April, 1898, for service in the Spanish-American war and was its first lieutenant; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Humphreys, Charles, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in Haverford, Pa., in 1712; completed preparatory studies; engaged in milling; member of the provincial congress, 1764–1774; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1776; voted against the Declaration of Independence, as he was a Quaker and opposed to war; died in Haverford, Pa., March 11, 1786.

Humphreys, Parry W., a Representative from Tennessee; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Tennessee; judge of the superior court of Tennessee 1807–1809; judge of the state judicial circuit 1809–1813, and 1818–1836; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); moved to Hernando, Miss., and was president of the bank of Hernando; died in Hernando, Miss., March 1, 1839.

Hungerford, John Newton, a Representative from New York; born in Vernon, Oneida county, N. Y., December 31, 1825; completed preparatory studies, and in 1846 was graduated from Hamilton college; engaged in the banking business in Corning in 1848; delegate in the Republican national convention in Philadelphia in 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); died in Corning, N. Y., April 2, 1883.

Hungerford, John Pratt, a Representative from Virginia; born in Leeds, Westmoreland county, Va., in January 2, 1761; received a thorough English training; served in the Revolutionary war; member of the house of delegates for several terms; presented credentials as a Democratic Member-elect to the Twelfth Congress, and served from March 4, 1811, to December 2, 1811, when he was succeeded by John Taliaferro, who contested his election; elected to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); served in the war of 1812 as brigadier general of militia; died in Twiford, Westmoreland county, Va., December 21, 1833.

Hungerford, Orville, a Representative from New York; born in Farmington, Conn., October 20, 1790; attended the public schools, and moved to Watertown, N. Y.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; presidential elector in 1836; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); died in Watertown, N. Y., April 6, 1855.

Hunt, Carleton, a Representative from Louisiana; born in New Orleans, La., January 1, 1836; was graduated from Harvard college in 1856, and from the law department of the University of Louisiana in 1858; admitted to the bar in 1858; elected in 1860 a member of the convention of the Constitutional Union party which met in Baton Rouge, La.; appointed in April, 1861, first lieutenant in the Louisiana regiment of artillery, Confederate army; administrator of the University of Louisiana in 1866; appointed professor of admiralty and international law in the University of Louisiana in 1869, and later dean of the faculty for ten years; professor of civil law in the University of Louisiana in 1879; doctor of laws in the same university in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); resumed the practice of law in New Orleans, La.

Hunt, Hiram P., a Representative from New York; native of that state; attended the public schools; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); defeated for reelection; elected to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); declined a reelection; died in Troy, N. Y.

Hunt, James Bennett, a Representative from Michigan; born in New York, August 13, 1799; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in New York City; moved to Pontiac, Mich., in 1836; judge of probate in 1836; prosecuting attorney of Oakland county 1841–1843; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); died in Washington, D. C., August 15, 1857.

Hunt, John Thomas, a Representative from Missouri; born in St. Louis, Mo., in 1860, and attended the common schools; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907).

Hunt, Jonathan, a Representative from Vermont; born in Vernon, Vt., August 12, 1780; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1807; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Brattleboro, Vt., elected to the Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second Congresses, and served from March 4, 1827, until his death in Washington, D. C., May 15, 1832.

Hunt, Samuel, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Charlestown, N. H., July 8, 1765; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Alstead, N. H.; abandoned practice in 1795; member of the state legislature of New Hampshire; elected to the Seventh Congress to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Joseph Pierce; reelected to the Eighth Congress and served from December 6, 1802, to March 3, 1805; died in Marietta, Ohio, July 7, 1807.

Hunt, Theodore Gaillard, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Charleston, S. C., October 23, 1805; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was graduated from Columbia college, New York, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New Orleans, La.; district attorney for New Orleans; member of the state legislature; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); judge of the first Louisiana district, then the criminal court of New Orleans, in 1859; colonel of the fifth Louisiana regiment in the Confederate service in 1861–1862; adjutant general of Louisiana at the close of the Civil war; died in New Orleans, La., November 15, 1893.

Digitized by Google

Hunt, Washington, a Representative from New York; born in Windham, Greene county, N. Y., August 5, 1811; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Lockport, N. Y., in 1834; first judge of the court of common pleas of Niagara county in 1836–1841; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1849); comptroller of New York 1849–1850; governor 1850–1852; defeated for reelection; retired to his farm near Lockport; was temporary chairman of the last Whig national convention in 1856; was tendered the Democratic nomination for vice president in 1860, but declined; delegate to the Chicago convention of 1864; died in New York City, February 2, 1867.

Hunter, Andrew Jackson, a Representative from Illinois; born in Greencastle, Ind., December 17, 1831; moved with his parents to Edgar county, Ill.; attended the common schools and Edgar academy; commenced business life as a civil engineer; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Paris, Ill.; elected to the state senate in 1864; a member of the board of investigation of state institutions; elected county judge of the Edgar county court in 1886, and again in 1890, and served six years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); reelected to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); died in Paris, Ill., January 12, 1913.

Hunter, John, a Representative and a Senator from South Carolina; born in South Carolina about 1760; completed preparatory studies; elected to the Third Congress (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1795); elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Pierce Butler, and served from December 8, 1796, to December 31, 1798, when he resigned.

Hunter, John Ward, a Representative from New York; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., October 15, 1807; received a liberal schooling; clerk in the New York customhouse 1831–1836; assistant auditor of customhouse 1836–1865; engaged in banking; elected to the Thirty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Humphrey, and served from December 4, 1866, to March 3, 1867; mayor of Brooklyn 1875–76; died April 16, 1900.

Hunter, Morton Craig, a Representative from Indiana; born in Versailles, Ind., February 5, 1825; completed a preparatory course; was graduated from the law department of Indiana university in 1849, and admitted to the bar; served in the state house of representatives 1858; served in the Civil war with the Union forces; commanded the first brigade, third division, fourteenth army corps; with Sherman in his march to the sea; was brevetted brigadier general of volunteers; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); reelected to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1879); died October 25, 1896.

Hunter, Narsworthy, a Delegate from Mississippi territory; elected to the Seventh Congress, and served from March 4, 1801, until his death in Washington, D. C., March 1, 1802.

Hunter, Robert Mercer Taliaferro, a Representative and a Senator from Virginia; born in Essex county, Va., April 21, 1809; received a liberal schooling, and was graduated from the University of Virginia; studied law, and in 1830 admitted to the bar; member of the state legislature in 1833; elected to the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1843); defeated for reelection; served as Speaker of the House in the Twenty-sixth Congress; defeated for the Twenty-eighth Congress; elected to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1847, until he withdrew when Virginia seceded, March 28, 1861, and July 11, 1861, was formally expelled; was the author of the tariff act of 1857; a presidential candidate in 1860; delegate from Virginia to the Confederate provincial congress at Richmond; member of the Confederate senate from Virginia to the first and second congresses, and served as president pro tempore; Confederate secretary of state July 25, 1861, to February 18, 1862; in February, 1865, was one of the peace commissioners that met with President Lincoln and his party in Hampton Roads; elected state treasurer of Virginia in 1877; collector at Tappannock, Va.; died in Essex county, Va., July 18, 1887.

Hunter, Whiteside Godfrey, a Representative from Kentucky; born December 25, 1841; studied medicine and was admitted to practice; surgeon in the Union army during the Civil war; three times elected a member of the Kentucky legislature; delegate to the Republican national convention at Chicago in 1880 and at Minneapolis in 1892; United States minister to Costa Rica, Nicaragua, and San Salvador from November 8, 1897; to December 8, 1902; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); reelected to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); again elected to the Fifty-eighth Congress, November 10, 1903, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Vincent Boreing, and served from December 4, 1903, to March 3, 1905; a practicing physician in Washington, D. C.

Hunter, William, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Newport, R. I., November 26, 1774; was graduated from Brown universtiy in 1791; studied law in London; returned to Newport and in 1796 was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives 1799–1811; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Christopher G. Champlin; reelected, and served from October 28, 1811, to March 3, 1821; again a member of the state general assembly 1822–1826; resumed the practice of law in Newport until commissioned chargé d'affaires to Brazil June 28, 1834, and minister plenipotentiary September 13, 1841; served until December 9, 1843; died in Newport, R. I., December 3, 1849.

Hunter, William, a Representative from Vermont; native of that state; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the general assembly in 1795, and 1807–1809; register of probate 1798–1801; judge of probate 1801–1802; assistant judge of the county court 1805–1816; member of the council of censors in 1806 and 1820; state councilor in 1809, 1814, and 1815; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819).

Hunter, William Forrest, a Representative from Ohio; born in Alexandria, Va., December 10,

Digitized by Google

1808; received a common school training; studied law and practiced; moved to Woodsfield, Ohio; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); died in Woodsfield, Ohio, March 30, 1874.

Hunter, William H., a Representative from Ohio; elected to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839).

Huntington, Abel, a Representative from New York; born in Norwich, Conn., February 21, 1777; received a liberal schooling; moved to East Hampton, Long Island, where he practiced medicine; presidential elector in 1820; member of the state senate in 1822; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); member of the state constitutional convention of 1846; collector of customs at Sag Harbor 1845–1849; died in East Hampton Conn., May 18, 1858.

Huntington, Benjamin, a Delegate and a Representative from Connecticut; born in Norwich, Conn., April 19, 1736; was graduated from Yale college in 1761; studied law and began practice in Norwich; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1780–1784 and 1787–1788; elected to the First Congress (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1791); served in the state senate 1781–1791 and 1791–1793; judge of the state superior court 1793–1798; mayor of Norwich 1784–1796; died in Rome, N. Y., October 16, 1800; interment in Norwich, Conn.

Huntington, Ebenezer, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Norwich, Conn., December 26, 1754; was graduated from Yale college in 1775; served in the Revolutionary army, first in the Lexington alarm in April, 1775; lieutenant in Col. Samuel Wyllis's regiment, and was made captain in May, 1776; brigade major and adjutant general to Gen. Heath August, 1776; major in Col. Webb's additional Continental regiment January 1, 1777; lieutenant colonel October 10, 1778; transferred to the third Connecticut regiment January 1, 1781, and to the first Connecticut January 1, 1783; brigadier general United States army July 19, 1798, when war with France was threatened; honorably discharged June 15, 1800; elected to the Eleventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel W. Dana, and served from December 3, 1810, to March 3, 1811; reelected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); died in Norwich, Conn., June 17, 1834.

Huntington, Jabez Williams, a Representative and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Norwich, Conn., November 8, 1788; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Yale college in 1806; studied law and admitted to the bar, commencing practice in Litchfield; state representative in 1829; elected to the Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses, and served from March 4, 1829, until August 16, 1834, when he resigned to accept the appointment of judge of the state supreme court of errors; moved to Norwich; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Thaddeus Betts; reelected and served from May 4, 1840, until his death in Norwich, Conn., November 1, 1847.

Huntington, Samuel, a Delegate from Connecticut; born in Windham, Conn., July 3, 1731; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1758, and commenced practice in Norwich in 1758; in the colonial assembly of 1764; appointed in 1765 Crown's attorney; executive councilor in 1763; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1776–1781, and its president from September 28, 1799, to July 6, 1781, when he retired, receiving the thanks of the Congress, but was returned again for a short period in 1783; a signer of the Declaration of Independence; superior court judge 1774–1784, and chief justice in 1784; lieutenant-governor in 1785 and governor 1786–1796, until his death in Norwich, Conn., January 5, 1796.

Hunton, Eppa, a Representative and a Senator from Virginia; born in Fauquier county, Va., September 24, 1822; his early schooling was limited; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; commonwealth attorney for the county of Prince William 1849–1862; member of Virginia convention in Richmond, February, 1861; served through its first session, and then entered the Confederate army as colonel of the eighth Virginia infantry; promoted after the battle of Gettysburg, and served through the residue of the war as brigadier general, succeeding Brig. Gen. Garnett; captured at Sailors Creek, April 6, 1865, and released from Fort Warren in July, 1865; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1881); appointed and subsequently elected to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the death of John S. Barbour, and served from May 28, 1892, to March 3, 1895; member of the Hayes-Tilden electoral commission; resumed the practice of law in Warrenton, Va.; died in Richmond, Va., October 11, 1908.

Huntsman, Adam, a Representative from Tennessee; native of Virginia; moved to Jackson, Tenn.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); defeated for the Twenty-fifth Congress.

Hurd, Frank Hunt, a Representative from Ohio; born in Mount Vernon, Ohio, December 25, 1840; was graduated from Kenyon college in 1858; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1861; prosecuting attorney of Knox county in 1863; member of the state senate in 1866; appointed to codify the criminal laws of Ohio in 1868; moved to Toledo in 1869; city solicitor of Toledo, Ohio, in 1871-1873; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); reelected to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); again elected to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Toledo, Ohio, July 10, 1896.

Hurlburt, Stephen Augustus, a Representative from Illinois; born in Charleston, S. C., November 29, 1815; completed preparatory studies; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1837; served as adjutant of a South Carolina regiment in the Florida war; moved to Belvidere, Ill., in 1845; Whig delegate to the constitutional convention of Illinois in 1847; presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1848 and on the Republican ticket in 1868; member of the legislature in 1859, 1861, and 1867; served in the Union army 1861–1865, being appointed brigadier general of volunteers May 17, 1861, and major general September 17, 1862; mustered out June 20, 1865; minister resident to the United States of Colombia 1869–1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1877); appointed minister to Peru in 1881, and died in Lima, Peru, March 27, 1882.

Digitized by Google

Hurley, Denis Michael, a Representative from New York; born in the city of Limerick, Ireland, March 14, 1843; came to Brooklyn, N. Y., in June, 1850; moved to New York City in 1854, and returned to Brooklyn in 1866; attended the public schools and learned the carpenter's trade, and engaged as a building contractor; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses and served from March 4, 1895, until his death in Hot Springs, Va., February 26, 1899.

Hutcheson, Joseph Chappell, a Representative from Texas; born in Mecklenburg county, Va., May 18, 1842; was graduated from Randolph-Macon college and the University of Virginia; enlisted as a private soldier in the twenty-first Virginia regiment; served in the valley under Stonewall Jackson, and surrendered at Appomattox, at which time he was in command of company E, fourteenth Virginia regiment; emigrated to Texas October, 1866; engaged in the practice of law; member of the Texas legislature in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Houston, Tex.

Hutchins, John, a Representative from Ohio; born in Vienna, Ohio, July 25, 1812; pursued classical studies; attended the Western Reserve college; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1837; common pleas court clerk for Trumbull county, 1838–1843; state representative in 1849; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863).

Hutchins, Waldo, a Representative from New York; born in Brooklyn, Conn., in 1823; was graduated from Amherst college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New York City; member of the legislature in 1852, and of the constitutional convention of 1867; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Alexander Smith; reelected to the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses, and served from March 18, 1879, to March 3, 1885; after leaving Congress returned to New York City and resumed the practice of law; member of the park commission at the time of his death, February 8, 1891, in New York City.

Hutchins, Wells Andrews, a Representative from Ohio; born in Hartford, Ohio, October 8, 1818; attended and taught public schools; studied law and admitted to the bar in 1841; state representative in 1851; appointed United States provost marshal for Ohio in 1862; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); died in Portsmouth, Ohio, January 25, 1895.

Hutson, Richard, a Delegate from South Carolina; born in Prince William parish, S. C., June 12, 1748; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1765; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Charleston, S. C.; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1778–1779; confined as a prisoner at St. Augustine, Fla., 1780–1781; member of the privy council of South Carolina 1780–1782; lieutenant governor 1782–1783; intendant of Charleston 1783–1784; chancellor of South Carolina 1784–1791; member state constitutional convention of 1788; senior judge of the chancery court 1791–1795; died in Philadelphia, Pa., April 12, 1795.

Hutton, John E., a Representative from Missouri; born in Polk county, Tenn., March 28, 1828; moved with his parents to Troy, Lincoln county, Mo.; attended the common schools and the medical department of the St. Louis university; entered the Union army and was commissioned colonel of the Fifty-ninth Missouri infantry; after the war studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Warrenton, Mo., in 1864; then moved to Mexico, Mo., and became the owner and publisher of The Intelligencer, a Democratic paper; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in Mexico, Mo., December 28, 1893.

Huyler, John, a Representative from New Jersey; born in New York City, June 16, 1809; attended the public schools; moved to Hackensack, N. J., in 1846, engaging in the lumber business; president of supervisors of Bergen county; state representative 1850–1853, and served the last year as speaker of the house; judge of the court of appeals 1853–1856; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); defeated as a Lecompton Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress; died in Hackensack, N. J., January 9, 1870.

Hyde, Ira Barnes, a Representative from Missouri; born in Guilford, N. Y., January 18, 1838; attended Oberlin college, Ohio; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1861 in St. Paul, Minn.; served in the Union army; moved to Missouri in 1866; appointed prosecuting attorney in 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); engaged in the practice of law and in banking, in Princeton, Mo.

Hyde, Samuel Clarence, a Representative from Washington; born in Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y., April 22, 1842; moved to Wisconsin; attended the common schools; served in the seventeenth regiment Wisconsin infantry in the Civil war; studied law in the Iowa State university, admitted to the bar, and practiced in Rock Rapids, Iowa, five years; moved to Washington territory in 1877, where he lived on Puget Sound three years; moved to Spokane in 1880; elected prosecuting attorney the same year and reelected three times; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); a justice of the peace in Spokane, Wash.

Hyman, John Adams, a Representative from North Carolina; born a slave in Warren county, N. C., July 23, 1840; sold and sent to Alabama; emancipated in 1865; returned to North Carolina and engaged in farming; pursued elementary studies; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1868, and a state senator 1868–1874; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); appointed collector of internal revenue of the second district of North Carolina in June, 1877; died in Washington, D. C., September 14, 1891.

Hyneman, John M., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Berks county, Pa.; pursued classical studies; served in the state house of representatives in 1809; elected to the Twelfth and Thirteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1811, to 1813, when he resigned; surveyor of Berks county 1814–1824.

Hynes, William J., a Representative from Arkansas; born in County Clare, Ireland, March 31, 1843; in 1854 emigrated to the United States and located in New York; attended the public schools of Massachusetts; learned the art of printing; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1870 in Little Rock, Ark.; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); moved to Chicago in 1876 and resumed the practice of law.

Digitized by Google

Ihrie, Peter, jr., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Easton, Pa., February 3, 1796; was graduated from Dickinson college in 1815; studied law, was admitted to bar August 20, 1818, and practiced in Easton, Pa.; member of the State legislature; brigadier general of state militia in 1845; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1833); brigadier general of state militia; charter member of board of trustees of Lafyette college in 1826; a director of the Easton bank; died in Easton, Pa., March 29, 1871.

Ikirt, George Pierce, a Representative from Ohio; born near West Beaver, Columbiana county, Ohio, November 3, 1852; attended the common and public schools of New Lisbon; taught school and studied law, but ill health compelled an abandonment of both; attended the Columbus medical college; moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, was graduated from the Cincinnati college of medicine and surgery in 1877 and practiced five years; went to New York in 1882; was graduated from the Bellevue hospital medical college in 1883, and again resumed practice; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of medicine in East Liverpool, Ohio.

Ilsley, Daniel, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Falmouth, Mass. (afterwards Maine), May 30, 1740; received a liberal schooling; became a distiller; major and mustering officer, Falmouth, Me.; delegate in the state convention that adopted the Federal constitution; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Tenth Congress (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1809); died in Falmouth (now Portland), Me., May 10, 1813.

Imlay, James H., a Representative from New Jersey; native of New Jersey; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Princeton college in 1786, where he was also a tutor; elected to the Fifth and Sixth Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1800).

Ingalls, John James, a Senator from Kansas; born in Middleton, Mass., December 29, 1833; completed preparatory studies in Haverhill, Mass., and was graduated from Williams college in 1855; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1857; moved to Sumner, Kans., in October, 1858; member of the Wyandotte constitutional convention in 1859; secretary of the territorial council in 1860; secretary of the state senate in 1861; member of the state senate from Atchison county in 1862; defeated as the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor in 1863, and 1864; edited the Atchison Champion, and aided in founding the Kansas Magazine; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate; reelected in 1879 and 1885, and served from March 4, 1873, to March 3, 1891; elected President pro tempore of the Senate February 25, 1887; reelected March 7, 1889; April 2, 1889; December 5, 1889; February 28, 1890; April 3, 1890, when chosen to preside "during future absences of the Vice President, and at the pleasure of the Senate;" resigned as President pro tempore February 19, 1891; defeated for reelection to the United States Senate; died in East Las Vegas, N. Mex., August 16, 1900.

Inge, Samuel Williams, a Representative from Alabama; born in Warren county, N. C., February 22, 1817; moved to Greene county, Ala.; attended public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Livingston county, Ala.; member of the state house of representatives 1844–1845; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); participated in a duel with Edward Stanley, a representative from North Carolina on the Bladensburg grounds, but neither received serious injuries; resumed practice of law; appointed by President Pierce United States attorney for the northern district of California in 1853; died in San Francisco, Cal., in 1867.

Inge, William Marshall, a Representative from Tennessee; native of Tennessee; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); moved to Livingston, Sumter county, Ala., in 1836; member of the state house of representatives in 1840, 1844, and 1845; died in Livingston, Ala., in 1846.

Ingersoll, Charles Jared, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., October 3, 1782; received an academic training; studied law and began practice in Philadelphia, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); appointed United States district attorney for Pennsylvania, 1815–1829; member of the state legislature; secretary of legation to Prussia in 1837; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1849); appointed minister to France in 1847, but not confirmed by the Senate; died in Philadelphia, Pa., May 14, 1862.

Ingersoll, Colin Macrae, a Representative from Connecticut; born in New Haven, Conn., March 11, 1819; received an academic training, and was graduated from Trinity college in 1839; clerk of the state senate in 1843; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in New Haven, Conn.; appointed secretary of legation at St. Petersburg by President Polk 1847–1848, and was acting chargé d'affaires in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); adjutant general of Connecticut in 1867 and 1871; died in New Haven, Conn., September 13, 1903.

Ingersoll, Ebon Clark, a Representative from Illinois; born in Dresden, Yates county, N. Y., December 12, 1831; moved to Wisconsin Territory in 1843 and subsequently to Illinois; pursued classical studies in Peoria, Ill., and in Paducah, Ky.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1854, and began practice in Peoria, Ill.; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by death of Owen Lovejoy; reelected to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, and Forty-first Congresses, and served from May 20, 1864, to March 3, 1871; died in Washington, D. C., May 31, 1879.

Ingersoll, Jared, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in New Haven, Conn., October 24, 1749; received a classical education; was graduated from Yale college in 1766; studied law at the Middle Temple, London, England; located in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1771; was admitted to the bar in 1773; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1780–1781; delegate in the convention that framed the Federal constitution in 1787; the first attorney general of Pennsylvania, 1790–1799 and 1811–1817; appointed United States district attorney for the eastern district of Pennsylvania; declined appointment of judge of the Federal court in 1801; unsuccessful Federalist candidate for Vice President of the United States in 1812; presiding judge of the district courts of Philadelphia county until his death in Philadelphia, Pa., October 31, 1822.

Digitized by Google

Ingersoll, Joseph Reed, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., June 14, 1786; pursued a classical course, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1804; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Philadelphia, Pa.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Sergeant; reelected to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth Congresses, and served from December 9, 1841, to March 3, 1849; declined further reelection; appointed minister to Great Britain, and served from August 21, 1852, to August 23, 1853; died in Philadelphia, Pa., February 20, 1868.

Ingersoll, Ralph Isaacs, a Representative from Connecticut; born in New Haven, Conn., February 8, 1789; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale college in 1808; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1811, and commenced practice in New Haven; member of th state house of representatives 1820–1825; electee as a Democrat to the Nineteenth and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1833); attorney general of Connecticut; minister to Russia, August 8, 1846, to July 1, 1848, when he resigned; died in New Haven Conn., August 26, 1872.

Ingham, Samuel, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Hebron, Conn., September 5, 1793; attended school in Vermont; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1815, and commenced practice in Saybrook in 1817; state attorney for Middlesex county, 1827–1835 and in 1843–1844; judge of probate, 1829–1833; judge of the Middlesex county court, 1849–1853; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); member of the state house of representatives, and served three years as speaker; elected to the state senate; defeated as the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate in 1854; United States commissioner of customs December 5, 1857, to May 14, 1861; died in Essex, Conn., November 10, 1881.

Ingham, Samuel Delusenna, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Great Spring (near New Hope), Bucks county, Pa., September 16, 1779; attended the public schools; engaged in the manufacture of paper; member of the state legislature for three years; secretary of the commonwealth; prothonotary at Doylestown; elected as a Jefferson Democrat to the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1813, to July 6, 1818, when he resigned; elected to the Seventeenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel Moore; reelected to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses, and served from December 2, 1822, to March 3, 1829; Secretary of the Treasury from March 6, 1829, to June 21, 1831, when he resigned; died in Trenton, N. J., June 5, 1860.

Irby, John Laurens Manning, a Senator from South Carolina; born in Laurens, S. C., September 10, 1854; attended Laurensville male academy, the College of New Jersey, Princeton, N. J., and the University of Virginia; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1876, and practiced in Laurens until 1879; appointed lieutenant colonel of South Carolina militia in 1877; member of state house of representatives in 1886, 1888, and 1890, and speaker in 1890; chairman of the state Democratic executive committee in the campaign of 1890; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1891, to March 3, 1897; resumed the practice of law in Laurens, S. C., and died there, December 9, 1900.

Iredell, James, a Senator from North Carolina; born in Edenton, N. C., November 2, 1788; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1806; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1809; served in the War of 1812 as captain of a company of volunteers, and went to the defense of Norfolk, Va.; representative in the state legislature 1816–1827, and speaker 1817–1819; appointed judge of the superior court of North Carolina in March, and resigned in May, 1819; governor of North Carolina, 1827–1828; elected to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Nathaniel Macon, and served from December 23, 1828, to March 3, 1831; moved to Raleigh, where he practiced law and was supreme court reporter and a commissioner to revise the state laws; died in Edenton, N. C., April 13, 1853.

Irion, Alfred Briggs, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Bunkie, Avoyelles parish, La., February 18, 1833; attended the common schools and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1855; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1857; delegate in the state convention of 1860, and opposed secession; entered the Confederate army; member of the state house of representatives; edited a newspaper in Marksville, La.; moved to Evergreen, La., in 1870, and engaged in planting; elected judge of the circuit court of appeals in 1880, and served four years; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); retired to his plantation home at Eola, La.; died at the home of a son in New Orleans, La., May 21, 1903.

Irvin, Alexander, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Center county, Pa., January 18, 1800; resided in Clearfield; elected to the state senate in 1834; United States marshal, western district of Pennsylvania, under President Taylor; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); died in Clearfield, Pa., March 20, 1874.

Irvin, James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Linden Hall, Center county, Pa., February 18, 1800; attended common schools; engaged in mercantile business, in milling, mining, and manufacturing in Oak Hall, Milesburg, and Bellefonte, Pa.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1845); Whig candidate for governor in 1847, and defeated; naval storekeeper in Philadelphia after financial losses in 1857; died in Hecla, Schuykill county, Pa., November 28, 1862.

Irvin, William W., a Representative from Ohio; born in Albemarle county, Va., in 1778; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Lancaster, Ohio; held several local offices; member of the state general assembly 1806–1808; justice of the state supreme court 1808–1815; representative in the state general assembly 1825–1828, and served as speaker 1825–1826; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1833); defeated for reelection to the Twenty-third Congress; died in Lancaster, Ohio, April 19, 1842.

Digitized by Google

Irvine, William, a Delegate and a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Fermanagh, Ulster, Ireland, November 3, 1741; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from the Dublin university; studied medicine and was admitted to practice; served as surgeon on a British man-of-war; came to Carlisle, Pa., in 1763; delegate to the state Revolutionary conventions, 1764–1766; colonel of the sixth Pennsylvania regiment in the Revolutionary army; captured in Canada June 16, 1776, and remained a prisoner of war until exchanged, May 6, 1778; appointed brigadier general May 12, 1779, and served until the close of the war; Delegate from Pennsylvania in the Continental Congress, 1786–1788; commanded the state troops in whisky insurrection in 1794; elected to the Third Congress (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1795); moved to Philadelphia, where he was superintendent of military stores, 1801–1804; died in Philadelphia, Pa., July 29, 1804.

Irvine, William, a Representative from New York; born in Broome county, N. Y., in 1820, moved to Greene county, N. Y., in 1841; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1849, and began practice in Corning, Steuben county, N. Y.; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); served in the Civil war; assisted in raising the tenth regiment of cavalry, New York volunteers, of which he became lieutenant colonel November 25, 1861; brevet colonel and brigadier general of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for faithful and meritorious service"; mustered out December 6, 1864; adjutant general of New York 1865–1866; moved to California and resumed practice of law; died in San Francisco, Cal., November 12, 1882

Irving, William, a Representative from New York; born in New York City August 15, 1766; completed preparatory studies; engaged in mercantile trade and in the fur trade with the Indians along the Mohawk River; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Egbert Benson; reelected to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Congresses and served from January 22, 1814, to April 20, 1818, when he resigned on account of declining health; contributed several essays and poems to Salmagundi, published by his brother, Washington Irving; died in New York City November 9, 1821.

Irwin, Harvey Samuel, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Highland county, Ohio, December 10, 1844; was graduated from the high school of Greenfield, Ohio; began the study of law, but abandoned that to enlist in the Union army; assisted in raising a regiment of artillery, which was consolidated with another regiment, and commissioned a lieutenant; transferred to a special corps in the Regular army, in which he served until the the close of the war; located in Louisville, Ky.; resumed the study of law and was admitted to the bar; appointed successively assistant internal-revenue assessor, deputy clerk of the United States district court, and chief deputy collector of the fifth internal-revenue district of Kentucky; assisted in founding the Home and Savings Fund company; elected railroad commissioner, 1895; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1903); defeated for the Fifty-eighth Congress; resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C.

Irwin, Jared, a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817).

Irwin, Thomas, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., February 22, 1785; attended common schools and Franklin college; editor of the Philadelphia Repository in 1804; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1808, and began practice in Uniontown; appointed Indian agent at Natchitoches, La., where he also practiced law for two years; returned to Uniontown, Pa., and was a member of the state legislature, 1824–1826; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); appointed by President Jackson a United States judge for the western district of Pennsylvania, and served until his death in Pittsburgh, Pa, May 14, 1870.

Irwin, William Wallace, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1803; attended a private school in Pittsburgh and Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Pittsburgh; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); chargé d'affaires to Denmark, March 3, 1843, to June 12, 1847; died in Pittsburgh, Pa., September 15, 1856.

Isacks, Jacob C., a Representative from Tennessee; native of Montgomery county, Pa.; moved to Winchester, Tenn.; elected to the Eighteenth and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1833); defeated for the Twenty-third Congress.

Ittner, Anthony, a Representative from Missouri; born in Dayton, Ohio, October 8, 1837; attended the common schools; engaged in contracting and building; moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1844, and engaged in brick manufacture; member of the city council of St. Louis, Mo., 1867–1868; member of the general assembly of Missouri, 1868; elected to the state senate 1870 and 1874; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); returned to business pursuits in St. Louis, Mo.

Iverson, Alfred, a Representative and a Senator from Georgia; born in Burke county, Ga., December 3, 1798; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Princeton college in 1820; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Columbus, Ga.; member of the state house of representatives for three years, and of the state senate one year; judge of the state superior court for seven years; presidential elector on the Polk and Dallas ticket in 1844; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1855, to January 28, 1861, when he retired; served in the Confederate army as colonel; appointed brigadier general in 1862; died in Macon, Ga., March 5, 1873.

Digitized by Google

Ives, Willard, a Representative from New York; born in Watertown, N. Y., July 7, 1806; attended the public schools; engaged in agricultural pursuits; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); died in Watertown, N. Y., in April 19, 1896.

Izard, Ralph, a Delegate and a Senator from South Carolina; born near Charleston, S. C., in 1742; pursued classical studies in Hackney, and was graduated from Christ college, Cambridge, England; returned to America, but went abroad to reside in 1771; lived in London and Paris, was appointed commissioner to the court of Tuscany, but recalled in 1779; Delegate from South Carolina in the Continental Congress, 1782–1783; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1789, to March 3, 1795; President pro tempore of the Senate from May 31, 1794, to February 20, 1795; pledged his large estate in South Carolina for the payment of ships of war to be used in the Revolution; founder of the College of Charleston; died near Charleston, S. C., May 30, 1804.

Izlar, James Ferdinand, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Orangeburg county, S. C., November 25, 1832; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Emory college, Oxford, Ga., in 1855; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1858; served as an officer in the Confederate army; after the war returned to Orangeburg, and resumed the practice of law; elected to the state senate for twelve years, and for eight years was president pro tempore of the body; elected by the general assembly judge of the first judicial circuit in 1889; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William H. Brawley, and served from April 12, 1894, to March 3, 1895; resumed the practice of law in Orangeburg, until he retired in 1907; died in Orangeburg, S. C., May 26, 1912.

Jack, Summers Melville, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Summersville, Jefferson county, Pa., July 18, 1852; attended the public and private schools of Jefferson county and the Indiana normal school of Pennsylvania; taught school for six years; studied law in Indiana, Pa., was admitted to the bar September 10, 1879, and practiced in Indiana, Pa.; district attorney for Indiana county 1884–1890; member of the board of trustees of the Indiana normal school in 1886, 1889, 1892, 1895, and 1898; chairman of the congressional conference for the twenty-first district in 1896; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1903); member of delegation of Senators and Representatives sent to the Philippine islands in 1901 to inquire into advisability of establishing civil government; resumed the practice of law in Indiana, Pa.

Jack, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Pennsylvania; lived in Brookville; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843).

Jackson, Alfred Metcalf, a Representative from Kansas; born in South Carrollton, Muhlenberg county, Ky., July 14, 1860; attended West Kentucky college, studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Howard, Elk county, Kans., in 1881, and engaged in the practice of law; elected county attorney in 1890 and 1892; elected judge of the thirteenth judicial district and served one term; moved to Winfield, Kans., elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1903); resumed the practice of law in Winfield, Kans.

Jackson, Amos Henry, a Representative from Ohio; born near the village of Franklin, Delaware county, N. Y., May 10, 1847; moved to Gibson, Steuben county, N. Y., in 1854; attended school in Gibson; moved to Corning, N. Y., in 1862; went West in 1866, and located in Fremont, Ohio, and engaged in garment manufacture; elected mayor of Fremont in 1897 and 1899; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); a resident of Fremont, Ohio, and identified with manufacturing interests.

Jackson, Andrew, a Representative and a Senator from Tennessee; born at the George McKenney homestead in Mecklenberg county, N. C., March 15, 1767; moved with his mother to the Waxhaw settlement in South Carolina in 1767; attended the "old field" school, the academy of Dr. Humphries, and Queens college, Charlotte, N. C., for a short period; during the Revolution was captured by the British and confined in the stockade in Camden, S. C.; left an orphan at 14 years of age; worked for a time in a saddler's shop and afterwards taught school; studied law in Salisbury, N. C., 1785–1788, and was admitted to the bar in 1787; appointed solicitor of the western district of North Carolina, comprising what is now the state of Tennessee, in 1788, and located in Nashville, Tenn., in October, 1788; delegate to the convention to frame a constitution for the new state in Knoxville, Tenn., in January, 1796; elected as a Democrat to the Fourth Congress, and served from December 5, 1796, to March 3, 1797; elected to the United States Senate, and served from September 26, 1797, until his resignation in April, 1798; elected judge of the state supreme court of Tennessee, and served from 1798 to July 24, 1804; moved to the "Hermitage," near Nashville, and engaged in planting and in mercantile pursuits; served in the Creek war of 1813; major general of volunteers 1812 to 1814; commissioned brigadier general in the United States army April 19, 1814; major general May 1, 1814; led his army to New Orleans, where he defeated the British January 8, 1815; received the thanks of Congress and a gold medal by resolution of February 27, 1815; commanded an expedition which captured Florida in 1817; governor of Florida from March 10 to July 18, 1821; declined the position of minister to Mexico; again elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1823, to October 14, 1825, when he resigned; defeated as the Democratic candidate for President in 1824; elected President, and reelected, and served from March 4, 1829, to March 3, 1837; retired to the "Hermitage," his estate near Nashville, Tenn. where he died June 8, 1845.

Jackson, David, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in Oxford, Chester county, Pa., in 1747; was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1768, and was an apothecary and physician in Philadelphia, Pa., 1768–1801; served in the Revolution and was paymaster of the second battalion of Philadelphia militia, December 3, 1776; quartermaster of militia in the field October 23, 1779; hospital physician and surgeon September 30, 1780; was present at the surrender of Lord Cornwallis, Yorktown, Va., October 19, 1781; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1785–1786; died in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1801.

Digitized by Google

Jackson, David S., a Representative from New York; native of New York City; attended the public schools; alderman in the common council of New York City 1843–1846; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth Congress, and served from March 4, 1847, to April 19, 1848, when the seat was declared vacant, having been contested unsuccessfully by James Monroe; again an alderman in 1856–1857.

Jackson, Ebenezer, jr., a Representative from Connecticut; born in Savannah, Ga., January 31, 1796; was graduated from St. Mary's college near Baltimore, Md., in 1814; studied law at the Litchfield law school, Connecticut; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Philadelphia, Pa., 1821–1826; removed to Middletown, Conn., in 1826; member of the state assembly several terms; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel A. Foot, and served from December 31, 1834, to March 3, 1835; died in Middletown, Conn., August 17, 1874.

Jackson, Edward B., a Representative from Virginia; native of Clarksburg, Harrison county, W. Va.; pursued an academic course in the Clarksburg male academy; studied medicine and commenced practice in Clarksburg; elected to the Sixteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Tindall; reelected to the Seventeenth Congress, and served from November 30, 1820, to March 3, 1823; died in Clarksburg, W. Va., September 8, 1826.

Jackson, Howell Edmunds, a Senator from Tennessee; born in Paris, Tenn., April 8, 1832; moved with his parents to Jackson, Tenn., in 1840; pursued classical studies and was graduated from West Tennessee college in 1849, from the University of Virginia in 1854, and from the law department of Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn., in 1856; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Jackson; moved to Memphis, Tenn., in 1859, and engaged in the practice of law; removed to Jackson in 1874, and served on the court of arbitration for west Tennessee by appointment on two occasions; prominent candidate for supreme judge before the nominating convention; elected to the state house of representatives in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1881, until April 14, 1886, when he resigned; appointed United States circuit judge for the sixth Federal circuit, April 12, 1886, and served until February 4, 1893; appointed associate justice of the United States supreme court to fill vacancy caused by the death of Lucius Q. C. Lamar; took his seat upon the supreme bench March 4, 1894, and served until his death in West Meade, Tenn., August 8, 1895.

Jackson, Jabez, a Representative from Georgia; was a native of Georgia; resided at Clarksville; elected as a Union Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839).

Jackson, James, a Representative and a Senator from Georgia; born in Moreton-Hampstead, Devonshire, England, September 21, 1757; came to Georgia in 1772 and located in Savannah; member of the first constitutional convention of Georgia in 1777; clerk of the court, by election of the provincial congress, 1776–1777; elected governor in 1778, but declined; entered the Revolutionary army as captain and commander of the Georgia legionary forces in 1781; received the keys to Savannah from the British July 12, 1782; presented with a house in Savannah by the assembly of the state of Georgia; elected to the First Congress (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1791); contested the election of Anthony Wayne in the Second Congress, and the seat was declared vacant by the House March 21, 1792; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1793, until his resignation in 1795; presidential elector in 1797; governor of Georgia 1798–1801; again elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1801, until his death in Washington, D. C., March 19, 1806; interment in the Congressional cemetery in Washington.

Jackson, James, a Representative from Georgia; born in Jefferson county, Ga., October 18, 1819; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the University of Georgia in 1837; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1839, and commenced practice in Athens, Ga.; secretary of the state senate in 1842; elected to the state house of representatives in 1845 and 1847; judge of the superior court 1846–1859; resigned in June, 1859; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, until January 23, 1861, when he retired from the House; judge advocate on the staff of Stonewall Jackson 1861–1865; removed to Macon, Ga., and practiced law from 1865 to 1875; removed to Atlanta in 1875; appointed an associate justice of the state supreme court in 1875; elected to the position by the legislature in 1880, to fill an unexpired term; reelected in 1887; chief justice 1879 until his death in Atlanta, Ga., January 13, 1887; interment in Macon, Ga.

Jackson, James Monroe, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Parkersburg, Wood county, Va. (now West Virginia), December 3, 1825; pursued an academic course, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1845; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1847; elected prosecuting attorney for Wood county in 1856 and 1860; member of the legislature 1870–1871; member of the state constitutional convention of 1872; elected judge of the fifth judicial circuit and served fifteen years, when he resigned; presented credentials as a Democratic Member-elect to the Fifty-first Congress, and served from March 4, 1889, until February 3, 1890, when he was succeeded by Charles B. Smith, who contested his election; died in Parkersburg, W. Va., February 14, 1901.

Jackson, James Streshly, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Madison county, Ky., September 27, 1823; pursued classical studies in Centre college, was graduated from Jefferson college, Pa., in 1844, and from the law department of Transylvania university in 1845; was admitted to the bar and began practice in Greenupsburg, Ky., in 1845; served in the Mexican war; enlisted as a private in the first Kentucky cavalry June 9, 1846; third lieutenant July 9, 1846; resigned October 10, 1846; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-seventh Congress, and served from March 4, 1861, to December 13, 1861, when he resigned to enter the Union army; raised a company of cavalrymen, and commissioned colonel third Kentucky cavalry December 13, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers July 16, 1862; killed in the battle of Perryville October 8, 1862.

Digitized by Google

Jackson, John George, a Representative from Virginia; born in Clarksburg, Harrison county, Va., in 1774; received an English training, and became a civil engineer; appointed surveyor of public lands of what is now the state of Ohio in 1793; member of the Virginia house of burgesses 1797–1801; elected as a Democrat to the Eighth, and to the three succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1803, until 1810, when he resigned; again state representative, 1811–1812; chosen brigadier general of militia; reelected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); declined a reelection to the Fifteenth Congress; appointed United States district judge for the western district of Virginia in 1819, and served until his death in Clarksburg, Va., March 29, 1825.

Jackson, Jonathan, a Delegate from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., June 4, 1743; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Harvard college in 1761; engaged in mercantile pursuits in Newburyport; member of the provincial congress in 1775; member of the state legislature in 1777; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1782–1783; elected to the state senate in 1789; United States marshal, district of Massachusetts, 1789–1791; treasurer of the commonwealth 1802–1806; inspector and supervisor of internal revenue; president of the state bank and of the Harvard corporation; died in Boston, Mass., March 5, 1810.

Jackson, Joseph W., a Representative from Georgia; native of Georgia; attended the public schools; for several years a member of the municipal council of Savannah and for two years mayor; member of the state house of representatives and of the state senate; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas B. King; reelected to the Thirty-second Congress, and served from March 4, 1850, to March 3, 1853; declined a reelection; died in Savannah, Ga., September 20, 1854.

Jackson, Oscar Lawrence, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Lawrence county, Pa., September 2, 1840; attended the common schools, Tansy Hill select school, and Darlington academy; served in the Union army from 1861 to 1865; entered as captain and received promotions of major, lieutenant colonel, and colonel by brevet; severely wounded in the battle of Corinth, Miss., October 4, 1862; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1867 and commenced practice in New Castle, Pa.; district attorney 1868–1871; member of the commission to codify laws and devise a plan for the government of cities of Pennsylvania 1877–1878; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); resumed the practice of law in New Castle, Pa.; delegate in Republican national convention of 1896.

Jackson, Richard, jr., a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Providence, R. I., July 3, 1764; completed preparatory studies in the schools of Providence and Pomfret, Conn.; early entered mercantile and manufacturing business; elected to the Tenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Nehemiah Knight; reelected to the Eleventh, Twelfth, and Thirteenth Congresses, and served from November 11, 1808, to March 3, 1815; trustee of Brown university 1809–1838; died in Providence, R. I., April 18, 1838.

Jackson, Thomas Birdsall, a Representative from New York; born in Jerusalem, Long Island, N. Y., March 24, 1797; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Jerusalem, Hempstead, and Newtown, N. Y.; twice elected county judge; member of the state general assembly 1833–1837; many years a justice of the peace; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); died in Newtown, Long Island, N. Y., April 23, 1881.

Jackson, William, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Newton, Mass., September 2, 1783; attended the public schools; member of the state house of representatives 1829–1832; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1834–March 3, 1837); declined a renomination; one of the founders of the Liberty party in 1846; promoted and superintended the building of the Boston & Worcester and Boston & Albany railways; died in Newton, Mass., February 26, 1855.

Jackson, William Humphreys, a Representative from Maryland; born near Salisbury, Md., October 15, 1839; received a common-school training, and engaged in farming; in 1864 moved to Salisbury, Md., and engaged in the manufacture of lumber; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1905); reelected to the Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); resumed manufacturing in Salisbury, Md.

Jackson, William T., a Representative from New York; born in Chester, N. Y., December 29, 1794; attended the public schools; engaged in mercantile pursuits in Havana, N. Y.; justice of the peace and county judge of Orange county, N. Y., for four years; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); district attorney of Delaware county 1866–1868 and 1872–1874.

Jacobs, Ferris, jr., a Representative from New York; born in Delhi, N. Y., March 20, 1836; was graduated from Williams college in 1856; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1859, and commenced practice in Delhi; served in the Union army in the Civil war; captain of the third New York cavalry August 26, 1861; major June 13, 1863; lieutenant colonel July 22, 1864; honorably mustered out October 12, 1864; lieutenant colonel twenty-sixth New York cavalry March 15, 1865; brevet brigadier general of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious service during the war;" mustered out July 1, 1865; resumed law practice in Delhi, N. Y.; elected district attorney 1865–1866; delegate to Chicago convention in 1880; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); died in White Plains, N. Y., August 30, 1886.

Jacobs, Israel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Germany; moved to United States in his youth and located in Philadelphia; attended the public schools, and engaged in mercantile pursuits; elected to the Second Congress (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1793).

Jacobs, Orange, a Delegate from Washington; born in Livingston county, N. Y., May 2, 1827; moved with his parents to Michigan territory in 1831, where he attended Albion college for three years; studied law with John B. Howe in Lima, Ind., and was admitted to the Michigan bar in 1850; moved to the territory of Oregon in 1852, and remained there until 1859; appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Washington territory in 1869, and within a year appointed chief justice and reappointed at the expiration of four years; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); resumed the practice of law in Seattle; elected judge of the superior court of Washington.

Digitized by Google

Jadwin, Cornelius Comegys, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Carbondale, Pa., March 27, 1835; attended the common schools and taught for four years; studied civil engineering and pharmacy; from 1857 to 1861 a civil and mining engineer; entered the drug business and located in Honesdale, Pa., 1862; nine successive years a member, and for three years president, of the board of education of his district; delegate in the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1880; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); defeated as an independent candidate for the Forty-eighth Congress; resumed business in Honesdale, Pa.

James, Addison Davis, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Morgantown, Butler county, Ky., February 27, 1850; received a public school training, and began the study of medicine in 1870; was graduated from the old University of Louisville, Ky., in 1873; member of the state constitutional convention of 1890; member of the state house of representatives 1891–1893; appointed World's Fair commissioner in 1892–93; elected to the state senate in 1895; United States marshal 1897–1901; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of medicine in Penrod, Ky.

James, Amaziah Bailey, a Representative from New York; born in Stephentown, Renselaer county, N. Y., July 1, 1812; pursued an academic course; moved to Sweden, Monroe county, N. Y., in 1814; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1838, and commenced practice in Ogdensburg; member of the Peace congress in Washington, D. C., in 1861; elected a justice of the supreme court in 1853, and resigned in 1876; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); died in Ogdensburg, N. Y., July 6, 1883.

James, Charles Tillinghast, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in West Greenwich, R. I., September 15, 1804; attended the public schools; became a carpenter, and superintended the construction of several cotton mills in New England; major general of the Rhode Island militia; elected as a protective tariff Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1851, to March 3, 1857; invented a rifle cannon, and lost his life in conducting an experiment in Sag Harbor, N. Y., October 17, 1862.

James, Darwin Rush, a Representative from New York; born in Williamsburg, Mass., May 14, 1834; pursued an academic course in the Mount Pleasant boarding school, Amherst, Mass.; removed with parents to Williamsburg, N. Y., in 1847; entered mercantile business in New York in 1850, and became an importer of indigo, spices, etc., from the East Indies in 1858; secretary of the New York board of trade and transportation, park commissioner of Brooklyn 1876–1882; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); declined a renomination; member of United States board of Indian commissioners in 1890, and its chairman; member of New York canal commission in 1898; died in Brooklyn, N. Y., November 19, 1908.

James, Francis, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Thornbury township, Chester county, Pa., April 4, 1799; attended public school and Gauses's academy; studied law, was admitted to the bar of Chester county in 1825, and practiced; state senator 1834–1836; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); resumed the practice of law in West Chester, Pa.; chief burgess in 1850; died in West Chester, Pa., January 4, 1886.

James, Ollie Murray, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Crittenden county, Ky., July 27, 1871; attended the common schools; page in the Kentucky legislature 1887; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1891; one of the attorneys for Gov. Goebel in his celebrated contest for governor of the state of Kentucky; delegate in the Democratic national conventions in Chicago, 1896; in St. Louis, Mo., in 1904, and in Denver Colo., in 1908; served as chairman of the state convention in Kentucky in 1900; elected to the Fifty-eighth and three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress. Nominated in the primaries and elected to the United States Senate for the term beginning March 4, 1913.

Jameson, John, a Representative from Missouri; born in Montgomery county, Ky., in 1800; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Fulton, Mo.; held several local offices; member of the Missouri house of representatives for several years and served one year as speaker; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); reelected to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845), and to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); died in Fulton, Mo., January 24, 1857.

Jamieson, William D., a Representative from Iowa; born near Wapello, Louisa county, Iowa, November 9, 1873; attended the common schools and the University of Iowa; became a newspaper publisher; edited and published the Ida Grove Pioneer; later the Columbus Junction Gazette, and still later the Shenandoah World; elected state senator in 1907; resigned in 1909; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); resumed newspaper work in Shenandoah, Iowa.

Janes, Henry Fisk, a Representative from Vermont; born in Brimfield, Mass., October 10, 1792; moved with parents to Calais, Vt.; pursued an academic course; served in the war of 1812, and participated in the battle of Plattsburgh; studied law in Montpelier, Vt., was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Waterbury, Vt., in 1817; postmaster 1820–1830; member of the state legislative council 1830–1834; elected as a Whig and Anti-Mason to the Twenty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Benjamin F. Deming; reelected to the Twenty-fourth Congress, and served from December 2, 1834, to March 3, 1837; defeated as Anti-Masonic candidate for the Twenty-fifth Congress; state treasurer 1838–1841; member of the state council of censors 1848; elected to the state legislature in 1855; died in Waterbury, Vt., June 6, 1879.

Digitized by Google

Jarnagin, Spencer, a Senator from Tennessee; born in Granger county, Tenn., in 1792; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Greenville college in 1813; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1817, and commenced practice in Knoxville; moved to Athens, Tenn., in 1837 and continued his profession; member of the state senate 1833–1835; a Harrison and Tyler elector in 1840; Whig nominee for United States Senator in 1841; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1843, to March 3, 1847; defeated as the Whig candidate for reelection, and for member of the supreme court of Tennessee; moved to Memphis and continued in the practice of law; trustee of the East Tennessee college 1836–1851; died in Memphis, Tenn., June 24, 1851.

Jarvis, Leonard, a Representative from Maine; born in Boston, Mass., October 19, 1781; was graduated from Harvard university in 1800; located in Surry, Me.; sheriff of Hancock county, Me., 1821–1829; collector of customs for the Penobscot district 1829–1831; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first, and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1837); navy agent, port of Boston, 1838–1841; returned to Surry, Me., where he died September 18, 1854.

Jarvis, Thomas Jordan, a Senator from North Carolina; born in Jarvisburg, Currituck county, N. C., January 18, 1836; was graduated from Randolph-Macon college, Virginia, in 1860; enlisted in the Confederate army; permanently disabled in right arm in 1864; member of state constitutional convention in 1865; moved to the county of Tyrrell in 1866; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state house of representatives in 1868 and 1870, and chosen its speaker in 1870; moved to Greenville, N. C., in 1872; member of the state constitutional convention of 1875; elected lieutenant governor in 1876; became governor February 5, 1879, by the resignation of Zebulon B. Vance, and was elected governor for a full term in 1880, and thus served six consecutive years; United States minister to Brazil 1885–1889; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Zebulon B. Vance, and served from April 19, 1894, until January 23, 1895; delegate in the Democratic National convention of 1896; trustee of the University of North Carolina; a practicing attorney of Greenville, N. C.

Jay, John, a Delegate from New York; born in New York City, December 12, 1745; attended a boarding school in New Rochelle, N. Y., and was graduated from Columbia college in 1764; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1768; member of the New York committee of correspondence; Delegate from New York to the Continental Congress 1774–1777, and 1778–1779; recalled some months in 1776 to aid in forming the New York state constitution; absent when the Declaration of Independence was adopted, but it was upon his motion, as a member of the White Plains Convention of July 9, 1776, that the convention unanimously approved it; appointed chief justice of the state of New York in May, 1777, but resigned December, 1778, to become president of Congress; appointed minister plenipotentiary to Spain September 27, 1779; appointed one of the ministers to negotiate peace with Great Britain, June 14, 1781, and signed the treaty of Paris; appointed one of the ministers to negotiate treaties with the European powers May 1, 1783; returned to New York in 1784; appointed secretary of foreign affairs July, 1784; appointed the first chief justice of the supreme court of the United States by President Washington, September 24, 1789, and served until December 10, 1795; defeated as the Federal candidate for governor of New York in 1792 by George Clinton, Democrat; appointed envoy extraordinary to Great Britain April 19, 1794; served until April 8, 1795; governor of New York 1795–1801; declined reelection, and also a reappointment as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States; retired to his farm at Bedford, near New York City, where he died May 17, 1829.

Jayne, William, a Delegate from Dakota Territory; born in Springfield, Ill., October 8, 1826; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine and practiced in Springfield eleven years; mayor of Springfield 1859–1861; appointed governor of Dakota territory by Precident Lincoln in 1861, and served two years, with residence in Yankton; presented credentials as the Delegate-elect to the Thirty-eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1863, to June 17, 1864, when he was succeeded by John B. S. Todd, who contested his election; returned to Springfield, Ill.; president of the Lincoln memorial library; president of the state board of charities under Govs. Yates and Deneen

Jefferson, Thomas, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Shadwell, Va.; April 2, 1743; attended a preparatory school conducted by the Rev. Mr. Maury, and was graduated from William and Mary college in 1762; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1767; member of the colonial house of burgesses 1769–1774; prominent in pre-Revolutionary movements; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1775–1776; chairman of the committee that drew the Declaration of Independence; made and presented the first draft of the Declaration that was submitted to the Congress July 2, 1776; signed the Declaration of Independence August 2, 1776; resigned soon after and returned to Monticello; governor of Virginia 1779–1781; member of the state house of representatives in 1782; again Delegate in the Continental Congress 1782–1785, appointed a minister plenipotentiary to France May 7, 1784, and then sole minister to the King of France for three years from March 10, 1785; appointed Secretary of State of the United States September 26, 1789, and served until December 3, 1793; elected Vice President of the United States, and served from March 4, 1797, to March 3, 1801; elected President of the United States in 1801 by the House of Representatives on the thirty-sixth ballot; reelected in 1805, and served from March 4, 1801, to March 3, 1809; retired to his estate, Monticello; active in founding the University of Virginia; died at Monticello, Albemarle county, Va., July 4, 1826.

Jeffords, Elza, a Representative from Mississippi; born near Ironton, Lawrence county, Ohio, May 23, 1826; attended common schools in Portsmouth, Ohio; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Portsmouth, Ohio, in 1847; served in the army of the Tennessee from June, 1862, to December, 1863, as clerk in the quartermaster's department, land transportation; judge of the high court of errors and appeals in Mississippi 1868–1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Vicksburg, Miss., March 19, 1885.

Jenckes, Thomas Allen, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Cumberland, R. I., November 2, 1818; was graduated from Brown university in 1838; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1840, and commenced practice in Providence, R. I., clerk in the state legislature 1840–1844; secretary of the state constitutional convention of 1842; adjutant general 1845–1855; member of the state house of representatives; elected to the state senate; commissioner to revise the laws of the state in 1855; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth, and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1871); defeated as a Republican candidate to the Forty-second Congress; died in Cumberland, R. I., November 4, 1875.

Digitized by Google

Jenifer, Daniel, a Delegate from Maryland; born in Charles county, Md., in 1723; active in pre-Revolutionary movements; member of the governor's council in 1773; member and president of the committee of safety in 1776; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1778–1782, and also to the convention that framed the Federal constitution, and a signer of the instrument, September 17, 1778; president of the state senate in 1779; defeated for governor in 1782; died in Charles county, Md., November 6, 1790.

Jenifer, Daniel, a Representative from Maryland; born in Charles county, Md., April 15, 1791; completed preparatory studies; served as a state legislator and a local magistrate; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); defeated for the Twenty-third Congress; reelected to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1841); minister to Austria August 27, 1841, to July 7, 1845; register of wills for Charles county 1846–1851; died in Mulberry Grove, near Port Tobacco, Md., December 18, 1855.

Jenkins, Albert Gallatin, a Representative from Virginia; born in Cabell county, Va., November 10, 1830; attended the Virginia military institute in Lexington, Va., and was graduated from Jefferson college in 1848, and from the Harvard law school in 1850; admitted to the bar in 1850, but followed agricultural pursuits; delegate in the Democratic national convention in Cincinnati, Ohio, 1856; elected to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); delegate in the Confederate provisional congress in 1861; enlisted in the Confederate service; appointed brigadier general August 1, 1862; killed in the battle of Cloyd's Mountain, near Dublin, Va., May 9, 1864.

Jenkins, John James, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Weymouth, England, August 24, 1843; attended common schools; came with parents to the United States and settled in Baraboo, Wis., in June, 1852; again attended the common schools; served in the Civil war as a member of company A, sixth Wisconsin volunteers, 1861–1865; clerk of the circuit court of Sauk county, 1867–1870; moved to Chippewa Falls, Wis., in 1870; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; city clerk and city attorney of Chippewa Falls; member of the assembly, 1872; county judge of Chippewa county 1872–1876; appointed United States attorney of the territory of Wyoming in March, 1876, and served until 1880, when he returned to Chippewa Falls, Wis., and resumed the practice of law; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1909); appointed judge of Porto Rico by President Taft in May, 1910, and served until his death in Chippewa Falls, Wis., June 8, 1911.

Jenkins, Lemuel, a Representative from New York; born in Bloomingburg, N. Y., in 1793; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the Sullivan county bar in October, 1815, and practiced in Bloomingburg, N. Y.; appointed a master in chancery; the first district attorney of Sullivan county, June, 1818–March, 1819; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825); removed to Albany, N. Y., and practiced law, and died there.

Jenkins, Robert, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Windsor Forges, Lancaster county Pa., July 10, 1769; attended the common schools, and the select school of Dr. Robert Smith, of Pequea; was an ironmaster in Caernarvon township; elected to the state legislature in 1804 and 1805; elected to the Tenth and Eleventh Congresses (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1811); member of a group of horse, and took an active part in suppressing the whisky insurrection in Pennsylvania; died in Windsor Forges, Pa., April 18, 1848.

Jenkins, Timothy, a Representative from New York; born in Barre, Mass., January 29, 1799; located in Washington county, N. Y., in 1817; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1825, and commenced practice in Oneida Castle, N. Y.; moved to Vernon, N. Y., in 1832; district attorney for Oneida county 1840–1845; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); defeated for the Thirty-first Congress; reelected to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); defeated for the Thirty-third Congress; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1856, and was thereafter a Republican; died in Martinsburg, N. Y., December 24, 1859; interment in Oneida county, N. Y.

Jenks, George Augustus, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Punxsutawney, Pa., March 26, 1836; learned the carpenter's trade; taught school; was graduated from Jefferson college, Pa., in 1858; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1859, and commenced practice in Brookville; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); defeated as the Democratic candidate for the state supreme bench in 1880; United States assistant secretary of the interior 1885–1886; solicitor general of the United States 1886–1889; unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor of Pennsylvania in 1898; Democratic candidate for United States Senator in the joint legislative convention of 1899; died in Brookville, Pa., February 10, 1908.

Jenks, Michael Hutchinson, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Bridgetown Mills, near Middletown, Pa., May 21, 1795; pursued an academic course; engaged in agricultural pursuits; commissioner of Bucks county 1830–1833; treasurer 1833–1835; moved to Newtown, Pa., in 1837; associate judge of the court of common pleas of Bucks county 1838–1843; elected to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); defeated for the Twenty-ninth Congress; chief burgess of Newtown for many years; died in Newtown, Pa., October 16, 1867.

Jenness, Benning Wentworth, a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Deerfield, N. H., July 14, 1806; attended Bradford academy, Mass; engaged in mercantile pursuits in Strafford, N. H., 1826–1856; held several local offices; member of the state house of representatives; judge of probate of Strafford county 1841–1845; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Levi Woodbury, and served from November 12, 1845, to June 13, 1846; defeated as the Democratic candidate for Congress in 1846; member of state constitutional convention of 1850; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1852; nominated for governor of New Hampshire, but withdrew in favor of Gen. George Starke in 1861; moved to Ohio and engaged in lumbering and banking; died in Cleveland, Ohio, November 16, 1879.

Digitized by Google

Jennings, David, a Representative from Ohio; born in Readington township, Hunterdon county, N. J., in 1787; attended the public schools; moved to St. Clairsville, Ohio, in 1812; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1813, and practiced in St. Clairsville; held several local offices; member of the state senate 1819 and 1825; prosecuting attorney of Belmont county 1815–1825; elected to the Nineteenth Congress, and served from March 4, 1825, until his resignation, May 25, 1826; died in Baltimore, Md., in 1834.

Jennings, Jonathan, a Delegate from Indiana territory, and a Representative from Indiana; born in Hunterdon county, N. J., in 1784; went with parents to Fayette county, Pa., where he pursued an academic course; went to Indiana territory, and became clerk of the territorial legislature; elected the first Delegate from Indiana territory to the Eleventh Congress; reelected to the Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Congresses, and served from November 27, 1809, to March 3, 1817; elected governor of Indiana in December, 1816, and served until 1822; appointed Indian commissioner in 1818; elected to the Seventeenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Hendricks; reelected to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, and Twenty-first Congresses, and served from December 2, 1822, to March 3, 1831; died near Charlestown, Ind., July 26, 1834.

Jett, Thomas Marion, a Representative from Illinois; born in Bond county, Ill., May 1, 1862; attended the common schools and the Northern Indiana normal school, Valparaiso, Ind., for two years; taught school in Bond and Montgomery counties, Ill.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1887, and practiced in Hillsboro, Ill.; elected state attorney of Montgomery county, Ill., in 1889, and served eight years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1903); resumed the practice of law in Hillsboro, Ill.; elected circuit judge.

Jewett, Daniel Tarbox, a Senator from Missouri; born in Pittsfield, Me., September 14, 1807; completed preparatory studies; was graduated from the Harvard law school, admitted to the Maine bar, and practiced in Bangor, Me.; city solicitor of Bangor 1834–1837; engaged with his brother, Albert G. Jewett, in operating a steamboat line upon the Chagres river, Isthmus of Panama, 1850–1853; went to California and engaged in goldmining for two years; returned to Bangor, Me., and practiced law until 1857; moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1857, and continued in practice; one of the organizers of the Republican party in Missouri; member of the state legislature in 1866; appointed as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles D. Drake, and served from December 19, 1870, until January 20, 1871; resumed law practice; died in St. Louis, Mo., October 7, 1907.

Jewett, Freeborn Garrettson, a Representative from New York; born in Sharon, Conn., in 1791; pursued an academic course; moved to Skaneateles, N. Y., in 1815; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1818, and commenced practice in Skaneateles; surrogate of Onondaga county 1824–1831; member of the state house of representatives in 1826; presidential elector in 1828; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); inspector of Auburn prison 1838–1839; appointed a puisne justice of the supreme court March 5, 1845; elected judge of the court of appeals in 1847; reelected in 1849, and resigned in June, 1853, on account of ill-health; served as chief justice 1847–1850; died in Skaneateles, N. Y., January 27, 1858.

Jewett, Hugh Judge, a Representative from Ohio, was born in Deer Creek, Md., July 1, 1817; completed preparatory studies, and attended Hiram college, Ohio; studied law in Cecil county, Md., was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Clairsville, and later in Columbus, Ohio; removed to Zanesville, Ohio, in 1848; president branch state bank in 1852; Democratic presidential elector in 1852; United States attorney southern district of Ohio 1854; president Central Ohio railroad company in 1857; organized the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis railroad company; one of the organizers of the Pennsylvania railroad; defeated as Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio in 1861, and for United States Senator in 1863; general counsel of the Pennsylvania railway system in 1871; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third Congress, and served from March 4, 1873, until June 23, 1874, when he resigned to become president of the Erie railroad company; died in Augusta, Ga., March 6, 1898.

Jewett, Joshua Henry, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Deer Creek, Harford county, Md., September 13, 1812; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; commenced practice in Elizabethtown, Ky.; county prosecuting attorney; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); died in Elizabethtown, Ky., July 14, 1867.

Jewett, Luther, a Representative from Vermont; born in Canterbury, Conn., December 24, 1772; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1795; studied medicine and began practice in Putney, Vt.; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Federalist to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); moved to St. Johnsbury; studied theology, and was pastor in Newbury, Vt., 1821–1828; returned to St. Johnsbury and published the Farmer's Herald 1828–1832 and the Free Mason's Friend 1830–1832; died in St. Johnsbury, Vt., March 8, 1860.

Johns, Kensey, jr., a Representative from Delaware; born in New Castle, Del., December 10, 1791; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Princeton college in 1810; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1813, and commenced practice in New Castle; elected to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); appointed chancellor of Delaware in 1832, and served until his death, in New Castle, Del., March 28, 1857.

Digitized by Google

Johnson, Adna Romulus, a Representative from Ohio; born in Sweet Springs, Mo., December 14, 1860; moved with his mother to Lawrence county, Ohio, in 1864; attended the common schools and taught school seven years; studied law, and was graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan June 30, 1887; was admitted to the Ohio bar, and practiced in Ironton; elected prosecuting attorney of Lawrence county in 1889; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Ironton, Ohio.

Johnson, Andrew, a Representative and a Senator from Tennessee; born in Raleigh, N. C., December 29, 1808; received a limited schooling; at the age of 10 apprenticed to a tailor; ran away and worked as a tailor in Laurens Court House, S. C., until 1825; returned and endeavored to make settlement with his former employer; moved to Greeneville, Tenn., September, 1825, where he received instruction in elementary English branches from the young woman he married May 27, 1826; organized in 1828 a workingman's party; elected alderman for three years; mayor of Greeneville 1830–1833; member of the state house of representatives 1835–1839; defeated as a presidential elector on the Van Buren ticket in 1840; state senator in 1841; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1853); governor of Tennessee 1853–1857; elected to the United States Senate, and served from October 8, 1857, to March 4, 1862, when he resigned; appointed by President Lincoln military governor of Tennessee, with the rank of brigadier general of volunteers, March 4, 1862; elected Vice President of the United States on the Republican ticket in 1864; became President of the United States April 15, 1865, on the death of Abraham Lincoln; precipitated a wide breach between himself and the Republican Congress by numerous vetoes, and rapid changes in the cabinet followed; a resolution for his impeachment passed the House of Representatives February 24, 1868, and eleven articles were set out; the trial lasted three months, and at its conclusion he was acquitted (May 16, 1868) by a vote of thirty-five for conviction to nineteen for acquittal, only one vote lacking to make the necessary two-thirds for conviction; retired to his home in Tennessee upon the expiration of the presidential term, March 3, 1869; defeated as a candidate for the United States Senate before the legislature in 1870; defeated as an independent candidate for the Forty-third Congress; reelected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1875, until his death at the home of his daughter in Carters Station, Carter county, Tenn., July 31, 1875.

Johnson, Ben, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Bardstown, Nelson county, Ky., May 20, 1858; was graduated from St. Mary's college, Marion county, Ky., in June, 1878, and from the Louisville law university in 1882; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Bardstown; member of the state house of representatives in 1885 and 1887, and was elected speaker in December, 1897; appointed collector of internal revenue for the fifth Kentucky district in July, 1893, and served four years; elected to the state senate 1905, but resigned November 5, 1906; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Johnson, Cave, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Robertson county, Tenn., January 11, 1793; pursued an academic course, and attended Cumberland college, Tennessee; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Clarksville, Tenn.; prosecuting attorney in 1817; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1837); defeated for the Twenty-fifth Congress; reelected to the Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1845); appointed Postmaster General of the United States, and served from March 5, 1845, to March 5, 1849; judge of the circuit court in 1853; elected to the state senate during the Civil war as a Unionist, but declined to serve; died in Clarksville, Tenn., November 23, 1866.

Johnson, Charles, a Representative from North Carolina; native of Chowan county, N. C.; pursued an academic course; elected to the state senate 1781–1784, 1788, 1790–1792; elected to the Seventh Congress, and served from March 4, 1801, until his death in Chowan county, N. C., in 1802.

Johnson, Francis, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Caroline county, Va., June 19, 1776; studied law and was admitted to practice; moved to Woodford county, Ky., in 1796, and to Bowling Green, Ky., in 1807; member state house of representatives for twelve years; elected as an Adams Republican to the Sixteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of David Walker; reelected to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses, and served from November 13, 1820, to March 3, 1827; moved to Louisville, Ky., in 1829, and practiced law; was defeated as the Republican candidate for governor; died in Louisville, Ky., May 16, 1842.

Johnson, Frederick Avery, a Representative from New York; born in Glens Falls, Warren county, N. Y., January 2, 1833; attended the common schools and was graduated from the Glens Falls academy; engaged in banking and in the wool business in New York City, and in banking in Glens Falls; president of the village of Glens Falls; elected to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); executor of several large estates; died near Glens Falls, N. Y., July 29, 1893.

Johnson, Grove Lawrence, a Representative from California; born in Syracuse, N. Y., March 27, 1841; studied law and was admitted to the bar April 3, 1862; school commissioner of Syracuse in March, 1862; in 1863 moved to the Pacific coast; located in Sacramento, Cal., in December, 1865; swamp-land clerk of Sacramento county from 1866 to 1873; member of the California assembly in 1878–1879; elected to the state senate in 1880, 1881, and 1882; commenced the practice of law in Sacramento May 1, 1874; delegate in the Republican state conventions of 1888, 1892, and 1894; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Sacramento, Cal.

Johnson, Harvey H., a Representative from Ohio; native of Vermont; attended the public schools; moved to Ashland, Ohio; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); defeated for the Thirty-fourth Congress.

Digitized by Google

Johnson, Henry, a Representative and a Senator from Louisiana; born in Tennessee September 14, 1783; pursued an academic course; moved to Louisiana; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Bringiers; clerk of the territorial court in 1809; judge of the parish court in 1811; delegate in the state constitutional convention in 1812; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William C. C. Claiborne; reelected in 1818 and served from January 12, 1818, to May 27, 1824, when he resigned; defeated for the United States Senate in 1829; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Edward D. White; reelected to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses, and served from December 1, 1834, to March 3, 1839; defeated as the Whig candidate for governor in 1842; again elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy in term beginning March 4, 1843, caused by the failure of Alexander Porter to qualify, and after the death of Mr. Porter (January 13, 1844), served from February 12, 1844, to March 3, 1849; moved to New River, La., and practiced law; defeated for the Thirty-first Congress; died in Pointe Coupée, La., September 4, 1864.

Johnson, Henry Underwood, a Representative from Indiana; born in Cambridge City, Wayne county, Ind., October 28, 1850; attended the Centerville collegiate institute and Earlham college; located in Wayne county; studied law, was admitted to the Wayne county bar in February, 1872, and engaged in practice in Richmond, Ind.; prosecuting attorney of Wayne county 1876–1880; state senator 1887–1889; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second, and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1899); resumed the practice of law in Richmond, Ind.

Johnson, Herschel Vespasian, a Senator from Georgia; born in Burke county, Ga., September 18, 1812; was graduated from Franklin college in 1834; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Augusta, Ga., 1834–1839; moved to Jefferson county in 1839, and to Milledgeville in 1844; declined to become a candidate for the Twenty-seventh Congress, and was defeated as the Democratic candidate for the Twenty-eighth Congress; was a Polk presidential elector in 1845; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Walter T. Colquitt, and served from February 4, 1848, to March 3, 1849; delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1848, 1852, and 1856; Pierce and King elector in 1851; judge of the superior court November, 1849, to August, 1853; governor of Georgia 1853–1857; candidate for Vice President on the Douglas Democratic ticket in 1860; a Senator from Georgia in the second Confederate congress; president of the state constitutional convention of October, 1865; presented credentials as a Senator-elect to the United States Senate, but was not admitted; resumed the practice of law; circuit judge 1873–1880; died in Jefferson county, Ga., August 16, 1880.

Johnson, James, a Representative from Virginia; native of Virginia; completed preparatory studies; member of the state legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, and Sixteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1813, until February 1, 1820, when he resigned to become customs collector of Norfolk; died in Norfolk, Va., December 7, 1825.

Johnson, James, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Orange county, Va., January 1, 1774; moved with his father to Kentucky in 1779; served as lieutenant colonel in the war of 1812, and commanded the right wing of the United States forces in the battle of the Thames; contractor for supplying troops on the Mississippi and Missouri rivers 1819–1820; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth Congress, and served from March 4, 1825, until his death in Great Crossings, Ky., August 14, 1826.

Johnson, James, a Representative from Georgia; born in Robeson county, N. C., February 12, 1811; was graduated from the University of Georgia in 1832; taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1835, and entered practice in Columbus, Ga., in 1836; prosecuting attorney of Muscogee county; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); appointed provisional governor of Georgia by President Johnson in 1865, and served from June 17 to December 19 of that year; collector of customs at Savannah 1866–1869; appointed judge of the superior court of Georgia July 1, 1869; reappointed October 19, 1870, for a term of eight years; resigned October 1, 1875, to resume the practice of law; Grant and Colfax elector in 1872; died upon his plantation in Chattahoochee county, Ga., November 20, 1891.

Johnson, James A., a Representative from California; born in Spartanburg, S. C., May 16, 1829; attended the common schools; studied medicine and law; commenced practice of law in Downieville, Cal.; member of the legislature 1859–1860; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871).

Johnson, James Hutchins, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Bath, Grafton county, N. H., June 3, 1802; attended the public schools; member of the state senate in 1839; state councilor in 1842 and 1845; elected to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); died in Bath, N. H., September 2, 1887.

Johnson, James L., a Representative from Kentucky; native of Kentucky; lived in Owensboro; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); died in Owensboro, Ky., February 12, 1877.

Johnson, Jeromus, a Representative from New York; born in Wallabout, Kings county, N. Y., November 2, 1775; attended the public schools; moved to New York City; member of the state house of representatives in 1822; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); appointed appraiser of merchandise for the port of New York May 26, 1830, and served until 1840; charter member of the St. Nicholas society of New York; moved to Goshen, Orange county, N. Y., where he died September 7, 1846.

Johnson, John, a Representative from Ohio; born in county Tyrone, Ireland, in 1808; attended the public schools; came to Coshocton, Ohio, in 1824, and engaged in agricultural pursuits; elected to the state senate; delegate to the state constitutional convention; elected as an Independent to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); engaged in banking until his death in Coshocton, Ohio, February 5, 1867.

Digitized by Google

Johnson, John Trimble, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Great Crossings, Ky., October 5, 1788; received a limited education; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Georgetown, Ky.; served in the war of 1812 as an aid to Gen. William H. Harrison; elected to the state legislature five times; elected to the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1825); appointed judge to the court of appeals April 20, 1826, and served until December 20, 1826; died in Lexington, Mo., December 17, 1856.

Johnson, Joseph, a Representative from Virginia; born in Orange county, N. Y., December 19, 1785; moved with his father to Bridgeport, Va. (now West Virginia), in 1800; acquired a knowledge of rudimentary studies by personal efforts; served in the War of 1812 as captain of a company of riflemen; elected as a Democrat to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1827); defeated for the Twentieth Congress; elected to the Twenty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Philip Doddridge, and served from January 21 to March 3, 1833; reelected to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1841); delegate in the national Democratic convention in Baltimore in 1844; reelected to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); delegate in the Virginia constitutional convention of 1850; governor of Virginia 1852–1856; supporter of the southern Confederacy; died in Bridgeport, W. Va., February 27, 1877.

Johnson, Joseph Travis, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Brewerton, Laurens county, S. C., February 28, 1858; was graduated from Erskine college July 2, 1879; studied law, was admitted to the bar May 30, 1883, and engaged in practice in Spartanburg, S. C.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Johnson, Martin Nelson, a Representative and a Senator from North Dakota; born in Racine county, Wis., March 3, 1850; moved with parents to Iowa the same year; was graduated from the law department of the Iowa state university in 1873; taught two years in the California military academy in Oakland, Cal.; was admitted to the bar in 1876; returned to Iowa, and was a member of the state house of representatives in 1877; state senator 1878–1882; Hayes elector for the Dubuque district in 1876; moved to Dakota territory in 1882; district attorney of Nelson county in 1886 and 1888; member of the constitutional convention of North Dakota in 1889, and chairman of the first Republican state convention same year; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second, and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1899); elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1909, until his death in Fargo, N. Dak., October 21, 1909.

Johnson, Noadiah, a Representative from New York; native of New York; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Delhi, N. Y.; district attorney of Delaware county from June, 1827, to November, 1833; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); member of the state senate until his death in Albany, N. Y., April 4, 1839.

Johnson, Perley Brown, a Representative from Ohio; born in the block house, in Marietta, Ohio, September 8, 1798; attended the public schools of McConnelsville, Ohio; clerk of the court of common pleas in 1825; member of the state legislature 1833–1835; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); died in McConnelsville, Ohio, February 9, 1870.

Johnson, Philip, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Warren county, N. J., January 17, 1818; moved to Mount Bethel, Pa., in 1839; attended the common schools, and Lafayette college 1842–1844; was a plantation tutor in Mississippi 1844–1846; returned to Pennsylvania, studied law, attended Union law school in Easton, Pa., was admitted to the bar in 1848, and commenced practice in Easton; county court clerk 1848–1853; member of the state legislature 1853–1854; revenue commissioner of the third judicial district 1859–1860; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, and Thirty-ninth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1861, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 29, 1867.

Johnson, Reverdy, a Senator from Maryland; born in Annapolis, Md., May 21, 1796; was a student in St. John's college, Md., 1811–1814; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1815, and commenced practice in Upper Marlboro; deputy attorney general of Maryland 1816–1817; moved to Baltimore in 1817; member of the state senate 1821–1827; elected to the United States Senate as a Whig, and served from March 4, 1845, to March 7, 1849, when he resigned; appointed Attorney General of the United States by President Taylor March 8, 1849, and served until July 20, 1850; delegate to the peace convention of 1860–1861; state senator 1860–1861; reelected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1863, to July 10, 1868, when he resigned; United States minister to England 1868–1869; returned to Annapolis, Md., and resumed the practice of law; a compiler of reports of decisions of Maryland's court of appeals; died in Annapolis, Md., February 10, 1876.

Johnson, Richard Mentor, a Representative and a Senator from Kentucky; born in Bryants Station, Ky., October 17, 1781; attended Transylvania university; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1802, and began practice in Great Crossings, Ky.; member of the state legislature 1804–1807; elected as a Democrat to the Tenth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1819); during his term of Congressional service was commissioned colonel of Kentucky volunteers, and commanded a regiment under Gen. William H. Harrison in the expeditions and engagements in Lower Canada in 1813; participated in the battle of the Thames, October 5, 1813, and Congress, by resolution of April 4, 1818, presented him a sword in recognition of "the daring and distinguished valor displayed by himself and the regiment of volunteers under his command in charging and essentially contributing to vanquish the combined British and Indian forces" in this battle; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by resignation of John J. Crittenden; reelected and served from December 10, 1819, to March 3, 1829; reelected to the Twenty-first, and to the three succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1837); Vice President of the United States March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841, chosen by the Senate; defeated for Vice President on the Democratic ticket in 1840; state representative; died in Frankfort, Ky., November 19, 1850.

Digitized by Google

Johnson, Robert Ward, a Representative and a Senator from Arkansas; born in Scott county, Ky., July 22, 1814; attended public school in Scott county; moved with his father to Arkansas in 1821; attended the Indian academy near Frankfort, Ky., and was graduated from St. Joseph's college, Bardstown, Ky., in 1833, and from the Yale law school in 1835; was admitted to the bar in 1835, and practiced in Little Rock, Ark., 1835–1847; prosecuting attorney for the Little Rock circuit 1840–1842; and state attorney general ex officio; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth, Thirty-first, and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1853); declined a renomination; appointed and subsequently elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Solon Borland; reelected, and served from July 6, 1855, to March 3, 1861; declined a reelection; delegate in the provisional government of the Confederacy in 1862, and member of the Confederate senate; engaged in the practice of law in Washington, D. C.; defeated candidate for the United States Senate from Arkansas in 1877; died in Little Rock, Ark., July 26, 1879.

Johnson, Thomas, a Delegate from Maryland; born in St. Leonard, Calvert county, Md., November 4, 1732; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced; represented Anne Arundel county in the house of delegates 1762–1763; member of the committee of correspondence, and of the council of safety; formed the Potomac company for improving the navigation of the Potomac river; a member of the Annapolis convention of June, 1774; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1777; nominated George Washington to be commander in chief of the American forces; delegate in the first constitutional convention of Maryland; served in the Revolutionary war as senior brigadier general of provincial forces, and led the "flying camp" that went to Washington's relief during his retreat through New Jersey; prevented by illness in his family from signing the Declaration of Independence; elected first governor of Maryland, 1777–1779; moved to Frederickstown, Md.; appointed by President Washington the first United States judge for the district of Maryland September 24, 1789, and associate justice of the United States supreme court October 31, 1791, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John Rutledge, and served until February, 1793, when he resigned; declined a cabinet position tendered by President Washington August 24, 1795; appointed by President John Adams chief judge of the territory of Columbia February 28, 1801; assisted in laying out the streets of Washington and in designating sites for public buildings; died in Rose Hill, Md., October 25, 1819.

Johnson, Thomas Loftin, a Representative from Ohio; born in Georgetown, Scott county, Ky., July 18, 1854; attended the public schools; employed in a rolling mill, and later in a railroad office, and became secretary of the company; invented the "Johnston" street railway rail in 1872; moved to Cleveland, Ohio, and constructed and operated a street railway system; went to Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1896, and became interested in street railways; again located in Cleveland, Ohio, and became interested in rolling mills, as well as in surface railways; was defeated as the Democratic candidate for the Fifty-first Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, 1899, 1901, 1903, 1905, and 1907); defeated as the Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio in 1903; died in Cleveland, Ohio, April 10, 1911.

Johnson, Waldo Porter, a Senator from Missouri; born in Bridgeport, Harrison county, Va., September 16, 1817; attended public and private schools, and was graduated from Rector college, Prantytown, Va., in 1839; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Virginia; moved to Osceola, Mo., in 1842 and practiced law; served in the war with Mexico as a member of the first Missouri regiment of mounted volunteers; elected to the state legislature when in the field in Mexico, and was mustered out and served 1847; elected circuit attorney in 1848, and judge of the seventh judicial circuit in 1851; resigned in 1852 and resumed law practice; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 17, 1861, to January 10, 1862, when he was expelled from the Senate; served in the Confederate army, was wounded at Pea Ridge, March 8, 1862; attained the rank of lieutenant colonel; appointed member of the Confederate senate, to fill a vacancy; sought refuge in Canada near the close of the Civil war; returned to Osceola, Mo., and was president of the state constitutional convention of October, 1875; died in Osceola, Mo., August 14, 1885.

Johnson, William, a Representative from Ohio; born in Ireland in 1819; emigrated to the United States and located in Ohio; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Mansfield, Ohio; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); defeated for reelection; died in Mansfield, Ohio, May 3, 1866.

Johnson, William Cost, a Representative from Maryland; born near Jefferson, Frederick county, Md., January 14, 1806; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1831, and began practice in Jefferson, Md.; member of the state legislature; delegate in the Maryland state constitutional convention; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); again elected to the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1843); resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C., and died there, April 14, 1860; interment in Jefferson, Md.

Johnson, William Samuel, a Delegate and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Stratford, Conn., October 7, 1727; was graduated from Yale college in 1744; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Stratford; delegate from Connecticut to the convention of the colonies in New York in 1776; was Connecticut agent extraordinary to the court of England 1761–1771, to determine the state title to Indian lands; judge of the supreme court of Connecticut 1772–1774; member of the state council 1780–1782; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1784–1787; delegate in the constitutional convention of 1787; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1789, to March 4, 1791, when he resigned; president of Columbia college of New York City 1792–1800; died in Stratford, Conn., November 14, 1819.

Digitized by Google

Johnston, Charles, a Representative from New York; native of Connecticut; attended the common schools; moved to Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); defeated for reelection.

Johnston, Charles C., a Representative from Virginia; born in Abingdon, Va., in 1795; received a liberal schooling; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced at Abingdon, Va.; elected to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); died in Alexandria, Va., June 17, 1832.

Johnston, David Emmons, a Representative from West Virginia; born near Pearisburg, Giles county, Va., April 10, 1845; attended the common schools; enlisted in the Confederate army in April, 1861, and served four years in the seventh Virginia regiment of infantry, Kemper's brigade of Pickett's division; twice wounded—at Williamsburg, Va., May 5, 1862, and in the charge of Pickett's division at Gettysburg, July 3, 1863; studied law and was admitted to the bar in Giles county, Va., in 1867; moved to Mercer county, W. Va., in 1870; elected prosecuting attorney as a Democrat and served four years; elected to the state senate in 1878; resigned; elected judge of the ninth judicial circuit in 1880, and served eight years; Democratic presidential elector in 1896; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1901); moved to Portland, Oreg., and resumed the practice of law.

Johnston, James Thomas, a Representative from Indiana; born in Putnam county, Ind., January 19, 1839; attended the common schools; commenced the study of law in 1861; in July, 1862, enlisted as a private in company C, sixth Indiana cavalry; in September, 1863, transferred to company A, eighth Tennessee cavalry, and commissioned as second lieutenant and served until January, 1864, when he resigned; afterwards served as commissary sergeant of one hundred and thirty-third Indiana infantry; commissioned lieutenant and assistant quartermaster of the one hundred and forty-ninth Indiana infantry, and mustered out in September, 1865; admitted to the bar in March, 1866, and practiced in Rockville, Ind.; prosecuting attorney for two years; member of the state house of representatives in 1868, and of the state senate 1874–1878; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in Rockville, Ind., July 19, 1904.

Johnston, John Warfield, a Senator from Virginia; born in Panicello, near Abingdon, Va., September 9, 1818; attended the Abingdon academy and the South Carolina college, Columbia, S. C.; studied law in the University of Virginia, and was admitted to the bar in 1839; commonwealth attorney for Tazewell county 1844–1846; state senator 1846–1848; judge of the circuit court of Virginia 1866–1870; elected as a Conservative to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy in the term beginning March 4, 1865, and served from October 20, 1869, to March 3, 1871; reelected to fill vacancy in term beginning March 4, 1871; was again reelected in 1876 and served from March 15, 1871, to March 3, 1883; died in Richmond, Va., February 27, 1889.

Johnston, Joseph Eccleston, a Representative from Virginia; born in Longwood, Prince Edward county, Va., February 3, 1807; moved with parents to Panicello, near Abingdon, Va., in 1811; attended the Abingdon academy, and was graduated from the West Point military academy in 1829, in the class with Robert E. Lee; was assigned to the fourth United States artillery as second lieutenant and was garrisoned in New York and Fort Monroe, Va., 1829–1832; first lieutenant July 31, 1836; resigned May 31, 1837; commissioned first lieutenant of topographical engineers July 7, 1838; captain September 21, 1846; lieutenant colonel of voltigeurs April 9, 1847, to August 28, 1848; lieutenant colonel first cavalry March 3, 1855; brigadier general and quartermaster general June 28, 1860; brevet captain July 7, 1838, "for gallantry on several occasions in the war against the Florida Indians;" major and colonel April 12, 1847, "for gallantry and meritorious conduct at Cerro Gordo, Mexico, where he was severely wounded under the enemy's works, while on reconnoitering duty;" lieutenant colonel September 13, 1847, "for gallantry and meritorious conduct in the battle of Chapultepec, Mexico; resigned April 22, 1861; general in the Confederate army 1861–1865; located in Vicksburg, Miss., was president of a railroad company in Arkansas and engaged in the insurance business 1868–1877; removed to Richmond, Va., in 1877, and was president of an express company; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); commissioner of railroads under President Cleveland 1887–1891; died in Washington, D. C., March 21, 1891.

Johnston, Joseph Forney, a Senator from Alabama; born in Lincoln county, N. C., March 23, 1843; attended public schools; enlisted in the Confederate army as a private in March, 1861, and served during the war; was wounded four times, and rose to the rank of captain; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1866, and practiced in Selma, Ala., 1866–1884; removed to Birmingham, Ala., practiced law, and was president of the Alabama national bank; elected governor of Alabama in 1896 and reelected in 1898, and served four years; unanimously elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Edmund W. Pettus, and his term of service began August 6, 1907; reelected for the term ending March 3, 1915.

Johnston, Josiah Stoddard, a Representative and a Senator from Louisiana; born in Salisbury, Conn., November 24, 1784; moved with parents to Kentucky in 1790; was graduated from Transylvania university in 1805; studied law and commenced practice in Alexandria, La.; member of the state house of representatives; state district judge 1812–1821; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Brown; twice reelected and served from January 15, 1824, until his death, caused by an explosion of the steamboat Lioness upon which he was a passenger, on Red river, La., May 19, 1833.

Johnston, Samuel, a Delegate and a Senator from North Carolina; born in Dundee, Scotland, December 15, 1733; brought by parents to Chowan county, N. C., in 1736; attended school in New England; studied law, was admitted to the bar; and practiced; member of state assembly in 1760, treasurer of the northern division; moderator of the Revolutionary convention of 1775; state senator 1779; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1780–1782; presided over the state conventions of 1788 and 1789; elected as a Federalist to the United States Senate, and served from November 27, 1789, to March 3, 1793; judge of the superior courts of North Carolina 1800–1803; died near Edenton, N. C., August 18, 1816.

Digitized by Google

Johnston, Thomas Dillard, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Waynesville, Haywood county, N. C., April 1, 1840; attended the common schools; entered the University of North Carolina in 1858, but left in the spring of 1859 on account of failing health; studied law; entered the southern army in the spring of 1861 and received three desperate wounds at Malvern Hill; admitted to the bar in 1866, and practiced in Asheville; elected mayor in 1869; member of the state house of representatives in 1870; candidate for Democratic elector on the Greeley ticket in 1872; reelected to the state house of representatives in 1872; declined a reelection; state senator in 1876; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in Asheville, N. C., June 22, 1902.

Johnstone, George, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Newberry, S. C., April 18, 1846; attended the public schools; entered the state military academy, from which he enlisted in the Confederate army as a member of the battalion of state cadets and served until the close of the war; attended the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, 1866–1869; returned to Newberry, N. C.; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1871; declined a nomination to the state legislature in 1874; elected to the state house of representatives in 1877, and served until 1884; declined reelection; member of the commission that revised the tax laws and suggested amendments to the state constitution in 1881; member of the state executive committee of the Democratic party 1880–1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); member of the state constitutional convention of 1895; resumed the practice of law in Newberry, S. C

Jolley, John Lawlor, a Representative from South Dakota; born in Montreal, Quebec, July 14, 1840; attended the common schools; moved to Wisconsin in 1857; settled in Dakota territory July 9, 1866; enlisted as a private in company C, twenty-third Wisconsin volunteer infantry, August 22, 1862; mustered out as second lieutenant, July 4, 1865; member of the territorial house of representatives in 1867–1868; of the territorial council in 1875, and 1881; state senator 1889–1890; mayor of the city of Vermilion in 1877, and 1885; member of the Sioux Falls constitutional convention in 1889; member of the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1884; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John R. Gamble, and served from December 7, 1891, to March 3, 1893; resumed the practice of law in Vermilion, S. Dak.

Jonas, Benjamin Franklin, a Senator from Louisiana; born in Williamstown, Grant county, Ky., July 19, 1834; moved with parents to Adams county, Ill., where he attended public schools; in 1853 moved to New Orleans, La.; studied law, was graduated from the law department of the University of Louisiana in 1855, admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New Orleans; served in the Confederate army as a private, captain, and acting adjutant of the artillery of Hood's corps in the army of Tennessee until the close of the war; member of the state house of representatives in 1865, and served until reconstruction; chairman of the Louisiana delegation in the Democratic national convention in 1868; elected to the state senate in 1872; city attorney of New Orleans in 1875 and 1878; member of the state house of representatives 1877–1879; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1879, to March 3, 1885; collector of the port of New Orleans 1885–1889; defeated as the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate in 1884, and in the primaries of 1904; died in New Orleans, La., December 21, 1911.

Jones, Alexander Hamilton, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Buncombe county, N. C., July 21, 1822; completed preparatory studies; became a merchant; enlisted in the Union army in 1863; captured in east Tennessee while raising a regiment of Union volunteers and imprisoned in Asheville, also at Camp Vance, Camp Holmes, and in Libby, in Richmond, Va.; conscripted; made his escape November 14, 1864; again joined the Union forces in Cumberland, Md.; after the war returned to North Carolina; member of the state convention in 1865; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress, but, as North Carolina had not been readmitted to representation, he was not admitted; elected to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses, and served from July 6, 1868, to March 3, 1871; defeated for the Forty-second congress; resided in Washington, D. C., until 1876; in Maryland until 1884; in Asheville, N. C., until 1890; in Oklahoma until 1897; moved to California in 1897; died in Long Beach, Cal., January 29, 1901.

Jones, Allen, a Delegate from North Carolina; born in Halifax county, N. C., December 24, 1739; attended Eton college, England; was a member of the colonial assembly; delegate in the state conventions in Newbern in 1775, and Halifax in 1776; served throughout the Revolutionary war, and was a brigadier general; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1779–1780; state senator 1784–1787; member of the state convention in 1788; died in Northampton county, N. C., November 10, 1798.

Jones, Benjamin, a Representative from Ohio; born in Winchester, Frederick county, Va., April 13, 1787; completed preparatory studies; moved to Wooster, Ohio; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); died in Wooster, Ohio, April 24, 1861.

Jones, Burr W., a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Union, Rock county, Wis., March 9, 1846; pursued an academic and collegiate course, was graduated from the literary department of the Wisconsin state university in 1870, and from the law department in 1871; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Madison, Wis.; elected district attorney of Dane county in 1872 and 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885).

Jones, Charles W., a Senator from Florida; born in Ireland in 1834; came with parents to the United States in 1844 and settled in Pensacola, Fla., in 1854; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1857, and practiced in Pensacola; member of the national Democratic convention in Baltimore in 1872; unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Congress in 1872; member of the state house of representatives in 1874; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate 1875; reelected in 1881, and served from March 4, 1875, to March 3, 1887; moved to Detroit, Mich., in 1887, and died there October 11, 1897.

Digitized by Google

Jones, Daniel Terryll, a Representative from New York; born in Hebron, Conn., August 17, 1800; received a liberal schooling; studied medicine, was licensed to practice, and practiced in Connecticut and New York; moved to Baldwinsville, N. Y.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); died in Baldwinsville, N. Y., March 29, 1861.

Jones, Francis, a Representative from Tennessee; received a limited schooling; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Winchester, Tenn.; elected to the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, and Seventeenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1823); resumed the practice of law in Winchester, Tenn., and died there.

Jones, Frank, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Barrington, N. H., September 15, 1832; attended the public schools; moved to Portsmouth in 1849, and became a merchant and brewer; owned establishments in Portsmouth and South Boston, Mass.; mayor of Portsmouth 1868–1869; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); defeated as the Democratic candidate for governor of New Hampshire 1880; joined the Republican party; interested in railroads; Republican presidential elector in 1900; died in Portsmouth, N. H., October 2, 1902.

Jones, George, a Senator from Georgia; born in Savannah, Ga., February 25, 1766; received an academic training; studied medicine with his father, Dr. Noble W. Jones, and practiced for a number of years; participated in the Revolution during 1780–1781, and was imprisoned upon an English ship; was repeatedly a member of the state assembly, in both branches; served in the war of 1812 as captain of a company of Savannah reserves; alderman 1793–1794, 1802–1803, and 1814–1815; mayor of Savannah 1812–1814; judge of the superior court for the eastern circuit of Georgia; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Abraham Baldwin, and served from August 27, 1807, to November 7, 1807; died in Savannah, Ga., November 13, 1838.

Jones, George Wallace, a Delegate from the territory of Michigan, the territory of Wisconsin, and a Senator from Iowa; born in Vincennes, Ind., April 12, 1804; was graduated from the Transylvania university, Kentucky, in 1825; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; clerk of the United States courts in Missouri in 1826; moved to Michigan territory and located in Sinsinawa Mound; judge of the county court; elected a Delegate from Michigan territory to the Twenty-fourth Congress, and served from March 4, 1835, until December, 1836, when, the territory of Wisconsin having been formed from the territory of Michigan, and his residence being in the new territory, he was elected, and qualified, as a Delegate from Wisconsin territory, and as such served out the term, from December 7, 1836, to March 3, 1837; presented a certificate of election as a Delegate from the territory of Wisconsin to the Twenty-fifth Congress, and served from March 4, 1837, to January 14, 1839, when he was succeeded by James D. Doty, who contested his election; appointed surveyor of public lands for the territories of Wisconsin and Iowa by President Van Buren January 29, 1840; removed by President Tyler July 4, 1841; reappointed by President Polk January 3, 1846, and served, with headquarters in Dubuque, Iowa, until December, 1848, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate as one of the first Senators from the State of Iowa, and served from December 7, 1848, to March 3, 1859; appointed minister resident of the United States to New Granada by President Buchanan March 8, 1859, and served in Bogata until recalled by President Lincoln in July, 1861; on his return and upon his arrival in New York City was arrested by order of Secretary Seward on the charge of disloyalty, based on a friendly letter to his former college mate, Jefferson Davis; was imprisoned in Fort Lafayette, New York harbor, for sixty-four days, when he was released by order of President Lincoln; returned to Dubuque, Iowa, and died there July 22, 1896.

Jones, George Washington, a Representative from Tennessee; born in King and Queen county, Va., March 15, 1806; moved to Fayetteville, Tenn.; completed preparatory studies; justice of the peace 1832–1835; served several years in both branches of the legislature; served as county clerk; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1853); reelected to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); a representative from Tennessee in the first Confederate congress; delegate in the state constitutional convention in 1870; died in Fayetteville, Tenn., November 14, 1884.

Jones, George W., a Representative from Texas; born in Marion county, Ala., September 5, 1828; moved with parents to Tipton county, Tenn., and shortly after to Bastrop, Tex., in 1848; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected district attorney in 1856; enlisted in the Confederate army as a private; elected lieutenant colonel and afterwards promoted to the colonelcy of the seventeenth Texas infantry; returned to Bastrop county; member of the constitutional convention of 1866; elected lieutenant governor of Texas; removed by Gen. Sheridan as "an impediment to reconstruction"; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); resumed the practice of law in Bastrop, Tex.

Jones, Isaac D., a Representative from Maryland; native of Maryland; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Princess Anne county; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); elected attorney general of Maryland in 1863.

Jones, James, a Representative from Georgia; native of Maryland; moved to Georgia with his uncle, Col. Marbury; attended the academy in Augusta; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Savannah; served several terms in both branches of the legislature; member of the state constitutional convention of May, 1798; elected to the Sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1799, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 13, 1801; interment in the Congressional cemetery in Washington, D. C.

Digitized by Google

Jones, James, a Representative from Virginia; born in Amelia (now Nottoway) county, Va., December 11, 1772; attended Hampden-Sidney college, Va., the Jefferson medical college, Philadelphia, Pa., and was graduated in medicine from the University of Edinburg, Scotland, in 1796; returned to Amelia county and practiced medicine and engaged in planting; several times a member of the state legislature; privy councillor of Virginia four consecutive terms; a presidential elector; defeated candidate for the Fifteenth Congress, to fill a vacancy; elected as a Republican to the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Congresses (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1823); died at his estate "Mountain Hall," Nottaway county, Va., April 25, 1848.

Jones, James C., a Senator from Tennessee; born in Davidson county, Tenn., April 20, 1809; attended the public schools; member of the state house of representatives in 1839; governor of Tennessee 1841–1845; presidential elector on the Taylor ticket in 1848; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1851, to March 3, 1857; died in Memphis, Tenn., October 29, 1859.

Jones, James H., a Representative from Texas; born in Shelby county, Ala., September 13, 1830; moved with parents to Talladega county, Ala., in early youth; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1851, and commenced practice in Henderson, Tex.; enlisted in the Confederate army and served as captain, lieutenant colonel, and colonel of the eleventh Texas infantry; presidential elector on the Hancock and English ticket in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); resumed the practice of law in Henderson, Tex.

Jones, James Kimbrough, a Representative and a Senator from Arkansas; born in Marshall county, Miss., September 29, 1839; removed with parents to Dallas county, Ark., in 1848; pursued classical studies; enlisted in the Confederate army; returned to his plantation in Arkansas; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Washington, Hempstead county, Ark., in 1873; member of the state senate 1873–1879, and president of the senate in 1877; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1896; chairman of the Democratic national committee of 1896; delegate in the Democratic national convention in Kansas City in 1900; again chairman of the Democratic national committee; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1885); elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate in 1885; reelected in 1890 and 1897, and served from March 4, 1885, until March 3, 1903; pursued the practice of law in Washington, D. C., and died there June 1, 1908.

Jones, James Taylor, a Representative from Alabama; born in Richmond, Va., in 1832; moved to Marengo county, Ala.; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1852, and from the law school of the University of Virginia in 1855; admitted to the bar in 1856; enlisted in the Confederate army as a private in the fourth Alabama regiment; delegate in the Alabama state constitutional convention of 1865; member of the state senate 1872–1873; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by death of Thomas H. Herndon; reelected to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses, and served from December 3, 1883, to March 3, 1889; resumed the practice of law in Demopolis, Ala.; circuit judge of the first judicial circuit of Alabama 1889 until his death in Demopolis, Ala., February 15, 1895.

Jones, John Glancy, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Caernarvon township, Berks county, Pa., October 7, 1811; attended Kenyon college; studied theology and was ordained to the ministry of the Episcopal church in 1833; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Easton, Pa., in 1842; district attorney for Berks county, 1847–1849; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); reelected to the Thirty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Henry A. Muhlenberg; reelected to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses, and served from February 13, 1854, until October 30, 1858, when he resigned; declined the position of United States minister to Berlin, tendered in 1857; presidential elector in 1856; appointed minister to Austria by President Buchanan December 7, 1858, and served from December 15, 1858, to November 14, 1861; died in Reading, Pa., March 24, 1877.

Jones, John J., a Representative from Georgia; born in Burke county, Ga., November 13, 1824; was graduated from Emory college; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1848, and practiced in Waynesboro, Ga.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1859, to January 23, 1861, when he joined with his colleagues in presenting a signed communication to the House of Representatives declaring their intention, and withdrew.

Jones, John Percival, a Senator from Nevada; born in Herefordshire, England, in 1829; emigrated with his parents to this country when he was less than a year old, and settled in the northern part of Ohio; attended public schools in Cleveland; moved to California and engaged in mining, and in farming in Tuolumne county; sheriff of the county; member of the state senate 1863–1867; moved to Gold Hill, Nev., in 1868; engaged in the development of the mineral resources of that state; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate in 1873, 1879, 1885, 1890, and 1897, and served from March 4, 1873, to March 3, 1903; retired to his home in Santa Monica, Cal., and died there November 29, 1912.

Jones, John Sills, a Representative from Ohio; born in Champaign county, Ohio, February 12, 1836; received a scientific training; was graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university in 1855; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1857; elected prosecuting attorney for Delaware county 1860; served as first lieutenant and captain in the Union army 1861–1864; reenlisted to command the one hundred and seventy-fourth Ohio infantry in September, 1864; mustered out July 7, 1865; resumed the practice of law; mayor of Delaware in 1866; again elected prosecuting attorney for Delaware county 1866–1872; presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); member state house of representatives 1879–1884; died in Delaware, Ohio, April 11, 1903.

Jones, John W., a Representative from Georgia; born in Montgomery county, Md., April 14, 1806; moved with his parents to Kentucky; received a liberal schooling; studied medicine, and was graduated from Jefferson college, Philadelphia, Pa.; moved to Griffin, Ga., and practiced; member of the state legislature; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); moved to Alabama, and engaged in planting; returned to Georgia, where he was appointed a professor in the state medical college; died in Atlanta, Ga., in 1872.

Digitized by Google

Jones, John Winston, a Representative from Virginia; born in Chesterfield, Va., November 22, 1791; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1803; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1845); Speaker of the House of Representatives in the Twenty-eighth Congress; declined a reelection; died in Petersburg, Va., January 29, 1848.

Jones, Joseph, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Virginia in 1727; member of the Virginia house of burgesses, of the committee of safety of 1775, and of the Virginia convention of 1776; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1777–1778 and 1780–1783; appointed judge of the general court January 23, 1778, but resigned in October, 1779; reappointed November 19, 1789; member of the convention of 1788, and a major general of Virginia militia; died in King George county, Va., October 28, 1805.

Jones, Morgan, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, February 26, 1832; received a liberal schooling; member of the city council 1858–1862; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867).

Jones, Nathaniel, a Representative from New York; born in Warwick, Orange county N. Y., February 17, 1788; moved to Newburgh, N. Y., in 1841; completed preparatory studies and later taught school; member of the state house of representatives 1827–1828; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); surveyor general of New York from February, 1842 to November, 1844; state canal commissioner 1844–1847; member of the state senate 1852–1853; died in Newburgh, N. Y., July 20, 1866.

Jones, Noble Wymberly, a Delegate from Georgia; born near London, England, in 1732; emigrated with his parents to the United States and located in Savannah, Ga.; studied medicine and practiced in Savannah 1756–1774; member of the colonial assembly and of the state house of representatives, and its speaker 1768–1770; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1775–1776; removed to Charleston, S. C., in 1778; captured at the fall of Charleston in 1780 and imprisoned at St. Augustine, Fla.; exchanged in 1781; located in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1781 and engaged in the practice of medicine; again a Delegate to the Continental Congress, accredited to Georgia, 1781–1783; returned to Savannah, Ga., in 1782; resumed professional labors, and was elected to the general assembly; president of the state constitutional convention in 1795; died in Savannah, Ga., January 9, 1805.

Jones, Owen, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Ardmore, Montgomery county, Pa., December 29, 1819; attended public schools, and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania; studied law in Philadelphia, was admitted to the bar of Montgomery county, May 19, 1842, and practiced; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); defeated for reelection; participated in the Civil war; raised a company of cavalry, company B, first Pennsylvania cavalry; captain August 5, 1861; major January 3, 1862; lieutenant colonel, and colonel May, 1863; resumed the practice of law; died near Ardmore, Pa., December 25, 1878.

Jones, Phineas, a Representative from New Jersey; born at Spencer, Worcester county, Mass., April 18, 1819; attended the common schools; moved to Elizabethport, N. J., in 1855; two years a member of the city council of Elizabethport; moved to Newark in 1860; engaged in manufacturing, and in mercantile business; vice president of the New Jersey state agricultural society; member of the state house of representatives 1874–1875; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); died in Newark, N. J., April 19, 1884.

Jones, Roland, a Representative from Louisiana; native of North Carolina; moved to Shreveport, La.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855).

Jones, Seaborn, a Representative from Georgia; born in Augusta, Ga., February 1, 1788; attended Princeton college; studied law, and, by a special act of legislature, admitted to the bar in 1808; commenced practice in Milledgeville, Ga.; appointed solicitor general of the Ocmulgee circuit in September, 1817; solicitor general of Georgia in 1823; one of the commissioners appointed to investigate the office of agent for Indian affairs and the disturbances in the Creek nation; moved to Columbus, Ga., in 1827; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); reelected to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); died in Columbus, Ga., March 18, 1864.

Jones, Thomas Laurens, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Rutherford county, N. C., January 22, 1819; was graduated from Princeton college, and from the law department of Harvard university; admitted to the bar in Charleston, S. C., in 1846, and commenced practice in New York City in 1847; moved to Newport, Ky.; member of the general assembly 1853–1854; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); reelected to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); died in Newport, Ky., July 20, 1887.

Jones, Walter, a Representative from Virginia; born in Williamsburg, Va., December 18, 1745; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1760; studied medicine in Edinburgh, Scotland, and received the degree of doctor of medicine in 1770; returned to Virginia and located in Northumberland county; physician general of the middle military department 1777; elected as a Democrat to the Fifth Congress (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1799); reelected to the Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, and Eleventh Congresses (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1811); died in Westmoreland county, Va., December 31, 1815.

Jones, Wesley Livsey, a Representative and a Senator from Washington; born near Bethany, Ill., October 9, 1863; was graduated from Southern Illinois college in Enfield in 1885; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1886; moved to North Yakima, Wash., in 1889, and engaged in the practice of law; elected as a Republican, and from the state at large, to the Fifty-sixth, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1909); elected to the United States Senate for the term expiring March 3, 1915.

Digitized by Google

Jones, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1760; completed academic studies; served in the Revolutionary war in a company of volunteers and participated in the battles of Trenton and Princeton; entered the Continental naval service under Commodore Truxton, and served with the James River flotilla; was twice wounded and twice taken prisoner; moved to Charleston, S. C.; returned to Pennsylvania; elected as a Democrat to the Seventh Congress (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1803); appointed Secretary of the Navy by President Madison, and served from January 12, 1813, to December 2, 1814; president of the bank of the United States; collector of customs in Philadelphia, Pa.; died in Bethlehem, Pa., September 5, 1831.

Jones, William Atkinson, a Representative from Virginia; born in Warsaw, Va., March 21, 1849; entered the Virginia military institute in 1864, and served in the defense of Richmond, Va., until its evacuation; attended Coleman's school in Fredericksburg, and was graduated from the law department of the University of Virginia in 1870; admitted to the bar in July, 1870, and commenced practice in Warsaw, Va.; commonwealth attorney for several years; delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1880, 1896, and 1900; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second, and to the nine succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Jones, William Carey, a Representative from Washington; born in Remsen, Oneida county, N. Y., April 5, 1855; attended the public schools, the seminary in West Salem, Wis., and the law department of the University of Wisconsin; was admitted to the bar in Madelia, Minn., in 1876 and practiced; city attorney several terms; moved to Washington Territory; elected district attorney for the twelfth district of the Territory of Washington in 1886 and 1888; elected attorney general of the state upon the admission of the state into the union in 1889, and again in 1892; elected as a Free Silver Republican to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); resumed the practice of law in Spokane, Wash.

Jones, William Theopilus, a Delegate from Wyoming; born in Corydon, Ind., February 20, 1842; received a liberal schooling; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served in the Union army as major of the seventeenth Indiana volunteers; presidential elector in 1868; appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Wyoming Territory in 1869; located in Cheyenne, Wyo. Ter.; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died in Corydon, Ind., October 6, 1882.

Jones, Willie, a Delegate from North Carolina; born in Halifax county, N. C., in 1731; attended Eton college, England; president of the North Carolina committee of safety in 1775, and ex officio first governor of the new state; member of the first constitutional convention in 1776; member of the house of commons of North Carolina 1776–1778; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1780–1781; elected to the United States constitutional convention in 1787, but declined; member of the state constitutional convention called to ratify the Constitution of the United States July 21, 1788; died near Raleigh, N. C., June 18, 1801.

Jordan, Isaac M., a Representative from Ohio; born in Mifflinsburg, Union county, Pa., May 5, 1835; attended a preparatory school in Northwood, Ohio; was graduated from Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, July, 1857; studied law and was admitted to the bar in May, 1858; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (Mar 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); declined renomination; enaged in the practice of law in Cincinnati; died from injuries received in an elevator accident in Cincinnati, Ohio, December 3, 1890.

Jorden, Edwin J., a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected to the Fifty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Myron B. Wright; took his seat February 23, 1895, and served until March 4, 1895.

Jorgensen, Joseph, a Representative from Virginia; born in Philadelphia, Pa., February 11, 1844; was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania; cadet surgeon, United States army, March 17, 1864–March 23, 1865; acting assistant surgeon April 10, 1865–September 10, 1865, and June 5, 1867–February 21, 1870; elected to the house of representatives of Virginia 1871; appointed postmaster of Petersburg; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); appointed register of the land office at Walla Walla, Wash. Ter., by President Arthur February 27, 1883, and served until removed by President Cleveland in 1886; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1880; died in Portland, Oreg., January 21, 1888.

Joseph, Antonio, a Representative from New Mexico; born in Taos, N. Mex., August 25, 1846; attended Lux's academy in Taos and Bishop Lammy's school in Santa Fe, N. Mex., for two years; also attended Webster college, in St. Louis county, Mo., for four years; completed a commercial course at Bryant & Stratton's commercial college, St. Louis, Mo.; engaged in mercantile pursuits; county judge of Taos county, N. Mex.; member of the territorial legislature; elected to the territorial senate, and its president; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1895); died in Ojo Calienta, N. Mex., April 18, 1910.

Joy, Charles Frederick, a Representative from Missouri; born in Morgan county, Ill., December 11, 1849; attended the public schools; was graduated from the academic department of Yale college in 1874; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and engaged in practice in St. Louis, Mo., in 1876; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1903); resumed the practice of law in St. Louis; elected recorder of deeds in 1906 and in 1910.

Joyce, Charles Herbert, a Representative from Vermont; born near Andover, England, January 30, 1830; emigrated to the United States in 1836 and settled in Waitsfield, Vt.; attended Northfield academy and Newbury seminary; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1852, and began practice in Northfield, Vt.; two years state librarian; district attorney for Washington county 1857–1858; served in the Union army as major and lieutenant colonel of the second Vermont volunteers; resumed the practice of law in Rutland, Vt.; member of the state house of representatives in 1869, 1870, and 1871; speaker in 1870 and 1871; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1883); resumed the practice of law in Rutland, Vt.; retired resident of Pittsfield, Vt.

Digitized by Google

Joyce, James, a Representative from Ohio; born in Cumberland, Guernsey County, Ohio, July 2, 1870; taught school and studied law; entered the senior class of the Cincinnati law school in 1891, and was admitted to the bar March 3, 1892, at Columbus; was superintendent of schools 1893–1894, and 1894–1895; began active practice of the law in Cambridge, Ohio, in 1895; member of the house of representatives, general assembly of Ohio in 1895; reelected in 1897; delegate in the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1904; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Cambridge, Ohio.

Judd, Norman Buel, a Representative from Illinois; born in Rome, N. Y., January 10, 1815; received a liberal schooling; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Chicago, Ill., in 1836; city attorney 1837–1839; served sixteen years in the Illinois state senate, 1844–1860; member Republican national convention of 1860; appointed minister plenipotentiary to Berlin by President Lincoln March 6, 1861, and served until 1865; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); appointed collector at the port of Chicago by President Grant December 5, 1872, and served until his death in Chicago, Ill., November 10, 1878.

Judson, Andrew Thompson, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Eastford, Conn., November 29, 1784; received a limited schooling; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1806; moved to Montpelier, Vt., where he began practice; returned to Connecticut and settled in Canterbury in 1809; state attorney for Windham county 1819–1833; served several years in the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress and served from March 4, 1835, until July 4, 1836, when he resigned; appointed by President Jackson United States judge for the district of Connecticut June 28, 1836, and served until his death in Canterbury, Conn., March 17, 1853.

Julian, George Washington, a Representative from Indiana; born near Centerville, Ind., May 5, 1817; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1840; member of the state house of representatives in 1845; delegate in the Buffalo Free Soil convention, and Van Buren elector in 1848; candidate for vice president on the Free Soil ticket in 1852; delegate in the national Republican convention in Pittsburgh in 1856; elected as a Free Soiler to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1871); appointed by President Cleveland surveyor general of New Mexico December 13, 1886, and served four years; died in Irvington, a suburb of Indianapolis, Ind., July 7, 1899.

Junkin, Benjamin F., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Cumberland county, Pa., November 12, 1822; was graduated from Fayette college; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1844, and commenced practice in Bloomfield, Pa.; district attorney for Perry county 1850–1853; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); defeated for reelection; resumed the practice of law in Bloomfield, Pa.

Kahn, Julius, a Representative from California; born in Kuppenheim, Grand Duchy of Baden, Germany, February 28, 1861; came to California with his parents in 1866; attended the public schools of San Francisco; followed the theatrical profession for ten years, playing with Edwin Booth, Joseph Jefferson, Tomasso Salvini, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence, Clara Morris, and other well-known stars; returned to San Francisco in 1890; studied law; elected to the state house of representatives in 1892; was admitted to the bar by the supreme court of California in January, 1894; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1903); reelected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Kalanianaole, Jonah Kuhio, a Delegate from Hawaii; born in Koloa, island of Kauai, Hawaii, March 26, 1871; attended schools in Honolulu, the United States, and England; capitalist; employed in the office of minister of the interior and in the customhouse under the monarchy; created prince by royal proclamation in 1884; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Kalbfleisch, Martin, a Representative from New York; born in Flushing, Holland, February 8, 1804; attended the public schools; studied chemistry; emigrated to New York City in 1826, and engaged in manufacturing; health warden in 1832; and school trustee in 1836; established a chemical factory in Greenpoint, N. Y., in 1844; supervisor of Bushwick 1852–1854; alderman in Brooklyn 1855–1861; mayor 1862–1864 and 1868–1870; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); delegate in the Union national convention of 1866; again mayor of Brooklyn 1867–1871, and defeated as an independent candidate for reelection; died in Brooklyn, N. Y., February 12, 1873.

Kane, Elias Kent, a Senator from Illinois; born in New York City, June 7, 1796; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Nashville, Tenn.; moved to Kaskaskia, Ill., in 1815; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1818; first secretary of state of Illinois; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate in 1825; reelected in 1831, and served from March 4, 1825, until his death in Washington, D. C., December 11, 1835; interment in family cemetery on old Kane farm near Fort Gage, Ill.

Kane, Nicholas T., a Representative from New York; a resident of Albany, N. Y.; elected to the Fiftieth Congress, and served from March 4, 1887, until his death in Albany, N. Y., September 14, 1887, before the assembling of the Congress.

Kasson, John Adam, a Representative from Iowa; born in Charlotte, Vt., January 11, 1822; was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1842; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in St. Louis, Mo., until 1857; moved to Des Moines, Iowa, and continued in practice; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1860; first assistant postmaster general in President Lincoln's administration in 1861, and resigned in 1862; United States commissioner to the International postal congress in Paris in 1863; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); commissioner from the United States in 1867 to negotiate postal conventions with Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, and Italy; member of the state house of representatives 1868–1872; reelected as a Republican to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1877); appointed by President Hayes envoy and minister of the United States to Austria-Hungary October 17, 1877; confirmed by the Senate October 30, 1877, and served until 1881; again elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1881, until his resignation, July 13, 1884; appointed by President Arthur envoy and minister to Germany July 4, 1884; confirmed the same day, and served one year; special envoy to the Congo international conference in Berlin in 1885; and to the Samoan international conference in 1889; United States special commissioner plenipotentiary to negotiate reciprocity treaties in 1897; member of the United States and British joint high commission which met in Quebec in 1898, to adjust Canadian questions; died in Washington, D. C., May 19, 1910; interment in Des Moines, Iowa.

Digitized by Google

Kaufman, David Spangler, a Representative from Texas; born in Boiling Springs, Pa., December 18, 1813; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1833; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Natchez, Miss., and commenced practice in Natchitoches, La.; moved to Nacogdoches, Tex., in 1837; served against the Indians; representative in the Texas congress 1839–1843; senator 1843–1845; appointed chargé d'affaires of Texas to the United States in 1845; moved to Lowes Ferry, Tex.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress, and served from June 1, 1846, to March 3, 1847; located in Sabine, Tex., and reelected to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses, and served until his death in Washington, D. C., January 31, 1851.

Kavanagh, Edward, a Representative from Maine; born in Newcastle, Me., April 27, 1795; attended Georgetown college, D. C., and was graduated from the Montreal seminary in 1820; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Damariscotta, Me.; member of the state house of representatives 1826–1828; secretary of the state senate in 1830; state senator and president of the senate 1842–1843; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1835); defeated for the Twenty-fourth Congress; appointed by President Jackson chargé d'affaires to Portugal March 3, 1835, and served until 1841; one of the joint commission on the Northeastern boundary in 1842; acting governor of Maine 1843–1844; died in New Castle, Me., January 21, 1844.

Kean, John, a Delegate from South Carolina; born in South Carolina about 1766; served in the Continental army; taken prisoner at the capture of Charleston in 1780 by General Clinton and was confined aboard a prison ship several months; member of the commission to settle accounts between the United States and the individual States; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1785–1787; cashier of the Bank of the United States in Philadelphia, Pa.; died in Philadelphia, Pa., in May, 1795.

Kean, John, a Representative and a Senator from New Jersey; born in Ursino, near Elizabeth, N. J., December 4, 1852; studied in private schools and entered Yale college, class of 1876, but did not graduate; studied law, was graduated from the Columbia law school, New York City, in 1875, and was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 1877; and began practice in Elizabeth, N. J.; engaged in banking and other business; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); defeated for the Forty-ninth Congress; reelected to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); elected to the United States Senate in 1899 and 1905, and served from March 4, 1899, to March 3, 1911; engaged in banking in Elizabeth, N. J.

Kearney, Dyre, a Delegate from Delaware; sat in the Continental Congress 1786–1788.

Kearns, Thomas, a Senator from Utah; born near Woodstock, Ontario, April 11, 1862; attended public schools; moved with his parents to Holt county, Nebr., and engaged in the business of freighter; moved to Salt Lake City, and afterwards to Park City, Utah; member of the city council of Park City in 1895, and of the constitutional convention of the same year; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1896, and the Philadelphia convention of 1900; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate for the term commencing March 4, 1899, and served from January 23, 1901, to March 3, 1905; resumed mining in Utah and Colorado, and a resident of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Keese, Richard, a Representative from New York; born in Peru, N. Y., November 23, 1794; attended the common schools; founded Keeseville, N. Y.; elected as a Democrat to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); died February 9, 1883.

Kehoe, James Nicholas, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Maysville, Ky., July 15, 1862; attended public and private schools; engaged in the printing business until 1884; studied law in Louisville, Ky., was admitted to the bar November 1, 1888, and engaged in practice in Maysville; served as precinct, county, and district chairman of the Democrat executive committee; city attorney of Maysville; master in chancery of the Mason county circuit court; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1905); resident of Maysville, Ky., and connected with banks and other corporations.

Kehr, Edward Charles, a Representative from Missouri; born in St. Louis, Mo., November 5, 1837; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar February 18, 1858, and commenced practice in St. Louis; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); defeated for the Forty-fifth Congress.

Keifer, Joseph Warren, a Representative from Ohio; born in Bethel township, Clark county, Ohio,

Digitized by Google

January 30, 1836; attended the common schools and Antioch college, Ohio; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Springfield, Ohio, in 1858; enlisted in the Union army April 19, 1861; commissioned major of the third Ohio volunteer infantry April 27, 1861; lieutenant colonel February 12, 1862; colonel of the one hundred and tenth Ohio volunteer infantry September 30, 1862; brevet brigadier general of volunteers October 19, 1864, "for gallant and meritorious services in the battles of Opequon, Fishers Hill, and Cedar Creek, Virginia;" major general April 9, 1865, "for gallant and distinguished services during the campaign ending in the surrender of the insurgent army under General Robert E. Lee;" mustered out June 12, 1865; severely wounded in the battle of the Wilderness, May 5, 1864; member of the Ohio state senate 1868–1869; trustee of the Ohio soldiers' and sailors' orphans home from April 16, 1870, to March 5, 1878, and again in 1903–1904; trustee of Antioch college since June 30, 1873; delegate in the Republican national convention in Cincinnati, June, 1876; elected to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1885); Speaker of the Forty-seventh Congress; major general of volunteers in the Spanish-American war, June 9, 1898, to May 12, 1899; reelected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911).

Keightley, Edwin William, a Representative from Michigan; born in Van Buren, Lagrange county, Ind., August 7, 1843; attended the common schools and Valparaiso collegiate institute; was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1865; commenced the practice of law in St. Joseph county, Mich.; county prosecuting attorney 1873–1874; appointed and elected judge of the fifteenth judicial circuit of Michigan in 1876; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); resumed the practice of law and farming in Constantine, St. Joseph county, Mich.

Keim, George May, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Reading, Pa., March 23, 1805; pursued classical studies; attended Princeton college; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1826, and commenced practice in Reading; major general of militia; delgate in the state constitutional convention of 1837–1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Henry A. Muhlenberg; reelected to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses, and served from March 17, 1838, to March 3, 1843; appointed by President Tyler United States marshal for the eastern district of Pennsylvania December 18, 1843, and reappointed by President Polk January 3, 1848, and served until 1850; defeated as a Presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1860; died in Reading, Pa., June 10, 1861.

Keim, William High, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Reading, Pa., June 25, 1813; attended Mount Airy military school, and attained the rank of major general of militia; mayor of Reading in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of J. Glancy Jones, and served from December 7, 1858, to March 3, 1859; surveyor general of Pennsylvania 1860–1862; enlisted in the Union army; major general Pennsylvania volunteers April 20, 1861; mustered out July 21, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers December 20, 1861; died in Harrisburg, Pa., May 18, 1862.

Keitt, Lawrence Massillon, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Orangeburg district, S. C., October 4, 1824; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from the South Carolina college in 1843; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1845, and commenced practice in Orangeburg; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, and Thirty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1853, until December, 1860, when he withdrew, having been elected a delegate to the secession convention of South Carolina; member of the provisional congress of the Confederacy in Montgomery, February, 1861, and in Richmond in July, 1861; served as colonel in the Confederate army; killed in the battle of Cold Harbor, near Richmond, Va., June 4, 1864; interment in family cemetery, near St. Matthews, S. C.

Keliher, John Austin, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., November 6, 1866; member of the state house of representatives 1896–1897; member of the state senate 1899–1900; elected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911); a resident of Boston, Mass., and engaged in the real estate business.

Kelley, Harrison, a Representative from Kansas; born in Montgomery township, Wood county, Ohio, May 12, 1836; attended the common schools; moved to Kansas in March, 1858; enlisted in the fifth Kansas cavalry and served through all grades to captain; captain of company B, fifth cavalry, for over two years; returned to Burlington, Kans., in 1865; member of the state house of representatives one term; brigadier general of Kansas state militia in 1865; director of the state penitentiary 1868–1873; receiver of United States land office in Topeka; deputy collector of internal revenue; chairman of live stock sanitary commission of the state; treasurer of state board of charities; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas Ryan, and served from December 2, 1889, until March 3, 1891; died in Burlington, Kans., July 24, 1897.

Kelley, John Edward, a Representative from South Dakota; born in Columbia county, Wis., March 27, 1853; attended the public schools; moved to South Dakota in 1878; engaged in farming and later in the newspaper business; member of the state house of representatives; in 1892 nominated by the People's Party for Congress, and again in 1894, but defeated; elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); returned to Colman, S. Dak., and engaged in farming.

Kelley, William Darrah, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., April 12, 1814; pursued classical studies; apprentice in a jewelry establishment; moved to Boston and was engaged as journeyman jeweler; returned to Philadelphia in 1840; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1841, and practiced; deputy prosecuting attorney for the city and county of Philadelphia 1845–1846; judge of the court of common pleas for Philadelphia 1846–1856; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1860; elected to the Thirty-seventh, and to the fourteen succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1861, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 9, 1890; interment in Philadelphia, Pa.

Kellogg, Charles, a Representative from New York; born in Sheffield, Mass., October 3, 1773; attended the common schools; moved to Cayuga county, N. Y., in 1798, and founded Kelloggsville; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; elected county judge; member of the state house of representatives 1808–1810 and 1820–1822; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); died in Ann Arbor, Mich., May 11, 1842.

Digitized by Google

Kellogg, Francis William, a Representative from Michigan and from Alabama; born in Worthington, Mass., May 30, 1810; attended the common schools; moved to Grand Rapids, Mich., and engaged in the lumber business in Kelloggville, Kent county; member of the state house of representatives 1857–1858; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1865); appointed by President Johnson collector of internal revenue for the southern district of Alabama April 30, 1866; confirmed July 26, 1866, and served until July, 1868; moved to Mobile, Ala.; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress from Alabama, and served from July 22, 1868, to March 3, 1869; located in Alliance, Ohio, and died there January 13, 1879.

Kellogg, Orlando, a Representative from New York; born in Elizabethtown, N. Y., June 18, 1809; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1838, and commenced practice in Elizabethtown; surrogate of Essex county 1840–1844; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); reelected to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses and served from March 4, 1863, until his death in Elizabethtown, N. Y., August 24, 1865.

Kellogg, Stephen Wright, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Shelburne, Mass., April 5, 1822; was graduated from Yale college in 1846; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Waterbury, Conn.; clerk of the state senate in 1851; elected to the state senate in 1853; member of the state house of representatives in 1856; judge of the New Haven county court in 1854, and of the probate court 1854–1860; delegate in the national Republican conventions of 1860 and 1868; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); defeated for the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses; Republican presidential elector in 1901; died in Waterbury, Conn., January 27, 1904.

Kellogg, William, a Representative from Illinois; born in Ashtabula county, Ohio, July 8, 1814; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Canton, Ohio; member of the state house of representatives 1849–1850; judge of the state circuit court 1852–1855; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth, and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1863); appointed by President Lincoln minister resident to Guatemala, April 21, 1864, but declined; appointed by President Johnson chief justice of Nebraska Territory December 20, 1865, and served two years; died in Peoria, Ill., December 20, 1872.

Kellogg, William Pitt, a Representative and a Senator from Louisiana; born in Orwell, Vt., December 8, 1830; attended Norwich university, Vermont; moved to Illinois in 1848; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Peoria, Ill., in 1853, and commenced practice in Fulton county, Ill.; served as presidential elector in 1860; appointed by President Lincoln chief justice of the supreme court of the Territory of Nebraska March 25, 1861; resigned and accepted the colonelcy of the seventh Illinois cavalry; served under General Pope in Missouri, and commanded General Granger's cavalry brigade until the evacuation of Corinth; appointed by President Lincoln collector of the port of New Orleans April 13, 1865, and served until July, 1868; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from July 8, 1868, until he resigned, November 1, 1872; governor of Louisiana from January 5, 1873, to January 5, 1877; again elected as a Republican to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1877, to March 3, 1883; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); delegate in every Republican national convention from 1868 to 1896; retired and settled in Washington, D. C.

Kelly, James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in York county, Pa., July 17, 1760; pursued classical studies and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania; tutor at the university of Pennsylvania 1782–1783; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Philadelphia 1785–1819; member of the state legislature 1793–1794 and 1797–1798; elected to the Ninth and Tenth Congresses (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1809); died in Philadelphia, Pa., February 4, 1819.

Kelly, James Kerr, a Senator from Oregon; born in Centre county, Pa., February 16, 1819; was graduated from Princeton college in 1839; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1842; in 1849 went to California, then to Oregon Territory in 1851, and located in Portland; commissioner for the codification of the territorial laws in 1852; legislative councilor 1853–1857; served in the Yakima Indian war in 1855–1856; member of the state constitutional convention of 1857, and a framer of the Oregon constitution; member of the state senate 1860–1864; appointed by President Buchanan in 1860 United States district attorney for Oregon, but declined; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1871, to March 3, 1877; died in Washington, D. C., September 15, 1903.

Kelly, John, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, April 21, 1821; attended the common schools; pursued the mason's trade; elected alderman in 1854; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1855, until he resigned December 25, 1858; sheriff of the city and county of New York 1859–1862 and 1865–1867; defeated for mayor of New York City in 1868; appointed comptroller of New York in 1876, and served three years; delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1864, 1868, 1872, 1876, 1880, and 1884; died in New York City June 1, 1886.

Kelly, William, a Senator from Alabama; born in Tennessee about 1770; received a classical education; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Huntsville, Ala.; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth Congress, and served from March 4, 1821, to December 1, 1822, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate December 12, 1822, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John W. Walker, and served from December 12, 1822, to March 3, 1825; removed to New Orleans, La., and died there in 1832.

Digitized by Google

Kelsey, William H., a Representative from New York; born in Smyrna, N. Y., October 2, 1812; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and engaged in practice in Geneseo, N. Y.; surrogate of Livingston county 1840–1844; elected county district attorney in 1850; district attorney 1851–1853; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); reelected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); died April 20, 1879.

Kelso, John Russell, a Representative from Missouri; born in Franklin county, Ohio, March 23, 1831; received a classical training, and was graduated from Pleasant Ridge college, Missouri, in June, 1859; principal of an academy; served in the Union army as a member of the twenty-fourth Missouri infantry, the fourteenth Missouri cavalry, and the eighth Missouri cavalry, and was captain of company M; brevetted major, lieutenant colonel, and colonel "for gallant and meritorious services"; mustered out April 18, 1865; elected as an independent Radical to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); moved to California in 1872, and to Colorado in July, 1885; died in Longmont, Boulder county, Colo., January 26, 1891.

Kem, Omer Madison, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Wayne county, Ind., November 13, 1855; attended the common schools; moved to Custer county, Nebr., in March, 1882; moved to Broken Bow in January, 1890; deputy treasurer of Custer county 1890–1891; elected as an Independent to the Fifty-second, Fifty-third, and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1897); retired to a fruit farm near Montrose, Colo.

Kemble, Gouverneur, a Representative from New York; born in New York City January 25, 1786; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated from Columbia college in 1803; engaged in mercantile pursuits; appointed consul at Cadiz by President Monroe; established a cannon foundry at Cold Spring, N. Y.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1846; interested in the promotion of the Hudson River and Panama railroads; died in Cold Spring, N. Y., September 16, 1875.

Kempshall, Thomas, a Representative from New York; born in England about 1796; attended the common schools; came to the United States and located in Rochester, N. Y., in 1827; engaged in milling; alderman in the first common council in 1834; mayor of Rochester, N. Y., in 1837; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); died in Rochester, N. Y., January 14, 1865.

Kenan, Thomas, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Kenansville, Duplin county, N. C., February 26, 1771; member of the state house of commons 1799–1803; elected to the state senate in 1804; elected to the Ninth, Tenth, and Eleventh Congresses (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1811); moved to Kenansville, near Selma, Ala., in 1832; served several terms in the legislature of Alabama; died in Kenansville, Ala., October 22, 1848.

Kendall, Charles West, a Representative from Nevada; born in Searsmont, Me., April 22, 1828; attended Phillips academy, Massachusetts, and Yale college; studied law, was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Sacramento, Cal.; member of the state house of representatives 1861–1862; moved to Hamilton, Nev.; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875).

Kendall, John W., a Representative from Kentucky; born in Morgan (now Elliott) county, Ky., June 26, 1834; attended the common schools and Owingsville academy; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in West Liberty, Ky.; twice elected county attorney of Morgan county; first lieutenant and adjutant of the tenth Kentucky Confederate cavalry, and served throughout the war; member of the Kentucky legislature for two terms; six years commonwealth attorney for the thirteenth judicial district; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress, and served from March 4, 1891, until his death in West Liberty, Ky., March 7, 1892.

Kendall, Jonas, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Worcester, Mass., June 6, 1757; pursued an academic course; engaged in the manufacture of paper in Leominster, Mass.; member of the state house of representatives 1800–1801, 1803–1807, and 1821; served in the state senate 1808–1811; member of the executive council in 1822; presidential elector in 1816; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); died in Leominster, Mass., October 29, 1844.

Kendall, Joseph Gowing, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Leominster, Mass., October 27, 1788; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Harvard college in 1810; tutor there 1812–1819; elected to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1833); county clerk of Worcester county; died in Worcester, Mass., October 2, 1847.

Kendall, Joseph M., a Representative from Kentucky; born in West Liberty, Ky; attended the state college of Kentucky and the University of Michigan; examined by the court of appeals of Kentucky and admitted to practice law before he was of age; practiced in Prestonsburg, Ky.; clerk in the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of his father, John W. Kendall, and served from May 5, 1892, to March 3, 1893; received the certificate of election to the Fifty-fourth Congress, and served from March 4, 1895, to February 18, 1897, when he was succeeded by N. T. Hopkins, who contested his election; resumed the practice of law in Prestonsburg, Ky.

Kendall, Nathan E., a Representative from Iowa; born in Greenville, Lucas county, Iowa, March 17, 1868; attended rural schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and has practiced since May 15, 1889; five terms a member, and once speaker of the Iowa house of representatives; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Kenna, John Edward, a Representative and a Senator from West Virginia; born in Vacoulin, Va. (now West Virginia), April 10, 1848; removed with his mother to Missouri in 1856; received a limited training in the schools; enlisted in the Confederate army in 1864; was wounded in that service in 1864, and was surrendered in Shreveport, La., in 1865; attended St. Vincent's college, Wheeling; studied law, was admitted to the bar June 20, 1870, and commenced practice in Charleston, W. Va.; prosecuting attorney for Kanawha county 1872–1877; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Henry G. Davis; reelected, and served from March 4, 1883, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 11, 1893.

Digitized by Google

Kennedy, Andrew, a Representative from Indiana; born in Dayton, Ohio, July 24, 1810; moved with parents to a farm upon the Indian reserve, near Lafayette; soon after went to reside with an aunt in Connersville, Ind.; became a blacksmith's apprentice; attended the common schools; moved to Muncie, Ind.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1830, and practiced; state representative in 1835, and state senator in 1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1847); Democratic caucus nominee for United States Senator in 1847; was stricken with smallpox on the eve of the legislative joint convention, and died in Indianapolis, Ind., December 31, 1847.

Kennedy, Anthony, a Senator from Maryland; born in Baltimore, Md., December 21, 1811; moved with parents to Charlestown, Va., in 1821; attended Jefferson academy, Charlestown, Va.; studied law and was admitted to the bar; engaged in the cotton business in New Orleans, and planting in Virginia; member of the Virginia state house of representatives 1839–1843; defeated for the Twenty-ninth Congress; presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1848; returned to Baltimore in 1850; member of the state legislature in 1856; elected as a Unionist to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1857, to March 3, 1863; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1867; died in Annapolis, Md., July 31, 1892.

Kennedy, Charles A., a Representative from Iowa; born in Montrose, Iowa, March 24, 1869; completed preparatory studies; elected mayor of Montrose 1890–1895; member of the state legislature in 1903–1905; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Kennedy, James, a Representative from Ohio; born in Poland township, Mahoning county, Ohio, September 3, 1853; prepared for college at Poland Union seminary, and was graduated from Westminster college, Pennsylvania, 1876; studied law and was admitted to the bar in March, 1879, and practiced in Youngstown, Ohio; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Youngstown, Ohio.

Kennedy, John Lauderdale, a Representative from Nebraska; born on a farm in Ayrshire, Scotland, October 27, 1854; attended the public schools of Scotland; emigrated to the United States and settled in Lasalle county, Ill., and engaged in farming; attended Knox college, Galesburg, Ill., and was graduated from the law department of the state university of Iowa in 1882; practiced law in Omaha for twenty-two years; Republican presidential elector in Nebraska in 1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1907); resumed law practice in Omaha, Nebr.; chairman police and fire commission 1907–1908; chairman Republican state committee 1911–1912.

Kennedy, John Pendleton, a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore, Md., October 25, 1795; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Baltimore college in 1812, served in the War of 1812; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1816, and commenced practice in Baltimore, Md.; member of the state legislature in 1821–1823; appointed secretary to the legation at Chile, January 27, 1823, but resigned; unsuccessful candidate for the Twenty-fifth Congress; subsequently elected to the same Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Isaac McKim, and served from April 30, 1838, to March 3, 1839; defeated for the Twenty-sixth Congress; presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1840; elected to the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1845); secretary of the Navy in President Fillmore's Cabinet July 22, 1852, to March 7, 1853; died in Newport, R. I., August 18, 1870.

Kennedy, Robert Patterson, a Representative from Ohio; born in Bellefontaine, Ohio, January 23, 1840; attended the public schools; served in the Civil war; second lieutenant Twenty-third Ohio infantry June 11, 1861; captain and assistant adjutant general October 7, 1862; major and assistant adjutant general November 16, 1864; resigned April 8, 1865; recommissioned colonel One hundred and ninety-sixth Ohio infantry April 14, 1865; brevet lieutenant colonel of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious services during the campaign in West Virginia and in the Shenandoah valley;" brigadier general of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for distinguished gallantry during the war;" mustered out September 11, 1865; returned to Bellefontaine, Ohio; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; appointed by President Hayes collector of internal revenue for the fourth district of Ohio, March 11, 1878; confirmed March 25, 1878, and served until March, 1883; elected lieutenant governor of Ohio in 1885 and served until March 4, 1887, when he resigned; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); appointed a member of the insular commission by President McKinley, to examine and report upon the civil conditions of Porto Rico, and was made president of the commission; resumed the practice of law in Bellefontaine, Ohio.

Kennedy, William, a Representative from North Carolina; native of North Carolina; was graduated from the university of Pennsylvania in 1782; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected as a Federalist to the Eighth Congress (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1805); reelected to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811); defeated for reelection to the Twelfth Congress, but subsequently elected to the same Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Thomas Blount; reelected to the Thirteenth Congress, and served from January 30, 1813, to March 3, 1815.

Kennett, Luther Martin, a Representative from Missouri; born in Falmouth, Ky., March 15, 1807; pursued an academic course; clerk of the Pendleton county court; moved to Missouri in 1825, and became a merchant; moved to St. Louis, Mo.; vice president of the Pacific railroad company; mayor of St. Louis 1850–1853; president of the St.

Digitized by Google

Louis & Iron Mountain railroad in 1853; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); defeated for the Thirty-fifth Congress; died in Paris, France, April 12, 1873.

Kenney, Richard Rolland, a Senator from Delaware; born in Laurel, Sussex county, Del., September 9, 1856; was graduated from Laurel academy, Delaware, in June, 1874; attended Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y.; studied law, and was admitted to the bar October 19, 1881, and practiced; elected state librarian in January, 1879; adjutant general of the state 1887–1891; delegate to the national Democratic convention in 1892; member of the national Democratic committee 1896–1908; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, for the term commencing March 4, 1895, to fill vacancy caused by the legislature of 1895 failing to elect, and served from January 19, 1897, until March 3, 1901; resumed the practice of law in Dover, Del.

Kennon, William, a Representative from Ohio; native of Pennsylvania; completed preparatory studies; moved to St. Clairsville, Ohio; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1833); reelected to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); again elected to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849).

Kent, Joseph, a Representative and a Senator from Maryland; born in Calvert county, Md., January 14, 1779; received a liberal schooling; studied medicine and practiced in Calvert and Prince Georges counties, Md.; elected as a Federalist to the Twelfth and Thirteenth Congresses (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1815); reelected to the Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1819, until January 6, 1826, when he resigned; governor of Maryland 1826–1829; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1833, until his death, near Bladensburg, Md., November 24, 1837.

Kent, Moss, a Representative from New York; born in Rensselaer county, N. Y., April 3, 1766; completed preparatory studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state senate 1799–1803; served in the state house of representatives 1807 and 1810; appointed county judge of Jefferson county February 26, 1810; elected as a Federalist to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); died in Plattsburg, N. Y., May 30, 1838.

Kenyon, William Scheuneman, a Representative from New York; born in Catskill, Greene county, N. Y., December 13, 1820; attended a private academy in Catskill, the Kinderhook academy, and was graduated from Rutgers college in 1842; studied law in Kingston, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar in Albany, N. Y., in 1846, and practiced in Kingston; elected as a Republican to Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1872 and 1876; county judge of Ulster county 1883–1889; chairman of the county Republican committee many years; died in Kingston, N. Y., February 9, 1896.

Kern, Frederick John, a Representative from Illinois; born near Millstadt, Ill., September 2, 1864; attended the public schools of Millstadt and the Illinois state normal university; taught in the public schools for five years; engaged in the newspaper business and became editor of the East St. Louis Gazette, and later of the Belleville Daily and Weekly News-Democrat; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1903); a resident of Belleville, Ill.; mayor five terms; engaged in newspaper work.

Kernan, Francis, a Representative and a Senator from New York; born in Wayne, N. Y., January 14, 1816; attended public schools, and was graduated from Georgetown college, District of Columbia, in 1836; studied law in Utica, N. Y., was admitted to the bar in July, 1840, and practiced in Utica; reporter of the court of appeals of New York 1854–1857; member of the state house of representatives in 1861; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); defeated for the Thirty-ninth Congress by Roscoe Conkling; member of the state constitutional convention 1867–1868; Democratic and Liberal candidate for governor of New York in 1872, and defeated by John A. Dix; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1875, to March 3, 1881; defeated for reelection by Thomas C. Platt; regent of the University of the State of New York 1870–1892; died in Utica, N. Y., September 7, 1892.

Kerr, Daniel, a Representative from Iowa; born near Dalry, Ayrshire, Scotland, June 18, 1836; emigrated with his parents to Madison county, Ill., in 1841; was graduated from McKendree college in 1858; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1862; enlisted in the Union army August 12, 1862; promoted to second lieutenant company G, one hundred and seventh Illinois volunteers, in 1863, and to first lieutenant in 1864; member of the legislature of Illinois in 1868; moved to Iowa in 1870; elected to the legislature of Iowa in 1883; presidential elector on the Blaine and Logan ticket in 1884; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); retired to South Pasadena, Cal.

Kerr, James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Reedsville, Mifflin county, Pa., October 2, 1851; resided in Blair county until 1864; moved to Clearfield in 1867; pursued an academic course; elected justice of the peace in 1878; prothonotary for Clearfield county in 1880 and 1883; engaged in mining and shipping of bituminous coal, and the cutting and transportation of lumber; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); clerk of the United States House of Representatives during the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); died in New York City October 31, 1908; interment in Clearfield, Pa.

Kerr, John, a Representative from Virginia; born in Caswell county, N. C., August 4, 1782; attended common schools; studied theology and was licensed as a Baptist minister in 1802; located in Halifax county, Va., in 1805; elected to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); resumed the ministry, and was pastor of the Baptist churches of Arbor and Mary Creek; moved to Richmond, Va., in March, 1825, and was pastor of the First Baptist church; resigned in 1832; located upon a farm near Danville, Va., in 1836, and died there, September 29, 1842.

Kerr, John, Jr., a Representative from North Carolina; born in Pittsylvania county, Va., February 10, 1811; completed academic studies in Richmond, Va.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Yanceyville, N. C.; defeated as the Whig candidate for governor in 1852; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); defeated for Thirty-fourth Congress; member of state legislature in 1858 and 1860; judge of the supreme court of North Carolina during the Civil war; elected judge of the superior court in 1874 for a term of eight years; trustee of the University of North Carolina 1846–1868, and of Wake Forrest college, N. C., 1844–1856; died in Reidsville, N. C., September 5, 1879.

Digitized by Google

Kerr, John Bozman, a Representative from Maryland; born in Easton, Md., March 5, 1809; was graduated from Harvard college in 1830; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Easton, 1833; member of the state house of representatives 1836–1838; deputy attorney general for Talbot county 1847–1849; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); reelected to the Thirty-third Congress, but resigned before it assembled; appointed by President Fillmore chargé d'affaires to Nicaragua March 7, 1851, and served until July 27, 1854; returned and resumed practice in St. Michaels, Md.; died in Washington, D. C., January 27, 1878.

Kerr, John Leeds, a Representative and a Senator from Maryland; born near Annapolis, Md., January 15, 1780; was graduated from St. John's college in 1799; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Easton; elected as a Whig to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); defeated as the Whig candidate for the Twenty-first Congress; reelected to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); presidential elector on the Harrison and Tyler ticket in 1840; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John S. Spence, and served from January 5, 1841, to March 3, 1843; died near Easton, Md., February 21, 1844.

Kerr, Joseph, a Senator from Ohio; born in Chambersburg, Pa., in 1765; received a limited schooling; moved to Ohio in 1776, and located upon a large tract of land on the Scioto river just below Chillicothe, and that he afterwards lost to a Virginia claimant named Watts; justice of the court of quarter sessions 1797–1798; appointed by President Jefferson one of the commissioners to lay out the road from Cumberland, Md., to the Ohio river April 14, 1806; adjutant general of Ohio 1809–1810; member of the state senate in the third and fourth general assemblies; state representative 1808–1809 and 1819–1820; brigadier general of Ohio troops 1812–1815; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas Worthington, and served from December 10, 1814, to March 3, 1815; returned to Chillicothe, Ohio, and was proprietor of an inn 1815–1824; moved to a farm near Memphis, Tenn., in 1824, and later to Carrel parish, La., where he died in 1837.

Kerr, Josiah Leeds, a Representative from Maryland; born in Vienna, Md., January 10, 1861; attended the public schools in Vienna, and Vienna academy; taught school in Kennebec county; moved to Cambridge in 1885; elected school examiner in August, 1898, and served two years; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Walter Smith, and served from December 3, 1900, to March 3, 1901; returned to Cambridge, Md., and became a traveling salesman.

Kerr, Michael Crawford, a Representative from Indiana; born in Titusville, Pa., March 15, 1827; attended public schools, Erie academy, and was graduated from the law department of Louisville university in 1851; admitted to the bar, and began practice in New Albany, Ind., in 1852; elected city attorney in 1854; prosecuting attorney of Floyd county in 1855; member of the state legislature 1856–1857; elected reporter of the supreme court of Indiana 1862–1865; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1873); defeated for the Forty-third Congress; again elected to the Forty-fourth Congress and served from March 4, 1875, until his death; elected Speaker of this Congress; died in Rockbridge Alum Springs, Va., August 19, 1876.

Kerr, Winfield Scott, a Representative from Ohio; born in Monroe, Richland county, Ohio, June 23, 1852; attended the common schools; was graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan in 1879; was admitted to the bar and began practice in Mansfield, Ohio; member of the state senate 1888–1892; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1901); resumed the practice of law in Mansfield, Ohio.

Kerrigan, James E., a Representative from New York; born in Ireland; completed preparatory studies; emigrated to America and located in New York City; member of the city council; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); served in the Union army as colonel; died in New York City in 1899.

Kershaw, John, a Representative from South Carolina; native of South Carolina; completed academic studies; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815).

Ketcham, John Henry, a Representative from New York; born in Dover, N. Y., December 21, 1832; pursued an academic course; became interested in agricultural pursuits; supervisor 1854–1855; member of the state assembly 1856–1857; state senator 1860–1861; enlisted in the Union army as colonel of the one hundred and fiftieth New York volunteers October 11, 1862; brevet brigadier general December 6, 1864; brigadier general April 1, 1865; brevet major general of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious service during the war;" resigned December 2, 1865; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1873); often a delegate to Republican state conventions; and delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1876 and 1896; Commissioner of the District of Columbia July 3, 1874–June 30, 1877, when he resigned; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1893); declined a renomination; again elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, and Fifty-ninth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1897, until his death, in New York City, November 4, 1906; interment in Valley View cemetery, Dovers Plains, N. Y.

Ketchum, Winthrop Weller, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 29, 1820; pursued classical studies; an instructor in Wyoming seminary 1844–1847, and in

Digitized by Google

Girard college, Pa., 1848–1849; studied law and was admitted to the bar January 8, 1850; prothonotary of Luzerne county 1855–1857; member of the state house of representatives in 1858; state senator 1859–1861; solicitor of the United States Court of Claims 1864–1866; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth Congress and served from March 4, 1875 until July 19, 1876, when he resigned; judge of the United States court for the western district of Pennsylvania, and served until his death in Pittsburgh, Pa., December 6, 1879.

Key, David McKendree, a Senator from Tennessee; born in Greene county, Tenn., January 27, 1824; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Hiawassee college in 1850; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Kingston; removed to Chattanooga in 1853; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1856, and on the Breckenridge and Lane ticket in 1860; enlisted in the Confederate army and promoted to lieutenant colonel of the forty-third Tennessee infantry; member of the state constitutional convention of 1870; chancellor of the third chancery division 1870–1875; defeated as the Democratic candidate to the Forty-third Congress; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Andrew Johnson, and served from August 18, 1875, to January 19, 1877; defeated for reelection; Postmaster General in President Hayes's cabinet March 12, 1877, to June 1, 1880, when he resigned; appointed by President Hayes United States judge for the eastern and middle district of Tennessee May 19, 1880; retired January 26, 1894; died in Chattanooga, Tenn., February 3, 1900.

Key, Philip, a Representative from Maryland; born in St. Marys county, Md., in 1750; pursued an academic course in England; returned to Maryland and engaged in farming; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; elected to the state house of representatives and served as speaker; elected to the Second Congress (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1793); died in St. Marys county, Md., January 4, 1820.

Key, Philip Barton, a Representative from Maryland; born in Cecil county, Md., in 1757; pursued an academic course; served in the British army during the Revolutionary war; taken prisoner in Florida, and went to England; released on parole; returned to Maryland in 1785 and located in Annapolis in 1790; several times a member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Federalist to the Tenth, Eleventh, and Twelfth Congresses (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1813); died in Georgetown, D. C., July 28, 1815.

Keyes, Elias, a Representative from Vermont; born in Ashford, Conn., April 14, 1757; attended the common schools; moved to Stockbridge, Vt., in 1785; presiding judge of Windsor county court 1803–1814, and 1815–1818; state representative for several years; elected to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); died in Stockbridge, Vt., July 9, 1844.

Kidder, David, a Representative from Maine; born in Dresden, Me., December 8, 1787; pursued classical studies with private tutors; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Bloomfield; removed to Skowhegan, Me., in 1817, and to Norridgewock in 1821; county attorney of Somerset county 1811–1823; elected as a Whig to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1827); returned to Skowhegan in 1827; state representative in 1829; died in Skowhegan, Me., November 1, 1860.

Kidder, Jefferson Parrish, a Delegate from Dakota Territory; born in Braintree, Vt., June 4, 1818; attended the common schools; farmed and taught school; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Norwich university; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the state constitutional convention of 1843; state attorney 1842–1847; member of the state senate 1847–1848; lieutenant governor 1853–1854; moved to St. Paul, Minn., in 1857; member of the state house of representatives of Minnesota in 1861, 1863, and 1864; appointed by President Lincoln associate justice of the supreme court for Dakota Territory February 16, 1865; reappointed by President Grant April 3, 1869, and reappointed March 3, 1873; elected, as a Republican, a Delegate from Dakota Territory to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); died in St. Paul, Minn., October 2, 1883.

Kidwell, Zedekiah, a Representative from Virginia; born in Fairfax county, Va., January 4, 1814; received a liberal schooling; studied medicine and was graduated from Jefferson medical college, Philadelphia, Pa., in 1839, and practiced in Fairfax county, Va., 1839–1849; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1849; moved to Fairmont, Va.; member of the state house of representatives; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1849; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1852; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1857); elected a member of the state board of public works in 1857; died in Fairmont, W. Va., April 27, 1872.

Kiefer, Andrew Robert, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Marienborn, in the district of Manz on the Rhine, Germany, May 25, 1832; attended school in Manz; emigrated to America in 1849, and located in St. Paul, Minn., in 1855; elected clerk of the legislature in 1860; entered the Union army as captain, second Minnesota infantry volunteers, in 1861; commissioned colonel of militia in 1863; member of the state legislature in 1864; clerk of district courts of Ramsey county in 1878; Republican candidate for mayor of St. Paul in 1890; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); mayor of St. Paul in 1908; died in St. Paul, Minn., May 1, 1904.

Kilbourn, James, a Representative from Ohio; born in New Britain, Conn., October 19, 1770; pursued classical studies; studied theology and entered the Episcopal ministry; founded Worthington, Ohio, in 1803; one of the founders of the Scioto company, to trade in Ohio and the northwest, in 1801; appointed United States surveyor of public lands in 1805, and laid out the present city of Sandusky; appointed by President Madison one of three commissioners to ascertain the western boundary of the Virginia military reservation, between the Little Miami and Scioto rivers, July 1, 1812; president of Worthington college; colonel of a frontier regiment in the War of 1812; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); state representative in 1823–1824, and 1838–1839; president of the convention of 1839, to lay the corner stone of the state capitol in Columbus, and of the Whig state convention of 1840; died in Worthington, Ohio, April 9, 1850.

Digitized by Google

Kilgore, Constantine Buckley, a Representative from Texas; born in Newnan, Ga., February 20, 1835; moved with his parents to Rush county, Tex., in 1846; received a common school and academic training; studied law; served in the Confederate army as a private, orderly sergeant, first sergeant, first lieutenant, and captain in the tenth Texas regiment; adjutant general of Ector's brigade, Army of Tennessee, in 1862; wounded at Chickamauga; captured and confined as a prisoner in Fort Delaware during 1864; admitted to the bar, and practiced in Rusk county, Tex.; elected justice of the peace in 1869; member of the constitutional convention of 1875; presidential elector in 1880 on the Hancock and English ticket; elected to the state senate in 1884 for four years, and served as president pro tempore two years; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1895); appointed by President Cleveland United States judge for southern district of Indian Territory March 20, 1895, and served until his death in Ardmore, Ind. T., September 23, 1897.

Kilgore, Daniel, a Representative from Ohio; born in Kings Creek, W. Va., in 1793; received a liberal schooling; moved to Cadiz, Ohio; member of state senate 1828–1832; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Humphrey H. Leavitt; reelected to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses, and served from December 1, 1834, until July, 1838, when he resigned; died in New York December 12, 1851.

Kilgore, David, a Representative from Indiana; born in Harrison county, Ky., April 3, 1804; moved with his father to Franklin county, Ind., in 1819; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1830, and commenced practice in Yorktown, Ind.; state representative 1833–1838; president-judge of the Yorktown circuit 1839–1844; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1850; speaker of the state house of representatives in 1855; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); delegate in the National Union convention in Philadelphia in 1866; died near Yorktown, Lebanon county, Ind., January 22, 1879.

Kille, Joseph, a Representative from New Jersey; native of New Jersey; pursued academic studies; located in Salem; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841).

Killinger, John Weinland, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Lebanon, Pa., September 18, 1825; was graduated from Franklin and Marshall college, Pa., in 1843; studied law in Lancaster, Pa., was admitted to the bar in 1846, and practiced in Lebanon county 1846–1886; prosecuting attorney for Lebanon county 1848–1849; member of the state house of representatives 1850–1851; state senator 1854–1857; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1856; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); assessor of internal revenue 1864–1866; reelected to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); again reelected to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); died in Lebanon, Pa., June 30, 1896.

Kimball, Alanson M., a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Buxton, Me., March 12, 1827; pursued academic studies; moved to Wisconsin in 1852 and engaged in farming and mercantile pursuits; elected to the state senate 1863–1864; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); defeated as the Republican candidate for the Forty-fifth Congress.

Kimball, William Preston, a Representative from Kentucky; born near East Hickman, Fayette county, Ky., November 4, 1857; attended the public schools, and the private schools of Prof. Lyle and Prof. Nesbit, and the Kentucky university in Lexington; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Lexington; member of the state legislature 1883–1884; city attorney of Lexington from October, 1891, to January 1, 1898; county attorney of Fayette county from January 1, 1898, to March 4, 1907; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); defeated for renomination; resumed the practice of law in Lexington, Ky.

Kimmel, William, a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore, Md., in 1812; attended St. Marys and Baltimore colleges; studied law and was admitted to the Baltimore bar; interested in agricultural and in business pursuits; state director of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad; stockholder and director in the Canton Company of Baltimore; director in the Union railroad company and in the Western Maryland extension; member of the state Democratic committee 1862–1866; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1864; member of the state senate 1866–1871; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); resumed the practice of law in Baltimore, Md., and died there, December 28, 1886.

Kincaid, John, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Danville, Mercer county, Ky., February 15, 1791; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; attorney for the commonwealth; representative in the state legislature 1819, and 1836–1837; circuit judge; located in Stanford, Ky.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); presidential elector in 1845; died in Gallatin, Tenn., February 7, 1873; interment in Danville, Ky.

King, Adam, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in York, Pa., in 1790; pursued academic studies; studied medicine in the University of Pennsylvania and practiced in York several years; edited and published the York Gazette for ten years; clerk of the courts of York county 1818–1826; elected as a Democrat to the Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1833); defeated for election to the Twenty-third Congress; died in York, Pa., May 6, 1835.

King, Andrew, a Representative from Missouri; born in Greenbrier county, W. Va., March 20, 1812; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in St. Charles, Mo.; member of the state senate in 1846 and of the state house of representatives in 1858; judge of the circuit court, nineteenth judicial district of Missouri, 1859–1864; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873).

Digitized by Google

King, Austin Augustus, a Representative from Missouri; born in Sullivan county, Tenn., September 20, 1802; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1822; moved to Richmond, Mo., in 1830; state representative in 1834 and 1836; circuit judge of the fifth circuit 1837–1848; governor of Missouri 1848–1853; delegate in the Democratic national convention in 1860; again circuit judge 1862–1863; resigned in 1863; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); defeated for the Thirty-ninth Congress; resumed the practice of law; died in St. Louis, Mo., April 22, 1870; interment in Richmond, Mo.

King, Cyrus, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Scarborough, Me., September 16, 1772; pursued classical studies in Phillips academy, Andover, Mass., and was graduated from Columbia college in 1794; studied law in New York City with Rufus King, and served as his private secretary when he was minister to England in 1796; completed law studies in Biddeford, Me., and was admitted to the bar in 1797, and commenced practice in Saco, Me.; elected as a Federalist to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); died in Saco, Me., April 25, 1817.

King, Daniel Putnam, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Danvers, Mass., January 8, 1801; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Harvard college in 1823; studied law and was admitted to the bar; became a farmer; member of the state house of representatives 1836–1837; member of the state senate 1838–1841, and served one term as its president; member of house of representatives 1836–1837, and 1843–1844, and speaker in the last session; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses and served from March 4, 1843 until his death in South Danvers, Mass., July 25, 1850.

King, George Gordon, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Newport, R. I., June 9, 1807; pursued classical studies in Newport, and in Phillips academy, and was graduated from Brown university in 1825; attended the Litchfield, Conn., law school, was admitted to the bar in 1827, and practiced in Providence and Newport; member and speaker of the state house of representatives 1845–1846; presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1848; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); died in Newport, R. I., July 17, 1870.

King, Henry, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Palmer, Hampden county, Mass., July 6, 1790; pursued classical studies; studied law in New London, Conn., and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was admitted to the Luzerne county bar April 3, 1815 and began practice in Allentown; member of the state senate 1826, 1827, 1828, 1830, 1831, and 1832; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1835); died in Allentown, Pa., July 13, 1861.

King, James Gore, a Representative from New Jersey; born in New York City May 8, 1791; pursued classical studies in England and in France; on his return was graduated from Harvard college in 1810; studied law at the Litchfield law school, but abandoned it to serve in the war of 1812 as assistant adjutant general of New York militia; engaged in mercantile pursuits in New York City, 1815, and in banking in Liverpool, England, in 1818; returned to New York City in 1824 and engaged in banking, with residence in New Jersey; promoter and president of the Erie railroad; member of New York chamber of commerce from 1817, and its vice president 1841–1845, president 1845–1848; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); died in Weehawken, N. J., October 3, 1853.

King, John, a Representative from New York; born in 1775; sheriff of Columbia county, N. Y., 1811–1813 and 1815–1819; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); died in New Lebanon, N. Y., September 1, 1838.

King, John Alsop, a Representative from New York; born in New York City January 3, 1788; attended Harrow school, England, and also educated in Paris; returned to New York City, studied law, and was admitted to the bar; served in the war of 1812 as lieutanant of cavalry; engaged in farming near Jamaica, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives 1819–1821; served as state senator in 1823, and resigned in 1825; appointed secretary of the legation at London in 1825; chargé d'affaires June 15 to August 5, 1826; again elected a state representative in 1832, 1838, and 1840; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); governor of New York 1857–1858; delegate in the first Republican national convention in 1856; presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1860; delegate from New York to the peace conference of 1861; died in Jamaica, N. Y., July 7, 1867.

King, John Floyd, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Monticello, near St. Marys, Ga., April 20, 1842; attended the Russell school New Haven, Conn., Bartlett's College Hill school, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and the military institute of Georgia, and the University of Virginia; enlisted in the Confederate army, and served in the army of Virginia; promoted by various grades to the rank of colonel of artillery; moved to Louisiana and engaged in planting; studied law; appointed brigadier general of state troops; elected inspector of levees and president of the board of school directors of his district, and also a trustee of the University of the South; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1887); engaged in mining operations with residence in Washington, D. C.

King, John Pendleton, a Senator from Georgia; born in Glasgow, Barren county, Ky., April 3, 1799; moved with parents to Bedford county, Tenn., in infancy; moved to Augusta, Ga., in 1815; was graduated from Richmond academy; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1819, and practiced in Augusta; pursued legal studies in Europe 1822–1824; returned and continued law practice in Augusta, Ga., until 1829; member of the state constitutional convention of 1830; appointed judge of the court of common pleas in 1831; member of the state constitutional convention of 1833; elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George M. Troup; reelected in November, 1834, and served from November 21, 1833, until November 1, 1837, when he resigned; president of the Georgia railroad and banking company 1841–1878; member of the state constitutional convention of 1865; died in Summerville, Ga., March 19, 1888.

Digitized by Google

King, Perkins, a Representative from New York; born in New Marlboro, Mass., January 12, 1784; pursued an academic course; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Greenville N. Y., in 1802, where he began practice; town clerk 1815; county judge of Greene county 1826–1850; state representative in 1827; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); died in Freehold, Greene county, N. Y., November 29, 1875.

King, Preston, a Representative and a Senator from New York; born in Ogdensburg, N. Y., October 14, 1806; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Union college in 1827; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in St. Lawrence county, N. Y.; established the St. Lawrence Republican in 1830; postmaster of Ogdensburg 1831–1834; member of the state house of representatives 1835–1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); reelected to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1857, to March 3, 1863; resumed practice in New York City; delegate in the national convention, and presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1864; appointed by President Johnson collector of the port of New York August 15, 1865; drowned from a ferryboat in New York harbor, N. Y., November 12, 1865; interment in Ogdensburg, N. Y.

King, Rufus, a Delegate from Massachusetts and a Senator from New York; born in Scarboro, Mass. (now Maine), March 24, 1755; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Harvard college in 1777; studied law in Newburyport; served in the Revolutionary war; was admitted to the bar and began practice in 1780; state representative in 1782; Delegate from Massachusetts in the Continental Congress 1784–1787; delegate to the state constitutional convention 1787, and also to the Federal constitutional convention; moved to New York City in 1788; member of the state house of representatives in 1789–1790; elected as a Federalist to the United States Senate in 1789; reelected in 1795, and served from July 16, 1789, until May 18, 1796, when he resigned; minister to Great Britain May 20, 1796, to May 18, 1803; Federalist candidate for vice president in 1804, and defeated; again elected to the United States Senate in 1813; reelected in 1819, and served from March 4, 1813, to March 3, 1825; defeated as the Federalist candidate for governor of New York in 1815, and for President of the United States in 1816; again minister to Great Britain May 5, 1825, to June 16, 1826; died in Jamaica, N. Y., April 29, 1827.

King, Rufus H., a Representative from New York; born in Rensselaerville, Albany county, N. Y., January 20, 1820; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated from Wesleyan university, Lima, N. Y.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1843, and practiced in Catskill, N. Y.; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); presidential elector on the Republican ticket in 1860; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1868 and 1880; president of the Catskill savings bank 1885–1890; died in Catskill, N. Y., September 13, 1890.

King, Thomas Butler, a Representative from Georgia; born in Palmer, Mass., August 27, 1797, attended Westfield academy; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Philadelphia, and began practice in Waynesville, Ga., in 1823; member of the state senate in 1832, 1834, 1835, and 1837; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); defeated for the Twenty-eighth Congress; reelected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1845, until February 27, 1851, when he resigned; appointed by President Fillmore collector of the port of San Francisco, Cal., February 27, 1851, and served until December 1, 1852, when he resigned; returned to Georgia and elected state senator in 1859; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1860; appointed a commissioner of Georgia in 1861, to visit Europe in advance of trade, and a commissioner of the Confederacy in Europe 1861–1863; died in Waresboro, Ga., May 10, 1864.

King, William Henry, a Representative from Utah; born in Fillmore City, Millard county, Utah, June 1, 1863; attended the public schools, the Brigham Young academy, the state university, and was graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan, and commenced practice in Fillmore City; county attorney, county clerk, city assessor and collector, city recorder, member of the city council, school trustee; elected a member of the legislature and reelected; in 1889 moved to Provo City, Utah; in 1891 elected to the territorial legislature, and president of the council; county attorney of Utah county; city attorney of Provo City; appointed associate judge of the supreme court of Utah in July, 1894; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); reelected to the Fifty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the unseating of Brigham H. Roberts, and served from April 25, 1900, to March 3, 1901; defeated for the Fifty-seventh Congress; resumed the practice of law in Salt Lake City, Utah.

King, William Rufus, a Representative from North Carolina, and a Senator from Alabama; born in Sampson county, N. C., April 7, 1786; was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1803; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1806, and began practice in Clinton; member of the state house of commons 1807–1809; city solicitor of Wilmington, N. C., 1810; elected as a Democrat to the Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1811, until November 4, 1816, when he resigned; secretary of legation at St. Petersburg; returned to the United States in 1818 and located in Cahaba, Ala.; and in 1826, moved to Selma, Ala.; became a planter; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, twice reelected, and served from December 14, 1819, until April 15, 1844, when he resigned; minister to France 1844–1846; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Arthur P. Bagby; reelected and served from July 1, 1848 to January 18, 1853, when he resigned; elected president pro tempore of the Senate May 6, and July 11, 1850; resigned as president pro tempore December 20, 1852; elected Vice President of the United States in 1852, and took the oath of office in Habana, Cuba, where he had gone for his health, March 4, 1853; a privilege extended by special act of Congress; returned to Cahaba, Ala., and died there, April 18, 1853.

King, William S., a Representative from Minnesota; born in Malone, N. Y., December 16, 1828; attended the common schools; engaged in farming, postmaster of the House of Representatives in the Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, Fortieth, Forty-first, and Forty-second Congresses; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); died in Minneapolis, Minn., February 24, 1900.

Digitized by Google

Kingsbury, William Wallace, a Delegate from Minnesota territory; born in Towanda, Pa., June 4, 1828; attended the public schools; was engaged as a commission merchant in Baltimore, Md., for three years; moved to Endion, Minn.; member of the territorial legislature 1855–1856; delegate in the state constitutional convention; elected to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); returned to Towanda, Pa.; died in Tarpon Springs, Fla., April 17, 1892.

Kincaid, Moses P., a Representative from Nebraska; born near Morgantown, Monongalia county, W. Va., January 24, 1856; was graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan in 1876; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in O'Neill, Nebr.; member of the state senate in 1883; district judge from April, 1887, to January, 1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Kinkead, Eugene Francis, a Representative from New Jersey; born in county Cork, Ireland, March 27, 1876, and while his parents were upon a visit abroad; attended public schools in Jersey City, N. J., and was graduated from Seaton Hall, South Orange, N. J., in 1895; engaged in business in Jersey City; city alderman in 1898, and president of the board; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Kinloch, Francis, a Delegate from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., March 7, 1755; educated in Eton, England; commissioned captain in the Continental army in the Revolutionary war; wounded at the attack on Savannah in 1779; a Delegate in the Continental Congress 1780–1781; was a representative in the South Carolina legislature several terms; a justice of the peace; delegate in the convention to adopt the Federal constitution in 1787; member of the legislative council in 1789, and of the state constitutional convention of 1790; died in Charleston, S. C., February 8, 1826.

Kinnard, George L., a Representative from Indiana; born in Pennsylvania in 1803; moved with his widowed mother to Tennessee, and completed preparatory studies; moved to Indianapolis, Ind., in 1823; held several local offices; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Marion county, Ind.; a representative in the state legislature, state auditor, and colonel of state militia; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1833, until his death from injuries received in the explosion on the steamer Flora, on the Ohio river, November 25, 1836.

Kinney, John Fitch, a Delegate from Utah territory; born in New Haven, Oswego county, N. Y., April 2, 1816; completed preparatory studies; studied law, moved to Marysville, Ohio, and was admitted to the bar in 1837, and began practice; moved to Mount Vernon, Ohio, in 1839, and from there to Lee county, Iowa, in 1844; secretary of legislative council, and prosecuting attorney of Lee county; judge of the supreme court of Iowa from 1847 until January, 1854, when he resigned; appointed by President Pierce chief justice of the supreme court of the territory of Utah, and served from January, 1854, to 1857; moved to Nebraska territory and practiced law 1857–1860; again appointed, by President Buchanan, chief justice of the territory of Utah, June 26, 1860, and served until March, 1863, with residence in Salt Lake City; elected as a Democrat a Delegate from Utah territory to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); returned to Nebraska City, Nebr. Ty.; appointed by President Johnson a commissioner to visit the Sioux Indians and inquire into the Fort Phil Kearney massacre of December, 1866, in February, 1867; appointed by President Arthur agent of the Yankton Sioux Indians in Dakota June 27, 1884; confirmed December 11, 1884, and served until January 1, 1889, when he resigned; returned to law practice in Nebraska City, Nebr.

Kinsella, Thomas, a Representative from New York; born in county Wexford, Ireland, December 31, 1832; attended the common schools; member city water commission and board of education; postmaster of Brooklyn; became editor of Brooklyn Daily Eagle September 7, 1861; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); died in Brooklyn, N. Y., February 11, 1884.

Kinsey, Charles, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Baltimore, Md., in 1773; attended the common schools; in early life engaged in the paper manufacture; moved to Bloomfield township, Essex county, N. J., and continued the industry; moved to Paterson, N. J., in 1803; elected to the state assembly in 1812, and 1813; elected to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1821); again elected to the state assembly in 1826; moved to New Prospect, near Hohokus, Bergen county, N. J., and carried on the manufacture of paper; appointed one of the common pleas judges of Bergen county in 1830, 1835 and 1840; died in New Prospect, N. J., June 25, 1849; interment just west of Waldwick, on the Erie Railway.

Kinsey, James, a Delegate from New Jersey; born in Philadelphia, Pa., March 22, 1731; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in the courts of Pennsylvania and New Jersey; member of the New Jersey assembly in 1772; member of the committee of correspondence for Burlington county; Delegate in the Continental Congress in 1774, and resigned in November of that year; chief justice of New Jersey from 1789, until his death in Burlington, N. J., January 4, 1803.

Kinsey, William Metcalfe, a Representative from Missouri; born in Mount Pleasant, Jefferson county, Ohio, October 28, 1846; attended Hopedale academy, Harrison county, Ohio, and Monmouth college, Illinois; became a resident of Muscatine county, Iowa, in 1863; studied law in the Iowa state university in 1871, and was admitted to the bar and practiced in Iowa; moved to St. Louis, Mo., and engaged in the practice of law in 1875; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); defeated for reelection to the Fifty-second Congress; resumed the practice of law in St. Louis, Mo.; judge of the circuit court of the city of St. Louis.

Kinsley, Martin, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Bridgewater, Mass., June 2, 1754; was graduated from Harvard college in 1778; studied medicine; purveyor of supplies in the Revolutionary army; served thirty years as a member of the state house of representatives; held local offices; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); defeated for reelection to the Seventeenth Congress.

Digitized by Google

Kipp, George Washington, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Green township, Pike county, Pa., March 28, 1847; attended the public schools; engaged in the lumber business for thirty-five years; served as county commissioner of Wayne county, Pa., in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); defeated on the Democratic ticket for state treasurer of Pennsylvania in 1909; reelected to the Sixty-second Congress, but died, before the beginning of the congressional term, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, British Columbia, July 24, 1911; interment in Towanda, Pa.

Kirkland, Joseph, a Representative from New York; born in Old Norwich, Conn., January 18, 1770; was graduated from Yale in 1790; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in New Hartford, N. Y.; member of the state constitutional convention of 1801; member of the state house of representatives 1804–1805; moved to Utica, N. Y.; district attorney 1813–1815; member of the state house of representatives 1818, 1820, 1821, and 1825; elected to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); mayor of Utica 1832, 1834, and 1835; died in Utica, N. Y., January 26, 1844.

Kirkpatrick, Littleton, a Representative from New Jersey; born in New Brunswick, N. J., October 19, 1797; was graduated from Princeton college in 1815; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1818, and began practice in New Brunswick; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); trustee of Rutgers college 1841–1859; mayor of New Brunswick, 1857–1858; died in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., August 15, 1859; interment in New Brunswick, N. J.

Kirkpatrick, Snyder Solomon, a Representative from Kansas; born in Franklin county, Ill., February 21, 1848; attended the common schools; engaged in mercantile business in 1865; entered the law school at Ann Arbor, Mich., in 1867; returned to Illinois, admitted to the bar by the supreme court of Illinois in July, 1868; moved to Kansas in 1873, and located in Fredonia; engaged in the practice of law; elected county attorney of Wilson county in 1879; member of the state senate; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); defeated for reelection to Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses; elected to the Kansas legislature in 1902, and served 1903–1905; died in Fredonia, Kas., April 5, 1909.

Kirkpatrick, William, a Representative from New York; born in Amwell, N. J., November 7, 1769; was graduated from Princeton college in 1788; studied medicine and commenced practice in Whitestown, N. Y.; moved to Salina, N. Y., in 1806; and was superintendent of the Onondaga salt springs, 1805–1807 and 1810–1831; elected to the Tenth Congress (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1809); died in Salina, N. Y., September 2, 1832.

Kirkpatrick, William Sebring, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Easton, Pa., April 21, 1844; attended Lafayette college; studied law and was admitted to the bar October 2, 1865; solicitor of Easton 1866–1874; president judge of the third judicial district; presided temporarily over the Republican state convention of 1882; delegate in the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1884; attorney general of Pennsylvania 1887–1891; lecturer on municipal law in and trustee of Lafayette college; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); resumed the practice of law in Easton, Pa.

Kirkwood, Samuel Jordan, a Senator from Iowa; born in Harford county, Md., December 20, 1813; attended the common schools, and the academy of John McLeod in Washington, D. C.; moved to Richland county, Ohio, in 1835; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1843; prosecuting attorney of Richland county in 1845–1849; member of the state constitutional convention of 1850–1851; moved to Johnson county, Iowa, in 1855; elected to the state senate in 1856; elected governor in 1859 and 1861; appointed by President Lincoln minister to Denmark, March 7, 1863, but declined the appointment; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Harlan, and served from January 13, 1866, to March 3, 1867; again elected governor of Iowa in 1875, and resigned in January, 1877; reelected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1877, to March 7, 1881, when he resigned; Secretary of the Interior in President Garfield's cabinet March 5, 1881; entered upon duties March 8, following, and served until April 6, 1882, when he resigned; died in Iowa City, Iowa, February 1, 1894.

Kirtland, Dorrance, a Representative from New York; native of Coxsackie, N. Y.; born in 1770; was graduated from Yale college in 1789; surrogate of Greene county 1808–1810 and 1811–1838; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); county judge 1828–1838.

Kitchell, Aaron, a Representative and a Senator from New Jersey; born in Hanover, N. J., July 10, 1744; attended the common schools, and became a blacksmith; elected as an Anti-Federalist to the Second, Third, and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1797); reelected to the Sixth Congress (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1801); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1805, to March 12, 1809, when he resigned; was a representative in the state assembly; presidential elector on the Monroe and Tompkins ticket in 1817; died in Hanover, N. J., June 25, 1820.

Kitchen, Bethuel Middleton, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Berkeley county, W. Va., March 21, 1812; attended the common schools; engaged in farming; member of the state legislature 1861–1862; member of the state senate 1864–1865; presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Thirty-eighth Congress, but not admitted; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); died in Berkeley county, W. Va., December 15, 1895.

Kitchin, Claude, a Representative from North Carolina; born near Scotland Neck, in Halifax county, N. C., March 24, 1869; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Wake Forest college in June, 1888; studied law, was admitted to the bar in September, 1890, and practiced in Scotland Neck; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Digitized by Google

Kitchin, William Hodges, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Lauderdale countys Ala., December 22, 1837; moved with his parents to North Carolina in 1841; attended Emory and Henry college in western Virginia; left college in April, 1861, to enlist in the Confederate army; made captain in 1863, and served through the war; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1869, and practiced in Scotland Neck, N. C.; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); died in Scotland Neck, N. C., February 2, 1901.

Kitchin, William Walton, a Representative from North Carolina; born near Scotland Neck, N. C., October 9, 1866; was a student in Vine Hill academy, and was graduated from Wake Forest college in 1884; edited the Scotland Neck Democrat in 1885; studied law in Scotland Neck, and in the University of North Carolina in 1887, and was admitted to the bar in 1887; located in Roxboro, N. C., in 1888; chairman of the county executive committee in 1890; nominee of his party for the state senate in 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1909); governor of North Carolina in 1909–1913.

Kittera, John Wilkes, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in East Earl township, Lancaster county, Pa., 1753; was graduated from Princeton college in 1776; studied law, was admitted to the Philadelphia bar in December, 1782, and practiced in Lancaster, Pa.; elected as a Federalist to the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Congresses (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1801); appointed by President Jefferson United States attorney for the eastern district of Pennsylvania, March 4, 1801; moved to Philadelphia, and served until his death in that city, June 8, 1801.

Kittera, Thomas, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Lancaster, Pa., March 21, 1789; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, A. B., 1805, A. M., 1808; studied law, was admitted to the bar March 8, 1808, and began practice in Philadelphia; deputy attorney general of Pennsylvania 1817–1818; deputy attorney general of Philadelphia 1824–1826; member of the select council and its president 1824–1826; elected to the Nineteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Joseph Hemphill, and served from December 4, 1826, to March 3, 1827; died in Philadelphia, June 16, 1839.

Kitteridge, George Washington, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Epping, N. H., January 31, 1805; received a liberal schooling; attended the Harvard medical college in Cambridge, Mass., and began practice in New Market, N. H., in 1835; member of the state house of representatives three years, and speaker in 1852; elected to the Thirty-third Congress as an Anti-Nebraska Democrat; defeated as the Democratic candidate for reelection; died in New Market, N. H., March 6, 1881; interment in Forest Hill cemetery, near Boston, Mass.

Kittredge, Alfred Beard, a Senator from South Dakota; born in Nelson, Cheshire county, N. H., March 28, 1861; was graduated from Yale college in 1882, and from the law school in 1885; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Sioux Falls, S. Dak.; appointed as a Republican to the United States Senate July 11, 1901, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James H. Kyle; reelected in 1903, and served from July 11, 1901, to March 3, 1909; resumed the practice of law in Sioux Falls, S. Dak.; died in Hot Springs, Ark., May 4, 1911.

Kleberg, Rudolph, a Representative from Texas; born in Austin county, Tex., June 26, 1847; completed preparatory studies; enlisted in Tom Green's brigade of cavalry in the Confederate army in the spring of 1864, and served until the close of the war; studied law in San Antonio, Tex., and was admitted to the bar in 1872; located in Cuero, Tex., and established the Cuero Star in 1873; elected county attorney in 1876; reelected in 1878, and practiced law; elected to the state senate in 1882; appointed United States attorney for the western district of Texas in 1885; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William H. Crain; reelected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses, and served from May 5, 1896, to March 3, 1903; appointed official reporter, court of criminal appeals February 24, 1905; a resident of Austin, Tex.

Kleiner, John Jay, a Representative from Indiana; born in West Hanover, Pa., February 8, 1845; manufacturer and dealer in hard-wood lumber; enlisted in company G, eighty-sixth Ohio volunteer infantry from June 20, 1863, to February 10, 1864; resided in Woodworth, Ohio, 1864–1867; moved to Evansville, Ind., in 1867; member of the city council of Evansville, in 1873; mayor 1874–1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); died in Takoma Park, Md., April 8, 1911.

Klepper, Frank B., a Representative from Missouri; born in St. John, Putnam county, Mo., June 22, 1864; moved with his parents to Mirabile, Caldwell county, Mo., where he remained for ten years; moved to Clinton county, Mo., where he engaged in farming; attended the common schools, and Baker university, Baldwin City, Kans.; taught school two years; studied law, was graduated from the law department of the Missouri state university, and commenced practice in Polo, Caldwell county, Mo.; elected prosecuting attorney of Caldwell county in 1900, and reelected for term ending January 1, 1905; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1907); resumed the practice of law in Kingston, Mo.

Kligensmith, John, jr., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, and a resident of Stewartsville; sheriff of the county for one term; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); secretary of the land office of Pennsylvania 1839–1842.

Kline, Marcus Charles Lawrence, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Salisbury township, Lehigh county, Pa., March 26, 1855; attended the common schools in the borough of Emaus, Pa., and was graduated from Muhlenberg college June 26, 1874; admitted to practice in the several courts of Lehigh county June 5, 1876; elected city solicitor of Allentown, Pa., in April, 1877, district attorney for the county of Lehigh January, 1887–January, 1890; chairman of the Democratic county committee of Lehigh during the years 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, and 1899; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1908; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907); died in Allentown, Lehigh county, Pa., March 10, 1911.

Digitized by Google

Klotz, Robert, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Northampton (now Carbon) county, Pa., October 27, 1819; completed preparatory studies; elected first register and recorder of Carbon county in 1843; served in the war with Mexico in the second Pennsylvania volunteers as private, lieutenant, and adjutant 1846–1847; elected to the state house of representatives in 1848, and reelected in 1849; moved to Pawnee, Kans., in 1855; member of the Topeka constitutional convention, and served as the first secretary of state; brigadier general under the Robinson government; returned to Mauch Chunk, Pa.; elected treasurer of Carbon county in 1859; enlisted in the Union army in 1861; colonel of the nineteenth regiment at Chambersburg, in 1862; trustee of the Lehigh university in Bethlehem; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); died in Mauch Chunk, Pa., May 1, 1895.

Kluttz, Theodore Franklin, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Salisbury, Rowan county, N. C., October 4, 1848; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Salisbury; presiding justice of the inferior court in 1884, and resigned; Democratic elector in 1880 and 1896; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1905); declined a renomination; resumed the practice of law in Salisbury, N. C.

Knapp, Anthony L., a Representative from Illinois; born in Middletown, N. Y., June 14, 1828; moved with his parents to Illinois in 1839; completed preparatory studies; studied law, and moved to Jerseyville in 1849, where he was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the state senate 1859–1861; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John A. McClernand; reelected to the Thirty-eighth Congress, and served from December 12, 1861, to March 3, 1865.

Knapp, Charles, a Representative from New York; born in Colchester, Delaware county, N. Y., October 8, 1797; attended the common schools; member of the state legislature in 1841; moved to Deposit, Delaware county, N. Y., in 1848; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871).

Knapp, Charles Junius, a Representative from New York; born in Pepacton, Delaware county, N. Y., June 30, 1845; was graduated from Hamilton college in 1866; engaged in the banking business in Deposit, N. Y.; president of the board of education; elected supervisor in 1885 and 1886; member of the state legislature in 1886 and 1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); moved to Binghamton, N. Y.

Knapp, Charles Luman, a Representative from New York; born in Harrisburg, Lewis county, N. Y., July 4, 1847; attended Lowville academy, and was graduated from Rutgers college, New Jersey, in 1869; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lowville in 1873; elected to the state senate 1886 and 1887; appointed by President Harrison consul general to Montreal in 1889, and served until September, 1893, when he returned to Lowville and resumed the practice of law; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Albert D. Shaw; reelected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from December 2, 1901, to March 3, 1911; resumed the practice of law in Lowville, N. Y.

Knapp, Chauncey Langdon, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Berlin, Vt., February 26, 1809; completed preparatory studies; learned the art of printing and engaged in newspaper work in Montpelier; coproprietor and editor of the State Journal for a number of years; elected secretary of state of Vermont 1836–1840; moved to Massachusetts and located in Lowell; editor of the Lowell News, and other papers; secretary state senate in 1851; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); reelected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); editor Lowell Daily Citizen 1859–1882; died in Lowell, Mass., May 31, 1898.

Knapp, Robert M., a Representative from Illinois; born in New York City April 21, 1831; moved with parents to Jerseyville, Ill., in 1840; attended the common schools, and the Kentucky military institute in Frankfort, Ky.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1855, and began practice in Jerseyville; elected state legislator in 1867; mayor of Jerseyville 1871–1876; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); again elected to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); died in Jerseyville, Ill., June 24, 1889.

Knickerbocker, Herman, a Representative from New York; born in Albany, N. Y., July 27, 1782; completed preparatory studies; studied law in Albany, was admitted to the bar in 1803, and commenced practice in Albany, N. Y.; moved to Schaghticoke, near Albany, and became known as "the Prince of Schaghticoke" on account of his hospitality and liberality; elected as a Federalist to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811); served in the state legislature in 1816; judge of Rensselaer county; died in Williamsburg, N. Y., January 30, 1855.

Knight, Jonathan, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Bucks county, Pa., November 22, 1787; moved with his parents to East Bethlehem in 1801; attended the common schools, and became a civil engineer; member of the state house of representatives 1822–1828; appointed chief engineer of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); became a farmer; died in East Bethlehem, Pa., November 22, 1858.

Knight, Nehemiah, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Knightsville, Cranston, R. I., March 23, 1746; attended the common schools; engaged in agricultural pursuits; town clerk 1773–1800; elected to the general assembly in 1783, and again in 1787; sheriff of Providence county several years; elected as an anti-Federalist to the Eighth,

Digitized by Google

Ninth, and Tenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1803, until his death in Cranston, R. I., June 13, 1808.

Knight, Nehemiah Rice, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Cranston, R. I., December 31, 1780; attended the common schools; member of the state house of representatives in 1802; moved to Providence and was clerk of the court of common pleas 1805–1811; clerk of the circuit court 1812–1817, and collector of customs by appointment of President Madison during the same period; governor of Rhode Island May, 1817–January 9, 1821, as an anti-Federalist; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Burrill, jr., and was three times—the last time as a National Republican—reelected, and served from January 9, 1821, to March 3, 1841; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1843; died in Providence, R. I., April 18, 1854.

Knopf, Philip, a Representative from Illinois; born in Lake county, Ill., November 18, 1847; enlisted in company I, one hundred and forty-seventh regiment Illinois volunteer infantry, and served until the regiment was mustered out in Savannah, Ga.; moved to Chicago in 1866, and attended Bryant & Stratton's college for one year; engaged in the teaming business until 1884, when he was appointed chief deputy coroner and served eight years; elected to the state senate in 1886, and was reelected in 1890; elected county clerk of Cook county in 1894, and reelected in 1898; a delegate in the Republican national convention in St. Louis in 1896; member of the state central committee; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1909); retired to his home in Chicago, Ill.

Knott, James Proctor, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Lebanon, Ky., August 29, 1830; studied law; moved to Memphis, Mo., in May, 1850, and was admitted to the bar in 1851; elected to the state house of representatives in Missouri in 1857 and resigned in August, 1859; appointed attorney general of Missouri in the same month; unanimously nominated for the same position by the Democratic convention and elected in August, 1860; returned to Kentucky and commenced the practice of law in Lebanon in 1863; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); reelected to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1883); governor of Kentucky 1883–1887; delegate to Kentucky constitutional convention 1891; professor of civics and economics, Centre college, 1892–1894; dean of Central college law school 1894–1901; died in Lebanon, Ky., June 18, 1911.

Knowland, Joseph Russell, a Representative from California; born in Alameda, Cal., August 5, 1873; attended in public and private schools and the University of the Pacific; engaged in the wholesale lumber and shipping business; director of the Alameda National bank, the Alameda bank of savings, and the Union Savings bank of Oakland; elected to the lower house of the California legislature in 1898; reelected in 1900; elected to the state senate in 1902 and resigned in 1904; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Knowles, Freeman, a Representative from South Dakota; born in Harmony, Me., October 10, 1846; attended Bloomfield academy, Skowhegan, Me.; enlisted in the sixteenth Maine regiment June 16, 1862; served three years and nineteen days in the army of the Potomac; captured at the battle of Reams Station August 18, 1864, and kept a prisoner in Libby, Belle Island, and Salisbury, N. C., until the war closed; moved to Denison, Iowa; admitted to the bar in April, 1869; moved to Nebraska and began the publication of the Ceresco Times; moved to the Black Hills in 1888 and began the publication of the Meade County Times in Tilford; moved to Deadwood and began the publication of the Evening Independent; elected as a Populist to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); resumed newspaper work in Deadwood, S. Dak., and died there June 1, 1910.

Knowlton, Ebenezer, a Representative from Maine; born in Pittsfield, N. H., December 6, 1815; moved with parents to South Montville, Me., in 1825; completed preparatory studies; studied theology; member of the state house of representatives 1844–1850, and served as speaker in 1846; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); died in South Montville, Me., September 10, 1874.

Knox, James, a Representative from Illinois; born in Canajoharie, N. Y., July 4, 1807; was graduated from Yale college in 1830; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Utica, N. Y., in 1833; moved to Illinois in 1836, and founded the town of Knoxville, became a farmer; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1847; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1857); resumed the practice of law until his death in Knoxville, Ill., October 8, 1876.

Knox, Philander Chase, a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Brownsville, Pa., May 6, 1853; attended the University of West Virginia, and was graduated from Mount Union college, Alliance, Ohio, in 1872; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1875, and began practice in Pittsburgh, Pa.; assistant United States district attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania in 1876; elected president of the Pennsylvania bar association in 1897; appointed Attorney General of the United States in the cabinet of President McKinley April 5, 1901, and entered upon duties April 9, 1901; reappointed by President Roosevelt December 16, 1901, and served until June 30, 1904, when he resigned; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Matthew S. Quay; subsequently elected to fill the unexpired term, and for the full term in 1905, and served from June 10, 1904, until March 4, 1909, when he resigned; appointed Secretary of State by President Taft March 5, 1909.

Knox, Samuel, a Representative from Missouri; born in Blandford, Mass., March 21, 1815; attended the common schools; was graduated from Williams college in 1836, and from the law department of Harvard university in 1838; moved to St. Louis, Mo., 1838, and commenced practice; city counselor in 1845; elected to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); defeated for reelection; resumed the practice of law in St. Louis, Mo.; retired and returned to Blandford, Mass., where he died March 7, 1900.

Digitized by Google

Knox, William Shadrach, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Killingly, Conn., September 10, 1843; moved with parents to Lawrence, Mass., in 1852; was graduated from Amherst college in 1865; admitted to the Essex county bar in November, 1866, and practiced in Lawrence; member of the Massachusetts house of representatives 1874–75; city solicitor of Lawrence in 1875, 1876, 1887–1890; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1903); resumed the practice of law in Lawrence, Mass.

Koontz, William Henry, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Somerset, Pa., July 15, 1830; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Somerset; district attorney for Somerset county 1853–1856; delegate in the Republican national convention in 1860; prothonotary and clerk of the county court 1861–1863; successfully contested the election of Alexander H. Coffroth to the Thirty-ninth Congress, and was given the seat July 18, 1866; was reelected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress, and served from July 18, 1866, to March 3, 1869; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); engaged in railroad enterprises; counsel for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad; died in Somerset county, Pa., July 4, 1911.

Kopp, Arthur Wilhom, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Big Patch, Grant county, Wis., February 28, 1874; attended the common schools of Grant county, and was graduated from the state normal school in Platteville in 1895; taught school for three years; was graduated from the law department of the University of Wisconsin in 1900, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Platteville; alderman of the city; city attorney for two terms, and district attorney of Grant county for four years; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Korbly, Charles Alexander, a Representative from Indiana; born in Madison, Ind., March 24, 1871; was a reporter and editor of the Madison Herald for three years; moved to Indianapolis and resumed the study of law; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Krebs, Jacob, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Orwigsburg, Pa., March 13, 1782; attended the public schools; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Henry Wilson, and served from December 4, 1826, to March 3, 1827; died in Orwigsburg, Pa., September 26, 1847.

Kremer, George, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Dauphin county, Pa., in 1775; received a limited schooling; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Lewisburg, Pa.; elected to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1829); died in Union county, Pa., September 11, 1854.

Kribbs, George Frederic, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Clarion county, Pa., November 8, 1846; attended the common schools, and the Clarion academy, and was graduated from Muhlenberg college, Allentown, Pa., in 1873; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1875, and practiced in Clarion, Pa.; edited the Clarion Democrat 1877–1889; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Clarion; moved to Osceola county, Fla., in 1896, and engaged in orange culture; located in Kissimmee, Fla., in 1907, and reengaged in the practice of law; prosecuting attorney of Osceola county in 1908; judge of the county court 1909–1910; resumed practice in Kissimmee, Fla.

Kronmiller, John, a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore, Md., December 6, 1858; attended private and public schools; merchant and manufacturer in Baltimore, Md.; served two years in the city council; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); member of the board of visitors to the Baltimore city jail; many years a director of the Maryland General hospital; engaged in manufacturing, and a resident of Baltimore, Md.

Kuhns, Joseph H., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Pennsylvania; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); defeated for the Thirty-third Congress.

Kulp, Monroe Henry, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Barto, Berks county, Pa., October 23, 1858; attended the public schools of Shamokin, the state normal college, Lebanon, Ohio, and was graduated from Eastman business college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; engaged in the lumber, brick, and ice business in Shamokin, Pa.; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899); devoted himself to the lumber business, and to many interests with which he was connected; died in Shamokin, Pa., October 19, 1911.

Kunkel, Jacob Michael, a Representative from Maryland; born in Frederick, Md., July 13, 1822; attended the Frederick academy for boys, and was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1843; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Frederick in 1846; state senator 1850–1856; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); delegate to the loyalist convention in Philadelphia in 1866; died in Frederick, Md., April 9, 1870.

Kunkel, John Christian, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Harrisburg, Pa., September 18, 1816; was graduated from Jefferson college, Canonsburg, Pa., in 1839; studied law, was admitted to the Dauphin county bar, and began practice in Harrisburg; member of the state house of representatives 1844, 1845, and 1850; state senator 1851–1853, and speaker of the senate 1852–1853; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); died in Harrisburg, Pa., October 14, 1870.

Kurtz, William H., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of York, Pa.; completed preparatory studies; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855).

Küstermann, Gustav, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Detmold, Germany, May 24, 1850; attended the academy of his native city (Gymnasium Leopoldinum), and was graduated in 1864; employed in a wholesale dry goods establishment in Hamburg, Germany, until 1868, when he came to the United States and settled in Green Bay, Wis.; engaged in mercantile business; held various public positions, and was postmaster of Green Bay 1892–1896; member of the state board of control; and its president 1904–1907; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911); engaged in literary work in Green Bay, Wis.

Digitized by Google

Kuykendall, Andrew J., a Representative from Illinois; born in Gallatin county, Ill., March 3, 1815; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Vienna, Ill.; member of the state house of representatives 1842–1846; of the state senate 1850–1862; served one year in the Union army as major of the thirty-first Illinois volunteers; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); resumed the practice of law in Vienna, Ill.

Kyle, James Henderson, a Senator from South Dakota; born near Xenia, Ohio, February 24, 1854; completed a course of civil engineering in the University of Illinois in 1871; was graduated from Oberlin college, Ohio, in 1878; prepared for admission to the bar, but entered the Western theological seminary in Allegheny, Pa., and was graduated in 1882; pastor of Congregational churches in Echo and Salt Lake City, Utah, 1882–1885; moved to Ipswick, and Aberdeen, S. Dak.; elected to the state senate on the Independent ticket in 1890; elected in 1891 as an Independent to the United States Senate; reelected in 1897 and served from March 4, 1891, until his death; was chairman of the United States industrial commission 1898–1902; died in Aberdeen, S. Dak., July 1, 1901.

Kyle, John Curtis, a Representative from Mississippi; was born near Sardis, Miss., July 17, 1851; attended Bethel college, Tenn., and was graduated from the Cumberland university law school in 1874; was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Sardis; mayor of Sardis 1879–1881; elected to the state senate in 1881; member of the Mississippi railroad commission; chairman of the state Democratic executive committee in 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second, Fifty-third, and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Sardis, and retired in 1912.

Kyle, Thomas Barton, a Representative from Ohio; born in Troy, March 10, 1856; attended the public schools in Troy, Ohio, and Dartmouth college; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1884, and practiced in Troy; elected prosecuting attorney of Miami county in 1890; president of the board of education of Troy; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1905); resumed the practice of law in Troy, Ohio.

Labranche, Alcée, a Representative from Louisiana; native of New Orleans, La.; chargé d'affaires to Texas March 7, 1837, to April 2, 1840, when he resigned; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845).

Lacey, Edward Samuel, a Representative from Michigan; born in Chili, Monroe county, N. Y., November 26, 1835; moved to Branch county, Mich., in October, 1842, and to Eaton county in March, 1843; attended the public schools and Olivet college; engaged in business pursuits, but more particularly in banking; a resident of Kalamazoo, Mich., 1853–1857; moved to Charlotte, Mich., and was register of deeds for Eaton county 1860–1864 mayor of Charlotte in 1871; trustee of the Michigan asylum for the insane from 1874 to 1880; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1876; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1885); chairman of the Republican state central committee 1882–1884; temporarily commissioned by President Harrison comptroller of the currency April 17, 1889; reappointed December 16, 1889, and served until 1892, when he resigned; moved to Chicago, Ill., and reengaged in banking.

Lacey, John Fletcher, a Representative from Iowa; born in New Martinsville, Va. (now West Virginia), May 30, 1841; moved to Iowa in 1855; attended the common schools and pursued classical studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar enlisted in company H, third Iowa infantry, in May, 1861, and afterwards served in company D thirty-third Iowa infantry, as sergeant major, and as lieutenant in company C of that regiment; promoted to assistant adjutant general on the staff of Brig. Gen. Samuel A. Rice, and after that officer was killed in battle was assigned to duty on the staff of Maj. Gen. Frederick Steele; member of the Iowa legislature in 1870; temporary chairman of the Iowa Republican convention of 1898; served in city council; one term as city solicitor of Oskaloosa; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); reelected to the Fifty-third, and to the seven succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Lacock, Abner, a Representative and a Senator from Pennsylvania; born near Alexandria, Va., July 9, 1770; moved with parents to Washington county, Pa., in youth; removed to Beaver, then in Allegheny county, in 1796; appointed justice of the peace; first representative from the newly formed county of Beaver in the state house of representatives in 1801; associate judge of the Beaver county court in 1803, but resigned after one year; again a member of the state house of representatives 1804–1808; state senator 1808–1810; elected as a Democrat to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813); elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1813, to March 3, 1819; appointed a state commissioner to survey routes for canals and railways in Pennsylvania April 11, 1825, and superintended construction of the Pittsburgh-Johnstown canal; appointed to survey and construct the Pennsylvania and Ohio canal in 1836; died near Freedom, Pa., April 12, 1837.

Ladd, George Washington, a Representative from Maine; born in Augusta, Me., September 28, 1818; completed preparatory studies; engaged in the drug business in Bangor, but later engaged in the lumber, commission, and the wholesale grocery business; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); died in Bangor, Me., January 31, 1892.

La Dow, George A., a Representative from Oregon; born in Cayuga county, N. Y., March 18, 1828; moved to McHenry county, Ill.; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1850, and commenced practice in 1851 in Wisconsin; elected district attorney in 1860; moved to Minnesota in 1862; state representative in 1867; moved to Oregon in 1869; state representative in 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth Congress, and served from March 4, 1875, until his death prior to the assembling of the Congress, May 8, 1875.

Digitized by Google

Lafean, Daniel Franklin, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in York, York county, Pa., February 7, 1861; attended the public schools; engaged in manufacturing and in banking in York; a director of the Gettysburg college and trustee of the Gettysburg seminary, Gettysburg, Pa.; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Laffoon, Polk, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Hopkins county, Ky., October 24, 1844; attended the common schools; entered the Confederate army as a member of the eighth infantry; captured at Fort Donelson February 16, 1862, and exchanged at Vicksburg in September, 1862; member of Morgan's command during the remainder of the war; captured at Cheshire, Ohio, during the raid into that state, and confined in the Pennsylvania penitentiary as a prisoner of war; followed teaching for two years; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1867, and practiced in Madisonville, Ky.; elected attorney of Madison county; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); resumed the practice of law; died in Madisonville, Ky., October 22, 1906.

Laflin, Addison H., a Representative from New York; born in Lee, Mass., October 24, 1823; was graduated from Williams college in 1843; went to Herkimer county, N. Y., in 1849, and became interested in paper manufacturing; member of the state senate 1858–1859; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1871); delegate in the Republican state convention of 1867; appointed by President Grant naval officer at the port of New York City April 3, 1871, and served until 1877, when he resigned; died in Pittsfield, Mass., September 24, 1878.

La Follette, Robert Marion, a Representative and a Senator from Wisconsin; born in Primrose, Dane county, Wis., June 14, 1855; was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in June, 1879; was admitted to the bar in February, 1880, and engaged in practice in Madison, Wis.; district attorney of Dane county 1880–1884; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1891); defeated for reelection to the Fifty-second Congress; resumed the practice of law in Madison, Wis.; delegate in the Republican national convention in St. Louis in 1896; delegate at large to the Republican national convention held in Chicago in June, 1904; elected governor of Wisconsin in 1900; reelected in 1902, and again in November, 1904; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate for the term commencing March 4, 1905; qualified and took his seat January 4, 1906; reelected for the term beginning March 4, 1911; delegate in the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1912.

Lagan, Matthew Diamond, a Representative from Louisiana; born in County Derry, Ireland, June 20, 1829; attended the common schools; came to the United States and located in New Orleans, La., December 28, 1843; engaged in manufacturing and mercantile pursuits; elected to the common council of the city of New Orleans in 1867; member of the convention which framed a constitution for Louisiana in 1879; again elected to the common council in 1882, and president and acting mayor during the term; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); reelected to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); died in New Orleans, La., April 8, 1901.

Lahm, Samuel, a Representative from Ohio born in Leitersburg, Md., April 22, 1812; completed preparatory studies; attended Washington college, Pennsylvania; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1836; located in Canton, Ohio; master of chancery 1837–1841; prosecuting attorney of Stark county 1841–1845; member of the state senate in 1842; delegate in the Democratic national convention in Baltimore in 1844; brigadier general in the militia; defeated as the Democratic candidate to the Twenty-ninth Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); devoted remainder of his life to farming and sheep raising; died in Canton, Ohio, June 16, 1876.

Laidlaw, William Grant, a Representative from New York; born near Jedburgh, the county town of Roxburgshire, Scotland, January 1, 1840; came with parents to the United States in 1852, and located in Franklinville, Cattaraugus county, N. Y.; attended the common schools and pursued an academic course; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1866, and commenced practice; served two years in the United States navy during the Civil war; school commissioner of the first district of Cattaraugus county 1867–1870; removed to Ellicottville, N. Y., in 1870; assessor of internal revenue of the thirty-first collection district of New York 1871–1877; district attorney of Cattaraugus county 1877–1883; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); resumed the practice of law; died in Ellicottville, N. Y., August 19, 1908.

Laird, James, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Fowlerville, Livingston county, N. Y., June 20, 1849; moved with parents when a child to Michigan; attended Adrian college and the University of Michigan; served with a Michigan regiment in the Civil war, and in the army of the Potomac 1862–1865; was graduated from the law school of Michigan university in 1871; was admitted to the bar, and engaged in practice in Hastings, Nebr., in 1872; member of the Nebraska constitutional convention of 1875; Republican presidential elector in 1880; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1883, until his death in Hastings, Nebr., August 17, 1889.

Lake, William A., a Representative from Mississippi; native of Maryland; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Washington college, Pennsylvania; studied law and was admitted to the bar; state representative; moved to Vicksburg, Miss.; member of the state senate; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); defeated for reelection to the Thirty-fifth Congress.

Lamar, Henry Graybill, a Representative from Georgia; born in Clinton, Jones county, Ga., July 10, 1798; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Macon, Ga.; judge of the state superior court; member of the state legislature several terms; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George R. Gilmer, elected governor; reelected to the Twenty-second Congress, and served from December 7, 1829, to March 3, 1833; associate justice of the state supreme court; died in Macon, Ga., September 10, 1861.

Digitized by Google

Lamar, Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus, a Representative and a Senator from Mississippi; born near Eatonton, Putnam county, Ga., September 1, 1825; moved to Oxford, Miss.; was graduated from Emory college, Ga., in 1845; studied law in Macon, and admitted to the bar in 1847; returned to Oxford, Miss., in 1849, and served one year as professor of mathematics in the University of Mississippi; moved to Covington, Ga., in 1852, and practiced law; elected a state representative in 1853; returned to Lafayette county, Miss., in 1854; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, until his retirement in December, 1860, to become a member of the secession convention of Mississippi, January 9, 1861; served in the Confederate army as lieutenant colonel and colonel in the nineteenth Mississippi regiment; in 1863 entered the diplomatic service of the Confederacy on a special mission to Russia, France, and England; in 1866 elected professor of political economy and social science in the University of Mississippi, and in 1867 professor of law; reelected to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873 Mrach 3, 1877); elected to the United States Senate; reelected, and served from March 4, 1877, to March 6, 1885, when he resigned; Secretary of the Interior in President Cleveland's cabinet from March 6, 1885, to January 10, 1888, when he resigned; appointed by President Cleveland associate justice of the United States supreme court December 6, 1887; confirmed January 16, 1888, took his seat upon the bench two days later, and served until his death in Vineville, Ga., January 23, 1893.

Lamar, James Robert, a Representative from Missouri; born in Edgar Springs, Phelps county, Mo., March 28, 1866; attended the common schools and Licking academy in Licking, Mo.; taught school in Phelps and Texas counties, and was principal of Licking academy in 1889; studied law and was admitted to the bar in Texas county in 1889; was elected prosecuting attorney of Texas county in 1890, and two years later was reelected; chairman of the Democratic congressional committee of the thirteenth district of Missouri 1894–1896; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1896; engaged in the practice of law in Houston, Tex.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); reelected to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Houston, Tex.

Lamar, William Bailey, a Representative from Florida; born in Jefferson county, Fla., June 12, 1853; resided in Athens, Ga., from 1866 to 1873; attended Jefferson academy, Monticello, Fla., and the University of Georgia in Athens; removed to Florida in October, 1873; was graduated from the Lebanon law school, Lebanon, Tenn., in 1875, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Tupelo, Miss.; admitted to practice law in the courts of Florida in 1876; elected clerk of the circuit court of Jefferson county, Fla., January, 1877, and served four years; county judge 1883–1886; member of the state house of representatives in 1886 and chosen speaker, but declined; elected attorney general of Florida in 1888, and reelected in 1892, 1896, 1900; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Monticello, Fla.

Lamb, Alfred William, a Representative from Missouri; born in Stamford, N. Y., March 18, 1824; attended the public schools; moved with parents to Ralls county, Mo., in 1836; attended Dr. Ely's school in Ely, Mo., and a law school; was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Hannibal, Mo.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); declained a renomination; died in Hannibal, Mo., April 29, 1888.

Lamb, John, a Representative from Virginia; born in Sussex county, Va., June 12, 1840; attended a private school kept by his father; enlisted in the Confederate army in company D, third Virginia cavalry, and commanded his company three years, and was wounded several times; engaged in business; served as sheriff, treasurer, and surveyor of Henrico county; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Lamb, John Edward, a Representative from Indiana; born in Terre Haute, Ind., December 26, 1852; attended the common schools, and was graduated from the Terre Haute high school; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1873, and commenced practice in Terre Haute; prosecuting attorney of the fourteenth judicial circuit; candidate for presidential elector on the Democratic ticket; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1892, 1896, 1904, and 1908; a practicing attorney in Terre Haute, Ind.

Lambert, John, a Representative and a Senator from New Jersey; born in Lambertville, N. J., February 24, 1746; pursued an academic course; member of the state house of representatives 1780–1785, and 1788; member of the council 1790–1804; vice president of the council 1801–1804; acting governor 1802–1803; elected to the Ninth and Tenth Congresses (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1809); elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1809, to March 3, 1815; died near Lambertville, N. J., February 4, 1823.

Lamison, Charles N., a Representative from Ohio; born in Columbia county, Pa., in 1826; privately instructed in elementary branches; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and engaged in practice in Wooster, Wayne county, Ohio; prosecuting attorney of Allen county for five years; enlisted in the Union army; resumed the practice of law in Lima, Ohio; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); died in Lima, Ohio, April 24, 1896.

Lamport, William Henry, a Representative from New York; born in Brunswick, N. Y., May 27, 1811; moved with parents to Gorham, Ontario county, in 1826; attended the public schools and engaged in farming; supervisor of Gorham 1848–1849; elected sheriff of Ontario county in 1849 and served from 1850 to 1853; elected state assemblyman in 1854; moved to Canandaigua in 1864; president of the village of Canandaigua 1866–1867; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); died in Canandaigua, N. Y., July 21, 1891.

Digitized by Google

Lancaster, Columbia, a Delegate from Washington territory; held several local offices; elected to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855).

Landers, Franklin, a Representative from Indiana; born in Morgan county, Ind., March 22, 1825; attended the common schools; engaged in farming and in 1850 entered the dry goods trade; moved to Indianapolis in 1865; entered the pork-packing business in 1873; member of the state senate 1860–1864; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); died in Indianapolis, Ind., September 12, 1901.

Landers, George Marcellus, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Lenox, Mass., February 22, 1813; attended the public schools; moved to Hartford county, Conn., in 1829; engaged in the manufacture of hardware; member of the state house of representatives in 1851, 1867, and 1874; served in the state senate in 1853, 1869, and 1873; state bank commissioner in 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); died in New Britain, Conn., March 27, 1895.

Landes, Silas Zephaniah, a Representative from Illinois; born in Augusta county, Va., May 15, 1842; studied law and was licensed to practice by the supreme court of Illinois in August, 1863, and commenced practice in Mount Carmel, Ill.; elected state attorney for Wabash county in 1872, 1876, and 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); elected circuit judge of the fourth judicial circuit of Illinois June 1, 1891, and served six years; died in Mount Carmel, Ill., May 23, 1910.

Landis, Charles Beary, a Representative from Indiana; born in Millville, Butler county, Ohio, July 9, 1858; attended the public schools of Logansport, Ind., and was graduated from Wabash college, Crawfordsville, Ind., in 1883; editor of the Logansport Journal 1883–1887, and at the time of his nomination for Congress was the editor of the Delphi (Ind.) Journal; in 1894 elected president of the Indiana Republican editorial association and reelected in 1895; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1909); resumed newspaper work in Delphi, Ind.

Landis, Frederick, a Representative from Indiana; born in Sevenmile, Butler county, Ohio, August 18, 1872; moved with his parents to Logansport, Ind., in 1875; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1893; elected to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907); resumed the practice of law in Logansport, Ind.

Landrum, John M., a Representative from Louisiana; born in Edgefield district, S. C., July 3, 1815; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from South Carolina college in 1842; taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Shreveport, La.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861).

Landry, Joseph Aristide, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Ascension parish, La., July 10, 1817; attended school in Cape Girardeau, Miss.; member of Louisiana house of representatives in 1852, with residence in Donaldsonville; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); died in Donaldsonville, La., January 31, 1881.

Landy, James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., October 13, 1813; attended the public schools; studied law, but entered mercantile pursuits; school commissioner; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); defeated for the Thirty-sixth Congress.

Lane, Amos, a Representative from Indiana; born near Aurora, N. Y., March 1, 1778; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lawrenceburg, Ind.; speaker of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); defeated for the Twenty-fifth Congress; died in Lawrenceburg, Ind., September 2, 1849.

Lane, Edward, a Representative from Illinois; born in Cleveland, Ohio, March 27, 1842; moved to Illinois in May, 1858; pursued an academic course; taught school; studied law, and was admitted to practice by the supreme court of the state of Illinois in February, 1865, and practiced in Hillsboro, Ill.; elected judge in November, 1869, and served one term; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Hillsboro, Ill.

Lane, Henry Smith, a Representative and a Senator from Indiana; born in Montgomery county, Ky., February 24, 1811; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1833, and began practice in Crawfordsville, Ind., in 1835; served in the state senate in 1837; elected to the Twenty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Tilghman A. Howard; reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress, and served from December 7, 1840, to March 3, 1843; served in the Mexican war as lieutenant colonel of volunteers; permanent chairman of the first Republican national convention in Philadelphia, Pa., June 17, 1856; elected governor of Indiana in 1860; was inaugurated January 14, 1861, and served four or five days and resigned; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1861, to March 3, 1867; delegate in the Republican national conventions in Chicago in 1868, Philadelphia, 1872; died in Crawfordsville, Ind., June 18, 1881.

Lane, James Henry, a Representative from Indiana, and a Senator from Kansas; born in Lawrenceburg, Ind., June 22, 1814; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1840, and began practice in Lawrenceburg; member of the city council; served in the Mexican war; colonel of the third Indiana volunteers June 25, 1846; mustered out June 24, 1847; recommissioned colonel of the fifth Indiana infantry October 22, 1847; mustered out July 28, 1848; appointed brigadier general of volunteers for service in the Civil war December 18, 1861, and appointment was canceled March 21, 1862; lieutenant governor 1849; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress

Digitized by Google

(March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); moved to Kansas territory in 1855; member of the Topeka constitutional convention; elected to the United States Senate by the legislature that convened under the Topeka constitution in 1856, but the election was not recognized by United States Senate; president of the Leavenworth constitutional convention of 1857; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate in 1861, and reelected in 1865, and served until his death, near Fort Leavenworth, Kans., July 11, 1866.

Lane, Joseph, a Delegate and a Senator from Oregon; born in Buncombe county, N. C., December 14, 1801; moved with parents to Henderson, Ky., in 1810; attended the common schools; moved to Vanderburg county, Ind., in 1821; served in both branches of the state legislature 1822–1846; served in the Mexican war; colonel second Indiana volunteers June 25, 1846; brigadier general of volunteers July 1, 1846; brevet major general October 9, 1847, "for gallant and meritorious conduct in battle of Huamantla, Mexico"; honorably discharged July 20, 1848; appointed by President Polk governor of Oregon territory December 12, 1848, and served from March, 1849, to 1850; elected elected as a Democrat a Delegate to the Thirty-second, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1859); again appointed, and by President Pierce, governor of Oregon territory March 15, 1853; elected to the United States Senate, and served from February 14, 1859, to March 3, 1861; nominated for Vice President on the Breckinridge Democratic ticket in 1860; died in Roseburg, Oreg., April 19, 1881.

Lane, Joseph Reed, a Representative from Iowa; born in Davenport, Iowa, May 6, 1858; attended the common schools and Knox college, Galesburg, Ill.; studied law in the State university of Iowa, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Davenport; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1901); resumed the practice of law in Davenport, Iowa.

Lane, Lafayette, a Representative from Oregon; born in Vanderburg county, Ind., November 12, 1842; attended school in Washington, D. C., and in Stamford, Conn.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Roseburg, Oreg.; member of the state legislature in 1864; code commissioner in 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of George A. La Dow, and served from December 6, 1875, to March 3, 1877; defeated for the Forty-fifth Congress; died in Roseburg, Oreg., November 23, 1896.

Langdon, Chauncey, a Representative from Vermont; born in Farmington, Conn., November 8, 1763; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale in 1787; several years state representative and state councilor; elected as a Federalist to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); died in Castleton, Conn., July 23, 1830.

Langdon, John, a Delegate and a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Portsmouth, N. H., June 25, 1741; attended the school of Maj. Hale in Portsmouth; engaged in mercantile pursuits; prominent in ante-Revolutionary affairs and during the war; a representative in the general court; elected to the Continental Congress 1775–1776; resigned in 1776 to become navy agent, and superintended the construction of several ships of war; served several terms as speaker of the state house of representatives, and during the session of 1777 staked his fortune to equip Gen. John Stark's brigade; participated in the battle of Bennington, and commanded a company at Saratoga and in Rhode Island; again a Delegate in the Continental Congress in 1783; president of New Hampshire in 1785; delegate to the federal constitutional convention in 1787; governor in 1788, 1805, 1809, and 1810–1811; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1789, to March 3, 1801; elected the first President of the Senate pro tempore April 6, 1789; declined the offer of Secretary of the Navy in 1811, and the Democratic nomination for Vice President in 1812; died in Portsmouth, N. H., September 18, 1819.

Langdon, Woodbury, a Delegate from New Hampshire; born in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1739; attended the public schools; engaged in mercantile pursuits; prominent in pre-Revolutionary affairs; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1779–1780; executive councilor 1781–1784; judge of the state superior court in 1782, and 1786–1790; died in Portsmouth, N. H., January 13, 1805.

Langham, Jonathan Nicholas, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Indiana county, Pa., August 4, 1861; attended the common schools, and later taught school; was graduated from the state normal school of Indiana in 1882; studied law, was admitted to the Indiana county bar in December, 1888, and practiced in Indiana, Pa.; appointed postmaster of Indiana, Pa., by President Harrison; served six years as assistant United States attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania; served as chief clerk and corporation deputy in the auditor general's department of Pennsylvania; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Langley, John Wesley, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Floyd county, Ky.; attended the common schools and taught for three years; attended the law departments of the National, Georgetown, and Columbian (now George Washington) universities for an aggregate period of eight years; clerk in the pension office, and a member of the board of pension appeals; disbursing and appointment clerk of the census office; served two terms in the Kentucky legislature, and caucus nominee of his party (the minority) for speaker of the house; was twice a delegate from Kentucky to Republican national conventions; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Langston, John Mercer, a Representative from Virginia; born in Louisa, Louisa county, Va., December 14, 1829; attended common schools in Ohio; was graduated from Oberlin college in 1849, and from the theological department in 1852; studied law in Elyria, Ohio, was admitted to the bar in 1855, and practiced in Ohio 1855–1867; appointed inspector general of the bureau of freedmen, refugees, and abandoned lands in 1868; moved to Washington, D. C., and practiced law; dean of the law department of Howard university; appointed and commissioned by President Grant a member of the board of health of the District of Columbia in 1871; appointed by President Hayes minister resident and consul general to Haiti, and chargé d'affaires to Santo Domingo; elected vice president and acting president of Howard university in 1872; elected president of the Virginia normal and collegiate institute in 1885; took active part in recruiting colored troops during the Civil war, especially the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth Massachusetts and fifth Ohio (colored) regiments; filled several township offices in Ohio; twice elected a member of the council of Oberlin, and member of the board of education for twelve years; presented credentials as a Member-elect from Virginia to the Fifty-first Congress, and was seated after contesting the election of Edward C. Venable, September 23, 1890; served until March 3, 1891; declined to make a contest in the Fifty-second Congress, for which he was the Republican candidate, and declined a renomination to the Fifty-third Congress; died in Washington, D. C., November 15, 1897.

Digitized by Google

Langworthy, Edward, a Delegate from Georgia; born in Savannah, Ga., about 1745; attended school kept in connection with the Bethesda orphan house of which he was an inmate, and later became an instructor in the institution; assisted in organizing the Georgia council of safety, and became secretary of the council December 11, 1775; a Delegate in the Continental Congress 1777–1779; signer of the articles of confederation; moved to Elkstown, Md., and died there about 1800, while engaged in writing a history of the state of Georgia.

Lanham, Samuel Willis Tucker, a Representative from Texas; born in Spartanburg district, S. C., July 4, 1846; attended the common schools; entered the Confederate army when a boy; moved to Texas in 1866; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1869, and engaged in practice in Weatherford, Tex.; district attorney 1871–1876; Democratic elector in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1893); reelected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses, and served from March 4, 1897, until his resignation, January 15, 1903; governor of Texas 1903–1907; died in Weatherford, Tex., July 29, 1908.

Laning, Jay Ford, a Representative from Ohio; born in New London, Ohio, May 15, 1853; attended the Savannah academy and Baldwin university, Berea, Ohio; studied law, was admitted to the bar in May, 1875, and began practice in New London; held several minor elective offices; moved to Norwalk, Ohio, in January, 1882, and was a member of the city council 1884–1886; elected to the Ohio state senate in 1893 and reelected in 1895; practiced law until 1885, and then engaged in the publishing business; delegate in the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1904; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); resumed the publishing business in Norwalk, Ohio.

Lanman, James, a Senator from Connecticut; born in Norwich, Conn., June 13, 1769; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Yale college in 1788; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1791, and commenced practice in Norwich; state attorney for New London county 1814–1819; state representative in 1817, and state senator in 1819 and 1832; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1818; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1819, to March 3, 1825; presented credentials as a Senator by appointment, to fill vacancy in term beginning March 4, 1825, but the Senate would not permit him to qualify; judge of the state superior and supreme courts 1826–1829; mayor of Norwich 1831–1834; died in Norwich, Conn., August 7, 1841.

Lanning, William Mershon, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Ewingville, Mercer county, N. J., January 1, 1849; was graduated from the Lawrenceville school in 1866; employed as a teacher in the public schools of Mercer county, and in the Trenton academy 1866–1880; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1880; counselor in 1883; elected city solicitor for Trenton in 1884; in 1887 appointed judge of the city district court, and served until 1891, when legislated out of office; member of a commission to frame township laws, and of the constitutional commission of 1894; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1903, to June 6, 1904, when he resigned; appointed United States district judge, district of New Jersey.

Lansing, Frederick, a Representative from New York; born in Manheim, Herkimer county, N. Y., February 16, 1838; attended the Little Falls academy, New York; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1859, and practiced in Watertown, N. Y.; served during the Civil war in the eighth New York cavalry; acting adjutant of that regiment from June 23 to October 11, 1863; wounded in the battle of Bristoe Station, Va., in 1863, and the next year was discharged on account of wounds; elected state senator in 1881 and 1883; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); died in Watertown, N. Y., January 31, 1894.

Lansing, Gerrit Yates, a Representative from New York; born in Albany, N. Y., August 4, 1783; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Union college in 1800; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1804, and began practice in Albany; clerk of the state assembly in 1807; judge of the court of probates 1816–1823; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1837); elected regent of the University of the State of New York March 31, 1829; chancellor of the board of regents October 31, 1842; died in Albany, N. Y., January 3, 1862.

Lansing, John, jr., a Delegate from New York; born in Albany, N. Y., January 30, 1754; studied law in Albany and in New York City, and was admitted to the bar in 1775; secretary to Gen. Schuyler 1776–1777; engaged in the practice of law in Albany in 1778; member of the state assembly 1780–1786, and its speaker in 1786; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1784–1785, and in the Federal constitutional convention of 1787; withdrew from the latter July 10, 1787, on the ground his credentials gave him no power to assist in the framing of a Federal constitution, but only to amend the articles of confederation; delegate in the state convention of June, 1788, to ratify the Federal constitution; again a member and speaker of the state assembly in 1789; member of the commission to settle the New York-Vermont boundary line in 1790; justice of the supreme court of New York 1790–1798, and chief justice 1798–1801; chancellor 1801–1814; commissioner to determine the claims of the city and county of New York to certain lands in Vermont in 1817; regent of the University of the State of New York 1817–1829; unanimously nominated by the Anti-Federalists for governor of New York in 1804, but declined; presidential elector in 1824; mysteriously disappeared after leaving his hotel to post a letter at one of the docks in New York City, December 12, 1829.

Lansing, William Esseltyne, a Representative from New York; born in Perryville, N. Y., December 21, 1822; was graduated from Cazenovia seminary in 1841; studied law in Utica, N. Y., was admitted to the bar in 1845, and commenced practice in Chittenango in 1845; district attorney of Madison county 1851–1854, county clerk 1856–1858; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863), and to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); resumed the practice of law in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1876, and died there July 29, 1882.

Digitized by Google

Lapham, Elbridge Gerry, a Representative and a Senator from New York; born in Farmington, N. Y., October 18, 1814; attended public schools and the Canandaigua academy; studied civil engineering; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1844, and practiced in Canandaigua, N. Y.; member of the constitutional convention of New York in 1867; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1883); elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Roscoe Conkling, and served from July 22, 1881, to March 3, 1885; resumed the practice of law in Canandaigua, N. Y.; died in "Glen Gerry," Canandaigua Lake, N. Y., January 8, 1890.

Lapham, Oscar, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Burrillville, R. I., June 29, 1837; attended the seminary in Scituate, the academy in Pembroke, N. H., the University grammar school, Providence, and was graduated from Brown university in 1864; member of board of trustees and of the advisory and executive committee of that university; admitted to the bar in Providence in May, 1867, and practiced; served in the Civil war as first lieutenant, adjutant, and captain in the twelfth Rhode Island volunteers; aid de camp on brigade staff; served in army of the Potomac and the department of the Ohio in Kentucky; captain of University cadets of Brown university and colonel of United Train of Artillery, an ancient military organization, under special charter; represented city of Providence in state senate 1887–1888; member and treasurer Democratic state central committee 1887–1891; Democratic candidate for Congress in 1882, 1886, and 1888, and defeated each time; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Providence, R. I.

Laporte, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Asylum township, Bradford county, Pa., November 4, 1798; member of the state general assembly 1828–1831, and speaker of the house of representatives 1831–1832; elected to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); associate judge of Bradford county 1840–1845; surveyor general of Pennsylvania 1845–1851; engaged in banking business in Towanda, Pa., 1850–1862; died in Towanda, Pa., August 22, 1862.

Larned, Simon, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Thompson, Conn., August 13, 1753; attended the common schools; for several years sheriff of Berkshire county; served in the Revolution as a captain in the third Massachusetts regiment; settled as a merchant in Pittsfield, Mass., in 1784; a representative in the general court in 1791; county treasurer; served in the war of 1812 as colonel of the ninth United States infantry, and was engaged at Plattsburg and along the Mohawk river; elected to the Eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thompson J. Skinner, and served from November 5, 1804, to March 3, 1805; died in Pittsfield, Mass., November 16, 1817.

Larrabee, Charles Hathaway, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Rome, N. Y., November 9, 1820; moved with parents to Ohio; attended Granville college, studied engineering and law, was admitted to the bar in 1841, and commenced practice in Pontotoc, Miss.; moved to Chicago, Ill., in 1844; city attorney 1846–1847; moved to Horicon, Wis. Ter., in 1847; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1847; judge of the third judicial circuit and of the state supreme court 1848–1858; resigned; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); defeated for the Thirty-seventh Congress; served in the Union army April 17, 1861, to his resignation, September, 1863, and was promoted from lieutenant to colonel; moved to California in 1864, and practiced law there, in Salem, Oreg., and Seattle, Wash., and finally in San Bernardino, Cal.; died in Los Angeles, Cal., January 20, 1883.

Larrinaga, Tulio, Resident Commissioner from Porto Rico; born in Trujillo Alto, Porto Rico, January 15, 1847; attended the Seminario Consilar of San Ildefonso, at San Juan; studied civil engineering in the Polytechnic institute of Troy, N. Y., and the University of Philadelphia, where he graduated in 1871; practiced for some time in the states, taking part in the topographical map of Kings county (Brooklyn) and in the technical department of Badger & Co. in the construction of the grand central depot in New York City; returned to Porto Rico in 1872 and was appointed architect for the city of San Juan; built the first railroad in Porto Rico in 1880, and introduced American rolling stock in the island; was for ten years chief engineer of the provincial works; in 1898 was appointed assistant secretary of the interior under the autonomic government, and in 1900 was sent by his party as a Delegate to Washington; in 1902 was elected member of the house of delegates for the district of Arecibo, and in 1904 Resident Commissioner to Washington in the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911); resumed civil engineering in San Juan, P. R.

La Sere, Emile, a Representative from Louisiana; native of that state; born in 1802; completed preparatory studies; located in New Orleans; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Slidell; reelected to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses, and served from January 29, 1846, to March 3, 1851; died August 14, 1882.

Lash, Israel George, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Bethania, N. C., August 18, 1810; became a merchant, manufacturer, and a banker in Salem, N. C., in 1847; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); died in Salem, N. C., April 1, 1878.

Lassiter, Francis Rives, a Representative from Virginia; born in Petersburg, Va., February 18, 1866; was graduated from several academic schools, and attended the University of Virginia 1883–1884; studied law, was admitted to the Suffolk bar, Boston, Mass., 1887, and to the Virginia bar in 1888, and continued to practice in Petersburg, Va.; member of the Virginia Democratic state central committee; elected city attorney of Petersburg in 1888, 1890, and 1892; presidential elector 1892; appointed United States attorney for the eastern district of Virginia in 1893, and resigned in 1896; appointed supervisor for the twelfth census for the fourth district of Virginia in 1899; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Sydney P. Eppes; reelected to the Fifty-seventh Congress, and served from April 28, 1900, to March 3, 1903; again elected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1907, until his death in Petersburg, Va., October 31, 1909.

Digitized by Google

Latham, George Robert, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Prince William county, Va., March 9, 1832; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1859, and commenced practice in Grafton, W. Va.; served in the Union army as captain of volunteers; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); United States consul at Melbourne, Australia, 1867–1870; school superintendent of Upshur county, W. Va., September 1, 1875, to August 31, 1877; a resident of Buckhannon, W. Va., and retired.

Latham, Louis Charles, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Plymouth, N. C., September 11, 1840; was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1859, and then attended Harvard law school; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Greenville, N. C.; entered the Confederate army in 1861, and made captain, and afterwards major, of the first North State troops; elected to the state house of commons in 1864, and to the state senate in 1870; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); reelected to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); resumed the practice of law in Greenville, N. C.; died in the Johns Hopkins university hospital, Baltimore, Md., October 16, 1895.

Latham, Milton Slocum, a Representative and a Senator from California; born in Columbus, Ohio, May 23, 1827; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Jefferson college, Pennsylvania, in 1845; moved to Russell county, Ala.; taught school and studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1848, and appointed circuit court clerk for Russell county; moved to San Francisco, Cal., in 1849; clerk of the recorder's court in 1850; district attorney for the Sacramento district in 1851; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); declined a renomination; collector of the port of San Francisco 1855–1857; elected governor in 1859; inaugurated in January, 1860, and resigned three days later; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of David C. Broderick, and served from January 11, 1860, to March 3, 1863; engaged in the practice of law in San Francisco, Cal.; president of the bank of California; died in New York City March 4, 1882.

Lathrop, Samuel, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in West Springfield, Hampden county, Mass., May 1, 1772; pursued classical studies and was graduated from Yale college in 1792; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in West Springfield; elected to the Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1827); state senator for ten years and president of the state senate 1829–1830; died in West Springfield, Mass., July 11, 1846.

Lathrop, William, a Representative from Illinois; born in Genesee county, N. Y., April 17, 1825; attended the public schools; moved to Illinois; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1851, and commenced practice in Rockford, Ill.; state representative in 1856; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); died November 18, 1907.

Latimer, Asbury Churchill, a Representative and a Senator from South Carolina; born near Lowndesville, Abbeville county, S. C., July 31, 1851; engaged in agricultural pursuits; attended the common schools; took an active part in the memorable campaign of 1876; removed to Belton, Anderson county, S. C., in 1880; devoted himself to farming; county chairman of the Democratic party 1890–1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1903); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1903, until his death in Washington, D. C., February 20, 1908.

Latimer, Henry, a Representative and a Senator from Delaware; born in Newport, Del., April 24, 1752; pursued classical studies; studied medicine in Philadelphia, Pa., was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1773, and from the Edinburgh (Scotland) medical college, in 1775; returned to the United States and practiced in Wilmington, Del.; served as a surgeon in the Revolutionary war, attached to the "flying squadron;" member of the state house of representatives; successfully contested the election of John Patton, to the Third Congress, and served from February 14, 1794, until February 7, 1795, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George Read; reelected and served from February 7, 1795, until 1801, when he resigned; died in Philadelphia, Pa., December 19, 1819.

Latta, James P., a Representative from Nebraska; born near Ashland, Ohio, October 31, 1844; moved with parents to a farm in eastern Iowa in 1846; attended district schools, and engaged in farming; moved to the territory of Nebraska, and engaged in farming and stock-raising in Burt county; president of the first National bank of Tekamah, Nebr.; member of the state house of representatives in 1887, and of the state senate in 1909; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911.) Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress. (Died near Tekamah, Nebr., September 11, 1911.)

Lattimore, William, a Delegate from Mississippi Territory; born in Norfolk, Va., February 9, 1774; attended the common schools; studied medicine; moved to Mississippi; elected to the Eighth and Ninth Congresses, and served from October 17, 1803, to March 3, 1807; reelected to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); delegate in the first state constitutional convention of Mississippi in 1817; appointed a censor of the medical profession under the constitution and code; one of the commissioners to select the site for the seat of the new state government; died in Amite county, Miss., April 3, 1843.

Digitized by Google

Laurance, John, a Delegate, a Representative, and a Senator from New York; born in Cornwall, England, in 1750; came to New York City in 1767; pursued academic studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1772, and practiced in New York City; served in the Revolution as a commissioned officer in the first New York regiment, and became aid-de-camp to Gen. Washington in October, 1777; presided as judge advocate general at the trial of Major John André; regent of the University of the State of New York, November 26, 1784; trustee of Columbia college 1784–1810; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1785–1787; state senator in 1789; elected to the First and Second Congresses (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1793); appointed by President Washington United States judge of the district of New York May 5, 1794, and served until November 8, 1796, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Rufus King, and served from November 9, 1796, to August, 1800, when he resigned; was elected President of the Senate pro tempore December 6, 1798; died in New York City November 11, 1810.

Laurens, Henry, a Delegate from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., in 1724; studied in England; upon returning entered the mercantile business; served as a major against the Cherokee Indians 1757–1761; president of the council of safety in 1774; member of the first provincial congress in 1775; vice president of South Carolina in 1776; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1777–1780; president of the Congress 1777–1778; elected minister to Holland by the Continental Congress October 21, 1779; captured on the voyage and held a prisoner in the Tower of London for fifteen months; was exchanged for Lord Cornwallis in 1781; appointed one of the peace commissioners and signed the preliminary treaty of Paris November 30, 1782; returned to farming in South Carolina, and died in Charleston, S. C., December 8, 1792.

Law, Charles Blakeslee, a Representative from New York; born in Hannibal, N. Y., February 5, 1872; was graduated from Colgate academy, Hamilton, N. Y., in 1891, and from Amherst college, Amherst, Mass., in 1895; studied law in Rome, N. Y., and in Cornell law school; was admitted to the bar in Rochester, N. Y., November, 1897; moved to Brooklyn and commenced practice; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in the borough of Brooklyn, New York City; elected sheriff of Kings county.

Law, John, a Representative from Indiana; born in New London, Conn., October 28, 1796; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale college in 1814; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1817, and commenced practice in Vincennes, Ind.; member of the state house of representatives in 1823; prosecuting attorney and judge of the local circuit several years; land-office receiver 1838–1842; judge of the court of land claims 1855–1857; moved to Evansville, Ind.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1865); died in Evansville, Ind., October 7, 1873.

Law, Lyman, a Representative from Connecticut; born in New London, Conn., August 19, 1770; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale collge in 1791; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1793 and practiced in New London; speaker of the state house of representatives; elected as a Federalist to the Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1817); died in New London, Conn., February 3, 1842.

Law, Richard, a Delegate from Connecticut; born in Milford, Conn., March 17, 1733; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Yale college in 1751; studied law, was admitted to the bar in New Haven, Conn., in 1754, and practiced in Milford 1754–1757, and thereafter in New London; chief judge of the county court and of the superior court in 1784; member of the governor's council 1776–1786; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1778 and 1783–1784; mayor of New London 1784–1806; judge of the supreme court of Connecticut 1784–1789, and was appointed chief justice of the superior court in May, 1786; appointed by President Washington United States district judge for Connecticut September 24, 1789, and served until his death, in New London, Conn., January 26, 1806.

Lawler, Frank, a Representative from Illinois; born in Rochester, N. Y., June 25, 1842; attended public schools; learned the trade of shipbuilder; employed in the Chicago post office 1869–1877; member of the city council 1876–1885; in business as a liquor merchant in 1878; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1891); died in Chicago, Ill., January 17, 1896.

Lawler, Joab, a Representative from Alabama; born in Monroe county, N. C., June 12, 1796; moved with his father to Tennessee, and then to Mississippi territory in 1815; attended the public schools; studied theology, and was licensed to preach; moved to Mardisville, Ala., in 1820; state representative 1826–1831, and state senator 1831–1832; receiver of public moneys for the Coosa land district 1832–1835; treasurer of the University of Alabama 1833–1836; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1834, until his death in Washington, D. C., May 8, 1838.

Lawrence, Abbott, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Groton, Mass., December 16, 1792; attended Groton academy; became a merchant and importer in Boston; member of the Boston common council in 1831; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); reelected to the Twenty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1839, to September 18, 1840, when he resigned; northeast boundary commissioner in 1842; delegate in the Whig national convention in Baltimore in May, 1844; declined the offer of cabinet position tendered by President Taylor; temporarily appointed by President Taylor United States minister to Great Britain August 20, 1849; reappointed January 4, 1850, confirmed June 24, 1850, and served to October, 1852, when he resigned and resumed business in Boston; founded the Lawrence scientific school in Cambridge, Mass.; died in Boston, Mass., August 18, 1855.

Lawrence, Cornelius Van Wyck, a Representative from New York; born in Flushing, N. Y., February 28, 1791; attended the common schools; moved to New York City in 1812, and engaged in mercantile business; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress, and served from March 4, 1833, to May, 1834, when he resigned; mayor of New York City 1834–1836; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1836; collector of the port of New York City 1837–1839; director in several banks and trust companies; collector of customs in New York City 1845–1849; died in Flushing, N. Y., February 20, 1851.

Digitized by Google

Lawrence, Effingham, a Representative from Louisiana; successfully contested the seat of Jay Hale Sypher in the Forty-third Congress and was seated March 3, 1875, the last day of the session; died in 1878.

Lawrence George Pelton, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Adams, Mass., May 19, 1859; was graduated from Drury academy in 1876, and from Amherst college in 1880; studied law in the Columbia law school; was admitted to the bar in 1883, and practiced in North Adams; appointed judge of the district court of northern Berkshire in 1885; resigned in 1894 upon being elected to the Massachusetts senate; member of the Massachusetts senate 1895–1897, and served as president of that body 1896–1897; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Lawrence, George Van Eman, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Washington county, Pa., November 13, 1818; attended the common schools and Washington college; elected to the state house of representatives in 1844 and 1847, and to the senate in 1848; reelected to the house of representatives in 1858, and again in 1859, and to the senate in 1860; presided over the senate in 1863; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); delegate to the constitutional convention of Pennsylvania in 1872; elected to the state senate under the new constitution in 1875, 1876, and 1878; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); again served two terms in the state legislature; died in Monongahela, Washington county, Pa., October 2, 1904.

Lawrence, John W., a Representative from New York; born in Flushing, N. Y., in 1800; state representative 1841–1842; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); died in Flushing, N. Y., December 20, 1888.

Lawrence, Joseph, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Adams county, Pa., in 1786; moved with his widowed mother to a farm in Washington county in 1789; attended the common schools; state representative for 1818–1824, and speaker for two sessions; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); again a representative in the state legislature 1834–1836; state treasurer in 1837; reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress, and served from March 4, 1841, until his death in Washington, D. C., April 17, 1842.

Lawrence, Samuel, a Representative from New York; located in Johnson's settlement; member of the state house of representatives 1808, 1817, and 1818; presidential elector in 1816; elected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825).

Lawrence, Sidney, a Representative from New York; born in Weybridge, Vt., December 31, 1801; moved with parents to Moira, Franklin county, N. Y., in early childhood; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Moira, N. Y.; was justice of the peace for more than fifty years; surrogate of Franklin county 1837–1843; state senator 1843–1844; member of the state house of representatives in 1846; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); resumed law practice and the real estate business; died in Moira, N. Y., May 9, 1892.

Lawrence, William, a Representative from Ohio; born in Washington, Ohio, September 2, 1814; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Jefferson college, Pennsylvania, in 1835, farmer and merchant; state representative in 1843; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1848; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1850; state senator 1856–1857; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); again a state senator 1867 and 1885–1886; member of board of directors of Ohio penitentiary and president of the board; died in Washington, Ohio, September 8, 1895.

Lawrence, William, a Representative from Ohio; born in Mount Pleasant, Ohio, June 26, 1819; was graduated from Franklin college, Ohio, in 1838, and from the Cincinnati law school in 1840, and practiced in Bellefontaine, Ohio, 1840–1899; editor of the Logan Gazette and the Western Law Monthly bankrupt commissioner of Logan county in 1842 and prosecuting attorney of Logan county in 1845; state representative 1846–1847 and state senator 1848–1853; supreme court reporter; judge of the court of common pleas and of the district court 1857–1864; entered the Union army in 1862 as colonel of the eighty-fourth Ohio infantry volunteers; appointed United States judge in Florida in 1863; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1871); reelected to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1877); first comptroller of the United States Treasury 1880–1885; died in Kenton, Ohio, May 8, 1899; interment in Bellefontaine, Ohio.

Lawrence, William Thomas, a Representative from New York; born in New York City May 7, 1788; attended the common schools; engaged in mercantile pursuits; served in the war of 1812; moved to Cayuga county in 1823 and became a farmer; justice of the peace in 1838; judge of Tompkins county; elected to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); died at his country home near Cayutaville, N. Y., October 25, 1859; interment in the borough of Queens, New York City.

Laws, Gilbert Lafayette, a Representative from Nebraska; born near Olney, Richland county, Ill., March 11, 1838; moved with his parents to Iowa county, Wis., in 1845; attended the common schools and Haskell university, Mazomanie, Wis., and Milton college, Milton, Wis.; taught school until 1861, when he enlisted in the fifth Wisconsin volunteer infantry; wounded in the battle of Williamsburg, Va., May 5, 1862; returned to Wisconsin and located in Richland county; elected clerk of that county in November, 1862; twice reelected; engaged in manufacturing; chairman of the county board of supervisors 1869–1870; member of the city council; elected mayor of Richland Center in 1870; postmaster 1869–1876, when he resigned and moved to Orleans, Nebr.; appointed register of the United States land office at McCook, Nebr., in 1883, and served until November 1, 1886; elected secretary of state of Nebraska, November 2, 1886, and in 1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Laird, and served from December 2, 1889, to March 3, 1891; moved to Enid, Okla., and engaged in the real estate business; returned to Lincoln, Nebr., in 1895; secretary of the state board of transportation 1896–1900; died in Lincoln, Nebr., April 26, 1906.

Digitized by Google

Lawson, John Daniel, a Representative from New York; born in Montgomery, N. Y., February 18, 1816; attended the public schools; importer in New York City; delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1868 and 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); charter member of the Union League club; died in New York City January 24, 1896.

Lawson, John William, a Representative from Virginia; born in James City county, Va., September 13, 1837; attended the schools of Williamsburg, William and Mary college, and the University of of Virginia; studied medicine and was graduated from the University of the city of New York March 4, 1861; returned to Virginia and enlisted in the thirty-second regiment Virginia infantry; served on the Peninsula; participated in the battle of Williamsburg and in the series of battles beginning with Seven Pines; entered the medical department; assistant surgeon in charge of artillery battalion; promoted to full surgeon March 10, 1864, and served until the surrender at Appomattox April 9, 1865; settled in Isle of Wight county, Va., December, 1865; practiced medicine for ten years; elected to the house of delegates and reelected; elected to the state senate; engaged in farming; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); died in Smithfield, Va., February 21, 1905.

Lawson, Thomas Graves, a Representative from Georgia; born in Putnam county, Ga., May 2, 1835; attended the common schools and was graduated from Mercer university in 1855; elected to the legislature in 1861, 1863, and 1865; member of the constitutional convention of 1877; elected judge of the superior courts of the Ocmulgee circuit, and served 1789–1887; engaged in farming near Eatonton, Ga., 1888–1891; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second, Fifty-third, and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1897); resumed agricultural pursuits in Putnam county, Ga.; died in Eatonton, Ga., April 16, 1912.

Lawyer, Thomas, a Representative from New York; born in Schoharie, N. Y., October 14, 1785; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Schoharie county many years; member of the state house of representatives in 1816; brigadier general of state militia; a presidential elector in 1824; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); district attorney of Schohaire county 1822–1831; presidential elector in 1824; was again a member of the state house of representatives in 1846; held several local offices; died in Lawyersville, Schoharie county, N. Y., May 21, 1868.

Lay, Alfred Morrison, a Representative from Missouri; born in Lewis county, Mo., May 20, 1836; moved with his parents to Boston county in 1842; attended private schools, and was graduated from Bethany college, Virginia, in 1856; studied law in Jefferson City, Mo., and was admitted to the bar in 1857; appointed United States district attorney for the western district of Missouri by President Buchanan, and served until his resignation in 1861; enlisted as a private in the Missouri state guard; was promoted to the rank of major; returned to Missouri when the command disbanded; was made a prisoner and confined in prison in Alton, Ill.; exchanged in 1862, and enlisted in the Confederate army, and served to the close of the war; resumed the practice of law in Jefferson City, Mo.; member of the state constitutional convention of 1875; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1879, until his death in Washington, D. C., December 8, 1879.

Lay, George Washington, a Representative from New York; born in Catskill, N. Y., December 26, 1798; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Hamilton college, New York, in 1817; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Batavia, N. Y.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); state representative in 1840; chargé d'affaires to Sweden May 12, 1842, to October 29, 1845; died in Batavia, N.Y., October 28, 1860.

Layton, Fernando Coello, a Representative from Ohio; born in Auglaize county, Ohio, April 11, 1847; attended the public schools and Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1869, and practiced in Wapakoneta, Ohio; county school examiner; prosecuting attorney of Auglaize county 1875–1878; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second, Fifty-third, and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Wapakoneta, Ohio; elected judge of the court of common pleas in 1908.

Lazear, Jesse, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Greene county, Pa., December, 12, 1804; received a limited schooling; held several local offices; bank cashier in Waynesburg, Pa., 1835–1867; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1865); delegate in the National Union convention in Philadelphia in 1866; died in Baltimore county, Md., September 2, 1877.

Lea, Luke, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Surry county, N. C., January 26, 1782; moved with parents to Tennessee in 1790; attended the common schools; commanded a regiment under Gen. Jackson in the Creek and Seminole wars in 1818; located in Campbells Station, Tenn., and held several minor offices; elected as a Union Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); secretary of state of Tennessee 1837–1839; appointed by President Taylor commissioner of Indian affairs June 14, 1850, to take effect July 1, 1850; was confirmed, but declined; appointed by President Fillmore Indian agent at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., September 23, 1850, and served until his death near Fort Leavenworth, Kans., June 17, 1851.

Lea, Pryor, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Knox county, Tenn., August 31, 1794; was graduated from Greeneville college; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1817, and commenced practice in Knoxville, Tenn.; served in the Creek war in 1813; United States attorney for Tennessee in 1824; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); defeated for the Twenty-second Congress; moved to Jackson, Miss., in 1836, and to Goliad, Tex., in 1846; engaged in railroad building and management; member of the Texas convention of February, 1861; died in Goliad, Tex., September 14, 1880.

Digitized by Google

Leach, De Witt Clinton, a Representative from Michigan; born in Clarence, Erie county, N. Y., November 22, 1822; moved with parents to Genesee county, Mich., in early youth; attended the common schools; member of the state house of representatives 1849–1850; located in Lansing, Mich., in 1841; editor of the Michigan State Republican several years; delegate in the constitutional convention of 1860; state librarian in 1855–1857; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); Indian agent for Michigan 1861–1865; located in Traverse City, Mich., in 1861 and published the Grand Traverse Herald for nine years; went to Springfield, Mo., in 1870, where he published the Patriot Advertiser; subsequently returned to Traverse City, Mich., and published the Northwest Farmer.

Leach, James Madison, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Randolph county, N. C., January 17, 1815; pursued classical studies; studied law, admitted to the bar in 1842, and practiced; member of the state house of commons 1848–1858; presidential elector on the American ticket in 1856; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); reelected as a Conservative to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); member of the Confederate congress 1864–1865; twice elected state senator; died in Lexington, N. C., June 1, 1891.

Leadbetter, Daniel Parkhurst, a Representative from Ohio; born in Pittsfield, Mass., September 10, 1797; moved to Ohio in 1816; first located in Jefferson county, where he studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1821; commissioned captain of militia in 1821; then in Holmes county, and was county recorder 1831–1836; elected as a Van Buren Democrat to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); member of the state constitutional convention of 1851; died in Millersburg, Ohio, February 26, 1870.

Leake, Eugene Walter, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Jersey City, N. J., July 13, 1877; attended Andover and the New York law school; was admitted to practice in New York and New Jersey; elected to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909).

Leake, Shelton Farrar, a Representative from Virginia; born in Albemarle county, Va., November 30, 1812; completed preparatory studies; taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1835, and commenced practice in Charlottesville; state representative in 1842; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1848; elected lieutenant governor in 1851; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847) and to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861).

Leake, Walter, a Senator from Mississippi; born in Virginia May 25, 1762; served in the Revolutionary war; studied law and was admitted to the bar; was appointed by President Jefferson one of the United States judges for Mississippi territory February 23, 1807, and moved to Hinds county, Miss.; elected to the United States Senate, and served from October 9, 1817, until his resignation in 1820; governor of Mississippi 1821–1825; died in Mount Salus, Miss., November 17, 1825.

Learned, Amasa, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Killingly, Conn., November 15, 1750; was graduated from Yale college in 1772; studied theology and received a license to preach; elected to the Second and Third Congresses (March 4, 1791–March 3, 1795); delegate in the constitutional convention of 1818, and a state representative for several terms; died in New London, Conn., May 4, 1825.

Leary, Cornelius Lawrence Ludlow, a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore Md., October 22, 1813; attended public schools, and was graduated from St. Mary's college, Baltimore, in 1833; moved to Louisville, Ky., and returned to Baltimore in 1837; Whig member of the state house of representatives 1838–1839; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1840, and practiced in Baltimore; presidential elector on the American ticket in 1856; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); resumed the practice of law in Baltimore, Md., and died there March 21, 1893.

Leavenworth, Elias Warner, a Representative from New York; born in Caanan, N. Y., December 20, 1803; moved with parents to Great Barrington, Mass.; attended the Hudson academy, and was graduated from Yale college in 1824; studied law in Great Barrington, and in the Litchfield (Conn.) law school 1825–1827; was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1827; appointed brigadier general of militia in 1836; president of Syracuse village 1839–1841 and 1846–1847, and mayor 1849–1850 and again in 1859–1860; member of the state house of representatives in 1850 and 1857; secretary of the state of New York 1854–1855; connected with local public corporations and several state commissions; commissioner for the United States under the convention with New Granada in Washington, D. C., 1861–1862; constitutional commissioner in 1872; member of the New York and New Jersey boundary line commission in 1875; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); died in Syracuse, N. Y., November 25, 1887.

Leavitt, Humphrey Howe, a Representative from Ohio; born in Suffield, Conn., June 18, 1796; moved with parents to the Northwest territory in 1800, and located in what became Trumbull county, Ohio; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1817, and commenced practice in Cadiz, but soon removed to Steubenville; state representative 1825–1826; state senator 1827–1828; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John M. Goodenow; reelected to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses and served from December 6, 1830, until July 10, 1834, when he resigned; appointed by President Jackson United States district judge for Ohio June 28, 1834, and served until March 31, 1871, when he resigned; located in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1855, when the state was divided into two Federal districts; returned to Springfield in 1871; was a member of the world's convention on prison reform in London in 1872; died in Springfield, Ohio, March 15, 1873.

Digitized by Google

Le Blond, Francis Celeste, a Representative from Ohio; was born in Bellville, Ohio, February 14, 1821; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Celina, Ohio; state representative 1851–1855; speaker of the house 1854–1855; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); died in Celina, Ohio, November 9, 1902.

Lecompte, Joseph, a Representative from Kentucky; was a native of Woodford county, Ky.; located in New Castle; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1833).

Lee, Arthur, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Stratford, Va., December 20, 1740; attended Eton college, England; studied medicine in the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, and was graduated in 1765; after traveling in Europe commenced practice in Williamsburg, Va.; went to London in 1776, and studied law in Temple Bar 1776–1780; was admitted, and practiced in London 1770–1776; commissioned as Massachusetts's agent in England and France; appointed correspondent of Congress in London in 1775; commissioner to France 1776 and to Spain 1777; returned to Virginia in 1780; state representative in 1781; delegate in the Continental Congress 1781–1784; member of the Treasury board 1785–1789; died in Urbana, Middlesex county, Va., December 12, 1792.

Lee, Francis Lightfoot, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Stratford, Va., October 14, 1734; pursued classical studies; member of the house of burgesses 1765–1772; signed the Westmoreland declaration against the stamp act; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1775–1780; a signer of the Declaration of Independence; member of the state senate; died in Richmond county, Va., April 3, 1797.

Lee, Gideon, a Representative from New York; born in Amherst, Mass., April 27, 1778; attended the common schools; learned the trade of shoemaker, and engaged in business in Worthington, Mass.; moved to New York City in 1807, and engaged in the leather business; state representative in 1822; alderman in 1828, 1829, and 1830; mayor in 1833; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); a presidential elector; died in Geneva, N. Y., August 21, 1841.

Lee, Gordon, a Representative from Georgia; born near Ringgold, Catoosa county, Ga., May 29, 1859; attended country schools, and was graduated from Emery college, Oxford, Ga., in 1880; became a farmer, and also engaged in manufacturing in Chickamauga, Ga.; member of the state house of representatives 1894–1895; member of the state senate 1902–1904; member of the state memorial board; elected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911); member of the National Forest Reservation commission, created by the act of March 1, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Lee, Henry, a Delegate and a Representative from Virginia; born in Prince William county, Va., January 29, 1756; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1773; served in the Revolutionary war; commissioned captain of a company of Virginia dragoons June 18, 1776, that became attached to and part of the first Continental dragoons March 31, 1777; by a special act of Congress, April 7, 1778, in recognition of his brave and distinguished services, was promoted to a major commandant and authorized to augment his corps by the enlistment of two troops of horse; by the act of September 24, 1799, was given the thanks of Congress "for remarkable prudence, address, and bravery displayed in the attack on the enemy's fort and work at Powles's Hook," and in terms approved his humanity and granted him a gold medal; his battalion was designated "Lee's partisan corps" by act of October 21, 1780; lieutenant colonel November 6, 1780, and served until the close of the war; commissioned major general United States army July 19, 1798; honorably discharged June 15, 1800; became universally known as "Light Horse Harry"; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1785–1788; advocated the adoption of the Federal constitution in the Virginia convention of 1788; governor 1792–1795; commanded the Virginia forces in the whisky insurrection; elected as a Federalist to the Sixth Congress (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1801); at request of Congress pronounced the eulogy upon President Washington before both branches of Congress, in which Washington is characterized as the man "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen"; died in Cumberland Island, Georgia, March 25, 1818.

Lee, John, a Representative from Maryland; born at "Blenheim," the family estate in Maryland, January 30, 1788; prusued classical studies under private tutors; held several local offices; was elected as a Federalist to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825); was chairman of the House committee appointed to escort the Marquis de Lafayette from Frederick City to Washington in 1825; followed closely the political fortunes of Henry Clay after his congressional service; moved to Washington, D. C., died in the home of his son, Dr. Lee, in New York City, May 17, 1871.

Lee, Joshua, a Representative from New York; born in Penn Yan, N. Y.; state representative in 1833; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837).

Lee, M. Lindley, a Representative from New York; born in Minisink, N. Y., May 29, 1805; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Union college in 1827, and from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of western New York in 1830; practiced medicine in Fulton, N. Y.; postmaster 1840–1844; member of the state house of representatives in 1847 and 1848; served in the state senate in 1855; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); resumed the practice of medicine in Fulton, N. Y.

Lee, Richard Bland, a Representative from Virginia; born in Leesylvania, Va., January 20, 1761; pursued English and classical studies in private schools; member of the Virginia assembly in 1784, and for several terms thereafter; elected to the First, Second, and Third Congresses (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1795); died in Leesylvania, Va., March 12, 1827.

Lee, Richard Henry, a Delegate and a Senator from Virginia; born in Stratford, Va., January 20, 1732; after a course of private instruction attended

Digitized by Google

Wakefield academy, England; returned in 1751; justice of the peace for Westmoreland county in 1757; delegate in the house of burgesses 1761–1788; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1780, and served as President in 1784; a signer of the Declaration of Independence; brought forward the resolution, in accord with instructions given in the Virginia convention of May 17, 1776, declaring "that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states," etc.; served in the state legislature; colonel of militia; again a Delegate in the Continental Congress in 1787; member of the Virginia convention of 1788; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1789, until his resignation in 1792; died in Chantilly, Va. June, 19, 1794.

Lee, Silas, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Concord, Mass., July 3, 1760; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Harvard college in 1784; studied law and was admitted to the bar; state representative in 1793, 1797, and 1798; elected as a Federalist to the Sixth and Seventh Congresses, and served from March 4, 1799, until August 20, 1801, when he resigned; appointed by President Jefferson United States attorney for the district of Maine January 6, 1802, and served until his death; justice of the peace and of the quorum in 1803; probate judge 1805–1814; chief judge of the common pleas court in 1810; died in Wiscasset, Me., March 1, 1814.

Lee, Thomas, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Philadelphia, Pa., November 28, 1780; resided with parents in Chester valley, Pa., during his earlier years, and attended the common schools; removed to Port Elizabeth, Cumberland county, N. J., about 1800, and became a merchant, shipbuilder, and landowner; judge of the court of common pleas 1813–1815; member of the state general assembly 1814–1815; postmaster of Port Elizabeth 1818–1833, and 1846–1849; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); founder of Port Elizabeth library and academy; died in Port Elizabeth, N. J., November 2, 1856.

Lee, Thomas Sim, a Delegate from Maryland; born in Prince George's county, Md., October 29, 1744; completed preparatory studies; held several local offices; member of the executive council in 1777; governor 1779–1783 and 1792–1794; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1783–1784, and in the state convention for the ratification of the Federal constitution in 1788; elected to the United States Senate in 1794, but declined; died in Needwood, Frederick county, Md., November 9, 1819.

Lee, William Henry Fitzhugh, a Representative from Virginia; born in the "Lee mansion," Arlington (now National cemetery), Va., May 31, 1837; in 1857 entered Harvard college, but left in 1857; appointed second lieutenant in the sixth regiment United States infantry, and accompanied his regiment in 1858 in the expedition to Utah; resigned in 1859; returned to Virginia and took charge of his estates in the county of New Kent; in 1861 raised a company of cavalry and joined the Confederate service, and was promoted successively from captain to major general of cavalry; wounded at Brandy Station in June, 1863; captured in Hanover county and taken to Fortress Monroe; transferred to United States prison at Fort Lafayette in 1863, where he was confined until March, 1864, when he was transferred to Fortress Monroe and exchanged; returned to his command and served throughout the campaign of 1864, until the surrender at Appomattox; returned to his plantation; member of the state senate for one term; removed to Burke Station, Va.; president of the state agricultural society; engaged in agricultural pursuits; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); died in Ravensworth, Va., October 15, 1891.

Leedom, John Peter, a Representative from Ohio; born in Adams county, Ohio, December 20, 1847; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Smith's mercantile college in 1868; taught public school; engaged in farming; elected clerk of the court of common pleas of Adams county in 1874 and reelected in 1877; member of the Democratic state central committee in 1879; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); sergeant-at-arms of the House of Representatives 1884–1886; died in Toledo, Ohio, March 18, 1895.

Leet, Isaac, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Washington, Pa., in 1802; pursued preparatory studies, and was graduated from Washington and Jefferson college in 1822; treasurer of Washington county 1826–1830; deputy attorney general 1830–1834; member of the state senate 1834–1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); defeated for the Twenty-seventh Congress; died in Washington, Pa., June 11, 1844.

Le Fever, Jacob, a Representative from New York; born in New Paltz, N. Y., April 20, 1830; attended New Paltz academy and Amenia seminary; supervisor of the town 1861–1862; member of the state assembly 1863, 1864, 1865, and 1867; delegate in Republican state conventions; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1888; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); died in New Paltz, N. Y., February 4, 1905.

Le Fever, Joseph, a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813).

Le Fevre, Benjamin, a Representative from Ohio; born in Maplewood, Shelby county, Ohio, October 8, 1838; attended Miami university 1858–1859; studied law in Sidney, Ohio; enlisted in the Union army in 1861 and served until the close of the war; mustered out as major of the fiftieth Ohio infantry; elected to the state legislature in 1865; nominated in 1866 for secretary of state by the Democrats of Ohio; appointed by President Johnson United States consul at Nuremberg, Germany, April 19, 1867; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1887); retired, and a resident of Maplewood, Shelby county, Ohio.

Le Fevre, Frank Jacob, a Representative from New York; born in New Paltz, Ulster county, N. Y., November 30, 1874; attended the public schools, and the New Paltz normal school; engaged in the banking business; state senator in 1902; appointed superintendent of the New York state building at St. Louis during the fair of the Louisiana purchase exposition; elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1907); a resident of New Paltz, N. Y., and engaged in banking.

Digitized by Google

Lefferts, John, a Representative from New York; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., December 17, 1785; attended the public schools; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); delegate in the constitutional convention of 1821; member of the state senate 1820–1825; died in Brooklyn, N. Y., September 18, 1829.

Leffler, Isaac, a Representative from Virginia; born in Washington county, Pa., November 7, 1788; attended public schools, and was graduated from Jefferson college, Pa.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Wheeling, Va. (now West Virginia); state representative 1817–1825; elected to the Twentieth Congress as a Representative from Virginia (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); moved to that portion of Michigan territory that is now Des Moines county, Iowa, in 1835; after the creation of Wisconsin territory, April 20, 1836, represented Des Moines county in the first legislature of the new territory 1836–1837; admitted to the Des Moines county bar April 15, 1835, and practiced; chief justice of the first judicial tribunal of Des Moines county April 11, 1836; member of the house of representatives of the Territory of Iowa in 1841; appointed by President Tyler United States marshal for the district of Iowa December 18, 1843, confirmed January 16, 1844, and removed by President Polk December 29, 1845; appointed by President Fillmore receiver of public moneys for the Chariton, Iowa, land district August 30, 1852, and removed by President Pierce March 29, 1853.

Leffler, Shepherd, a Representative from Iowa; native of Pennsylvania; pursued an academic course; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Burlington, Iowa; engaged in agricultural pursuits; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); defeated as a Democrat for governor in 1875.

Leftwich, Jabez, a Representative from Virginia; born in Caroline county, Va., in 1766; moved with parents to Bedford county in 1770; attended the common schools; inspector general with the rank of colonel on the staff of his brother, Gen. Joel Leftwich, in the Revolution; represented Bedford county in the state legislature 1812–1821; elected to the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1825); defeated for the Nineteenth Congress; removed to Madison county, Ala., in 1825; member of the Alabama legislature; died near Huntsville, Ala., June 22, 1855.

Leftwich, John William, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Liberty, Bedford county, Va., September 7, 1826; attended the public schools; studied medicine, and was graduated from the Philadelphia medical college in 1850; moved to Memphis, Tenn., and engaged in mercantile pursuits; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-ninth Congress, following the readmission of Tennessee into the Union, and served from July 24, 1866, to March 3, 1867; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1868; was reelected to the Forty-second Congress, but died while on his way to Washington, in Lynchburg, Va., March 6, 1871.

Legarda, Benito, Resident Commissioner from Philippine Islands; born in Manila, P. I., September 27, 1853; attended the Jesuits' college and St. Thomas university of Manila; member of Aguinaldo's cabinet at Malolos and vice president of the Filipino congress; resigned these positions to return to Manila in December, 1898; cooperated in the establishment of peace during and after the war between the Filipinos and Americans; was appointed by President McKinley a member of the Philippine commission February 1, 1901; elected by the Philippine legislature a commissioner to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Legare, George Swinton, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Rockville, Charleston (formerly Berekeley) county, in 1870; was graduated from the Porter academy; Charleston, in 1889; attended the University of South Carolina for two years, and was graduated from Georgetown university law school, Washington, D. C., in 1893; commenced practice in Charleston, S. C.; elected corporation counsel in 1898, and reelected for four consecutive years, and served until his resignation; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Legaré, Hugh Swinton, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., January 2, 1789; was graduated from the college of South Carolina in 1814; studied law 1814–1816; was admitted to the bar in Charleston, S. C., in 1822; state representative 1820–1822 and 1824–1830; attorney general of South Carolina 1830–1832; became editor of the Southern Review; chargé d'affaires to Brussels 1832–1836; elected as a Union Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); defeated for the Twenty-sixth Congress; returned to law practice in Charleston; Attorney General of the United States in President Tyler's cabinet from September 13, 1841, until his death; also filled the office of Secretary of State, ad interim, from May 9, 1843, to the time of his death in Boston, Mass., June 20, 1843.

Lehlbach, Herman, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Baden, Germany, July 3, 1845; pursued an academic course and became a civil engineer; came with parents to the United States and located in Newark, N. J.; member of the house of assembly of New Jersey in 1884; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1891); died in Newark, N. J., January 11, 1904.

Lehman, William Eckart, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., August 21, 1821; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1841; studied law and was admitted to the bar; appointed post-office examiner for Pennsylvania and New York by President Polk; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); United States provost marshal 1863–1865; died in Atlantic City, N. J., July 10, 1895.

Leib, Michael, a Representative and a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., January 8, 1760; attended the common schools; studied medicine in the University of Pennsylvania, and practiced in Philadelphia; served during the Revolutionary war as surgeon of Eyre's battalion of Philadelphia militia; state representative; elected as a Democrat to the Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1799, until February 14, 1806, when he resigned; member of the committee of correspondence on the Chesapeake affair, July 1, 1807; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1808; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel Maclay, and served from December 13, 1808, to February 14, 1814, when he resigned; postmaster of Philadelphia 1817–1822; died in Philadelphia, Pa., December 28, 1822.

Digitized by Google

Leib, Owen D., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of that state; pursued classical studies; studied medicine, and commenced practice in Catawissa, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); died in Catawissa, Pa., June 17, 1848.

Leidy, Paul, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Hemlock township, Columbia county, Pa., November 13, 1813; attended the common schools; tailor's apprentice; taught school; studied law and was admitted to the bar; commenced practice in Danville, Pa.; district attorney for five years; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); died in Danville, Pa., September 11, 1877.

Leigh, Benjamin Watkins, a Senator from Virginia; born in Chesterfield county, Va., June 18, 1781; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1802; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Petersburg, Va.; moved to Richmond, Va., in 1813; state representative for several terms, and prepared the revised code of 1819; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1829–1830; official reporter of the state court of appeals 1829–1841; elected as Whig to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William C. Rives; reelected, and served from February 26, 1834, to July 4, 1836, when he resigned; died in Richmond, Va., February 2, 1849.

Leighty, Jacob D., a Representative from Indiana; born in Westmoreland county, Pa., October 15, 1839; moved with his parents to Dekalb county, Ind., in 1844; attended the common schoool, and Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio; enlisted in the Union army in July, 1861, as a member of company E, eleventh Indiana volunteer infantry; promoted to second lieutenant and to first lieutenant; severely wounded at Champion Hills, Miss., May 16, 1863; resigned in 1864; engaged in general merchandising and in manufacturing enterprises in St. Joseph, Ind.; elected to the Indiana house of representatives in 1886; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); United States pension agent at Indianapolis 1897–1901; a banker and horticulturist of St. Joseph, Ind.

Leiper, George Gray, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Delaware county, Pa., February 3, 1786; attended the common schools, and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1803; engaged in stone quarrying; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831); for several years associate judge of the courts of Delaware county; died in "Leipidia," Leiperville, Pa., November 17, 1868.

Leisenring, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ashton (now Lansford), Carbon county, Pa., June 3, 1853; attended Schwartz's academy, Bethlehem, Pa., and academies in Merchantville and Princeton, N. J.; became a civil and mining engineer; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897; died in Philadelphia, Pa., January 19, 1901.

Leiter, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from Ohio; born in Leitersburg, Md., October 13, 1813; received a limited schooling; taught school in Maryland 1830–1834; moved to Ohio, and taught school 1834–1042; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1842, and commenced practice in Canton, Ohio; justice of the peace; mayor for ten years; state representative 1848 and speaker of the house 1849; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1859); died in Canton, Ohio, June 17, 1866.

Le Moyne, John Valcoulon, a Representative from Illinois; born in Washington county, Pa., November 17, 1828; was graduated from Washington college in 1847; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1852; moved to Chicago the same year; defeated as a Liberal candidate for the Forty-third Congress; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); defeated for the Forty-fifth Congress; a retired resident of Melvale, Baltimore county, Md.

Lenahan, John T., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in the township of Jenkins, Luzerne county, Pa., November 15, 1852; was graduated from Villanova college in 1870; studied law in Wilkes-Barre; delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1892 and 1896; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Lenroot, Irvine Luther, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Superior, Wis., January 31, 1869; received a common-school training; became a court reporter; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1897, and practiced in Superior; elected to the Wisconsin legislature in 1900, 1902, and 1904; speaker of the assembly in 1903 and 1905; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Lent, James W., a Representative from New York; born in Newton, N. Y., in 1772; merchant of New York City; first judge of Queens county and served from February 5, 1823, to March 4, 1829; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses, and served from March 4, 1829, until his death, in Washington, D. C., February 22, 1833; interment in Congressional cemetery.

Lentz, John Jacob, a Representative from Ohio; born near St. Clairsville, Belmont county, Ohio, January 27, 1856; attended common school and the St. Clairsville high school; taught school for four years, and was graduated from the National normal university, Lebanon, Ohio, in 1877; attended the University of Wooster 1877–1878, and was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1882, and from the law department of Columbia college, New York City, in 1883; admitted to the bar in Columbus, Ohio, in October, 1883; trustee of Ohio university; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1901); defeated for the Fifty-seventh Congress; resumed the practice of law in Columbus, Ohio.

Digitized by Google

Leonard, Fred C., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Elmer, Potter county, Pa., February 16, 1856; attended the public schools, the State normal school at Mansfield, Pa., Williston seminary, Easthampton, Mass., and was graduated from Yale college in 1883; studied law in Wellsboro, Pa., and was admitted to the bar in 1885; moved to Elmira, N. Y., and then to Coudersport, Pa., in 1887, and practiced law; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Coudersport, Pa.

Leonard, George, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Norton, Mass., July 4, 1729; was graduated from Harvard college in 1748; register of probate 1749–1783; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1750, and commenced practice; member of the provincial assembly 1764–1766; executive councilor 1770–1775; judge of the probate court 1784–1790; elected to the First Congress (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1791); reelected to the Fourth Congress (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1797); judge of the common pleas court 1785–1798, and chief justice 1798–1804; state senator 1792–1793, and state representative 1801–1802; died in Raynham, Mass., July 26, 1819.

Leonard, John Edwards, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Chester county, Pa., September 22, 1845; was graduated from Phillips Exeter academy, and from Harvard college in 1867; studied law in Germany; commenced practice in Louisiana; district attorney; judge of the state supreme court; resumed the practice of law in Monon, La.; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress and served from March 4, 1877, until his death in Habana, Cuba, March 15, 1878.

Leonard, Moses Gage, a Representative from New York; born in Stafford, Conn., July 10, 1809; attended the public schools; moved to New York City; city alderman in 1840, 1841, and 1842; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); defeated for the Twenty-ninth Congress; commissioner of immigration at the port of New York; died in Brooklyn, N. Y., March 20, 1899.

Leonard, Stephen Banks, a Representative from New York; born in New York City April 15, 1793; attended the public schools; moved with parents to Oswego, N. Y., and learned the printer's trade; publisher and editor of the Owego Gazette 1814–1835; established the first stage route from Owego to Bath in 1816; postmaster of Owego 1816–1849; supervisor 1854–1856; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); reelected to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); deputy United States marshal 1857–1861; died in Oswego, N. Y., May 8, 1876.

Lessler, Montague, a Representative from New York; born in New York City January 1, 1869; attended the public schools, and was graduated from the College of the city of New York in 1889; later was graduated from the Columbia law school, was admitted to the bar in 1891, and practiced in New York City; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Nicholas Muller, and served from January 15, 1902, to March 3, 1903; resumed the practice of law in New York City.

Lester, Posey Green, a Representative from Virginia; born in Floyd county, Va., March 12, 1850; attended the common schools; engaged in teaching, and studied theology; ordained a minister in the primitive or old school Baptist church in 1876; traveled and preached in eighteen states; associate editor of Zion's Landmark in 1883; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1901); resumed ministerial relations in Floyd, Va.

Lester, Rufus Ezekiel, a Representative from Georgia; born in Burke county, Ga., December 12, 1837; was graduated from Mercer university, Georgia, 1857; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Savannah, Ga., and commenced practice in 1859; entered the military service of the Confederate army in 1861, and served throughout the war; resumed practice of law in Savannah; state senator 1870–1879, and president of the senate during the last three years; mayor of Savannah 1883–1889; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first, and to the eight succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1899, until his death in Washington, D. C., June 16, 1906.

Letcher, John, a Representative from Virginia; born in Lexington, Rockbridge county, Va., March 29, 1813; attended Washington college and Randolph-Macon college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lexington, Va., in 1839; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1848; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1850; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1859); governor of Virginia 1860–1864; prominent in organization of the peace congress that met in Washington February 8, 1861; discouraged secession, but was active in sustaining the ordnance passed by Virginia April 17, 1861; after the war, and the expiration of his term as governor, resumed the practice of law in Lexington; member of the state legislature 1876–1877; member of board of visitors of the Virginia military institute 1866–1880, and president of the board ten years; died in Lexington, Va., January 26, 1884.

Letcher, Robert Perkins, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Goochland county, Va., February 10, 1788; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lancaster, Ky.; state representative for a number of years and one year speaker of the house; elected as a Clay Democrat to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1827); reelected as a Whig to the Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1841); presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1836; governor of Kentucky 1840–1844; minister plenipotentiary to Mexico August 9, 1849, to August 3, 1852; died in Frankfort, Ky., January 24, 1861.

Lever, Asbury Francis, a Representative from South Carolina; born near Springhill, Lexington county, S. C., January 5, 1875; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Newberry college in 1895; taught school; was graduated in law from Georgetown university, District of Columbia, in 1899, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Lexington, S. C.; member of the state conventions in 1896 and 1900; elected to the state legislature in 1900; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh Congress to fill vacancy caused by the death of J.

Digitized by Google

William Stokes; reelected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from December 2, 1901, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Levin, Lewis Charles, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Charleston, S. C., November 10, 1808; was graduated from South Carolina college, Columbia, S. C.; moved to Woodville, Miss., about 1828 and taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in several states until located in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1838; one of the founders of the American party in 1842; editor of the Philadelphia Daily Sun; elected as a native American to the Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1851); defeated for reelection to the Thirty-second Congress; died in Philadelphia, Pa., March 14, 1860.

Levy, David (afterwards David Levy Yulee); a Delegate and a Senator from Florida; born in St. Thomas, West Indies, in 1811; pursued classical studies; studied law in Virginia; moved to Florida in 1824, and became a planter; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1845); delegate in the first state constitutional convention; elected to the United States Senate, and served from July 1, 1845, to March 3, 1851; reelected in January, 1855, and served from March 4, 1855, until his retirement, January 21, 1861; by act of the Florida legislature, and at his request, his name was changed to David Levy Yulee, and the Senate, on January 12, 1846, ordered the name changed upon its rolls and journals in conformity with the act; president of the Atlantic and Gulf railroad; served in the Confederate Congress; prisoner of state at Fort Pulaski in 1865; died in New York City, October 10, 1886.

Levy, Jefferson Monroe, a Representative from New York; born in New York city; attended public and private schools and was graduated from the University of the State of New York; studied law, was admitted to the bar of the state of New York, and practiced in New York city; one of the founders of the Democratic club of New York; member of the chamber of commerce, of the board of trade and transportation, of the real estate exchange, and of numerous clubs and other organizations; vice president of the Democratic club; inherited from his uncle, Commodore Uriah P. Levy, "Monticello," the estate of Thomas Jefferson; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1901). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Levy, William Mallory, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Isle of Wight county, Va., October 30, 1827; received a college training; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; served in the Mexican war; moved to Louisiana in 1852, and practiced law in Natchitoches; member of the state house of representatives 1859–1861; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1860; served in the Confederate army; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); appointed justice of the state supreme court in 1879, and served until his death in Saratoga, N. Y., August 10, 1882.

Lewis, Abner, a Representative from New York; born in Panama, Chautauqua county, N. Y.; attended the public schools; member of the state house of representatives 1838–1839; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847; county judge 1847–1851.

Lewis, Barbour, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Alburg, Vt., in 1824; attended common schools in various states; was graduated from Illinois college, Jacksonville, Ill., in 1846; teacher in Mobile, Ala.; attended law schools in Albany, N. Y., and Cambridge, Mass., and was admitted to the bar; served in the Union army 1861–1864; appointed judge of Memphis, Tenn., 1863–1864; appointed president of commissioners of Shelby county, Tenn., 1867–1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); resumed the practice of law in Memphis, Tenn.

Lewis, Burwell Boykin, a Representative from Alabama; born in Montgomery, Ala., July 7, 1838; removed with his mother to Montevallo, Shelby county, Ala., in early youth; was graduated from the University of Alabama in 1857; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Montevallo in 1859; served in the Confederate army, and attained the rank of captain of the second Alabama cavalry; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1868; state representative 1870–1972; moved to Tuscaloosa, Ala., in 1872; engaged in the iron business; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); reelected to the Forty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1879, until October 1, 1880, when he resigned to accept the presidency of the University of Alabama; died in Tuscaloosa, Ala., October 11, 1885.

Lewis, Charles S., a Representative from Virginia; native of Clarksburg, W. Va.; completed preparatory studies; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John F. Snodgrass, and served from December 4, 1854, to March 3, 1855.

Lewis, Clarke, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Huntsville, Ala., November 8, 1840; moved with his mother to Noxubee county, Miss., in early youth; attended the common schools; entered Somerville institute and took a partial course; engaged in teaching; entered the Confederate army in February, 1861, and served until the close of the war; resumed teaching in May, 1865; engaged in mercantile business and in farming; elected to the state legislature in 1877; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1893); died near Macon, Miss., March 13, 1896.

Lewis, Dixon Hall, a Representative and a Senator from Alabama; born in Dinwiddie county, Va., August 10, 1802; moved with parents in early boyhood to Hancock county, Ga.; was graduated from Mount Zion academy and from the University of South Carolina; moved to Autauga county, Ala., in 1822; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1823, and practiced in Montgomery, Ala.; state representative 1825–1827; elected as a States Rights Democrat to the Twenty-first, and to the seven succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1829, to April 22, 1844, when he resigned; appointed and subsequently elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William R. King, and served from April 22, 1844, until his death in New York City, October 25, 1848; interment in Montgomery, Ala.

Digitized by Google

Lewis, Edward Taylor, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Opelousas, parish of St. Landry, October 26, 1834; was trained by a private tutor; attended Wesleyan university in Delaware, Ohio, was admitted to the bar of Louisiana in 1859, and practiced in Opelousas, La.; served in the Confederate army during the entire war; entered as a private in the infantry and ranked as a captain of cavalry at its close; elected to the state legislature in 1865; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Andrew S. Herron, who died before the commencement of Congress, and served from March 4, 1883, to March 3, 1885; again elected to the state legislature; resumed the practice of law in Opelousas, La.

Lewis, Elijah Banks, a Representative from Georgia; born in Dooly county, Ga., March 27, 1854; attended the common schools of Dooly and Macon counties, and had a business training; moved to Montezuma, Ga., in 1871, and engaged in the banking and mercantile business; state senator 1894–1895; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1909); resumed business activities in Montezuma, Ga.

Lewis, Francis, a Delegate from New York, born in Llandaff, Wales, in March, 1713; attended Westminster school, London; entered the counting house of a London merchant, came to America in 1735 and established mercantile houses in New York and Philadelphia; secured a contract to clothe the British army in America in 1753; participated in the French and Indian war as an aid to General Mercer, was captured in Oswego, N. Y., by forces under Montcalm, taken as a prisoner to France, and exchanged; on his return the Colonial government gave him five thousand acres of land in recognition of his services; delegate in the stamp act congress that met in New York City in 1765; retired from business in 1765 and located in Whitestone, Long Island, N. Y.; delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1779; signer of the Declaration of Independence; commissioner of the board of admiralty in 1779; died in New York City, December 30, 1802.

Lewis, James Hamilton, a Representative from Washington; born in Danville, Va., May 18, 1868; moved with his parents to Augusta, Ga., in 1866; attended Houghton college and the University of Virginia; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1882, and located in practice in Seattle, Wash., November, 1885; elected to the territorial senate; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); served in the Spanish war as inspector general with rank of colonel, on the staff of Gen. Frederick D. Grant; moved to Chicago, Ill., in 1902, and resumed the practice of law; was later corporation counsel of Chicago; chosen Democratic candidate for United States Senator in the primaries of 1912.

Lewis, John Francis, a Senator from Virginia; born near Port Republic, Va., March 1, 1818; farmer; delegate in the state secession convention of 1861, and refused to sign the ordinance of secession; elected lieutenant governor on the True Republican ticket in 1869; elected to the United States Senate, and served from October 20, 1869, to March 3, 1875; appointed by President Hayes United States marshal for the western district of Virginia April 11, 1878, and served until March 1, 1882, when he resigned; again elected lieutenant governor on the Readjuster ticket in 1881; died in Lynnwood, Va., September 2, 1895.

Lewis, John H., a Representative from Illinois; born in Tompkins county, N. Y., July 21, 1830; moved to Illinois in 1836; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1860, and practiced in Knoxville, Ill.; elected clerk of the circuit court of Knox county in 1860; elected to the house of representatives of Illinois in 1874; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); resumed the practice of law in Knoxville, Ill.

Lewis, John William, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Greensburg, Green county, Ky.; attended Centre college, Danville, Ky.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Greensburg, Ky.; moved to Springfield, Ky., January 1, 1869; temporary chairman of the Republican state convention April 10, 1880; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1880, 1884, and 1888; delegate in the constitutional convention of Kentucky in 1890, and unseated upon a contest; member of the Republican state central committee of Kentucky 1878–1891, and chairman in the state campaign of 1887; served as special judge in circuit courts of Marion, Taylor, and other counties; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Springfield, Ky.

Lewis, Joseph, jr., a Representative from Virginia; born in Virginia in 1772; elected as a Federalist to the Eighth, and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1817); died in Clifton, Va., March 30, 1834.

Lewis, Joseph Horace, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Barren county, Ky., October 29, 1824; was graduated from Centre college, Danville, Ky., in 1843; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in Glasgow, Ky., in 1845; member of the state house of representatives 1850–1853 and 1869–1870; commanded the sixth Kentucky regiment in the Confederate army, the second brigade and the first brigade in Bates division; returned to Glasgow at the close of the war and practiced law; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Jacob S. Golladay; reelected to the Forty-second Congress, and served from May 10, 1870, to March 3, 1873; elected to the Kentucky court of appeals in 1874; reelected in 1882, and served until December, 1890; died in Glasgow, Ky., July 6, 1904.

Lewis, Robert Jacob, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Dover, Dover township, York county, Pa., December 30, 1864; attended the public schools of York, and was graduated from the high school in 1883; taught in the public schools until September, 1889; was graduated from the law department of Yale in 1891; admitted to the New Haven (Conn.) bar June, 1891, and to the bar of York county, Pa., August 3, 1891, and practiced in York, Pa.; elected school controller in 1893, and reelected in 1897 and 1903; city solicitor in 1895; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1903; declined a renomination; resumed the practice of law in York, Pa.

Lewis, Thomas, a Representative from Virginia; born in Augusta county, Va.; attended the common schools; presented credentials as a Representative-elect to the Eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1803, to March 5, 1804, when he was succeeded by Andrew Moore, who contested his election. By formal action of the House of Representatives, counsel for the claimants were heard at the bar of the House in this case.

Digitized by Google

Lewis, William J., a Representative from Virginia; born near Lynchburg, Va.; attended the common schools; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); died near Lynchburg, Va., November 1, 1828.

L'Hommedieu, Ezra, a Delegate from New York; born in Southhold, N. Y., August 30, 1734; was graduated from Yale college in 1754; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in New York City; delegate in the four provincial congresses 1775–1778; member of the state house of representatives 1777–1783; a Federalist Delegate in the Continental Congress 1779–1783 and 1787–1788; member of the state senate 1784–1792 and 1794–1809; member of the state constitutional convention of 1801; clerk of Suffolk county from January, 1784, to March, 1810, and from March, 1811, until his death; regent of the University of the State of New York 1787–1811; died in Southhold, N. Y., September 28, 1811.

Libbey, Harry, a Representative from Virginia; born in Wakefield, N. H., November 22, 1843; attended the common schools; moved to Hampton, Va., and engaged in mercantile pursuits; appointed one of the presiding justices of Elizabeth City county, Va., in 1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); engaged in the oyster industry; postmaster of Hampton, Va.

Ligon, Robert Fulwood, a Representative from Alabama; born in Watkinsville, Oconee county, Ga., December 16, 1823; pursued an academic course; moved to Atlanta, Ga.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice; served in the Mexican war; member of the state house of representatives 1849–1850, and of the state senate 1860–1863; served in the Confederate army; located in Tuskagee, Ala., and resumed the practice of law; lieutenant governor of Alabama in 1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); died in Montgomery, Ala., October 11, 1901.

Ligon, Thomas Watkins, a Representative from Maryland; born in Prince Edward county, Va., May 1, 1810; attended Hampden-Sidney college, and was graduated from the University of Virginia; studied law at Yale college, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Baltimore 1835–1853, and in other places in Maryland; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1849); governor of Maryland 1854–1858; died in Chatham, near Ellicott City, Howard county, Md., January 12, 1881.

Lilley, George Leavens, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Oxford, Mass., August 3, 1859; attended the common schools of Oxford, the Worcester high school, and Worcester technical institute, Worcester, Mass.; served in the Connecticut legislature in 1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses and served from March 4, 1903, until January 5, 1909; by resolution of the House of January 20, 1909, seat was declared to have been vacated January 6, 1909, for the reason incumbent had entered upon the duties of the office of governor of Connecticut the preceding day; governor of Connecticut January 5, 1909, until his death in Hartford, Conn., April 21 1909; interment in Waterbury, Conn.

Lilley, Mial E., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Canton, Bradford county, Pa., May 30, 1850; attended public and private schools; worked as a blacksmith several years; studied law in Canton, was admitted to the Bradford county bar in 1880, and commenced practice in Towanda, Pa.; for several years chairman of the Republican committee of Bradford county; defeated for prothonotary of Bradford county in 1890; elected prothonotary in 1893, and reelected in 1896; in February, 1903, appointed assistant United States district attorney for the middle district of Pennsylvania; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1907); resumed the practice of law in Towanda, Pa.

Lilly, Samuel, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Geneva, N. Y., October 28, 1815; moved to Lambertville, N. J., in 1829; studied medicine, and was graduate from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania March 31, 1837, and commenced practice in Lambertville, N. J.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); first mayor of Lambertville, and served three years; director of the board of freeholders of Hunterdon county for eight years; appointed by President Buchanan consul general of the United States to British India, with residence in Calcutta, January 3, 1861, and served until July 4, 1862, when he resigned; judge of the court of common pleas of Hunterdon county, N. J., 1869–1874; one of the board of managers of the New Jersey insane asylum; judge of the court of errors and appeals and of pardons from 1873 until his death in Lambertville, N. J., April 3, 1880.

Lilly, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Penn Yan, Yates county, N. Y., June 3, 1821; moved to Carbon county, Pa., in 1838; elected colonel of one of the militia regiments of the Lehigh valley, and subsequently brigadier general; elected as a Democrat to the Pennsylvania house of representatives in 1850–1851; Democrat in politics until 1862, when he became a Republican; attended six national Republican conventions, either as delegate or alternate; member of every important Republican state convention; delegate at large to the convention to revise the constitution of Pennsylvania 1872–1873; engaged in the mining of anthracite coal; life member of the academy of natural sciences of Philadelphia; member of the society of American mining engineers; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third Congress and served from March 4, 1893, until his death in Mauch Chunk, Pa., December 1, 1893.

Lincoln, Abraham, a Representative from Illinois; born in Hardin county, Ky., February 12, 1809; moved with parents to a heavily-timbered tract of land on Little Pigeon creek, Indiana, in 1816; attended a log-cabin school at short intervals, and was self-instructed in elementary branches; at the age of nineteen was intrusted with a cargo of farm products, which he took to New Orleans and sold; moved with his father to a forest location in Macon county, Ill., in 1830, and a little later to an unbroken prairie farm in Coles county, Ill.; hired himself to a Sangamon county trader named Denton Offut, and assisted in the construction of a flatboat, in trading upon the rivers, and in maintaining a general store in New Salem, Menard county, Ill.; read the principles of law and works on surveying, Indian hostilities began and he volunteered in a company of Sangamon county rifles, organized in Richland, Ill., April 21, 1832; was elected its captain, and served until May 27, following, when the company was mustered out of service; reenlisted as a private, and served until mustered out June 16, 1832; returned to New Salem, and was defeated as a candidate for the Illinois legislature; entered business as a general merchant in New Salem, but met reverses that were generally attributed to his partner. Lincoln then applied himself to the study of the law; postmaster of New Salem 1833–1836; deputy county surveyor 1834–1836; elected to the state legislature in 1834, 1836, 1838, and 1840; declined a renomination; was admitted to the bar in 1836; moved to Springfield, Ill., in 1837, and engaged in practice; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); did not seek a renomination; an unsuccessful applicant for commissioner of the general land office under President Taylor; tendered the governorship of Oregon Territory, but declined; unsuccessful Whig candidate for United States Senator before the legislature of 1855; became a leader in the Republican party immediately upon its organization; chosen by his party to oppose Stephen A. Douglas for the United States Senate in 1858, and the debate between the candidates made memorable the campaign in which Douglas was final victor; elected as a Republican President of the United States, and was inaugurated March 4, 1861; unanimously renominated in the convention of June 8, 1864, and was inaugurated for a second term March 4, 1865; was shot by J. Wilkes Booth while attending Ford's theater in the city of Washington, D. C., on the night of April 14, 1865, and died the following day; interment in Oak Ridge cemetery, Springfield, Ill., May 4, 1865.

Digitized by Google

Lincoln, Enoch, a Representative from Massachusetts and from Maine; born in Worcester, Mass., December 28, 1788; was graduated from Harvard college in 1807; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Salem, Mass., 1811–1819, and in Paris, Me., 1819–1829; United States district attorney 1815–1818; elected to the Fifteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Albion K. Parris; reelected to the Sixteenth Congress, and served from November 16, 1818, to March 3, 1821; upon Maine becoming a state, was elected to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1821, until January, 1826, when he resigned; governor of Maine 1826, 1827, and 1828; declined renomination; died in Augusta, Me., October 8, 1829.

Lincoln, Levi, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Hingham, Mass., May 15, 1749; was graduated from Harvard college in 1772; studied law in Northampton, Mass., joined the minute men in Cambridge at the outbreak of the Revolution; moved to Worcester, Mass., and was clerk of the court and judge of probate for Worcester county 1775–1781; was admitted to the bar and practiced in Worcester; delegate in the state constitutional convention; elected to the Continental Congress in 1781, but declined to serve; a state representative in 1796, and a state senator 1797–1798; elected to the Sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Dwight Foster, and served from February 6 to March 3, 1801; Attorney General of the United States in President Jefferson's cabinet March 5, 1801–December 31, 1804, and acting Secretary of State March 5, 1801–May 2, 1801; member of governor's council in 1806; lieutenant governor 1807–1808; acting governor December 10, 1808–May 1, 1809; appointed associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States by President Madison, but forced to decline by reason of failing sight; died in Worcester, Mass., April 14, 1820.

Lincoln, Levi, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Worcester, Mass., October 25, 1782; was graduated from Harvard college in 1802; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1805; member of state senate in 1812, and of the house of representatives 1814–1822, and was speaker in 1822; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1820; elected lieutenant governor in 1823; appointed associate justice of the supreme court in 1824; governor 1825–1834; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Davis; elected to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Congresses and served from March 5, 1834, to March 3, 1841; collector of the port of Boston 1841–1843; president of the state senate in 1845; presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1848; first mayor of Worcester in 1848; was a Republican presidential elector and voted for Abraham Lincoln in 1865; member of numerous historical and agricultural societies; died in Worcester, Mass., May 29, 1868.

Lincoln, William Slosson, a Representative from New York; born in Newark Valley, N. Y., August 13, 1813; attended the common schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; engaged in the leather business; postmaster of Newark Valley 1838–1866; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); engaged in the practice of law in Washington, D. C., and died there April 21, 1893.

Lind, John, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Sweden, March 25, 1854; attended the public schools and the state university of Minneapolis; taught school; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1877, and practiced in New Ulm, Minn.; appointed receiver of the Tracy land office in 1881; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1893); served in the Spanish war as quartermaster of the twelfth Minnesota regiment of volunteers; elected governor of Minnesota in 1898 as a Democrat; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); resumed the practice of law in Minneapolis, Minn.; president of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota.

Lindbergh, Charles August, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Sweden, July 20, 1860; came with his parents to the United States, and located in Melrose Minn.; attended Grove Lake academy, Stearns county, Minn., and was graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Little Falls, Minn.; also engaged in agriculture pursuits; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Digitized by Google

Lindley, James Johnston, a Representative from Missouri; born in Mansfield, Ohio, January 1, 1822; moved to Cynthiana, Ky.; attended Woodville college, Ohio; moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1843; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Palmyra, Mo., March 1, 1846, and commenced practice in Monticello, Mo.; elected circuit attorney in 1848 and 1852; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1857); moved to Davenport, Iowa, in 1858, and continued in the practice of law; commissioned to investigate the condition of Iowa troops serving in the Civil war; after the war practiced law in Chicago until 1868; removed to St. Louis, Mo.; judge of the circuit court; moved to Kansas City, Mo.; died in the home of a son in Nevada, Mo., April 18, 1891.

Lindsay, George Henry, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, January 7, 1837; moved to Brooklyn in 1843; attended the public schools; engaged in the hotel business; elected to the state assembly 1882–1886; coroner; appointed assistant tax commissioner in 1898; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh, to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Lindsay, William, a Senator from Kentucky; born in Rockbridge county, Va., September 4, 1835; settled in Clinton, Hickman county, Ky., in November, 1854; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Clinton in 1858; served in the Confederate army from July, 1861, till May, 1865, and was captain in the second Tennessee infantry; paroled as prisoner of war at Columbus, Miss., May 16, 1865; resumed the practice of law in Clinton, Ky.; elected state senator in August, 1867; elected judge of the Kentucky court of appeals in August, 1870; served until September, 1878; from September, 1876, until September, 1878, chief justice of the court; practiced law in Frankfort, Ky.; elected state senator in August, 1889; member of the World's Columbian commission from its organization until February 20, 1893; appointed a member of the Interstate Commerce commission in January, 1892, but declined; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John G. Carlisle; reelected in January, 1894, and served from February 15, 1893, until March 3, 1901; moved to New York City and resumed the practice of law; in March, 1901, appointed United States commissioner to the St. Louis exposition; died in Frankfort, Ky., October 15, 1909.

Lindsey, Stephen D., a Representative from Maine; born in Norridgewock, Me., March 3, 1828; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Norridgewock in 1853; clerk of the judicial courts in Somerset county 1857–1860; member of the state house of representatives in 1856, and of the senate in 1868–1870; president of the senate in 1869; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1860 and 1868; member of the executive council of Maine in 1874; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); died in Norridgewock, Me., April 28, 1884.

Lindsley, James Girard, a Representative from New York; born in Orange, N. J., March 19, 1819; attended the public schools, Ransom's military academy, and Pierson's Orange classical school; trustee of the village of Rondout, N. Y., 1859–1864; elected president of the village of Rondout in 1852, 1867, 1868, and 1869; elected supervisor of Kingston, N. Y., in March, 1872, and in April elected the first mayor of Kingston, to which office he was reelected for six consecutive terms; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); died in Kingston, N. Y., December 4, 1898.

Lindsley, William Dell, a Representative from Ohio; born in New Haven, Conn., December 25, 1814; attended the common schools; moved to Sandusky, Ohio, and engaged in agricultural pursuits; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); defeated for the Thirty-fourth Congress; died in Perkins, Erie county, Ohio, March 11, 1890.

Linn, Archibald Ladley, a Representative from New York; born in New York City October 15, 1802; was graduated from Union college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Schenectady, N. Y.; judge of Schenectady county; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); member of the state house of representatives in 1844; died in Schenectady, N. Y., October 10, 1857.

Linn, James, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Somerset county, N. J., in 1750; was graduated from Princeton college in 1769; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; captain first battalion of Somerset county militia in 1776; first major 1776–1781; member of New Jersey assembly 1776, 1793–1797; elected as a Democrat to the Sixth Congress (March 4, 1799–March 3, 1801); appointed by President Jefferson supervisor of the revenue 1801–1809; secretary of state of New Jersey 1809–1821; died in Trenton, N. J., December 29, 1820.

Linn, John, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Hardwick township, Warren county, N. J., December 3, 1763; moved with his father to Sussex county, N. J.; attended common schools; judge of the court of common pleas 1805–1821; elected to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1817, until his death in Washington, D. C., January 5, 1821; interment in Sussex county, N. J.

Linn, Lewis Fields, a Senator from Missouri; born near Louisville, Ky., November 5, 1795; pursued an academic course; studied medicine; served in the war of 1812; commenced practice in Ste. Genevieve, Mo. Terr., in 1815; member of the state senate in 1827; appointed in 1832 on the French land-claims commission in Missouri; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Alexander Buckner; three times reelected, and served from October 25, 1833, until his death in Ste. Genevieve, Mo., October 3, 1843.

Linney, Romulus Zachariah, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Rutherford county, N. C., December 26, 1841; attended the common schools, York's collegiate institute, and Doctor Millen's school in Taylorsville, N. C.; served in the Confederate army until the battle of Chancellorsville, where he was severely wounded; returned to Taylorsville and joined a class in Doctor Millen's school; studied law, was admitted to the bar by the supreme court in 1868, and practiced in Taylorsville; elected to the state senate in 1870, 1873, and in 1882; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1901); died in Taylorsville, N. C., April 15, 1910.

Digitized by Google

Linton, William Seelye, a Representative from Michigan; born in St. Clair, Mich., February 4, 1856; moved with his parents to Saginaw, Mich.; attended the public schools; engaged as a store clerk in Farwell, Mich.; member of Bay county board of supervisors; again moved to Saginaw in 1879; engaged in the lumber and salt business; elected a member of the East Saginaw common council in 1883, served two terms; representative in the state legislature 1887–1888; candidate for lieutenant governor on the Republican state ticket in 1890; president of the Saginaw water board; mayor of Saginaw 1892–1894; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); appointed postmaster of Saginaw, Mich., by President McKinley March 22, 1898, and recommissioned three times; president Saginaw board of trade 1905–1911.

Lisle, Marcus Claiborne, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Clark county, Ky., September 23, 1862; attended the common schools and Kentucky university; was graduated from Columbia college law school, New York; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Winchester, Ky., in 1887; elected county judge of Clark county, Ky., in 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress, and served from March 4, 1893, until his death in Winchester, Ky., July 7, 1894.

Litchfield, Elisha, a Representative from New York; born in Canterbury, Conn., July 12, 1785, attended the common schools; learned the carpenter's trade; moved to Pompey (now Delphi), N. Y., in 1812; appointed postmaster; became a merchant; member of the state house of representatives in 1819, and again in 1831, 1832, 1833, 1844, and 1848, and served as speaker of the house in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1825); moved to Cazenovia, N. Y., in 1838, and died there, August 4, 1859.

Littauer, Lucius Nathan, a Representative from New York; born in Gloversville, N. Y., January 20, 1859; moved to New York City in 1865; attended the Charlier institute; was graduated from Harvard university in 1878; member of Harvard university crew and university football team; engaged in the glove-manufacturing business in Gloversville; officer and director of many commercial and financial institutions; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1907); delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1904 and 1908; regent of the University of the State of New York in 1912; resumed the glove manufacturing business, and resides in Gloversville, N. Y.

Little, Edward Preble, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Marshfield, Mass., November 7, 1791; attended the public schools; served in the war of 1812; state representative from Marshfield 1829–1834 and 1835–1838; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Orrin Fowler, and served from December 30, 1852, to March 3, 1853; customs collector at the port of Plymouth, Mass., 1853–1857; died in Lynn, Mass., February 6, 1875.

Little, John, a Representative from Ohio; born in Ross township, Greene county, Ohio, April 25, 1837; attended common school, and was graduated from Antioch college in 1862; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1865, and practiced in Xenia, Ohio; twice elected prosecuting attorney of Greene county, 1866 and 1868; elected to the house of representatives of Ohio, 1869 and 1871; attorney general of Ohio two terms; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); appointed by President Harrison a member of the United States and Venezuela claims commission in 1889 and was its chairman; member Ohio state board of arbitration; trustee of Antioch college 1880–1900; died in Xenia, Ohio, October 18, 1900.

Little, John Sebastian, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Jenny Lind, Sebastian county, Ark., March 15, 1853; attended the common schools and Cane Hill college, Arkansas; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1874, and practiced in Greenwood, Ark.; elected district attorney in 1877, and reelected for four successive terms; elected a representative to the legislature in 1884; elected circuit judge for a term of four years in 1886; chosen chairman of the state judicial convention in 1893; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Clifton R. Breckinridge; reelected to the six succeeding Congresses, and served from December 3, 1894, until January 14, 1907, when he resigned to become governor of Arkansas; after being sworn in as governor in January, 1906, suffered a physical and mental breakdown, from which he had not fully recovered in 1912.

Little, Joseph James, a Representative from New York; born in Bristol, England, June 5, 1841; came with his parents to the United States in 1846, and settled in Morris, Otsego county, N. Y.; attended the common schools; apprenticed to the local printer, and entered a New York book-printing office to complete his trade; served in the Union army, 1862–1864, as corporal, first sergeant, and first lieutenant; established a printing business in 1867; member of the board of education, and of the New York world's fair committee; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Roswell P. Flower, and served from December 7, 1891, to March 3, 1893; declined a renomination; commissioner of education, and president of the board of education in New York City; engaged in the printing and publishing business in New York City.

Little, Peter, a Representative from Maryland; born in Petersburg, Pa., in 1775; attended the common schools, and became a mechanic; moved to Freedom, Baltimore county, Md.; elected as a Democrat to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813); commissioned colonel of the thirty-eighth Maryland infantry and served from May 19, 1813 to June 15, 1815; reelected to the Fourteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Pinckney; reelected to the Fifteenth, and to the five succeeding Congresses, and served from December 2, 1816, to March 3, 1829; died in Freedom, Baltimore county, Md., February 5, 1830.

Littlefield, Charles Edgar, a Representative from Maine; born in Lebanon, York county, Me., June 21, 1851; attended the common schools and Foxcroft academy; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1876, and practiced in Rockland, Me.; member of the Maine legislature in 1885, and speaker of the house in 1887; attorney general of the state 1889–1893; chairman of the Maine delegation in the Republican national conventions of 1892 and 1896; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth Congress June 19, 1899, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Nelson Dingley; reelected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, and Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses, and served from December 4, 1899, until September 30, 1908, when he resigned; moved to New York City, and engaged in the practice of law.

Digitized by Google

Littlefield, Nathaniel, Swett, a Representative from Maine; born in Wells, Me., September 20, 1804; attended the common scholos; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Alfred, and in Bridgeton, Me.; state senator 1831–1839, and president of the senate in 1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); and as a Cass Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); state representative in 1854; delegate in the Union convention in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1866; died in Bridgeton, Me., August 15, 1882.

Littlejohn, De Witt Clinton, a Representative from New York; born in Bridgewater, Oneida county, N. Y., February 7, 1818; pursued an academic course; engaged in mercantile business and in the manufacture of flour in Oswego, N. Y.; mayor of the city, 1849–1850; member of the state house of representatives, 1853, 1854, 1855, 1857, 1859, 1860, and 1861, and served five years as speaker of the house, 1859–1861, 1866–1867, and 1870–1871; served in the Civil war; colonel of the one hundred and tenth New York infantry August 25, 1862; brevet brigadier general of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for valuable services during the war;" resigned February 3, 1863; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); again a member of the state house of representatives, 1866, 1867, 1870, 1871, and 1884; died in Oswego, N. Y., October 27, 1892.

Lively, Robert M., a Representative from Texas; born in Fayetteville, Ark., January 6, 1855; moved with his parents to Texas in 1864; attended private schools of eastern Texas; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Kaufman, Kaufman county, Tex., in 1876, and practiced in Canton, Van Zandt county, for many years; county attorney and county judge of Van Zandt county; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Gordon Russell, and served from December 5, 1910, to March 3, 1911; resumed the practice of law in Canton, Tex.

Livermore, Arthur, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Londonderry, N. H., July 26, 1776; received classical instruction from his parents; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Concord and Chester, N. H.; representative and state senator; solicitor for Rockingham county 1796–1798; returned to Holderness, N. H., in 1798; associate justice of the superior court 1799–1809; chief justice 1809–1813; associate justice of the state supreme court 1813–1816; presidential elector on the Federalist ticket in 1800; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1821); reelected to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823 1823–March 3, 1825); judge of probate for Grafton county 1822–1823; chief justice of the court of common pleas 1825–1833; died in Campton, N. H., July 1, 1853.

Livermore, Edward St. Joe, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Portsmouth, N. H., April 5, 1762, pursued classical studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Concord, N. H., in 1783, and later practiced in Portsmouth, N. H.; United States district attorney 1789–1797; state solicitor for Rockingham county 1791–1793; associate justice of the state supreme court 1797–1799; naval officer for port of Portsmouth 1799–1802; moved to Newburyport, Mass., in 1802; elected to the Tenth and Eleventh Congresses (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1811); moved to Boston, Mass., in 1811, to Zanesville, Ohio, in 1815, back to Boston, and then to Tewksbury, Mass., where he died September 15, 1832.

Livermore, Samuel, a Delegate, a Representative, and a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Walthem, Mass., May 14, 1732; was graduated from Nassau Hall, Princeton, N. J., in 1752; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1756, and commenced practice in Waltham, Mass.; moved to Portsmouth, N. H., in 1758; member of the general court from Londonderry 1768–1770; moved to Holderness in 1775; state attorney for three years; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1780 to his resignation, June 21, 1782, and again in 1785; chief justice of the state supreme court 1782–1789; elected to the First and Second Congresses (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1793); president of the state constitutional convention of 1791; elected, and reelected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1793, until his resignation June 12, 1801; died in Holderness, N. H., May 18, 1803.

de Nevenais (Livernash), Edward James, a Representative from California; born in Lower Calveritas, a California mining camp, February 14, 1866; attended common schools; became a printer at fifteen, and a year later founded a country newspaper; studied law and was admitted to the bar; joined the editorial staff of the San Francisco Examiner; elected as a Democrat, indorsed by the Union Labor party, to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); located in Denver, Colo., and was editor of the Denver News; moved to Belmont, near San Francisco, Cal., and engaged in literary pursuits. By a decree of court, after his Congressional service, he resumed the French form of the family name.

Livingston, Edward, a Representative from New York, and a Representative and Senator from Louisiana; born in Clermont, Livingston Manor, N. Y., May 26, 1764; was graduated from Princeton college in 1781; studied law in Albany, N. Y., was admitted to the bar in 1785, and commenced practice in New York City; elected as a Democrat from New York to the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Congresses (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1801); United States district attorney March 27, 1801, to July 25, 1803; mayor of New York City 1801–1803; moved to New Orleans, La., in 1804, and engaged in the practice of law, and in the real estate business; author of a legal code for Louisiana; served at the battle of New Orleans upon the staff of General Jackson; in 1815; member of the state legislature in 1820; elected as a Democrat from Louisiana to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1829); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1829, until May 24, 1831, when he resigned; Secretary of State May 24, 1831, to May 29, 1833; minister plenipotentiary to France May 29, 1833,

Digitized by Google

to April 28, 1835; inherited from his sister "Montgomery Place" on the Hudson river, Barrytown, Duchess county, N.Y., and died there May 23, 1836

Livingston, Henry Walter, a Representative from New York; born in Linlithgo, N. Y., in 1768; was graduated from Yale college in 1786; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New York City; private secretary to Gouverneur Morris, minister plenipotentiary to Paris, France, 1792–1794; judge of the court of common pleas of Columbia county, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1802 and 1810; elected to the Eighth and Ninth Congresses (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1807); died in Livingston Manor, Linlithgo, N. Y., December 22, 1810.

Livingston, Leonidas Felix, a Representative from Georgia; born in Newton county, Ga., April 3, 1832; attended the common schools; engaged in farming; private soldier in the Confederate army from August, 1861, to May, 1865; reengaged in farming in Kings county, Ga.; elected to the state house of representatives 1876–1877; and 1879–1881; member of the state senate 1882–1883; vice president of the Georgia state agricultural society for eleven years, and president four years; president of the Georgia state alliance for three years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second, and to the nine succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1911); died in Washington, D. C., February 11, 1912.

Livingston, Philip, a Delegate from New York; born in Albany, N. Y., January 15, 1716; was graduated from Yale college in 1737; merchant in New York City; alderman 1754–1762; member of the provincial house of representatives 1763–1769, and served as speaker in 1768; member of the New York committee of correspondence; delegate in the Stamp Act congress of October, 1765; register in chancery 1768–1769; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1778; a signer of the Declaration of Independence; president of the New York provincial convention in 1775; member of the state house of representatives in 1776; served in the state senate 1777; prominent in commercial and educational societies; died while attending the sixth session of the Continental Congress in York, Pa., June 12, 1778.

Livingston, Robert Le Roy, a Representative from New York; born in Claverack, Columbia county, N. Y.; was graduated from Princeton college in 1784; elected as a Federalist to the Eleventh and Twelfth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1809, to May 6, 1812, when he resigned; was commissioned first lieutenant of the twelfth United States infantry January 14, 1799; honorably discharged June 15, 1800; participated in the War of 1812; lieutenant colonel of the twenty-third infantry May 29, 1812; resigned February 1, 1813.

Livingston, Robert R., a Delegate from New York; born in New York City, November 27, 1746; was graduated from King's college in 1765; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1773, and commenced practice in New York City; city recorder 1773–1775; member of the provincial convention of 1775; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1775–1777 and 1779–1781; one of the committee of five appointed to draw up the Declaration of Independence, but returned to duties in the provincial assembly before it was signed; secretary of foreign affairs August, 1781, to August, 1783; delegate to the state constitutional convention in April, 1777; chancellor of New York state 1777–1801, and administered the oath of office to President Washington, April 30, 1789; defeated by John Jay for governor of New York in 1798; minister plenipotentiary to France 1801–1804; prominent in local affairs; assisted Robert Fulton and was his backer and partner in constructing the first steamboats; died in Clermont, N. Y., February 26, 1813.

Livingston, Walter, a Delegate from New York; born in 1740; delegate in the provincial convention held in New York in April and May, 1775; deputy to the first provincial congress, May to November, 1775; judge of Albany county 1774–1775; member of the state house of representatives 1777–1779; and served as speaker; member of the New York and Massachusetts boundary commission in 1784; regent of the university of New York 1784–1787; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1784–1785; appointed commissioner of the United States treasury in 1785; died in New York City May 14, 1797.

Livingston, William, a Delegate from New Jersey; born in Albany, N. Y., November 30, 1723; was graduated from Yale college in 1741; studied law, was admitted to the bar October 14, 1748, and commenced practice in New York; established and edited the Independent Reflector in 1752; a commissioner to adjust the boundary line beween New York and Massachusetts in 1754, and subsequently between New York and New Jersey in 1764; member of the provincial assembly from Livingston Manor 1759–1761; moved to Elizabethtown, N. J., in 1772; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1776; brigadier general of militia in 1775; appointed one of the commissioners to superintend the construction of Federal buildings in 1785, but declined, as he did the appointment to be minister to The Hague, tendered June 23, 1785; governor of New Jersey 1776–1790; delegate to the Federal constitutional convention in 1787; died in Elizabeth, N. J., July 25, 1790.

Lloyd, Edward, a Delegate from Maryland; born in "Wye House," Talbot county, Md., December 15, 1744; member of the lower house in the general assembly of Maryland in 1771 and 1773; member of the provisional committee and committee of safety for the eastern shore in 1775; member of the house of delegates 1777, of the governor's council, 1777–1779; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1783–1784; died in "Wye House," Talbot county, Md., July 8, 1796.

Lloyd, Edward, a Representative and a Senator from Maryland; born in Talbot county, Md., July 22, 1779; member of state assembly 1800–1805; elected to the Ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Joseph H. Nicholson; reelected to the Tenth Congress, and served from December 3, 1806, to March 4, 1809; governor of Maryland 1809–1811; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1819, until January, 1826, when he resigned; president of the state senate 1826–1831; died in Annapolis, Md., June 2, 1834.

Lloyd, James, a Senator from Maryland; native of Maryland; pursued classical studies; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Henry, and served from January 11, 1797, until his resignation, December 1, 1800.

Digitized by Google

Lloyd, James, a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., in 1769; was graduated from Harvard college in 1787; became a merchant, and was interested in foreign trade; returned to Boston; a representative in the state legislative body 1800–1801, and a state senator in 1804; elected as a Federalist to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Quincy Adams; reelected, and served from June 9, 1808, to May 1, 1813, when he resigned; again elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Harrison Gray Otis; reelected, and served from June 5, 1822, to May 23, 1826, when he resigned; moved to Philadelphia, Pa., in 1826; died in New York City, April 5, 1831.

Lloyd, James Tilghman, a Representative from Missouri; born in Canton, Lewis county, August 28, 1857; was graduated from Christian university in Canton, Mo., in 1878; taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Lewis county, Mo., 1883–1885; moved to Shelbyville, Mo., in 1885; prosecuting attorney of Shelby county 1889–1893; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Richard P. Giles, which occurred before the beginning of the Congress; reelected to the Fifty-sixth, and to the five succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1897, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Loan, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from Missouri; born in Hardinsburg, Ky., October 4, 1819; pursued an academic course; studied law in Kentucky; moved to St. Joseph, Mo., in 1838; was admitted to the bar in 1840, and practiced in St. Joseph; served in the Union army; commissioned brigadier general of Missouri state militia in the service of the United States November 27, 1861; honorably discharged June 8, 1863; elected as an Emancipationist to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); and as a Radical to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); appointed by President Grant a visitor to the United States military academy in 1869; died in St. Joseph, Mo., March 30, 1881.

Locke, John, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Hopkinton, Mass., February 14, 1764; attended Andover academy and Dartmouth college, and was graduated from Harvard college in 1792; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Ashby in 1796; member of the state house of representatives 1804–1805, 1813, and 1823; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1820; elected to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1829); member of state senate in 1830, and of the executive council in 1831; moved to Lowell, Mass., in 1837, and to Boston in 1849; died in Boston, Mass., March 29, 1855.

Locke, Matthew, a Representative from North Carolina; born near Salisbury, Rowan county, N. C., in 1730; treasury commissioner of the colony of North Carolina in 1771; member of the house of commons of North Carolina 1775–1793; of the state constitutional convention in 1776; a brigadier general of North Carolina troops during the Revolutionary war; elected to the Third, Fourth, and Fifth Congresses (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1799); defeated for the Sixth Congress; died in Salisbury, N. C., September 7, 1801.

Lockhart, James, a Representative from Indiana; born in Auburn, N. Y., February 13, 1806; moved to Indiana in 1832; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Evansville, Ind., in 1834; prosecuting attorney of Vanderburg county 1841–1842; judge of the fourth judicial district 1845–1851; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1850; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); reelected to the Thirty-fifth Congress, but died before the assembling of the Congress, in Evansville, Ind., September 7, 1857.

Lockhart, James Alexander, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Anson county, N. C., June 2, 1850; attended country schools, and was graduated from Trinity college, North Carolina, June, 1873; studied law in Charlotte, N. C., and was licensed to practice in 1874; settled in Wadesboro, where he practiced his profession; mayor in 1875; elected to the house of representatives of the general assembly in 1878, and to the state senate in 1880; presented credentials as a Democratic member-elect to the Fifty-fourth Congress, and served from March 4, 1895, to June 5, 1896, when he was succeeded by Charles H. Martin, who contested his election; resumed the practice of law in Wadesboro, N. C.; died in Charlotte, N. C., December 24, 1905.

Lockwood, Daniel Newton, a Representative from New York; born in Hamburg, Erie county, N. Y., June 1, 1844; was graduated from Union college, Schenectady, N. Y., in 1865; studied law, was admitted to the bar in May, 1866, and practiced in Buffalo, N. Y.; district attorney for Erie county 1874–1877; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1880, 1884, and 1896; United States attorney for the northern district of New York from October, 1886, to June, 1889, when he resigned; reelected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Buffalo, N. Y.; general manager from New York at the Pan American exposition in 1901; died in Buffalo, N. Y., June 1, 1906.

Lodge, Henry Cabot, a Representative and a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., May 12, 1850; attended a private school, and was graduated from Harvard college in 1871; studied law in the Harvard law school, and was graduated in 1875; admitted to the Suffolk bar in 1876; in the same year received the degree of Ph. D. from Harvard university for his thesis on "The Land Law of the Anglo-Saxons;" devoted himself largely to literature; published, 1877, Life and Letters of George Cabot; 1881, Short History of the English Colonies in America; 1882, Life of Alexander Hamilton; 1883, Life of Daniel Webster; 1885, edited the works of Alexander Hamilton in nine volumes; published, in 1886, Studies in History; 1889, Life of Washington, two volumes; 1891, History of Boston (in the Historic Towns Series, published by the Longmans); 1892, Historical and Political Essays, and a volume of selections from speeches; 1895, in conjunction with Theodore Roosevelt, Hero Tales from American History; 1897, Certain Acceptde Heroes, and other essays; 1898, Story of the Revolution, two volumes; 1899, Story of the Spanish War; 1902, A Fighting Frigate, and other essays; member of the Massachusetts historical society, of the Virginia historical society, of the American academy of arts and sciences, of the New England historic and genealogical society, and of the American antiquarian society; received the degree of doctor of laws from Williams college, Clark university, Yale, and Harvard; permanent chairman of the Republican national convention which met in Philadelphia June 19, 1900; served two terms as member of the house of representatives of the Massachusetts legislature; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, and Fifty-second Congresses and served from March 4, 1887, to March 3, 1893, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate January 17, 1893; reelected in 1899, 1905, and in 1911 for the term expiring March 4, 1917; was chairman of the committee on resolutions in the Republican national convention in Chicago, 1904, and permanent chairman of the Republican national convention of 1908.

Digitized by Google

Lofland, James Rush, a Representative from Delaware; born in Milford, Del., November 2, 1823; was graduated from Delaware college in 1845; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Milford; secretary of the state senate in 1849; member of the state constitutional convention of 1853; secretary of state of Delaware 1855–1859; paymaster in the United States army 1863–1867; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); died in Milford, Kent county, Del., February 10, 1894.

Logan, George, a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Stenton, Pa., September 9, 1753; pursued classical studies; was graduated from the Edinburg medical school in 1779; devoted himself to scientific farming; state representative; appointed, and subsequently elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Peter Muhlenburg, and served from July 13, 1801, to March 3, 1807; went to England in 1810, upon a private diplomatic mission; published several agricultural pamphlets; died in Stenton, near Philadelphia, Pa., April 9, 1821.

Logan, Henry, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Dillsburg, in Monaghan township, York county, Pa., April 14, 1784; attended district school; volunteered for the defense of Baltimore in 1814; captain in the nineteenth regiment, second brigade, fifth division of Pennsylvania militia; lieutenant colonel August 1, 1814; member of the state house of representatives 1818–1819; state senator 1828–1831; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); county commissioner 1840; died upon the Logania plantation, near Dillsburg, Pa., December 26, 1866.

Logan, John Alexander, a Representative and a Senator from Illinois; born in Murphysboro, Jackson county, Ill., February 9, 1826; attended the common schools; was graduated from the Louisville university; served in the war with Mexico; second lieutenant of the first Illinois infantry May 10, 1847; honorably mustered out October 16, 1848; returned to Illinois; elected clerk of the Jackson county court in 1849; studied law, was graduated from the law department of Louisville university in 1851, was admitted to the bar in 1852, and practiced; elected to the legislature of Illinois in 1852, 1853, 1856, and 1857; prosecuting attorney for the third judicial district of Illinois 1853–1857; presidential elector in 1856; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses, and served from March 4, 1859, until April 2, 1862, when he resigned and entered the Union army; colonel of the thirty-first Illinois Infantry September 18, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers March 21, 1862; major general of volunteers November 29, 1862; resigned August 17, 1865; appointed minister to Mexico in 1865, but declined; reelected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1871, to March 3, 1877; resumed the practice of law in Chicago; again elected to the United States Senate in 1879; reelected, and served from March 4, 1879, until his death; was the Republican nominee for vice President on the ticket with James G. Blaine in 1884; died at his home, Calumet Place, Washington, D. C., December 26, 1886.

Logan, William, a Senator from Kentucky; born within the fort at Harrod's Fort, Ky., December 8, 1776; spent early childhood in the fort at St. Asaphs, receiving private instruction from parents and tutors; moved with parents to Shelby county, Ky., about 1798; studied law and was admitted to the bar; delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1799; member of the state house of representatives and chosen speaker two terms 1803–1806, and 1808–1809; twice chosen judge of the court of appeals, and served 1808–1812; a presidential elector in 1809, 1813, and 1817; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1819, until 1820, when he resigned to become a candidate for governor; was defeated for governor; died in Harrodsburg, Ky., August 8, 1822.

Long, Alexander, a Representative from Ohio; born in Greenville, Pa., December 24, 1816; received an academic training; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Cincinnati, Ohio; state representative 1848–1849; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1864, 1868, 1872, and 1876; died in Cincinnati, Ohio, November 28, 1886.

Long, Chester Isaiah, a Representative and a Senator from Kansas; born in Perry county, Pa., October 12, 1860; moved with his parents to Daviess county, Mo., in 1865, where he resided until 1879, when he removed to Paola, Kans.; pursued an academic course; studied law and was admitted to the bar March 4, 1885, and located in Medicine Lodge in the practice of his profession; elected to the state senate in 1889; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); reelected to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1899, until March 3, 1905; when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1903, to March 3, 1909; resumed the practice of law in Medicine Lodge, Kans.; moved to Wichita, Kans., in August, 1911, and engaged in the practice of law.

Long, Edward H., a Representative from Maryland; born in Princess Anne county, Md., September 28, 1808; was graduated from Yale college in 1828; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Princess Anne county; state representative; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); died in Somerset county, Md., October 16, 1865.

Digitized by Google

Long, Jefferson F., a Representative from Georgia; a resident of Macon, Ga.; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first Congress, upon the readmission of Georgia to representation; qualified under the act of July 2, 1862; took his seat January 16, 1871, and served until March 3, 1871.

Long, John, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Loudoun county, Va., February 26, 1785; moved with parents to North Carolina; attended public schools, and became a farmer in Randolph county, N. C.; state representative in 1811, and a state senator 1814–1815; elected to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1829); died in Longs Mill (now Liberty), Randolph county, N. C., August 11, 1857.

Long, John Benjamin, a Representative from Texas; born in Douglas, Nacogdoches county, Tex., September 8, 1843; moved with his parents to Rusk, Tex., in 1846; attended common schools; served in the Confederate army in company C of the third Texas cavalry; was twice severely wounded; became a planter after the war; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); editor of the Industrial Press in Rusk, Tex.

Long, John Davis, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Buckfield, Oxford county, Me., October 27, 1838; attended the common schools at Buckfield and Hebron academy, Maine; was graduated from Harvard college in 1857; taught school two years in Westford academy, Massachusetts; studied law at the Harvard law school and in private offices; admitted to the bar and practiced; member of the Massachusetts house of representatives 1875–1878, served the last three years as speaker of the house; lieutenant governor of Massachusetts in 1879; governor of Massachusetts in 1880, 1881, and 1882; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1889); Secretary of the Navy from March 5, 1897, until his resignation, May 1, 1902; resumed practice of law in Boston, with residence in Hingham, Mass.; president of overseers of Harvard university and of the Author's Club of Boston.

Long, Pierse, a Delegate from New Hampshire; born in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1739; completed preparatory studies; engaged in the shipping business; delegate in the provincial congress of New Hampshire in 1775; served in the Revolutionary war as colonel of the first New Hampshire regiment, and participated in the engagements at Ticonderoga, and points on lakes George and Champlain; was present at the surrender of Burgoyne at Saratoga; brevetted a brigadier general; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1784–1786; state councilor 1786–1789; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1788; appointed by President Washington customs collector for the port of Portsmouth, N. H., in January, 1789, but unable to assume the duties of the office; died in Portsmouth, N. H., April 3, 1789.

Longfellow, Stephen, a Representative from Maine; born in Gorham, Mass. (now Maine), June 23, 1775; was graduated from Harvard college in 1798; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1801, and commenced practice in Portland, Me., in 1801; representative in the general court of Massachusetts 1814–1815; delegate in the Hartford convention of 1814–1815; a King presidential elector in 1816; elected as a Federalist to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825); member of the Maine legislature in 1826; overseer of Bowdoin college 1811–1817; trustee 1817–1836; president of the Maine Historical Society in 1834; died in Portland, Me., August 2, 1849.

Longnecker, Henry Clay, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Allen township, Cumberland county, Pa., April 17, 1820; was graduated from the Norwich military academy of Vermont, and from Lafayette college, Pennsylvania; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served in the Mexican war as first lieutenant, captain, and adjutant in all principal engagements under General Scott; was wounded in the battle of Chapultepec, September 13, 1847; returned to Pennsylvania; district attorney of Lehigh county in 1848–1850; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); participated in organizing Pennsylvania troops and served in the Union army as colonel of the ninth Pennsylvania volunteers; resumed the practice of law in Allentown, Pa., in 1865; associate judge of Lehigh county in 1867; died in Allentown, Pa., September 16, 1871.

Longworth, Nicholas, a Representative from Ohio; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, November 5, 1869; attended Franklin school in Cincinnati; was graduated from Harvard university 1891; spent one year at Harvard law school, and was graduated from the Cincinnati law school in 1894; was admitted to the bar in 1894 and practiced in Cincinnati, Ohio; member of the school board of Cincinnati 1898; elected to the Ohio house of representatives 1899, and to the Ohio senate in 1901; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Longyear, John Wesley, a Representative from Michigan; born in Shandaken, N. Y., October 22, 1820; pursued classical studies in the Lima, N. Y., academy; taught school for several years; moved to Mason, Ingham county, Mich., in 1844, and taught school; studied law, was admitted to the Ingham county bar in 1846; removed to Lansing, Mich., in 1847, and engaged in the practice of law; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); delegate in the Loyalist convention in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1866, and in the state constitutional convention of 1867; appointed by President Grant judge of the district court of the United States for the eastern district of Michigan February 7, 1870; died in Detroit, Mich., March 10, 1875.

Loomis, Andrew W., a Representative from Ohio; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth Congress, and served from March 4, 1837, to October 20, 1837, when he resigned.

Loomis, Arphaxed, a Representative from New York; born in Winsted, Conn., April 9, 1798; moved with his parents to New York in 1801, where they settled upon a farm in the town of Salisbury, Herkimer county; attended county school and Fairfield academy, Fairfield, N. Y.; studied law; was admitted to the bar in Albany in January, 1822, and practiced in Sacketts Harbor 1822–1824, in Salisbury in 1825, and then took up a permanent residence in Little Falls, N. Y., March 4, 1825; surrogate of Herkimer county 1828–1836; commissioner to investigate the government and discipline of the state prisons in 1834; first judge of the county 1835–1837; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); representative in the state legislature 1841–1842, and 1853–1854; member of the state constitutional convention of 1846; member of the commission to revise, abridge, and simplify pleadings and proceedings in civil actions, in 1847; delegate in the Democratic state conventions of 1861 and 1863; died in Little Falls, N. Y., September 15, 1885.

Digitized by Google

Loomis, Dwight, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Columbia, Conn., July 27, 1821; attended the common schools; studied law in the New Haven law school, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Rockville, Conn.; member of the state house of representatives in 1851; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); appointed judge of the supreme court of the state; died near Waterbury, Conn., September 17, 1903.

Lord, Frederick William, a Representative from New York; born in Lyme, Conn., December 11, 1800; was graduated from Yale college in 1821; taught school; studied medicine, was admitted to practice, and commenced practice in Sag Harbor, N. Y.; moved to Greenport, N. Y.; elected to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); died in New York City, May 24, 1860.

Lord, Henry William, a Representative from Michigan; born in Northampton, Mass., March 8, 1821; pursued an academic course; moved to Detroit, Mich., in 1839; four years later went to Pontiac, Mich., and engaged in farming and mercantile business; returned to Detroit, Mich.; appointed United States consul to Manchester, England, in 1861, and served until his resignation in 1867; Republican presidential elector in 1876; served on the state board of corrections and charities; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); appointed by President Arthur register of the United States land office at Creelsburgh, Dak., December 6, 1883; died in Butte, Mont., January 25, 1891.

Lord, Scott, a Representative from New York; born in Nelson, Madison county, N. Y., December 20, 1820; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Utica, N. Y.; judge of Livingston county 1847–1856; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); defeated for reelection to the Forty-fifth Congress; died in Morris Plains, N. J., September 10, 1885.

Lore, Charles Brown, a Representative from Delaware; born in Odessa, Del., March 16, 1831; attended the public schools, Middletown academy, Delaware, and was graduated from Dickinson college, Pennsylvania, in June, 1852; studied law and was admitted to the bar of Newcastle county, Del., in 1861; clerk of the house of representatives of Delaware in 1857; commissioner of the draft for Newcastle county, Del., 1862; attorney-general of Delaware, 1869–1874; presidential elector in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); presidential elector in 1892; appointed chief justice of the supreme court of Delaware in 1893; reappointed in 1897 for a term of twelve years, but retired in 1909; member of revised code commission, 1909–1910; died in Wilmington, Del., March 6, 1911; interment in Odessa, Del.

Lorimer, William, a Representative and a Senator from Illinois; born in Manchester, England, April 27, 1861; never attended school; came with parents to the United States in 1866, and settled in Michigan; moved to Ohio, and subsequently to Chicago, Ill.; assistant superintendent of the city water main extension department; was later appointed superintendent; engaged in the contracting business; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1901); reelected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses and served from March 4, 1903, until June 7, 1909, when he resigned; presented credentials as a Senator-elect to the United States Senate for the term commencing March 3, 1909, and served from June 18, 1909, until July 6, 1912, when the Senate adopted a resolution declaring "that corrupt methods and practices were employed in his election, and that the election therefore was invalid;" resumed business activities, and engaged in banking in Chicago, Ill.

Loring, George Bailey, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in North Andover, Mass., November 8, 1817; attended Franklin academy, in Andover, and was graduated from Harvard university in 1838; appointed surgeon of the marine hospital in Chelsea, Mass., in 1843; surgeon of the seventh regiment M. V. M. 1842–1844; appointed commissioner to revise the United States marine hospital system in 1849; appointed postmaster of Salem, Mass., in 1853; member of the Massachusetts house of representatives 1866–1867; president of the state senate 1873–1876; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1868, 1872, and 1876; appointed United States centennial commissioner for the state of Massachusetts in 1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); died in Salem, Mass., September 13, 1891.

Loud, Eugene Francis, a Representative from California; born in Abington, Mass., March 12, 1847; went to sea and settled in California; enlisted in California cavalry battalion in 1862; which formed a part of the second Massachusetts cavalry; with the Army of the Potomac and with Sheridan in the Shenandoah Valley until the close of the war; returned to California; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in San Francisco, Cal.; clerk in the customs service; member of the state legislature in 1884; cashier of city and county of San Francisco; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-second, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1903); defeated for reelection to the Fifty-eighth Congress; died in San Francisco, Cal., December 19, 1908.

Loud, George Alvin, a Representative from Michigan; born in Bracebridge, Ohio, June 18, 1852; moved with his parents to Massachusetts, and again changed residence to Au Sable, Mich., in 1866; attended the English high school (military), Boston, Mass.; Professor Patterson's school, Detroit, and was graduated from the Ann Arbor high school; vice president and general manager of the Au Sable & Northwestern railroad; for four years, by appointment, was a colonel upon Governor Pingree's staff; was paymaster on the United States revenue cutter McCulloch, which participated in the battle of Manila Bay; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Digitized by Google

Louden, Frank Orren, a Representative from Illinois; born in Sunrise City, Minn., January 26, 1861; attended the public schools of Iowa, was graduated from the Iowa state university and the Union college of law, Chicago, in 1887; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Chicago, Ill., moved to Oregon, Ill., in 1903; member of the Republican national committee from Illinois in 1904, and was a member of the executive committee during the campaign of that year; assigned to western headquarters in Chicago, Ill.; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Robert R. Hitt; reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from December 3, 1906, to March 3, 1911; after leaving Congress engaged in agricultural pursuits near Oregon, Ill.

Loudenslager, Henry Clay, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Mauricetown, Cumberland county, N. J., May 22, 1852; moved with his parents to Paulsboro, N. J., in 1856; attended the common schools; engaged in the produce commission business in Philadelphia, Pa., from 1872 to 1882; elected county clerk of Gloucester county, N. J., in 1882 and reelected in 1887; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, and to the nine succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1893, until his death in Paulsboro, N. J., August 12, 1911.

Loughridge, William, a Representative from Iowa; born in Youngstown, Ohio, July 11, 1827; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Mansfield, Ohio, in 1849; moved to Iowa in 1852; member of the state senate 1857–1860; judge of the sixth judicial circuit 1861–1867; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); reelected to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); died near Reading, Pa., September 26, 1889.

Lounsbery, William, a Representative from New York; born in Stone Ridge, N. Y., December 25, 1831; was graduated from Rutger's college in 1851; attended the law department of the New York university in Albany, N. Y.; was admitted to the bar in 1853, and engaged in practice; commissary of the twentieth regiment of New York militia, with the rank of first lieutenant, during its three months' service; member of the state assembly in 1868; elected mayor of Kingston in March, 1878, for the term of two years; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); died in Kingston, N. Y., November 8, 1905.

Louttit, James Alexander, a Representative from California; born in New Orleans, La., October 16, 1848; moved with his parents to California in 1849; attended the public schools and the state normal school; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1869; settled in Stockton, Cal., in 1871 and practiced law; city attorney, 1871–1879; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); resumed the practice of law in Stockton, Cal.; died in Pacific Grove, Cal., July 26, 1906; interment in Stockton, Cal.

Love, James, a Representative from Kentucky; attended the public schools; elected to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835).

Love, John, a Representative from Virginia; pursued an academic course; elected as a Democrat to the Tenth and Eleventh Congresses (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1811); died August 17, 1822.

Love, Peter Early, a Representative from Georgia; born near Dublin, Ga., July 7, 1818; was graduated from Franklin college; studied medicine in Philadelphia, Pa., and then law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice of the latter in Thomasville, Ga., in 1839; solicitor general of the southern district of Georgia in 1843; elected judge in 1853; member of the state senate, 1849; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1859, until his retirement, January 23, 1861; resumed the practice of law in Thomasville, Ga.; member of the Georgia legislature 1861; died in Thomasville, Ga., November 8, 1866.

Love, Thomas Cutting, a Representative from New York; born in Cambridge, N. Y., November 30, 1789; served as a volunteer in the war of 1812; wounded and taken prisoner at the battle of Fort Erie, September 17, 1814; taken to Quebec and kept imprisoned till close of war; went to Batavia, N. Y., and later to Buffalo; judge of Erie county in 1828–1829; district attorney 1829–1835, and surrogate 1841–1845; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); died in Buffalo, N. Y., September 17, 1853.

Love, William Carter, a Representative from North Carolina; was born in Virginia about 1794; attended the University of Virginia; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Salisbury, N. C.; elected as a Democrat to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817).

Love William Franklin, a Representative from Mississippi; born near Liberty, Amite county, Miss., March 29, 1852; attended the common schools and the University of Mississippi; engaged in agriculture; elected to the state house of representatives for ten years; member of the state senate for eight years; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress, and served from March 4, 1897, until his death, in Gloster, Miss., October 16, 1898.

Lovejoy, Owen, a Representative from Illinois; born in Albion, Me., January 6, 1811; was graduated from Bowdoin college; studied theology; moved to Alton, Ill., in 1836; pastor of the Congregational church in Princeton, Ill., 1839–1856; member of the state house of representatives in 1854; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, and Thirty-eighth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, until his death, in Brooklyn, N. Y., March 25, 1864.

Lovell, James, a Delegate from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., October 31, 1737; attended the public latin schools; master of the Eliot school; was graduated from Harvard college in 1756; taught in the Boston Latin school; imprisoned by General Howe during the Revolutionary war and conveyed to Halifax 1775–1776; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1776–1782; receiver of continental taxes 1784–1788; customs collector of Boston, Mass., 1788–1789; naval officer in Boston and Charleston until his death in Windham, Me., July 14, 1814.

Lovering, Henry Bacon, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Portsmouth, N. H., April 8, 1841; attended the common schools of

Digitized by Google

Lynn, Mass.; enlisted in 1862 in the eighth regiment Massachusetts volunteer infantry, and served out his term; reenlisted in the third Massachusetts cavalry; lost a leg at the battle of Winchester; elected a member of the state house of representatives in 1872 and 1874; assessor in 1879–1880; mayor of Lynn in 1881 and 1882; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor in 1887; United States marshal for Massachusetts, 1888–1891; warden of the state prison, 1891–1893; United States pension agent, Boston, 1894–1898; sealer of weights and measures for the city of Boston, Mass., 1902–1905; died in Wakefield, Mass., April 5, 1911.

Lovering, William Crovade, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Woonsocket, R. I., February 25, 1835; attended the Cambridge high school and the Hopkins classical school; engaged in cotton manufacturing; served during the Civil war as engineer at Fortress Monroe; retired from the service an invalid; member of the state senate 1874–1875; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1880; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth, and to the six succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1897, until his death, in Washington, D. C., February 4, 1910; interment in Taunton, Mass.

Lovett, John, a Representative from New York; native of Norwich, Conn.; was graduated from Yale college; moved to Albany, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1800 and 1801; county clerk; elected as a Federalist to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817); died in Ohio in 1818.

Low, Frederick Ferdinand, a Representative from California; born in Frankfort (now Winterport), Me., June 30, 1828; attended Hampden academy; engaged in the shipping business in San Francisco, Cal., in 1849; moved to Marysville, Cal., in 1854; engaged in banking until 1861; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); appointed collector of San Francisco in 1863, and later in the year elected governor of California, and served until 1867; United States minister to China 1869–1874; died in San Francisco, Cal., July 21, 1894.

Low, Isaac, a Delegate from New York; born in Raritan Landing, near New Brunswick, N. J., April 13, 1731; active in pre-Revolutionary matters; moved to Montgomery, N. Y.; delegate to the stamp act Congress in 1765; Delegate in the Continental Congress, 1774–1775; member of the provincial congress, 1775; accused of treason and was arrested in 1776; one of the founders and president of the New York chamber of commerce, 1775–1783; property was confiscated and he was exiled, going to England, where he died in Cowes, Isle of Wight, July 25, 1791.

Low, Philip Burrill, a Representative from New York; born in Chelsea, Mass., May 6, 1836; was graduated from the high school; volunteered and was appointed acting ensign in the United States Navy and served in the North Atlantic squadron during 1862–1863; resigned and entered commercial circles in Boston, Mass., until 1865, when he moved to New York City; identified with the shipping and maritime interests; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899); defeated for reelection to the Fifty-sixth Congress.

Lowe, David P., a Representative from Kansas; born in Oneida county, N. Y., August 22, 1823; was graduated from the Cincinnati law college in 1851; was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Cincinnati, Ohio; moved to Kansas in 1861; member of the state senate, 1863–1864; judge of the sixth judicial district 1867–1871; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); chief justice of Utah Territory; returned to Fort Scott, Kans., where he died.

Lowe, William Manning, a Representative from Alabama; born in Huntsville, Ala., June 12, 1842; attended the schools of Florence, Ala., the University of Tennessee, and the University of Virginia; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Huntsville, Ala.; served as private, captain, and lieutenant colonel in the Confederate army; member of the state legislature in 1870; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1875; solicitor of the fifth judicial circuit 1865–1868; elected as a Greenback-Democrat to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); successfully contested the election of Joseph Wheeler to the Forty-seventh Congress, and served from June 3, 1882, until his death in "The Grove," Huntsville, Ala., October 12, 1882.

Lowell, John, a Delegate from Massachusetts; born in Newburyport, Mass., June 17, 1743; was graduated from Harvard college in 1760; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Newburyport, Mass.; member of the state house of representatives; an officer in the militia in 1776; moved to Boston, Mass., in 1777; again a state representative in 1778; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1780; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1782–1783; commissioner on the New York and Massachusetts boundary line in 1784; judge of the court of appeals 1784–1789, of the United States district court 1789–1801, and of the United States circuit court for Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut 1801–1802; died in Roxbury, Mass., May 6, 1802.

Lowell, Joshua Adams, a Representative from Maine; born in Thomaston, Mass. (now Maine), March 20, 1801; attended the common schools; taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in East Machias, Me., in 1826; member of the state house of representatives in 1832–1833, 1835, and 1837; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1844; died in East Machias, Me., March 13, 1874.

Lowndes, Lloyd, jr., a Representative from Maryland; born in Clarksburg, Va. (now West Virginia), February 21, 1845, was graduated from Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa., in 1865, and from the University of Pennsylvania law school in 1867; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Cumberland, Md.; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); governor of Maryland, 1895–1899; defeated for governor in 1899; president and director of a number of Maryland financial and other institutions; died in Cumberland, Md., January 6, 1905.

Lowndes, Thomas, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., in 1765; pursued an academic course; engaged in business; elected to the Seventh and Eighth Congresses

Digitized by Google

March 4, 1811, until May 8, 1822, when he resigned; died at sea, November 22, 1822.

Lowndes, William, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., February, 1782; pursued classical studies in England and at home; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1804, but soon abandoned it for agricultural pursuits; captain of militia in 1807; elected as a Democrat to the Twelfth, and to the five succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1811, until May 8, 1822, when he resigned; died at sea, November 22, 1822.

Lowrie, Walter, a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Edinburgh, Scotland, December 10, 1784; located in Butler county, Pa., in 1791; pursued classical studies; member of the state house of representatives; elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1819, to March 3, 1825; secretary of the United States Senate 1825–1836; secretary of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions 1836–1868; died in New York City, December 14, 1868.

Lowry, Robert, a Representative from Indiana; born in Killeleigh, county Down, Ireland, in 1822; moved to Rochester, N. Y.; instructed in private schools and had partial academic course; librarian of Rochester athanaeum and Young Men's association; studied law; moved to Fort Wayne, Ind., in 1843; city recorder; was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Goshen, Ind., in 1846; appointed circuit judge in 1852; president of the Democratic state convention and delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1860; elected circuit judge for six years in 1864; reelected in 1870; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1872; resigned the circuit judgship in January, 1875; judge of the superior court; elected the first president of the Indiana State Bar association in July, 1879; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); resumed the practice of law; died in Fort Wayne, Ind., January 27, 1904.

Loyall, George, a Representative from Virginia; born in Norfolk, Va., May 29, 1789; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1808; visited England in 1815; member of the state house of representatives in 1817–1827; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1829; successfully contested the election of Thomas Newton to the Twenty-first Congress, and served from March 9, 1830, to March 3, 1831; reelected to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); navy agent in Norfolk, Va., 1837–1861, with the exception of two years; died in Norfolk, Va., February 24, 1868.

Lucas, Edward, a Representative from Virginia; born in Jefferson county, Va. (now West Virginia), October 22, 1790; attended the common schools and Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa.; officer in the war of 1812; studied law, was admitted to the bar but did not practice; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); military storekeeper of ordnance at the Harpers Ferry Armory May 12, 1847, until his death in Harpers Ferry, Va., March 4, 1858.

Lucas, John Baptiste Charles, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Pont-Audemer, Normandy, France, August 14, 1758; attended the Honfleur and Paris law schools and was graduated from the law department of the University in Caen in 1782; practiced in France until 1784; emigrated to the United States and settled near Pittsburgh, Pa., and engaged in agricultural pursuits; member of the state house of representatives 1792–1798; judge of the common pleas court in 1794; elected as a Democrat to the Eighth and Ninth Congresses, but resigned before the assembling of the Ninth Congress; moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1805; appointed by President Jefferson Commissioner of Land Claims and district judge of the United States court for the northern part of Louisiana Territory; continued as judge until 1820; died near St. Louis, Mo., August 18, 1840.

Lucas, William, a Representative from Virginia; born near Charles Town, Jefferson county, W. Va., November 30, 1800; attended the public schools in Charles Town; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Charles Town, W. Va.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841); reelected to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); died on his farm in Jefferson county, W. Va., August 29, 1877.

Lucas, William Vincent, a Representative from South Dakota; born near Delphi, Carroll county, Ind., July 3, 1835; attended the common schools; moved to Bremer county, Iowa, in 1856; enlisted in the Union army in the fourteenth Iowa infantry; promoted to captain in 1863; elected treasurer of Bremer county and twice reelected; presidential elector on the Hayes ticket in 1876; chief clerk of the Iowa house of representatives during the seventeenth and eighteenth sessions; mayor of Mason City, Iowa; elected state auditor in 1880; declined nomination for reelection; moved to Chamberlain, S. Dak., in 1883, and engaged in farming; elected treasurer of Brule county in 1887; moved to Hot Springs, S. Dak., in 1890; appointed commandant of the Soldiers' Home in Hot Springs, S. Dak.; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); again appointed commandant of the South Dakota soldiers' home and served one year; moved to Chamberlain, S. Dak.; recorder of the United States land office; again appointed commandant of the South Dakota soldiers' home; resigned, and moved to California, and is a resident of Santa Cruz.

Lucking, Alfred, a Representative from Michigan; born in Ingersoll, Ontario, December 18, 1856; moved with his parents to Ypsilanti, Mich.; attended the Ypsilanti high school, Michigan state normal college, and was graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan in 1878; declined the appointment of park and boulevard commissioner of Detroit, Mich., in 1896; temporary chairman of the Democratic state convention in 1900, and was both temporary and permanent chairman of the state convention of 1902; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1905); resumed the practice of law in Detroit, Mich.

Lumpkin, John Henry, a Representative from Georgia; born in Oglethorpe county, Ga., June 13, 1812; attended Franklin and Yale colleges; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Rome, Ga., in 1834; member of the state house of representatives in 1835; solicitor general of the Cherokee circuit in 1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and

Digitized by Google

Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1849); reelected to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); judge of the supreme court of Georgia; died in Rome, Ga., June 6, 1860.

Lumpkin, Wilson, a Representative and a Senator from Georgia; born in Pittsylvania county, Va., January 14, 1783; attended the common schools of Oglethorpe county, Ga.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Athens, Ga.; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); reelected to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); appointed one of the commissioners on the Georgia-Florida boundary line; governor of Georgia 1831–1835; appointed commissioner under the Cherokee treaty in 1835; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John P. King, and served from November 22, 1837, to March 3, 1841; member of the state board of public works; died in Athens, Ga., December 28, 1870.

Luna, Tranquilino, a Delegate from New Mexico; born February 23, 1849; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); presented credentials as a member-elect to the Forty-eighth Congress and served from March 4, 1883, until March 5, 1884, when he was succeeded by Francisco A. Manzanares, who contested his election.

Lundin, Frederick, a Representative from Illinois; born in Sweden, May 18, 1868; came to the United States and located in Chicago, Ill.; completed academic studies; engaged in business; president of Lundin & Company, manufacturing chemists; was a member of the state senate of Illinois 1894–1898; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); defeated for reelection to the Sixty-second Congress; resumed business in Chicago, Ill.

Luttrell, John King, a Representative from California; born near Knoxville, Knox county, Tenn., June 27, 1831; attended the common schools; moved to California; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; engaged in farming; member of the legislature in 1863, 1865, 1866, 1871, and 1872; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1879); United States commissioner of Fisheries for Alaska; state prison director, 1887–1889; died in Sitka, Alaska, October 4, 1893; interment in Fort Jones, Cal.

Lybrand, Archibald, a Representative from Ohio; born in Tarlton, Pickaway county, Ohio, May 23, 1840; moved to Delaware in 1857; attended the Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, Ohio; enlisted in the Union Army, April 26, 1861, and served in company I, fourth Ohio volunteer infantry; transferred to company E, seventy-third Ohio volunteer infantry, and promoted to first lieutenant; remained in service three years; returned to Delaware, Ohio; elected mayor of Delaware in 1869; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1871; landowner and interested in farming; appointed postmaster of Delaware, December 20, 1881, and served four years; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1901); died in Daytona, Fla., February 7, 1910.

Lyle, Aaron, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Northampton county, Pa., November 17, 1759; attended the common schools; served in the Revolutionary War; member of the state house of representatives, 1797–1801; served in the state senate, 1802–1804; elected as a Democrat to the Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1817); trustee of Jefferson (now Washington and Jefferson) college, 1802–1822; died in Cross Creek, Pa., September 24, 1825.

Lyman, Joseph, a Representative from Iowa; born in Lyons, Mich., September 13, 1840; attended the common schools and pursued an academic course; enlisted in the Union Army in company E, fourth Iowa volunteer cavalry; adjutant of the twenty-ninth Iowa infantry from October 19, 1862, to February 21, 1865, and major of the same regiment from February 21, 1865, to August 10, 1865; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Council Bluffs, Iowa; deputy collector of internal revenue of the fifth district of Iowa from January 1, 1867, to March 1, 1870; judge of the circuit court, 1884; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in Council Bluffs, Iowa, July 9, 1890.

Lyman, Joseph S., a Representative from New York; born in Hampden, Mass.; attended common schools; moved to Otsego, N. Y.; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); died in Cooperstown, N. Y.

Lyman, Samuel, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Goshen, Conn., January 25, 1749; was graduated from Yale college in 1770; studied law in Litchfield, Conn., was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Hartford, Conn.; member of the state house of representatives, 1786–1788; served in the state senate, 1790–1793; elected to the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Congresses and served from March 4, 1795, until November 6, 1801, when he resigned; moved to Springfield, Mass.; judge of the circuit court; died in Springfield, Mass., June 6, 1802.

Lyman, Theodore, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Waltham, Mass., August 23, 1833; was graduated from Harvard college in 1855, and from the Lawrence scientific school in 1858; served during the Civil War as lieutenant colonel and volunteer aid-de-camp on the staff of Major General Meade, from September 2, 1863, to April 20, 1865; member of the American academy of arts and sciences and of the National academy of sciences and trustee of the Peabody education fund; one of the state fishery commissioners 1865–1882; elected as an Independent to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); died in Nahant, Mass., September 9, 1897.

Lyman, William, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Northampton, Mass., December 7, 1755; was graduated from Yale college in 1776; member of the state senate in 1789; served in the War of 1812; ensign of the ninth Massachusetts infantry April 25, 1812; second lieutenant June 26, 1813; first lieutenant June 10, 1814; transferred to the light artillery May 17, 1815; rear adjutant June, 1816, to December 31, 1819; captain December 31, 1819; honorably discharged June 1, 1821; elected to the Third and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1797); United States consul at

Digitized by Google

London, England, from 1805, until his death in London, England, September 2, 1811.

Lynch, John, a Representative from Maine; born in Portland, Me., February 18, 1825; was graduated from the Portland high school in 1842; engaged in business; member of the state legislature in 1862 and 1864; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1873); editor of the Washington Union 1876. 1877; died in Portland, Me., July 2, 1892.

Lynch, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Providence, R. I., November 1, 1843; attended the public schools and pursued an academic course; worked on a farm and at the coal mines; taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar November 1, 1865, and practiced in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889).

Lynch, John Roy, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Concordia parish, La., September 10, 1847; attended school in Natchez, Miss.; moved to Natchez in 1863; engaged in the business of photography; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1865; appointed by Governor Ames a justice of the peace in 1869; member of the state legislature, 1869–1873; served the last term as speaker of the house; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1872, 1884, 1888, 1892 and 1900; temporary chairman of the Republican national convention in 1884; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1877); reelected to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); fourth auditor of the Treasury for the Navy department under President Harrison, 1889–1893; appointed a major and additional paymaster of volunteers during the Spanish war by President McKinley in 1898; appointed by President McKinley a paymaster in the regular army, with rank of captain in 1901; promoted to major in 1906; retired on account of age in 1911; resident of Oakland, Cal.

Lynch, Thomas, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Granville, Milwaukee county, Wis., November 21, 1844; attended the public schools; moved to Calumet county in 1863 and continued farming and also taught school; held various local offices; member of the Wisconsin legislature in 1873 and 1883; was graduated from the law department of the Wisconsin university in 1875; was admitted to the bar, and practiced; district attorney 1878–1882; moved to Antigo, Langlade county, Wis., in 1883; mayor of Antigo in 1885 and 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); died in Antigo, Wis., May 4, 1898.

Lynch, Thomas, sr., a Delegate from South Carolina; born in South Carolina about 1720; active in pre-Revolutionary affairs; Delegate in the Colonial Congress in 1765; sat in the Continental Congress 1774–1776; resigned on account of ill health; died in South Carolina in 1776.

Lynch, Thomas, jr., a Delegate from South Carolina; born in Prince George parish, S. C., August 5, 1749; studied in Eton and Cambridge, England, also in the Temple in London; returned to America in 1772; became a planter on the North Santee River; served a short time in the Revolutionary war; Delegate in the Continental Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas Lynch, sr., and served 1776–1777; drowned at sea in the latter part of 1779.

Lynde, William Pitt, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Sherburne, Chenango county, N. Y., December 16, 1817; was graduated from Yale college in 1838; studied law and was admitted to the bar in New York; moved to Wisconsin in 1841; appointed attorney general of Wisconsin in 1844; United States district attorney for Wisconsin in 1845; elected mayor of Milwaukee in 1860; member of the state house of representatives in 1866; served in the state senate 1868–1869; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1849); reelected to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); died in Milwaukee, Wis., December 18, 1885.

Lyon, Asa, a Representative from Vermont; born in Pomfret, Conn., December 31, 1763; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1791; pastor in Sunderland, Mass.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in South Hero, Vt.; chief justice of Grand Island county 1805–1814; member of the state house of representatives 1800–1810 and 1814; executive councilor in 1808; elected as a Federalist to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); died in South Hero, Vt., April 4, 1841.

Lyon, Caleb, a Representative from New York; born in Greig, N. Y., December 7, 1822; was graduated from Norwich university of Vermont in 1841; United States consul at Shanghai, China, 1845–1849; secretary of the California constitutional convention; state representative and senator in 1851; elected as an Independent to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); moved to Staten Island, N. Y.; governor of Idaho Territory 1864–1866; died near Rossville, N. Y., September 8, 1875.

Lyon, Chittenden, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Vermont in 1786; attended the common schools; moved to Kentucky in 1801; served in both branches of the legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1835); died in Caldwell county, Ky., November 8, 1842.

Lyon, Francis Strother, a Representative from Alabama; born in Stokes county, N. C., about 1800; attended the common schools; moved to Demopolis, Ala.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); elected in 1863 to the second Confederate congress.

Lyon, Lucius, a Delegate, a Representative, and a Senator from Michigan; born in Shelbourne, Vt., February 26, 1800; attended the common schools; moved to Bronson, Michigan Ty.; land surveyor; elected as a Democrat a Delegate to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); elected to the United States Senate upon the admission of the state into the Union, and served from January 26, 1837, to March 3, 1839; surveyor general of public lands in the Northwest; reelected a Representative to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845; died in Detroit, Mich., September 24, 1851.

Digitized by Google

Lyon, Matthew, a Representative from Vermont and Kentucky, and a Delegate from Arkansas Territory; born in county Wicklow, Ireland, in 1746; emigrated to America in 1759; became prominent in ante-Revolutionary affairs; deputy paymaster in the Revolutionary army in 1778; clerk of the court of confiscation in 1786; founder of Fairfield, Vt., in 1783; state representative 1784–1794; elected from Vermont to the Fifth and Sixth Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1801); moved to Kentucky; elected from Kentucky to the Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, and Eleventh Congresses (March 4 1803–March 3, 1811); appointed United States factor among the Cherokee Indians in Arkansas; elected Delegate from Arkansas Territory to the Sixteenth Congress, but died before the assembling of the Congress, in Spadra Bluff, Ark., August 1, 1822.

Lytle, Robert Todd, a Representative from Ohio; born in Williamsburg, Clermont county, Ohio, September 19, 1804; attended the common schools and Cincinnati college; studied law in Louisville, Ky., was admitted to the bar in 1824, and commenced practice in Cincinnati, Ohio; elected to the state legislature in 1828; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress, and served from March 4, 1833, until March 10, 1834, when he resigned; reelected to fill vacancy caused by his own resignation and served from December 27, 1834, to March 3, 1835; appointed February 22, 1836, surveyor general of public lands in Ohio; major general of Ohio militia; died in New Orleans, La., December 22, 1839.

McAdoo, William, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Ireland, October 25, 1853; came with his parents to Jersey City; attended the common schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1874; member of the legislature of New Jersey; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1891); moved to New York in 1892; assistant Secretary of Navy 1893–1896; police commissioner of New York City 1904–1905; resumed the practice of law; appointed by Mayor Gaynor chief city magistrate of the city magistrates' courts, first division, city of New York, July 1, 1910.

McAleer, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in county Tyrone, Ireland, January 6, 1838; came to Philadelphia with his parents in 1851; attended public and private schools; elected a member of common councils from the fifth ward in 1871 for a term of two years; elected by councils in 1873 a member of the board of guardians of the poor for a term of three years, and reelected five consecutive terms; vice president and president of the board; member of the commercial exchange; director, vice president, and president of the same; director of the chamber of commerce in 1880; elected to the state senate in 1886 for a term of four years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); reelected to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1901).

McAllister, Archibald, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Dauphin county, Pa., in 1814; attended the public schools; engaged in iron manufacturing; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865).

McAndrews, James, a Representative from Illinois; born in Woonsocket, R. I., October 22, 1862; attended common schools; moved to Chicago, Ill., and engaged in business; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1905).

McArthur, Duncan, a Representative from Ohio; born in Dutchess county, N. Y., June 14, 1772; moved to western Pennsylvania, then to Chillicothe, Ohio; member of the state house of representatives in 1805, 1815, 1817, and 1819, and was speaker the last-named year; served as colonel and brigadier general in the militia, and held like commissions in the volunteers of the War of 1812; elected to the Thirteenth Congress, but declined to leave the army; elected as a Democrat to the Eighteenth Congress (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1825); Indian treaty commissioner in 1816; governor of Ohio, 1830–1832; unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Twenty-third Congress; died in Chillicothe, Ohio, April 28, 1839.

McBride, George Wycliffe, a Senator from Oregon; born in Yamhill county, Oreg., March 13, 1854; attended the public schools, the preparatory department of Willamette university and Christian college, Monmouth, Oreg., for two years; studied law and was admitted to the bar, but never practiced; engaged in mercantile business; member of the state house of representatives in 1882, and served as speaker; secretary of state of Oregon in 1886 and 1895; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate February 23, 1895, and served from March 4, 1895, until March 3, 1901; in March, 1901, appointed a United States commissioner to the St. Louis exposition of 1904; died in Portland, Oreg., June 18, 1911.

McBride, John Rogers, a Representative from Oregon; born in Franklin county, Mo., August 22, 1832; attended the public schools; moved to Oregon in 1846; superintendent of schools, 1854; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lafayette, Oreg., in 1855; delegate to the state constitutional convention; member of the state senate; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); appointed by President Grant United States judge for Idaho; member of the Republican National committee 1880–1892; died in Spokane, Wash., July 20, 1904.

McBryde, Archibald, a Representative from North Carolina; native of Moore county, N. C.; elected as a Democrat to the Eleventh and Twelfth Congresses (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1813); twice a member of the state senate.

McCall, John Etheridge, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Clarksburg, Carroll county, Tenn., August 14, 1859; attended the public schools, and was graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1881; studied law in Huntingdon, Tenn., and was admitted to the bar in 1883; edited the Tennessee Republican during 1882; located in Lexington, Tenn., in December, 1883, and continued the practice of law; unsuccessful candidate for district attorney in 1886; member of the Tennessee legislature in 1887 and 1889; delegate in the Chicago convention of 1888; appointed assistant United States district attorney for West Tennessee in 1890, which office he resigned in 1891; unsuccessful candidate for governor before the Republican state convention in 1892; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); delegate to the Republican national convention in Philadelphia in 1900; unsuccessful

Digitized by Google

Republican candidate for governor of Tennessee in 1900; collector of internal revenue of the fifth district of Tennessee, 1902-1905; appointed United States district judge for the western district of Tennessee; a resident of Memphis, Tenn.

McCall, Samuel Walker, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in East Providence, Pa., February 28, 1851; spent early life in Illinois; was graduated from New Hampton (N. H.) academy in 1870, and from Dartmouth college in 1874; was admitted to the bar and practiced law in Boston, Mass.; editor of the Boston Daily Advertiser; member of the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1888–1889, and 1892; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1888 and 1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, and to the eight succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

McCarthy, Dennis, a Representative from New York; born in Salina, N. Y., March 19, 1814; pursued an academic course; engaged in salt manufacturing; member of state house of representatives in 1846; served in the state senate 1876–1885; mayor of Syracuse, N. Y., in 1853; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Forty-second Congress; president of state senate in 1885; elected lieutenant-governor of New York, January 6, 1885; died in Syracuse, N. Y., February 14, 1886.

McCarthy, John Henry, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, November 16, 1850; attended the De La Salle institute, Christian Brothers, and St. Francis Xavier college, but did not complete the course; engaged in mercantile pursuits; studied law and was admitted to the bar; member of the legislature of New York in 1880 and 1881; elected civil justice for the fifth judicial district in the city of New York for the term of six years in 1882; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first Congress and served from March 4, 1889, until he resigned, January 14, 1891; justice of the city court of New York City from 1891 until his death in New York City, February 5, 1908.

McCarthy, John Jay, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Stoughton, Wis., July 19, 1857; attended the common schools and Albion academy; moved to Nebraska in 1879, and in the fall of 1882 removed to Dixon county; was admitted to the bar in 1884, and practiced law; elected county attorney of Dixon county in 1890, 1892, and 1894; elected representative in the legislature of Nebraska in 1898 and 1900; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907); resumed the practice of law in Ponca, Nebr.

McCarty, Andrew Zimmerman, a Representative from New York; born in Rhinebeck, Dutchess county, N. Y., July 14, 1808; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Pulaski, Oswego county, N. Y.; county clerk of Oswego county 1840–1843; member of the state house of representatives 1846–1847; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); died in Pulaski, Oswego county, N. Y., April 23, 1879.

McCarty, Jonathan, a Representative from Indiana; born in Tennessee about 1800; attended the public schools; moved to Franklin county, Ind.; state representative; moved to Connersville, Fayette county; held several county offices; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1839); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Twenty-fifth Congress; died in Keokuk, Iowa, in 1855.

McCarty, Richard, a Representative from New York; native of Albany, N. Y.; attended the public schools; elected to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823).

McCarty, William M., a Representative from Virginia; native of Loudoun county, Va.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles F. Mercer, and served from January 25, 1840, to March 3, 1841.

McCauslen, William Cochran, a Representative from Ohio; born in Pennsylvania in 1808; attended the public schools; located in Steubenville, Ohio; member of the Ohio general assembly 1832–1833; owned and edited a Democratic newspaper in Steubenville; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845; died in Steubenville, Ohio, in 1862.

McClammy, Charles Washington, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Scotts Hill, N. C., May 29, 1839; pursued an academic course, and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1859; engaged in teaching 1859–1861; entered the Confederate army in 1861; by successive promotions became major of the third North Carolina cavalry regiment, and surrendered at Appomattox; engaged in farming; elected a member of the house of commons of North Carolina in 1866 and of the state senate in 1871; Democratic elector in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); died in Scotts Hill, N. C., February 26, 1896.

McCleary, James Thompson, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Ingersoll, Ontario, February 5, 1853; attended the public schools and McGill university, Montreal; taught school for some years in Wisconsin; resigned the superintendency of the Pierce county, Wis., schools in 1881 to become state institute conductor of Minnesota and an instructor in the normal school in Mankato; continued in this position until June, 1892; president of the Minnesota educational association in 1891; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1907); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses; second assistant postmaster general 1907–1908; moved to New York City.

McClellan, Abraham, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Sullivan county, Tenn., October 4, 1789; farmer; elected to the state legislature four times; served in the state senate two terms; member of the convention to revise the state constitution in 1834; served in the Indian war of 1836; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1843); died in Sullivan county, Tenn., May 3, 1866.

McClellan, Charles A. O., a Representative from Indiana; born in Ashland, Ohio, May 25, 1835; moved to Auburn, Ind., in 1856; attended the public schools; studied law in Auburn, was admitted to the bar in 1860, and began practice in Auburn; engaged in the banking business in 1868; appointed judge of the fortieth circuit of Indiana by Governor Williams in 1879, and served for two years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1893); died in Auburn, Ind., January 31, 1898.

Digitized by Google

McClellan, George Brinton, a Representative from New York; born in Dresden, Saxony, November 23, 1865, where his parents had gone on a visit; was graduated from Princeton college in 1886; worked as a reporter and in editorial positions on several New York newspapers; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; president of the board of aldermen of the city and county of New York in 1892 and 1893; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1895, until December 21, 1903, when he resigned to become mayor of New York City; served as mayor until January, 1910.

McClellan, Robert, a Representative from New York; born in Livingston, N. Y., October 2, 1806; was graduated from Williams college in 1825; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Middleboro, N. Y., 1828–1843; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); died in Greenpoint, N. Y., June 28, 1860.

McClelland, Robert, a Representative from Michigan; born in Greencastle, Pa., August 1, 1807; was graduated from Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa., in 1829; engaged in teaching; was admitted to the bar in Chambersburg, Pa., in 1831; moved to Pittsburgh, Pa., then in 1833 to Monroe, Mich., and practiced law; delegate in the state constitutional conventions of 1835, 1850, and 1867; state representative 1838–1843, the last year served as speaker; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1849); delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1848, 1852, and 1868; governor of Michigan 1851–1853, resigned; Secretary of the Interior March 7, 1853–March 6, 1857; died in Detroit, Mich., August 27, 1880.

McClelland, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Mount Jackson, Pa., March 2, 1842; attended the Westminster college in New Wilmington, Pa.; served for more than four years in the Civil war; attended the Allegheny college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Mount Jackson in 1870; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Forty-third Congress.

McClenachan, Blair, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ireland; came to Philadelphia, Pa., at an early age; engaged in mercantile pursuits; served in the Revolutionary war; member of the state legislature 1790–1795; elected to the Fifth Congress (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1799); died in Philadelphia, Pa., May 8, 1812.

McClene, James, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in New London, Pa., October 11, 1730; member of the constitutional convention of 1776 to form a constitution for Pennsylvania; member of the state assembly 1776–1777; member of the supreme executive council 1778–1779; elected to the Continental Congress 1779–1780; member of the Constitutional Convention of 1789–1790; served in the state house of representatives 1790–1791 and 1793–1794; died in Antrim, Pa., March 13, 1806.

McClernand, John Alexander, a Representative from Illinois; born in Breckinridge county, Ky., May 30, 1812; moved to Illinois; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Shawneetown, Ill.; served in the Black Hawk war; state representative 1836, 1840, 1842, and 1843; presidential elector on the Van Buren and Johnson ticket; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1851); reelected to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses, and served from March 4, 1859, until October 28, 1861, when he resigned; returned to Illinois to raise troops for the Union army, and served through the Civil war; elected circuit judge in 1870; presided over Democratic national convention in 1876; died in Springfield, Ill., September 20, 1900.

McClure, Addison S., a Representative from Ohio; born in Wooster, Ohio, October 10, 1839; pursued an academic course in Jefferson college, Pa.; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in April, 1861; entered the army as a private in April, 1861, and elected captain of company H, sixteenth Ohio infantry volunteers, in October of the same year, and discharged on account of expiration of service in the fall of 1864; elected recorder in Wooster in 1867; appointed postmaster of Wooster in 1867; reappointed in 1872, and 1876; delegate in the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1868 and in Cincinnati in 1876; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); reelected to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Wooster, Ohio.

McClure, Charles, a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William S. Ramsey; reelected to the Twenty-sixth Congress, and served from December 7, 1840, to March 3, 1841; secretary of state of Pennsylvania; died in Pittsburgh, Pa., February 8, 1846.

McClurg, Joseph Washington, a Representative from Missouri; born in St. Louis county, Mo., February 22, 1818; attended the Xenia academy and Oxford college; taught school in Louisiana and Mississippi in 1835–1836; moved to Texas; circuit court clerk in 1840; returned to Missouri and engaged in business in 1844; served in the Civil war as colonel of cavalry in the Union army; member of the state convention 1861–1863; elected as an Emancipationist to the Thirty-eighth Congress, and reelected as a Radical to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses; and served from March 4, 1865, until his resignation in 1868; died in Lebanon, Mo., December 2, 1900.

McCoid, Moses Ayers, a Representative from Iowa; born in Logan county, Ohio, November 5, 1840; attended Fairfield university and Washington college, Pennsylvania; studied law in Fairfield, Iowa, and was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Fairfield 1858–1861; enlisted as a private in company E, second regiment Iowa volunteer infantry, May 6, 1861; commissioned a second lieutenant; acting adjutant of the regiment during the advance on Corinth and in the spring of 1862; engaged in the practice of law in Fairfield; district attorney of the sixth judicial district of Iowa from January, 1867, to January, 1871; member of the state senate of Iowa 1872–1879; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1885); resumed the practice of law; died in Fairfield, Iowa, May 19, 1904. C

Digitized by Google

McComas, Louis Emory, a Representative and a Senator from Maryland; born in Washington county, Md., October 28, 1846; attended St. James college, Maryland; was graduated from Dickinson college, Pennsylvania, in 1866; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Hagerstown, Md., in 1868, and practiced until 1892; professor of international law in the law school of Georgetown university; defeated Republican candidate for the Forty-fifth Congress; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1891); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Fifty-second Congress; delegate at large to the Republican national conventions in 1892 and 1900, and during the presidential campaign of 1892 was secretary of the Republican national committee; on November 17, 1892, appointed by President Harrison an associate justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, which office he held when elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1899, until March 3, 1905; appointed a justice of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia; died in Washington, D. C., November 10, 1907.

McComas, William, a Representative from Virginia; native of Virginia; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837).

McComb, Eleazer, a Delegate from Delaware; sat in the Continental Congress 1782–1784.

McConnell, Felix Grundy, a Representative from Alabama; born in Nashville, Tenn., in 1809; moved to Talladega, Ala.; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced; member of the state house of representatives in 1838; served in the state senate 1839–1843; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1843, until his death in Washington, D. C., September 10, 1846.

McConnell, William J., a Senator from Idaho; born in Commerce, Oakland county, Mich., September 18, 1839; pursued an academic course; went to California in 1860 and engaged in mining, in the cattle business, merchandising, and banking; resided in Oregon 1862–1863, and taught school in Yamhill county; went to Idaho in 1863; deputy United States marshal 1865–1867; returned to California and was engaged in the cattle business five years; returned to Idaho; elected to and president of the Oregon state senate in 1882; member of the national convention which nominated James G. Blaine for President; also a member of the constitutional convention of Idaho; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate December 18, 1890, and served from December 18, 1890, to March 3, 1891; elected governor of Idaho in 1892, and reelected in 1894; appointed Indian inspector by President McKinley in 1897.

McCook, Anson George, a Representative from New York; born in Steubenville, Ohio, October 10, 1835; attended the common schools of New Lisbon, Ohio; in 1854 crossed the plains to California; returned in the autumn of 1859, and at the outbreak of the Civil war was engaged in the study of law; entered the Union army; captain of the second regiment of Ohio infantry April 17, 1861; honorably mustered out July 31, 1861; on the reorganization of the regiment was commissioned major August 6, 1861; lieutenant colonel January 1, 1863; colonel January 20, 1863; brevet brigadier general of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for meritorious services"; honorably discharged October 21, 1865; appointed assessor of internal revenue in the seventeenth Ohio district in November, 1865; moved to New York City in May, 1873; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); secretary of the United States Senate 1883–1893; appointed by Mayor Wm. L. Strong city chamberlain of the City of New York and served 1895–1898.

McCord, Andrew, a Representative from New York; native of Ulster county, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1800, 1802, and 1807; elected to the Eighth Congress (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1805).

McCord, Myron Hawley, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Ceres, McKean county, Pa., November 26, 1840; moved to Wisconsin in 1854, and settled in Shawano; moved to Merrill in 1875; attended Richburg academy, New York; became a publisher, lumberman, and farmer; published a newspaper 1868–1883; member of the state senate 1873–1874; member of the assembly in 1881; delegate in the Cincinnati Republican national convention of 1876; register United States land office from April 1, 1883, to December 31, 1885; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); returned to Merrill, Wis., and engaged in farming and lumbering; unsuccessful candidate for Representative in the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses; moved to Arizona; appointed governor of Arizona in 1897; resigned in 1898 and organized the territorial regiment for the Spanish war; appointed United States marshal for district of Arizona in 1902, and later appointed collector of customs for the port of Nogales, Ariz.; died in Phoenix, Ariz., April 27, 1904.

McCorkle, Joseph W., a Representative from California; native of Ohio; moved to Marysville, Cal.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853).

McCormick, Henry Clay, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Washington township, Lycoming county, Pa., June 30, 1844; attended the common schools and Dickinson seminary; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1866 and practiced in Williamsport, Pa.; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); delegate at large in the Republican national convention of 1892; elected president of the Williamsport and North Branch railroad January 1, 1892; appointed attorney general of Pennsylvania by Governor Hastings in January, 1895, and served four years; died in Williamsport, Pa., May 26, 1902.

McCormick, James Robinson, a Representative from Missouri; born in Washington county, Mo., August 1, 1824; attended the public schools and Transylvania university, Ky.; studied medicine, and was graduated from the Memphis medical college in 1849, and commenced practice in Wayne county, Mo.; moved to Perry county in 1850, and practiced; delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1861; served during the civil war as surgeon of the sixth Missouri volunteer infantry; after the war located in Arcadia, Mo., and resumed the practice of medicine; elected to the state senate in 1862, but resigned on account of duties in the army; brigadier general of militia in 1863; again elected to the state senate in 1866, but resigned the following year; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the death of Thomas E. Noel; reelected to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses and served from December 17, 1867, to March 3, 1873; moved to Farmington, Mo., and engaged in the drug business; died in Farmington, St. Francois county, Mo., May 19, 1897.

Digitized by Google

McCormick, John Wesley, a Representative from Ohio; born in Gallia county, Ohio, December 20, 1831; attended the Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, Ohio, and the Ohio university, Athens, Ohio; engaged in farming; delegate in the Ohio constitutional convention of 1873; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885).

McCormick, Napoleon Bonaparte, a Representative from Kansas; born in Fayette county, Pa., November 20, 1847; attended the common schools; moved to Marion county, Iowa, in 1867, where he engaged in farming and stock-raising until his removal to Phillips county, Kans., where he settled upon a homestead in 1877; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1882; deputy county attorney for four years; elected county attorney of Phillips county in 1890 and reelected in 1892; refused a third nomination; elected as a Populist to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); resumed the practice of law in Phillipsburg, Kans., and was elected county attorney of Phillips county in 1910.

McCormick, Richard Cunningham, a Delegate from Arizona and a Representative from New York; born in New York City, May 23, 1832; pursued classical studies; entered business in Wall street in 1852; engaged in journalistic work in New York in 1857; with the Army of the Potomac as a correspondent of the New York Evening Post in 1861–1862; first chief clerk of the Department of Agriculture; appointed secretary of Arizona Territory in 1863 and governor of the Territory in 1866; elected as a Union candidate a Delegate from Arizona territory to the Forty-first, Forty-second, and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1875); established the Arizona Miner in 1864, and the Arizona Citizen in 1870; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1872, 1876, and 1880; returned to New York; United States commissioner to the Centennial exposition in 1876; first assistant Secretary of the Treasury in 1877; commissioner general to the Paris exposition in 1878; declined the mission to Brazil in 1877, and the mission to Mexico in 1879; elected as a Republican from New York to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); member of the board of managers of the State normal school in Jamaica, N. Y.; died in Jamaica, N. Y., June 2, 1901.

McCoy, Robert, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Carlisle, Pa.; attended the common schools; state canal commissioner; elected to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); died in Wheeling, W. Va., June 7, 1849.

McCoy, William, a Representative from Virginia; native of Augusta county, Va.; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twelfth, and to the ten succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1833).

McCrary, George Washington, a Representative from Iowa; born near Evansville, Ind., August 29, 1835; moved to Iowa in 1836; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Keokuk, Iowa, in 1856; member of the state house of representatives in 1857 and of the state senate in 1861; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first, Forty-second, Forty-third, and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1877); Secretary of War under President Hayes, March 12, 1877, to December 10, 1879; United States judge of the eighth judicial district 1879–1884; moved to Kansas City, Mo.; became consulting attorney for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad company; died in St. Joseph, Mo., June 23, 1895.

McCrate, John Dennis, a Representative from Maine; born in Wiscasset, Me., October 1, 1800; was graduated from Bowdoin college in 1819; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Wiscasset; member of the state house of representatives 1831–1836; customs collector 1836–1841; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); died in Sutton, Mass., September 11, 1879.

McCreary, George Deardorff, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in York Springs, Adams county, Pa., September 28, 1846; moved with his parents to Philadelphia in 1864; attended the common and private schools, entered the University of Pennsylvania, and remained until 1867; began his independent business career in 1870; elected treasurer of the city and county of Philadelphia in November, 1891, and during his term of office, from 1892 to 1895, reorganized the finances of the city; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

McCreary, James Bennett, a Representative and a Senator from Kentucky; born in Madison county, Ky., July 8, 1838; was graduated from Center college, Danville, Ky., in 1857; studied law, was graduated from the law department of Cumberland university, Tennessee, in 1859, and commenced practice in Richmond, Ky., in 1860; entered the Confederate army in 1862, and was lieutenant colonel of the eleventh Kentucky cavalry at the close of the war; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1868, but declined; delegate in the Democratic national convention held in New York City July 4, 1868; member of the house of representatives of Kentucky 1869, 1871, and 1873, and served as speaker in 1871, and reelected speaker in 1873; elected governor in May, 1875, and served from August, 1875, to September, 1879; appointed by the President a delegate to the international monetary conference held in Brussels, Belgium, in 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1897); delegate in the Democratic national convention held in Kansas City in 1900, and chairman of the state Democratic committee in the campaign of 1900; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate in 1902, and served from March 4, 1903, until March 3, 1909; elected governor of Kentucky in 1912.

Digitized by Google

McCreary, John, a Representative from South Carolina; native of Chester district, S. C.; elected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821).

McCredie, William Wallace, a Representative from Washington; born in Montrose, Susquehanna county, Pa., April 27, 1862; was graduated from Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Iowa, in 1885; attended the law school of the Iowa State university 1889–1890; was admitted to the bar, and practiced; prosecuting attorney of Clarke county, Wash., 1895–1896; elected superior judge in January, 1905; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Francis W. Cushman, and served from December 6, 1909, to March 3, 1911; defeated for reelection to the Sixty-second Congress; resumed the practice of law in Vancouver, Wash.

McCreedy, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of that state; elected to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831).

McCreery, Thomas Clay, a Senator from Kentucky; born in Daviess county, Ky., December 12, 1816; attended the common schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1852; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Guthrie, and served from February 19, 1868, to March 3, 1871; reelected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1873, to March 3, 1879; died in Owensboro, Ky., July 10, 1890.

McCreery, William, a Representative from Maryland; was elected to the Eighth, Ninth, and Tenth Congresses (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1809).

McCulloch, George, a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William W. Potter, and served from December 2, 1839, to March 4, 1841.

McCulloch, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of that state; attended the public schools; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855).

McCulloch, Philip Doddridge, jr., a Representative from Arkansas; born in Murfreesboro, Rutherford county, Tenn., June 23, 1851; moved with his parents to Trenton, Gibson county, Tenn.; attended Andrew college; studied law, was admitted to the bar of Tennessee in August, 1872, and engaged in practice in Trenton; moved to Marianna, Lee county, Ark., in February, 1874; elected prosecuting attorney of the first judicial district in September, 1878; renominated and elected for three successive terms; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1903).

McCullogh, Welty, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Greensburg, Westmoreland county, Pa., October 10, 1847; attended the common schools; entered sophomore class in Washington and Jefferson college and remained nearly two years; was graduated from Princeton in June, 1870; second clerk under Capt. W. B. Coulter, provost marshal of twenty-first district of Pennsylvania, for two years during the Civil war; read law, and was admitted to the bar in 1872; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); died in Greenbsurg, Pa., August 31, 1889.

McCullough, Hiram, a Representative from Maryland; born in Cecil county, Md., September 26, 1813; pursued an academic course at Elkton academy; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1838, and practiced in Elkton, Md.; member of the state senate 1845–1851; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); delegate in the Democratic national convention in New York, 1868; member of the state legislature for several terms, and served as speaker in 1880; died in Elkton, Md., March 4, 1885.

McCullough, Thomas Grubb, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Greencastle, Franklin county, Pa., April 20, 1785; attended the common schools; elected to the Sixteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of David Fullerton, and served from November 13, 1820, to March 4, 1821; served in the general assembly of Pennsylvania 1831–1833; died in Chambersburg, Pa., September 10, 1848.

McCumber, Porter James, a Senator from North Dakota; born in Illinois February 3, 1858; moved to Rochester, Minn., the same year; attended the common schools; taught school for a few years; was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1880; moved to Wahpeton, N. Dak., in 1881, and practiced his profession; member of the territorial legislature in 1885 and 1887; attorney general 1887–1888; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate January 20, 1899, for the term commencing March 4, 1899; reelected in 1905, and served from March 4, 1899, to March 3, 1911. Reelected for the term commencing March 4, 1911.

McDaniel, William, a Representative from Missouri; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Sterling Price, and served from December 7, 1846, to March 3, 1847.

McDannold, John J., a Representative from Illinois; born in Brown county, Ill., August 29, 1851; attended the common schools and a private school in Quincy; studied law, and was graduated from the law department of the Iowa State university, Iowa City, in June, 1874; was admitted to the bar of Illinois in September, 1874, and practiced in Mount Sterling; appointed master in chancery for Brown county, October, 1885; elected county judge of Brown county, November, 1886; reelected in November, 1890; resigned October 2, 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); located in Chicago and resumed the practice of law.

McDearmon, James Calvin, a Representative from Tennessee; born in New Canton, Buckingham county, Va., June 13, 1844; moved with his parents to Gibson county, Tenn., in 1846; attended Andrew college, Trenton, Tenn., 1858–1861; entered the Confederate army April, 1862, and served throughout the war in Cheatham's division, Army of the Tennessee; wounded slightly at Murfreesboro and severely at Franklin; surrendered in Greensboro, N. C., with Johnston's army April 26, 1865; was admitted to the bar in 1867, and practiced in Trenton, Tenn.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law; died in Trenton, Tenn., July 19, 1902.

Digitized by Google

McDermott, Allan Langdon, a Representative from New Jersey; born in South Boston, Mass., March 30, 1854; attended the common schools, studied law, and was admitted to the bar; corporation attorney of Jersey City 1879–1883; district court judge 1883–1886; president Jersey City board of finance and taxation 1883–1886; member of state board of taxation 1884–1886; member of the state assembly 1880–1881; corporation counsel of Jersey City; member of the state senate 1899–1900; chairman of the New Jersey state Democratic committee 1885–1895; member of the commission to revise the constitution of New Jersey 1894; candidate of the Democratic legislative caucus for United States Senator in 1895; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William B. Daly; reelected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, and Fifty-ninth Congresses, and served from December 3, 1900, to March 3, 1907; died in Jersey City, N. J., October 26, 1908.

McDermott, James Thomas, a Representative from Illinois; born in Grand Rapids, Mich., February 13, 1872; attended St. Andrews Cathedral school; with his family moved to Detroit, Mich., in 1884, where he learned telegraphy; moved to Chicago in 1889; in March, 1905, engaged in the cigar business; elected as a Democrat to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

McDill, Alexander Stuart, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Crawford county, Pa., March 18, 1822; attended Allegheny college, was graduated from Cleveland medical college 1848, and practiced medicine in Crawford county, Pa., 1848–1856; moved to Portage county, Wis., in 1856; member of the state house of representatives in 1861 and of the state senate in 1862; Republican presidential elector in 1864; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Forty-fourth Congress; medical superintendent of the Wisconsin state hospital for the insane 1868–1873 and 1875 until his death, near Madison, Wis., November 12, 1875.

McDill, James Wilson, a Representative and a Senator from Iowa; born in Monroe, Ohio, March 4, 1834; was graduated from the Miami university at Oxford, Ohio, in 1853; studied law in Columbus, Ohio, and was admitted to the bar in 1856; moved to Iowa in that year; county judge of Union county, Iowa, in 1860; clerk in the office of the Third Auditor of the Treasury 1862–1865; resigned and returned to Iowa; elected circuit judge of the second district, third judicial circuit of Iowa, in 1868; appointed in 1870 and then elected district judge of the third judicial circuit of Iowa; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); member of the board of railroad commissioners for the state of Iowa, 1878–1881; appointed and subsequently elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel J. Kirkwood, and served from March 8, 1881, until March 3, 1883; died in Creston, Iowa, February 28, 1894.

McDonald, Alexander, a Senator from Arkansas; born in Clinton county, Pa., April 10, 1832; attended Lewisburg university; moved to Kansas in 1857, engaging in general business; active in the Civil war on the Union side; became interested in banking in Arkansas in 1863, finally located in Little Rock; member of the state constitutional convention; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy in term beginning March 4, 1865, and served from June 22, 1868, to March 3, 1871.

McDonald, Edward Francis, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Ireland, September 21, 1844; came to this country with his parents during infancy; attended the public schools; became a skilled mechanic; elected to the New Jersey assembly in 1874; director at large of the board of chosen freeholders of Hudson county in 1877, reelected in 1879, and served four years; chosen presidential elector by the Democratic state convention in 1884, but declined the office; presented credentials to the state senate in 1889, but was unseated; enlisted in 1861 in the seventh regiment New Jersey volunteers, and served under McClellan and Hooker; largely interested in the business of real estate; town treasurer for ten years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress and served from March 4, 1891, until his death in Harrison, N. J., November 5, 1892.

McDonald, John, a Representative from Maryland; born in Ireland, May 24, 1837; attended the schools of Ireland; came to this country and enlisted in the United States army at Boston, Mass., in 1857; joined his regiment the following December in Arizona; participated in several Indian campaigns in that Territory and in California; served in the cavalry corps of the Army of the Potomac throughout the Civil war; after the war ordered to the West, where he again took part in several campaigns against hostile Indians; retired as a captain of cavalry July 1, 1868, for disabilities incurred in the line of service; elected to the Maryland legislature as a Republican in 1881; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899).

McDonald, Joseph Ewing, a Representative and a Senator from Indiana; born in Butler county, Ohio, August 29, 1819; moved with his mother to Indiana in 1826; apprenticed to the saddler's trade in Lafayette, Ind.; attended Wabash college, Crawfordsville, Ind., but did not graduate; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1843, and commenced practice in Crawfordsville; prosecuting attorney 1843-1847; elected to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849-March 3, 1851); elected attorney general of Indiana in 1856 and reelected in 1858; moved to Indianapolis in 1859; unsuccessful candidate for governor of Indiana in 1864; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1875, to March 3, 1881; died in Indianapolis, Ind., June 21, 1891.

McDonald, Moses, a Representative from Maine; born in Limerick, Me., April 8, 1814; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1837, and commenced practice in Biddeford, Me., in 1837; member of the state house of representatives 1841-1842, and elected speaker in 1845; served in the state senate in 1847; state treasurer 1847-1849; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851-March 3, 1855); customs collector in Portland, 1857-1861; died in Saco, Me., October 18, 1869.

McDougall, Alexander, a Delegate from New York; born in island of Islay, Scotland, in 1731; came to New York in 1755; engaged in printing and was imprisoned as the alleged author of Revolutionary documents; served in the Revolutionary war; colonel of the first New York infantry June 30, 1775-November, 1775; brigadier general Continental army August 9, 1776; major general October 20, 1777, and until the close of the war; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1781–1782 and 1784–1785; member of the state senate 1783–1786; died in New York City, June 8, 1786.

Digitized by Google

McDougall, James Alexander, a Representative and a Senator from California; born in Bethlehem, N. Y., November 19, 1817; attended the Albany public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Pike county, Ill., in 1837; state attorney general 1842-1846; made explorations of the southwestern part of the United States; finally located in San Francisco; attorney general of California in 1850; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853-March 3, 1855); elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1861, to March 3, 1867; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1864; died in Albany, N. Y., September 3, 1867.

McDowell, Alexander, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Franklin, Venango county, Pa., March 4, 1845; attended the common schools; printer by trade; engaged in the banking business; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893-March 3, 1895); elected Clerk of the House of Representatives in the Fifty-fourth and the seven succeeding Congresses, March 4, 1895, to March 3, 1911.

McDowell, James, a Representative from Virginia; born in Rockbridge county, Va., October 13, 1796; was graduated from Princeton college in 1817; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William Taylor; reelected to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses, and served from March 6, 1846, to March 3, 1851; died near Lexington, Va., August 24, 1851.

McDowell, James Foster, a Representative from Indiana; born in Mifflin county, Pa., December 3, 1825; moved to Ohio in 1835; attended the public schools; worked in a printing office; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1846; elected district attorney of Darke county, Ohio, in 1848; established the Marion Journal in Indiana; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-ninth Congress; resumed the practice of law; died in Marion, Ind., April 18, 1887.

McDowell, John Anderson, a Representative from Ohio; born in Killbuck, Holmes county, Ohio, September 25, 1853; moved with his father's family to a farm in Monroe township, Holmes county, and attended the common schools; returned to Killbuck; attended the Millersburg high school and Lebanon normal university; was graduated from Mount Union college; taught school seven winter terms; principal of Millersburg high school two years and superintendent of Millersburg schools for seventeen years; county school examiner for fourteen years; engaged as instructor in teachers' institutes in several counties in Ohio; also instructor in the summer school of Wooster university; directly interested in agricultural pursuits for several years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1903); superintendent of public instruction and institute lecturer located in Ashland, Ohio.

McDowell, Joseph, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Winchester, Va., February 25, 1756; moved to Burke county, N. C.; active in the Revolutionary war; member of the house of commons of North Carolina 1782-1788; opposed to the adoption of the Federal Constitution in the state convention; elected to the Third Congress (March 4, 1793-March 3, 1795); reelected to the Fifth Congress (March 4, 1797-March 3, 1799); died in Burke county, N. C., in 1801.

McDowell, Joseph Jefferson, a Representative from Ohio; born in Burke county, N. C., November 13, 1800; moved to Hillsboro, Ohio; member of the state house of representatives in 1830; served in the state senate in 1833; brigadier general of the state militia in 1834; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1835, and practiced in Hillsboro, Ohio; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843-March 3, 1847); engaged in agricultural pursuits; died in Hillsboro, Ohio, January 17, 1877.

McDuffie, George, E., a Representative and a Senator from South Carolina; born in Columbia county, Ga., August 10, 1790; was graduated from South Carolina college in 1813; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1814, and commenced practice in Pendleton, S. C.; member of the state house of representatives 1818–1820; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth, and to the six succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1821, until his resignation in 1834; elected governor of South Carolina; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William C. Preston; reelected and served from December 23, 1842, until his resignation, August 17, 1846; died in Sumter district, S. C., March 11, 1851.

McDuffie, John Van, a Representative from Alabama; born in Addison, Steuben county, N. Y., May 16, 1841; moved with his parents to Bureau county, Ill.; 1855; attended Lutheran college, Iowa; enlisted in company B, second Iowa cavalry, July, 1861; served during the entire war, leaving service in Selma, Ala.; located in Lowndes county, Ala.; studied law, and was admitted to practice in the state courts; elected judge of probate in 1868; reelected in 1872, and held the office until 1880; elected a member of the state constitutional convention in 1875, but did not serve; unsuccessful Republican candidate for the Fiftieth Congress; unsuccessfully contested the election of Alexander C. Davidson in said Congress; successfully contested the election of Louis W. Turpin to the Fifty-first Congress, and served from June 4, 1890, until March 3, 1893; died in Hoyneville, Ala., November 18, 1896.

McEnery, Samuel Douglas, a Senator from Louisiana; born in Monroe, La., May 28, 1837; attended the Spring Hill college, near Mobile, Ala.; the United States naval academy and the University of Virginia; was graduated from State and National law school, Poughkepesie, N. Y., in 1859; served in the Confederate army in the Civil war as lieutenant, in Virginia, under Magruder, and in the trans-Mississippi department; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected as a Democrat lieutenant governor of Louisiana in 1879; on the death of Governor Wiltz, October, 1881, succeeded him in the executive office; elected governor in 1884; appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana in 1888 for the term of twelve years; unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1892; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate in 1897; reelected in 1902, and served from March 4, 1897, until his death, in New Orleans, La., June 28, 1910.

Digitized by Google

McEttrick, Michael Joseph, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Roxbury, Mass., June 22, 1848; was graduated from the Washington Grammar and the Roxbury Latin schools; became a journalist; assistant assessor of Boston in 1884; elected the same year to the state house of representatives and reelected seven consecutive terms; chairman of the Democratic members of the house; member of the state senate in 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); again a member of the state legislature, 1906–1907; member of the state senate, 1908; engaged in business in Roxbury, Mass.

McEwan, Thomas, jr., a Representative from New Jersey; born in Paterson, N. J., February 26, 1854; attended the public schools of Paterson; became a civil engineer; subsequently studied law and was admitted to the bar; assessor of the fourth district, Jersey City, for two years, 1886–1887; United States commissioner and chief supervisor of elections for the district of New Jersey from August, 1892, to October, 1893; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1892; member of the state assembly in 1893; Republican leader of the house in the assembly of 1894; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899).

McFadden, Obadiah Benton, a Delegate from Washington territory; born in West Middletown, Washington county, Pa., November 18, 1815; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1838, and practiced; elected state representative in 1843; appointed a justice of the supreme court of Oregon territory in 1853, of Washington territory in 1854, and chief justice of the latter in 1858; served until 1861; member of the legislative council; elected as a Democrat a Delegate to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); died in Olympia, Wash., June 25, 1875.

McFarlan, Duncan, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Laurel Hill, N. C.; attended the common schools; member of the state house of commons, 1792; elected to the Ninth Congress (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1807); served in the state senate in 1793; died in Laurel Hill, N. C., September 7, 1816.

McFarland, William, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Dandridge, Tenn., September 15, 1821; attended the common schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; engaged in tanning and other business until 1861; engaged in the practice of law in 1865; held several local judicial offices; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Forty-fifth Congress; died in Morristown, Tenn., April 13, 1900.

McGann, Lawrence Edward, a Representative from Illinois; born in Ireland, February 2, 1852; emigrated to the United States with his mother in 1855, and settled in Milford, Mass.; attended the public schools; moved to Chicago, Ill., in 1865, and there worked in the boot and shoe trade until 1879, employed as clerk in the service of the city until 1885; appointed superintendent of streets January 1, 1885, and resigned May, 1891; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Fifty-fourth Congress, but his election was successfully contested by Hugh R. Belknap, and he served from March 4, 1895, until December 2, 1895, when he resigned; commissioner of public works, Chicago, 1897–1901; city comptroller 1901–1907; again commissioner of public works in 1911.

McGaughey, Edward Wilson, a Representative from Indiana; born in Greencastle, Ind., January 16, 1817; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1835, and practiced; member of the state senate in 1842; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); reelected to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-second Congress; died in San Francisco, Cal., August 6, 1852.

McGaughey, Richard W., a Representative from Indiana; resident of Rockville, Ind.; elected to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851).

McGavin, Charles, a Representative from Illinois; born in Riverton, Sangamon county, Ill., January 10, 1874; attended common schools in Springfield, and the high school in Mount Olive, Ill.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1897, and practiced two years in Springfield; moved to Chicago in 1899, where he continued in practice; became assistant city attorney in 1903; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1909); resumed the practice of law in Los Angeles, Cal.

McGowan, Jonas Hartzell, a Representative from Michigan; born in the township of Smithtown, Mahoning (then Columbiana) county, Ohio, April 2, 1837; moved with his parents to Orland, Steuben county, Ind., in 1854; was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1861; taught in the city schools of Coldwater, Mich., for one year, and then enlisted as a private in the fifth Michigan cavalry volunteers; afterwards promoted to captain; raised a company for the ninth Michigan cavalry, and went into active service with that regiment in the spring of 1863; by reason of injuries received in a cavalry charge was disabled, and resigned his commission in February, 1864, and returned to Coldwater, Mich.; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1867; from 1868 to 1872 prosecuting attorney of Branch county; served one term as state senator and seven years as regent of the University of Michigan; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C., where he died July 5, 1910.

McGrew, James Clark, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Monongalia county, Va. (now West Virginia), September 14, 1813; attended the common schools; engaged in mercantile pursuits and banking; delegate to the state convention of 1861; member of the state house of representatives, 1863–1865; managing director of the West Virginia insane hospital for many years; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); last survivor of the Virginia secession convention; died in Kingwood, W. Va., September 18, 1910.

Digitized by Google

McGuire, Bird Segle, a Delegate and a Representative from Oklahoma; born in Belleville, Ill., October 13, 1865; moved with his parents to Randolph county, Mo., in 1867, where they resided upon a farm until the spring of 1881, when they moved to Chautauqua county, Kans., and then to Indian territory; engaged in the cattle business; attended the state normal school in Emporia, Kans., and taught school several terms; attended the law department of the university in Lawrence; was admitted to the bar; returned to Chautauqua, Kans., and practiced; county attorney 1890–1895; moved to Pawnee county, Okla., in 1895, and practiced law; in 1897 appointed assistant United States attorney for Oklahoma territory, in which capacity he served until after his nomination for Congress; elected as a Republican a Delegate to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1909); elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress, and served from December 2, 1907, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

McHatton, Robert, native of Virginia; moved to Georgetown, Ky.; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Nineteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Johnson; reelected to the Twentieth Congress, and served from December 7, 1826, to March 3, 1829; died in Georgetown, Ky.

McHenry, Henry D., a Representative from Kentucky; born in Hartford, Ky., February 27, 1826; was graduated from Transylvania law school in 1845; member of the state house of representatives 1851–1853 and 1865–1867; member of the state senate 1861–1865; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); member of the state constitutional convention of 1891; died in Hartford, Ky., December 17, 1890.

McHenry, James, a Delegate from Maryland; born in Ireland, November 16, 1753; pursued classical studies; member of Washington's "military family" from 1778 to 1780; surgeon in the fifth Pennsylvania battalion during the Revolution; member of the Maryland senate 1781–1786; aid-de-camp to Gen. Lafayette during the Revolution; member of the state house of representatives 1781–1786; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1783–1786, and in the Federal constitutional convention of 1787; Secretary of War January 29, 1796, to May 13, 1800; died in Baltimore, Md., May 3, 1816.

McHenry, John Geiser, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Benton township, Columbia county, Pa., April 26, 1868; attended the public schools and Orangeville academy; banker, manufacturer, and farmer; state superintendent of the Grange National banks throughout Pennsylvania; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress. Died in Benton, La., December 27, 1912.

McHenry, John Hardin, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Washington county, Ky., October 13, 1797; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the state legislature from Ohio county, in 1840; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); member of the state constitutional conventions of 1849; died in Owensboro, Ky., November 1, 1871.

McIlvaine, Abraham Robinson, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Ridley, Delaware county, Pa., August 14, 1804; attended the common schools; became a farmer in Chester county, Pa.; member of the state house of representatives 1836–1837; Presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1840; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1949); died in Chester county, Pa., August 22, 1863.

McIlvaine, Joseph, a Senator from New Jersey; born in Bristol, Bucks county, Pa., October 2, 1769; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1791 in Burlington, N. J.; county court clerk 1800–1823; United States attorney for New Jersey 1801–1820; appointed judge of the superior court of New Jersey in 1818, but declined; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel L. Southard, and served from November 12, 1823, until his death in Burlington, N. J., August 19, 1826.

McIndoe, Walter Duncan, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Dumbartonshire, Scotland, March 30, 1819; emigrated to America in 1823; engaged in business in New York, Charleston, and St. Louis; finally located in Wisconsin and engaged in the lumber business; member of the state house of representatives 1850, 1854, and 1855; unsuccessful candidate for governor of Wisconsin in 1857; presidential elector on the Republican tickets of 1856 and 1860; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Luther Hanchett; reelected to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses, and served from January 26, 1863, to March 3, 1867; died in Wausau, Wis., August 22, 1872.

McIntire, Rufus, a Representative from Maine; born in York, Me., December 19, 1774; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1809; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1812, and commenced practice in Parsonsfield, Me., in 1812; served in the war of 1812; member of the state house of representatives; county attorney; member of the boundary commission in 1826; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1827-March 3, 1835); state land agent 1839-1840; United States marshal for Maine and surveyor of the port of Portland; died in Parsonsfield, Me., April 28, 1866.

McIntire, William Watson, a Representative from Maryland; born in Chambersburg, Franklin county, Pa., June 30, 1850; moved with parents to Washington county, Md.; learned the trade of machinist; moved in July, 1872, to Baltimore; received an appointment in the United States railway mail service in 1874; remained in this service until 1885, when he resigned; attended Hagerstown academy; studied law and was admitted to the Baltimore bar; elected as a Republican to the city council of Baltimore in 1887, and reelected in 1888; in the campaign of 1895 was treasurer of the Maryland Republican state and city committees; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1889); member Baltimore sewerage commission; died in Baltimore county, Md., March 30, 1912.

McIntyre, Archibald Thompson, a Representative from Georgia; born in Twiggs county,

Digitized by Google

Ga., October 27, 1822; attended Thomasville academy; studied law in Monticello, Fla., and Macon, Ga., was admitted to the bar and practiced; member of the state house of representaives in 1849; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1865; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871-March 3, 1873).

McJunkin, Ebenezer, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Center Top, Butler county, Pa., March 28, 1819; was graduated from Jefferson college, Pennsylvania, in 1841; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1843, and practiced in Butler, Pa.; deputy attorney general for Butler county, 1850; delegate in the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1860; Republican presidential elector in 1864; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses, and served from March 4, 1871, until he resigned January 1, 1875; died in Butler, Pa., November 10, 1907.

McKaig, William McMahon, a Representative from Maryland; born in Cumberland, Allegany county, Md., July 29, 1845; attended the Carroll school and the Allegany county academy; studied law, and was admitted to the Allegany bar April, 1868; moved to Colorado territory in 1873; and thereafter followed mining in Utah, California, Mexico, Central and South America; returned to New York, and then located in Maryland; appointed city attorney of Cumberland in 1876; member of the state house of representatives in 1877; member of the state senate in 1887; mayor of Cumberland in 1890; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891-March 3, 1895); died in Cumberland, Md., June 6, 1907.

McKay, James J., a Representative from North Carolina; born in Bladen county, N. C., in 1793; pursued classical studies; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; United States attorney for North Carolina for a number of years; member of the state senate 1815-1819, 1822, 1826, and 1830; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second, and to the eight succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1831-March 3, 1849); died in Goldsboro, N. C., September 14, 1853.

McKean, James Bedell, a Representative from New York; born in Hoosick, N. Y., August 5, 1821; pursued an academic course; taught school for several terms and served as superintendent of public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1847, and commenced practice in Saratoga Springs in 1849; county judge, 1854-1858; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859-March 3, 1863); colonel of the seventy-seventh New York volunteers in the Civil war; appointed chief justice of Utah by President Lincoln, and served until 1875; died in Salt Lake City, Utah, January 5, 1879.

McKean, Samuel, a Representative and a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Huntingdon county, Pa., September 19, 1790; attended the common schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; member of the state legislature, 1815-1819; elected as a Democrat to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1823-March 3, 1829); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1833, to March 3, 1839; died in Burlington, McKean county, Pa., June 28, 1840.

McKean, Thomas, a Delegate from Delaware; born in New London, Chester county, Pa., November 19, 1734; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1754, and commenced practice in Newcastle, Del.; colonial representative 1762-1769; delegate from Delaware to the general congress in New York City in 1765, and to the Continental Congress 1774-1783; chief justice of Pennsylvania, 1776-1798; elected president of the state of Delaware in 1776; president of congress in 1781; served in the Revolutionary army; moved to Pennsylvania; delegate in the state constitutional convention; governor of Pennsylvania, 1799-1808; died in Philadelphia, Pa., June 24, 1817.

McKee, George Colin, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Joliet, Ill., October 2, 1837; attended Knox college and Lombardy university; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1858; city attorney in Centralia; served throughout the Civil war with distinction from private in the eleventh Illinois infantry to brigadier general of volunteers; resumed practice of law in Vicksburg, Miss.; member of the state constitutional convention of 1867; appointed register in bankruptcy in 1867; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress, but the state was refused representation; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first, Forty-second, and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1869-March 3, 1875); postmaster of Jackson, Miss., for four years; died in Jackson, Miss., November 17, 1890.

McKee, John, a Representative from Alabama; native of Rockbridge county, Va.; pursued an academic course; located in Tuscaloosa, Ala.; United States Indian agent to the Choctaws; elected to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1823-March 3, 1829); died in Tuscaloosa, Ala., about 1834.

McKee, Samuel, a Representative from Kentucky; native of Virginia; moved to Kentucky; delegate in the state constitutional convention; elected as a Democrat to the Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1809-March 3, 1817).

McKee, Samuel, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Mount Sterling, Montgomery county, Ky., November 5, 1833; attended the common schools; was graduated from Miami university, Ohio, in 1857, and the Cincinnati law school in 1858; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Mount Sterling, Ky., served in the Civil war as captain of volunteers; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865-March 3, 1869); pension agent in Louisville, Ky., 1869-1871; resumed the practice of law; died in Louisville, Ky., December 11, 1898.

McKeighan, William Arthur, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Cumberland county, N. J., January 19, 1842; moved with his parents to Fulton county, Ill., in 1848, where he lived on a farm and attended the common school; enlisted in the eleventh regiment Illinois cavalry; September, 1861; at the close of the war, located on a farm near Pontiac, Ill.; moved to Nebraska in 1880 and engaged in farming near Red Cloud; took an active interest in organizing the Alliance; elected county judge of Webster county in 1885; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891-March 3, 1895); died in Hastings, Nebr., December 15, 1895.

Digitized by Google

McKenna, Joseph, a Representative from California; born in Philadelphia, Pa., August 10, 1843; moved to California with his parents in January, 1855; attended the public schools and was graduated from Benicia collegiate institute in 1865; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1865; district attorney of Solano county for two terms, commencing in March, 1866; member of the state legislature 1875 and 1876; unsuccessful Republican candidate for Congress in 1876, and in 1879; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, and Fifty-second Congresses and served from March 4, 1885, to March 23, 1892, when he resigned; appointed by President Harrison United States circuit judge February 11, 1892, and was confirmed March 17, 1892; Attorney General of the United States under President William McKinley March 7, 1897–January 25, 1898; appointed by President McKinley a justice of the United States supreme court January 26, 1898.

McKennan, Thomas McKean Thompson, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Newcastle county, Del., March 31, 1794; was graduated from Washington and Jefferson college in 1810; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1814, and commenced practice in Washington, Pa.; deputy attorney general 1815–1816; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1839); reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); Secretary of the Interior under President Fillmore, August 15 to September 12, 1850; died in Reading, Pa., July 9, 1852.

McKenney, William Robertson, a Representative from Virginia; born in Petersburg, Va., December 2, 1851; attended McCabe's university school, Petersburg, and the University of Virginia; was graduated from a number of the departments of that institution; taught school for two years, and in the fall of 1875 entered the law school of said university; was graduated in June, 1876, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Petersburg, Va.; elected president of the city council of Petersburg in the spring of 1888 and served six years; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1888, and in 1892 a Delagate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago; served as a member of the Democratic state executive committee; presented credentials as a Democratic Member-elect to the Fifty-fourth Congress and served from March 4, 1895, until May 2, 1896, when he was succeeded by Robert T. Thorp, who successfully contested his election; resumed the practice of law in Petersburg, Va.

McKenty, Jacob K., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Douglasville, Pa., in 1827; was graduated from Yale college in 1848; studied law, was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Reading, Pa., in 1851; elected county attorney in 1856; elected to the Thirty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John Schwartz, and served from December 3, 1860, to March 3, 1861; died in Douglasville, Pa., January 3, 1863.

McKenzie, James Arthur, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Christian county, Ky., August 1, 1840; attended the common schools of Christian county and Centre college, Danville, Ky.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1861, and practiced; also engaged in farming; member of the state legislature 1867-1871; Democratic elector for the state at large in 1872; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877-March 3, 1883); secretary of state of Kentucky under Gov. J. Proctor Knott; commissioner to the World's fair, Chicago; minister to Peru under Cleveland's last administration; resigned, and located on is farm near Long View, Ky.; died in Oak Grove, Ky., June 25, 1904.

McKenzie, Lewis, a Representative from Virginia; born in Alexandria, Va., October 7, 1810; pursued an academic course; prominently engaged in shipping and mercantile pursuits; city councilman for a number of years; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-seventh Congress to fill vacancy caused by the unseating of Charles H. Upton, and served from February 16, 1863, to March 3, 1863, and as a Union Conservative to the Forty-first Congress, and served from January 31, 1870, to March 3, 1871; president of the Washington & Ohio railroad company; appointed postmaster of Alexandria, Va., in 1878; died in Alexandria, Va., June 28, 1895.

McKeon, John, a Representative from New York; born in Albany, N. Y., in 1808; was graduated from Columbia college in 1828; studied law, was admitted to the bar, in 1828, and practiced in New York City; member of the state assembly 1832-1834; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841-March 3, 1843); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-eighth Congresses; district attorney for New York county 1846-1851, and again elected in 1881; appointed United States district attorney for the southern district of New York in 1853; died in New York City, November 23, 1883.

McKibbin, Joseph C., a Representative from California; born in Pennsylvania in 1824; pursued an academic course; moved to California; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857-March 3, 1859); died in Marshall Hall, Charles county, Md., July 1, 1896.

McKim, Alexander, a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore, Md., January 10, 1748; pursued an academic course; member of the state house of representatives in 1778; served in the Revolutionary war; member of the state senate in 1806 and reelected in 1808; elected as a Democrat to the Eleventh, Twelfth, and Thirteenth Congresses (March 4, 1809-March 3, 1815); first president of the Merchants' national bank of Baltimore; presiding judge of the Baltimore county orphans' court; died in Baltimore, Md., January 18, 1832.

McKim, Isaac, a Representative from Maryland; born in Baltimore, Md., July 21, 1775; attended the public schools; engaged in mercantile pursuits; served in the war of 1812 as aid-de-camp to Gen. Samuel Smith; member of the state senate for one term; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel Smith; reelected to the Eighteenth Congress and served from January 8, 1823, to March 3, 1825); again elected to the Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, and Twenty-fifth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1838, until his death in Baltimore, Md., April 1, 1838.

McKinlay, Duncan E., a Representative from California; born in Orillia, Ontario, Canada, October 6, 1862; attended the common schools, and then learned the trade of carriage painting and worked in Flint, Mich.; San Francisco, Sacramento, and Santa Rosa, Cal.; studied law, and was admitted to the bar by the supreme court of California in 1892; presidential elector at large on the Republican ticket in 1896; appointed assistant United States attorney at San Francisco in 1901; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911); appointed United States surveyor of customs for the port of San Francisco, Cal.

Digitized by Google

McKinley, John, a Senator and a Representative from Alabama; born in Culpeper county, Va., May 1, 1780; moved to Kentucky; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Louisville, Ky.; moved to Huntsville, Ala.; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Henry Chambers, and served from November 27, 1826, to March 3, 1831; elected to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); again elected a United States Senator for the term beginning March 4, 1837, and resigned April 22, 1837; appointed an associate justice of the United States supreme court April 22, 1837, and served until his death in Louisville, Ky., July 19, 1852.

McKinley, William, a Representative from Virginia; native of that state; elected as a Democrat to the Eleventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John G. Jackson, and served from December 21, 1810, to March 3, 1811.

McKinley, William, jr., a Representative from Ohio; born in Niles, Ohio, January 29, 1843; enlisted in the United States army on June 23, 1861, as a private soldier in the twenty-third Ohio volunteer infantry, and was mustered out as captain and brevet major of the same regiment; prosecuting attorney of Stark county, Ohio, 1869-1871; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Forty-eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1883, until May 27, 1884, when he was succeeded by Jonathan H. Wallace, who contested his election; reelected to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1891); elected governor of Ohio in 1891 and inaugurated January 11, 1892; reelected in 1893, and served until 1896; elected President of the United States in November, 1896; reelected in 1900; assassinated by an anarchist while attending the Pan American exposition in Buffalo, N. Y., September 6, 1901, and died in that city September 14, 1901; interment in Canton, Ohio.

McKinley, William Brown, a Representative from Illinois; born in Petersburg, Ill., September 5, 1856; attended the common schools and the University of Illinois; farmer and banker in Champaign, Ill.; trustee of the University of Illinois; delegate to the Republican national convention in 1908; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905-March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

McKinney, James, a Representative from Illinois, born in Oquawka, Ill., April 14, 1852; attended the public schools and was graduated from Monmouth college in 1874; elected president of the Aledo bank; member of the Republican state central committee; appointed by Gov. Yates in 1901 a member of the state railroad and warehouse commission, but resigned in 1902; president of the Aledo board of education; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress to fill vacancy caused by the death of Benjamin F. Marsh; reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from December 4, 1905, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

McKinney, John Franklin, a Representative from Ohio; born near Piqua, Ohio, April 12, 1827; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Piqua in 1851; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863-March 3, 1865); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-ninth Congress; reelected to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871-March 3, 1873); died near Piqua, Ohio, June 13, 1903.

McKinney, Luther Franklin, a Representative from New Hampshire; born near Newark, Licking county, Ohio, April 25, 1841; attended the common schools; enlisted in the first Ohio cavalry in August, 1861, and served as sergeant until 1863, when he was discharged for disabilities resulting from typhoid fever; in the spring of 1865 moved to the state of Iowa, where he remained until the fall of 1867, engaged in farming and teaching; was graduated from the St. Lawrence university, Canton, N. Y., June 30, 1870; moved to Maine and entered the ministry; moved to New Hampshire in 1873; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887-March 3, 1889); reelected to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891-March 3, 1893); was minister to Colombia, South America, 1893-1897; member of the state legislature of Maine, 1907-1908; merchant and clergyman in Bridgton, Me.

McKissock, Thomas, a Representative from New York; born in Montgomery, Orange county, N. Y., in 1790; studied medicine and law, commenced practice of the latter in Newburgh; appointed a puisne justice of the supreme court in 1847; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849-March 3, 1851); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-second Congress; died in St. Andrews, Orange county, N. Y., in 1866; interment in Oldtown cemetery, Newburgh, N. Y.

McKnight, Robert, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Pittsburgh, Pa., January 27, 1820; was graduated from Princeton college in 1839; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1842, and commenced practice in Pittsburgh in 1842; city councilman 1847-1849; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); died in Pittsburgh, Pa., October 25, 1885.

McLachlan, James, a Representative from California; born in Argyllshire, Scotland, August 1, 1852; came with his parents to Tompkins county, N. Y., where he was reared on a farm, and attended the public schools; taught in the public schools, and while engaged in that work prepared himself for college; elected school commissioner of Tompkins county, N. Y., in 1877; was graduated from Hamilton college, New York, in 1878; studied law, and was admitted to practice in the supreme court of New York state in 1880; practiced in Ithaca, N. Y., 1881–1888; moved to Pasadena, Cal., and there continued the practice of his profession; elected district attorney of Los Angeles county,

Digitized by Google

Cal., in 1890; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); reelected to the Fifty-seventh, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Pasadena, Cal.

McLain, Frank Alexander, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Amite county, Miss., January 29, 1853; attended the common schools, and was graduated from the University of Mississippi in June, 1874; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Liberty, Miss., in 1880; elected to the state, legislature in 1881 for a term of two years; elected district attorney for his judicial district in 1883, and served for three consecutive terms of four years each; member of the constitutional convention of Mississippi in 1890; resigned the office of district attorney January 1, 1896, and resumed law practice in Gloster, Miss.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William F. Love; reelected to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses, and served from December 12, 1898, to March 3, 1909; state supreme court commissioner and a resident of Jackson, Miss.

McLanahan, James Xavier, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Greencastle, Pa., in 1809; was graduated from Dickinson college in 1826; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Chambersburg, Pa.; member of the state senate in 1841; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); died in New York City, December 16, 1861.

McLane, Louis, a Representative and a Senator from Delaware; born in Smyrna, Del., May 28, 1786; entered the United States navy in 1798; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Smyrna in 1807; served in the war of 1812; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1827); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1827, until April 16, 1829, when he resigned; minister to England April 18, 1829, to July 6, 1831; Secretary of the Treasury of the United States August 8, 1831, to May 29, 1833; Secretary of State of the United States May 29, 1833, to June 2, 1834; again minister to England June 16, 1845, to August 18, 1846; delegate in the Maryland constitutional convention of 1850; president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad 1837–1847; died in Baltimore, Md., October 7, 1857.

McLane, Robert Milligan, a Representative from Maryland; born in Wilmington, Del., June 23, 1815; completed preparatory studies; attended St. Mary's college in 1827, and the College Bourbon, Paris, in 1829; appointed a cadet at West Point by President Jackson in 1833; was graduated in July, 1837, and commissioned second lieutenant of artillery; served with his regiment during the Florida wars 1837–1838; transferred to the corps of topographical engineers in 1838, then newly reorganized, and served until he resigned from the army in 1843; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Baltimore, Md.; elected to the Maryland house of delegates in 1845; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); presidential elector on the Pierce ticket in 1852; in 1853 appointed commissioner to China, with the powers of a minister plenipotentiary, and at the same time accredited to Japan, Siam, Korea, and Cochin China; delegate in the Democratic national convention in Cincinnati in 1856; appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the republic of Mexico in 1859; delegate in the Democratic national convention in St. Louis in 1876; member of the state senate of Maryland in 1877; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); elected governor of Maryland in 1883, and resigned in 1885; appointed by President Cleveland United States minister to France March 23, 1885, and served four years; died in Paris, France, April 26, 1898.

McLaughlin, James C., a Representative from Michigan; born in Illinois; moved to Muskegon, Mich., in 1864; attended the public schools of Muskegon and the literary and law departments of the University of Michigan, and was graduated from the latter in 1883; prosecuting attorney of Muskegon county; in 1901 appointed by the governor of the state a member of the board of state tax commissioners and state board of assessors, in the latter capacity taking part in the first assessment of railroad property of the state for taxation; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Elected to the Sixty-second Congress.

McLaurin, Anselm Joseph, a Senator from Mississippi; born in Brandon, Miss., March 26, 1848; moved with his parents to Smith county, attended the common schools, and Summerville institute; enlisted in the Confederate army in 1864 and served as a private; again attended the Summerville institute 1865–1867; studied law, was admitted to the bar July 3, 1868, and began practice in Raleigh, Miss.; elected district attorney in 1871; member of the state house of representatives in 1879; presidential elector for the state at large in 1888; delegate in the constitutional convention of 1890; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Edward C. Walthall, and served from February 7, 1894, to March 3, 1895; governor of Mississippi in 1895, and served four years; reelected to the United States Senate as a Democrat in 1900 and 1907, and served from March 4, 1901, until his death in Brandon, Miss., December 22, 1909.

McLaurin, John Loundes, a Representative and a Senator from South Carolina; born in Red Bluff, Marlboro county, S. C., May 9, 1860; attended the common schools in Bennettsville and Bethel military academy, near Warrenton, Va., Swarthmore college, Philadelphia; Carolina military institute, and the University of Virginia; studied law in the last-named school, was admitted to the bar in 1882, and practiced in Marlboro county; elected to the general assembly of South Carolina in 1890; elected attorney general of the state in 1891; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Eli T. Stackhouse; reelected to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, and Fifty-fifth Congresses, and served from December 5, 1892, until May 31, 1897, when he resigned; appointed, and subsequently elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Joseph H. Earle, and served from June 1, 1897, to March 3, 1903; engaged in farming near Bennettsville, S. C.

McLean, Alney, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Burke county, N. C., June 10, 1779; moved to Kentucky; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Greenville, Ky.; member of the state house of representatives; served in the war of 1812; surveyor of Muhlenburg county; elected to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); reelected to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); circuit judge from 1821 until his death in Muhlenburg county, Ky., December 30, 1841.

Digitized by Google

McLean, Finis E., a Representative from Kentucky; native of Kentucky; state representative from Elkton; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851).

McLean, James Henry, a Representative from Missouri; born in Ayrshire, Scotland, August 13, 1829; reared in Nova Scotia, and moved to the United States; studied medicine and surgery in St. Louis, Mo., and was graduated in 1863, and practiced in St. Louis; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Thomas Allen, and served from December 15, 1882, to March 3, 1883; died in Dansville, N. Y., August 12, 1886.

McLean, John, a Representative from Ohio; born in Morris county, N. J., March 11, 1785; moved to Morgantown, Va., in 1789; to Nicholasville, Ky., in 1790; to Maysville, Ky., in 1793, and to Lebanon, Ohio, in 1797; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Lebanon, Ohio, in 1807; elected as a War Democrat to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1813, until his resignation in 1816; elected state supreme court judge in 1816; appointed commissioner of the United States general land office September 11, 1822; Postmaster General of the United States December 9, 1823, to March 7, 1829; associate justice of the United States supreme court March 7, 1829, until his death in Cincinnati, Ohio, April 4, 1861.

McLean, John, a Representative and a Senator from Illinois; born in North Carolina February 4, 1791; pursued an academic course; moved to Illinois in 1815; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Shawneetown, Ill.; member of the state house of representatives, and elected speaker; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); elected United States Senator to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Ninian Edwards, and served from December 20, 1824, to March 3, 1825; again elected Senator, and served from December 7, 1829, until his death in Shawneetown, Ill., October 14, 1830.

McLean, Moses, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Gettysburg, Pa., June 17, 1804; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Gettysburg in 1825; elected to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); member of the state house of representatives in 1855; died in Gettysburg, Pa., October 1, 1870.

McLean, Samuel, a Delegate from Montana Territory; born in Summit Hill, Carbon county, Pa., August 7, 1826; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1849, and practiced in Mauch Chunk, Pa.; district attorney of Carbon county, Pa., 1855-1860; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–1867); died in Burkeville, Va., July 16, 1877.

McLean, William, a Representative from Ohio; born in Morris county, N. J.; attended the public schools; moved to Ohio; appointed receiver of public moneys in Piqua, Ohio; elected to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1829); died in Cincinnati, Ohio, October 12, 1839.

McLean, William P., a Representative from Texas; born in Hinds county, Miss., August 9, 1836; moved to Marshall, Tex., in 1839; was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1857; studied law and was admitted to the bar; served in the Confederate army throughout the Civil war; member of the Texas legislature in 1861 and 1869; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875).

McLene, Jeremiah, a Representative from Ohio; born in Cumberland county, Pa., in 1767; attended the common schools; served in the Revolutionary war; member of the state house of representatives, 1807–1808; moved to Columbus, Ohio, in 1816; secretary of state of Ohio, 1808–1831; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); died in Washington, D. C., March 19, 1837.

McMahon, John A., a Representative from Ohio; born in Frederick county, Md., February 19, 1833; attended Saint Xavier's college, Cincinnati, and was graduated in 1849; began the study of law in January, 1851, in Dayton, was admitted to the bar in June, 1854, and practiced in Dayton, Ohio; a delegate at large to the national Democratic conventions in Baltimore in 1872 and in St. Louis in 1904; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1881); resumed the practice of law in Dayton, Ohio.

McManus, William, a Representative from New York, a native of Rensselaer county, N. Y.; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); died in Troy, N. Y.

McMillan, James, a Senator from Michigan; born in Hamilton, Ontario, May 12, 1838; moved to Detroit, Mich., in 1855, where he entered upon a business career; purchasing agent of the Detroit & Milwaukee railroad; an organizer of the Michigan Car company in 1863; built, and was president of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad, and was largely interested in shipbuilding and lake transportation companies; member of the Republican state central committee in 1876, and on the death of Zachariah Chandler made chairman; again in 1886 and 1890 elected chairman of the committee; for three years was president of the Detroit board of park commissioners and for four years a member of the Detroit board of estimates; Republican presidential elector in 1884; elected to the United States Senate in 1889; reelected in 1895 and 1901, and served from March 3, 1889, until his death in Manchester, Mass., August 10, 1902.

McMillan, Samuel, a Representative from New York; born in county Down, town of Drumore, Ireland, August 6, 1850; came to this country and settled in New York City; moved with his parents to Niles, Ohio; attended the common schools; returned to New York City and took up the trade of carpenter; attended night school as a student of architecture; elected director of the West Side bank; vice president of the Bronx Borough bank and of the Washington savings bank; director and member of the executive committee of the Mutual bank of New York City; also vice president of the

Digitized by Google

Ryan-Parker construction company, contractors for the new Manhattan bridge over the East River from New York City to Brooklyn; member of the board of examiners of building department, city of New York, for twelve years, and park commissioner and president of the board for three years under Mayor Strong's administration; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth Congress (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1909).

McMillan, Samuel James Renwick, a Senator from Minnesota; born in Brownsville, Pa., February 22, 1826; completed preparatory studies; was graduated from Duquesne college, Pittsburgh, in 1846; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1849, and commenced practice in Stillwater, Minn., in 1852; elected judge of the first judicial circuit in 1857; appointed and subsequently elected associate justice of the state supreme court in 1864; reelected and served until his resignation in 1874; appointed in 1874, and afterwards reelected, chief justice of the state supreme court, and resigned; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate in 1875; reelected in 1881, and served from March 4, 1875, to March 3, 1887; died in St. Paul, Minn., October 3, 1897.

McMillan, William, a Delegate from the Northwest Territory; born in Washington county, Va., in 1760; was graduated from William and Mary college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; moved to Fort Washington (now Cincinnati, Ohio,) in 1787; held several local offices; elected to the territorial legislature in 1799; elected to the Sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Henry Harrison, and served from November 24, 1800, to March 3, 1801; United States district attorney for Ohio; died near Cincinnati, Ohio, in June, 1804.

McMillin, Benton, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Monroe county, Ky., September 11, 1845; attended Phylomath academy, Tennessee, and Kentucky university, in Lexington; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Celina, Tenn., in 1871; member of the state house of representatives in 1874; commissioned by the governor to treat with the state of Kentucky for the purchase of territory in 1875; chosen elector on the Tilden and Hendricks ticket in 1876; commissioned by the governor special judge of the circuit court in 1877; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth, and to the nine succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1879, until his resignation, January 16, 1899; elected governor of Tennessee and reelected, and served until 1903; engaged in the insurance business in Nashville, Tenn.

McMorran, Henry Gorden, a Representative from Michigan; born in Port Huron, Mich., June 11, 1844; attended public schools; engaged in the grocery business, milling, grain and elevator trade; general manager of the Port Huron & Northwestern railway from 1878 to 1889; alderman and city treasurer of Port Huron; member of the canal commission; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

McMullen, Fayette, a Representative from Virginia; born in Virginia in 1810; pursued an academic course; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first, Thirty-second, Thirty-third, and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1857); governor of Washington Territory 1857–1861; elected a representative from Virginia to the Second confederate congress, and served to the end of the Confederacy; died in Wytheville, Va., November 8, 1880.

McNagny, William Forgy, a Representative from Indiana; born in Summit county, Ohio, April 19, 1850; moved in early life to Whitley county, Ind.; attended the public schools; taught school and worked on a farm for six years; employed four years as station agent for Pennsylvania company; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1873, and practiced in Columbia City; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Columbia City, Ind.

McNair, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Bucks county, Pa., in 1800; pursued preparatory studies; became a resident of Norristown, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); died in Evansport, Va., August 7, 1861.

McNary, William Sarsfield, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in North Arlington, Mass., March 29, 1863; attended the public schools; engaged in newspaper work, reporter and managing editor Boston Commercial Bulletin 1880–1892; member of the state house of representatives, 1889–1900; member of the state senate, 1891–1892; water commissioner of Boston, 1893–1894; engaged in the insurance business, and dealer in real estate; delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1900 and 1904; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1907).

McNeely, Thompson Ware, a Representative from Illinois; born in Jacksonville, Ill., October 5, 1835; was graduated from Lombard university in 1856 and from the law university of Louisville, Ky., in 1859; was admitted to the bar and practiced; member of the Illinois constitutional convention of 1862; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); resumed the practive of law in Petersburg, Ill.

McNeill, Archibald, a Representative from North Carolina; nativo of Cumberland county, N. C.; member of the state house of representatives 1808–1809 and of the state senate 1811–1815; elected to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); reelected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827).

McNulta, John, a Representative from Illinois; born in New York City, November 9, 1837; pursued an academic course; visited the West India Islands and Europe; moved to Attica, Ind., in 1853, and to Bloomington, Ill., in 1859; engaged in the manufacture of cigars and studied law; served in the Union army; captain of the first Illinois cavalry July 3, 1861; honorably mustered out July 14, 1862; recommissioned lieutenant colonel of the ninety-fourth Illinois infantry August 20, 1862; colonel June 21, 1863; brevet brigadier general of volunteers March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious services in the siege and reduction of Spanish Fort, Ala.; mustered out July 17, 1865; was admitted to the bar and commenced law practice in Bloomington, in October, 1865; member of the state senate 1869–1873; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Forty-fourth Congress; died in Washington, D. C., February 22, 1900.

Digitized by Google

McPherson, Edward, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Gettysburg, Pa., July 31, 1830; attended the common schools; was graduated from Pennsylvania college in 1848; studied law; edited the "Harrisburg American" in 1851, "Independent Whig," Lancaster, Pa., 1851–1854; "Daily Times" Pittsburgh, Pa., 1855; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1863); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-eighth Congress; appointed deputy commissioner of internal revenue in 1863; elected clerk of the National House of Representatives in the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, Forty-second, Forty-third, Forty-seventh, and Fifty-first Congresses; president of the national Republican convention of 1876; director of the bureau of engraving and printing 1877–1878; editor of the Philadelphia Press 1877–1880; editor and proprietor of a paper in Gettysburg, Pa., 1880–1895; editor of the New York Tribune Almanac 1877–1895; American editor of the Almanach de Gotha; died in Gettysburg, Pa., December 14, 1895.

McPherson, John Rhoderic, a Senator from New Jersey; born in York, Livingston county, N. Y., May 9, 1833; attended the common schools and pursued an academic course; moved to Jersey City, N. J., in 1859; farmer and dealer in live stock; elected a member of the board of aldermen of Jersey City in 1864, and served six years; president of the board for three years; member of the state senate of New Jersey 1871–1873; presidential elector on the Tilden and Hendricks ticket in 1876; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate in 1877; reelected in 1883 and 1889, and served from March 4, 1877, to March 3, 1895; delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1884, 1888, and 1892; died in Jersey City, N. J., October 8, 1897.

McPherson, Smith, a Representative from Iowa; born near Mooresville, Morgan county, Ind., February 14, 1848; attended the common schools and pursued an academic course; attended the law school of the Iowa state university in Iowa City, from which he was graduated in June, 1870, was admitted to the bar; attorney general of Iowa January, 1881, to January, 1885; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1899, until his resignation, June 6, 1900, to accept appointment as United States district judge for the southern district of Iowa.

McQueen, John, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Robeson county, N. C., in 1808; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1812; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1828, and commenced practice in Bennettsville, S. C., in 1828; served in the state militia 1833–1837; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Alexander D. Sims; reelected to the Thirty-first, and to the five succeeding Congresses, and served from February 12, 1849, until his retirement, December 20, 1860; representative from South Carolina in the first Confederate congress; died in Society Hill, S. C., August 30, 1867.

McRae, John Jones, a Representative and a Senator from Mississippi; born in North Carolina, January 10, 1815; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the state house of representatives and of the senate for several years; served as speaker for two years; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Jefferson Davis, and served from December 1, 1851, to February 19, 1852; governor of Mississippi, 1854–1858; elected as a States Right Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John A. Quitman; reelected to the Thirty-sixth Congress, and served from December 7, 1858, until he retired January 12, 1861; representative from Mississippi to the first Confederate congress; died in Belize, British Honduras, May 31, 1868.

McRae, Thomas Chipman, a Representative from Arkansas; born in Mount Holly, Union county, Ark., December 21, 1851; attended private schools in Shady Grove, Columbia county; Mount Holly, Union county; and Falcon, Nevada county, Ark.; received a full course of instruction in Soulé business college, New Orleans, La., in 1870; was graduated in law from the Washington and Lee university, Virginia, in 1872; admitted to practice in state circuit courts in Rosston, Nevada county, Ark., January 8, 1873; member of the state legislature of Arkansas in 1877, in which year the county seat was changed, and he moved from Rosston to Prescott; member of the town council of the incorporated town of Prescott in 1879; presidential elector for Hancock and English in 1880; chairman of the Democratic state convention in 1884 and in 1902; delegate in the national Democratic convention of 1884; Democratic national committeeman for Arkansas 1896–1900; and congressional committeeman 1888–1902; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth, and to the eight succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1903); resumed the practice of law in Prescott, Ark.

McRoberts, Samuel, a Senator from Illinois; born in Monroe county, Ill., April 12, 1799; was graduated from Transylvania university; clerk of the circuit court of Monroe county, Ill.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Danville, Ill.; elected one of the five circuit judges of the state in 1824; United States attorney for Illinois; member of the state senate in 1828; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1841, until his death in Cincinnati, Ohio, March 27, 1843.

McRuer, Donald Campbell, a Representative from California; born in Bangor, Me., March 10, 1826; pursued an academic course; moved to San Francisco, Cal., in 1851; harbor commissioner of San Francisco; member of the board of education of San Francisco 1859–1860; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1867); died in St. Helena, Cal., January 29, 1898.

McShane, John Albert, a Representative from Nebraska; born in New Lexington, Perry county, Ohio, August 25, 1850; attended the common schools; moved to Wyoming Territory in 1871; moved to Omaha, Nebr., in 1874, but retained his interests in Wyoming until 1883, when he merged his individual cattle interests in the Bay State live stock company; director in the First National bank of Omaha; member of the state house of representatives in 1880–1882; served in the state senate

Digitized by Google

1882–1886; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889).

McSherry, James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Littlestown, Adams county, Pa., July 29, 1776; attended common schools; member of the state house of representatives for twenty years; elected to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); ded in Littlestown, Pa., February 3, 1849.

McVean, Charles, a Representative from New York; born near Johnstown, N. Y., in 1802; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Canajoharie, N. Y.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); moved to New York City; appointed surrogate January 24, 1844; United States attorney for the southern district of New York in 1848; died in New York City, December 20, 1848.

McWillie, William, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Kershaw district, S. C., November 17, 1795; served [illegible] the War of 1812; was graduated from South Ca[illegible]na college in 1817; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Camden, S. C., in 1818; member of the state senate 1836–1840; moved to Madison, Miss., in September, 1845; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1851); unsuccessful candidate for the Thirty-second Congress; governor of Mississippi 1858–1860; active in the support of the Confederacy; died in Kirkwood, Miss., March 3, 1869.

Macdonald, John Lewis, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Glasgow, Scotland, February 22, 1836; moved with his parents to Nova Scotia; came to the United States in 1847, and located in Pittsburgh, Pa.; moved to Minnesota in 1855, and settled in Scott county; studied law, and was admitted to the bar 1859; judge of the probate court of Scott county in 1860 and 1861; during the Civil war commissioned to enlist and muster in volunteers for the Union army, and served in that capacity; prosecuting attorney of Scott county, 1863–1864; county superintendent of schools; mayor of Shakopee; member of the state house of representatives 1869–1870, and of the state senate 1871, 1873–1876; candidate of the Democratic party for attorney general in 1872; elected judge of the eighth judicial district of Minnesota in 1876 for the term of seven years, and reelected without opposition in 1883; resigned in the fall of 1886; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); resumed the practice of law in Kansas City, Mo., and died there July 13, 1903.

MacDougall, Clinton Dugald, a Representative from New York; born in Scotland June 14, 1839; emigrated to New York in 1842; pursued an academic course; studied law, but engaged in banking, 1856–1869; served in the Union army; commissioned captain of the seventy-fifth New York infantry September 16, 1861; lieutenant colonel of the one hundred and eleventh New York infantry August 20, 1862; colonel January 3, 1863; brevet brigadier general of volunteers February 25, 1865; honorably mustered out June 4, 1865; appointed postmaster of Auburn, N. Y., in 1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1877); appointed United States marshal of the western judicial district of New York in 1877.

Mace, Daniel, a Representative from Indiana; born in Pickaway county, Ohio, September 5, 1811; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lafayette, Ind.; member of the state house of representatives in 1836; clerk of the state house of representatives in 1837; United States attorney for Indiana 1849–1853; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Congresses (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1855); reelected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); appointed postmaster of Lafayette by President Lincoln; died in Lafayette, Ind., July 26, 1867.

Machen, Willis Benson, a Senator from Kentucky; born in Caldwell county, Ky., April 10, 1810; attended the common schools; engaged in farming; delegate to the constitutional convention of 1849; member of the state senate in 1854; served in the state house of representatives in 1856 and 1860; elected to the first and second Confederate congresses; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Garrett Davis, and served from September 27, 1872, to March 3, 1873; died in Louisville, Ky., September 28, 1893.

Machir, James, a Representative from Virginia; native of that state; elected to the Fifth Congress (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1799); died June 25, 1827.

Mackey, Edmund W. M., a Representative from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., March 8, 1846; pursued classical studies; appointed assistant assessor of internal revenue in South Carolina, September 8, 1865; studied law, and was admitted to the bar November 22, 1868; took a prominent part in the work of reconstruction; delegate in the state constitutional convention of November 19 and 20, 1867; sheriff of Charleston county 1868–1872; elected an alderman of the city of Charleston in November, 1868, October, 1873, and in 1875; during 1871–1872 editor and proprietor of the Charleston Republican; member of the state house of representatives in 1873; elected to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1885); elected a representative to the state legislature, and upon its assembling elected speaker of the house; delegate in the Republican national convention in Philadelphia in 1872, and in Chicago in 1880; chairman of the Republican state executive committee; assistant United States attorney for South Carolina 1878–1881; unsuccessfully contested the election of Michael P. O'Connor to the Forty-sixth Congress; successfully contested the election of Michael P. O'Connor to the Forty-seventh Congress; reelected to the Forty-eighth Congress, and served from May 31, 1882, until his death, January, 27, 1884.

Mackey, Levi A., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Whitedeer township, Pa., November 25, 1819; moved to Milton, Pa.; was graduated from Union college in 1837; studied law in Dickinson college, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lockhaven, Pa., in 1855; delegate in the Whig national convention of 1852 and the Democratic national convention of 1872; mayor of Lock Haven, Pa., in 1870; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879).

Maclay, Samuel, a Representative and a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Lurgan township, Franklin county, Pa., June 17, 1741; completed preparatory studies; served in the Revolutionary war; associate judge of Franklin county 1792–1795; elected to the Fourth Congress (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1797); member of the state senate 1797–1802; and elected its speaker December 2, 1801, and reelected December 7, 1802; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1803, until his resignation, January 4, 1809; died in Union county, Pa., October 5, 1811.

Digitized by Google

Maclay, William, a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in New Garden, Pa., July 20, 1737; received private instruction from Rev. John Blair in Big Spring, Pa.; served as a lieutenant in Gen. John Forbes's expedition to Fort Duquesne in 1758, and in other expeditions against the Indians; studied law and was admitted to the bar; became a surveyor in the employ of the Penn family; prothonotary and clerk of the courts of Northumberland county in 1772; served in the Continental army as a commissary in the Revolutionary war; member of the provincial assembly in 1781; Indian commissioner, judge of the court of common pleas, and member of the executive council; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1789, to March 3, 1791; retired to his farm in Dauphin, Pa.; member of the state legislature in 1795; presidential elector on the Jefferson ticket in 1796; county judge 1801–1803; again a state representative 1803–1804; died in Harrisburg, Pa., April 16, 1804.

Maclay, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Lurgan township, Franklin county, Pa., March 22, 1765; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; associate judge; county commissioner; member of the state house of representatives 1807–1808; elected to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Congresses (March 4, 1815–March 3 1819); associate judge for the Cumberland district; died in Franklin county, Pa., January 4, 1825.

Maclay, William Brown, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, March 20, 1812; was graduated from the University of the City of New York; taught Latin; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; associate editor of the New York Quarterly Review in 1836; elected to the state house of representatives in 1839, 1841, and 1842; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1849); reelected to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); died in New York City, February 19, 1882.

Maclay, William Plunkett, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Northumberland county, Pa., August 23, 1774; attended the common schools; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Fourteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas Burnside; reelected to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817-March 3, 1821); died in Milroy, Pa., September 2, 1842.

Macon, Nathaniel, a Representative and a Senator from North Carolina; born in Warren county, N. C., December 17, 1757; pursued classical studies and attended Princeton college; served in the Revolutionary war; member of the state senate 1780–1782 and 1784–1785; moved to a plantation on the Roanoke river; elected as a Democrat to the Second, and to the twelve succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1791, until December, 1815, when he resigned; served as Speaker of the House of Representatives 1801–1807; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of David Stone; reelected in 1819 and 1825, and served from December 5, 1815, until he resigned in 1828; elected president of the Senate pro tempore on the seventeenth ballot May 20, 1826, and was again elected January 2, 1827, and March 2, 1827, and declined a reelection on May 15, 1828; received twenty-four electoral votes for vice president in 1825; president of the state constitutional convention of 1835; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1836; died in Warren county, N. C., June 29, 1837.

Macon, Robert Bruce, a Representative from Arkansas; born near Trenton, Phillips county, Ark., July 6, 1859; attended private and public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1881, and practiced in Helena, Ark.; elected to the state legislature in 1882 and served two terms; elected clerk of the circuit court in 1892 and reelected in 1894; elected prosecuting attorney of the first judicial circuit in 1898 and reelected in 1900; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1903–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Macy, John B., a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Nantucket, Mass., March 26, 1799; moved to New York City in 1826 and in the same year to Buffalo, N. Y.; resided in Cincinnati, Ohio, 1842–1845; one of the founders of Toledo, Ohio; attended the common schools; moved to Fond du Lac, Wis., in 1845; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); defeated for reelection to the Thirty-fourth Congress; lost by the burning of the steamer Niagara on Lake Michigan, September 24, 1857.

Madden, Martin B., a Representative from Illinois; born in Darlington, England, March 20, 1855; attended the public schools and a business college; member of the Chicago city council from 1889 to 1897; presiding officer of that body from 1891 to 1893; chairman of the Republican state convention in 1896; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1896 and 1900; director of the Metropolitan Trust and Savings bank of Chicago; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1911.) Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Madison, Edmond Haggard, a Representative from Kansas; born in Plymouth, Ill., December 18, 1865; attended the common schools; taught school; moved to Wichita, Kans., in 1885; studied law, and was admitted to practice in 1888; in the same year was elected county attorney of Ford county, Kans., and served two terms; appointed judge of the thirty-first judicial district of Kansas, January 1, 1900, which position he held until September 17, 1906, when he resigned to become a candidate for Congress; was elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress; died in Dodge City, Kans., September 18, 1911.

Maddox, John W., a Representative from Georgia; born in Chattooga county, Ga., June 3, 1848; attended the common schools; enlisted in the Confederate army in the sixth Georgia cavalry, and served until the end of the war; attended school in Summerville and Bethel Church; deputy sheriff of Chattooga county; read law, was admitted to the bar in 1877, and practiced in Summerville, Ga.; mayor of Summerville, 1877; elected county commissioner January, 1878; member of the state house of representatives 1880–1884; served in the state senate 1884–1886; elected judge of the superior court, Rome circuit, in 1886, and reelected in 1890; moved to Rome, Ga., in 1890; resigned the office September 1, 1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1905); mayor of Rome, 1906 and 1907; appointed judge of the state supreme court in 1908, and elected in 1910 for four years; resident of Rome, Ga.

Digitized by Google

Maffet, James Thompson, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near Strattonville, Pa., February 2, 1837; attended the common schools and college; went to California in 1859, where he began the study of law; returned to Pennsylvania in 1870, completed his law studies in 1872, and was admitted to the bar; Republican presidential elector in 1880; had the instructions of Clarion county for Congress in 1884; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth Congress (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1889); resumed the practice of law in Clarion, Pa.

Madison, James, a Delegate and a Representative from Virginia; born in Port Conway, King George county, Va., March 16, 1751; pursued preparatory studies under private tutors, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1771; pursued the study of law in Princeton one year; returned to Virginia, continued law studies, and was admitted to the bar; member of the committee of safety from Orange county in 1774; delegate in the Williamsburg, Va., convention of May, 1776; member of the first general assembly of Virginia in 1776, and was unanimously elected as a member of the executive council in 1778; delegate in the Continental Congress 1780–1783, and 1786–1788; prominent delegate in the Federal constitutional convention in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1787; elected as a Democrat to the First, Second, Third, and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1797); declined the mission to France, tendered by President Washington in 1794, as he did the portfolio of State, tendered the same year; again a member of the Virginia assembly from Orange county in 1799; Jefferson elector in 1800; appointed by President Jefferson Secretary of State March 5, 1801; entered upon duties of the office May 2, 1801, and served until March 4, 1809; elected, as a Republican, President of the United States; reelected, and served from March 4, 1809, to March 3, 1817; retired to his estate, Montpelier, Orange county, Va.; delegate in the Virginia constitutional convention of 1829; rector of the University of Virginia; and visitor to the college of William and Mary; died in the Montpelier mansion, Orange county, Va., June 28, 1836.

Magee, John, a Representative from New York; born in Easton, Northumberland county, Pa., September 3, 1794; attended the common schools; served in the war of 1812; moved to Bath, Steuben county, N. Y., in 1818, and was elected constable; became sheriff of Steuben county, N. Y., in 1821; elected as a Democrat to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1867; died in Watkins, N. Y., April 5, 1868.

Magee, John Alexander, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Landisburg, Perry county, Pa., October 14, 1827; attended the common schools; engaged in printing, and for a number of years published the Perry County Democrat; member of the state legislature in 1863; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1868; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); delegate in the Democratic national conventions of 1876 and 1896; died in New Bloomfield, Pa., November 18, 1903.

Maginnis, Martin, a Delegate from Montana; born in Wayne county, N. Y., October 27, 1840; moved with his parents to Minnesota; pursued an academic course; attended Hamline university, but left to take charge of a Democratic newspaper; enlisted as a private in the first Minnesota volunteer infantry April 18, 1861; made second lieutenant after the first battle of Bull Run, promoted to first lieutenant in September, 1862, and to captain in July, 1863; served in the line of his regiment in all the campaigns and nearly all the battles of the army of the Potomac until September, 1864, when appointed major of the eleventh Minnesota volunteers and ordered to join the army of the Cumberland, where he served under command of General Thomas until mustered out with his regiment in July, 1865; moved to Montana the next year; engaged in mining and subsequently in publishing and editing the Helena Daily Gazette; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1885); unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Representative in the Fifty-first Congress; state commissioner of mineral land and president of the board of managers of the Montana soldiers home.

Magner, Thomas Francis, a Representative from New York; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., March 8, 1860; attended the public schools; was graduated from St. Xavier college in 1880 and from Columbia college in 1882; taught in a public school in Brooklyn; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced from 1883; member of the New York assembly 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Magoon, Henry Sterling, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Monticello, Wis., January 31, 1832; attended the Rock River seminary, Mount Morris, Ill.; was graduated from the Western military college in Drennon, Ky., in 1853; studied law in the Montrose law school, Frankfort, Ky., was admitted to the bar, and practiced; professor of ancient languages in Nashville university 1855–1857; returned to Wisconsin to practice law; elected district attorney in 1858; member of the state senate 1871–1872; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); first native of Wisconsin to serve in the state senate or in the National House of Representatives; died in Darlington, Wis., March 3, 1889.

Magruder, Allan Bowie, a Senator from Louisiana; born in Kentucky in 1775; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1796, and practiced in Lexington, Ky.; moved to Louisiana and practiced; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from September 3, 1812, to March 3, 1813; died in Opelousas, La., April 16, 1822.

Magruder, Patrick, a Representative from Maryland; born in Montgomery county, Md., in

Digitized by Google

1768; was graduated from Princeton college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; elected to the Ninth Congress (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1807); clerk of the National House of Representatives and Librarian of Congress 1807–1815; died in Petersburg, Va., December 24, 1819.

Maguire, James George, a Representative from California; born in Boston, Mass., February 22, 1853; moved with his parents to California in April, 1854; attended the public schools of Watsonville, Santa Cruz county, Cal., and the private academy of Joseph K. Fallon, in Watsonville; elected to the legislature of California in 1875, and served two years; was admitted to the bar by the supreme court of California in January, 1878; elected judge of the superior court of the city and county of San Francisco in 1882, and served six years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1899); unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1898; resumed the practice of law in San Francisco, Cal.

Maguire, John Arthur, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Jo Daviess county, Ill., November 29, 1872; moved with his parents to Plankinton, S. Dak.; attended the district school; taught in district and city schools; attended the agricultural college of South Dakota; was graduated from the Iowa college of agricultural and mechanic arts, and from the law department of the University of Nebraska in 1899; deputy treasurer of Lancaster county 1899–1901; was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Lincoln, Nebr., in 1902; delegate in the Democratic national convention in St. Louis in 1904; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Mahall, Samuel, a Representative from Maine born in North Gray, Me., June 21, 1816; attended the public schools; located in Gray; member of the state house of representatives in 1845 and 1847–1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); died in St. Paul, Minn., September 17, 1892.

Mahany, Rowland Blennerhassett, a Representative from New York; born in Buffalo, N. Y., September 28, 1864; attended the public schools and was graduated from the high school in 1881 and from Harvard college in 1888; appointed secretary of legation to Chile 1890; accredited envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Ecuador 1892; unsuccessful candidate for Representative to the Fifty-third Congress in 1892; returned to Ecuador in 1893 and concluded the Santos treaty, negotiations for which had remained unsettled for nearly ten years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899); was admitted to the bar in 1899, and engaged in practice in Buffalo, N. Y.

Mahon, Thaddeus Maclay, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Greenvillage, Franklin county, Pa., May 21, 1840; pursued an academic course; enlisted as a private in company A, one hundred and twenty-sixth Pennsylvania volunteers, in August, 1862; after term of service in this regiment, reenlisted as a veteran in January, 1864, in twenty-first Pennsylvania cavalry; served until September, 1865; participated in many of the engagements with the army of the Potomac, fifth corps; seriously wounded at Boydton Plank Road, Virginia, on November 4, 1864; read law, and was admitted to practice in 1871; commenced practice in southern Pennsylvania; member of Pennsylvania legislature in 1870 and 1871; president of Baltimore & Cumberland Valley railroad; member of the commission having charge of the soldiers' orphan schools of Pennsylvania; unsuccessful candidate for election to the Forty-fourth Congress; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1907); engaged in business in Chambersburg, Pa.

Mahone, William, a Senator from Virginia; born in Southampton county, Va., December 1, 1826; was graduated from the Virginia military institute in 1847; became a civil engineer and constructor of the Norfolk & Petersburg railroad; participated in the secession movement in 1861, and took part in the capture of the Norfolk navy yard; raised and commanded the sixth Virginia regiment, and was with it in most of the battles of the peninsular campaign, those on the Rappahannock, and those around Petersburg; made both brigadier-general and major-general in 1864, and afterwards commanded a corps in Hill's division; at the close of the war returned to railroad engineering, and in a few years became president of a trunk line from Norfolk into Tennessee; elected to the United States Senate as a readjuster, and served from March 4, 1881, until March 3, 1887; died in Washington, D. C., October 8, 1895.

Mahoney, Peter Paul, a Representaive from New York; born in New York city, June 25, 1849; attended the common schools of New York city; engaged in the dry goods business for several years; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in Washington, D. C., March 27, 1889.

Mahoney, William Frank, a Representative from Illinois; born in Chicago, Ill., February 22, 1836; attended the public schools; engaged in the wholesale trade; served twelve years in the Chicago common council; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses and served from March 4, 1901 until his death in Chicago, Ill., December 27, 1904.

Majors, Thomas Jefferson, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Libertyville, Jefferson county, Iowa, June 25, 1841; attended the common and select schools of Libertyville and the Nebraska state normal school; went to Nebraska in 1860; engaged in mercantile pursuits before and after the war; entered the Union army in June, 1861, as first lieutenant company C, first Nebraska infantry, and served successively as captain, major, and lieutenant-colonel of that regiment; mustered out June 15, 1866; member of the last territorial council of Nebraska; member of the first state senate; reelected and served until appointed assessor of internal revenue for the district of Nebraska in 1869, which office he held until the office of collector and assessor was merged into one; twice elected governor of Nebraska; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Frank Welch; reelected a contingent (or additional) Member of the Forty-sixth Congress, and served from December 2, 1878, until March 3, 1881.

Malbone, Francis, a Representative and a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Newport, R. I., in 1757; received a limited schooling, and became a merchant and trader in Newport; colonel of the Newport artillery 1792–1809; member of the general assembly of Rhode Island; elected as a Federalist to the Third and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1797); elected to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1809, until his death on the steps of the Capitol in Washington, D. C., June 4, 1809.

Digitized by Google

Malby, George R., a Representative from New York; born in Canton, St. Lawrence county, N. Y., September 16, 1857; attended Canton union school and St. Lawrence university; studied law and was admitted to the bar; elected to the New York state assembly in 1890 and served in that body continuously for five years; elected leader of his party in 1893, and served as speaker in 1894; elected to the New York state senate in 1895 and served continuously in that body until January, 1907; elected as a Republican to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1907–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Mallary, Rollin Carolas, a Representative from Vermont; born in Cheshire, Conn., May 27, 1784; was graduated from Middlebury college in 1805; moved to Poultney, Vt.; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Castleton, Vt.; successfully contested the election of Orasmus C. Merrill to the Sixteenth Congress; reelected to Seventeenth and to the four succeeding Congresses and seved from January 14, 1820 to March 3, 1831; died in Baltimore, Md., April 16, 1831.

Mallory, Francis, a Representative from Virginia; born near Hampton, Elizabeth City county, Va., December 12, 1807; attended the common schools; located in Hampton; was appointed midshipman in the United States navy in 1822; resigned in 1826; studied law, and medicine and was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, in 1830, and practiced in Norfolk, Va.; abandoned practice of medicine and devoted himself to agricultural pursuits in Elizabeth City county, Va.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1843); appointed navy agent at Norfolk, November 1, 1850; president of Norfolk & Petersburg railroad company 1853–1859; died in Norfolk, Va., March 26, 1860.

Mallory, Meredith, a Representative from New York; native of Connecticut; attended the common schools; moved to Mammondsport, N. Y., held several local offices; and served as justice of the peace in 1838; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1841).

Mallory, Robert, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Madison county, Va., November 15, 1815; was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1827; engaged in farming in La Grange, Ky.; elected as a Union Democrat to the Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, and Thirty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1865); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-ninth Congress; delegate in the Union national convention in Philadelphia in 1866; one of the vice presidents of the Centennial exhibition in 1876; died near New La Grange, Oldham county, Ky., August 11, 1885.

Mallory, Rufus, a Representative from Oregon; born in Coventry, N. Y., January 10, 1831; pursued an academic course; moved to Iowa in 1855; thence to Oregon in 1858; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Salem in 1860; district attorney of the first judicial district in 1860, and of the third district 1862–1866; member of the state house of representatives in 1862; elected as a Union Republican to the Fortieth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869).

Mallory, Stephen Russell, a Senator from Florida; born in Trinidad, West Indies, in 1813; located in Key West, Fla., in 1821; attended schools in Connecticut and New York; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Key West; appointed by President Jackson customs inspector at Key West; county judge of Monroe county 1837–1845; appointed collector of the port of Key West in 1845; served in the Seminole war; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate; was reelected, and served from March 4, 1851, until his retirement January 21, 1861; secretary of the navy of the confederacy; at the close of the Civil war went to La Grange, Ga., where he was arrested and imprisoned for treason, but released in 1867; moved to Pensacola, Fla., and engaged in the practice of law; died in Pensacola, Fla., November 9, 1873.

Mallory, Stephen Russell, a Representative and a Senator from Florida; born in Columbia, S. C., November 2, 1848; entered Confederate army in Virginia in the fall of 1864; appointed midshipman in Confederate navy in the spring of 1865, and served until the end of the war; was graduated from Georgetown college, District of Columbia, in 1869; instructor in Latin and Greek in Georgetown college until July, 1871; studied law and was admitted to the bar by the supreme court of Louisiana in 1872; commenced practice in New Orleans; moved to Pensacola, Fla., in 1874 and practiced law; elected to state house of representatives in 1876; member of the state senate in 1880, and reelected in 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1895); elected to the United States Senate in 1896; reelected in 1903, and served from March 4, 1897, until his death in Pensacola, Fla., December 23, 1907.

Malsh, Levi, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Conewago township, York county, Pa., November 22, 1837; attended the common schools and the York county academy; recruited a company for the Union army in 1862, and with it joined the one hundred and thirtieth Pennsylvania infantry; promoted to lieutenant-colonel; wounded at the battle of Antietam; promoted colonel after the battle of Fredericksburg; again wounded while leading his regiment at the battle of Chancellorsville; after having been mustered out with his regiment at the expiration of its term of service, attended lectures in the law department of the University of Pennsylvania, and was admitted to the bar in 1864; member of the state house of representatives in 1867 and 1868; appointed by the legislature in 1872 one of a commission to reexamine and reaudit the accounts of certain public officers of York county; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879), reelected to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); located in Washington, D. C., and engaged in the practice of law; died in Washington, D. C., February 26, 1899.

Manderson, Charles Frederick, a Senator from Nebraska; born in Philadelphia, Pa., February 9, 1837; attended the schools and academies of his native city; moved to Canton, Ohio, in 1856, where he studied law, and was admitted to the bar and practiced 1859–1861; city solicitor in 1860, and in April, 1861, entered the army as first lieutenant, company A, nineteenth regiment Ohio infantry; participated in the campaign under General McClellan in West Virginia in the summer of 1861, and afterwards in the campaigns of the Army of the Cumberland; rose through the grades of captain, major, lieutenant colonel, and colonel of the nineteenth Ohio infantry; was in command of the regiment from the date of the battle of Shiloh; resigned in April, 1865; brevetted brigadier general of volunteers, U. S. Army, in March, 1865, "for gallant, long-continued, and meritorious service"; resumed the practice of law in Canton, Ohio; twice elected attorney of Stark county, and served until November, 1869, when he moved to Omaha, Nebr., and practiced law; city attorney for Omaha for six years, and in 1871 and again in 1874 elected by both political parties as a member of the state constitutional conventions; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate; reelected in 1888, and served from March 4, 1883, to March 3, 1895; elected president pro tempore of the Senate March 2, 1891; resigned the position March 22, 1893; resumed the practice of law in Omaha, Nebr.; general solicitor of the Burlington system of railroads west of the Missouri river; vice president of the American bar association in 1899, president in 1900; died on board steamship Cedric in the harbor of Liverpool, England, September 28, 1911; interment in Forest Lawn cemetery, Omaha, Nebr.

Digitized by Google

Mangum, Willie Person, a Representative and a Senator from North Carolina; born in Orange county, N. C., May 10, 1792; was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1815; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1817, and commenced practice in Red Mountain; member of the state house of representatives in 1818; twice elected a superior court judge; elected as a Whig to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses and served from March 4, 1823 until March 18, 1826, when he resigned; presidential elector, 1829, on the Jackson ticket; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1831, until his resignation in 1836; again elected to the United States Senate to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Bedford Brown; was twice reelected, and served from December 9, 1840, to March 3, 1853; president of the Senate pro tempore May 31, 1842–March 4, 1845; died in Red Mountain, N. C., September 14, 1861.

Mann, Abijah, jr., a Representative from New York; born in Fairfield, Herkimer county, N. Y., September 24, 1793; attended the common schools; engaged in mercantile pursuits; justice of the peace and postmaster; elected to the state house of representatives 1827–1830 and 1837; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); moved to New York City; unsuccessful candidate for attorney general of New York in 1855; delegate in the Republican state convention of 1856; unsuccessful candidate for state senator in 1857; died in Auburn, N. Y., September 6, 1868.

Mann, Horace, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Franklin, Mass., May 4, 1796; was graduated from Brown university in 1819; tutored there 1819–1821; studied law in Litchfield, Conn., was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Dedham, Mass., in 1826; member of the state house of representatives 1828–1831; commissioner for the revision of the Massachusetts statutes in 1835; moved to Boston in 1836; president of the state senate 1836–1838; secretary of the state board of education 1837–1848; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John Quincy Adams; reelected to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses as a Free Soiler, and served from April 13, 1848, to March 3, 1853; unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1852; president of Antioch college, Ohio, 1853, until his death, in Yellow Springs, Ohio, August 2, 1859; interment in Providence, R. I.

Mann, James, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Gorham, Me., June 22, 1822; member of the state senate; county treasurer; customhouse officer in Portland; served in the Union army; appointed by President Lincoln Treasury agent for Louisiana; elected as a Democrat to the Fortieth Congress, and served from July 18, 1868, until his death in New Orleans, La., August 26, 1868.

Mann, James Robert, a Representative from Illinois; born in McLean county, Ill., October 20, 1856; attended the public schools; was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1876 and from the Union College of Law of Chicago, and was admitted to the bar in 1881; member of the Oakland board of education in Chicago; attorney for Hyde Park and the South Park commissioners of Chicago; secretary of the citizens' association which secured the adoption of Jackson Park as the site for the World's Fair; master in chancery of the superior court of Cook county; member of the city council of Chicago 1892–1896; author of the low-level sewer system for Chicago; chairman of the Illinois state Republican convention of 1894, and chairman of the Republican county conventions in Chicago in 1895 and 1902; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth, and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Mann, Job, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Bedford county, Pa., March 31, 1795; attended the common schools; clerk to the board of county commissioners in 1816; was register, recorder, and clerk of Bedford county 1818–1835; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1837); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Twenty-fifth Congress; was admitted to the bar in 1839, and commenced practice in Bedford, Pa.; treasurer of Pennsylvania; reelected to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); died in Bedford, Pa.

Mann, Joel Keith, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Upper Dublin August 1, 1781; attended the common schools; located in Jenkintown; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1835); died in Cheltenham, Pa., August 28, 1857.

Manning, James, a Delegate from Rhode Island; born in Elizabeth, N. J., October 22, 1738; attended Hopewell academy and was graduated from Princeton college in 1762; studied theology and became a Baptist preacher; moved to Warren, R. I., in 1764, and took charge of the Rhode Island college; moved to Providence with the college in May, 1770; Delegate from Rhode Island in the Continental Congress 1785–1786; pastor of the First Baptist church of Providence 1770 until his resignation, April, 1791; also resigned the college presidency in 1791; died in Providence, R. I., July 29, 1791.

Digitized by Google

Manning, John, jr., a Representative from North Carolina; born in Edenton, N. C., July 3, 1830; attended Edenton Academy, the Norfolk military academy, and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1850; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1853, and commenced practice in Pittsboro, N. C., in 1853; delegate in the constitutional convention of 1861; enlisted in the Chatham rifles in 1861; was made first lieutenant, and became adjutant of the fifteenth North Carolina volunteers; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John T. Deweese, and served from December 7, 1870, to March 3, 1871; chairman of Democratic caucus of state constitutional convention of 1875; elected to North Carolina state legislature 1881; commissioner to codify the laws of the state in 1881; professor of law, University of North Carolina, 1881; dean of law school and member of board of trustees, University of North Carolina; died in Chapel Hill, N. C., February 12, 1899.

Manning, Richard Irvine, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Sumter district, S. C., May 1, 1789; was graduated from South Carolina college, Columbia, in 1811; served as captain of volunteers in the War of 1812; member of the state house of representatives 1822; governor of South Carolina 1824-1826; unsuccessful candidate for Representative in the Twentieth Congress, 1826; elected to the state senate; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Blair; reelected to the Twenty-fourth Congress, and served from December 8, 1834, until his death in Philadelphia, Pa., May 1, 1836.

Manning, Van Hartnog, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Edgecomb county, N. C., July 26, 1839; moved to Mississippi in 1841; pursued classical studies in Horn Lake male academy, De Soto county, Miss., and the University of Nashville; moved to Arkansas in 1860; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1861; served in the Confederate army as captain, and subsequently as colonel, of the third Arkansas infantry and second Arkansas battalion; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C., in 1883; died in Broadville, Md., November 3, 1892.

Manson, Mahlon Dickerson, a Representative from Indiana; born in Piqua, Ohio, February 20, 1820; attended the common schools; became a druggist in Crawfordsville, Ind.; member of the state house of representatives 1851-1852; served as captain of volunteers in the Mexican war, October 8, 1847–July 28, 1848; served in the Civil war; commissioned captain of the tenth Indiana infantry April 17, 1861; major April 25, 1861; colonel May 10, 1861; honorably mustered out August 6, 1861; recommissioned colonel of the same regiment September 18, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers March 24, 1862; resigned December 21, 1864; unsuccessful Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Indiana in 1864; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Forty-third Congress; died in Crawfordsville, Ind., February 4, 1895.

Mansur, Charles Harvey, a Representative from Missouri; born in Philadelphia, Pa., March 6, 1835; attended Lawrence academy, Groton, Mass.; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in Richmond, Mo., August 30, 1856; moved to Chillicothe in 1856 and practiced law; member of the board of education of Chillicothe for eight years; member of the Democratic state central committee 1864–1868; delegate to the Democratic national convention in New York in 1868; prosecuting attorney of Livingston county 1875–1879; delegate at large in the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1884; joint nominee for Congress of the Democracy and Liberal Republicans in 1872, and again the nominee of the Democracy in the same district in 1880; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1893); appointed by President Cleveland second comptroller of the currency; died in Washington, D. C., April 16, 1895.

Mantle, Lee, a Senator from Montana; born in Birmingham, England, December 13, 1851; came to the United States and located in Utah Territory in 1864, moved to Idaho, and in 1872 moved to Butte, Mont.; learned telegraphy and entered the employ of the Western Union telegraph company; moved to Butte, Mont., and entered the employ of the Wells-Fargo express company as agent; in 1881 established a daily newspaper, known as the Inter Mountain; alderman and mayor of Butte; three times elected to the territorial legislature of Montana, and served as speaker; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1884; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the failure of the legislature to elect but was refused a seat; elected by the legislature to fill the vacancy, and served from January 16, 1895, to March 3, 1899.

Manzanares, Francisco A., a Delegate from New Mexico; born in Abiquiu, N. Mex., January 25, 1843; early training was in Spanish; commenced the study of the English language, and in 1863-1864 attended the St. Louis University, in St. Louis, Mo.; engaged in mercantile pursuits from 1866; successfully contested as a Democrat the election of Tranquilino Luna to the Forty-eighth Congress, and served from March 5, 1884, to March 3, 1885; died in Las Vegas, N. Mex., September 17, 1904.

Marable, John H., a Representative from Tennessee; native of Brunswick county, Va.; pursued an academic course; moved to Yellow Creek, Tenn.; elected to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Twenty-first Congress.

Marchand, Albert G., a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Greensburg, Pa.; attended the common schools; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); died in Greensburg, Pa., February 5, 1848.

Marchand, David, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Westmoreland county, Pa.; attended the common schools; elected to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1821).

Marchant, Henry, a Delegate from Rhode Island; born in Marthas Vineyard, Mass., April 9, 1741; was a student in the literary department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1756, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Newport, R. I.; attorney general of Rhode Island

Digitized by Google

1771-1777; prominent in ante-Revolutionary events; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1777-1780, and 1783-1784; delegate in the state convention for the adoption of the Federal Constitution; United States district judge for the district of Connecticut and Rhode Island 1790-1796; died in Newport, R. I., August 30, 1796.

Marcy, Daniel, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Portsmouth, N. H., November 7, 1809; attended the common schools; followed the sea and later engaged in shipbuilding; member of the state house of representatives 1853-1854; member of the state senate 1856-1857; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863-March 3, 1865); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-ninth Congress; again state representative and state senator; died in Portsmouth, N. H., November 3, 1893.

Marcy, William Learned, a Senator from New York; born in Southbridge, Mass., December 12, 1786; was graduated from Brown university in 1808; taught school in Newport, R. I.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Troy, N. Y., in 1810; served in the War of 1812; recorder of Troy in 1816; editor of the Troy Budget; adjutant general of New York in 1821; state comptroller in 1823; associate justice of the state supreme court in 1829; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1831, until his resignation, July, 1832, to become governor of New York; governor 1833-1839; commissioner on Mexican claims 1839-1842; Secretary of War March 5, 1845, to March 3, 1849; Secretary of State March 7, 1853, to March 4, 1857; died in Ballston Spa, N. Y., July 4, 1857.

Mardis, Samuel W., a Representative from Alabama; born in Tennessee June 12, 1800; received an academic training; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Montevallo, Ala.; member of the state legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1831-March 3, 1835); practiced law in Mardisville, Ala., 1835, until his death in Talladega, Ala., November 15, 1836.

Marion, Robert, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Berkeley district, S. C.; pursued an academic course, and was graduated from University of Pennsylvania in 1784; elected to the Ninth, Tenth, and Eleventh Congresses, and served from March 4, 1805, until his resignation December 4, 1811.

Markell, Henry, a Representative from New York; born in Montgomery county, N. Y., February 7, 1792; attended the common schools; elected as a Democrat to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825-March 3, 1829); died in Palatine, N. Y., August 30, 1832.

Markell, Jacob, a Representative from New York; born in Schenectady county, N. Y., May 8, 1770; attended the common schools; engaged in farming in Manheim, N. Y.; supervisor and county judge for several years; elected as a Federalist to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1811-March 3, 1813); member of the state house of representatives, in 1820; died in Manheim, N. Y., November 26, 1852.

Markham, Henry Harrison, a Representative from California; born in Wilmington, Essex county, N. Y., November 16, 1840; attended the common schools and Wheeler's academy, Vermont; moved to Wisconsin; served in the Union army, and discharged in June, 1865; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Milwaukee, Wis.; moved to Pasadena, Los Angeles county, Cal., in 1879; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885-March 3, 1887); governor of California 1891-1895; a retired resident of Pasadena, Cal.

Markley, Philip Swenk, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Montgomery county, Pa.; pursued an academic course; located in Norristown; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1810, and commenced practice in Norristown, Pa.; deputy state's attorney for Pennsylvania 1819-1821; member of the state senate 1820-1823; elected as a Democrat to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1823-March 3, 1827); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Twentieth Congress; appointed naval officer of Philadelphia by President Jackson.

Marks, William, a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Chester county, Pa., October 13, 1778; settled in Beaver, Pa.; received a limited schooling; elected to the state house of representatives as a Democrat 1810-1819; state senator 1820-1825; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, reelected, and served from March 4, 1825, until March 3, 1831; died in Beaver, Pa., April 10, 1858.

Marquett, Turner Martin, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Clarke county, Ohio, July 19, 1829; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Plattsmouth, Nebr., in 1856; member of the territorial assembly; served in the territorial council; elected as a Republican upon the admission of Nebraska as a state into the Union, to the Thirty-ninth Congress, and served from March 2 to March 3, 1867, for one day only; resumed the practice of law in Lincoln, Nebr., and died there December 22, 1894.

Marr, Alem, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of that state; was graduated from Princeton college in 1807; located in Danville; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829-March 3, 1831).

Marr, George Washington Lemp, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Henry county, Va., in 1781; attended the common schools, and the University at Chapel Hill, N. C.; attorney general for west Tennessee, 1807-1809; attorney general of the fifth district, 1809-1813; elected to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817-March 3, 1819); member of constitutional convention of 1834; removed from Clarksville, Obion county, in 1821; served in Creek war and was wounded; died April 4, 1856.

Marsh, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from Illinois; born in Wythe township, Hancock county, Ill., in 1839; attended private schools and Jubilee college; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1860; enlisted as a private in the sixteenth Illinois infantry volunteers; recruited a company of cavalry, commissioned captain, and assigned to the second regiment Illinois cavalry; commissioned colonel and served until January, 1866; returned to Warsaw, Ill., and resumed the practice of law until 1877; Republican candidate for member of the constitutional convention of 1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth,

Digitized by Google

Forty-sixth, and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1883); engaged in farming and stock raising in Hancock county; appointed in 1889 railroad and warehouse commissioner, and served four years; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1888; reelected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1901); again elected to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1903, until his death in Warsaw, Ill., June 2, 1905.

Marsh, Charles, a Representative from Vermont; born in Lebanon, Conn., July 10, 1765; moved to Vermont in 1774; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1786; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1788, and commenced practice in Woodstock, Vt; United States district attorney for Vermont, 1797–1801; elected as a Federalist to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); founder of many important societies while in Washington; trustee of Dartmouth college, 1809–1849; died in Woodstock, Vt., January 11, 1849.

Marsh, George Perkins, a Representative from Vermont; born in Woodstock, Vt., March 15, 1801; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1820; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1825, and commenced practice in Burlington, Vt.; member of the governor's council in 1835; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first Congresses, and served from March 4, 1843, until his resignation in 1849; appointed by President Taylor minister resident to Turkey, and served 1849–1853; charged with a special mission to Greece in 1852; fish commissioner of Vermont in 1857, and railroad commissioner, 1857–1859; appointed by President Lincoln envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Italy March 18, 1861, and served until his death in Valombrosa, Italy, July 24, 1882.

Marshall, Alexander Keith, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Woodford county, Ky., February 11, 1808; located in Nicholasville; was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1844; elected as an American to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); died in Fayette county, Ky., April 28, 1884.

Marshall, Alfred, a Representative from Maine; was state representative 1827–1828, and 1834–1835; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); collector at Belfast, Me., 1846–1849; died in China, Me., October 2, 1868.

Marshall, Edward Chauncey, a Representative from California; born in Woodford, Ky., June 29, 1821; moved to Sonora, Cal.; served in the Mexican war; was graduated from Transylvania university, Lexington, Ky.; elected to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); attorney general of California, 1883–1886; died in San Francisco, Cal., July 9, 1893.

Marshall, George Alexander, a Representative from Ohio; born in Shelby county, Ohio, September 14, 1851; attended the public schools of Shelby county, and later the Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, Ohio; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; prosecuting attorney of Shelby county in 1878, 1880, and 1883; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); died in Sidney, Ohio, April 21, 1899.

Marshall, Humphrey, a Senator from Kentucky; born in Fauquier county, Va., in 1756; pursued classical studies; captain in the Virginia cavalry in the Revolutionary war; moved to Kentucky, and studied law; delegate in the state constitutional convention; member of the state house of representatives for several years; elected as a Federalist to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1795, to March 3, 1801; died near Frankfort, Ky., July 1, 1841.

Marshall Humphrey, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Frankfort, Ky., January 13, 1812; was graduated from the West Point military academy in 1832; resigned from the army April 30, 1833; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1833, and practiced in Frankfort 1833-1834 and in Louisville 1834-1846; active in the state militia; colonel of volunteers in the Mexican war; after the war engaged in farming in Henry county, Ky.; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses, and served from March 4, 1849, until his resignation, August 4, 1852; minister to China 1852 to January 27, 1854; reelected as a National American to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855-March 3, 1859); brigadier general in the Confederate army; after the surrender of General Lee moved to New Orleans, La.; pardoned by President Johnson December 18, 1867; returned to Louisville and resumed the practice of law; died in Louisville, Ky., March 28, 1872.

Marshall, James William, a Representative from Virginia; born in Augusta county, Va., March 31, 1844; served as a private soldier four years in the Confederate army; attended Roanoke college part of two sessions and was graduated in 1870; studied law and was admitted to the bar; commonwealth attorney for Craig county 1870-1875; elected to the Virginia senate in 1875, and served four years; member of the general assembly of Virginia 1882, 1883; elected commonwealth attorney for Craig county in 1884 and served four years; presidential elector on the Cleveland and Thurman ticket in 1888; member of the Virginia senate 1891-1892; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893-March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law; died in New Castle, Va., November 27, 1911.

Marshall, John, a Representative from Virginia; born in Germantown, Fauquier county, Va., September 24, 1755; received elementary instruction from his parents, and pursued more advanced studies under a private tutor, James Thompson, and in the classical academy of the Messrs. Campbell in Westmoreland county, Va.; began the study of law at eighteen, but at the outbreak of the Revolutionary war joined a company of state militia that subsequently became part of the eleventh regiment of Virginia troops; was lieutenant of a company, and promoted captain in May, 1777; participated in a number of the more important engagements from 1775 to 1779; was ordered to Virginia in 1779, to take charge of the militia then being organized, and attended law lectures in the college of William and Mary; was admitted to the bar in 1780; returned to the command of his company, then at the army's headquarters, and to Virginia later in the year, where he joined the forces of Baron Steuben for the defense of the state; resigned his commission in 1781, and engaged in the practice of law in Fauquier county; delegate in the Virginia house of burgesses in 1780; located in Richmond and practiced law; member of the executive council 1782-1795; again a member of the house of burgesses 1782-1788; delegate in the state constitutional convention for the ratification of the Federal constitution that met in Richmond, June 2, 1788; declined the cabinet position of Attorney General, and also a foreign mission tendered by President Washington; one of the special commissioners to France, to demand redress and reparation for hostile actions of that country 1797-1798; resumed law practice in Virginia, and declined the appointment of justice of the Supreme Court of the United States tendered by President Adams September 26, 1798; elected to the Sixth Congress, and served from March 4, 1799, to June 7, 1800, when he resigned; was appointed Secretary of War by President Adams May 7, 1800, but the appointment was not considered, and on May 12, 1800, was appointed Secretary of State; entered upon his new duties June 6, 1800, and, although appointed Chief Justice of the United States, January 20, 1801, and notwithstanding he took the oath of office as Chief Justice February 4, 1801, continued to serve in the cabinet until March 4, 1801; member of the Virginia convention of 1829; continued as Chief Justice until his death in Philadelphia, Pa., July 6, 1835.

Digitized by Google

Marshall, Samuel Scott, a Representative from Illinois; born in Gallatin county, Ill., March 12, 1824; attended Cumberland college, Ky.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1845, and commenced practice in McLeansboro, Ill.; member of the state legislature in 1847; state's attorney 1847-1848, circuit court judge 1851-1854 and 1861-1864; delegate in the Democratic national conventions in Charleston and Baltimore in 1860 and 1864; delegate in the Union national convention in 1866; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1855-March 3, 1859), reelected to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, Forty-second, and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1865-March 3, 1875); president of board of managers of Hamilton college, 1875-1880; unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Forty-fourth Congress; died in McLeansboro, Hamilton county, Ill., July 26, 1890.

Marshall, Thomas Alexander, a Representative from Kentucky; born near Versailles, Ky., January 15, 1794; was graduated from Yale college in 1815; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Frankfort in 1816; moved to Paris, Ky., in 1819; member of the state legislature 1827-1828; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Congresses (March 4, 1831-March 3, 1835); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Twenty-fourth Congress; judge of the state court of appeals 1835-1856; professor in the Transylvania law school 1836-1849; moved to Chicago in 1856, but returned to Kentucky; again elected to the state house of representatives in 1863; chief justice of the court of appeals 1866-1867; died in Louisville, Ky., April 17, 1871.

Marshall, Thomas Francis, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Frankfort, Ky., June 7, 1801; pursued classical studies in Virginia; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Versailles, Ky., in 1828; member of the state legislature 1832-1836, 1838-1839, and in 1854; moved to Louisville in 1833; defeated as an independent for the Twenty-fifth Congress; returned to Versailles in 1837; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841-March 3, 1843); served in the Mexican war as captain of volunteers; moved to Chicago in 1856; resumed the practice of law until his death, near Versailles, Ky., September 22, 1864.

Marshall, Thomas Frank, a Representative from North Dakota; born in Hannibal, Mo., March 7, 1854; attended the state normal school, Platteville, Grant county, Wis.; became a surveyor; moved to Dakota in 1873 and engaged in banking; mayor of Oakes, N. Dak., for two terms; state senator four years; delegate in the Republican national convention in Minneapolis in 1892; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses (March 4, 1901-March 3, 1909).

Marston, Gilman, a Representative and a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Oxford, N. H., August 20, 1811; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1837, and from the Harvard law school in 1840; was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in Exeter, N. H., in 1841; member of the state house of representatives 1845-1849; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1850; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1859-March 3, 1863); reelected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1865-March 3, 1867); served in the Union army; commissioned colonel of the tenth New Hampshire infantry June 10, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers November 29, 1862; resigned April 20, 1865; declined the governorship of Idaho Territory in 1870; again a member of the state house of representatives 1872-1873, and 1876-1878; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1876; appointed to the United States Senate, and served from March 5 to June 18, 1889; died in Exeter, N. H., July 3, 1890.

Martin, Alexander, a Senator from North Carolina; born in New Jersey in 1740; was graduated from Princeton college in 1756; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Guilford county, N. C., in 1772; member of the colonial assembly; colonel of the second North Carolina regiment in the Revolutionary war, and commanded at the battles of Brandywine and Germantown; member of the state senate 1779-1782, 1785-1788, and served as speaker during most of his term; acting governor of North Carolina 1781-1782, and governor 1782-1785, and 1789-1792; delegate in the state convention for the adoption of the Federal Constitution; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1793, to March 3, 1799; died in Danbury, N. C., in November, 1807.

Martin, Augustus Newton, a Representative rom Indiana; born near Whitestown, Butler county, Pa., March 23, 1847; attended the common schools and Witherspoon institute, Butler, Pa., and was graduated from Eastman college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in February, 1867; enlisted July 3, 1863, in company I, fifty-eighth Pennsylvania volunteer militia, which assisted in the capture of Gen. John Morgan's command; enlisted again February 22, 1865, in company E, seventy-eighth Pennsylvania volunteers, and served until discharged for disability, August 30, 1865; taught school; read law in Bluffiton in 1869; was admitted to the bar in 1870; member of the Indiana house of representatives 1875; elected reporter of the supreme court of Indiana in 1876 and served four years; unsuccessful candidate for reelection in 1880; resided in Austin, Tex., 1881-1883; returned to Bluffiton, Ind., in 1883; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1895); resumed the practice of law in Bluffton, Ind., until his death, in the soldiers home hospital, Marion, Ind., July 11, 1901.

Digitized by Google

Martin, Barclay, a Representative from Tennessee; native of South Carolina; pursued an academic course; moved to Columbia, Tenn.; elected to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847).

Martin, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Marion county, Va., October 2, 1828; was graduated from Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa., in June, 1854; taught school in Fairmont, Marion county, Va.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in March, 1856; moved to Pruntytown in 1856; member of the constitutional convention of West Virginia in 1872; delegate in the Democratic national convention in Baltimore in 1872; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); presidential elector in 1884; delegate at large to Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1888; resumed the practice of law in Grafton, Taylor county, W. Va., and died there January 20, 1895.

Martin, Charles D., a Representative from Ohio; native of that state; attended the public schools; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-seventh Congress.

Martin, Charles H., a Representative from North Carolina; was graduated from Wake Forest college, North Carolina; studied law and was admitted to the bar; later studied theology and became an ordained minister; successfully contested, as a Populist, the election of James A. Lockhart to the Fifty-fourth Congress; reelected to the Fifty-fifth Congress, and served from June 5, 1896, to March 3, 1899.

Martin, Eben Wever, a Representative from South Dakota; born in Maquoketa, Jackson county, Iowa, April 12, 1855; was graduated from Cornell university in 1879; attended the law school of the University of Michigan, and was president of his class; was admitted to the bar in 1880; moved to Deadwood, S. Dak., and practiced law; member of the territorial legislature of Dakota in 1884 and 1885; for several years president of the board of education of the city of Deadwood; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, and Fifty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1907); reelected to the Sixtieth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William H. Parker; reelected to the Sixty-first Congress, and served from December 7, 1908, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Martin, Edward Livingston, a Representative from Delaware; born in Seaford, Del., March 29, 1837; attended Bolmar's academy, Delaware college, and the University of Virginia; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; served as clerk of the senate of Delaware, and as a commissioner to settle disputed boundary between Delaware and New Jersey; member of the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1864, in Baltimore in 1872, and in St. Louis in 1876; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); died in Seaford, Del., January 27, 1897.

Martin, Elbert S., a Representative from Virginia; native of that state; attended the public schools; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861).

Martin, Frederick S., a Representative from New York; born in Rutland county, Vt., April 25, 1794; attended the common schools; sailor on Lake Champlain, and on the seas; engaged in business in Olean, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1850; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853).

Martin, James Stewart, a Representative from Illinois; born in Scott county, Va., August 19, 1826; attended the common schools; moved to Salem, Ill., in 1846; served in the Mexican war; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; clerk of Marion county court; served in the Union army; commissioned colonel of the one hundred and eleventh Illinois infantry September 18, 1862; brevet brigadier general of volunteers February 26, 1865; honorably mustered out June 7, 1865; county judge; appointed by President Grant United States pension agent April 13, 1869; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875); died in Salem, Ill., November 20, 1907.

Martin, John, a Senator from Kansas; born in Wilson county, Tenn., November 12, 1833; attended the common country schools; moved to Kansas in 1855, and located in Tecumseh April 8, 1855; elected assistant clerk of the first house of representatives organized in the Territory, July 4, 1855; served as county clerk and register of deeds 1855–1857; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1856; served as the first county attorney of Shawnee county 1858–1859; postmaster of Tecumseh 1857–1858; served as deputy United States attorney 1859 to January 29, 1861; moved to Topeka in January, 1861; elected to the state house of representatives in 1873 and 1874; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1872; Democratic nominee for governor in 1876; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1876; appointed district judge and subsequently elected to that office; elected to the United States Senate January 25, 1893, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Preston B. Plumb, and served from March 4, 1893, to March 3, 1895; served as clerk of the supreme court of Kansas for two years; a resident of Topeka, Kans.

Martin, John Andrew, a Representative from Colorado; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, April 10, 1868; moved with his parents to Fulton, Mo., in 1872; attended the public schools of Mexico and Fulton, Mo.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Pueblo, Colo.; served one term in the state assembly; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Martin, John Mason, a Representative from Alabama; born in Athens, Limestone county, Ala., January 20, 1837; attended the common schools, and the high school in Green Springs, Ala., and the University of Alabama, and was graduated from Centre college, Danville, Ky.; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; professor of equity jurisprudence in the University of Alabama, 1875 to 1886; member of the senate of Alabama from August, 1871, to November, 1876, and served as president pro tempore from 1873 to 1876; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1887); died in Bowling Green, Ky., June 16, 1898.

Digitized by Google

Martin, John P., a Representative from Kentucky; born in Lee county, Va., October 11, 1811; pursued an academic course; moved to Prestonburg, Ky., in 1828; member of the state house of representatives 1841–1842; elected to the state senate in 1857; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847).

Martin, Joseph John, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Martin county, N. C., November 21, 1833; attended Williamston academy; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1859; county attorney of Martin county, N. C., for six years; elected as a Republican solicitor for the second judicial district of North Carolina in 1868 and served six years; reelected in 1874 and held the office until his nomination for Congress; delegate in the Republican national convention in Cincinnati; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1881); resumed the practice of law in Toledo, N. C.; postmaster of Toledo 1897, until his death in that city December 18, 1900.

Martin, Joshua Lanier, a Representative from Alabama; born in Blount county, Tenn.; December 5, 1799; pursued an academic course; studied law in Maryville, Tenn., and was admitted to the bar; moved to Alabama and commenced practice in Athens, Limestone county; member of the state house of representatives, 1822–1828; served as state solicitor; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); circuit judge and chancellor of middle Alabama; governor of Alabama 1845–1847; died in Tuscaloosa, Ala., November 2, 1856.

Martin, Luther, a Delegate from Maryland; born in New Brunswick, N. J., February 9, 1744; was graduated from Princeton college in 1766; taught school in Queenstown, Md., 1766–1771; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Williamsburg, Va., September 1, 1771, and commenced practice in Accomac county, Va.; member of the Annapolis convention of 1774; attorney general of Maryland 1778–1805; and again 1818–1820; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1784–1785; member of the Federal constitutional convention; chief justice of the court of oyer and terminer in 1814; died in New York City, July 10, 1826.

Martin, Morgan Lewis, a Delegate from Wisconsin territory; born in Martinsburg, Lewis county, N. Y., March 31, 1805; was graduated from Hamilton college, Clinton, N. Y., in 1824; moved to Green Bay, Wis.; member of the Wisconsin legislative council, 1838–1844; president of the second constitutional convention in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1845–March 3, 1847); member of the state senate, 1858 and 1859; paymaster in the United States army 1861–1865; Indian agent in 1866–1869; judge of Brown county from 1875 until his death in Green Bay, Wis., December 10, 1887.

Martin, Robert Nicols, a Representative from Maryland; born in Cambridge, Md., January 14, 1798; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Princess Anne county, Md., 1819–1827; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); practiced law in Baltimore, Md., 1827–1845; chief justice of the western judicial district; judge of the court of appeals 1845–1851; judge of the superior court of Baltimore 1859–1867; professor of law in the University of Maryland 1867–1870; died in Saratoga, N. Y., July 20, 1870.

Martin, Thomas Staples, a Senator from Virginia; born in Scottsville, Albemarle county, Va., July 29, 1847; attended the Virginia military institute from March 1, 1864, to April 9, 1865, and the University of Virginia from October 1, 1865, to June 29, 1866, and from October 1, 1866, to June 29, 1867; though not a regularly enlisted soldier, part of the time he was enrolled a cadet in the Virginia military institute was spent in the military service of the Confederacy with the battalion of cadets from the institute; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1869, and practiced in Albemarle county; member of the board of visitors of the Miller manual labor school of Albemarle county; member of the board of visitors of the University of Virginia; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate December 19, 1893, for the term beginning March 4, 1895; reelected in 1899 and 1905, and again January 12, 1912, for the term beginning March 4, 1913.

Martin, William Dobbin, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Martintown, S. C., October 20, 1789; pursued an academic course; attended the Litchfield law school, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Edgefield, S. C., in 1811; moved in 1813 to Coosawhatchie; member of the state house of representatives 1816–1818; clerk of the state senate 1818–1826; elected as a Democrat to the Twentieth and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1831); elected judge of the circuit court in 1831–1833; moved to Columbia, S. C.; died in Charleston, S. C., November 17, 1833.

Martin, William H., a Representative from Texas; born in Barbour county, Ala., September 2, 1823; attended the common schools; studied law in Troy, Ala., and was admitted to the bar; moved to Texas in 1850, and engaged in the practice of law; elected to the state senate in 1853, and reelected in 1855; raised a company for the Confederate army in 1861, and was mustered into the fourth Texas regiment; assigned to Lee's army and participated in all the battles of that army until its surrender in April, 1865; returned to Athens, Tex., and resumed the practice of law; elected district attorney in 1872; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); resumed the practice of law in Athens, Tex.

Martindale, Henry Clinton, a Representative from New York; born in Berkshire county, Mass., May 6, 1780; was graduated from Williams college in 1800; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Sandy Hill, N. Y., 1801–1860; elected as a Whig to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1831); reelected to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); died in Sandy Hill, N. Y., April 22, 1860.

Marvin, Dudley, a Representative from New York; born in Lyme, Conn., May 6, 1786; attended Colchester seminary; studied law, was admitted to the bar in Canandaigua, N. Y., and practiced there in 1807–1835; elected as an Adams Democrat to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1829); moved to New York City, and practiced law 1835–1845; moved to Ripley, N. Y., and practiced 1845–1856; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); died in Ripley, N. Y., June 25, 1856.

Digitized by Google

Marvin, Francis, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, March 8, 1828; attended private schools; entered upon a commercial career and engaged in the promotion, construction, and operation of railways, water-supply companies, bridges, the manufacture of illuminating gas, and in banking; unsuccessful candidate of the Republican party for member of the assembly in 1864, and for the state senate in 1881; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); retired to private life and devoted his time to the management of his several business enterprises; died in New York City, August 10, 1904; interment in Port Jervis, N. Y.

Marvin, James Madison, a Representative from New York; born in Ballston, N. Y., February 27, 1809; attended the common schools; engaged in the hotel business in Saratoga Springs and Albany, N. Y.; Whig member of the state assembly in 1845; county supervisor for several years; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1869); president of First national bank of Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; director of New York Central railroad; died in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., April 25, 1901.

Marvin, Richard Pratt, a Representative from New York; born in Fairfield, Herkimer county, N. Y., December 23, 1803; went with parents to Dryden, N. Y., in 1809; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar in May, 1829, and commenced practice in Jamestown, N. Y.; member of the state assembly in 1836–1837; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1846; judge of the eighth judicial district 1847–1871; resumed the practice of law until his death in Jamestown, N. Y., January 11, 1892.

Mason, Armistead Thomson, a Senator from Virginia; born in Louisa county, Va., August 4, 1787; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1807; engaged in farming; colonel of Virginia volunteers in the war of 1812; member of the state house of representatives; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William B. Giles, and served from January 3, 1816, to March 3, 1817; unsuccessful candidate for election to the Fifteenth Congress; killed in a duel with his brother-in-law, John M. McCarty, in Blandensburg, near Washington, D. C., February 6, 1819.

Mason, James Brown, a Representative from Rhode Island; born in Thompson, Conn., in 1774; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Brown university in 1791; studied medicine and was admitted to practice; moved to Charleston, S. C., and practiced 1795–1798; returned to Providence and was a merchant 1798–1819; member of the state house of representatives for several years, and served as speaker from February, 1812, to May, 1814; elected as a Federalist to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Congresses (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1819); trustee of Brown university 1804–1819; died in Providence, R. I., September 6, 1819.

Mason, James Murray, a Representative and a Senator from Virginia; born on Analostan Island, Fairfax county, Va., November 3, 1798; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1818, and from the law department of William and Mary college in 1820; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Winchester, Va., 1820–1861; delegate in the Virginia constitutional convention of 1829; member of the state house of delegates 1826–1832; presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1832; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Isaac S. Pennybacker; twice reelected, and served from January 21, 1847, to his retirement, March 28, 1861; formally expelled from the Senate by resolution of July 11, 1861; delegate from Virginia to the provisional congress of the Confederacy; appointed commissioner of the Confederacy to Great Britain and France; taken prisoner on the high seas Novemner 8, 1861, and confined in Fort Warren, Boston harbor; released on the order of Secretary Seward January 2, 1862; proceeded to London, and represented the Confederacy until its downfall in April, 1865; died near Alexandria, Va., April 28, 1871.

Mason, Jeremiah, a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Lebanon, Conn., April 27, 1768; was graduated from Yale college in 1788; studied law, moved to Vermont, and was admitted to the bar in 1791; moved to New Hampshire, and practiced in Westmoreland 1791–1794, in Walpole 1794–1797, and in Portsmouth, N. H., 1798–1832; appointed attorney general of New Hampshire in 1802; member of the state house of representatives for several years; elected to the United States Senate, and served from June 10, 1813, until June 16, 1817, when he resigned; again served for a number of terms in the state legislature, and as president of the Portsmouth branch of the United States bank, 1825–1829; moved to Boston, Mass., in 1832; left the bar in 1838, but continued as chamber counsel up to the time of his death in Boston, Mass., October 14, 1848.

Mason, John C., a Representative from Kentucky; native of that state, located in Owensville, Ky.; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); reelected to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859).

Mason, John Thomson, a Representative from Maryland; born in Montpelier, Md., May 9, 1815; was graduated from Princeton college in 1836; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Hagerstown, Md., in 1838; member of the state house of representatives, 1838–1839; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); judge of the court of appeals 1851–1857; customs collector in Baltimore 1857–1861; moved to Annapolis, Md., where he died March 28, 1873.

Mason, John Young, a Representative from Virginia; born in Greensville county, Va., April 18, 1799; was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1816; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1819, and commenced practice in Hicksford, Va.; member of the state house of representatives, 1819–1829; United States district judge for eastern Virginia; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, and Twenty-fourth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1831, until his resignation, January 11, 1837; elected judge of the Virginia general court; delegate in the state constitutional conventions of 1828 and 1849; Secretary of the Navy March 14, 1844–March 10, 1845, and September 9, 1846-March 8, 1849; Attorney General March 6, 1845, to September 9, 1846; practiced law in Richmond, Va., 1849–1854; minister to France January 22, 1854, until his death, in Paris, France, October 3, 1859.

Digitized by Google

Mason, Jonathan, a Representative and a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Boston, Mass., August 30, 1752; completed preparatory studies in the Boston Latin school, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1774; studied law under John Adams, was admitted to the bar in 1777, and commenced practice on Boston; member of the state house of representatives; executive councilor in 1798; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Benjamin Goodhue, and served from November 14, 1800, to March 3, 1803; elected as a Federalist to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1817, until his resignation, May 15, 1820; died in Boston, Mass., November 1, 1831.

Mason, Joseph H., a Representative from New York; born in Plattsburg, N. Y., March 30, 1828; moved to Hamilton, N. Y., in 1840; attended Hamilton academy and Madison university; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1849, and practiced in Hamilton, N. Y.; elected county judge of Madison county for the term commencing January 1, 1864, and served four years; appointed collector of internal revenue in 1871, and held the position until January, 1876; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); resumed the practice of law in Hamilton, N. Y.

Mason, Moses, jr., a Representative from Maine; born in Oxford county, Me., June 2, 1789; studied medicine, and commenced practice in Bethel, Me., in 1813; appointed first postmaster of Bethel in 1814; justice of the peace, 1821–1866; county commissioner 1831–1834; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1837); an executive councilor 1843–1845; trustee of the state insane hospital in 1844; selectman of Bethel fourteen years, and president of Gould's academy 1854–1856; died in Bethel, Me., June 25, 1866.

Mason, Samson, a Representative from Ohio; born in Fort Ann, N. Y., July 24, 1793; attended the common schools in Onondaga, N. Y.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Springfield, Ohio, in 1819; prosecuting attorney for Clark county in 1822; member of the state senate 1829–1831; candidate for presidential elector in 1832; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1843); member of the state house of representatives, 1845–1846; United States attorney for Ohio 1850–1853; member of the state senate 1862–1864; delegate in the Ohio constitutional convention, 1850–1851; served as captain, colonel, brigadier general, and major general in the state militia; died in Springfield, Ohio, February 1, 1869.

Mason, Stevens Thomson, a Senator from Virginia; born in Chapawausic, Stafford county, Va., in 1760; attended William and Mary college; served in the Revolutionary army as a voluntary aide to Gen. Washington at Yorktown, and became a brigadier general in the Virginia militia; member of the house of delegates; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1788; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Monroe; was twice reelected, and served from November 18, 1794, until his death, in Philadelphia, Pa., May 10, 1803.

Mason, William, a Representative from New York; born in Lebanon, Conn., September 10, 1786; studied medicine and practiced in Preston, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives, 1821-1822; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1835-March 3, 1837); died in Norwich, Chenango county, N. Y., January 13, 1860.

Mason, William Ernest, a Representative and a Senator from Illinois; born in Franklinville, Cattaraugus county, N. Y., July 7, 1850; moved with his parents to Bentonsport, Iowa, in 1858; attended the Bentonsport academy, and Birmingham college 1863-1865; taught school in Bentonsport 1866-1868, and in Des Moines, Iowa, 1868–1870; studied law, moved to Chicago, Ill., in 1872, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; member of the state house of representatives in 1879; state senator 1882–1885; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Fifty-second Congress; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1897, to March 3, 1903; resumed the practice of law in Chicago, Ill.

Massey, Zebulon D., a Representative from Tennessee, born near Marshall, N. C., November 14, 1864; attended the colleges of North Carolina, and taught in the public schools 1882–1886; attended medical lectures in Louisville, Ky., 1886–1889, and was graduated in 1889 and began practice in Wears Valley, Tenn.; moved to Sevierville in 1890; was commissioned by President McKinley in 1898 as an assistant surgeon in the sixth United States volunteer infantry; went to Porto Rico with the regiment; returned to Savannah, Ga., in 1899, where he was mustered out; was appointed postmaster of Sevierville and served until 1904; resigned to accept a seat in the state Senate; returned in 1906; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Walter P. Brownlow, and served from December 6, 1909, to March 3, 1911.

Masters, Josiah, a Representative from New York; born in Woodbury, Conn., October 22, 1763; was graduated from Yale college in 1784; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Schaghticoke, N. Y.; member of the state assembly in 1792, 1800, and 1801; associate judge of Rensselaer county 1801–1805; elected as a Democrat to the Ninth and Tenth Congresses (March 4, 1805–March 3, 1809); judge of the court of common pleas of Rensselaer county, 1809-1822; supported the war of 1812, and was a prominent friend of the proposed Erie canal; died in Schaghticoke, N. Y., June 30, 1832.

Mathews, James, a Representative from Ohio; native of Columbia county, Ohio; attended the common schools; located in Coshocton; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1845); moved to Knoxville, Marion county, Iowa, in 1855 died in Iowa City, Iowa.

Digitized by Google

Mathewson, Elisha, a Senator from Rhode Island; born in Scituate, R. I., April 18, 1767; pursued an academic course; justice of the peace of Scituate, R. I.; member of the state house of representatives for several years, and served as speaker from May to October, 1821, and May to October, 1822; member of the state senate; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James Fenner, and served from October 26, 1807, to March 3, 1811; died in Scituate, R. I., February 6, 1853.

Mathiot, Joshua, a Representative from Ohio; native of that state; attended the common schools; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841-March 3, 1843); died in Newark, Ohio, July 30, 1849.

Matlack, James, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Gloucester county, N. J., January 11, 1775; attended the common schools; member of the state legislature; elected judge of the court of common pleas; elected to the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821-March 3, 1825); died in Woodbury, N. J., January 16, 1840.

Matlack, Timothy, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in Haddonfield, N. J., in 1730; pursued an academic course; was in command of a battalion of "Associators" against the Tories of Delaware; member of the provincial conference held in Carpenter's hall, Philadelphia, June 18, 1775; delegate in the convention of July 15, 1776, and appointed secretary of state; member of the committee of safety in 1776; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1780-1781; moved to Lancaster, Pa.; master of the rolls of Pennsylvania, 1800-1809; moved to Philadelphia and was prothonotary of one of the city courts for several years; died near Holmesburg, Pa., April 15, 1829.

Matson, Aaron, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in Plymouth, Mass., in 1770; moved to Cheshire county, N. H.; judge of probate; executive councilor 1819-1821; elected to the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821-March 3, 1825); died in Newport, Vt., July 18, 1855.

Matson, Courtland Cushing, a Representative from Indiana; born in Brookville, Ind., April 25, 1841; was graduated from the Indiana Asbury university (DePauw) in 1862; enlisted as a private in the sixteenth Indiana volunteers, and after one year's service entered the sixth Indiana cavalry (seventy-first volunteers), and served until October, 1865, and rose to the rank of colonel; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Greencastle, Ind.; was three times elected prosecuting attorney; chairman of the Democratic state central committee in 1878; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1881-March 3, 1889); unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1888; resumed the practice of law in Greencastle, Ind.; state tax commissioner.

Matteson, Orsamus B., a Representative from New York; born in Verona, N. Y., in 1805; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Utica, N. Y.; the first city attorney of Utica; state supreme court commissioner; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress (March 4, 1849-March 3, 1851); reelected to the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1853, until his resignation February 27, 1857; again elected to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857-March 3, 1859); died in Utica, N. Y., December 22, 1889.

Matthews, George, a Representative from Georgia; born in Augusta county, Va., in 1739; commanded a volunteer company against the Indians in 1757, and in the battle of Point Pleasant, October 10, 1774; colonel of the ninth Virginia regiment in the Revolutionary war; fought at Brandywine and Germantown, where he was wounded; confined on the prison ship New Jersey until December, 1771, when he was exchanged and joined Gen. Greene's army as colonel of the third Virginia regiment; engaged in farming in Oglethorpe county, Ga., in 1785; elected to the First Congress (March 4, 1789-March 3, 1791); governor of Georgia 1793-1796; brigadier general in the expedition for the capture of West Florida in 1811; died in Augusta, Ga., August 30, 1812.

Matthews, John, a Delegate from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., in 1744; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; associate judge of the state supreme court in 1776; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1778-1782; governor of South Carolina 1782-1783; judge of the court of equity in 1784; died in Charleston, S. C., November 17, 1802.

Matthews, Stanley, a Senator from Ohio; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, July 21, 1824; attended Woodward high school, and was graduated from Kenyon college in 1840; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1842, and practiced in Maury county, Tenn., 1842-1844; returned to Cincinnati in 1844; appointed assistant prosecutor of Hamilton county in 1845; an editor of the Cincinnati Herald 1846-1849; clerk of the state assembly 1848-1850; judge of the court of common pleas of Hanover county 1850-1852; elected to the state senate in 1856-1858; appointed by President Buchanan United States district attorney for southern Ohio in 1858; and served until his resignation in March, 1861; served in the Civil war as lieutenant colonel of the twenty-third Ohio volunteers; promoted to colonel of the fifty-seventh Ohio volunteers in October, 1861; resigned in the spring of 1863, and returned to law practice in Cincinnati; judge of the Cincinnati superior court 1863, until his resignation in July, 1864; presidential elector on the Republican tickets of 1864 and 1868; unsuccessful candidate for election to the Forty-fifth Congress; was counsel before the electoral commission in 1877; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Sherman, and served from March 21, 1877, to March 3, 1879; appointed by President Hayes associate justice of the United States supreme court January 26, 1881, but was not confirmed; renominated by President Garfield March 14, and confirmed May 12, 1881, and served until his death, in Washington, D. C., March 22, 1889.

Matthews, Vincent, a Representative from New York; born in Orange county, N. Y., June 29, 1766; pursued an academic course in Noah Webster's school, Goshen, N. Y.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1790, and commenced practice in Elmira, N. Y., in 1790; member of the state house of representatives in 1793; member of the state senate in 1796-1797 and 1809; bounty land claims commissioner in 1798; elected as a Federalist to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809-March 3, 1811); district attorney for several counties in western New York, 1812-1815; moved to Bath, thence to Rochester; again member of the state house of representatives in 1826; district attorney of Monroe county 1831–1833; chancellor of the state of New York; died in Rochester, N. Y., August 23, 1846.

Digitized by Google

Matthews, William, a Representative from Maryland; native of that state; elected to the Fifth Congress (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1799).

Mattocks, John, a Representative from Vermont; born in Hartford, Conn., March 4, 1777; moved with parents to Tinmouth, Vt., in 1778; pursued an academic course; studied law in Middlebury and Fairfield, was admitted to the bar in February, 1797, and commenced practice in Danville; moved to Peacham, Vt.; member of the state general assembly in 1807, 1815–1816, and 1823–1824; brigadier general of militia in the war of 1812; elected as a Whig to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); reelected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); judge of the state supreme court in 1832, but declined a renomination; delegate in the constitutional convention of 1836; elected to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); governor of Vermont, 1843–1844; died in Peacham, Vt., August 14, 1847.

Mattoon, Ebenezer, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Amherst, Mass., August 19, 1755; was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1776; served in the Revolutionary army; a representative in the general court for several terms; state senator 1795–1796; an Adams presidential elector in 1797; elected to the Sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel Lyman; reelected to the Seventh Congress, and served from February 2, 1801, to March 3, 1803; served in the war of 1812 as a lieutenant of artillery in the Canadian campaign, and at Bemis's Heights, October 7, 1777, and attained the rank of major; sheriff of Hampshire county, Mass., for twenty years; state adjutant general; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1820; died in Amherst, Mass., September 11, 1843.

Maurice, James, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, November 7, 1814; attended the public schools; located in Maspeth; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); died in Maspeth, Queens county, N. Y., August 4, 1884.

Maury, Abraham Poindexter, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Williamson county, Tenn., December 26, 1801; completed preparatory studies, and was editor of a newspaper in St. Louis, Mo., at sixteen; entered the United States military academy in 1818, but left the following year to study law and edit a newspaper in Nashville, Tenn; purchased and cultivated the family homestead in Williamson county; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); was admitted to the bar and practiced in Williamson county 1839–1848; died in Franklin, Tenn., July 16, 1848.

Maxey, Samuel Bell, a Senator from Texas; born in Tompkinsville, Monroe county, Ky., March 30, 1825; attended the common schools, and was graduated from the West Point military accademy in 1846; brevetted second lieutenant of the seventh infantry July 1, 1846; second lieutenant of the eighth infantry February 23, 1847; transferred to the seventh infantry July 18, 1847; brevet first lieutenant August 20, 1847, "for gallant services at Contreras and Churubusco;" resigned September 17, 1849; returned to Kentucky; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1850, and commenced practice in Albany, Ky., where he served as clerk of the county and circuit courts, and as master in chancery 1852–1856; moved to Paris, Tex., in 1857 and practiced; district attorney of Lamar county, Tex., 1858–1859; elected to the state senate for four years in 1861, but declined, and raised the ninth Texas infantry for the Confederate army, or which he was colonel; promoted brigadier general in 1862, and major general in 1864; commanded the Indian territory military district 1863–1865, and was also superintendent of Indian affairs; remained in the service until the surrender of the trans-Mississippi department May 26, 1865; resumed the practice of law in Paris, Tex.; commissioned as judge of the eighth district of Texas April 18, 1873, but declined; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate in 1875; reelected in 1881, and served from March 4, 1875 to March 3, 1887; located in Eureka Springs, Ark., in 1887, and practiced law; died in Eureka Springs, Ark., August 16, 1895; interment in Paris, Tex.

Maxwell, Augustus Emmett, a Representative from Florida; born in Elberton, Ga., September 21, 1820; was graduated from the university of Virginia in 1841; studied law, was admitted to the Alabama bar in 1843, and practiced in Eutaw Ala., 1843–1845; moved to Tallahassee, Fla.; member of the state house of representatives in 1847; secretary of state in 1848; state senator in 1849–1850; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1857); United States navy agent at Pensacola 1857–1861; member of the Confederate senate 1862–1865; appointed judge of the state supreme court; judge of the circuit court of Florida 1877–1885; member of state constitutional convention of 1885; chief justice, and later associate justice of the state supreme court 1887–1891; elected president of the Pensacola & Montgomery railroad in 1866; died in Chipley, Fla., May 5, 1903.

Maxwell, George C., a Representative from New Jersey; native of New Jersey; was graduated from Princeton college in 1792; elected as a Whig to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813).

Maxwell, John Paterson Bryant, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Flemington, N. J., September 3, 1804; was graduated from Princeton college in 1823; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Belvidere, N. J., in 1827; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1839); reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Twenty-sixth Congress, but the House refused to recognize them; trustee of Princeton college, 1842–1845; died in Belvidere, N. J., November 14, 1845.

Maxwell, Lewis, a Representative from Virginia; native of Virginia, located in Weston; elected as a Whig to the Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second Congresses (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1844).

Maxwell, Samuel, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Lodi (then a suburb of Syracuse, N. Y.), May 20, 1826; attended the common schools;

Digitized by Google

moved with his family to Michigan in 1844; taught school and farmed; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1859; moved to Nebraska and commenced practice; elected a delegate to the first Republican territorial convention; member of the territorial legislature; elected to the first constitutional convention in 1861, and to the legislature in the same year, and reelected in 1865; assisted in framing the constitution of 1866; elected to the first state legislature in 1866; appointed by the governor a commissioner to select capitol building plans and university lands in 1867; elected in 1871 to the second constitutional convention; elected judge of the supreme court as a Republican in 1872 for a term of six years; located in Fremont in 1873; elected in 1875 a member of the third constitutional convention; elected the same year judge of the supreme court under the new constitution, and reelected in 1881 and 1887; elected as a Fusionist to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); resumed the practice of law; died in Fremont, Nebr., February 11, 1901.

Maxwell, Thomas, a Representative from New York; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-first Congress (March 4, 1829–March 3, 1831).

May, Henry, a Representative from Maryland; born in Washington, D. C., February 13, 1816; pursued an academic course; attended Columbian college; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1840, and practiced; sent by President Pierce to Mexico to investigate the Gardiner claim; moved to Baltimore, Md., in 1850; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-fourth Congress; reelected to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); died in Baltimore, Md., September 25, 1866.

May, Mitchell, a Representative from New York; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., July 10, 1870; attended the public schools and the Brooklyn polytechnic institute; was graduated from the law school of Columbia college in 1892, and was admitted to the bar in 1893, and engaged in practice in Brooklyn; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1901); member board of education of New York City 1907–1911; assistant district attorney of Kings county 1911–1912.

May, William L., a Representative from Illinois; native of Kentucky; attended the common schools; moved to Springfield, Ill.; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Joseph Duncan; reelected to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses, and served from December 1, 1834, to March 3, 1839.

Maybury, William Cotter, a Representative from Michigan; born in Detroit, Mich., November 20, 1848; was graduated from the literary department of the University of Michigan in 1870, and from the law department in 1871, and began practice in Detroit; city attorney of Detroit 1875–1880; lecturer on medical jurisprudence in Michigan college of medicine; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); resumed the practice of law in Detroit; in 1897 was elected mayor of Detroit, and twice reelected; died in Detroit, Mich., May 6, 1909.

Mayham, Stephen Lorenzo, a Representative from New York; born in Blenheim, N. Y., October 8, 1825; pursued an academic course; studied law in Ithaca, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1848; superintendent of schools in Schoharie county, N. Y., 1852–1857 and supervisor 1857–1860; county attorney 1859–1863; member of the state house of representatives in 1863; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); reelected to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); elected judge of Schoharie county in 1883; judge of the supreme court of New York, and afterwards presiding justice, 1886–1889; died in Schoharie, N. Y., March 3, 1908.

Maynard, Harry Lee, a Representative from Virginia; born in Portsmouth, N. H., June 8, 1861; attended the common schools of Norfolk county; was graduated from the Virginia agricultural and mechanical college in 1880; member of the Virginia house of delegates in 1890; elected to the Virginia state senate in 1894 and 1898; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1911); interested in irrigated lands in Yakima, Wash.; a resident of Portsmouth, Va.

Maynard, Horace, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Westboro, Mass., August 30, 1814; attended the common schools of Charleston, S. C., and the Millbury, Mass., academy, and was graduated from Amherst college in 1838; in 1839 became principal of the Hampden-Sydney academy in Knoxville, Tenn.; instructor and professor in the University of East Tennessee until 1844; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1844, and practiced in Knoxville, Tenn.; attorney general of Tennessee 1863–1865; presidential elector in 1852 and 1864; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1865 and in the Loyalist convention in Philadelphia in 1866; elected as an American to the Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth, and Thirty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1863); reelected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth Forty-first, Forty-second, and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1875); unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor of Tennessee in 1874; minister to Turkey March 9, 1875, until May, 1880; Postmaster General in the cabinet of President Hayes June 2, 1880, to March 5, 1881; died in Knoxville, Tenn., May 3, 1882.

Maynard, John, a Representative from New York; native of that state; was graduated from Union college in 1810; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Seneca Falls N. Y.; moved to Auburn; elected as a Whig to the Twentieth Congress (March 4, 1827–March 3, 1829); reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); member of the state senate 1838–1840; seventh district judge of the supreme court June 7, 1847, until his death in Auburn, N. Y., March 24, 1850.

Mayo, Robert M., a Representative from Virginia; presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Forty-eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1884, to March 20, 1884, when he was succeeded by George T. Garrison, who contested his election.

Mayrant, William, a Representative from South Carolina; native of that state; elected to the Fourteenth Congress, and served from March 4, 1815, until his resignation October 21, 1816; defeated for the Fifteenth Congress.

Mays, Dannitte Hill, a Representative from Florida; born in Madison county, Fla., April 28,

Digitized by Google

1852; attended the county schools and the Washington and Lee university in Lexington, Va.; member of the Florida legislature, and served one term as speaker; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 3, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Meacham, James, a Representative from Vermont; born in Rutland, Vt., August 10, 1810; was graduated from Middlebury college in 1832; taught in the seminary in Castleton, Vt., and in the academy in St. Albans, Vt.; attended Andover theological seminary; tutor and professor at Middlebury college; ordained to the Congregational ministry in 1838, and was pastor in New Haven, Vt.; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George P. Marsh; reelected to the Thirty-second, Thirty-third, and Thirty-fourth Congresses, and served from December 3, 1849, until his death in Rutland, Vt., August 22, 1856.

Mead, Cowles, a Representative from Georgia; native of that state; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Ninth Congress, and served until December 24, 1805, when he was succeeded by Thomas Spalding, who contested his election; appointed secretary of Mississippi territory in 1806.

Meade, Edwin Ruthven, a Representative from New York; born in Norwich, N. J., July 6, 1836; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Norwich in 1858; moved to New York City in 1872; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); died in New York City, November 28, 1889.

Meade, Richard Kidder, a Representative from Virginia; born in Frederick county, Va., in 1795; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Petersburg, Va.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth, Thirty-first, and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1853); declined the appointment of chargé d'affaires to Sardinia tendered by President Pierce in 1853; minister to Brazil by the nomination of President Buchanan July 27, 1857, to July 9, 1861; returned to Virginia and devoted himself to the cause of the Confederacy; died in Petersburg, Va., April 20, 1862.

Mebane, Alexander, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Pennsylvania, November 26, 1744; moved with parents to Hawfields, N. C.; attended the common schools of Orange county; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1776; justice of the peace and sheriff of Orange county; auditor of the Hillsboro district 1783–1784; member of the Hillsboro convention of 1788, and of the Fayetteville convention of 1789; member of the house of commons of North Carolina 1787–1792; elected to the Third Congress (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1795); died in Hawfields, Orange county, N. C., July 5, 1795.

Medill, William, a Representative from Ohio; born in Newcastle county, Del., in 1805; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated from Delaware college in 1825; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lancaster county, Ohio, in 1832; member of the state house of representatives 1835–1837, and served as speaker in 1836–1837; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–1843); appointed by President Polk Second Assistant Postmaster General in 1845; Commissioner of Indian Affairs October 28, 1845, to May 29, 1850; delegate in the Ohio constitutional convention of 1850; lieutenant governor of Ohio 1852–1853, and governor 1854–1855; unsuccessful candidate for reelection as governor of Ohio, 1855; the first Comptroller of the United States Treasury by appointment of President Buchanan March 26, 1857, to April 10, 1861; died in Lancaster, Ohio, September 2, 1865.

Meech, Ezra, a Representative from Vermont; born in New London, Conn., July 26, 1773; moved to Hinesburgh, Vt., in 1785; attended the common schools; engaged in the fur trade in the Northwest and in ship-timber contracts in Canada; moved to Shelburne, Vt., and engaged in farming and stock raising; member of the state house of representatives 1805–1807; elected as a Whig to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); reelected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); delegate in the state constitutional conventions of 1822 and 1826; chief justice of Chittenden county court 1822–1823; presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1840; died in Shelburne, Vt., September 23, 1856.

Meekison, David, a Representative from Ohio; born in Dundee, Scotland, November 14, 1849; came with his parents to the United States in 1855 and located in Napoleon, Ohio; attended the common schools; entered a printing office; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1873; county prosecuting attorney; probate judge 1881–1888; in 1886 established the Meekison bank in Napoleon, Ohio; mayor of Napoleon 1890–1897; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1901); president of state bank in Napoleon, Ohio.

Meigs, Henry, a Representative from New York; born in New Haven, Conn., October 28, 1782; was graduated from Yale college in 1798; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New York city; served in the war of 1812; elected as a Democrat to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); died in New York city, May 20, 1861.

Meigs, Return Jonathan, a Senator from Ohio; born in Middletown, Conn., November 16, 1764; was graduated from Yale college in 1785; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Marietta, Ohio; served in the Indian war; territorial judge 1802–1803; chief justice of the Ohio supreme court 1803–1804; bevetted colonel in the United States army and commanded in the St. Charles district in Louisiana 1804–1806; judge of the supreme court of Louisiana 1805–1806; judge of the United States district court for the territory of Michigan 1807–1808; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Smith; was reelected, and served from December 12, 1808, to May 1, 1810, when he resigned; governor of Ohio 1810–1814; Postmaster General by the appointment of President Madison and reappointment of President Monroe March 17, 1814, to June 26, 1823; died in Marietta, Ohio, March 29, 1824.

Meiklejohn, George De Rue, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Weyauwega, Waupaca county, Wis., August 26, 1857; attended the state normal school in Oshkosh, Wis., and was graduated from the law department of Michigan university,

Digitized by Google

Ann Arbor, in 1880; principal of the high school in Weyauwega, Wis., and Liscomb, Iowa; was admitted to the bar and began practice in Fullerton, Nance county, Nebr., in 1880; county attorney for Nance county 1881-1884; member of the state senate in 1884-1888, and served as president of the body 1886-1888; chairman of the Republican state convention of 1887; chairman of the Republican state central committee 1887-1888; lieutenant governor of Nebraska 1889-1891; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893-March 3, 1897); appointed by President McKinley Assistant Secretary of War April 14, 1897, and served until March, 1901, when he resigned; resumed the practice of law in Omaha, Nebr.

Mellen, Prentiss, a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Sterling, Mass., October 11, 1764; was graduated from Harvard college in 1784; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Sterling, Mass., in 1786; practiced in Bridgewater, Mass., 1789-1791, in Dover, N. H., 1791-1792, in Biddeford, Me., 1792-1806, and in Portland, Me., 1806-1840; member of the executive council 1808-1809 and 1817; presidential elector on the Monroe and Tompkins ticket in 1817; trustee of Bowdoin college 1817-1836; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Eli P. Ashmun, and served from June 5, 1818, to May 15, 1820, when he resigned on the creation of the state of Maine to become chief justice of the supreme court of that state; retired in 1834 on reaching the age of 70 years; chairman of the commission to revise and codify the public statutes of Maine in 1838; died in Portland, Me., December 31, 1840.

Mellish, David Batcheller, a Representative from New York; born in Oxford, Mass., January 2, 1831; attended the public schools, and became a printer in Worcester; taught school in Massachusetts, Maryland, and Pennsylvania; proof reader in New York city; reporter for the New York Tribune; stenographer to the police board of New York city for ten years; appointed assistant appraiser of merchandise for the port of New York in 1871; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress, and served from March 4, 1873, until his death in Washington, D. C., May 23, 1874.

Menifee, Richard H., a Representative from Kentucky; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lexington, Ky.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1837-March 3, 1839); died in Frankfort, Ky., February 21, 1841.

Menzies, John W., a Representative from Kentucky; born in Fayette county, Ky., April 12, 1819; was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1840; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Covington, Ky., in 1841; member of the state house of representatives in 1848 and 1855; elected as a Unionist to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841-March 3, 1843); delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1864.

Mercer, Charles Fenton, a Representative from Virginia; born in Fredericksburg, Va., June 6, 1778; was graduated from Princeton college in 1797; lieutenant and captain of cavalry in the United States army 1798-1800; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1802, and settled in practice in Aldie, Loudoun county, Va.; member of the state house of representatives; 1810-1817; brigadier general in the war of 1812, and commanded the forces at Norfolk, Va.; president of the Chesapeake & Ohio canal company; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth, and to the eleven succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1817, to December 26, 1839, when he resigned; died in Howard, Va., May 4, 1858; interment in Leesburg, Va.

Mercer, David Henry, a Representative from Nebraska; born in Benton county, Iowa, July 9, 1857; moved with his parents to Adams county, Ill., in 1858; at close of the war moved with his parents to Brownville, Nebr., where he attended the public schools, and was graduated from the Nebraska state university in 1880; was graduated from the law department of Michigan state university in 1882; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Brownville, Nebr.; served one term as city clerk and police judge; twice elected secretary of the Republican state central committee; moved to Omaha in 1885, and for several years was chairman of the Republican city and county committees; elected secretary of the Republican national congressional committee in 1896; in 1897-1898 was chairman of the Republican state central committee of Nebraska; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1893-March 3, 1903); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Fifty-eighth Congress; located in Washington, D. C.

Mercer, James, a Delegate from Virginia; born in Marlboro, Va., February 26, 1736; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1767; active in pre-Revolutionary affairs, and a captain in the French and Indian wars; commander of Fort Loudoun, Winchester, Va., in 1756; a representative in the Virginia house of burgesses in 1765; member of Virginia conventions of 1775; member of state constitutional convention of May, 1776; member of the committee of public safety 1775-1776; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1779-1780; judge of admiralty in 1780; judge of the Virginia court of appeals 1789, and served until his death in Richmond, Va., October 31, 1793.

Mercer, John Francis, a Delegate from Virginia and a Representative from Maryland; born in Marlboro, Frederick county, Va., May 17, 1759; was graduated from William and Mary college in 1775; entered the Revolutionary army as lieutenant in the third Virginia regiment; wounded at the battle of Brandywine; promoted to captain of the regiment in 1777, and was aid de camp to Gen. Charles Lee 1778-1779; lieutenant colonel of Virginia cavalry; Delegate from Virginia in the Continental Congress 1782-1785; moved to West River, Arundel county, Md.; delegate from Maryland to the Federal constitutional convention; representative in the state assembly for several sessions; elected a Representative to the Second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Pinkney; reelected to the Third Congress, and served from February 6, 1792, until his resignation, April 13, 1794; member of the state house of representatives; governor of Maryland 1801-1803; again a member of the state legislature; died in Philadelphia, Pa., August 30, 1821.

Mercur, Ulysses, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Towanda, Pa., August 12, 1818; was graduated from Jefferson college, Canonsburg, Pa., in 1842; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Towanda in 1843; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1856; presidential elector in 1860; president-judge of the thirteenth judicial district of Pennsylvania from 1861 until March 4, 1865, when he resigned; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Forty-first, and Forty-second Congresses, and served from March 4, 1865, until his resignation, December 2, 1872; associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania in 1872–1883, and chief justice 1883 until his death in Wallingford, Pa., June 6, 1887.

Digitized by Google

Meredith, Elisha Edward, a Representative from Virginia; born in Sumter county, Ala., December 26, 1848; attended Hampden-Sydney college, Virginia; was admitted to the bar in 1869; prosecuting attorney for Prince William county seventeen years; member of the senate of Virginia from 1883 to 1887; presidential elector in 1888; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William H. F. Lee; reelected to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses, and served from December 7, 1891, to March 3, 1895; resumed the practice of law; died in Manassas, Va., July 29, 1900.

Meredith, Samuel, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1741; attended Dr. Allison's academy in Philadelphia; engaged in mercantile pursuits; member of the colonial legislature; active in ante-Revolutionary affairs; served in the Revolutionary war, as major and lieutenant colonel of the third battalion of associators in 1776; brigadier general of Pennsylvania militia April 5, 1777, "for gallant services in the battles of Brandywine and Germantown;" resigned in 1778; member of the Pennsylvania assembly; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1787–1788; surveyor of the port of Philadelphia; was the first United States Treasurer, appointed September 11, 1789, and served until his resignation, December 1, 1801; retired to his country home, "Belmont Manor," near Pleasant Mount, Wayne county, Pa.; died in Belmont, Pa., March 10, 1817.

Meriwether, David, a Senator from Kentucky; born in Louisa county, Va., October 30, 1800; attended the common schools; engaged in fur trading near Council Bluffs, Iowa; became a farmer in Kentucky; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Kentucky; in 1832 elected a member of the state house of representatives and served for thirteen terms; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1849; secretary of state of Kentucky; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Henry Clay, and served from July 6, 1852, until September 1, 1852; governor of New Mexico May 6, 1853, to January 5, 1855; representative in the Kentucky legislature 1858–1885, and served as speaker of the house in 1859; died near Louisville, Ky., April 4, 1893.

Meriwether, David, a Representative from Georgia; born in Albemarle county, Va., in 1755; completed preparatory studies; served in the Revolutionary war as a lieutenant under Gen. Washington, and was present with Virginia troops at the last siege of Savannah, Ga.; brigadier general of state militia September 21, 1797; located in Wilkes county, Ga., in 1785, and represented that county in the Georgia legislature for several terms, and was speaker of the house 1797–1800; elected as a Democrat to the Seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Benjamin Taliaferro; reelected to the Eighth and Ninth Congresses, and served from December 6, 1802, to March 3, 1807; retired to his plantation near Athens Ga.; appointed a commissioner to the Creek Indians in 1804, and repeatedly reappointed to treat with other tribes; presidential elector in 1817 and 1821; died near Athens, Ga., November 16, 1822.

Meriwether, James, a Representative from Georgia; born in Wilkes county, Ga.; attended the common schools; participated in the Revolutionary war and attained the rank of major; was a commissioner in the making of one of the Indian treaties; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827).

Meriwether, James A., a Representative from Georgia; native of that state; received an excellent schooling; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Eatonton, Ga.; representative in the state legislature; judge of the superior court for the Eatonton district; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1841–March 3, 1843); again a member of the state house of representatives, and its speaker until his death in Eatonton, Ga., in 1856.

Merriam, Clinton Levi, a Representative from New York; born in Leyden, N. Y., March 25, 1824; completed preparatory studies; engaged in mercantile pursuits in northern New York; moved to New York City in 1847, and became an importer, and in 1860 entered the banking business; returned to Leyden in 1864; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); died in Washington, D. C., February 18, 1900.

Merrick, William Duhurst, a Senator from Maryland; born in Annapolis, Md., October 25, 1793; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated from Georgetown university, Washington, D. C.; held several local offices; served in the war of 1812; returned to his home in Charles county, Md.; register of wills of Charles county 1825–1832; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Port Tobacco, Md., several years; member of the state legislature two terms; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Joseph Kent; reelected and served from January 4, 1838, to March 3, 1845; member of the state constitutional convention of 1850; again elected to the legislature; died in Washington, D. C., February, 5, 1857.

Merrick, William Matthew, a Representative from Maryland; born in Charles county, Md., September 1, 1818; was graduated from Georgetown university in 1831; studied law in the University of Virginia, was admitted to the bar in Baltimore in 1839, and commenced practice in Frederick, Md., in 1844; deputy attorney general for Frederick county 1845–1850; moved to Washington, D. C., in 1854; associate justice of the United States circuit court for the District of Columbia 1854–1863; resumed the practice of law in Maryland; professor of law in Columbian college 1866–1867; delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1867; member of the state house of representatives in 1870; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Forty-third Congress; associate judge of the supreme court of the District of Columbia in 1885–1889; died in Washington, D. C., February 4, 1889.

Merrill, Orsamus C., a Representative from Vermont; born in Farmington, Conn., June 18,

Digitized by Google

1775; completed preparatory studies; moved to Bennington, Vt., in April, 1791; studied law, was admitted to the bar in June, 1804; served in the war of 1812; major in the eleventh United States infantry March 3, 1813; lieutenant colonel of the twenty-sixth infantry, serving as rifleman, September 4, 1814; transferred back to the eleventh infantry as lieutenant colonel September 26, 1814; honorably discharged June 15, 1815; held several local offices; register of probate in 1815; clerk of the courts in 1816; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth Congress (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1819); presented credentials as a Member-elect to the Sixteenth Congress, and served until January 14, 1820, when he was succeeded by Rollin C. Mallory, who contested his election; representative in the state constitutional convention of 1822, and member of the general assembly the same year; judge of the probate court 1822, 1841–1842, and 1846; state's attorney 1823–1824; councilor 1824–1826; member of the first state senate; postmaster of Bennington several years; died in Bennington, Vt., April 12, 1865.

Merriman, Truman Adams, a Representative from New York; born in Auburn, N. Y., September 5, 1839; attended the Auburn academy, and was graduated from Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y., in 1861; entered the Union army in September, 1861, as captain in the ninety-second New York infantry, and was mustered out as a lieutenant-colonel in December, 1864; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1867; moved to New York City and entered the profession of journalism in 1871; president of the New York press club 1882, 1883, and 1884; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1889); died in New York City April 16, 1892; interment in Fort Hill cemetery, Auburn, N. Y.

Merrimon, Augustus Summerfield, a Senator from North Carolina; born in Buncombe county, N. C., September 15, 1830; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1852; county attorney of Buncombe and other counties in western North Carolina; member of the state legislature 1860–1861; entered the Confederate army, and was captain on the staff of Col. William Johnston; resigned in the fall of 1861; solicitor for the eighth judicial district of North Carolina 1861–1865; judge of the superior court, 1866–1867, when he resigned; located in Raleigh, N. C., in 1867 and practiced law; declined the Democratic nomination for governor in 1868, and defeated for associate justice of the state supreme court the same year; defeated for governor in 1872; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1873, to March 3, 1879; elected associate judge of the supreme court of North Carolina 1883–1889; chief justice from 1889 until his death in Raleigh, N. C., November 14, 1892.

Merritt, Samuel A., a Delegate from Idaho territory; born in Staunton, Va., August 15, 1828; attended Staunton academy, and was graduated from Washington college June 18, 1848; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; moved to California; county clerk in 1850; member of the state house of representatives 1851–1852; state senator 1857–1862; moved to Idaho; elected a Delegate to the Forty-second Congress as a Democrat (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873).

Merwin, Orange, a Representative from Connecticut; born in New Milford, Conn., April 7, 1777; completed preparatory course; member of the general assembly of Connecticut 1815–1820; unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor of Connecticut; elected to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); died in New Milford, Conn., September 4, 1853.

Mesick, William Smith, a Representative from Michigan; born in Newark, Wayne county, N. Y., August 26, 1856; attended the common schools, Kalamazoo (Mich.) business college, and the University of Michigan; admitted to the bar in 1881, and began practice in Mancelona, Mich.; prosecuting attorney of Antrim county, Mich., for one term; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1901); resumed the practice of law in Mancelona; located in Petoskey, Mich., and engaged in the practice of law.

Metcalf, Arunah, a Representative from New York; born August 15, 1771; attended the public schools; located in Otsego, N. Y.; elected as a Democrat to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813); member of the state house of representatives 1814–1816 and in 1828; died in Cooperstown, N. Y., August 15, 1848.

Metcalf, Victor Howard, a Representative from California; born in Utica, Oneida county, N. Y., October 10, 1853; was graduated from the Utica free academy and from Russell's military academy, New Haven, Conn.; was graduated from the Yale law school in 1876, and was admitted to the bar in June, 1876, and practiced in Utica, N. Y., for two years; moved to California, and located in Oakland in 1879; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1899, until his resignation July 1, 1904; appointed by President Roosevelt Secretary of Commerce and Labor, and served from July 1, 1904, to March 4, 1909.

Metcalfe, Henry Bleecker, a Representative from New York; born in Albany, N. Y., January 20, 1805; moved to New York City in 1811, and to Richmond county in 1816; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New York City in 1826; county attorney of Richmond county 1826–1832; county judge 1840–1841, when he resigned; again county judge 1847-1875; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1877); died in Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y., February 7, 1881.

Metcalfe, Lyne Shackelford, a Representative from Missouri; born in Madisonville, Ky., April 21, 1822; attended the common schools; Shurtleff and Illinois colleges; engaged in mercantile business in Alton, Ill., in 1844; alderman and mayor; served in the Union army; moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1863; engaged in manufacturing; served in the city council; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1879); died in Kirkwood, Mo., January 31, 1906.

Metcalfe, Thomas, a Representative and a Senator from Kentucky; born in Fauquier county, Va., March 20, 1780; moved with his parents to Fayette county, Ky.; attended the common schools; learned the mason's trade; served in the war of 1812; member of the state house of representatives 1812–1816; elected as a Democrat to the Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1819, until his resignation June 1, 1828; governor of Kentucky 1829–1833; elected to the state senate in 1834; president of the board of internal improvements in 1840; appointed and subsequently elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John J. Crittenden, and served from June 23, 1848, to March 3, 1849; died in Nicholas county, Ky., August 18, 1855.

Digitized by Google

Meyer, Adolph, a Representative from Louisiana; born October 19, 1842; attended the University of Virginia until 1862; enlisted in the Confederate army and served until the close of the war on the staff of Brig. Gen. John S. Williams, of Kentucky, and attained the rank of assistant adjutant general; at the close of the war returned to Louisiana and engaged in the culture of cotton and sugar; also engaged in merchandising and banking in the city of New Orleans; colonel of the first regiment of Louisiana state national guard, and in 1881 brigadier general to command the first brigade, embracing all the uniformed corps of the State; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second, and to the eight succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1891, until his death in New Orleans, La., March 8, 1908.

Meyers, Benjamin Franklin, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born near New Centerville, Somerset county, Pa., July 6, 1833; attended the Somerset and Jefferson colleges; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1855; member of the state legislature in 1864; delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1864; editor of the Bedford Gazette, and in 1868 of the Harrisburg Daily Patriot; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second Congress (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1873); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Forty-third Congress; postmaster of Harrisburg, Pa., 1886–1891; editor of the Daily Star, Harrisburg, Pa.

Michalek, Anthony, a Representative from Illinois; born in Radbanov, Bohemia, January 16, 1878; came with parents to the United States and located in Chicago, Ill.; attended the common schools; a bookkeeper by occupation; was the first man of Bohemian blood in America elected to Congress; was elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1905–March 3, 1907); president and manager of the musical conservatory, Chicago, Ill.

Mickey, J. Ross, a Representative from Illinois; born January 5, 1856, in Eldorado township, McDonough county, Ill.; attended the public schools and Lincoln university; taught in the public schools for a number of years; read law, was admitted to the bar in 1889, and engaged in practice in Macomb, Ill., until 1898; judge of McDonough county for a term of four years; resigned February 22, 1901; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1901–March 3, 1903); declined a renomination; resumed the practice of law in Macomb, Ill.

Middleswarth, Ner, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in New Jersey December 12, 1783; completed preparatory studies; moved to Beavertown, Pa.; member of the state house of representatives, and served as speaker two terms; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-third Congress (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1855); died in Beavertown, Pa., June 2, 1865.

Middleton, Arthur, a Delegate from South Carolina; born in Middelton Place, on the Ashley river, S. C., June 26, 1742; attended Harrow school, Westminster school, and was graduated from Cambridge university (England) in 1764; member of the house of commons 1765–1775; became a planter in 1773; one of the council of safety in 1775 and delegate to form a state constitution in 1776; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1776–1778 and 1781–1783; a signer of the Declaration of Independence; served in the Revolutionary war; held a prisoner by the British 1780–1781; served in the state legislature until his death, in Goose Creek, S. C., January 1, 1787.

Middleton, George, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Philadelphia, Pa., October 14, 1809; moved to Burlington, N. J.; attended the public schools; became a tanner; moved to Allentown; held several local offices; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-ninth Congress; died in Allentown, Monmouth county, N. J., December 31, 1888.

Middleton, Henry, a Delegate from South Carolina; born in that state in 1717; member of the house of commons of South Carolina 1745–1747, and served as speaker; commissioner of Indian affairs in 1755; member of the South Carolina council, 1755–1770, until his resignation; colonel of a provisional regiment in the war with Cherokee Indians 1760–1761; delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1776, and president of the body from October 22, 1774, to May 10, 1775; resigned from Congress in 1776; president of the provincial congress of South Carolina in 1776, and received the thanks of that body for his services in the cause of liberty; member of the council of safety; interested in agricultural pursuits at his estate, Middleton Place, S. C.; died in Charleston, S. C., June 13, 1784.

Middleton, Henry, a Representative from South Carolina; born in London, England, September 28, 1770; pursued classical studies; came to the United States and located at Middleton Place on the Ashley river, S. C.; elected to the house of representatives of South Carolina, and member of the state senate 1801–1810; governor of South Carolina 1810–1812; elected to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Congresses (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1819); minister to Russia April 6, 1820, to August 3, 1830; leader of the Union party of South Carolina, and member of the Union convention of 1833; died in Charleston, S. C., June 14, 1846.

Miers, Robert Walter, a Representative from Indiana; born near Greensburg, Decatur county, Ind., January 27, 1848; was graduated from the literary and law departments of Indiana university; was admitted to the bar in April, 1872, and commenced practice in Bloomington, Ind.; prosecuting attorney for the tenth judicial circuit of Indiana in 1875 and reelected in 1877; elected to the Indiana house of representatives in 1879; trustee of the Indiana university 1881–1893; appointed judge of the tenth judicial circuit of Indiana in 1883 to fill an unexpired term; unsuccessful nominee for secretary of state in 1886, and in 1888; elected judge of the tenth circuit in 1890, and served until September, 1896, when he resigned; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1905); resumed the practice of law in Bloomington, Ind.

Digitized by Google

Mifflin, Thomas, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., 1744; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1760; member of the colonial legislature 1772–1774; trustee of the University of Pennsylvania 1778–1791; member of American philosophical society 1765–1799; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1774–1776 and 1782–1784; assisted in organizing troops and in training them for service in the Continental army; major and chief aid-de-camp to Gen. Washington July 4, 1775; major and quartermaster general of the Continental army August 14, 1775; colonel December 22, 1775; brigadier general May 16, 1776; major general February 19, 1777; resigned as quartermaster general November 7, 1777, but continued in the performance of that duty to December 8, 1777; member of board of war November 7, 1777; resigned as major general February 25, 1779; in January, 1780, appointed a member of a special board to consider general expenses, and was given the thanks of Congress for the "wise and salutary plans recommended;" served as speaker of the state house of representatives 1785–1788; delegate in the federal constitutional convention of 1787; president of the supreme executive council of Pennsylvania October, 1788, to October, 1790; president of the state constitutional convention of 1790; governor of Pennsylvania 1790–1799; again a state representative 1799–1800; died in Lancaster, Pa., January 20, 1800.

Miles, Frederick, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Goshen, Litchfield county, Conn., December 19, 1815; attended the common schools and pursued an academic course; engaged in mercantile pursuits in Goshen until 1857; moved to Chapinville, in Salisbury, in 1858, and engaged in the manufacture of iron; elected in 1877 to the state senate of Connecticut for two years, and resigned in February, 1879; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1879–March 3, 1883); declined nomination for reelection; reelected to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); died near Salisbury, Conn., November 20, 1896.

Miles, Joshua Weldon, a Representative from Maryland; born on his father's farm on the Great Annamessex river, in Somerset county, Md., December 9, 1858; attended private school and Marion academy; was graduated from Western Maryland college in 1878; studied law and was admitted to the bar in July, 1880; state attorney of Somerset county in 1883; unsuccessful candidate for reelection; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); delegate at large in the Democratic national convention of 1900; engaged in the practice of law in Princess Anne, Md.

Miles, William Porcher, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Charleston, S. C., July 4, 1822; attended Wellington school in Charleston, and was graduated from Charleston college in 1842; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practiced in Charleston; mayor of Charleston 1856–1857; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, until the secession of South Carolina; was a representative from South Carolina to the Confederate provisional congress in Montgomery, Ala., in February, 1861; served in the Confederate congress from February, 1862, to March, 1864; colonel on the staff of Gen. Beauregard; president of the College of South Carolina 1880–1882; died in Burnside, La., May 11, 1899.

Millard, Joseph Hopkins, a Senator from Nebraska; born in Hamilton, Canada, April 20, 1836; moved with his parents to Iowa, and located near Sabula, Jackson county; moved to Omaha in 1856; engaged in the land business and later in banking; served one term as mayor of Omaha; for six years director of the Union Pacific railroad company; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1901, until March 3, 1907; resumed banking business in Omaha, Nebr.

Millard, Stephen C., a Representative from New York; born in Stamford, Vt., January 14, 1841; was graduated from Williams college, Mass., in 1865; attended Harvard law school, and was admitted to the bar of the state of New York in May, 1867, in Binghamton; chairman of the Republican county committee 1872–1879; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); resumed the practice of law in Binghamton, N. Y.

Milledge, John, a Representative and a Senator from Georgia; born in Savannah, Ga., in 1757; completed preparatory studies; studied law; served in the Revolutionary war, and was one of the patriots who rifled the powder magazine in Savannah, and thus furnished powder that was subsequently used by Continental soldiers at the battle of Bunker Hill; attorney general of Georgia in 1870; member of the state legislature; elected to the Second Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by declaring the seat of Anthony Wayne vacant, and served from November 22, 1792, to March 3, 1793; reelected to the Fourth and Fifth Congresses (March 4, 1795–March 3, 1799); again elected to the Seventh Congress, and served from March 4, 1801, until his resignation in May, 1802; governor of Georgia 1802–1806; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Jackson; reelected, and served from June 19, 1806, until his resignation, November 14, 1809; died in Sand Hill, Ga., February 9, 1818.

Millen, John, a Representative from Georgia; born in Savannah, Ga., in 1804; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Savannah many years; several times a member of the state legislature; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1843, until his death in Savannah, Ga., October 15, 1843.

Miller, Clarence Benjamin, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Goodhue county, Minn., March 13, 1872; attended the country school, high school, and the Minneapolis academy; was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1895, and from the law department of the same institution in 1900; superintendent of public schools of Rushford, Minn., 1895–1898; practiced law in Duluth, Minn.; member of the Minnesota legislature in 1907; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Miller, Daniel F., a Representative from Iowa; was born in Allegany county, Md., October 4, 1841; pursued an academic course; studied law in Pittsburgh, Pa., and commenced practice in 1839 in Iowa; unsuccessfully contested the election of William H. Thompston to the Thirty-first Congress and the seat was declared vacant; subsequently elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first Congress, and served from December 20, 1850, to March 3, 1851; presidential elector on the Republican ticket of 1856.

Digitized by Google

Miller, Daniel H., a Representative from Pennsylvania; was a native of Philadelphia, Pa.; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, and Twenty-first Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1831); died in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1846.

Miller, George Funston, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Chillisquaque township, Northumberland county, Pa., September 5, 1809; attended the academy in Milton, Pa.; taught school; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Lewisburg; secretary of the Lewisburg university 1848–1864; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1865–March 3, 1869); died in Lewisburg, Pa., October 21, 1888.

Miller, Homer Virgil Milton, a Senator from Georgia; born in Pendleton district, S. C., April 29, 1814; moved with his parents to Rabun county, Ga., in 1820; attended the common schools; was graduated from the medical college of South Carolina in 1835; and commenced practice in Cassville, Ga., in 1838; served in the Confederate army as surgeon in the eighth Georgia infantry and subsequently as brigade and division surgeon in Virginia, with Gen. Beauregard at Charleston, S. C., and as medical director, surgeon of posts, and inspector of hospitals in Georgia; resumed the practice of medicine in Rome, Ga.; unsuccessful Whig candidate for election to the Twenty-ninth Congress; member of the state reconstruction convention of 1867; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy existing since February 4, 1861; qualified under the terms of joint resolution of February 24, 1871, prescribing a special oath, and served from February 24, 1871, to March 3, 1871; trustee of the University of Georgia; died in Atlanta, Ga., May 31, 1896.

Miller, Jacob Welsh, a Senator from New Jersey; born in German Valley, Morris county, N. J., in November, 1800; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1823, and commenced practice in Morristown, N. J.; elected to the general assembly in 1832; member of the state senate 1838–1840; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate; reelected, and served from March 4, 1841, to March 3, 1853; died in Morristown, N. J., September 30, 1862.

Miller, James Francis, a Representative from Texas; born in Tennessee, August 1, 1832; pursued classical studies; studied law and was admitted to the bar; engaged in banking and stock raising; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887; resumed banking business in Gonzales, Tex.

Miller, James Monroe, a Representative from Kansas; born in Three Springs, Huntingdon county, Pa., May 6, 1852; attended Dickinson seminary, Williamsport, Pa.; studied law and was admitted to the bar; located in practice in Council Grove, Kans.; county attorney of Morris county, Kans., in 1880, 1884, and 1886; member of the Kansas legislature in 1894; Republican presidential elector for Kansas in 1884; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Council Grove, Kans.

Miller, Jesse, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Landisburg, Pa.; attended the common schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; sheriff of Perry county 1823–1826; member of the state senate 1830–1834; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1833, until his resignation, October 30, 1826; Auditor of the United States Treasury, November 18, 1836, to June 17, 1842; canal commissioner of Pennsylvania 1845–1846; secretary of state of Pennsylvania 1845–1851; died in Harrisburg, Pa., August 20, 1850.

Miller, John, a Representative from New York; born in Amenia, N. Y., November 10, 1774; completed preparatory studies; studied medicine in the University of Pennsylvania, and commenced practice in Truxton, N. Y.; postmaster of Truxton 1805–1825; member of the state house of representatives in 1817, 1820, and 1845; elected to the Nineteenth Congress (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1827); delegate in the state constitutional convention of 1846; died in Truxton, N. Y., March 31, 1862.

Miller, John, a Representative from Missouri; born in Berkeley county, Va., in 1780; moved to Steubenville, Ohio, in 1806; attended the public schools; served in the war of 1812; moved to Missouri; register of public lands; governor of Missouri 1826–1832; elected as a Van Buren Democrat to the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1843); died near Florisant, Mo., March 18, 1846.

Miller, John Franklin, a Senator from California; born in South Bend, Ind., November 21, 1831; pursued an academic course; studied law, was graduated from the New York state law school in 1852, was admitted to the bar, and began practice in South Bend, Ind.; went to California and practiced for a short time; returned to South Bend; member of the Indiana state senate in 1860, but resigned to enter the Union army; commissioned colonel of the twenty-ninth Indiana infantry August 27, 1861; brigadier general of volunteers January 5, 1864; brevetted major general March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorius services at Nashville, Tenn.;" resigned September 25, 1865; returned to California; collector of the port of San Francisco four years; declined a reappointment; Republican candidate for presidential elector in 1872, 1876, and 1880; member of the California state constitutional convention in 1879; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate and served from March 4, 1881, until his death in Washington, D. C., March 8, 1886.

Miller, John Gaines, a Representative from Missouri; born in Danville, Ky., November 29, 1812; attended the common schools; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1834; moved to Boonville, Mo., in 1835; member of the state house of representatives in 1840; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second, Thirty-third, and Thirty-fourth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1851, until his death in Saline county, Mo., May 11, 1856.

Miller, John Krepps, a Representative from Ohio; born in Mount Vernon, Ohio, May 24, 1819; attended the public schools, and studied law; was graduated from Jefferson college, Canonsburg, Pa., in 1838; was admitted to the bar in 1841, and practiced in Mount Vernon, Ohio; member of the Democratic national convention of 1844; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); declined the chief justiceship of Washington territory in 1853; died in Mount Vernon, Ohio, August 11, 1863.

Digitized by Google

Miller, Joseph, a Representative from Ohio; born in Chillicothe, Ohio, September, 1819; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, in 1839; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1841, and served as prosecuting attorney of Ross county, Ohio, 1844–1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1859); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-sixth Congress; appointed United States district judge for Nebraska territory April 9, 1859, and served until after the election of Abraham Lincoln; returned to Chillicothe, Ohio, and died there May 27, 1862.

Miller, Killian, a Representative from New York; born in Claverack, N. Y., July 30, 1785; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in 1806 in Livingston, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1825 and 1828; moved to Hudson, N. Y., in 1833; county clerk 1837–1840; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); died in Hudson, N. Y., January 9, 1859.

Miller, Lucas Miltiades, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Laviadia, Greece, September 15, 1824; came to the United States and located in Montpelier, Vt.; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar and practiced; moved to Wisconsin in 1846; member of the Wisconsin legislature in 1853; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress (March 4, 1891–March 3, 1893); died in Oshkosh, Wis., December 21, 1902.

Miller, Morris S., a Representative from New York; born in 1779; located in Utica, N. Y.; elected as a Federalist to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); state commissioner to the Seneca Indians in 1819; Oneida county judge; died in Utica, N. Y., November 15, 1824.

Miller, Nathan, a Delegate from Rhode Island; born in Warren, R. I., March 26, 1743; ship carpenter by trade; prominent in the pre-Revolutionary movements; served as commissary and major general in the Revolutionary war; Delegate in the Continental Congress, and served from July 14, 1786, to November 3, 1786; reelected, but did not take his seat; member of the state convention of 1790; died in Warren, R. I., May 20, 1790.

Miller, Orrin L., a Representative from Kansas; born in Newburg, Me., January 11, 1856; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Bangor, Me., in 1880; moved to Kansas and located in Kansas City, where he engaged in the practice of law; appointed district judge for the twenty-ninth judicial district of Kansas in March, 1887, and elected to that office for four years in November of the same year; resigned in 1891, to resume the practice of law; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); resumed the practice of law in Kansas City, Kans.

Miller, Pleasant M., a Representative from Tennessee; was elected to the Eleventh Congress (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1811).

Miller, Rutger B., a Representative from New York; native of that state; elected to the Twenty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel Beardsley, and served from December 5, 1836, to March 3, 1837; died in Utica, N. Y., November 13, 1877.

Miller, Samuel F., a Representative from New York; born in Franklin, N. Y., May 27, 1827; was graduated from Hamilton college in 1852; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1853; engaged in farming and lumbering; member of the state house of representatives in 1854; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); reelected to the Forty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1869); member of the state constitutional convention of 1867; district collector of internal revenue 1869–1873; on the state board of charities 1869–1877; died in Franklin, N. Y., March 16, 1892.

Miller, Samuel North, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Cool Spring, Mercer county, Pa., April 19, 1840; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Westminster college in 1860; taught school in the winter of 1860–1861 in Madison county, Ky.; edited and published the Mercer Dispatch 1861–1870; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Mercer in 1870; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1885); elected president judge of the several courts of Mercer county, Pa., in 1894, for ten years.

Miller, Smith, a Representative from Indiana; born in North Carolina May 30, 1804; moved to Patoka, Gibson county, Ind.; received a limited schooling; engaged in farming; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1857); died near Patoka, Ind., March 21, 1872.

Miller, Stephen Decatur, a Representative and a Senator from South Carolina; born in Waxhaw settlement, Lancaster district, S. C., May 8, 1787; was graduated from South Carolina college in 1808; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Sumterville in 1811; elected as a Democrat to the Fourteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Mayrant; reelected to the Fifteenth Congress, and served from January 2, 1817, to March 3, 1819; state senator 1822–1828; governor of South Carolina 1828–1830; elected as a Nullifier to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1831, until his resignation, March 2, 1833; delegate in the nullification convention of 1830 and 1832; engaged in cotton planting in Mississippi in 1835; died in Raymond, Miss., March 8, 1838.

Miller, Thomas Ezekiel, a Representative from South Carolina; born in Ferrybeeville, Beaufort county, S. C., June 17, 1849; attended the public schools; was graduated from Lincoln university, in Pennsylvania, in 1872; read law, and was admitted to the bar in 1875; school commissioner in 1872; member of the South Carolina house of representatives in 1874, 1876, and 1878; elected to the state senate in 1880; reelected to the state house of representatives in 1886; member of the state executive committee; successfully contested the election of William Elliott to the Fifty-first Congress, and served from September 24, 1890, to March 3, 1891; president of the state colored college in Orangeburg, S. C., in 1896.

Digitized by Google

Miller, Warner, a Representative and a Senator from New York; born in Oswego county, N. Y., August 12, 1838; was graduated from Union college in 1860; taught in the Fort Edward collegiate institute; enlisted as private in the fifth New York cavalry; served in the Shenandoah Valley; promoted to be sergeant major and lieutenant; taken prisoner at the battle of Winchester; exchanged, and honorably discharged; engaged in the manufacture of paper, and farming; delegate in the Republican national convention in Philadelphia in 1872; elected to the New York legislature in 1874 and 1875; elected as a Republican to the Forty-sixth Congress; reelected to the Forty-seventh Congress, and served from March 4, 1879, until his resignation, before the assembling of Congress, in 1881; elected to the United States Senate July 16, 1881, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas C. Platt, and served from October 11, 1881, until March 3, 1887; retired from public life and a resident of Herkimer, N. Y.

Miller, Warren, a Representative from West Virginia; born in Meigs county, Ohio, April 2, 1847; moved to Virginia (now West Virginia) about 1850; attended common schools, and the Ohio university in Athens; taught school; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1871; assistant prosecuting attorney of Jackson county one term, and prosecuting attorney eight years from January 1, 1881; delegate in the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1884; member of the West Virginia legislature 1890–1891; unsuccessful candidate for supreme judge in 1892; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1899); resumed the practice of law in Jackson, W. Va.

Miller, William Henry, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Perry county, Pa., January 29, 1828; was graduated from Marshall college; state supreme court clerk 1854–1863; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1865); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-ninth Congress; died in Harrisburg, Pa., September 12, 1870.

Miller, William S., a Representative from New York; native of that state; elected to the Twenty-ninth Congress (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1849); died in New York City, November 9, 1854.

Milligan, John J., a Representative from Delaware; born in Cecil county, Md., December 10, 1795; attended Princeton college; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New Castle county, Del., in 1818; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1839); appointed judge of the state superior court in 1839; died in Philadelphia, Pa., April 20, 1875.

Milliken, Charles W., a Representative from Kentucky; born in Graves county, Ky., August 15, 1827; moved to Simpson county, Ky., in 1829; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced; county attorney for five years; commonwealth attorney of the fourth judicial district of Kentucky from 1867 until his resignation, February 24, 1872; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1877); resumed the practice of law in Franklin, Ky.

Milliken, Seth Llewellyn, a Representative from Maine; born in Montville, Me., December 12, 1831; attended Waterville college, and was graduated from Union college, New York, in 1856; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; member of the Maine legislature 1857–1858; moved to Bedford, Me.; clerk of the supreme judicial court 1859–1871; delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1876 and 1884; presidential elector in 1876; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, and to the six succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1897); died in Washington, D. C., April 18, 1897.

Millington, Charles Stephen, a Representative from New York; born in Norway, Herkimer county, N. Y., March 13, 1855; attended the district schools of Poland, the Fairfield academy, and Hungerford collegiate institute; entered the employ of the Hungerford National bank, in Adams, N. Y.; organized and became cashier of the Bank of Poland; moved to Herkimer, N. Y., in 1894, and continued in the banking business; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); resumed business activities in Herkimer, N. Y.

Mills, Daniel Webster, a Representative from Illinois; born near Waynesville, Warren county, Ohio, February 25, 1838; attended the common schools of Rayesville and the Waynesville high school; in 1859 engaged in the mercantile, grain-shipping, and pork-packing business in Corwin, Ohio; served in the Union army as captain of company D, one hundred and eightieth Ohio volunteers, until the close of the war; in 1866 went to Chicago and engaged in lake shipping for three years; served as warden of the Cook county hospital 1877–1881; twice elected alderman; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth Congress (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); died in Chicago, Ill., December 16, 1904.

Mills, Elijah Hunt, a Representative and a Senator from Massachusetts; born in Chesterfield, Mass., December 1, 1776; was graduated from Williams college in 1797; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Northampton; member of the state senate in 1811; district attorney for the county of Hampshire; elected as a Federalist to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Congresses (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1819); appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Prentiss Mellen; reelected, and served from June 12, 1820, to March 3, 1827; died in Northampton, Mass., May 5, 1829.

Mills, Roger Quarles, a Representative and a Senator from Texas; born in Todd county, Ky., March 30, 1832; attended the common schools; moved to Texas in 1849; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1852, and commenced practice in Corsicana; member of the Texas house of representatives 1859–1860; enlisted in the Confederate army, and was promoted to lieutenant colonel and colonel of the tenth Texas infantry; was wounded in the engagements at Missionary Ridge and Atlanta; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third, and to the nine succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1873, until his resignation, March 28, 1892; unsuccessful candidate for Speaker of the National House of Representatives in the Fifty-second Congress; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John H. Reagan; reelected, and served from March 23, 1892, to March 3, 1899; resumed the practice of law in Corsicana, Tex., died there September 2, 1911.

Digitized by Google

Millson, John Singleton, a Representative from Virginia; born in Norfolk, Va., October 1, 1808; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1829, and commenced practice in Norfolk; presidential elector on the Polk-Dallas ticket in 1844, and on the Cass-Butler ticket in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-first, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1861); resumed the practice of law; died in Norfolk, Va., February 26, 1873.

Millward, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa.; attended the public schools; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); unsuccessful as the Union candidate for the Thirty-fifth Congress; reelected to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861).

Milnes, Alfred, a Representative from Michigan; born in Bradford, Yorkshire, England, May 28, 1844; came with his parents to the United States in 1854, and settled in Newton, Iowa; moved to Coldwater, Mich.; attended the common schools of Utah, Iowa, and of Coldwater, Mich.; enlisted as a private in the seventeenth Michigan infantry, the "Old Stonewall Regiment," June 30, 1862, and served throughout the war; engaged with his regiment in every battle in which it took part, from South Mountain, Md., in 1862, to Lee's surrender at Appomattox, in April, 1865; city alderman of Coldwater one term, and mayor two terms; member of the state senate 1888-1890; lieutenant governor of Michigan in 1894, and presided over the state senate until his resignation, June 1, 1895; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Julius C. Burrows, and served from December 2, 1895, to March 3, 1897; appointed postmaster of Coldwater in 1898; delegate in the Michigan constitutional convention 1907–1908; member of board of managers Michigan Soldiers' home; a resident of Coldwater, Mich.

Milnes, William, jr., a Representative from Virginia; born in Yorkshire, England, December 8, 1827; came with parents to Pottsville, Pa., in 1829; completed preparatory studies; learned the machinist's trade; engaged in mining and shipping coal; moved to Virginia in 1865; engaged in the iron business; elected as a Conservative to the Forty-first Congress, and served from January 27, 1870, to March 3, 1871; died in Shenandoah, Va., August 14, 1889.

Milnor, James, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., June 20, 1773; attended the Philadelphia grammar school and the University of Pennsylvania; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Norristown, Pa., 1794–1797, and in Philadelphia, 1797–1813; member of the Philadelphia common council in 1800; of the select council 1805–1810, and its president 1808–1809; elected as a Federalist to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813); ordained in the Protestant Episcopal church in 1814, and rector of St. George's Church in New York City 1816–1844; died in New York City April 8, 1844.

Milnor, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., June 26, 1769; pursued an academic course; engaged in mercantile business in Philadelphia; elected as a Federalist to the Tenth and Eleventh Congresses (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1811); reelected to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817); again elected to the Seventeenth Congress, and served from March 4, 1821, until his resignation in 1822; mayor and alderman of Philadelphia; died in Burlington, N. J., December 13, 1848.

Milton, William Hall, a Senator from Florida; born near Marianna, Jackson county, Fla., March 2, 1864; attended the public schools of Jackson county, Marianna academy, and the agricultural and mechanical college, in Auburn, Ala.; city clerk and treasurer of Marianna, 1885–1893; served in the legislature of Florida, 1889–1891; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1890; court commissioner 1890–1894; Democratic presidential elector in 1892; United States surveyor general of Florida, 1894–1897; mayor of Marianna 1898–1899; president of board of managers state reform school, in Marianna, 1897–1902; appointed as a Democrat to the United States Senate March 27, 1908, to fill vacancy caused by the deaths of Stephen R. Mallory and William J. Bryan, and served from April 6, 1908, to March 3, 1909; resumed the practice of law in Marianna, Fla.

Miner, Ahiman L., a Representative from Vermont; born in Middletown, Vt., September 23, 1804; pursued an academic course; studied law in Poultney and Rutland, was admitted to the bar in 1833, and practiced in Wallingford 1833–1836; moved to Manchester, Vt.; clerk of the Vermont house of representatives 1836–1837; member of the state house of representatives 1838–1839, and 1846, 1854; elected to the state senate in 1840; state's attorney for Bennington county 1843–1844; register of probate seven years, and judge of probate 1846–1849; elected as a Whig to the Thirty second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); died in Manchester, Vt., July 19, 1886.

Miner, Charles, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Norwich, Conn., February 1, 1780; attended the public schools of Norwich; moved in 1797 to his father's lands in Wyoming Valley, Pa., and to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in 1802; published the Luzerne County Federalist; member of the state house of representatives 1807–1808; moved to West Chester, Pa., in 1816; published the Village Record; elected as a Federalist to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); returned to Wilkes-Barre in 1834; died in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., October 26, 1865.

Miner, Henry Clay, a Representative from New York; born in New York City, March 23, 1842; attended the New York City grammar schools and the American institute; became interested in the drug business; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); died in New York City, February 22, 1900.

Miner, Phineas, a Representative from Connecticut; born in Winchester, Conn., November 27, 1777; completed preparatory studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Litchfield, Conn.; elected to the Twenty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Jabez W. Huntington, and served from December 1, 1834, to March 3, 1835; died in Litchfield, Conn., September 15, 1839.

Minor, Edward Sloman, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Point Peninsula, Jefferson county, N. Y., December 13, 1840; moved with his parents to Wisconsin in 1845, and located in Greenfield, Milwaukee county, and subsequently lived in the city of Milwaukee; attended the public schools; again moved with his parents to a farm in Sheboygan county in 1852, where he worked on a farm and completed a common-school education; in 1861 enlisted in company G, second Wisconsin volunteer cavalry, as a private; participated in all the expeditions, raids, and battles in which the regiment was engaged until the close of the war; mustered out as first lieutenant in November, 1865; engaged in mercantile pursuits in Sturgeon Bay, Wis., until 1884; superintendent of the Sturgeon Bay and Lake Michigan ship canal 1884–1891; member of the Wisconsin assembly in 1879, 1881, and 1882; member of the state senate 1883–1885; president pro tempore of the senate during the latter term; member of the Wisconsin fish commission for four years; mayor of Sturgeon Bay in 1894; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1907); postmaster of Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

Digitized by Google

Mitchell, Alexander, a Representative from Wisconsin; born in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, October 18, 1817; attended the parish schools, and completed a commercial course; studied law, and engaged as a banking-house clerk; came to the United States in 1839 and located in Milwaukee, Wis.; enaged in banking; first commissioner of the Milwaukee debt commission; president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad company 1864–1887; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-second and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1875); died in New York City, April 19, 1887.

Mitchell, Anderson, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Caswell county, N. C., in 1800; was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1821; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Wilkesboro in 1830; elected to the Twenty-seventh Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Lewis Williams, and served from April 27, 1842, to March 3, 1843.

Mitchell, Charles F., a Representative from New York; native of New York City; attended the public schools; located in Lockport; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); engaged in milling in the West.

Mitchell, Charles Le Moyne, a Representative from Connecticut; born in New Haven, Conn., August 6, 1844; was graduated from Cheshire academy in 1863; member of the state house of representatives in 1878; unsuccessful candidate for United States Senator in 1899; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1887); moved to New York City in 1886 and died there March 1, 1890.

Mitchell, George Edward, a Representative from Maryland; born in Cecil county, Md., March 3, 1781; completed preparatory studies, and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania June 5, 1805; practiced medicine in Elkton, Pa., 1806–1812; representative in the state assembly in 1808; member of the executive council of Maryland, and served as president 1809–1812; served in the War of 1812; major of the third Maryland artillery May 1, 1812; lieutenant colonel March 3, 1813; transferred to artillery corps May 12, 1814, and to the third artillery June 1, 1814; brevet colonel May 5, 1814, for gallant conduct in repelling attack of British forces at Fort Oswego, N. Y.; resigned June 1, 1821; elected as a Democrat to the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1827); reelected to the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Congresses, and served from December 7, 1829, until his death in Washington, D. C., June 28, 1832.

Mitchell, Henry, a Representative from New York; born in Woodbury, Conn., in 1784; pursued classical studies; studied medicine for four years in Yale college; practiced in Norwich, Chenango county, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives in 1827; elected as a Jackson Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); died in Norwich, N. Y., January 12, 1856.

Mitchell, James C., a Representative from Tennessee; born in Mecklenburg county, N. C., about 1790; attended the common schools; elected to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Twenty-first Congress; moved to Mississippi in 1835 and engaged in agricultural pursuits; member of the state house of representatives; died near Jackson, Miss., August 7, 1843.

Mitchell, James S., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Rossville, York county, Pa., in 1784; attended public schools; member of the state house of representatives 1812–1814; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1827); moved to Jefferson county, Ohio, in 1827, and later to Belleville, Ill., where he died in 1844.

Mitchell, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Perry county, Pa.; attended the public schools; resided in Bellefonte; held several public offices; elected to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829).

Mitchell, John Hipple, a Senator from Oregon; born in Washington county, Pa., June 22, 1835; moved with parents to Butler county, Pa., in 1837; attended the public schools, a private school, and Witherspoon institute; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1856, and practiced; moved to San Luis Obispo, Cal., and then to San Francisco, and practiced law; in 1860 went to Portland, Oreg.; elected corporation attorney of Portland in 1861, and served one year; elected to the state senate in 1862, and served four years, the last two as president of the body; commissioned by the governor of Oregon in 1865 lieutenant-colonel in the state militia; unsuccessful candidate for United States Senator in 1866; professor of medical jurisprudence in Willamette University, in Salem, Oreg., in 1867; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate September 28, 1872, and served from March 4, 1873, to March 3, 1879; unsuccessful candidate for the United States Senate in 1882; reelected to the United States Senate November 18, 1885, and served from December 17, 1885, until his death in Portland, Oreg., December 8, 1905.

Mitchell, John Inscho, a Representative and a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Tioga county, Pa., July 28, 1838; attended the common schools, a private school, and received private instruction, and the University of Lewisburg, Pa. (1857–1859), but did not graduate; taught school 1859–1861; served in the Union army as a lieutenant and captain in the one hundred and thirty-sixth Pennsylvania infantry; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1864, and practiced in Tioga county; elected district attorney of Tioga county in 1868, and served three years; edited the Tioga county Agitator during 1870; member of the state house of representatives 1872–1876; elected as a Republican to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1877–March 3, 1881); elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1881, to March 3, 1887; elected president judge of the court of common pleas of the fourth Pennsylvania district 1888–1899; judge of the superior court of Pennsylvania and served one session; died in Wellsboro, Tioga county, Pa., August 20, 1907.

Digitized by Google

Mitchell, John J., a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Marlboro, Mass., May 9, 1873; attended the Marlboro public schools, Boston college, and Albany law school; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Marlboro; member of the Massachusetts house of representatives 1903–1906; member of the state senate 1907–1908; elected as a Democrat to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); resumed the practice of law in Marlboro, Mass.

Mitchell, John Lendrum, a Representative and a Senator from Wisconsin; born in Milwaukee, Wis., October 19, 1842; pursued an academic course and studied in England, Switzerland, and Germany; served in the Civil war in the twenty-fourth Wisconsin volunteer infantry; first lieutenant, and later chief of ordnance on the staff of Gen. Absalom Bayard; resigned in 1864; member of the state senate of Wisconsin 1872–1873 and 1875–1876; president of the public school board of the city of Milwaukee 1884–1885; member of the board of managers of the National home for disabled volunteer soldiers; president of the Milwaukee Gas company; interested in agricultural pursuits; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second Congress, and served from March 4, 1891, until March 3, 1893, when he resigned; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1893, to March 3, 1899; president of the Wisconsin state agricultural society, and of numerous banking institutions; died in Milwaukee, Wis., June 29, 1904.

Mitchell, John Murray, a Representative from New York; born in New York city, N. Y., March 18, 1858; was graduated from Columbia college in 1877; completed a course in the Columbia law school in 1879, and was admitted to the bar, and practiced in New York City; successfully contested, as a Republican, the election of James J. Walsh to the Fifty-fourth Congress; reelected to the Fifty-fifth Congress, and served from June 2, 1896, to March 3, 1899; died in Tuxedo Park, N. Y., May 31, 1905.

Mitchell, Nahum, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in East Bridgewater, Mass., February 12, 1769; was graduated from Harvard college in 1789; studied law in Plymouth, Mass.; commenced practice in East Bridgewater, Mass., in 1792; common pleas court judge 1811–1821, and chief justice 1819–1821; member of the state house of representatives 1798–1802, 1809, 1812, 1839–1840; elected to the state senate 1813–1814; elected to the Eighth Congress (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1805); member of the governor's council 1814–1820; state treasurer 1822–1827; librarian and treasurer of the Massachusetts historical society; died in Plymouth, Mass., August 1, 1853.

Mitchell, Nathaniel, a Delegate from Delaware; born near Laurel, Sussex county, Del., in 1753; member of the Continental army in the Revolutionary war; member of the state house of representatives; elected to the Continental Congress 1786–1788; elected governor of Delaware in 1804; reelected and served until 1810; member of state senate 1810–1814; died near Laurel, Del., February 21, 1814.

Mitchell, Robert, a Representative from Ohio; born in Pennsylvania; attended the public schools; moved to Zanesville, Ohio; held several local offices; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); died in Zanesville, Ohio, in August, 1850.

Mitchell, Stephen Mix, a Delegate and a Senator from Connecticut; born in Wethersfield, Conn., December 9, 1743; was graduated from Yale college in 1763; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Wethersfield, Conn., in 1772; member of the general assembly of Connecticut 1778–1784; judge of the Hartford county court 1779–1795; Delegate to the Continental Congress 1783–1785; associate justice of the county court of Hartford county 1779–1790; presiding judge of the court 1790–1793; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Roger Sherman, and served from December 2, 1793, to March 3, 1795; judge of the supreme court 1795–1807, and its chief justice 1807–1814; presidential elector in 1801; died in Wethersfield, Conn., September 30, 1835.

Mitchell, Thomas Rothmaler, a Representative from South Carolina; native of Georgetown, S. C.; was graduated from Harvard university in 1802; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Georgetown, S. C.; elected to the Seventeenth Congress (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1823); reelected to the Nineteenth and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1825–March 3, 1829); again elected to the Twenty-second Congress (March 4, 1831–March 3, 1833); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Eighteenth and the Twenty-first Congresses; died in Georgetown, S. C., November 2, 1837.

Mitchell, William, a Representative from Indiana; born in Montgomery county, N. Y., January 19, 1807; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Kendallville, Ind.; first postmaster of Kendallville, Ind., 1836; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-eighth Congress; died in Macon, Ga., September 11, 1865.

Mitchill, Samuel Latham, a Representative and a Senator from New York; born in Hempstead, N. Y., August 20, 1764; pursued classical studies; studied medicine, and was graduated from the University of Edinburgh; studied law, and was admitted to the bar; commissioner to purchase the land of the Iroquois Indians in western New York in 1788; member of the state assembly in 1791; professor of chemistry and natural history in Columbia college in 1792; one of the founders of the state society for the promotion of agriculture in 1793; editor of the Quarterly Medical Repository 1797–1813; again a member of the state assembly in 1798; elected as a Democrat to the Seventh and Eighth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1801, until his resignation, November 22, 1804; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of John Armstrong, and served from November 23, 1804, to

Digitized by Google

March 3, 1809; reelected to the Eleventh and Twelfth Congresses (March 4, 1809–March 3, 1813); professor of natural history in the New York college of physicians and surgeons 1808–1820, and of botany and materia medica 1820–1826; vice-president of the Rutgers medical school 1826–1830; died in New York City September 7, 1831.

Moffatt, Seth C., a Representative from Michigan; born in Battle Creek, Mich., August 10, 1841; attended the common schools; was graduated from the law department of Michigan university in 1863, was admitted to the bar, and engaged in the practice of his profession in Traverse City, Mich.; prosecuting attorney for Grand Traverse and Leelanaw counties for ten years; member of the state senate of Michigan 1871–1872; member of the constitutional commission in 1873; register of the United States land office at Traverse City 1874–1878; member of the state house of representatives 1881–1882, serving as speaker both terms; delegate in the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1884; elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1885, until his death in Washington, D. C., December 22, 1887; interment in Traverse City, Mich.

Moffet, John, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in county Antrim, Ireland, April 5, 1831; came to the United States, and located in Pennsylvania; attended the public schools in Philadelphia, Pa.; studied medicine in the University of Pennsylvania, and became an apothecary; presented credentials as a Democratic Member-elect to the Forty-first Congress, and served from March 4 to April 9, 1869, when he was succeeded by Leonard Myers, who contested his election; resumed the practice of pharmacy until his death in Philadelphia, Pa., June 19, 1884.

Moffit, Hosea, a Representative from New York; a native of Rensselaer county, N. Y.; member of the state assembly 1794–1801; elected as a Federalist to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Congresses (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1817).

Moffitt, John H., a Representative from New York; born in Chazy, Clinton county, N. Y., January 8, 1843; attended the common schools, Plattsburg academy, and Fort Edward collegiate institute; enlisted as a private in the sixteenth regiment New York volunteers April 27, 1861; wounded at the battle of Gaines Mills June 27, 1862; mustered out of service with his regiment May 18, 1863; deputy collector of customs in Rouses Point, N. Y., 1866–1872; engaged in the manufacture of charcoal bloom iron; elected supervisor of Saranac, Clinton county, in 1877; elected as a Republican to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1891); appointed superintendent of the waterworks in Syracuse, N. Y.

Molony, Richard Shepard, a Representative from Illinois; native of Northfield, N. H.; studied medicine, and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1838, and commenced practice in Belvidere, Ill.; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); died in Humboldt, Nebr., December 14, 1891.

Mondell, Frank Wheeler, a Representative from Wyoming; born in St. Louis, Mo., November 6, 1860; attended the common schools, and received instruction in the higher branches from a private tutor; engaged in mercantile pursuits, mining, and railway construction in various Western states and territories; settled in Wyoming in 1887, and engaged in the development of coal mines and oil property in the vicinity of Newcastle and Cambria; took an active part in the establishment and building of the town of Newcastle, Wyo., and the development of the Cambria, Wyo., mines; elected mayor of Newcastle in 1888, and served until 1895; elected a member of the first state senate in 1890, served as president of that body at the session of 1892; delegate in the Republican national convention in Minneapolis in 1892; appointed assistant commissioner of the general land office November 15, 1897, and served until March 3, 1899; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1895–March 3, 1897); reelected to the Fifty-sixth, and to the five succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Monell, Robert, a Representative from New York; native of Columbia county, N. Y.; pursued classical studies; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Greene, Chenango county, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives 1814–1815, 1825–1826, and 1828; elected as a Democrat to the Sixteenth Congress (March 4, 1819–March 3, 1821); reelected to the Twenty-first Congress, and served from March 4, 1829, until February 21, 1831, when he resigned; circuit judge; died in Greene, N. Y., in 1860.

Money, Hernando De Soto, a Representative and a Senator from Mississippi; born in Holmes county, Miss., August 26, 1839; was graduated from the University of Mississippi in Oxford; served in the Confederate army until forced to resign September 26, 1864, on account of defective eyesight; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Carrollton, Miss., and also engaged in planting; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth, and to the four succeeding Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1885); reelected to the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1897); elected to the United States Senate for the term commencing March 4, 1899; and during the interim was appointed and subsequently elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of James Z. George; reelected in 1899 and 1905, and served from October 8, 1897, to March 3, 1911; located in Gulfport, Miss.; died in Biloxi, Miss., September 18, 1912; interment in Gulfport, Miss.

Monroe, James, a Representative from Ohio; born in Plainfield, Conn., July 18, 1821; attended the common schools and Plainfield academy; was graduated from Oberlin college in 1846; pursued a post graduate course in theology; professor in Oberlin college from 1849 until 1862; member of the state house of representatives of Ohio 1856–1859; member of the Ohio senate 1860–1862; chosen president pro tempore in 1861 and 1862; resigned his seat in the senate in October, 1862, to accept the position of United States consul to Rio de Janeiro, and served from 1863 to 1869, served for some months of 1869 as charge d'affaires ad interim; elected as a Republican to the Forty-second, Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, and Forty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1871–March 3, 1881); declined a renomination; professor in Oberlin college 1883–1896; died in Oberlin, Ohio, July 6, 1898.

Monroe, James, a Delegate and a Senator from Virginia; born in Westmoreland county, Va., April 28, 1758; pursued classical studies; attended

Digitized by Google

William and Mary college in 1776, and left to enter the Continental army in the Revolutionary war; appointed a lieutenant in the third Virginia regiment, and participated in numerous engagemennts; severely wounded in the battle of Harlem Heights; volunteer aide with rank of major; military commissioner for Virginia in 1780, with rank of lieutenant colonel, and visited the southern army under General DeKalb; member of the state assembly in 1782; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1783–1786; resumed the study of law, was admitted to the bar, and engaged in practice in Fredericksburg, Va.; again member of the state assembly in 1786; delegate in the state convention to consider the Federal constitution in 1788; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William Grayson; reelected, and served from November 9, 1790, until his resignation in 1794; appointed by President Washington minister plenipotentiary to France May 27, 1794, and served from May 28, 1794, to December 30, 1796; governor of Virginia 1799–1802; appointed by President Jefferson minister extraordinary and plenipotentiary to France January 11, 1803, and served from January 12, 1803, to July 12, 1803; minister plenipotentiary to England November 11, 1803, and to Spain November 9, 1804; returned home in 1808; again elected member of state assembly; governor of Virginia in 1811; Secretary of State of the United States, November 25, 1811, to March 3, 1817; elected and reelected President of the United States, and served from March 4, 1817, to March 3, 1825; retired to his farm in Loudoun county, Va.; member and president of the Virginia constitutional convention of 1829; moved to New York City in 1831, and died there July 4, 1831; final interment in Richmond, Va., in 1858.

Montgomery, Alexander Brooks, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Hardin county, Ky., December 11, 1837; was graduated from Georgetown college, Ky., in 1859; studied law and was graduated from the Louisville law school in 1861; engaged in farming in Elizabethtown, Ky., 1861–1870; began the practice of law in 1874; elected county judge of Hardin county, Ky., in 1870, and served until 1874; elected to the Kentucky senate in 1877, and served until 1881; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1895); member of the Dawes Indian commission; farmer at Elizabethtown, Ky., where he died December 27, 1910.

Montgomery, Daniel, jr., a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected to the Tenth Congress (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1809).

Montgomery, John, a Representative from Maryland; born in Maryland; pursued classical studies; mayor of Baltimore; attorney general of Maryland; elected as a Democrat to the Tenth and Eleventh Congresses (March 4, 1807–March 3, 1811).

Montgomery, John G., a Representative from Pennsylvania; elected to the Thirty-fifth Congress, and served from March 4, 1857, until his death April 24, 1857.

Montgomery, Joseph, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; born in Paxtang, Dauphin county, Pa., September 23, 1733; pursued classical studies; was graduated from Princeton college in 1755; licensed to preach by the presbytery of Philadelphia in 1759, and ordained in 1761; held several pastorates 1761–1777; delegate in the general assembly of Pennsylvania 1780–1781; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1783–1784; recorder of deeds and register of wills for Dauphin county 1785–1794; justice of the court of common pleas 1786–1794; died in Harrisburg, Pa., October 14, 1794.

Montgomery, Thomas, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Nelson county, Va., previous to 1779; received a thorough English training; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Stanford, Ky.; judge of the circuit court of Lincoln county; elected as a Democrat to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); again elected to the Sixteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Tunstall Quarles, jr., reelected to the Seventeenth Congress, and served from November 13, 1820, to March 3, 1823; died in Stanford, Ky., April 2, 1828.

Montgomery, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Chester county, Pa., August 3, 1736; served in Revolutionary War; delegate to provincial conventions of 1775 and 1776; appointed deputy surveyor, April 18, 1785; associate judge of Northumberland county, 1801–1813; member of the first senate of Pennsylvania in 1790; elected to the Third Congress (March 4, 1793–March 3, 1795); died in Danville, Pa., May 1, 1816.

Montgomery, William, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Guilford county, N. C., December 29, 1789; studied medicine and practiced in Albrights, Orange county, N. C.; member of the state senate 1824–1827, and 1829–1834; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1841); declined a renomination; died in Albrights, N. C., November 30, 1843.

Montgomery, William, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Canton township, Pa., April 11, 1818; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Washington college in 1839; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1841, and commenced practice in Washington, Pa.; appointed district attorney in 1845; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); died in Washington, Pa., April 28, 1870.

Moody, Gideon Curtis, a Senator from South Dakota; born in Cortland, N. Y., October 16, 1832; attended the common schools and pursued an academic course; studied law in Syracuse, N. Y.; moved to Indiana in 1852, and was admitted to the bar in 1853; appointed prosecuting attorney for Floyd county in 1854; member of the house of representatives of Indiana in 1861; in April, 1861, entered the Union army as captain in the ninth Indiana volunteer Infantry; served therein as captain, lieutenant colonel, and colonel; appointed in August, 1861, captain in the nineteenth United States infantry and served until his resignation in March, 1864; moved to Dakota in May, 1864; member of the house of representatives of Dakota Territory, 1867–1869, and in 1874; served as speaker of the house 1868–1869, and in 1874; appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Dakota Territory in September, 1878, and served until April 1, 1883; was delegate in the Republican national conventions of 1868 and 1888; member of the constitutional conventions of South Dakota in 1883 and 1885; elected to the United States Senate and served from November 2, 1889, to March 3, 1891; died in Los Angeles, Cal., March 17, 1904.

Digitized by Google

Moody, James Montraville, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Cherokee (now Graham) county, N. C., February 12, 1858; moved with his parents to Haywood county; attended the common schools and Waynesville academy, also Candler college, in Buncombe county, N. C.; studied law in Waynesville, and was admitted to the bar in January, 1881; elected prosecuting attorney of the twelfth judicial district of North Carolina in 1886, and served four years; elected to the state senate for two years in 1894; served in the Spanish-American war as major and chief commissary of United States volunteers on the staff of Maj. Gen. J. Warren Keifer; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh Congress and served from March 4, 1901, until his death in Waynesville, N. C., February 5, 1903.

Moody, Malcolm Adelbert, a Representative from Oregon; born in Brownsville, Linn county, Oreg., November 30, 1854; attended the public schools and the university of California; entered mercantile business in The Dalles, Oreg.; cashier of The Dalles National bank; member of the city council of The Dalles, 1885–1889; mayor in 1889, and served two terms; member of the Republican state central and congressional committees 1888–1898; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1903); resumed business in The Dalles, Oreg.

Moody, William Henry, a Representative from Massachusetts; born in Newbury, Mass., December 23, 1853; was graduated from Phillips academy, Andover, Mass., in 1872, and from Harvard university in 1876; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1878, and practiced in Haverhill, Mass.; city solicitor 1888–1890; district attorney for the eastern district of Massachusetts, 1890 to 1895; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William Cogswell, reelected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses, and served from December 2, 1895, until his resignation May 1, 1902; Secretary of the Navy of the United States in the cabinet of President Roosevelt from May 1, 1902, until July 1, 1904; Attorney General of the United States July 1, 1904, to December 12, 1906; appointed by President Roosevelt associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States December 3, 1906, and served from December 16, 1906, until his retirement by special act of Congress approved June 23, 1910.

Moon, John Austin, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Albemarle county, Va., April 22, 1855; moved with his parents in 1857 to Bristol, Va., and then to Chattanooga, Tenn.; attended King college, Tennessee; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in March, 1874; elected city attorney of Chattanooga 1881–1882; member of the state Democratic executive committee in 1888; commissioned in May, 1889, as special circuit judge and twice reappointed, and held the office until January 3, 1891; appointed regular judge for the fourth circuit, and served until August, 1892; elected circuit judge in 1892; reelected in 1894 for a term of eight years; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1911); delegate in the Democratic national convention of 1900. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Moon, John W., a Representative from Michigan; born in Wayne county, Mich., January 18, 1836; attended the common schools; moved to northern Michigan in 1854, and engaged in lumbering; held the offices of supervisor, township treasurer, and president of village; located in Muskegon, Mich., and engaged in the manufacture of lumber, and in banking; elected to the state senate in 1884 and reelected in 1886; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); died in Muskegon, Mich., April 5, 1898.

Moon, Reuben O., a Representative from Pennsylvania; attended the common schools; was graduated from college in 1874; professor in the National school of oratory, Philadelphia; engaged in lecturing; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1884; one of the founders and president of the Columbia club; a member of the Lawyers' club and of the Historical society of Pennsylvania; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Robert H. Foerderer; reelected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from November 9, 1903, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Moor, Wyman Bradbury Seavy, a Senator from Maine; born in Waterville, Me., November 3, 1814; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Waterville college; studied law in Cambridge, was admitted to the bar in 1834, and practiced in Bangor and Waterville, Me.; member of the state house of representatives in 1839; state attorney general of Maine 1844–1848; appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John Fairfield, and served from January 5, 1848, to May 26, 1848; appointed by President Buchanan consul general for British America and served 1857–1861; died in Lynchburg, Va., February 16, 1869.

Moore, Andrew, a Representative and a Senator from Virginia; born in Canniscelle, Augusta county, Va., 1752; pursued an academic course; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1774; served in the Revolutionary war; lieutenant under General Gates at the battle of Saratoga, and present at the surrender of Burgoyne; resigned in 1779 with the rank of captain, and was commissioned brigadier general of Virginia militia, and major general in 1808; member of state legislature 1781–1789, and of the Virginia convention that ratified the Federal constitution in 1788; elected to the First, Second, Third, and Fourth Congresses (March 4, 1789–March 3, 1797); successfully contested the election of Thomas Lewis to the Eighth Congress, and served from March 5, 1804, to November 6, 1804, when he was appointed to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of William Cary Nicholas, and served from August 11, 1804, to December 4, 1804; elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Abraham B. Venable, and served from December 4, 1804, to March 3, 1809; died near Lexington, Va., May 14, 1821.

Moore, Eliakim Hastings, a Representative from Ohio; born in Worcester county, Mass., June 19, 1812; moved to Athens county, Ohio, in 1817; attended the common schools, and was graduated from Yale in 1835; taught mathematics in universities; county surveyor 1836–1846, and auditor 1846–1860; collector of internal revenue 1862–1866; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); died in Athens, Ohio, April 4, 1900.

Digitized by Google

Moore, Ely, a Representative from New York; born in Sussex county, N. J., July 4, 1798; attended the public schools; became a printer, and edited a labor paper in New York City; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839; surveyor of the port of New York City 1839–1845; refused appointment as minister to England and was appointed Indian agent; register of the United States land office in Kansas; died in Lecompton, Kans., January 27, 1861.

Moore, Gabriel, a Representative and a Senator from Alabama; born in Stokes county, N. C., about 1790; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Huntsville, Ala.; member of the state convention of 1819; elected to the Seventeenth Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1829); governor of Alabama 1829–1831; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1831, to March 3, 1837; unsuccessful candidate for the Twenty-fifth Congress in 1836; removed to Caddo, Texas, in 1843, and died there June 9, 1844.

Moore, Henry D., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Goshen, N. Y., April 13, 1817; moved to New York City in 1828; attended the public schools; engaged in the tailoring business; moved to Philadelphia and engaged in the mahogany and marble business; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Congresses (March 4, 1849–March 3, 1853); state treasurer for several years; died in Philadelphia, Pa., August 11, 1887.

Moore, Herman Allen, a Representative from Ohio; born in Plainfield, Vt., August 27, 1909; pursued an academic course; studied law in Rochester, N. Y., was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Columbus, Ohio; state adjutant general; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth Congress, and served from March 4, 1843, until his death in Columbus, Ohio, April 3, 1844.

Moore, Horace Ladd, a Representative from Kansas; born in Mantua, Portage county, Ohio, February 25, 1837; attended the common schools and the Western Reserve eclectic institute, Hiram, Ohio; moved to Kansas in 1858; enlisted in the Union army; in the second Kansas infantry, May 14, 1861, and served continuously until June 30, 1865, when he was mustered out of the service as lieutenant colonel of the fourth Arkansas cavalry; commanded the eighteenth and nineteenth regiments of Kansas cavalry; served against the Indians on the plains 1867 and 1868; engaged in mercantile pursuits, except for two years when he was treasurer of Douglas county, Kans.; as a Democrat successfully contested the election of Edward H. Funston to the Fifty-third Congress, and served from August 2, 1894, until March 3, 1895; vice president of a national bank in Lawrence, Kas.

Moore, J. Hampton, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Woodbury, N. J., March 8, 1864; attended the common schools; student in Philadelphia 1877 to 1880; a reporter in the courts and on the Public Ledger in Philadelphia 1881–1894; chief clerk to city treasurer, Philadelphia, 1894–1897; secretary to the mayor in 1900; city treasurer 1901–1903; appointed by President Roosevelt the first chief of the Bureau of Manufactures, Department of Commerce and Labor, January, 1905; president of the Allied Republican clubs of Philadelphia, 1900–1906; president of the Pennsylvania state league of republican clubs in 1900, and reelected in 1901; elected president of the republican national league, in Chicago, in 1902, and reelected in Indianapolis in 1804; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of George A. Castor; reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from December 3, 1906, to March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Moore, Jesse Hale, a Representative from Illinois; born near Lebanon, Ill., April 22, 1817; was graduated from McKendree college in 1842; taught school; studied law and was admitted to the bar; ordained a Methodist minister in 1849; served in the Civil war; colonel of the one hundred and fifteenth Illinois infantry September 13, 1862; brevet brigadier general of volunteers May 15, 1865, "for meritorious services;" honorably mustered out June 11, 1865; presiding elder of the Decatur district, Illinois conference, in 1868; located in Decatur, Ill.; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); appointed by President Arthur United States consul at Callao, Peru, October 27, 1881, and served until his death there July 11, 1883.

Moore, John, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Berkeley county, Va., in 1788; pursued an academic course; moved to Franklin, La.; member of the state house of representatives 1825–1834; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Rice Garland; reelected to the Twenty-seventh Congress, and served from December 17, 1840, to March 3, 1843; moved to New Iberia, La.; reelected to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853); Whig presidential elector in 1848; delegate in the state secession convention of 1861; died in Franklin, La., June 17, 1867.

Moore, John Matthew, a Representative from Texas; born in Richmond, Fort Bend county, Tex., November 18, 1862; attended the common schools of Richmond and the Agricultural and mechanical college in Bryan, Tex.; engaged in mercantile business, banking, stock raising, and farming; member of the state legislature in 1896; declined a renomination; delegate in the Democratic national convention in Kansas City in 1900; elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-ninth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of John M. Pinckney; reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, and served from December 4, 1905, to March 3, 1911. Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Moore, Laban T., a Representative from Kentucky; born in Cabell county, Va., January 13, 1829; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Louisa, Ky.; elected as a National American to the Thirty-sixth Congress (March 4, 1859–March 3, 1861).

Moore, Littleton Wilde, a Representative from Texas; born in Alabama, March 25, 1835; moved with his parents to Mississippi; was graduated from the state university in 1855; studied law and was admitted to the bar; moved to Texas in 1857 and began practice in Bastrop; served in the Confederate army; elected to the constitutional convention of Texas in 1875; elected district judge in 1876 and remained upon the bench until 1885; elected as a Democrat to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, and Fifty-second Congresses (March 4, 1887–March 3, 1893); appointed judge of the twenty-second judicial district in 1901 and served until his death in La Grange, Tex., October 29, 1911.

Digitized by Google

Moore, Nicholas Ruxton, a Representative from Maryland; native of Baltimore, Md.; attended public schools; served in the Revolutionary war, and was commissioned lieutenant colonel February 13, 1812; elected as a Democrat to the Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, and Eleventh Congresses (March 4, 1803–March 3, 1811); reelected to the Thirteenth Congress (March 4, 1813–March 3, 1815); died in Baltimore, Md., October 7, 1816.

Moore, Orren Cheney, a Representative from New Hampshire; born in New Hampton, N. H., August 10, 1839; attended the public schools; learned the trade of a printer and became a journalist; established the Nashua Daily Telegraph in 1869; served six terms in the lower branch of the legislature and one term in the upper branch; member of the state tax commission; chairman of the state railroad commission for three years; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); died in Nashua, N. H., May 12, 1893.

Moore, Oscar F., a Representative from Ohio; native of that state; attended public schools; located in Portsmouth, Ohio; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-fourth Congress (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1857); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-fifth Congress.

Moore, Robert, a Representative from Pennsylvania; native of Washington county, Pa.; pursued an academic course; elected to the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Congresses (March 4, 1817–March 3, 1821).

Moore, Samuel, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Deerfield, N. J., February 8, 1774; pursued an academic course, and was graduated from the university of Pennsylvania in 1792; instructor in the university 1792–1794; studied medicine and practiced in Greenwich, N. J., and in Doylestown, Pa.; elected as a Democrat to the Fifteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Samuel D. Ingham; reelected to the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Congresses, and served from November 16, 1818, until his resignation, May 20, 1822; director of the United States Mint in Philadelphia 1824–1835; engaged in coal mining and marketing; died in Doylestown, Pa., February 18, 1861.

Moore, Samuel McDowell, a Representative from Virginia; born in Philadelphia, Pa., February 9, 1796; attended the public schools, and Washington college; located in Lexington, Va.; member of Virginia constitutional conventions of 1829 and 1861; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-third Congress (March 4, 1833–March 3, 1835); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Twenty-fourth Congress; served in the Condeferate army; died in Lexington, Va., September 17, 1875.

Moore, Sydenham, a Representative from Alabama; born in Rutherford county, Tenn., in 1817; pursued classical studies; attended University of Alabama 1833–1836; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Greensboro, Ala.; judge of Greene county court 1840–1846, and 1848–1850; and then of the circuit court in 1957; served in the Mexican war as captain in Colonel Coffey's regiment of Alabama infantry from June, 1846, to June, 1847; elected bridagier general of Alabama militia; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses, and served from March 4, 1857, to January 21, 1861, when he retired from the House on the secession of Alabama; served as colonel in the Confederate army in the eleventh Alabama regiment; died from wounds received in the battle of Seven Pines, Va., May 31, 1862.

Moore, Thomas, a Representative from South Carolina; elected to the Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, and Twelfth Congresses (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1813); reelected to the Fourteenth Congress (March 4, 1815–March 3, 1817).

Moore, Thomas L., a Representative from Virginia; born in Jefferson county, Va.; pursued an academic course; elected to the Sixteenth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of George L. Strother; reelected to the Seventeenth Congress, and served from November 13, 1820, to March 3, 1823.

Moore, Thomas Patrick, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Charlotte county, Va., in 1797; attended the public schools; moved with his parents to Harrodsburg, Ky.; attended Transylvania university; served in the War of 1812; captain in the twelfth Virginia infantry March 12, 1812; major eighteenth infantry September 20, 1813; honorably discharged June 15, 1815; elected as a Democrat to the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth Congresses (March 4, 1823–March 3, 1829); appointed by President Jackson minister plenipotentiary to the United States of Colombia March 13, 1829, and served until April 16, 1833; returned to Kentucky; presented credentials as Member-elect of the Twenty-third Congress, but the election was contested by Robert P. Letcher, and the House declared a new election necessary; appointed lieutenant colonel of the third United States dragoons in the war with Mexico, and served from March 3, 1847, to July 31, 1848; delegate in the Kentucky constitutional convention of 1849–1850; died in Harrodsburg, Ky., July 21, 1853.

Moore, William, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Norristown, Montgomery county, Pa., December 25, 1810; attended the public schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar; interested in mercantile pursuits and iron works; judge of the court of common pleas for Atlantic county from 1855 to 1865; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); died in Mays Landing, N. J., April 26, 1878.

Moore, William Robert, a Representative from Tennessee; born in Huntsville, Ala., March 28, 1830; moved with his mother to Beech Grove, Tenn.; attended district schools, and became a clerk, and later proprietor of a dry-goods store; engaged in the wholesale dry good business in New York City 1856–1859, and in Memphis, Tenn., after 1859; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); renominated, and refused to accept; unanimously presented as candidate for Vice President of the United States by delegates from Mississippi and Tennessee at the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1888, but withdrew his name; declined nomination for governor of Tennessee in 1890.

Moore, William S., a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in West Bethlehem, Pa., November 18, 1822; was graduated from Washington college in 1847; studied law and was admitted to the bar; chosen prothonotary of Washington county in 1854; engaged in the newspaper business; elected as a Republican to the Forty-third Congress (March 4, 1873–March 3, 1875).

Moorhead, James Kennedy, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Halifax, Pa., September 7, 1806; attended the common schools; served an apprenticeship in the tanner's business, after which he became a canal contractor; superintendent and supervisor on the Juniata canal; projected and established the first passenger packet line on the Pennsylvania canal in 1835; appointed adjutant general of Pennsylvania in 1838; constructed the Monongahela navigation canal, and was president of the company twenty-one years; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses (March 4, 1859–March 4, 1869); delegate in the Republican national convention in 1868; died in Pittsburgh, Pa., March 6, 1884.

Morehead, Charles Slaughter, a Representative from Kentucky; born in Nelson county, Ky. July 7, 1802; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Frankfort, Ky.; member of the state house of representatives 1828 and 1829; attorney general of Kentucky 1830–1835; again a member of the state house of representatives 1838–1842, and 1844, and served the last three years as speaker of the house; elected as a Whig to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); again a member of the state legislature in 1853; governor of Kentucky in 1855; delegate from Kentucky to the peace convention held in Washington, D. C., in 1861; died in Greenville, Miss., December 21, 1868.

Morehead, James Turner, a Senator from Kentucky; born near Shepherdsville, Bullitt county, Ky., May 24, 1797; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1818, and commenced practice in Bowling Green, Ky.; member of the state house of representatives 1827–1830; elected lieutenant governor of Kentucky in 1832, and after the death of Governor Breathitt became governor 1834–1836; again a member of the state house of representatives in 1837; president of the state board of internal improvements 1838–1841; elected as a Whig to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1841, to March 3, 1847; returned to Covington, Ky., and resumed the practice of law until his death, December 28, 1854.

Morehead, James T., a Representative from North Carolina; born in Greensboro, N. C.; attended the public schools; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-second Congress (March 4, 1851–March 3, 1853).

Morehead, John Motley, a Representative from North Carolina; born in Charlotte, Mecklenburg county, N. C., July 20, 1866; attended the common schools of Charlotte, the Bingham military school of North Carolina, and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1886; also completed a business course in Bryant & Stratton college, Baltimore; collecting teller of the Charlotte national bank, of Charlotte, N. C.; interested in manufacturing and farming; elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911).

Morey, Frank, a Representative from Louisiana; born in Boston, Mass., July 11, 1840; attended the public schools; moved to Illinois in 1857; studied law; entered the Union army in 1861 in the thirty-third Illinois infantry, and served until the close of the war, principally on staff duty, with the rank of captain; settled in Louisiana in 1866 and engaged in cotton planting and the insurance business; member of the general assembly of Louisiana in 1868 and 1869; appointed a commissioner to revise the statutes and codes of the state; commissioner to the Vienna exposition in 1873; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first, Forty-second, and Forty-third Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1875); presented credentials as a member-elect to the Forty-fourth Congress, but the election was successfully contested by William B. Spencer, who took the seat June 8, 1876; moved to Washington, D. C., and died there September 22, 1890.

Morey, Henry Lee, a Representative from Ohio; born in Butler county, Ohio, April 8, 1841; attended the common schools and Miami university; served in the Civil war, and was successively promoted to second lieutenant, first lieutenant, and captain; studied law, and was graduated from the Indianapolis law school in 1867; was admitted to the bar and practiced in Hamilton, Ohio; elected city solicitor of Hamilton in January, 1871; reelected for the full term of two years; elected prosecuting attorney for Butler county, Ohio, in 1873; unsuccessful candidate for election to the state senate in 1875; elected as a Republican to the Forty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1881–March 3, 1883); presented credentials as a member-elect to the Forty-eighth Congress, but the election was successfully contested by James E. Campbell, who took the seat June 20, 1884; reelected to the Fifty-first Congress (March 4, 1889–March 3, 1891); resumed the practice of law until his death in Dayton, Ohio, December 30, 1902.

Morgan, Charles Henry, a Representative from Missouri; born in Cuba, Allegany county, N. Y., July 5, 1842; moved with his parents to Wisconsin; attended the common schools and the Fond du Lac high school; served in the Union army four years and three months as a private, noncommissioned officer, second and first lieutenant, and captain in the First and Twenty-first Wisconsin infantry; was graduated from the Albany, N Y., law school, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lamar, Mo.; prosecuting attorney of Barton county, Mo., four years; member of the Missouri legislature 1872–1874; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1875–March 3, 1879); reelected to the Forty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1885); delegate in the Democratic national convention in Cincinnati in 1880; Democratic elector at large in 1888; reelected to the Fifty-third Congress (March 4, 1893–March 3, 1895); served in the war with Spain as lieutenant colonel of the fifth Missouri volunteer infantry; reelected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Sixty-second Congress; died in Joplin, Mo., January 4, 1912.

Morgan, Christopher, a Representative from New York; born in Aurora, N. Y., June 4, 1808; pursued classical studies, and was graduated from Yale college in 1830; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Aurora, N. Y.; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1839–March 3, 1843); moved to Auburn in 1843; secretary of state of New York four years; superintendent of the New York public schools 1848–1852; mayor of Auburn in 1860; trustee of state lunatic asylum in Utica, N. Y.; died in Auburn, N. Y., April 3, 1877.

Digitized by Google

Morgan, Daniel, a Representative from Virginia; born in Hunterdon county, N. J., in 1736; moved to Virginia; commissioned captain of a company of Virginia riflemen in July, 1775; taken prisoner at Quebec December 31, 1775; colonel of the eleventh Virginia regiment November 12, 1776; regiment designated the seventh Virginia September 14, 1778; brigadier general in the Continental army October 30, 1780; given thanks of Congress and a gold medal (resolution of March 9, 1781) "for fortitude and good conduct of himself, and officers and men under his command, in the action at the Cowpens, S. C., January 17, 1781;" served to the close of the war, and then retired to his estate known as "Saratoga," near Winchester, Va.; commanded the Virginia militia ordered out by President Washington in 1794 to suppress the whisky insurrection in Pennsylvania; presented credentials as a member-elect to the Fifth Congress as a Federalist, and the election was unsuccessfully contested by Robert Rutherford; served from March 4, 1797, until March 3, 1799; declined reelection on account of ill health; died in Winchester, Va., July 6, 1802.

Morgan, Dick Thompson, a Representative from Oklahoma; born in Prairie Creek, Vigo county, Ind., December 6, 1853; attended country schools, and was graduated from the Prairie Creek high school in 1872, and from Union Christian college, Merom, Ind., in 1876; was professor of mathematics in Union Christian college; in 1880 was graduated from the Central law school of Indianapolis, Ind.; member of the lower house of the Indiana legislature 1880–1881; appointed register of the United States land office in Woodward, Okla., by President Roosevelt in 1904, and served until May 1, 1908; was elected to the Sixty-first Congress (March 4, 1909–March 3, 1911). Reelected to the Sixty-second Congress.

Morgan, Edwin Barbour, a Representative from New York; born in Aurora, N. Y., May 2, 1806; attended the common schools; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1853–March 3, 1859); interested in the New York Times; trustee of Auburn Theological seminary 1870–1881; charter trustee of Wells college 1868–1881, and president of the board 1878–1881; trustee of Cornell university 1865–1874; died in Aurora, N. Y., October 13, 1881; interment in Hartford, Conn.

Morgan, Edwin Dennison, a Senator from New York; born in Washington, Mass., February 8, 1811; attended the public schools, and Bacon academy, Colchester, Conn.; engaged in the grocery business in Hartford, Conn., and afterwards in New York City; member of the city council of Hartford in 1832; moved to New York City; alderman of New York City in 1849; member of the state senate 1850–1853; state commissioner of immigration 1855–1858; vice president of the Republican national convention of 1856; chairman of Republican national committee 1856–1864; chairman of Union congressional committee in 1864; governor of New York 1859–1862; major-general of volunteers in the Union army from September 28, 1861, to January 1, 1863; elected as a Union Republican to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1863, to March 3, 1869; unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the United States Senate in 1875; unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1876; declined the office of Secretary of the Treasury in 1881; died in New York City, February 14, 1883.

Morgan, George Washington, a Representative from Ohio; born in Washington, Pa., September 20, 1820; entered Washington college, Pa.; left in 1836; enlisted in a company commanded by his brother and assisted Texas in gaining her independence; rose to the rank of captain; returned to the United States; was a cadet in the United States military academy July 1, 1841–June 27, 1843; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Mount Vernon, Ohio, in 1843; served in the Mexican war; colonel of the second Ohio infantry June 23, 1846; colonel of infantry March 3, 1847, and of fifteenth United States infantry April 9, 1847; brevet brigadier general August 20, 1847, "for gallant and meritorious conduct at the battles of Contreras and Churubusco, Mex.;" honorably discharged August 7, 1848; appointed consul at Marseilles in 1855; appointed minister resident at Lisbon, Spain, in 1858; served in the Civil war; commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers November 12, 1861, and had command of the seventh division of the army of the Ohio; with General Sherman at Vicksburg; assigned to the thirteenth army corps; in command at the taking of Fort Hindman, Ark.; resigned June 8, 1863, on account of ill health; unsuccessful candidate for election as governor of Ohio in 1865; presented credentials as a Democrat member-elect to the Fortieth Congress, but the election was successfully contested by Columbus Delano—served from March 4, 1867, to June 3, 1868; elected to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1873); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Forty-third Congress; delegate in the Democratic national convention in St. Louis in 1876; died in Fort Monroe, Va., July 26, 1893.

Morgan, James, a Representative from New Jersey; born in Amboy, N. J., December 29, 1756; attended the public schools; served as an officer in the New Jersey line during the Revolutionary war; representative in the general assembly in Philadelphia, Pa., 1794–1799; elected as a Federalist to the Twelfth Congress (March 4, 1811–March 3, 1813); became major-general of militia; died in South Amboy, N. J., November 14, 1822; interment in Morgan, N. J.

Morgan, James Bright, a Representative from Mississippi; born in Lincoln county, Tenn., March 14, 1835; moved with his parents to De Soto county, Miss., in 1840; attended the common schools; studied law in Hernando, and was admitted to the bar in 1857; elected judge of probate before the war; resigned and enlisted in the Confederate army; elected captain, and in the organization of the twenty-ninth Mississippi infantry elected major; promoted lieutenant-colonel and colonel; at the close of the war again elected judge; member of the state senate of Mississippi 1876–1878; appointed, in October, 1878, chancellor of the third chancery district, and served four years; elected as a Democrat to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1885–March 3, 1891); died in Hernando, Miss., June 18, 1892,

Digitized by Google

Morgan, John Jordan, a Representative from New York; born in Queens county, N. Y., in 1769; attended the public schools; member of the state house of representatives in 1819; elected as a Democrat to the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Congresses (March 4, 1821–March 3, 1825); reelected to the Twenty-third Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Cornelius W. Lawrence, and served from December 1, 1834, to March 3, 1835; again a member of the state house of representatives in 1836, and 1840; died in Port Chester, N. Y., July 29, 1849.

Morgan, John Tyler, a Senator from Alabama; born in Athens, McMinn county, Tenn., June 20, 1824; pursued an academic course; moved with his parents to Alabama in 1833, and located in Calhoun county; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1845, and practiced in Taladega, Ala., 1845–1855; moved to Dallas county, Ala., in 1855, and practiced law in Selma and Cahaba; presidential elector on the Breckenridge ticket in 1860; delegate in 1861 from Dallas county in the state convention which passed the ordinance of secession; joined the Confederate army in May, 1861, as a private in Company I, Cahaba rifles, and when that company was assigned to the fifth Alabama regiment, under Col. Robert E. Rhodes, was elected major and lieutenant colonel of that regiment; commissioned in 1862 as colonel, and raised the fifty-first Alabama cavalry; appointed brigadier general in 1863 and assigned to a brigade in Virginia, but resigned to join his regiment, whose colonel had been killed in battle; later in 1863 again appointed brigadier general and assigned to an Alabama brigade which included his regiment; after the war resumed the practice of law in Selma, Ala., Democratic presidential elector on the Tilden-Hendricks ticket in 1876; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate March 5, 1877; reelected in 1882, 1888, 1894, 1900, and 1906, and served from March 4, 1877, until his death in Washington, D. C., June 11, 1907; interment in Selma, Ala.

Morgan, Stephen, a Representative from Ohio; born in Jackson county, Ohio, January 25, 1854; attended the common schools of Worthington and Lebanon, Ohio; taught in the public schools of Jackson county for a number of years; school examiner for nine years, and principal of Oak Hill academy for fifteen years; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1899–March 3, 1905).

Morgan, William S., a Representative from Virginia; born in Monongalia county, Va., September 7, 1801; attended the public schools; engaged in farming at White Day, Va.; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); clerk of the House of Representatives in 1840; declined a renomination for the Twenty-sixth Congress; member of the state house of representatives 1840–1841; Democratic presidential elector on the Polk-Dallas ticket in 1844; a naturalist in the employ of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., until shortly before his death in 1876.

Morphis, Joseph Lewis, a Representative from Mississippi; born in McNairy county, Tenn., April 17, 1831; pursued elementary studies, and became a planter; member of the state legislature of Tennessee in 1859; entered the Confederate army as captain in August, 1861, and served until the close of the war; moved his family to Pontotoc, Miss., in 1863; member of the state constitutional convention of Mississippi in 1865; member of the state legislature 1866–1868; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses, and served from February 28, 1870, to March 3, 1873; appointed by President Hayes United States marshal of the northern district of Mississippi, and served 1877–1885; licensed as an Indian trader on the Osage reservation in 1890.

Morrell, Daniel Johnson, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in North Berwick, Me., August 8, 1821; attended the public schools; moved to Philadelphia, Pa., in 1836; entered a counting room as clerk, and became a merchant; moved in 1855 to Johnstown, Pa., and engaged in the manufacture of iron and steel; held several local offices; elected as a Republican to the Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses (March 4, 1867–March 3, 1871); unsuccessful Republican candidate for reelection to the Forty-second Congress; commissioner to the Paris exposition of 1878; died in Johnstown, Pa., August 20, 1885.

Morrell, Edward de Veaux, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Newport, R. I., August 7, 1863; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1885; elected to the select council of Philadelphia in 1891, and served three years; active in the national guard of Pennsylvania; colonel of the Third regiment, and afterwards commissioned brigadier general, and commanded the first brigade; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-sixth Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Alfred C. Harmer; reelected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, and Fifty-ninth Congresses, and served from December 3, 1900, to March 3, 1905; a resident of Torresdale, Pa.

Morrill, David Lawrence, a Senator from New Hampshire; born in Epping, N. H., June 10, 1772; pursued an academic course; studied medicine, and practiced in Epsom, N. H., 1793–1800; moved to Goffstown and practiced 1811–1831; studied theology, and was pastor of the Congregational church in Goffstown 1802–1811; member of the state general court 1808–1817, and served as speaker in 1816; elected as an Adams Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1817, to March 3, 1823; member and president of the state senate 1823–1824; governor of New Hampshire 1824–1827; moved in 1831 to Concord; edited the New Hampshire Observer 1831–1833; died in Concord, N. H., January 28, 1849.

Morrill, Anson Peaslee, a Representative from Maine; born in Belgrade, Me., June 10, 1803; attended the public schools; postmaster, and held other local offices; engaged in mercantile and manufacturing pursuits in 1824; moved to Madison, and then to Readfield, N. H., in 1844; member of the state house of representatives in 1833; sheriff of Somerset county in 1839; governor of Maine in 1855; delegate in the Republican national convention of 1856; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-seventh Congress (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1863); moved to Augusta, Me., in 1879; member of the state house of representatives in 1880; president of the Maine Central railroad 1871–1887; died in Augusta, Me., July 4, 1887.

Morrill, Edmund Needham, a Representative from Kansas; born in Westbrook, Cumberland county, Me., February 12, 1834; attended Westbrook academy, and was superintendent of the Westbrook schools 1856–1857; moved to Kansas; member of the territorial legislature of Kansas in 1857–1858; enlisted in the Union army October 5, 1861, and served in the seventh Kansas cavalry; promoted to sergeant October 10, 1861; appointed commissary of subsistence in August, 1862; mustered out as major in October, 1865; clerk of the district court of Brown county, Kans., 1866–1868; county clerk in 1868, 1869, and 1871; member of the Kansas senate in 1872–1874, and 1876–1880, and served as president pro tempore in 1877; elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, and Fifty-first Congresses (March 4, 1883–March 3, 1891); manager of the soldiers' home in 1890; governor of Kansas, 1895–1897; unsuccessful candidate for reelection; died in Hiawatha, Kans., March 14, 1909.

Digitized by Google

Morrill, Justin Smith, a Representative and a Senator from Vermont; born in Strafford, Vt., April 14, 1810; attended the common schools, and Thetford and Randolph academies; a merchant's clerk in Strafford 1825–1828, and in Portland, Me., 1828–1831; merchant in Strafford 1831–1855, and devoted to agriculture and horticulture 1848–1855; elected as a Whig to the Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1855–March 3, 1867); author of the tariff act of 1861, and of the land-grant bill, which passed both houses and was vetoed by President Buchanan but which became a law in 1862; elected as a Union Republican to the United States Senate; reelected in 1872, 1878, 1884, 1890, and 1896, and served from March 4, 1867, until his death; was regent of the Smithsonian Institution for several years from 1880; trustee of the University of Vermont 1865–1898; died in Washington, D. C., December 28, 1898.

Morrill, Lot Myrick, a Senator from Maine; born in Belgrade, Me., May 3, 1813; attended district schools and Waterville college, Maine; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1837, and commenced practice in Readfield; moved to Augusta in 1841; member of the state senate in 1854 and 1856, and presided over the senate the last year; governor of Maine, 1858–1860; elected as a Republican to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Hannibal Hamlin; reelected in 1863, and served from January 9, 1861, to March 3, 1869; resumed the practice of law in Augusta; appointed in December, 1869, and subsequently elected to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the death of William Pitt Fessenden; reelected in 1871, and served from October 30, 1869, until his resignation July 7, 1876; Secretary of the Treasury of the United States in the cabinets of Presidents Grant and Hayes from July 7, 1876, to March 8, 1877; appointed by President Hayes collector of customs in Portland, Me., March 13, 1877; died in Augusta, Me., January 10, 1883.

Morrill, Samuel Plummer, a Representative from Maine; born in Chesterville, Franklin county, Me., February 11, 1816; pursued an academic course; studied theology and ordained a minister, and held pastorates in Maine; elected in 1857, for five years, register of deeds for Franklin county, and reelected to the same office in 1867; elected as a Republican to the Forty-first Congress (March 4, 1869–March 3, 1871); died in Chesterville, Me., August 4, 1892.

Morris, Calvary, a Representative from Ohio, born in Charleston, Kanawha county, Va. (now West Virginia), January 15, 1798; attended the public schools; moved to Ohio in 1819, and located in Athens; sheriff of Athens county 1823–1827; member of the state house of representatives 1827–1829; member of the state senate 1829–1835; again member of the state house of representatives 1835–1836; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1843); removed to Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1854; returned to Athens and in 1854 was elected probate judge of Athens county; died in Athens, Ohio, October 13, 1871.

Morris, Charles, a Delegate from Pennsylvania; sat in the Continental Congress 1783–1784.

Morris, Daniel, a Representative from New York; born in Fayette, Seneca county, N. Y., January 4, 1812; attended the public schools, and the Canandaigua academy, in Ontario county, N. Y.; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1845, and began practice in Penn Yan, N. Y.; district attorney of Yates county, N. Y., 1847–1850; member of the state house of representatives in 1859; elected as a Republican to the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1863–March 3, 1867); died in Penn Yan, N. Y., April 22, 1889.

Morris, Edward Joy, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., July 16, 1815; attended the University of Pennsylvania; was graduated from Harvard college in 1836; was admitted to the bar, and practiced in Philadelphia; member of the state house of representatives 1841–1843; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-eighth Congress (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1845); chargé d'affaires to Naples January 20, 1850, to August 26, 1853; again member of the state house of representatives in 1856; reelected to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); appointed minister resident to Turkey June 8, 1861, and served until October 25, 1870; died in Philadelphia, Pa., December 31, 1881.

Morris, Gouverneur, a Delegate and a Senator from New York; born in Morrisania, N. Y., January 31, 1752; was graduated from Kings college, New York, in 1768; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1771, and commenced practice in New York City; delegate in the New York provincial congress in 1775; Delegate in the Continental Congress, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of his father, Lewis Morris, 1777–1780; appointed assistant minister of finance in 1781, and served four years; member of the convention that framed the Constitution of the United States in 1787; minister plenipotentiary to France January 12, 1792, until August 15, 1794; returned to the United States in 1798; elected as a Federalist to the United States Senate, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Philip Schuyler, and served from April 3, 1800, to March 3, 1803; returned to New York City; chairman of the Erie canal commission 1810–1813; died in Morrisania, N. Y., November 6, 1816.

Morris, Isaac Newton, a Representative from Illinois; born in Bethel, Ohio, January 22, 1812; attended Miami university, Ohio; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1835, and commenced practice in Quincy, Ill., in 1836; appointed as secretary of state of Illinois in 1840, but declined; president of the Illinois and Michigan canal company in 1841; member of the state house of representatives 1846–1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1857–March 3, 1861); appointed by President Grant commissioner for the Union Pacific railroad in 1869; died in Quincy, Ill., October 29, 1879.

Digitized by Google

Morris, James Remley, a Representative from Ohio; born in Waynesburg, Greene county, Pa., January 10, 1820; attended the public schools; moved with his parents to Ohio; member of the state house of representatives in 1848; elected as a Democrat to the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth Congresses (March 4, 1861–March 3, 1865); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Thirty-ninth Congress; died in Woodsfield, Allegheny county, Pa., December 24, 1899.

Morris, Jonathan David, a Representative from Ohio; born in Columbia, Hamilton county, Ohio, October 8, 1804; attended the public schools; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Batavia, Ohio; for twenty years clerk of the courts of Clermont county; elected as a Democrat to the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses (March 4, 1847–March 3, 1851); died in Connersville, Ind., May 16, 1875.

Morris, Joseph, a Representative from Ohio; born in Greene county, Pa., October 16, 1795; attended the public schools; sheriff of Greene county in 1824; moved to Woodsfield, Ohio, in 1829, and engaged in mercantile pursuits; member of the state house of representatives 1833–1834; treasurer of Monroe county; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Congresses (March 4, 1843–March 3, 1847); died in Woodsfield, Ohio, October 23, 1854.

Morris, Lewis, a Delegate from New York; born in Morrisania, N. Y., April 8, 1726; entered Yale college with the class of 1746; devoted himself to agricultural pursuits; served in the Revolutionary war; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1775–1777; signer of the Declaration of Independence; member of the state assembly; held the commission of major general of militia; died in Morrisania, N. Y., January 22, 1798.

Morris, Lewis R., a Representative from Vermont; born in Scarsdale, N. Y., November 2, 1760; attended the public schools; moved to Springfield, Vt., in 1786; member of the convention to ratify the Federal Constitution; member of the general assembly in 1795–1796, and 1803–1808; secretary of the constitutional convention in Windsor in 1793; elected as a Federalist to the Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Congresses (March 4, 1797–March 3, 1803); died in Springfield, Vt., December 29, 1825.

Morris, Mathias, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Hilltown, Pa., in 1785; attended the public schools; elected as a Whig to the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Congresses (March 4, 1835–March 3, 1839); unsuccessful candidate for reelection to the Twenty-sixth Congress; died in Doylestown, Pa., November 9, 1839.

Morris, Robert Page Waller, a Representative from Minnesota; born in Lynchburg, Va., June 30, 1853; attended a private school and William and Mary college; was graduated from the Virginia military institute in 1872; assistant professor of mathematics 1872–1873; professor of mathematics in the Texas military institute in 1873, and moved to Austin, Tex.; professor of applied mathematics in the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas in 1876; located near Bryan, Tex.; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Lynchburg, Va., in 1880; unsuccessful candidate for election to the Forty-ninth Congress; moved to Duluth, Minn., in 1886; in February, 1889, elected municipal judge of Duluth; in March, 1894, elected city attorney of Duluth; in August, 1895, appointed district judge of the eleventh judicial district of Minnesota; elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses (March 4, 1897–March 3, 1899); declined a nomination for the Fifty-eighth Congress; appointed United States district judge in Minnesota, and a resident in Duluth, Minn.

Morris, Robert, a Delegate and a Senator from Pennsylvania; born in Liverpool, England, January 20, 1734; came to Oxford, Md., in 1747; attended the public schools; became a merchant in Philadelphia in 1748; signed the nonimportation agreement of 1765; Delegate in the Continental Congress 1776–1778; signer of the Declaration of Independence; located upon the Manheim estate; representative in the state assembly 1778–1779, and 1780; superintendent of finance 1781–1784; established the Bank of North America; member of Pennsylvania legislature in 1785–1787; Delegate in the Constitutional Convention of 1787; elected to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1789, to March 3, 1795; declined position of Secretary of the Treasury under President Washington; became financially involved by unsuccessful land speculations, which caused him to be imprisoned for debt from February 16, 1798, to August 26, 1801; died in Philadelphia, Pa., May 8, 1806.

Morris, Samuel Wells, a Representative from Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Pa., September 1, 1786; pursued an academic course; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Wellsboro, Tioga county, Pa.; judge of the district court; first treasurer of Wellsboro county; postmaster for many years; member of the state house of representatives; elected as a Democrat to the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Congresses (March 4, 1837–March 3, 1841); died in Wellsboro, Pa., May 25, 1847.

Morris, Thomas, a Senator from Ohio; born in Berks county, Pa., January 3, 1776; attended the public schools; enlisted as a ranger and fought against the Indians in 1792; moved to Columbia, Ohio (now a part of Cincinnati), in 1795, and clerked in a store; moved to Williamsburg, Ohio, in 1800; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Bethel, Ohio, 1804; member of the state house of representatives from Clermont county 1806–1807; from Clermont and Champaign counties 1808–1809; from Clermont 1810–1812, and 1820–1821; state senator 1813–1815, 1821–1823, 1825–1829, and 1831–1833; judge of the state supreme court 1815–1820; elected as a Democrat to the United States Senate, and served from March 4, 1833, to March 3, 1839; nominated for Vice President of the United States on the Liberty ticket with J. G. Birney in 1843; died in Bethel, Ohio, December 7, 1844.

Morris, Thomas, a Representative from New York; born in Philadelphia, Pa., February 26, 1771; attended school in Geneva, Switzerland, 1781–1786, and the University of Leipsic 1786–1788; returned to Philadelphia; studied law, was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in Canandaigua, N. Y.; member of the state house of representatives 1794–1796; elected to the Seventh Congress (March 4, 1801–March 3, 1803); resumed the practice of law in New York City in 1803; elected United States marshal for the eastern district of New York, and served for many years; died in New York City, March 12, 1849.

Digitized by Google

